<sup>7955</sup> T. 6 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/432.1, pp. 82-84 referring to S-21 list of people released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977. SUOS Thy was unaware of any S-21 detainees who may have been sent to rice fields in Prey Sar or S-21D. See T. 6 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/432.1, pp. 84-88 (after being referred to S-21 Biography, E3/10555, pp. 2-4, ERN (En), 01462398-01462400; NIM Kimsreang Interview Record, E3/7639, 22 October 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00162736). The Chamber finds the answer provided by NIM Kimsreang in E3/7639 – that most of the prisoners who were photographed were sent to farm rice – to be equivocal, particularly in light of SUOS Thy’s credible evidence that those who photographed inside S-21 were never sent to the rice fields, but that some people may have been photographed in the outer section before they were sent to the rice fields.

<sup>7956</sup> CHHOEUNG Soeun/YOEUN Soeung, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292818) and is listed as having entered S-21 on 12 December 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in December 1977, E3/9950, 7 January 1978, p. 22, ERN (En) 01367584; List of Prisoners from Division 703, E3/1668, 26 November 1977, p. 3, ERN (En) 00185257); EAN Hon/IEN Hon/EAN Hun, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292818) is listed as having entered S-21 on 25 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners from S-21 D, E3/8460, 18 September 1977, ERN (En) 00843446); MEAS Lan, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 10 June 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in June 1978, E3/10161, 2 July 1978, p. 39, ERN (En) 01563995; Name of prisoners of different division entry in February to June 1978, E3/9905, undated, p. 26, ERN (En) 01398896); MAM Vin/MAM Bol/MORM Bol, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292818) is listed as having entered S-21 on 13 February 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 13 February 1978, E3/10451, 13 February 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01366964); KHOEM Seam Muoy, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 12 December 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in December 1977, E3/9950, 7 January 1978, p. 23, ERN (En) 01367585; List of Prisoners from Division 703, E3/1668, 26 November 1977, p. 3, ERN (En) 00185257); TE Na, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 11 July 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in July 1978, Farm Section, E3/10105, July 1978, ERN (En) 01539679); CHANN Chhoeun, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 13 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 13 January 1978, E3/10433, 13 January 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01366924; S-21 list of prisoners entering in January 1978, E3/10430, undated, p. 15, ERN (En) 01366857; S-21 list of prisoners of Division 920 Section, E3/10306, 9 March 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01528659); BO Boeun, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 in July 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in July 1978, Farm Section, E3/10105, July 1978, ERN (En) 01539679); YEAN Yin/YEAN Yeun/SAN Yin, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see

S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 11 July 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in July 1978, Farm Section, E3/10105, July 1978, ERN (En) 01539679); SAMRITH Samrit/SAM Rith, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 11 July 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in July 1978, Farm Section, E3/10105, July 1978, ERN (En) 01539680); HEM Muon, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 13 February 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 13 February 1978, E3/10451, 13 February 1978, p. 3, ERN (En) 01366966); HAI Run/RUN Hai, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 11 July 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in July 1978, Farm Section, E3/10105, July 1978, ERN (En) 01539679); SIEK En/SIEK En Kren, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 16 February 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in February 1978, E3/10439, undated, p. 11, ERN (En) 01398404); PAK Thiev/PAT Chheav, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 13 February 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 13 February 1978, E3/10451, 13 February 1978, p. 3, ERN (En) 01366966); TRACH Ruon/THAP Ruon, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 6 April 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in April 1978, E3/10361, multiple dates, p. 45, ERN (En) 01368929); THLANG Rin/THLANG Vin, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 17 April 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 17 April 1978, E3/10363, 17 April 1978, p. 5, ERN (En) 01559951); NEOU Samnieng/NEOU Samneang, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 17 April 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 17 April 1978, E3/10363, 17 April 1978, p. 5, ERN (En) 01559951); HANG Hakk/HANG Hak/HANG Hat, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 16 July 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in July 1978, E3/10120, undated, p. 11, ERN (En) 01399073); S-21 list of prisoners entering on 16 July 1978, E3/10039, multiple dates, p. 5, ERN (En) 01368419); LIM Uong, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 14 July 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 14 July 1978 from 21 Kh, E3/10108, 14 July 1978, p. 9, ERN (En) 01397571); PRUM An/PROM Orn Rai, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 7 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 7 January 1978, 21 Kho, E3/10432, multiple dates, p. 8, ERN (En) 01366922); SAM Makk/SAM Mak, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 13 January 1978 (see S-21 list of persons entering on 13 January 1978, E3/10433, 13 January 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01366924); S-21 list of prisoners entering in January 1978, E3/10430, undated, p. 16, ERN (En) 01366858); HANG Lay/HAGN Lay, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292816) is listed as having entered S-21 on 11 July 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in July 1978, Farm Section, E3/10105, July 1978, ERN (En) 01539679); NOU Chhoeun/NUON Chhoeun, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 23 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in January 1978, E3/10505, January 1978, p. 46, ERN (En) 01398586); S-21 list of prisoners entering on 23 January 1978, E3/2181, 23 January 1978, ERN (En) 001817130); CHEA Va, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 25 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in January 1978, E3/10505, multiple dates, p. 52, ERN (En) 01398592); S-21 list of prisoners from S-21 D, E3/8460, 18 September 1977, ERN (En) 00843446); MEAS Noeun, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 23 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in January 1978, E3/10505, beyond reasonable doubt that the prisoners on the Division 920 list were not to be released but were prisoners that the Party had ordered to be “smashed”.<sup>7957</sup>

2348. The NUON Chea Defence also cites to a list dated 12 December 1975, labelled “Brief Biography of Released Soldiers”, recording the names of 49 soldiers of Company 44 of Division 703. The Defence claims that these soldiers were arrested, January 1978, p. 46, ERN (En) 01398586; S-21 list of prisoners entering on 23 January 1978, E3/2181, 23 January 1978, ERN (En) 00181713); SANN Mapp/SANN Map/SAN Mab, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 29 June 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in June 1978, E3/10161, 2 July 1978, p. 39, ERN (En) 01563995; S-21 list of prisoners of different division entry in February to June 1978, E3/9905, undated, p. 25, ERN (En) 01398895); SIEV Heng/SENG Siv Heng, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 8 May 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 8 May 1978, E3/10142, 8 May 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462134); KHUON Tai-Eng/YUON Tai Eng/KHUON Tay Eng/KHUON Chhai Eng, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 13 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 13 January 1978, E3/10433, 13 January 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01366924-01366925; S-21 list of prisoners entering in January 1978, E3/10430, undated, p. 16, ERN (En) 01366858); YOUK Mon/YOU Mon/YU Mon, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 22 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in January 1978, E3/10430, undated, p. 16, ERN (En) 01366858); PRUM Leap/PROM Leat, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 13 January 1978 (see S-21 list of persons entering on 13 January 1978, E3/10433, 13 January 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01366924); HUN Uy/HUN UI/HIN Uy, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 16 February 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in February 1978, E3/10439, undated, p. 8, ERN (En) 01398401); SENG Huy/SENG Hun/SENG Hup, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 11 July 1978 (see S-21 list of persons entering in July 1978, E3/10105, July 1978, ERN (En) 01539679); SUON Oeun/UON Oeun, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292817) is listed as having entered S-21 on 16 February 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in February 1978, E3/10439, undated, p. 11, ERN (En) 01398404; S-21 list of prisoners of Division 920 Section, E3/10306, 9 March 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01528659); KEO Lonh Reth/KEO Ren, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292818) is listed as having entered S-21 on 25 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in January 1978, E3/10505, multiple dates, p. 51, ERN (En) 01398591; S-21 list of prisoners from S-21D, E3/8460, 18 September 1977, ERN (En) 00843446); CHANN Chan/CHAN Chan, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292818) is listed as having entered S-21 on 23 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 23 January 1978, E3/2181, 23 January 1978, ERN (En) 00181713); POAN Pin, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292818) is listed as having entered S-21 on 25 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering in January 1978, E3/10505, January 1978, p. 51, ERN (En) 01398591; S-21 list of prisoners of Division 920 Section, E3/10306, 9 March 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01528659); HUOT Sok/HOUT Sokha, allegedly released on 26 November 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners released on 26-11-77/Division 920, E3/8648, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 00292818) is listed as having entered S-21 on 13 January 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 13 January 1978, E3/10433, 13 January 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01366924; S-21 list of prisoners entering in January 1978, E3/10430, undated, p. 15, ERN (En) 01366857).

---

<sup>7957</sup> T. 21 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/441.1, pp. 63-65.

detained and released from S-21 before the detention site was moved to the Tuol Sleng premises.<sup>7958</sup> An inspection of the content of the list and other contemporaneous S-21 prisoner lists proves otherwise.

2349. First, the top right-hand corner of the list's cover page contains the "TSL" code, indicating that this is a document from Tuol Sleng. The top left corner of the list is addressed to "Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea, Brigade 703, Battalion 96" and at the bottom of the cover page, an annotation reads "For Battalion 96 Com" above a signature. Similarly, the last page of the document also states "For Battalion 96 Com".<sup>7959</sup> The content of these notations indicates that this document was sent from S-21 to Battalion 96, requesting the "release" of the soldiers mentioned on the list. A comparison of S-21 entry lists shows that at least 24 of these 49 soldiers listed for "release" in December of 1975 were subsequently arrested, registered and sent to be killed at S-21.<sup>7960</sup> Accordingly, the Chamber finds that this was a list sent from S-21 to

<sup>7958</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 643. See Brief Biography of Released People, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316312-00316318.

<sup>7959</sup> Brief Biography of Released People, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316312, 00316318; T. 9 January 2017 (HIN Sotheany), E1/517.1, p. 53 (indicating that original documents at the Tuol Sleng Museum had the TSL identification number).

<sup>7960</sup> THONG Nget, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316313) is listed as having entered S-21 on 22 April 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners from Division 703's Section, E3/10496, undated, p. 2, ERN (En) 01528805); SOEM Yeng/SIM Yeng, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316313) is listed as having been executed on 19 January 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners who were executed from 15.1.77 to 31.1.77, E3/3185, undated, ERN (En) 00837640); CHHEANG Prang/Praing, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316313) is listed as having entered S-21 on 15 June 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners who entered in June 1978, E3/10161, 2 July 1978, p. 40, ERN (En) 01563996; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/9905, undated, p. 29, ERN (En) 01398899); PHENG Oeun, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316313) is listed as having entered S-21 on 22 September 1976 (see S-21 list of prisoners who entered Office S-21 in 1976, E3/9842, 26 May 1977, p. 89, ERN (En) 01367217; S-21 list of prisoners who entered from 15 September 1976, E3/10065, undated, p. 25, ERN (En) 01397487); LAO Seng Kim, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316314) is listed as having entered S-21 on 7 May 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners arrived on 7 May 1977, E3/8660, May 1977, p. 38, ERN (En) 01565351); MEUN Yeng/MOENG Seng, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316314) is listed as having entered S-21 on 24 February 1977/2 April 1977 and having been executed on 10 April 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners entering on 24 February 1977, E3/10266, p. 42, ERN (En) 01367739; S-21 list of prisoners from 17 February 1977 to 17 April 1977, E3/10506, 29 April 1977, p. 29, ERN (En) 01369007); KRUY Cheat, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316314) is listed as having entered S-21 on 14 July 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 14 July 1978 from 21 Kh, Srae, E3/10108, undated, p. 8, ERN (En) 01397570); KHUN Kuoy, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316315) is listed as having entered S-21 on 24 or 25 February 1977 and having been executed on 18 March 1977 (see Entry List of Prisoners From 17 February 1977 to 17 April 1977, E3/10506, 29 April 1977, p. 113, ERN (En) 01369091; S-21 list of prisoners entering on 24 February 1977, E3/10266, 26 February 1977, p. 43, ERN (En) 01367740); MEN Ol, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316316) is listed as having entered S-21 on 30 or 31 March 1976 (see S-21 list of prisoners under interrogation, E3/10457, undated, p. 11, ERN (En) 01398443; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10453, undated, p. 51, ERN (En) 01367894); CHHIM Pauch, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316317) is listed as having entered S-21 on 12 April 1978 (see S-21 list of prisoners who entered the prison on 12 April 1978, E3/10361, April 1978, p. 80, ERN (En) 01368964); PROEUNG Sileang allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316317) is listed as having entered S-21 on 4 or 14 November 1976 (see S-21 list of prisoners who entered Office S-21 in 1976, E3/9842, 26 May 1977, p. 96, ERN (En) 01367224; S-21 list of prisoners who entered from 1 November 1976 to 15 November 1976, E3/10061, undated, p. 10, ERN (En) 01397452); CHENG Srom, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316317) is listed as having entered S-21 on 19 or 20 September 1976 (see S-21 list of prisoners who entered from 15 September 1976, E3/10065, p. 25, ERN (En) 01397487; S-21 list of prisoners who entered Office S-21 in 1976, E3/9842, 26 May 1977, p. 89, ERN (En) 01367217); KIM Srou, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316317) is listed as having entered S-21 on 5 July 1977 and as having been executed on 16 July 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners who entered in July 1977/Division 703, E3/9954, 5 August 1977, p. 33, ERN (En) 01563489); VAN/VANN Yeng allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316317) is listed as having entered S-21 on 4 July 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners who entered in July 1977/Division 703, E3/9954, 5 August 1977, p. 33, ERN (En) 01563489); PRACH Torn, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316318) is listed as having been executed on 27 May 1976 (see S-21 list of prisoners executed in 1976, E3/3187, undated, ERN (En) 00874595); TIM Kim Ieng/Eang, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316318) is listed as having entered S-21 on 9 July 1976 and as having been executed on 14 July 1976 (see S-21 list of prisoners who died from 1.7.76 to 15.6.76, E3/8452, July 1978, ERN (En) 00843422); CHAN/SAN Song allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316317) is listed as having entered S-21 on 28 August 1976 and having been executed on 2 October 1976 (see S-21 list of Prisoners Executed from 1 October 1976 to 15 October 1976, E3/3187, ERN (En) 00874174); IM Phal, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316316) is listed as having entered S-21 on 22 July 1976 and being executed on 24 July 1976 (see S-21 list of Prisoners Executed and Died of Diseases from 15 July 1976 to 30 July 1976, E3/3187, ERN (En) 00874517); HONG Chen, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316315) is listed as having entered S-21 on 26 October 1976 and being executed on 27 October 1976 (see S-21 list of Prisoners Executed and Died of Diseases from 15 July 1976 to 30 July 1976, E3/3187, ERN (En) 00874322); SAO Vooun, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316314) is listed as having entered S-21 on 26 October 1976 and as having been executed on 27 October 1976 (see S-21 list of Prisoners Executed from 1 October 1976 to 15 October 1976, E3/3187, ERN (En) 00874322); EA/EAR Chhai Pauv, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316314) is listed as having entered S-21 on 24 July 1976 and having been executed on 7 May 1976 (see S-21 list of prisoners Executed and Died of Diseases from 15 July 1976 to 30 July 1976, E3/3187, ERN (En) 00874518, 00874521); MOU/MUO Pech, allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316315) is listed as having been executed on 30 March 1976 (see S-21 list of prisoners who Died at Office “S-21 Kor (c)”, E3/1539 [E3/1540], undated, ERN (En) 00182903); EA/EAR Kok allegedly released on 20 December 1975 (see Brief Biography of Released Soldiers of Company 44 Security, E3/965, 20 December 1975, ERN (En) 00316315) is listed as having been executed between 29 June 1977 and 10 July 1977 (see S-21 list of prisoners smashed, Brother Huy Sre’s section, E3/2285, 10 July 1977, p. 89, ERN (En) 01564849).

Battalion 96, specifying who was to be “released” from the Brigade 703 (i.e. arrested) and sent to S-21. Here, the term “release”, similarly to its use in the Division 920 list that Duch discussed above, indicates the prisoners’ arrest. Based on the above evidence, the Chamber rejects the NUON Chea Defence’s submission that these two lists prove that large groups of prisoners were freed from S-21.

2350. As discussed in further detail below, it was CPK policy to smash all people who were arrested and sent to S-21.<sup>7961</sup> In this regard, Duch testified that “when someone was arrested we actually had to smash them [...] There was no law to release any person. Those people arrested by the Party had to be interrogated and smashed, and the principle was strict.” It should be noted that Duch concedes that, at times, there were rare exceptions.<sup>7962</sup> HIM Huy, further testified that “[i]t was the instruction from the trainers, particularly Duch. He said anyone who was brought to S-21 would not have the chance to go out, and that [any] person would be killed.”<sup>7963</sup> SUOS Thy, who worked at S-21 throughout its duration,<sup>7964</sup> testified that “[i]t was the reality that after [prisoners] came into S-21 and after their interrogations were concluded, they were considered dead already [...] When they were brought in, they were supposed to be killed.”<sup>7965</sup>

2351. S-21 documentation uses several terms to represent the execution of prisoners, including, but not limited to, “removed”, “smashed” and “taken out”.<sup>7966</sup> When authenticating S-21 daily controlling lists in court, Duch testified that the informational column labelled “released”, found on early controlling lists, was later changed to

<sup>7961</sup> T. 20 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/51.1, p. 18 (testifying that everyone who was arrested and brought to S-21 had to be smashed).

<sup>7962</sup> The Chamber notes that Duch clarified that there were three FULRO members who the Party ordered to be released and some prisoners were released to be allowed to work within the S-21 compound. See Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5798, 9 June 2009, pp. 15, 40, ERN (En) 00339323, 00339348; T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 76-77 (discussing the release of a dentist to work within the Party); T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 86; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/525, 10 June 2009, pp. 27-30, ERN (En) 00339622-00339625. The release of members of the FULRO delegation was also confirmed by CHIN Saroeun. See CHIN Saroeun DC-Cam Interview, E3/7960, undated, p. 31, ERN (En) 00450296 (“In 1978 arrests of Fulro was [sic] conducted and sent to Phnom Penh. They returned.”).

<sup>7963</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 6.

<sup>7964</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, p. 13; Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7466, 28 July 2009, p. 13.

<sup>7965</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, p. 56.

<sup>7966</sup> See e.g., T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 70-72, 86-87; T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 104; T. 7 May 2013 (Phillip SHORT), E1/190.1, pp. 7-8; T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 82; Name List of Prisoners taken out in May 1978, E3/8463, 29 May 1978, ERN (En) 01032507-01032536.

“removed”. Duch clarified that the words “to be removed” meant that the prisoners were to be “smashed”.<sup>7967</sup> Moreover, the strongest evidence contrary to the NUON Chea Defence’s submission that most prisoners were released from S-21 are the contemporaneous, tested S-21 execution lists in evidence which will be analysed in further detail below.<sup>7968</sup>

2352. The NUON Chea Defence highlights several examples of individual prisoners who were allegedly released from the detention centre. The NUON Chea Defence presents SRENG Thi as a prisoner who was arrested, registered, detained and then released from S-21.<sup>7969</sup> In his DC-Cam statement, SRENG Thi initially stated that he was detained at S-22 for three or four months, and then transferred to S-21 in March or April of 1977,<sup>7970</sup> adding that he was finally released from S-21 along with 50 other prisoners. When asked how he knew the place he was detained was S-21 he stated, “Yes I knew”.<sup>7971</sup> SRENG Thi explained to OCIJ investigators that in 1974 he was selected to enter Battalion 132 which was part of Division 11. After 1975, Division 11 was demobilised and was “taken into Division 502”. At the time of the arrest of CHAN Chakrei, commanders in former Division 11 and Division 170 were arrested from the company level upward. He further explained that “in 1977, [his] squad was completely disarmed and placed at Prey Sa, for two or three months” and that later he “was extracted and placed at S-22, located west of Tik La-ak school”. Finally, in late 1977

<sup>7967</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 70-72.

<sup>7968</sup> See e.g., List of prisoners killed on 22/3/7X, E3/1538, undated verified in T. 27 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/54.1, pp. 14-15; S-21 list of prisoners who died at office S-21 Kor (C), E3/1539 [E3/1540], undated verified in T. 27 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/54.1, pp. 16-17; S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 22 July 1977 ‘Ministry of Public Works’, E3/2285, undated verified in T. 21 November 2016 (SON Em), E1/500.1, pp. 23-24, T. 11 August 2016 (ROS Chuor Siy), E1/455.1, pp. 96-97, T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 15-16, T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 100-101; S-21 list of prisoners executed from 1 October 1976 to 15 October 1976, E3/3187, undated verified in T. 15 August 2016 (KAUN Sunthara), E1/457.1, pp. 64-65; S-21 list of Prisoners ‘smashed’ on 8-7-77, North Zone, E3/3861, 9 July 1977 verified in T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 21-23, T. 4 June 2015 (SOU Soeurn), E1/310.1, pp. 49-50; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10454, various dates verified in T. 29 November 2016 (KHIEV Neab), E1/503.1, pp. 84-85; S-21 List of prisoners smashed on 6.3.78, E3/1900, 7 March 1977 [sic] verified in T. 11 August 2015 (LAT Suoy), E1/328.1, pp. 87-94; S-21 List of prisoners taken out in May 78, E3/8463, 29 May 1978, ERN (En) 01032507-01032536 verified in T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 40-42. See above, para. 2128.

<sup>7969</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 642.

<sup>7970</sup> SRENG Thi DC-Cam Interview, E3/7532, 25 May 2009, pp. 13, 17, ERN (En) 00329478, 00329482.

<sup>7971</sup> SRENG Thi DC-Cam Interview, E3/7532, 25 May 2009, pp. 16, 18, ERN (En) 00329481, 00329483.

he was “extracted again to work at the Kampong Chhnang airfield”.<sup>7972</sup> None of these locations correspond to S-21.

2353. SRENG Thi later stated that he visited S-21 after the fall of the regime, and he admits to being confused when he found that “the place was deeper than the place where the truck had transported me to”. When asked if S-21 and the place to which he was transferred were the same, he stated “they were different”.<sup>7973</sup> SRENG Thi does not mention S-21 in any of his other statements.<sup>7974</sup> The Chamber finds that SRENG Thi’s initial recollection of these events was confused and the assessment of the entirety of his statements shows that he was neither detained nor subsequently released from S-21. SRENG Thi, like other soldiers of his unit, was detained at Prey Sar, and later at S-22, a site aimed at tempering light offenders, before he was eventually transferred to the Kampong Chhnang Airfield Construction Site.

2354. The Chamber heard the testimony of NUON Trech, a former hospital worker from Division 310, who presented conflicting narratives about whether he had been detained at S-21 and subsequently released.<sup>7975</sup> He testified that in 1977, after the arrest of Oeun, his Division commander, he was asked to attend a meeting along with his comrades in Battalion 314. At the meeting, an announcement was made that their leaders and commanders betrayed the Party and a tape was played with the voice of Oeun discussing a plan to attack Phnom Penh.<sup>7976</sup> After this meeting, while NUON Trech was stationed at Anlong Knan, a truck arrived and transported him to Phnom Penh; his hands were not bound. The truck was fully covered and he did not see the

<sup>7972</sup> SRENG Thi Interview Record, E3/5263, 6 January 2009, pp. 2-4, ERN (En) 00282223-00282225; KOY Mon corroborates the existence of a place named S-22. KOY Mon was a former commander of Battalion 11 in Division 170, and he stated that after the arrest of CHAN Chakrei he was called to a meeting where he was demoted and appointed chief of company with 100 men, which was sent for tempering at Prey Sar, where prisoners were classified as heavy and light prisoners. The heavy prisoners were detained in the “hardest tempering S-21 located along Prek Th’noat river outside of Prey Sar compound. [...] The light prisoners were detained at S-22”. See KOY Mon Interview Record, E3/369, 29 May 2008, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00272715-00272716.

<sup>7973</sup> SRENG Thi Interview Record, E3/7532, 25 May 2009, pp. 16, 18-19, ERN (En) 00329481, 00329483-00329484.

<sup>7974</sup> See e.g., SRENG Thi Interview Record, E3/5263, 6 January 2009; SRENG Thi Interview Record, E3/5279, 17 March 2009; SRENG Thi Interview Record, E3/8739, 1 December 2010.

<sup>7975</sup> T. 5 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/506.1, pp. 92, 105-107; T. 6 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/507.1, pp. 59-65, 92-98; TES Trech Interview Record, E3/7877, 19 June 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00346979; TES Ol alias TES Trech DC-Cam Interview, E3/7537, 23 January 2004, pp. 8-9, ERN (En) 00251254-00251255. Here the Chamber makes its conclusions about NUON Trech’s credibility only on the limited subject of whether he was detained at S-21 or not, and does not address overall reliability of his statements.

<sup>7976</sup> T. 5 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/506.1, pp. 97, 102-103.

places they passed through. When he arrived, he “was placed in a location where [he] was left idle [...] I did not realize it was a prison”. NUON Trech further testified that he made a biography and that his photograph was taken somewhere he believes, in Phnom Penh.<sup>7977</sup> NUON Trech testified that at that place, prisoners were prohibited from moving freely. He was put in a room with some kind of window, but was not tied or shackled in any way. He confirmed his DC-Cam interview in which he stated that when he arrived, there were no guns. He was told to wait for Angkar, that Angkar would come to call a meeting and that he would be taken away. At this location, NUON Trech was asked whether he worked with “Yuon”, Vietnamese spies or the KGB.<sup>7978</sup> Yiet, the deputy director of the hospital that NUON Trech worked at, came to the centre, requested that NUON Trech be released for re-fashioning and left with him.<sup>7979</sup> 2355. NUON Trech stated that “people were not sent straight away to Tuol Sleng, they were sent to that office first before they were sent further to Tuol Sleng”.<sup>7980</sup> He testified that “the prison office was under the division” and that he was told that he “would be sent to the international section to treat people”.<sup>7981</sup> During his testimony, NUON Trech was shown his DC-Cam statement in which he stated that he was detained at the “Tuol Sleng prison office”, at which point he responded “at first I did not know that it was a prison compound”. He testified that he later learned that “[a]fter people were placed at that prison and charged by OI, those people would be further sent to Tuol Sleng”. He clarified that later he was transferred to Kampong Chhnang to do manual work for the construction of the airfield.<sup>7982</sup> However, when NUON Trech was shown a picture of S-21 with barbed wire, he responded that his detention location had an iron fence, “but when I was sent to Tuol Sleng, yes, there were such barbed wire fences”.<sup>7983</sup> The conditions that NUON Trech describes, such as being put in a room without any kind of restraints, not knowing he was in a prison, and being taken away by his supervisor, are not consistent with conditions at S-21 described by all other witnesses.

<sup>7977</sup> T. 5 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/506.1, pp. 104-106; TES Trech Interview Record, E3/7877, 19 June 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00346979.

<sup>7978</sup> T. 6 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/507.1, pp. 65, 92-93.

<sup>7979</sup> T. 5 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/506.1, p. 105; T. 6 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/507.1, pp. 63-64.

<sup>7980</sup> T. 6 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/507.1, p. 96 (emphasis added).

<sup>7981</sup> T. 5 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/506.1, pp. 104, 107.

<sup>7982</sup> T. 5 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/506.1, pp. 106-107 (emphasis added).

<sup>7983</sup> T. 6 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/507.1 pp. 97-98.

2356. The Chamber notes that NUON Trech was a cadre of relatively low level, who, like many soldiers of Division 310, was sent to be refashioned at the Kampong Chhnang Airport Construction Site.<sup>7984</sup> NUON Trech was transferred to the worksite about two weeks after the meeting during which he heard that his division commander betrayed the Party.<sup>7985</sup> The Chamber also notes that NUON Trech never experienced any coercive measures following his “arrest”, “transfer” or “stay” in a place which he was initially unable to identify as a prison, but which he later characterised later as “a prison office under the division”. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the evidence does not support the finding that NUON Trech was ever detained at S-21.

2357. The NUON Chea Defence also points to SOKH Sophat as another example of an S-21 prisoner who was released from S-21.<sup>7986</sup> SOKH Sophat is consistent in his claim that he was detained at S-21, but in one instance he says he was arrested in mid-1978, and at other times he claims his arrest was in 1977; the exact date remains unclear. In his statements, SOKH Sophat admits to forgetting certain events and details.<sup>7987</sup> SOKH Sophat presents other questionable inconsistencies between his two statements, such as asserting first that his detention lasted more than a year, and later that the duration of his detention was one and a half months. He spoke in one statement about being walked to a place to be killed, but when asked in his other statement if he had “ever [been] walked near a killing place”, he responded that he had not.<sup>7988</sup>

2358. SOKH Sophat states that he was detained at S-21, where he was housed and made to serve porridge to prisoners until he escaped during the Vietnamese liberation of Phnom Penh. In one statement, SOKH Sophat claimed that he was at some point transferred from S-21 to work in the fields at Prey Sar.<sup>7989</sup> In his DC-Cam statement, he

<sup>7984</sup> See above, paras 2354-2355.

<sup>7985</sup> T. 5 December 2016 (NUON Trech), E1/506.1, p. 104.

<sup>7986</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 642.

<sup>7987</sup> SOKH Sophat DC-Cam Interview, E3/7528, 25 June 2002, pp. 25, 27-28, 42-44, ERN (En) 00335112, 00335114-00335115, 00335135-00335137 (first stating he was arrested in mid-1978, and later stating his arrest occurred in 1977); SOK Sophat Interview Record, E3/7664, 14 January 2008, pp. 3-5, ERN (En) 00163803-00163805 (indicating he was arrested “a little while” after late 1977).

<sup>7988</sup> SOKH Sophat DC-Cam Interview, E3/7528, 25 June 2002, pp. 25-26, 47, ERN (En) 00335140; SOK Sophat Interview Record, E3/7664, 14 January 2008, pp. 3, 5, ERN (En) 00163803, 00163805.

<sup>7989</sup> SOKH Sophat DC-Cam Interview, E3/7528, 25 June 2002, pp. 20-22, ERN (En) 00335113-00335115 (stating that in 1978 “Ta Sy” arrested him and put him in a truck, and he was driven to Tuol Sleng), 29, ERN (En) 003355122 (describing his escape from S-21 during the confusion “at the end of 1978 just before victory day”), 32, ERN (En) 00335125 (describing freeing himself from loose shackles and jumping from a building and hiding in a pile of mattresses), 47-48, ERN (En) 00335140-00335141 (testifying that he served porridge to prisoners), 49 (stating that he jumped from the building on 7 January); SOK Sophat Interview Record, E3/7664, 14 January 2008, pp. 3-5, ERN (En) 00163803-describes being tortured at S-21; he claims he was struck with a whip until his skin peeled off, whipped with barbed wire and subjected to electric shocks. Yet in his WRI, SOK Sophat does not speak of experiencing torture but only describes observing other prisoners with injuries and electric shock burns.<sup>7990</sup> SOKH Sophat's description of how his detention ended also reveals inconsistencies. In his DC-Cam statement, SOKH Sophat asserts that on the day that Phnom Penh was liberated, he and the other prisoners who served porridge were shackled. His shackles were loose and he escaped by freeing himself, jumping out of the second floor of his building, and hiding in a pile of mattresses outside of S-21.<sup>7991</sup> Despite at one point stating that he was sent to S-21 in 1977, SOKH Sophat describes being sent to Tay Ninh in Vietnamese territory in early 1978, to "drive the Vietnamese from Cambodian territory" in his WRI. He makes no mention in this statement of a return to S-21 after being sent on this offensive, or his alleged escape on 7 January 1979.<sup>7992</sup>

2359. The Chamber finds that the abovementioned inconsistencies in SOKH Sophat's statements render his testimony unreliable and inconclusive, and without having had an opportunity to hear the witness, the Chamber accords little weight to his evidence. The Chamber is not satisfied that there was a reasonable possibility that he was detained and subsequently released from S-21.

2360. Lastly, the NUON Chea Defence refers to TRY Cheab Ngorn as another example of an S-21 detainee who was released from the facility.<sup>7993</sup> The Defence cites to his confession, in which the interrogator requests, in an annotation, for Angkar to release him. The Defence further cites to a DC-Cam report in which the interviewer attempted to speak to TRY Cheab Ngorn about his past.<sup>7994</sup> According to the notes from this conversation, TRY Cheab Ngorn stated that he was transferred from Takhmau 00163805 (stating that he was arrested and sent to S-21 for a month and a half, and then was sent to the rice fields for one month. The Chamber notes that SOK Sophat only mentions his transfer to Prey Sar in his WRI, not his DC-Cam statement, and it is not clear how or when he was returned to S-21, which would have had to have happened for him to subsequently escape in 1979.

---

<sup>7990</sup> SOKH Sophat DC-Cam Interview, E3/7528, 25 June 2002, p. 25, ERN (En) 00335118; SOK Sophat Interview Record, E3/7664, 14 January 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00163804.

<sup>7991</sup> SOKH Sophat DC-Cam Interview, E3/7528, 25 June 2002, pp. 26, 29, 31-33, 49, 51-52, ERN (En) 00335119, 00335122, 00335124-00335126, 00335142, 00335144-00335145.

<sup>7992</sup> SOKH Sophat DC-Cam Interview, E3/7528, 25 June 2002, p. 40, ERN (En) 00335133; SOK Sophat Interview Record, E3/7664, 14 January 2008, pp. 3-5, ERN (En) 00163803-00163805.

<sup>7993</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 643.

<sup>7994</sup> S-21 Confession – TRY Cheab Ngorn, E3/2461, 26 December 1975, ERN (En) 00821866 (annotation dated 25 December 1975 reads: "I request that Angkar release him"); DC-Cam PA Field Reports, E3/8778, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00989314.

prison to S-21, spent one month there being interrogated and tortured, and was transferred back to Takhmau prison, and finally to Prey Sar.<sup>7995</sup> Considering that these events occurred in December 1975 during the early stages of S-21's operations when Duch was still Nat's deputy and before its location had been moved to the Ponhea Yat High School, the Chamber finds that there is a reasonable possibility that TRY Cheab Ngorn was imprisoned at S-21 for a time and then "released" in the sense that he was transferred to Prey Sar at some point. However, the Chamber also notes the lack of evidence as to whether TRY Cheab Ngorn was at Prey Sar until the end of the DK regime, or how he otherwise extracted himself from the S-21 complex.

2361. There is further evidence indicating that at times, individual prisoners who had already been detained at S-21 were transferred to Prey Sar to work in the rice fields, or in the exceptional case, were even released.<sup>7996</sup>

2362. In addition to the release lists which are discussed above, the NUON Chea Defence refers to only a few individual examples to support its submission that thousands of prisoners were released from S-21.<sup>7997</sup> Even if the Chamber were to accept that these prisoners were indeed detained at S-21 and later released, the Chamber finds that overwhelming contemporaneous documentary evidence and testimony demonstrate that any release from S-21 after registration would have been a rare exception. Accordingly, the NUON Chea Defence's submission that there were large-scale releases or transfers of registered prisoners out of S-21 is rejected.

<sup>7995</sup> S-21 Confession – TRY Cheab Ngorn, E3/2461, 26 December 1975, ERN (En) 00821866 (the date of this confession indicates that it was taken while Duch was still deputy chairman of S-21 and before S-21 was moved to the Ponhea Yat High School premises; DC-Cam PA Field Reports, E3/8778, multiples dates, ERN (En) 00989314-00989315 (it should be noted that at the end of this report there is an exchange of emails between the director of DC-Cam and the interviewers (see ERN (En) 00989319), in which the interviewers state in all caps that: "The word release to me is not mean [sic] set free at all. Fact that Bang Nean found from list of prisoners released is to be arrested and sent to TSL again and killed [sic]."

<sup>7996</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5798, 9 June 2009, pp. 15, 40, ERN (En) 00339323, 00339348. See also, S-21 list of prisoners of Central Zone, E3/2957, undated, ERN (En) 00583842 (entry 58 noted as "transferred to rice field" nine days after entry); Name List of Prisoners, E3/9953, 2 December 1977, ERN (En) 01367687, 01367693 (entries 58 and 12 "removed to" and "gone to rice field" nine days and one week after entry respectively); S-21 names of people entered on 8 March 1978, E3/10222, 8 March 1978, ERN (En) 01396200 ("Having been sent to rice field today, but was sent back); S-21 list of prisoners sent to paddy field on 11 May 1978, E3/8463, 12 May 1978, pp. 281-282, ERN (En) 01554799-01554800. See above, paras 2337, 2350.

<sup>7997</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 642.

12.2.12. Conditions of Detention

2363. Detainees were forced to sit on the floor and had their ankles shackled constantly.<sup>7998</sup> The shackles were removed only when they were transported out of S-21 or when walking to interrogation.<sup>7999</sup> The shackles were only changed from one leg to another when one leg was injured.<sup>8000</sup> Prisoners were not allowed outside of their cells unless they had been selected to work.<sup>8001</sup>

2364. CHUM Mey<sup>8002</sup> was held in solitary confinement in a very small cell which was big enough for one person.<sup>8003</sup> After his interrogation, he was moved to larger rooms on the top floor of the building, where between 20 to 60 detainees were held with their legs shackled to a long row of bars.<sup>8004</sup> There were several rooms like this where detainees were held.<sup>8005</sup> New detainees were regularly brought to replace detainees who had been taken away. When detainees were taken away, the hands of the other detainees were cuffed before the guards unlocked the long bar.<sup>8006</sup> All detainees had to lie down, and had to ask for permission if they wanted to sit up.<sup>8007</sup> Detainees were forced to sleep on the floor with no sleeping mats, pillows or mosquito nets.<sup>8008</sup>

<sup>7998</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, p. 24; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 10, ERN (En) 00346468; T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, p. 72. See also, T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 8-9.

<sup>7999</sup> T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, p. 74; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5799, 15 June 2009, p. 39, ERN (En) 00341724.

<sup>8000</sup> Case 001 Transcript (LACH Mean), E3/7468, 4 August 2009, p. 68, ERN (En) 00360227.

<sup>8001</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5799, 15 June 2009, p. 43, ERN (En) 00341728.

<sup>8002</sup> For discussion of CHUM Mey's credibility, see above, paras 2083-2085.

<sup>8003</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 23-26, 44-45 (testifying that he was detained in Room 22 which measured approximately 1.5 metres by two metres); Photographs of S-21 Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/9431, 27 February 2008, pp. 47-48, ERN (En) 00198074-00198075. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 46; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 22, 71, ERN (En) 00346480, 00346529.

<sup>8004</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 32-33; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 31, 44-47, ERN (En) 00346489, 00346502-00346505; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00198004-00198005; Photographs of S-21 Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/9431, 27 February 2008, p. 41, ERN (En) 00198068. See also, Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, pp. 21-22, ERN (En) 00346679-00346680; Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), 29 June 2009, E3/7450, p. 20, ERN (En) 00345678.

<sup>8005</sup> Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 7, ERN (En) 00198004.

<sup>8006</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 46, 64, ERN (En) 00346504, 00346522.

<sup>8007</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 63, ERN (En) 00346521. See also, Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, p. 21, ERN (En) 00345679; Case 001 Transcript (CHUUN Phal), E3/7470, 10 August 2009, p. 82, ERN (En) 00361925.

<sup>8008</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 34, 45 (testifying that they were forced to sleep on the floor and did not have time to think about bedbugs or lice given that their whole bodies were swollen); Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 34, ERN (En) 00346492; T. 25 April 2016

2365. While initially detained in their underwear, the detainees were later provided long-sleeved clothes.<sup>8009</sup> Hygienic conditions were very poor, and the detainees were rarely able to wash themselves. For example, CHUM Mey was detained for over four months but was only washed once.<sup>8010</sup> The guards brought a container of water to his cell, and CHUM Mey was ordered to strip off his shorts, but he could not do so since one of his legs was shackled. He was then lashed because he could not follow the instruction.<sup>8011</sup>

2366. Detainees were provided with a small bucket container in order to relieve themselves.<sup>8012</sup> The detainees had to relieve themselves in the same place where they ate and slept and they could smell their excrement and urine.<sup>8013</sup> The prisoners were sprayed with water when they smelled of urine, but there remained a bad smell from the cells as they were not cleaned properly.<sup>8014</sup> Detainees were collectively sprayed with water from a hose when their cells were cleaned or had water thrown on them.<sup>8015</sup> The detainees held in small individual cells were not allowed to bathe.<sup>8016</sup>

---

(LACH Mean), E1/421.1, p. 75. See also, Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006.

<sup>8009</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 33, 46. See also, Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006.

<sup>8010</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 45-46.

<sup>8011</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, p. 46.

<sup>8012</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 26, 34; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 34, 44, 71, ERN (En) 00346492, 00346502, 00346529; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006. See also, Photographs of S-21 Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/9431, 27 February 2008, p. 51, ERN (En) 00198078; Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 22, ERN (En) 00346680; Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, pp. 28-29, ERN (En) 00345686-00345687. According to CHUM Mey, detainees were forced to lick any spilled excrement or urine off the floor and they had to lick until the floor was clean and were threatened that they would be beaten if they failed to do so. See T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 26, 35-36. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 48; Additionally, PRAK Khorn testified that Duch instructed them on “how prisoners had to be forced to eat faeces and to drink urine”. See T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 70.

<sup>8013</sup> T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, p. 9; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 34-35, ERN (En) 00346492-00346493.

<sup>8014</sup> Case 001 Transcript (HIM Huy), E3/7461, 16 July 2009, p. 46, ERN (En) 00353926; Case 001 Transcript (LACH Mean), E3/7468, 4 August 2009, p. 67, ERN (En) 00360226.

<sup>8015</sup> T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, pp. 74-75; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 34-35, 65, ERN (En) 00346492-00346493, 00346523; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, pp. 8-9, ERN (En) 00198005-00198006. See also, Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, pp. 25, 75-76, ERN (En) 00346683, 00346733-00346734 (testifying that the prisoners were naked when they were hosed down and were humiliated by the guards); Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, p. 22, ERN (En) 00345680; Case 001 Transcript (CHUUN Phal), E3/7470, 10 August 2009, p. 24, ERN (En) 00361867.

<sup>8016</sup> T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, pp. 74-75.

2367. Detainees were provided with insufficient food. The food consisted of a ladle of thin gruel in the morning and evening and a little water.<sup>8017</sup> Detainees remained shackled while guards gave them their dish of food.<sup>8018</sup> Older prisoners were provided with left-over cooked rice while the other prisoners were only provided with gruel.<sup>8019</sup> Detainees became thinner and thinner due to the lack of food.<sup>8020</sup>

2368. Detainees were instructed not to speak with other detainees and to keep silent.<sup>8021</sup> They were afraid to move in the night, because they were shackled and if the chain made a sound, they would be beaten.<sup>8022</sup> CHUM Mey described how he was ordered to ask for permission if he wanted to change his sleeping position and was threatened that he would receive 200 lashes if he did not do so.<sup>8023</sup> While according <sup>8017</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 27, 33, 45 (testifying that while initially they were only provided a little water, later the detainees had enough water to drink); Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 14, 65, 71-72, 79, ERN (En) 00346472, 00346523, 00346529-00346530, 00346537 (testifying that he would ask the guard for water when he was thirsty but he did not dare to ask for more than what was given); T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 100 (testifying that a few elderly prisoners were given leftover steamed rice but the prisoners in the cells only had watery gruel); Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, pp. 46, 48; Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, pp. 15, 66, ERN (En) 00346673, 00346724 (testifying that he felt so hungry that he wished lizards would fall near him so he could eat them); Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, pp. 20-22, ERN (En) 00345678-00345680 (describing eating insects).

<sup>8018</sup> HIM Huy Interview Record, E3/5154, 18 September 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00161602.

<sup>8019</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 100.

<sup>8020</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 59 (“They became thinner and thinner”); Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7466, 28 July 2009, pp. 13-14, ERN (En) 00356799-00356800 (“the majority of them were so skinny and malnourished”). See also, T. 3 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/426.1, p. 34. Duch testified that prisoners received “proper food regimes so they would not die and their confessions would not be cut off” and some important prisoners who became weak during interrogations had to be properly fed so that they would be strong enough for the interrogation. However, his evidence in this regard was qualified and he noted that this was his general conclusion and he was not personally involved in making such arrangements. See T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 64-66; T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 34-35. The Chamber therefore does not rely on his conclusions in this regard. Given Duch’s denial of first-hand knowledge about the rations provided to prisoners, the Chamber does not rely on his speculation that staff and prisoners were provided with the same food. See T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 35-36. The Chamber also notes that this contradicts his prior testimony that the inadequate food rations resulted in weaker or malnourished detainees who became very weak and were easier to control and that some prisoners starved to death. See Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5799, 15 June 2009, pp. 84-85, 92, ERN (En) 00341769-00341770, 00341777.

<sup>8021</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 26, 34, 46-47; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 44, 70, ERN (En) 00346502, 00346528 (testifying that he was not allowed to make any noise, even when he wept); T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 85. See also, S-21 Circular, E3/8386, undated, p. 2, ERN (En) 00521632 (“The enemies who are in our place absolutely must not be permitted to talk to one another”); Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, p. 21, ERN (En) 00345679.

<sup>8022</sup> T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 48.

<sup>8023</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 44, ERN (En) 00346502. The Chamber notes that LACH Mean testified that guards were not allowed to personally threaten or beat the prisoners, and that he had to report any incident of a prisoner disobeying or insulting them to the leadership of S-21. See T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, p. 57. While the Chamber has found some S-21 documents, guards were instructed that “threatening or beating is absolutely not allowed”, this rule was in direct conflict with the instructions on the use of physical and mental abuse during interrogations. It was also inconsistent with the policy that all detainees had to be considered as enemies who did not deserve any mercy. As the core mandate of S-21 was to obtain confessions from certain prisoners, the use of physical violence outside interrogations was prohibited insofar as it could cause a prisoner’s death before a confession was extracted.<sup>8024</sup> Consequently, the Chamber finds that these instructions, which directly contradicted general S-21 policy regarding the welfare of its detainees, were not strictly adhered to and that the way that guards treated the detainees was in fact directly contrary to this written directive.

2369. S-21 survivors who testified in Cases 001 and 002/02 about detention conditions inside the Security Centre described feeling like they were treated like animals.<sup>8025</sup> Detainees lived in fear and suffered psychologically given that they did not know their fate and could not contact their family; they expected to be killed.<sup>8026</sup> Detainees were too scared to look into the face of their guards.<sup>8027</sup> Internal security guards were instructed to ensure that prisoners did not try to break their shackles or attempt suicide.<sup>8028</sup> If a prisoner committed suicide, this had to be reported to Duch, who in court recalled two such incidents.<sup>8029</sup> At study sessions, Duch informed S-21 staff about incidents where prisoners had burned themselves with kerosene, stabbed themselves or

---

LACH Mean’s evidence to be generally credible and acknowledges that S-21 documentation notes such a policy, the Chamber has found that LACH Mean’s evidence regarding its implementation demonstrates an attempt to downplay the role of guards in the mistreatment of detainees. Given CHUM Mey’s credible testimony on this issue, the Chamber does not find LACH Mean’s testimony to be reliable in this regard.

<sup>8024</sup> Instructions to S-21 guards, E3/8711, 30 October 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 01339065; S-21 Circular, E3/8386, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00521631. See above, paras 2163-2164, 2166. See below, paras 2383, 2387-2399.

<sup>8025</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 46-47. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 48; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 34-35, ERN (En) 00346492-00346493; Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 23, ERN (En) 00346681; Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, pp. 20-21, ERN (En) 00345678-00345679.

<sup>8026</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 42-43, 50; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 65, 70, ERN (En) 00346523, 00346528.

<sup>8027</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 77-78, ERN (En) 00346535-00346536; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00198000.

<sup>8028</sup> T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, pp. 78-80. See also, Instructions to S-21 guards, E3/8711, 30 October 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 01561986.

<sup>8029</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 60 (testifying that he did not know about the incident of a female detainee from Regiment 152 who had hung herself). See S-21 list of prisoners, E3/3181, multiple dates (noting prisoners who died of disease and who had committed suicide). See also, Case 001 Transcript (SAOM Met), E3/7470, 10 August 2009, p. 89, ERN (En) 00361932.

jumped from a building.<sup>8030</sup> Annotations from the Orange Logbook refer to prisoners who committed suicide, including one who committed suicide by hanging himself and another who died from jumping from a house.<sup>8031</sup> The escape or suicide of a prisoner was a serious concern given that S-21 was tasked with ensuring that no important “enemies” died before their interrogation concluded.<sup>8032</sup>

2370. The NUON Chea Defence submits that “[e]ven if unfortunate, these conditions were not abnormal considering the general living standards in the country at the time and were certainly not worse than the conditions pre-1975 during the Khmer Republic regime or post-1979 under the PRK”.<sup>8033</sup> The NUON Chea Defence further submits that in any event, the conditions of detention “were not willingly and sadistically inflicted upon the detainees and [...] were certainly not implemented as punishment”.<sup>8034</sup>

2371. The Chamber finds that these submissions attempt to downplay the nature of the detention conditions at S-21 by reference to the prevailing situation in the country and by comparison to the conditions under other regimes. It finds that these submissions have no merit: the ultimate question is whether the legal elements for the crimes charged are established irrespective of whether these conditions were comparable to other conditions which may also have been inhumane.<sup>8035</sup> Similarly, the question of whether or not the conditions of detention were imposed sadistically or as a means of punishment has no bearing on the elements of the crimes charged. The NUON Chea Defence’s submissions are therefore rejected.

<sup>8030</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 16-17.

<sup>8031</sup> S-21 Orange Logbook, E3/10770, multiple dates, pp. 35, ERN (En) 01460450 (4 May 1977), 79, ERN (En) 01460494 (11 June 1977, noting that Sim alias Sok committed suicide by hanging himself and KEM Oeun alias Thol died from jumping from a house).

<sup>8032</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 58-60. See also, Instructions to S-21 guards, E3/8711, 30 October 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 01561986.

<sup>8033</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 618.

<sup>8034</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 618.

<sup>8035</sup> See below, Section 12.2.24.2.3: Inhumane Treatment.

12.2.12.1. Interrogations and mistreatment of detainees

2372. The core mandate of S-21 and the purpose of the interrogations was to extract confessions from prisoners, and to submit those confessions to the upper echelon for their decision and action.<sup>8036</sup>

2373. The Closing Order found that NUON Chea was aware of the practice of serious mistreatment during the interrogation of S-21 prisoners, given that he received confessions with annotations mentioning that torture was used.<sup>8037</sup> With respect to KHIEU Samphan, the Closing Order found that while he never went to S-21, he met with Duch and issued instructions prior to the entry of Vietnamese forces into Phnom Penh, and that by virtue of his regular attendance and participation at Standing Committee meetings, it was likely that he was aware of the practice of torture at S-21.<sup>8038</sup>

2374. The Co-Prosecutors submit that every person in S-21 and at other security centres was subjected to torture.<sup>8039</sup> They submit that even if some prisoners were not beaten, they were “shackled next to other living human corpses, unable to bathe, forced to defecate in a box, not allowed to speak, fed only spoonfuls of food per day, consumed with hunger, and all of them undoubtedly in extreme fear, expecting, fearing execution; expecting and fearing torture”.<sup>8040</sup> They further emphasise that being shackled 24 hours a day, pointing a gun to the head or a knife to a prisoner’s throat, or threatening to physically harm the victim or the victim’s family constitutes torture.<sup>8041</sup> The Co-Prosecutors point to evidence that S-21 confessions were obtained through torture and included evidence that was untrue, particularly as they falsely implicated prisoners as

<sup>8036</sup> T. 27 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/54.1, pp. 11-12; T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 47.

<sup>8037</sup> Closing Order, para. 968.

<sup>8038</sup> Closing Order, paras 1182-1190.

<sup>8039</sup> T. 22 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/527.1, pp. 27, 40-41, 45-49. See also, Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, paras 670, 883.

<sup>8040</sup> T. 22 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/527.1, p. 28.

<sup>8041</sup> T. 22 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/527.1, pp. 27-29; Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, para. 657 (clarifying that prisoners were shackled 24 hours a day and highlighting that Duch testified this to be common practice in other DK prisons too).

being CIA agents.<sup>8042</sup> The Co-Prosecutors further submit that KOY Thuon was indeed tortured.<sup>8043</sup>

2375. The NUON Chea Defence submits that Duch was “locked in his office” for “up to 18 hours a day”, and thus his testimony that in most cases “tearunakamm”<sup>8044</sup> was unavoidable is completely unreliable. The Defence states that Duch did not approve of this practice, that there is no evidence of it in the S-21 notebooks, and that evidence is also inadequate to prove beyond reasonable doubt that any specific incident of torture occurred at S-21.<sup>8045</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence concedes generally that it is very likely that torture and severe physical mistreatment occurred at S-21.<sup>8046</sup> The Lead Co-Lawyers submit that people detained at S-21 were subjected to severe pain or suffering primarily in order to extract a confession, and name CHUM Mey as an example of said treatment.<sup>8047</sup>

2376. Interrogators at S-21 were generally divided into three teams of seven to eight men, and all three were responsible for interrogating regular prisoners. However, some cadres selected from the more senior S-21 staff, such as Pon, Huy and Hor, were responsible for interrogating more important prisoners.<sup>8048</sup>

2377. Detainees were taken from their cells to separate rooms or houses where they were interrogated.<sup>8049</sup> Initially, detainees were interrogated at locations in different houses outside the prison compound and close to the outer zinc fence.<sup>8050</sup> Interrogations were held in other buildings so that guards and staff at S-21 could not hear or see

<sup>8042</sup> T. 22 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/527.1, pp. 31-37; Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, paras 682-685 (explaining how torture was used to obtain confessions and to identify alleged treacherous networks, even extracting confessions as to CIA or KGB involvement from citizens who had never heard of such organisations).

<sup>8043</sup> T. 22 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/527.1, p. 30.

<sup>8044</sup> See below, NUON Chea’s submissions and the Chamber’s findings regarding the term “tearunakamm” at para. 2431 and discussion of their submission regarding annotations of “tearunakamm” at para. 2411.

<sup>8045</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 605-611.

<sup>8046</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1196, 1214.

<sup>8047</sup> Lead Co Lawyers’ Closing Brief, paras 1051-1059.

<sup>8048</sup> T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, p. 91.

<sup>8049</sup> T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, p. 5; T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, p. 27. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 46; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 10-11, ERN (En) 00346468-00346469.

<sup>8050</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, p. 37; T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, pp. 83-84; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 59-60; T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, p. 54; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5748, 22 November 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00153567 (stating that initially the interrogation was conducted in the two blocks south of the school).

them.<sup>8051</sup> Following Duch's appointment as the head of S-21 and the transfer of its premises to the Ponhea Yat High School in Phnom Penh, interrogations were conducted inside the school itself.<sup>8052</sup> In the interrogation rooms, the doors and windows were closed and detainees were brought there handcuffed and blindfolded.<sup>8053</sup>

12.2.12.2. "Cold", "hot" and "chewing" units

2378. TORNG Seng Hoeung alias Pon and Hor decided which interrogation group a prisoner would be assigned to and this depended on the level of importance of the prisoner.<sup>8054</sup> Within the interrogation unit there were different groups of interrogators: the "cold", "hot" and "chewing" units.<sup>8055</sup> This is corroborated by S-21 interrogation lists which identify interrogation of specific prisoners by each of these different groups.<sup>8056</sup>

2379. The "cold" method included making promises to the prisoner that they would be released and provided food if they confessed.<sup>8057</sup> Another technique of the cold method of interrogation involved applying psychological pressure and making the prisoner think about the welfare of their spouse and children and telling the prisoner that they would not have a chance to see them if they did not confess.<sup>8058</sup> During some

<sup>8051</sup> T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, pp. 55-56.

<sup>8052</sup> KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5748, 22 November 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00153567.

<sup>8053</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 17-18.

<sup>8054</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 86, 90.

<sup>8055</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 37, 53 (testifying that Snguon was his group chief in the Chewing Unit and upon Snguon's arrest it was first Chorn and then Tith); T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 64-66; T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 90-91, 102-103 (testifying that at the beginning the interrogation unit consisted of 33 interrogators who were categorised into different teams). See also, S-21 list of prisoners interrogated on 10.5.78, E3/1951, 10 May 1978, pp. 1-15, ERN (En) 00233740-00233754 (listing prisoners interrogated by the "Cold Group", "Hot Group" and "Documentation Group"). This finding is corroborated by a note from an S-21 notebook that from April 1977, S-21 had four groups, cold, hot, documentation and "Group A". See S-21 Notebook of MAM Nai, E3/833, multiple dates, p. 29, ERN (En) 00184607 (with the entry dated 3 May 1978).

<sup>8056</sup> See e.g., S-21 Interrogation Lists: E3/2135 (multiple dates); E3/8506 (4 April 1978); E3/1922 (multiple dates); E3/1654 (8 April 1978); E3/1674 (11 April 1978); E3/8432 (multiple dates); E3/1933 (26 April 1978); E3/1672 (27 April 1978); E3/2007 (24 May 1978, referring to the chewing group and the documentation group); E3/8522 (30 May 1978, referring to the chewing unit); E3/8526 (10 June 1978, referring to the chewing unit). These lists refer to prisoners interrogated by the cold, hot and chewing teams/groups. A list of prisoners from the Central Zone also refers to three individuals interrogated by the Chewing unit. See S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8898, p. 1, ERN (En) 01529571. Similar lists refer to other prisoners processed by the Chewing team/group. See S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2225, multiple dates, p. 12, ERN (En) 00885342; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/9856, multiple dates, p. 11, ERN (En) 01368703; S-21 list of prisoners from the Kampong Saom Port, E3/1978, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00234278; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2010, undated, ERN (En) 00887854.

<sup>8057</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 70-71.

<sup>8058</sup> T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, pp. 12-13, 24; T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 53-55. See also, S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 13, ERN (En)

interrogations, prisoners were presented with fake documents and letters which suggested that they would be pardoned by Angkar.<sup>8059</sup> Duch instructed S-21 staff to use cold methods to force prisoners to speak about their background in order to identify weak points which could then be focussed on in further questioning by the “hot” unit.<sup>8060</sup>

2380. The POU Phally Notebook describes the use of psychological pressures, detailing the “views and stances on the enemies whom the Party have arrested”. It reads as follows:

“Confess to the Party in order to live and not die in place of their leaders. Make them think of their wives and children. No one can help them. Have them believe in the Party. So we break them by making them stop trusting their associates, their leaders, their plans. [...] In summary, do whatever necessary to make them vague about the matter of life or death and still have hopes that they might live.”<sup>8061</sup>

2381. The “hot unit” was tasked with using more aggressive methods of physical abuse.<sup>8062</sup> Duch confirmed several methods of “torture”, stating that, “[s]ince Nat’s era, there were four types of torture that were used with approval from SON Sen”. These included: 1) beating detainees with a stick (which was the most common method); 2) administering electric shocks; 3) covering the head with a plastic bag to suffocate; and 4) covering the mouth and nose with a towel and pouring cold water from a kettle.<sup>8063</sup> The hot and cold methods were sometimes alternated to extract confessions.<sup>8064</sup>

2382. The chewing unit repeatedly asked the same questions until they obtained a full answer.<sup>8065</sup> The “chewing” unit used hot, cold and chewing techniques in their interrogation.<sup>8066</sup> Detainees were usually sent to the “chewing” unit after they had

---

00225391; Letter to Duch, E3/1544, 26 September 1976, ERN (En) 00184020 (which notes that in connection with the interrogation of NEY Sarann alias MEN San alias Ya an instruction had been received from Duch to recall the welfare of his spouse and children, and that subsequently Duch was asked for permission to “carry out both hot and cold measures”).

<sup>8059</sup> T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, p. 33.

<sup>8060</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 91-92, 95; T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, p. 8.

<sup>8061</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, pp. 13-14, ERN (En) 00225391-00225392.

<sup>8062</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, p. 8.

<sup>8063</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 10-12; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, 2 October 2007, E3/454, p. 5, ERN (En) 00147604. See above, paras 2387-2388, 2390-2393.

<sup>8064</sup> T. 4 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/59.1, p. 66.

<sup>8065</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 38.

<sup>8066</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 66.

already been tortured exhaustively in order to “chew” the prisoners for more information.<sup>8067</sup>

2383. The POU Phally Notebook contains a chapter on the “Views and Stances Regarding Interrogation Methods”. It explains that:

- 1) There are two types of interrogation methods for each one of us:
  - a) Political pressure, that is we propagandize and put constant and repeated pressure on them at all times.
  - b) Torture is a supplementary method.
- 2) Past experience is that our interrogators mostly fall into torture, over-emphasizing torture over propaganda. This is the experience of our mistakes upon which that we absolutely must indoctrinate further.
- 3) The enemy does not confess to us easily. [...] Torture cannot be avoided. It only differs as to whether it is a little or a lot, that’s all.<sup>8068</sup>

12.2.12.3. Interrogation methods and mistreatment

2384. Some prisoners were sent for interrogation as soon as they arrived at S-21 while others were detained for up to a month before being interrogated.<sup>8069</sup> Prisoners were not shown the confessions of other prisoners who may have implicated them but if a prisoner did not confess, an interrogator could, with authorisation, tell them who had implicated them.<sup>8070</sup> Some prisoners were interrogated for several months before a confession was obtained while others could be interrogated for as short as a week.<sup>8071</sup> Initially there were many interrogators at S-21, but later, after many of the interrogators were arrested and executed themselves and the number of prisoners increased, only important prisoners were interrogated and the remainder languished in detention until the day they were killed.<sup>8072</sup>

<sup>8067</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 37 (testifying that only a few prisoners were sent directly to the “chewing” unit).

<sup>8068</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 14, ERN (En) 00225392.

<sup>8069</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 17.

<sup>8070</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 92-93; T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 61-62; S-21 Confession – KE Kim Huot, E3/1705, 22 July 1977, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 00183289-00183290 (noting that during his torture, the prisoner KE Kim Huot was told the names of those who had implicated him).

<sup>8071</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 18-19; T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, p. 19.

<sup>8072</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 58 (testifying that he estimated that between 50 and 60 percent of prisoners were interrogated); T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 95-98. See

2385. Once in the interrogation room, prisoners' handcuffs and blindfolds were removed and their legs were chained.<sup>8073</sup> The prisoners had to sit in a chair facing the interrogator, but sometimes when they fell off the chair during the interrogation, they were told to sit on the floor.<sup>8074</sup> Interrogations were carried out in three shifts of several hours starting at 7 a.m. and ending between 10 p.m. and 11 p.m.<sup>8075</sup>

2386. Interrogators were provided with a brief note on the name and origin of the prisoner before the interrogation but were not informed of the alleged offences they had committed or the network to which they allegedly belonged.<sup>8076</sup> Interrogators were told by their team leader the name, building and room number of the prisoner who had to be interrogated.<sup>8077</sup>

2387. Detainees were beaten and asked about their involvement with CIA and KGB networks. They were also asked for the names of others involved in those networks, even if the detainees did not know what the CIA and KGB were.<sup>8078</sup> Other networks which interrogators asked about included the "Yuon" and "Khmer Serei" networks.<sup>8079</sup>

2388. During beatings, some detainees such as CHUM Mey suffered broken bones and lost consciousness after being subjected to electric shocks.<sup>8080</sup> Some detainees

---

also, T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 102-103 (testifying that the number of interrogators decreased when some were removed or "smashed" for "wrongdoing").

<sup>8073</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 18. See also, Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 27, ERN (En) 00346685.

<sup>8074</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 19.

<sup>8075</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 19 (testifying that prisoners were interrogated from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. then from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and finally from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.). See also, T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, p. 19 (testifying that the interrogations lasted from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m., then from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and finally from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m.); Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 16, ERN (En) 00346674.

<sup>8076</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 62-63; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 18.

<sup>8077</sup> T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, p. 93.

<sup>8078</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 30-31, 47, 56. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 47; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 11, 14, 24, 37, 84, ERN (En) 00346469, 00346472, 00346482, 00346495, 00346542; T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 42; T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, pp. 96-97; Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 28, ERN (En) 00346686.

<sup>8079</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 42.

<sup>8080</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 54-55; T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, pp. 20, 24 (testifying that his finger was broken while trying to defend himself from the beatings); Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 11, 53, ERN (En) 00346469, 00346511. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 47.

suffered long-term physical consequences as a result of the mistreatment they endured during interrogation at S-21.<sup>8081</sup>

2389. Different techniques were used to extract confessions, including terrifying the prisoners into confessing.<sup>8082</sup> For example, one of these techniques was to display torture instruments such as knives and axes in the interrogation room.<sup>8083</sup> Interrogators threatened prisoners to ensure they gave “correct answers”.<sup>8084</sup> Prisoners were first asked about their biographies and relationships and if they did not confess, interrogators sought permission from their superior, including Duch and MAM Nai, to use “torture”.<sup>8085</sup> For example, before PRAK Khorn resorted to violence, he sought the authorisation from his group chief, Tith, on whether physical abuse could be used on a prisoner who had not confessed.<sup>8086</sup> Tith sought authorisation from MAM Nai or Duch before physical mistreatment could be used.<sup>8087</sup> For simple combatants, Hor could order “tearunakamm”,<sup>8088</sup> whereas for important prisoners, SON Sen gave Duch orders and decided on the use of severe physical violence.<sup>8089</sup>

2390. As discussed above, the methods of torture used at S-21 included beatings, the use of electric shocks, covering the head of the prisoner with a plastic bag to suffocate and covering the mouth and nose of the prisoner with a towel and pouring cold water

<sup>8081</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 30, 49-50, 55; T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 20 (testifying that after the use of electric shocks, he lost consciousness and has since had difficulty seeing out of one of his eyes and hearing from one of his ears). See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 47; Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, pp. 72-73, ERN (En) 00346730-00346731.

<sup>8082</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 72-73; T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, p. 23.

<sup>8083</sup> Case 001 Transcript (PRAK Khan), E3/7463, 21 July 2009, pp. 73-74, ERN (En) 00355181-00355182; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5800, 16 June 2009, p. 22, ERN (En) 00341979.

<sup>8084</sup> T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, p. 71.

<sup>8085</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 64. See also, T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, p. 99; S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, pp. 25, 29, ERN (En) 00182969, 00225407 (“If the Party orders us to beat, then we beat with mastery, beat them to talk, not to die, to escape, not to become so weak and feeble that they fall ill and we lose them.”).

<sup>8086</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 73-74.

<sup>8087</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 73-74 (testifying that interrogators had to seek permission for more serious acts of violence but not for pinching or pulling hairs for example); T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 68.

<sup>8088</sup> The Chamber finds that the Khmer word “tearunakamm”, when used in the context of S-21, refers to inflicting severe physical pain. For a full discussion, see below, para. 2431.

<sup>8089</sup> T. 21 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/441.1, p. 34; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5771, 30 April 2008, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00185500-00185501; T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, pp. 10-11, 14-15 (testifying that it was Hor who made the decision whether physical violence should be used during the interrogation of a particular prisoner).

from a kettle.<sup>8090</sup> While Duch allowed the use of suffocation by plastic bag, he testified that he did not personally see this method used.<sup>8091</sup> Duch stated that he was informed that one prisoner died when he was being suffocated with a plastic bag.<sup>8092</sup>

2391. Some prisoners had their toenails or fingernails removed using pliers and were subjected to electric shocks which made them lose consciousness during interrogations.<sup>8093</sup> Initially, under Nat's control, prisoners were electrocuted using a hand-crank telephone, but later Pon used the power from the main electricity supply on the wall to electrocute prisoners.<sup>8094</sup> Duch authorised the use of electrocution but strictly prohibited letting a prisoner die, in order to prevent their interrogation from being cut off.<sup>8095</sup> Duch was informed of one prisoner who had a wire attached to his genital organs, was electrocuted and then died.<sup>8096</sup>

2392. Duch taught interrogators the method of waterboarding, how to pull out the nails of prisoners and to force prisoners to eat faeces and drink urine.<sup>8097</sup> After a fingernail

<sup>8090</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 10-12 (testifying that he had used these methods since he was at M-13); T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 73, 75, 90-92 (testifying that the bag was tightened on the prisoner's head until the prisoner could not breathe and was suffocating); T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 70; T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, p. 23; PRAK Khan Interview Record, E3/79, 25 September 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00161554. See also, S-21 Confession – POL Pisit, E3/3847, undated, p. 2, ERN (En) 00223916 (transcript of annotations).

<sup>8091</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, p. 29.

<sup>8092</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, p. 13, ERN (En) 00342844.

<sup>8093</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 30, 49-50, 54-55; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 11-12, 25-27, 55, ERN (En) 00346469-00346470, 00346483-00346485, 00346513 (testifying that he was electrocuted using a live wire from the wall which was inserted into his ear); T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 75, 91-92 (testifying that he used the electric shock generated from a hand crank telephone); T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 69; PRAK Khan Interview Record, E3/79, 25 September 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00161554; T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 10-11; T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, p. 10. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 47; S-21 Confession – UK Savann, E3/1874, 9 February 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 00821432 (noting that a female detainee was "tortured and electrocuted" several times); S-21 Confession – UM Soeun, E3/3841, multiple dates, p. 53, ERN (En) 00825417 (in which the prisoner wrote that he "felt like committing suicide by hanging because the comrades beat and electrocuted me because I refused to confess my mistakes"); Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, pp. 30, 73, ERN (En) 00346688, 00346731 (testifying that he was electrocuted on his inner thigh and fell unconscious immediately); Case 001 Transcript (SAOM Met), E3/7470, 10 August 2009, p. 85, ERN (En) 00361928.

<sup>8094</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 27-28; T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 28, 44.

<sup>8095</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 27-28 (testifying that he heard from Tuy that electric wire from the wall plug was attached to the toe of the prisoner but denied knowledge of electric wires being attached to the ears of prisoners). While Duch denied first-hand knowledge of electric wires being attached to the ears of prisoners, the Chamber does not consider that this undermines the credible testimony of CHUM Mey in this regard.

<sup>8096</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 27-28.

<sup>8097</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 70 ("Duch, himself, also provided us the training in the political study sessions on the techniques to mistreat prisoners [...] and the method of waterboarding was also taught by him, how prisoners had to be forced to eat faces and to drink urine; they were all had been pulled, interrogators used a plier to squeeze the wound or would insert a nail or needle under fingernail until it became swollen and the prisoners screamed in pain.<sup>8098</sup> The Chamber notes that Duch testified that he warned interrogators to stop the practice of pulling out nails,<sup>8099</sup> and that when he received a report that prisoners had been forced to eat excrement, this irked him.<sup>8100</sup> However, in light of the credible evidence of PRAK Khorn that no such instruction was given and that it was Duch himself who taught them this technique,<sup>8101</sup> the Chamber finds that Duch's testimony was an attempt to shift responsibility for this practice and accordingly does not rely on his evidence in this regard. The Chamber further notes the credible evidence of CHUM Mey who entered S-21 relatively late, but still had his nails pulled out,<sup>8102</sup> which also undermines Duch's evidence on this issue.

2393. Detainees were beaten with various objects including rattan or bamboo sticks, rods, tree branches and electrical wire.<sup>8103</sup> If a stick was broken during the beatings, taught by Duch.”); T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, pp. 41-42; PRAK Khan Interview Record, E3/79, 25 September 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00161554. See also, S-21 Confession – KE Kim Huot, E3/1705, 22 July 1977, p. 9, ERN (En) 00183289 (which refers to a prisoner being forced to eat excrement after he cursed at those who were beating him). The Chamber notes that Duch testified that he warned interrogators to stop the practice of pulling out nails. See T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 24-26; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5800, 16 June 2009, pp. 77-78, ERN (En) 00342034-00342035. However, in light of the credible evidence of PRAK Khorn that no such instruction was given and that it was Duch himself who taught them this technique, the Chamber finds that Duch's testimony was an attempt to shift responsibility for this practice and does not rely on his evidence in this regard. Waterboarding was used on HU Nhim. See above, para. 2302. The Chamber additionally notes that VANN Nath stated in a crime scene reconstruction that a detainee was beaten while hanging from a rope on a crossbeam, before being “ducked” into a large urn, and in Case 001 VANN Nath testified that he only drew a picture of this incident based on his recollection of what a prisoner told him. See Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, pp. 4, 8, ERN (En) 00198001, 00198005; Photographs of S-21 Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/9431, 27 February 2008, ERN (En) 00198055-00195056; Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), 29 June 2009, E3/7450, p. 43, ERN (En) 00345701.

---

<sup>8098</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 75; PRAK Khan Interview Record, E3/79, 25 September 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00161554. See also, Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00198002-00198003; Case 001 Transcript (SAOM Met), E3/7471, 11 August 2009, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00363697-00363698.

<sup>8099</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 24-26; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5800, 16 June 2009, pp. 77-78, ERN (En) 00342034-00342035; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5802, 22 June 2009, 86-87.

<sup>8100</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, p. 13. See also, T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 66.

<sup>8101</sup> T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, p. 42 (“Duch never told us to stop pulling out nails because it was him who instructed us to do that. Maybe he made that statement in order to avoid himself being in trouble.”).

<sup>8102</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 30, 49-50, 54-55; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 11-12, 25-27, 67-68, ERN (En) 00346469-00346470, 00346483-00346485, 00346525-00346526.

<sup>8103</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 10-11, 28; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 13, 22-23, ERN (En) 00346471, 00346480-00346481; T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 73, 88; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 67-68; T. 2 May

new sticks were used.<sup>8104</sup> Prisoners who had been beaten with whips had wounds and scars on their body which could remain for several months.<sup>8105</sup> Some prisoners were beaten so severely that they lost consciousness.<sup>8106</sup> Detainees could also hear the screams of other detainees.<sup>8107</sup> Detainees were prohibited from shouting, but if they violated this regulation while being mistreated, a cloth was put over their mouths.<sup>8108</sup>

2394. Detainees were cursed at and called traitors and “contemptibles” during interrogations.<sup>8109</sup> Interrogators were also allowed to scold and humiliate prisoners, for example by instructing them to pay homage to the image of dogs.<sup>8110</sup> Duch also ordered

---

2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, pp. 23-24; T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, pp. 10-11; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 7, ERN (En) 00198004. See also, S-21 Confession – POL Pisit, E3/3847, undated, p. 2, ERN (En) 00223916 (transcript of annotations noting that the prisoner was subject to beating with electrical wire and suffocation with a plastic bag); Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, pp. 12-13, ERN (En) 00346670-00346671; Case 001 Transcript (SAOM Met), E3/7470, 10 August 2009, pp. 84-85, ERN (En) 00361927-00361928 (testifying that he saw the detainee bleeding after he was beaten); S-21 Confession – OU Ros, E3/7434, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00219287 (noting that the prisoner was ordered to salute a picture of a dog and when he refused to respond to a question, he was beaten four to ten times with rod until he answered).

<sup>8104</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 54, 73, ERN (En), 00346512, 00346531. See also, Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 7, ERN (En) 00198004 (BOU Meng stated that guards said “Do not torture him to death; we need him to make portraits of POL Pot.”).

<sup>8105</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 90.

<sup>8106</sup> S-21 Confession – UM Soeun, E3/3841, multiple dates, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223146 (transcript of annotations, entry dated 30 August 1975 stating that the prisoner “was so stubborn though he is a young man that he was beaten to unconsciousness”).

<sup>8107</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 30, 78, ERN (En) 00346488, 00346536. See also, T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, p. 83; T. 25 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/421.1, pp. 7-8 (testifying that as a guard he heard prisoners scream with pain when they were interrogated outside the S-21 compound and he also heard the cries of women); T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, p. 75; Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 26, ERN (En) 00184508 (entry dated 11 August 1978 in which the author notes that there was a problem with beatings being heard outside); Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 46, ERN (En) 00346704; Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, p. 34, ERN (En) 00345692. Duch testified that no prisoners dared to scream and that it was an exaggeration to claim that the screams from beatings could be heard outside. See T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 31-34. However, the Chamber notes that Duch’s evidence on this point is equivocal and he does not respond to why PON Tuy’s notebook referred to this problem. The Chamber therefore does not rely on Duch’s evidence in this regard.

<sup>8108</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 85.

<sup>8109</sup> T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 47; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 13, ERN (En) 00346471.

<sup>8110</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 86-87 (testifying that the purpose was to humiliate and degrade the prisoners who would not confess and that some prisoners would not pay homage to the image of the dog). See also, S-21 Confession – POL Lak Pheng, E3/3844, 5 July 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 00820962; S-21 Notebook of MAM Nai, E3/833, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00242259 (entry dated 28 May 1978); S-21 Confession – SUOR Heang, E3/7437, 18 July 1978, ERN (En) 00780892; S-21 Confession – OU Ros, E3/7434, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00219287 (noting that the prisoner was ordered to salute a picture of a dog); Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 14, ERN (En) 00184496 (noting that they made prisoners pay respect to pictures of two dogs, one representing America and one representing the “Yvon”).

prisoners to worship cartoon pictures of dogs with the heads of HO Chi Minh and the President of the United States.<sup>8111</sup>

2395. CHUM Mey was interrogated for 12 days, with interrogations lasting up to 12 hours each day.<sup>8112</sup> CHUM Mey was interrogated in a room where pools of blood were visible next to a typewriter, which was used to type confessions after the beatings.<sup>8113</sup> During one interrogation, Sieng sat on CHUM Mey's head, cursed at him, hit his kneecaps with a stick and asked why he had not confessed.<sup>8114</sup> CHUM Mey also had his ears pulled up and down almost daily.<sup>8115</sup> After CHUM Mey's toenails were removed, alcohol was poured over his toes but no medicine was applied and he struggled to walk due to the physical pain and could not walk properly for more than one month.<sup>8116</sup>

2396. During interrogations, CHUM Mey was beaten and lashed for extended periods of time while his legs were shackled.<sup>8117</sup> He was insulted and lashed for not confessing earlier.<sup>8118</sup> When CHUM Mey denied knowledge of the CIA or KGB, he was beaten even more and told he should not lie because Angkar never arrested anyone for no reason.<sup>8119</sup> CHUM Mey eventually confessed his involvement with the CIA or KGB

<sup>8111</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5800, 16 June 2009, pp. 58-59, ERN (En) 00342015-00342016. Duch admitted that he encouraged this practice, which he considered very effective in obtaining confessions. See Case 001 Transcript (Agreed Facts), E3/9416, 1 April 2009, pp. 90-91, ERN (En) 00302118-00302119; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5802, 22 June 2009, p. 88, ERN (En) 00344195.

<sup>8112</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 27, 30; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 22, ERN (En) 00346480. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 47.

<sup>8113</sup> T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, pp. 46-47; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 11, 24, 54-55, ERN (En) 00346469, 00346482, 00346512-00346513; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00198004-00198005.

<sup>8114</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 48-49 (testifying that in Khmer culture it was very humiliating to sit on someone's head); Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 67-68, ERN (En) 00346525-00346526 (testifying that during one beating he was cursed at and asked why he was still hiding information).

<sup>8115</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 14, 77-78, ERN (En) 00346472, 00346535-00346536.

<sup>8116</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, p. 49 (testifying that he did not dare shout because he was afraid of further beatings so he bore the pain by closing his eyes and biting his lips); Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 68, ERN (En) 00346526. See also, Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 8, ERN (En) 00198005.

<sup>8117</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, p. 27; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 11, 23, 53, ERN (En) 00346469, 00346481, 00346511. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 46.

<sup>8118</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 48, 56.

<sup>8119</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 30-31; T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 47.

because he could not endure the mistreatment and gave the interrogators the answers they wanted.<sup>8120</sup> After confessing, CHUM Mey was no longer beaten.<sup>8121</sup>

2397. While Duch allowed the use of physical and psychological abuse at S-21, interrogators were instructed that they were not allowed to cause the death of the detainees during interrogations prior to obtaining a confession and would be held responsible and punished if a prisoner died.<sup>8122</sup> At political study sessions, Duch taught interrogators that the mistreatment should not be so severe that the prisoners died before their confession could be completed.<sup>8123</sup> If an interrogator beat an important prisoner to death, the interrogator was to be arrested with permission from the upper echelon, namely SON Sen or NUON Chea.<sup>8124</sup> This is supported by notes of an interrogation unit training session where it was observed that “The enemy reacted and then we reacted too, that is wrong. Beating them to death impacts the Party Line.”<sup>8125</sup> Despite these instructions, some detainees died during the course of the interrogations.<sup>8126</sup> This is further corroborated by a number of annotations in the Orange Logbook regarding certain prisoners, including: “died from torture”, “refused to speak, died”, “died of torture, at the interrogation place”, “died from suffocation”, “died of wounds”.<sup>8127</sup> An

<sup>8120</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 55-56; T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, pp. 19-20, 24; CHUM Mey Interview Record, E3/5163, 25 March 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00176405; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 29, ERN (En) 00346487.

<sup>8121</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 29, ERN (En) 00346487.

<sup>8122</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 48-49 (testifying that they operated with instructions from the upper echelon that they had to do everything to keep prisoners alive so that a confession could be obtained); Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00198004-00198005. See also, T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 62-63; T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, p. 47 (testifying that when an interrogator kicked the ribs of a prisoner who died, Duch asked for permission from the upper echelon to smash the interrogator).

<sup>8123</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 70, 93-94 (testifying that Duch used an example of how an interrogator had burned the genitals of a prisoner and that this interrogator was later arrested and detained); T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, p. 12. See also, S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 10, ERN (En) 00225388 (noting that organisational discipline to be followed when interrogating, that detainees should not be beaten unless instructed to do so and that the health of the detainee had to be considered before beating).

<sup>8124</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 10, 100-103; T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, p. 59.

<sup>8125</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 47, ERN (En) 00184529 (entry dated 17 December 1978).

<sup>8126</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 59, 93. See also, S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9969, p. 2, ERN (En) 01462002 (noting that PING Kimsea, who was a doctor from the Northwest Zone, “died on account of torture and syncope in an interrogation place while he was writing”).

<sup>8127</sup> S-21 Orange Logbook, E3/10770, multiple dates, pp. 8, 18, 20, 21, 26, 41, 44, 134, 170, 186, 191, 216, 218, ERN (En) 01460423, 01460433, 01460435, 01460436, 01460441, 01460456, 01460459, 01460549, 01460585, 01460601, 01460606, 01460631, 01460633 (these pages cover the following approximate dates: 4, 17-19, 24 April 1977; 7, 10 May 1977; 18 July 1977; 18, 30 August 1977; 4, 23-24 September 1977).

S-21 list of prisoners' diseases also includes notes which make reference to prisoners who had suffered torture.<sup>8128</sup>

2398. Both male and female prisoners who refused to confess were beaten and physically abused at S-21.<sup>8129</sup> At some stage, the wives of S-21 cadres were used as interrogators.<sup>8130</sup> In accordance with the 12 moral principles, Duch instructed his interrogators not to "play around" with women, and to have the doors and windows open when interrogating female prisoners, and NUON Chea personally instructed Duch not to interrogate female prisoners.<sup>8131</sup>

2399. Duch testified that while "torture" was considered to be a last resort, "physical torture was inevitable" and that in most cases physical abuse was used.<sup>8132</sup> When prisoners did not confess, Duch would sometimes instruct interrogators to use physical violence.<sup>8133</sup>

---

<sup>8128</sup> S-21 list of prisoners' diseases, E3/8574, multiple dates, pp. 36-41, 43-46, 48-49, 51, 53-54, 75, 77, 80, 82, 84, 87, 92, 95-97, 99, 101-102, 104, 109, 112, 136, 196, 198, 200, 202, 204, 212, 214-215, ERN (En) 01321492-01321497, 01321499-01321502, 01321504-01321505, 01321507, 01321509-01321510, 01321531, 01321533, 01321536, 01321538, 01321540, 01321543, 01321548, 01321551-01321553, 01321555, 01321557-01321558, 01321560, 01321565, 01321568, 01321592, 01321652, 01321654, 01321656, 01321658, 01321660, 01321668, 01321670-01321671 (noting that many prisoners suffered from torture and were recorded as seriously ill as a result. Some were listed as also suffering from infected wounds following the torture. Three of those prisoners died as a result of the torture); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8598, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00069009 (noting that prisoner KHEANG Sek "suffocated by covering plastic bags").

<sup>8129</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 57. See also, T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, pp. 21-23; T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, p. 36.

<sup>8130</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 36-37; T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 10-13 (testifying that PRAK Khorn's testimony that he interrogated a female prisoner was unreliable and that female cadres who interrogated female prisoners remained at S-21 until 7 January 1979). While LACH Mean initially testified that there were no female interrogators, he acknowledged that he was not aware whether there was a special interrogation unit for female prisoners which consisted of the wives of S-21 cadre. See T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, pp. 23-24, 26, 95-96.

<sup>8131</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 16-17.

<sup>8132</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, p. 16; T. 21 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/441.1, pp. 17, 27; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/454, 2 October 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00147603 (stating that they were instructed not to rely heavily on torture and to be patient); T. 27 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/54.1, p. 12. See e.g., S-21 Confession – MEN San, E3/2475, 18 August 1975, ERN (En) 00836681-00836682 (where it was reported that the prisoner at first "refused to talk about his betrayal at all" and answered when he was tortured "really strongly" but later denied his confession because of the torture. It was also reported that the prisoner was very weak and had sores on his back caused by the torture). Duch confirmed that this report was prepared by the interrogators including the team leader. See T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 37-38. Duch's statements in this regard are consistent with the POU Phally Notebook. See above, para.2383.

<sup>8133</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 44-45 (testifying that he wrote on the confession of UM Soeun to use torture given that he had not confessed yet); S-21 Confession – UM Soeun, E3/3841, multiple dates, p. 1, ERN (En) 00223142 (transcript of annotations). See also, S-21 Confession – DANH Siyan, E3/7426, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00225275 (transcript of annotations bearing Duch's annotation instructing interrogators to ask more precise questions and to use torture in order to make the prisoner 2400. The NUON Chea Defence submits that Duch's evidence that torture was unavoidable was completely unreliable given his lack of awareness of most of the tasks at S-21.<sup>8134</sup> However, in light of the weight of evidence discussed above, the Chamber finds that Duch was intimately involved in monitoring the process of interrogation and confessions, and in particular he instructed interrogators that mental abuse and physical violence was inevitable, as corroborated by the S-21 notebooks reporting the content of the political trainings.<sup>8135</sup> The Chamber is therefore satisfied that Duch's testimony is reliable in this regard. The NUON Chea Defence's submissions are therefore rejected.

2401. The NUON Chea Defence submits that none of the four permitted "tearunakamm" techniques – namely beating, electric shocks, suffocation by plastic bags and waterboarding – "was by nature severe enough to per se amount to torture".<sup>8136</sup> The NUON Chea Defence further submits that the evidence is inadequate to prove beyond reasonable doubt any specific incident of torture at S-21 and that the Chamber needs to scrutinise the circumstances of each case and not the circumstances of the facility in general.<sup>8137</sup> The Chamber will have regard to the circumstances of each case to determine to what extent the use of severe physical and mental mistreatment constituting torture has been proved beyond reasonable doubt in its legal findings.<sup>8138</sup> However, the Chamber reiterates that while it needs to be satisfied beyond reasonable doubt that individual incidents amounted to torture, this does not preclude it from a legal finding that based on evidence from insiders, victims and contemporaneous documents that torture was employed as a general practice at S-21 in order obtain confessions.

2402. The Chamber finds that interrogators at S-21 were trained to be "absolute" and not to feel compassion for the prisoners; interrogators were instructed on how to inflict physical and mental abuse (cold, hot and chewing methods) upon detainees in order to obtain confessions. The Chamber is also satisfied that interrogators implemented these talk, and that she should be beaten until she stops saying she went to Vietnam for medical treatment); T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 34-36. The Chamber has relied on the original Khmer annotations to determine that Duch ordered the use of "moderately serious" torture with respect to this female prisoner. See S-21 Confession – DANH Siyan, E3/7426, undated, ERN (Kh) 00172772.

---

<sup>8134</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 605.

<sup>8135</sup> See above, paras 2163- 2164, 2379-2380, 2383, 2399.

<sup>8136</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 606-607.

<sup>8137</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 606-607.

<sup>8138</sup> See below, Section 12.2.24.1.5: Torture.

methods during the interrogations at S-21 from the early days of its operation.<sup>8139</sup> The above evidence of both physical and mental mistreatment applied to prisoners during interrogations throughout the operation of S-21 demonstrates the environment of fear and oppression in which the prisoners were held and is a further factor that undermines the reliability of all S-21 confessions, which were used as a basis for the arrest of implicated enemies.<sup>8140</sup>

12.2.12.4. Reporting and supervision

2403. Once a confession was obtained, the interrogators reported to their superiors. The interrogators were told to use further efforts to extract a confession if they were initially unable to do so.<sup>8141</sup> According to PRAK Khorn, interrogators did not dare to make recommendations for the release of prisoners and would simply report to their superiors that the prisoner had not yet confessed.<sup>8142</sup>

2404. Interrogators were only allowed to report on their work to their group chief and could not discuss their work among themselves. They were instructed in study or education sessions to maintain secrecy and to not spread information from person to person.<sup>8143</sup> The S-21 staff did not dare leak any information given the CPK slogan “you know your work, they know their work”.<sup>8144</sup> This was consistent with the general instruction on secrecy, which was to be maintained with respect to all operations of S-21 – for example, nobody from the outside was allowed to go beyond the reception area to the facility.<sup>8145</sup>

2405. Duch and Hor instructed interrogators to be thorough in their work, to avoid making mistakes and to ensure that the “enemy” would not say anything that was untrue.<sup>8146</sup> Chan, Hor, Tith and Duch sometimes came to inspect interrogations and at

<sup>8139</sup> See above, paras 2163, 2372, 2379-2383, 2391. See also, S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 16, ERN (En) 00225394 (“In summary, in doing propaganda, torture, putting questions or accusations to them, we must have a firm and absolute stance with no hesitation.”).

<sup>8140</sup> Section 2.4.6.3: Torture-Tainted Evidence.

<sup>8141</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 47-48.

<sup>8142</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 80.

<sup>8143</sup> T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, pp. 37, 44.

<sup>8144</sup> T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, pp. 11-12; T. 26 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/53.1, pp. 39-40 (testifying that another Party slogan was “do not know, do not see, do not hear [...] do not speak.”).

<sup>8145</sup> T. 26 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/53.1, p. 40 (testifying that Pang was authorised to go deep inside S-21 as he was representing the upper echelon).

<sup>8146</sup> T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, pp. 70-71.

times asked the prisoners questions themselves.<sup>8147</sup> The Chamber notes that Duch testified that he did not have time to witness people being interrogated.<sup>8148</sup> While the Chamber accepts that Duch was not involved in most interrogations, the evidence demonstrates that particularly in connection with more important prisoners, he took a more active role and furthermore was involved in training cadres on interrogation techniques. The Chamber accordingly finds PRAK Khorn's evidence that Duch inspected interrogations on some occasions to be credible.<sup>8149</sup>

2406. Detainees were required to put their thumbprint on confessions, but these confessions were not read out to them.<sup>8150</sup> Once a full confession was obtained, it was typed in full and sent to MAM Nai or Duch.<sup>8151</sup> The report included the interrogator's name, the name of the prisoner and signature.<sup>8152</sup> Interrogators were also instructed to provide lists of the names of individuals implicated during an interrogation or in a confession.<sup>8153</sup> S-21 staff were also occasionally tasked with summarising the names of people implicated in previous confessions.<sup>8154</sup> If Duch or MAM Nai were dissatisfied with a confession, it would be sent back with an annotation to the interrogator with specific questions to be asked; the prisoner would have to be re-interrogated and the

<sup>8147</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 63-64; T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, p. 36.

<sup>8148</sup> T. 3 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/58.1, p. 87.

<sup>8149</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 63-64; T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, p. 36.

<sup>8150</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, p. 32.

<sup>8151</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 94-95 (testifying that the full confession would on average be between 30 and 40 pages long); T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, pp. 48-49 (testifying that he made six copies of each confession which were all provided to Duch); T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, p. 20. See also, T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, p. 82 (testifying that he gave confessions which he typed to Hor).

<sup>8152</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 95-97. See e.g., S-21 Confession – ENG Meng Heang, E3/1549, 24 February 1977, p. 3, ERN (En), 00769685. PRAK Khorn confirmed that his signature appeared on this document and that he used violence in order to obtain this confession. See T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 96-97.

<sup>8153</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 99-101 (testifying that there was never a case where he was instructed by his superiors to not include the names of senior leaders of the Party). See e.g., S-21 Confession – CHAUN Maing, E3/8650, 4 January 1979, pp. 4-10, ERN (En) 00752851-00752857.

<sup>8154</sup> T. 29 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/56.1, pp. 76-79 (testifying that E3/963 was such a document, but that this document remained at S-21 but on other occasions they were asked by their superiors to provide them a summary). See also, S-21 list of prisoners from Ministry of Foreign Affairs, E3/963, undated, ERN (En) 00181772-00181774.

older confession was burned.<sup>8155</sup> On occasion, interrogators wrote to prisoners, relaying instructions received from Duch to provide further detail on traitorous activities.<sup>8156</sup>

2407. Interrogation reports of ordinary prisoners were sent to Hor, who forwarded them to Duch.<sup>8157</sup> Pon and Tuy provided the confessions of important prisoners to Duch.<sup>8158</sup> Duch's messenger was responsible for keeping the confessions of important prisoners while Hor was responsible for the other confessions.<sup>8159</sup> In a further reflection of the division between important and ordinary prisoners, Duch gave secret confessions to the typists, and these confessions were handled exclusively by Duch's messengers Chhen and Sam, rather than Hor or Huy.<sup>8160</sup>

2408. The Chamber notes that Duch testified that CPK leaders did not care whether confessions were true or not and used them as a way to smash people who opposed the revolution by identifying them as CIA or KGB agents or "agents of the land-grabbing 'Yuon'".<sup>8161</sup> However, it is unclear on what basis Duch reached this conclusion. The Chamber therefore does not rely on his opinion in this regard. The Chamber will make its own conclusion on what was intended by the CPK leadership when making findings on responsibility.<sup>8162</sup>

2409. As discussed above, during beatings and interrogations detainees were forced to confess and implicate others.<sup>8163</sup> These confessions were forwarded to the upper echelon which decided whether or not those implicated should be arrested.<sup>8164</sup> Duch also reported the names of those implicated to his superior in the "responses of the

<sup>8155</sup> T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, pp. 18-20. See above, paras 2222, 2275, 2288, 2302.

<sup>8156</sup> For example, on 29 September 1976 Pon, wrote to "Brother Ya" asking, following "Brother Duch's instructions, [to] confirm and detail [his] traitorous activities". See S-21 Confession – MEN San alias Ya alias IX, E3/1868, ERN (En) 00290104, 00290113, 00769574.

<sup>8157</sup> T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, p. 43.

<sup>8158</sup> T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, pp. 43-44 (testifying that later Hor was also allowed to read the confessions of special prisoners before forwarding them to Duch).

<sup>8159</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, p. 94.

<sup>8160</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5793, 27 April 2009, p. 26, ERN (En) 00322859; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5770, 31 March 2008, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00177611-00177612.

<sup>8161</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 64-69; KAING Guek Eav Interview Transcript, E3/347, multiple dates, pp. 35-36, ERN (En) 00185030-00185031.

<sup>8162</sup> Section 16: Common Purpose; Section 17: The Criminal Responsibility of NUON Chea; Section 18: The Criminal Responsibility of KHIEU Samphan.

<sup>8163</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 31-32, 44, 54, 57 (testifying that he fabricated the names of those whom he implicated but he also mentioned individuals who had already been arrested); Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 29, ERN (En) 00346487.

<sup>8164</sup> T. 27 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/54.1, p. 12; T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 51. See also, Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5799, 15 June 2009, p. 25, ERN (En) 00341710 (testifying that people were arrested based on implications in confessions).

enemy”.<sup>8165</sup> A person typically had to be implicated in more than one confession before an arrest could be justified, but there were cases where people were arrested based on one confession.<sup>8166</sup>

2410. In May 1977, Duch received a request from “San” to hand over 17 persons who had been identified in confessions as having joined the CIA.<sup>8167</sup> In a similar letter, SOU Met wrote to Duch requesting permission to send three individuals to S-21, notably indicating that an individual named KIM Vik from Division 605 should be sent because he had previously been a musician “of the contemptible Thach Saly’s band”. SOU Met’s stated that even though KIM Vik had not been implicated in an “enemy” confession, “as I [Met] have examined and seen through his activities, he is of course an enemy because he also used to live in the division office for a period of time”.<sup>8168</sup> The Chamber finds that this indicates some prisoners were arrested by virtue of association and status rather than any genuine suspicion.

12.2.12.5. Annotations and documentary evidence

2411. Duch instructed his interrogators to include an annotation about whether or not physical violence had been used during interrogations, and the extent of the abuse inflicted while confession was extracted.<sup>8169</sup> He regularly received such reports from his interrogators.<sup>8170</sup> The NUON Chea Defence submits that contrary to Duch’s evidence, only a few of the S-21 statements in evidence bear annotations indicating the use of “tearunakamm”.<sup>8171</sup> First, the Chamber finds that, contrary to the NUON Chea

<sup>8165</sup> Report from Duch, E3/8392, 2 February 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00824945.

<sup>8166</sup> T. 20 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/440.1, pp. 93-95 (testifying that POL Pot gave a speech that 10 confessions could be justification for an arrest, but this was something said to “make it look good”). See also, KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/451, 5 May 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00204339-00204340. See above, para. 2206.

<sup>8167</sup> Letter to Duch, E3/1042, 5 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00178184. See also, Letter to Duch, E3/8385, 4 October 1977, 00178070 (in which Meth on behalf of the military committee of Division 502 wrote to Duch indicating that he wanted to transfer three individuals who had been implicated). The Chamber notes that these letters would have passed through Duch’s supervisor in the Standing Committee before being given to Duch. See above, para. 2189.

<sup>8168</sup> Letter from Met to Duch, E3/9381, 2 June 1977, ERN (En) 00002409.

<sup>8169</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 15-16, ERN (En) 01319824-01319825.

<sup>8170</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 12-18 (testifying that it was probably following an order of SON Sen that interrogators were instructed to note down how much torture they used). See e.g., S-21 Confession – NHEUM Sim alias Saut, E3/1869, 11 November 1977, ERN (En) 00837417 (noting that the interrogator “tortured him until he confessed that he worked as a spy in a CIA network”); S-21 Confession – SIENG Pauy alias Sean, E3/1894, 28 October 1977, p. 4, ERN (En) 00702085 (noting that: “When we started torturing, he agreed to confess by telling about his connection, activities and plans in the network”).

<sup>8171</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 605.

Defence's submissions, the absence of such a notation does not establish that "tearunakamm" was not used. Further, while not every S-21 confession which the Chamber has in evidence includes an annotation describing mistreatment, the Chamber is satisfied based on the evidence analysed below that interrogators did on occasion describe the manner in which prisoners were mistreated, whether or not the word "tearunakamm" was noted.

2412. Reports from interrogators attached to confessions confirmed that psychological abuse and physical violence were used in order to extract confessions.<sup>8172</sup> The reports and the annotated confessions were forwarded by Duch to SON Sen and subsequently to NUON Chea.<sup>8173</sup>

2413. The Chamber will now discuss a few examples of annotations and reports which corroborate the physical abuse of prisoners during the course of interrogations in order to extract confessions.

2414. In one report concerning the interrogation of KE Kim Huot, the interrogator asks for guidance from "Angkar" after he noted that he planned to "continue to torture with mastery, because the enemy is breaking emotionally".<sup>8174</sup> During the course of KE Kim Huot's interrogation, he was "pounded", electrocuted and forced to eat three spoonfuls of excrement, at which point annotations indicate that he "became delirious" and later confessed.<sup>8175</sup> KE Kim Huot was the former Secretary of Sector 7 of the Northwest Zone.<sup>8176</sup> KE Kim Huot was detained for a long period because Duch's

<sup>8172</sup> Excerpt of S-21 Confession – SOUR Heang alias Yom, E3/7437, 18 July 1978, ERN (En) 00780892 (noting that after being beaten, the prisoner admitted that he was a traitor and that only after he was electrocuted several times did he confess about CIA networks); Excerpt of S-21 Confession – MEN San alias Sie, E3/2475, 18 August 1977, ERN (En) 00836681-00836682 (noting that the prisoner initially "refused to talk about his betrayal at all" but he spoke when he was tortured "really strongly" and that the "[v]ery harsh torture caused sores on his back"); S-21 Confession – KE Kim Huot, E3/1705, pp. 5, 9-10, ERN (En) 00183285, 00183289-00183290 (noting that the interrogators decided to torture the prisoner who was "pounded" on several occasions, beaten with electrical wire and forced to eat excrement after which he confessed); Excerpt of S-21 Confession – KOAM Chan alias Chan, E3/3654, 21 October 1977, E3/3654, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00768300-00768301 (noting that the prisoner was "tortured continuously for more than half a day" but given that he "still did not break [...] we continued torturing him" and threatened to beat him again).

<sup>8173</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 13, 17-18.

<sup>8174</sup> S-21 Confession – KE Kim Huot, E3/1705, 22 July 1977, p. 10, ERN (En) 00183290.

<sup>8175</sup> S-21 Confession – KE Kim Huot, E3/1705, 22 July 1977, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 00183289-00183290.

<sup>8176</sup> S-21 Confession – KE Kim Huot, E3/1705, 22 July 1977, p. 5, ERN (En) 00183285. See above, para. 2325.

superiors placed great importance on his confession and it was not possible to end his interrogation until his confession was complete.<sup>8177</sup>

2415. The confession of TIT Son alias Nhem contained a note from the interrogator which indicated that “Nhem was tortured on 12 and 13 December 1976. We then began to both persuade and threaten him, but there was no torture. We pushed him by annotating the reasons on the text that he had written, and then had him write again”.<sup>8178</sup> Duch wrote an annotation on Nhem’s confession with a proposal that three copies be made including “one copy to Angkar”.<sup>8179</sup>

2416. LY Phen’s confession contains an annotation reading that “[h]e refused to speak about his traitorous activities [...] [w]e tortured him, and now he cannot get up and has constant nausea”, after which it was reported that he confessed.<sup>8180</sup> There is a subsequent note from the prisoner requesting to postpone his confession and observing: “I could not tolerate such torture [...] I am humbly requesting forgiveness from Angkar”.<sup>8181</sup> Duch wrote a note observing that: “The Confessor wrote this”.<sup>8182</sup> For another prisoner there was an annotation which noted that he was “good at hiding information. We hit him with a lock three times. His head bled.”<sup>8183</sup> Other annotations indicated that some prisoners “confessed with very little torture. We only gave him some questions and he wrote the answers for us.”<sup>8184</sup>

2417. On 24 March 1977, Pon wrote a note to Duch regarding the interrogation of another prisoner and observed that “after being tortured, he wrote about Division 164”

<sup>8177</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5802, 22 June 2009, pp. 14-15, ERN (En) 00344121-00344122; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/106, 1 April 2008, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00177633-00177634.

<sup>8178</sup> S-21 Confession – TIT Son alias Nhem, E3/3849, 18 December 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 00835995. For another example of a prisoner threatened with torture if they did not confess, see Letter from Pon to Duch, E3/8388, 26 September 1976, ERN (Kh-En) 00008155.

<sup>8179</sup> S-21 Confession – TIT Son alias Nhem, E3/3849, 24 December 1976, p. 6, ERN (En) 00836000 (transcript of annotations, entry dated 24 December 1976).

<sup>8180</sup> S-21 Confession – LI Phen, E3/3837, 20 June 1976, p. 33, ERN (En) 00807193 (transcript of annotations). See above, para. 2277.

<sup>8181</sup> S-21 Confession – LI Phen, E3/3837, multiple dates, pp. 37, 87, ERN (En) 00807197, 00807247.

<sup>8182</sup> S-21 Confession – LI Phen, E3/3837, 15 June 1976, p. 37, ERN (En) 00807197.

<sup>8183</sup> Prisoner Biography – KEV Srom, E3/10540, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462367 (transcript of annotations).

<sup>8184</sup> S-21 Confession – MEI Sokhan, E3/3839, 8 September 1976, ERN (En) 00223911.

and that once the prisoner had provided a list of names he would have the prisoner write clearly about the activities of each of them.<sup>8185</sup>

2418. A further annotation included a report that the prisoner “spoke in a somewhat tricky manner. After being beaten, spoke clearly.”<sup>8186</sup> Another prisoner “admitted that he was a spy” after being “tortured”, and was further “tortured” in order that he admit to the “structure of the string” in place.<sup>8187</sup> Other annotations observed that one prisoner “[s]howed signs of not wanting to confess and wanting to conceal information” and that “[w]hen tortured, his eye contact and facial expressions showed that he still opposed us; It was not easy to change him”. This last annotation dates back to 26 December 1975, which demonstrates the use of severe physical violence during interrogation in the early days of S-21’s operations.<sup>8188</sup> A similar annotation for a prisoner from September 1975 includes an instruction to: “Pressure him into revealing his important contacts. Stop torturing and use political and ideological tactics.”<sup>8189</sup>

2419. SBAUV Him alias Oeun wrote in his confession that he regretted not having been given advance knowledge of his arrest in order to prove his loyalty to the Party and concluded that “it is now too late”.<sup>8190</sup>

2420. The manner in which pressure was used to obtain specific answers is illustrated in the annotations on the confession of PHOK Chhay alias Touch, a cadre from Office 870 who took minutes at Central Committee meetings.<sup>8191</sup> Pon wrote to Duch and observed:

My intensive and tricky interrogation caused him to reveal his treasonous activities at the Office of Angkar. He had written his denial again and again. However, I continued to torture him, finally forcing him to confess, by instructing him not to make any references to the

<sup>8185</sup> Letter from Pon to Duch, E3/8714, 24 March 1977, ERN (En) 01238903.

<sup>8186</sup> S-21 Confession – CHIP Lak alias Yun, E3/7425, 3 August 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00823337 (transcript of annotations).

<sup>8187</sup> S-21 Confession – IM Choeun, E3/7428, 28 June 1978, p. 4, ERN (En) 00819803.

<sup>8188</sup> S-21 Confession – KHIEV Sun, E3/7429, 26 December 1975, p. 2, ERN (En) 00780822. See above, paras 2136, 2138.

<sup>8189</sup> S-21 Confession – LANG Pring alias LANG Phat, E3/3652, 13 September 1975, p. 16, ERN (En) 00780855 (transcript of annotations).

<sup>8190</sup> S-21 Confession – SBAUV Him alias Euan, E3/1891, 20 February 1977, ERN (En) 00096820.

<sup>8191</sup> S-21 Confession – PHOK Chhay alias Touch, E3/1878, p. 3, ERN (En) 00753713 (transcript of annotations, entry dated 5 April 1977).

names of The or HOU Nim. I made him write about his involvements with Doeun and Phum only.<sup>8192</sup>

2421. In a note to the prisoner, Pon wrote: “Do not even cheat [b]y retaining and safeguarding treasonous force[...] These two points are regarded as cruelty, and you will surely be gradually tortured to death – death with the most suffering.”<sup>8193</sup> There was a notation in his confession stating that it was read and reported to Angkar on 30 March 1977.<sup>8194</sup>

2422. In the confession of CHEA Non alias Suong, there is an annotation which suggests that the confession “was written by him before being tortured”,<sup>8195</sup> and a further annotation written by Pon indicating that after political pressure was applied, the prisoner confessed “without being tortured or forced”.<sup>8196</sup> In a confession concerning another detainee named CHOR Chhan alias Sreng, an annotation states that CHOR Chan confessed without “torture”, but a later annotation observes that he had “not yet confessed” and that there were “grounds for having him beaten”.<sup>8197</sup> The Chamber considers these annotations as evidence that while physical violence may not have been used immediately with each prisoner, it was certainly considered as an available option at the disposal of interrogators. This is further confirmed by the above finding that hot methods were used when no results were obtained with cold methods.<sup>8198</sup>

2423. These reports and annotations also confirm the extent to which mistreatment and violence was reported to superiors for their approval or for their information. The Chamber accordingly finds that there was no attempt to hide this severe physical and mental abuse from the upper echelon, which was informed that these methods were used to extract confessions from prisoners who were detained at S-21. The upper

<sup>8192</sup> S-21 Confession – PHOK Chhay alias Touch, E3/1878, p. 3, ERN (En) 00753713 (transcript of annotations, entry dated 5 April 1977).

<sup>8193</sup> S-21 Confession – PHOK Chhay alias Touch, E3/1878, p. 9, ERN (En) 00753719 (transcript of annotations, entry dated 9 April 1977).

<sup>8194</sup> S-21 Confession – PHOK Chhay alias Touch, E3/3702, p. 1, ERN (En) 00224635 (transcript of annotations, entry dated 30 March 1977).

<sup>8195</sup> S-21 Confession – CHEA Non alias Suong, E3/1892, 20 February 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00769596 (transcript of annotations).

<sup>8196</sup> S-21 Confession – BOU Phat, E3/2470, p. 27, ERN (En) 00768243 (transcript of annotations, entry dated 3 February 1978).

<sup>8197</sup> S-21 Confession – CHOR Chhan alias SRENG, E3/3857, pp. 1, 46, ERN (En) 00825261, 00825306 (transcript of annotations, entry undated).

<sup>8198</sup> See above, paras 2379, 2381.

echelon was also sometimes asked for guidance and it gave instructions with respect to these interrogations.

2424. The NUON Chea Defence submits that the purpose of interrogation was to investigate, rather than force detainees to confess to pre-determined facts, and that interrogations were “part of a genuine investigative process to ascertain the truth”.<sup>8199</sup> However, the weight of evidence discussed above establishes that there is no basis for these assertions and accordingly the Defence’s submissions are rejected. On the contrary, the evidence establishes that confessions were often amended and supplemented in order to create a narrative which accorded with what was expected.<sup>8200</sup> Furthermore, prisoners were pressured to confess and implicate associates and did so under circumstances where they had been subjected to the threat of and/or use of psychological and physical abuse.<sup>8201</sup> This is further evidence which the Chamber has considered in concluding that S-21 confessions in general were unreliable given the circumstances in which the prisoners were held and the environment of fear which permeated S-21.<sup>8202</sup>

2425. In addition, the Chamber notes that the NUON Chea Defence cites to POU Phally’s notebook, which indicates that the “[t]he important thing is that we do not press on names, do not lead them to talk, or beat them to say what we want”.<sup>8203</sup> However, the NUON Chea Defence fails to contextualise this note: in the same note there is reference to prisoners dying after being questioned for days and months, and the need for the Party to “know what level of secrets were inside” the detainee.<sup>8204</sup> This note also explains that in fulfilling their duty to the Party, interrogators had to eliminate wrong views such as not trying to extract more information and believing the “deceptive talk” of prisoners.<sup>8205</sup>

<sup>8199</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 580, 593-594; T. 16 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/523.1, pp. 84-85.

<sup>8200</sup> See above, paras 2224, 2226-2228, 2406.

<sup>8201</sup> See above, para. 2412-2422; Section 12.2.12.1: Interrogations and Mistreatment of Detainees; 12.2.12.2: “Cold”, “Hot” and “Chewing” Units; Section 12.2.12.3: Interrogation Methods and Mistreatment.

<sup>8202</sup> Section 2.4.6.3: Torture-Tainted Evidence.

<sup>8203</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 19, ERN (En) 00225397.

<sup>8204</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 18, ERN (En) 00225396.

<sup>8205</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, pp. 18-19, ERN (En) 00225396-00225397.

2426. The NUON Chea Defence also ignores that this note observes that it was “not a serious matter” for interrogators to believe in the confession, but that they “must have a stance of belief in the Party and whatever the Party instructs us to do”. Further, and more importantly, the note observes that interrogators were to unconditionally respect the instructions of the Party, including when to beat a prisoner and to only beat female prisoners with whips and not their hands.<sup>8206</sup> The note also observes that the “objective of torturing is to get their answers; it is not done for fun. Therefore, we must make them feel pain so that they will respond quickly.”<sup>8207</sup>

2427. The Chamber notes that POU Phally’s notebook also states that “[i]n the past we have tortured the enemy, and there have been many losses” and that “[i]f the Party orders us to beat, then we beat with mastery, beat them to make them talk, not to die, to escape”.<sup>8208</sup> The Combined S-21 Notebook observes that if they beat the prisoner, they had to “create some kind of story to permit the beating” so that they could “beat from a position of absolute political advantage over the enemy” to allow them to question when they have “sufficient pretext to accuse them, have a pretext to pressure them completely”.<sup>8209</sup> There is also discussion about whether to “separate the torture sections and the interrogator sections”.<sup>8210</sup> Another note from the Combined S-21 Notebook observes that there was a “problem of beating the enemy. Sometimes we beat to discover their forces right away” and further that: “The problem of torture is still serious”.<sup>8211</sup> There are also references in POU Phally’s Notebook to directions regarding interrogation and collection of files, and a reminder about “torture principles”.<sup>8212</sup>

2428. POU Phally’s notebook also contains lists of names with a notation that these were people “we must pound to get their histories of activity”, and refers to individuals who were authorised to be severely physically abused.<sup>8213</sup> POU Phally’s notebook also

<sup>8206</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 19, ERN (En) 00225397.

<sup>8207</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 15, ERN (En) 00225393.

<sup>8208</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 29, ERN (En) 00225407.

<sup>8209</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 41, ERN (En) 00184523 (entry dated 8 October 1978).

<sup>8210</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 41, ERN (En) 00184523 (entry dated 8 October 1978).

<sup>8211</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, pp. 18-19, ERN (En) 00184500-00184501 (entry dated 19 May 1978).

<sup>8212</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 4, ERN (En) 00225382.

<sup>8213</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00225381-00225382.

lists names of “people we struck and got something out of”.<sup>8214</sup> Furthermore, the document refers to a direction to “[e]xamine and compare the responses conscientiously before torturing” and not to beat unless instructed to do so.<sup>8215</sup> POU Phally’s notebook also notes that interrogators were not to simply make prisoners “confess because of the pain”. In order to counter that, the interrogators were to maintain “the view of letting them live for a long time so we can get the confessions to present to the Party”. The notebook further observed that “we break them by making them stop trusting their associates” and tells interrogators that the decision of whether to keep prisoners alive or to “smash” them depended on the judgement of the Party.<sup>8216</sup>

2429. MAM Nai’s Notebook indicates that measures taken against the enemy included “beat[ing] them to break them”.<sup>8217</sup> A further note indicates an instruction to interrogate “until it is seen which one [in Chakrei’s group] is important. When we see the important one, we apply pressure.”<sup>8218</sup> Other notations in the Combined S-21 Notebook indicate that during questioning, “[t]hey answer quickly, but we are quick to beat them too. This is a shortcoming, being quick to torture.”<sup>8219</sup> With respect to prisoners who did not talk, the note observes that the:

[R]esponses are not yet pure without having beaten them. The matter of taking the Yuon to beat right in front of them, that is no gain. If we bring a live person for them to see, that is a gain. They might be even quicker to answer, and it might be more pure.<sup>8220</sup>

2430. Further notations in POU Phally’s notebook observe that the “enemy does not confess to us easily” and stress the importance of using “politics” in addition to torture, which “makes prisoners clear in their responses, and even if we torture them later, it makes them confess quicker”.<sup>8221</sup> Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence’s submission, these S-21 notebooks corroborate the use of torture to obtain specific information and demonstrate that interrogations were conducted in accordance with a policy directed

<sup>8214</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00225385-00225386.

<sup>8215</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 10, ERN (En) 00225388.

<sup>8216</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, pp. 13-14, ERN (En) 00225391-00225392.

<sup>8217</sup> S-21 Notebook of MAM Nai, E3/833, multiple dates, p. 12, ERN (En) 00184590 (entry dated 10 February 1978).

<sup>8218</sup> S-21 Notebook of MAM Nai, E3/833, multiple dates, p. 19, ERN (En) 00184597 (entry dated 28 March 1978).

<sup>8219</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 29, ERN (En) 00184511 (entry dated 18 August 1978).

<sup>8220</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 29, ERN (En) 00184511 (entry dated 18 August 1978).

<sup>8221</sup> S-21 Notebook of POU Phally, E3/8368, multiple dates, p. 14, ERN (En) 00225392.

from a higher level to extract information and identify “enemies”. In this regard, the Chamber recalls its earlier finding that Duch and MAM Nai recognised and confirmed the content of these notebooks as being consistent with the instructions given to the interrogators.<sup>8222</sup> The NUON Chea Defence assertion that there was no nationwide policy with respect to torture and that there was no criminal intent on the part of NUON Chea or other senior leaders will be addressed in the findings related to the joint criminal enterprise and the individual criminal responsibility of the accused.<sup>8223</sup>

2431. The NUON Chea Defence further submits that the Khmer terms “chamloay” and “tearunakamm” have respectively been mistranslated as “confessions” and “torture”, which has led to a fundamental misinterpretation of the evidence.<sup>8224</sup> The Chamber notes that there is indeed some inconsistent usage of the terms “chamloay” and “tearunakamm”. While “tearunakamm” has been translated into the English word “torture”, the Chamber is aware that the English word and the French equivalent do not entirely reflect the nuances of the Khmer word. For example, the English and French terms, unlike “tearunakamm”, do not refer to the discipline of a child. However, the Chamber is satisfied that when used with regard to S-21, “tearunakamm” refers to inflicting physical pain upon the prisoner.<sup>8225</sup> In reaching its conclusion, the Chamber has not only had regard to the term as used in Khmer, but also to the factual circumstances surrounding the evidence in question. Accordingly, in its legal discussion on the charges of torture, the Chamber considers carefully the context of the word “tearunakamm” at S-21 and the type of mistreatment it actually refers to in order to appropriately address the facts alongside the legal definition of this crime and to evaluate whether they reached the requisite level of gravity to amount to torture. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that there has been no misinterpretation of the evidence regardless of the various contexts and uses of the Khmer word.

12.2.13. Medical Treatment

2432. S-21 had a small medical unit consisting of former members of Division 703, but in mid-1978 most of medics in this unit were arrested and replaced by children who

<sup>8222</sup> See above, paras 2132-2133.

<sup>8223</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 585-588, 607.

<sup>8224</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 581-585; T. 16 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/523.1, pp. 87-88.

<sup>8225</sup> T. 21 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/441.1, pp. 21-22, 25.

had been brought from Amleang by Duch.<sup>8226</sup> Try was the Chief of the S-21 medical unit until he was arrested.<sup>8227</sup>

2433. While prisoners were sometimes provided with medical treatment, the medicines were not effective.<sup>8228</sup> Important prisoners had to be kept in good health for interrogation, after which they were sent for execution.<sup>8229</sup> Medics were therefore instructed to be careful with the medical treatment of detainees and their wounds when their interrogations had not yet concluded.<sup>8230</sup>

2434. Following interrogations, the wounds of prisoners were cleaned with salt water and bandaged using pieces of cloth or mosquito nets because staff did not have proper bandages.<sup>8231</sup> There were approximately 10 to 15 medics who were assigned to provide treatment to prisoners and this included dressing wounds and the provision of pills.<sup>8232</sup> Most of the S-21 staff who worked in the medical unit were between the ages of 16 and 20.<sup>8233</sup> If a prisoner could not be treated after an interrogation this had to be reported to the chief medic who dealt with prisoners with serious conditions.<sup>8234</sup>

<sup>8226</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, p. 44; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5799, 15 June 2009, p. 93, ERN (En) 00341778. See also, Case 001 Transcript (SEK Dan), E3/7467, 3 August 2009, p. 15, ERN (En) 00358866; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/9905, undated, p. 28, ERN (En) 01398898 (noting the arrest of the chairman, deputy chairman, and group chief of the S-21 hospital on 6 April, 8 May and 10 May 1978); S-21 list of prisoners who entered in July 1978, E3/10120, undated, p. 12, ERN (En) 01399074 (noting the arrest of AING Sor, S-21 medic, on 20 July 1978).

<sup>8227</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 61; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 14; T. 3 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/426.1, p. 7.

<sup>8228</sup> T. 2 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/425.1, p. 102. Photographs of dead prisoners from S-21 corroborate the emaciated state of the prisoners. See e.g., S-21 photographs, E3/8063.16, undated, ERN P00005340; E3/8063.46, 24 September 1977, ERN P00005348; E3/8063.48, 5 October 1977, ERN P00005347; E3/8063.49, 11 October 1977, ERN P00005346. See also, Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 80, ERN (En) 00346738; Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, p. 23, ERN (En) 00345681.

<sup>8229</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 36-37.

<sup>8230</sup> T. 2 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/425.1, pp. 94-95, 99-100.

<sup>8231</sup> T. 2 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/425.1, pp. 89-90, 102-105 (testifying that the medical unit ran out of a “red liquid” which was an antibiotic they used to treat the wounds including when nails of detainees had been pulled out); T. 3 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/426.1, pp. 5-6, 29-30. See also, Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 31, ERN (En) 00346689.

<sup>8232</sup> T. 2 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/425.1, p. 98; T. 3 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/426.1, pp. 13-14, 27 (testifying that there was a separate medical unit for the treatment of S-21 staff). See also, T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, pp. 80-81 (testifying that after prisoners had been tortured and beaten he saw prisoners bleeding and with scars and wounds on their backs, hands and feet); T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, pp. 60-61.

<sup>8233</sup> T. 3 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/426.1, p. 28.

<sup>8234</sup> T. 2 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/425.1, pp. 94, 106-107.

2435. Prisoners who had been handcuffed or shackled for long periods suffered from swollen and numb limbs, while others suffered from beriberi.<sup>8235</sup> Prisoners were given pills and vitamin injections by the medical unit to treat various conditions.<sup>8236</sup> There was a lack of medicines for the treatment of the prisoners.<sup>8237</sup>

2436. Records were also kept at S-21 which indicated that prisoners suffered from other conditions including dysentery, ulcers and diarrhoea, and documents indicated that some of these prisoners were emaciated and in critical condition.<sup>8238</sup> One of these records indicated that a prisoner was seriously sick after being tortured.<sup>8239</sup> Prisoners died on a regular basis from illness.<sup>8240</sup> This is corroborated by almost daily annotations in the Orange Logbook which note that over 200 prisoners died from illnesses including: kidney inflammation, syncope, viruses, gastrointestinal inflammation, swelling, numbness, dysentery, chest pains, fever, diarrhoea, small pox, exhaustion, bronchitis, vomiting blood, infected wounds, high blood pressure and blood-borne disease.<sup>8241</sup> Other annotations note that prisoners who had contracted syphilis were

<sup>8235</sup> T. 3 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/426.1, pp. 45-46 (noting that beriberi was the English term associated with a disease prisoners experienced involving numbness and swelling of limbs, treated by S-21 medics with vitamin injections).

<sup>8236</sup> T. 3 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/426.1, pp. 31-33, 45. MAK Thim also testified about where prisoners received medical treatment at S-21 and whether or not they were taken to the medical unit. See T. 2 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/425.1, pp. 90-94. However, MAK Thim's testimony was marked by contradictions, confusion and lack of recollection. The Chamber therefore does not rely on his evidence in this regard.

<sup>8237</sup> T. 3 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/426.1, pp. 31-32.

<sup>8238</sup> S-21 list of prisoners' diseases on 15 May 1977, E3/8438, 16 May 1977, pp. 1-4, ERN (En) 00701361-00701363; S-21 list of prisoners – report on the situation of illness of the enemy on 5-8-77, E3/2098, 5 August 1977, pp. 1-3, ERN (En) 00184324-00184326; S-21 list of prisoners – report on number of patients according to levels of security, E3/8703, undated, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00609177-00609178; S-21 list of prisoners who are sick, lame, beriberi and crippled, E3/8580, 1977, pp. 1-12, ERN (En) 01321737-01321748 (referring to sick, lame and crippled prisoners); S-21 list of prisoners' diseases, E3/10566, 1976, pp. 1-201, ERN (En) 01369329-01369529. See also, S-21 list of prisoners' diseases, E3/8574, 1976, pp. 136-218 (referring throughout to dozens of prisoners who were listed as severely ill and suffering from emaciation), ERN (En) 01321592-01321674.

<sup>8239</sup> S-21 list of prisoners – report on number of patients according to levels of security, E3/8703, undated, ERN (En) 00609178.

<sup>8240</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 62. See also, S-21 list of prisoners – report on number of patients according to levels of security, E3/8703, undated (noting that two prisoners who were patients had died) ERN (En) 00609177; Case 001 Transcript (SEK Dan), E3/7467, 3 August 2009, p. 16, ERN (En) 00358867 (testifying that the child medics had to carry and bury the bodies of prisoners who died of their illnesses in the vicinity of the compound).

<sup>8241</sup> S-21 Orange Logbook, E3/10770, multiple dates, pp. 40, 53, 55, 60, 66, 76, 82, 89, 91, 94, 96, 98, 103, 105, 107, 111, 113, 116, 119, 122, 130, 136, 138, 140, 144, 146, 148, 158, 161, 169, 171-172, 174, 177, 186, 191, 195-196, 198-199, 202, 216, 218, 220, 222, 231, 233, 237, 239, 243, 245, 247, 249-250, 252, 257, 259, 261, 263, 265, 268, 271, 273, 275, 277, 279, 281, 283, ERN (En) 01460455; 01460468; 01460470, 01460475, 01460481, 01460491, 01460497, 01460504, 01460506, 01460509, 01460511, 01460513, 01460518, 01460520, 01460522, 01460526, 01460528, 01460531, 01460534, 01460537, 01460545, 01460551, 01460553, 01460555, 01460559, 01460561, 01460563, 01460573, 01460576, 01460584, 01460586-01460587, 01460589, 01460592, 01460601, 01460606, 01460610-01460611,

killed.<sup>8242</sup> Another annotation notes that a prisoner “died of being too thin”.<sup>8243</sup> A list of prisoners’ diseases notes a range of diseases that afflicted hundreds of prisoners in 1976 and records that several prisoners died from these diseases.<sup>8244</sup> This list classifies prisoners as slightly ill, moderately ill and seriously ill.<sup>8245</sup> One prisoner list which also records seriously ill prisoners in May 1976 includes a note which demonstrates that this list was sent to the S-21 Committee with a summary of the total number of prisoners suffering from different diseases.<sup>8246</sup>

2437. SUOS Thy copied the report provided by the medical staff regarding the cause of death.<sup>8247</sup> SUOS Thy testified that when there were annotations on lists which indicated “bruised”, the detainee had died as a result of “torture”, while an annotation “numb” indicated that the detainee had died from swelling due to lack of food.<sup>8248</sup> SUOS Thy testified that while he did not know the total number of those who died, he estimated that one or two prisoners died every day at S-21 from illness or beatings.<sup>8249</sup> This is consistent with the records found in the Orange Logbook which record over 200 prisoners who died as a result of disease and/or torture during much of 1977.<sup>8250</sup> The 01460613-01460614, 01460617, 01460631, 01460633, 01460635, 01460637, 01460646, 01460648, 01460652, 01460654, 01460658, 01460660, 01460662, 01460664-01460665, 01460667, 01460672, 01460674, 01460676, 01460678, 01460680, 01460683, 01460686, 01460688, 01460690, 01460692, 01460694, 01460696, 01460698. The Chamber notes that this is only a sample of the pages which describe prisoners who died of sickness. These pages cover the following approximate dates: 6, 18-19, 23, 27 May 1977, 6, 9, 15-16, 18-20, 24-26, 29-30 June 1977, 2, 4, 14, 20, 22-23, 26, 28, 29 July 1977, 8, 11, 17, 19-21, 23, 30 August 1977, 4, 8-9, 11, 13, 23-24, 26-27 September 1977, 4-5, 8-9, 12-16, 18, 22-26, 28, 30-31 October 1977, 1, 3-5 November 1977.

---

<sup>8242</sup> S-21 Orange Logbook, E3/10770, multiple dates, pp. 42, 166, ERN (En) 01460457, 01460581.

<sup>8243</sup> S-21 Orange Logbook, E3/10770, undated, pp. 60, ERN (En) 01460475.

<sup>8244</sup> S-21 list of prisoners’ diseases, E3/8574, 1976, pp. 1-218, ERN (En) 01321457-01321674.

<sup>8245</sup> S-21 list of prisoners’ diseases, E3/8574, 1976, pp. 1-218, ERN (En) 01321457-01321674. The list identified dozens of prisoners who died as a result of their diseases.

<sup>8246</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8461, 6 May 1976, p. 3, ERN (En) 00853245.

<sup>8247</sup> T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 10-11 (testifying that he could not recall whether or not the reports noted if a prisoner died from “acts of torture”); Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7466, 28 July 2009, pp. 48-49, ERN (En) 0035683-00356835 (testifying that the lists prepared by the medical staff did not necessarily indicate that a prisoner died as a result of torture, and could simply state that they died as a result of illness).

<sup>8248</sup> T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 11-13 (testifying that the list E3/3187 was probably made by Meng); S-21 list of prisoners died of diseases and executed from 1 May 1976 to 15 May 1976, E3/3187, ERN (En) 00874564-00874569.

<sup>8249</sup> T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 12-13. See also, T. 3 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/426.1, p. 6 (testifying that while he worked as a medic he saw a prisoner die at S-21 every three or four days or every week).

<sup>8250</sup> See above, para. 2436.

medical staff at S-21 were instructed to carry the dead prisoners and bury them outside the S-21 compound.<sup>8251</sup>

2438. Given the poor hygienic conditions, prisoners were infested with lice and suffered from skin rashes.<sup>8252</sup> The evidence contains a handwritten report in which MAM Nai seeks advice from Angkar following an inspection of the prisoners at S-21A in March 1976.<sup>8253</sup> The Chamber recalls its finding above that S-21A referred to the interrogation unit of S-21.<sup>8254</sup> The report notes that a number of prisoners had dysentery while others had swelling and numbness. It also notes that lice had decreased by 80 to 90 percent but that in a small number of rooms there were “human smell stinks”. MAM Nai requests to have the rooms cleaned, to cure illnesses by using Khmer medicine and to renovate some of the rooms.<sup>8255</sup> The Chamber finds that this handwritten document bears sufficient indicators of authenticity, including the signature and name of MAM Nai alias Chan, whose notebook the Chamber has admitted and found to be authentic.<sup>8256</sup> Furthermore, the document is consistent with and corroborates other evidence with respect to detention conditions at S-21.<sup>8257</sup>

2439. According to CHUM Mey, when he was detained at S-21 in 1978 there were no medical staff at all and he was not provided with medical treatment for the injuries sustained during beatings.<sup>8258</sup> The Chamber notes that S-21 medical staff was subjected to purges which impacted their number, and this could explain why CHUM Mey never saw medics.<sup>8259</sup> Regardless, there is ample evidence that medics treated prisoners who had open wounds as a result of beatings.<sup>8260</sup>

<sup>8251</sup> T. 3 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/426.1, pp. 6-7.

<sup>8252</sup> Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 76, ERN (En) 00346734; Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, p. 22, ERN (En) 00345680.

<sup>8253</sup> Report from Chan, E3/8980, 7 March 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 00574237.

<sup>8254</sup> See above, para. 2152.

<sup>8255</sup> Report from Chan, E3/8980, 7 March 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 00574237.

<sup>8256</sup> The Chamber notes the similarity in the handwriting between this report and MAM Nai alias Chan’s notebook. See Decision on Objections to Documents Proposed to Be Put Before the Chamber on the Co-Prosecutors’ Annexes A1-A5 and to Documents cited in Paragraphs of the Closing Order Relevant to the First Two Trial Segments of Case 002/01, E185, 9 April 2012, p. 17, ERN (En) 00798273; Annex B – Documents Referred to in the Co-Prosecutors’ Annexes A1-A5, E185.2, 9 April 2012, p. 24, ERN (En) 00798991.

<sup>8257</sup> See above, paras 2366, 2435-2436.

<sup>8258</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, p. 48; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 27, ERN (En) 00346485.

<sup>8259</sup> See above, para. 2432. See below, para. 2544.

<sup>8260</sup> Section 12.2.13: Medical Treatment.

12.2.14. Blood Drawing and Medical Experiments

2440. According to the Closing Order, some prisoners died after the S-21 doctors drew a large quantity of their blood.<sup>8261</sup>

2441. The Chamber finds that some detainees had their blood drawn at the medic's house which was located outside S-21.<sup>8262</sup> The blood was taken for the treatment of wounded Khmer Rouge soldiers.<sup>8263</sup> Those selected by Duch for blood drawing were prisoners in good physical condition and who did not have infectious diseases.<sup>8264</sup> While Duch did not see the practice himself, he and SON Sen gave permission for blood drawing from prisoners and SON Sen instructed them to be careful not to spread sexually transmitted diseases.<sup>8265</sup>

2442. Witness PRAK Khorn testified regarding blood drawing at S-21 and how the practice was implemented. He testified that prisoners were brought to the house, had their arms and legs tied to a bed, their mouths covered and eyes blindfolded before an needle was inserted into each arm for the blood to be drawn.<sup>8266</sup> The prisoners who had their blood drawn became very weak and were replaced by other prisoners who, in turn,

<sup>8261</sup> Closing Order, paras 473-474.

<sup>8262</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 101-102; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 12-13; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006; Photographs of S-21 Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/9431, 27 February 2008, p. 53, ERN (En) 00198080; S-21 list of prisoners of "Blood Taking Section" 25 October 1977, E3/2164, 26 October 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00181692. While MAK Thim also stated that he had treated prisoners who had their blood drawn, his testimony on this issue was contradictory and marked by confusion and lack of clarity. The Chamber therefore does not rely on MAK Thim's testimony in this regard. See T. 3 May 2016 (MAK Thim), E1/426.1, pp. 14-20, 48-49; MAK Thim Interview Record, E3/7673, 30 November 2007, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00401871-00401872; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5802, 22 June 2009, pp. 113-114, ERN (En) 00344220-00344221 ("Regarding the blood, the superior ordered S-21 to distribute to 98 [...] the medic 3 drew the blood from the prisoners and took the blood to give to Comrade Tuy."), 49, ERN (En) 00344156 (98 was a military hospital).

<sup>8263</sup> Case 001 Transcript (PRAK Khorn), E3/7463, 21 July 2009, pp. 37-38, ERN (En) 00355145-00355146.

<sup>8264</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 84-85.

<sup>8265</sup> T. 27 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/444.1, pp. 16-19 (testifying that they never received instructions to draw blood from cadres). The Chamber notes that Duch had in previous interviews denied authorising blood drawing. See KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/455, 3 October 2007, pp. 6-7, ERN (En) 00149912-00149913; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/448, 4 December 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00154912. However, the Chamber accords more weight to Duch's live testimony in which he clarified that while he did not know when blood drawing started, he did receive instructions and authorised the practice. In addition, Duch in prior testimony had also testified about orders he received from the upper echelon and specifically SON Sen to draw blood from prisoners. See Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, p. 27, ERN (En) 00342858; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5802, 22 June 2009, pp. 113-114, ERN (En) 00344220-00344221; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/7471, 11 August 2009, p. 46, ERN (En) 00363738.

<sup>8266</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 102.

had their blood drawn.<sup>8267</sup> Four to five bags of blood were taken from the prisoners until the person “gasp[ed] or was dying”. After the blood had been drawn, the prisoners who died were thrown into a pile in the corner of the room before their bodies were taken for burial.<sup>8268</sup> When only a few prisoners died from blood drawing they were buried in the compound, but if a large number died, the bodies were loaded onto trucks and taken away.<sup>8269</sup> Blood was drawn from groups of 20 to 30 prisoners at a time.<sup>8270</sup>

2443. Following the instructions of Hor, SUOS Thy included the names of prisoners who had their blood drawn and died on the list of names of people who needed to be “smashed”.<sup>8271</sup> Annotations from the Orange Logbook corroborate the practice of blood drawing from prisoners. These annotations name several individuals who had their blood drawn or who were “destroyed to take their blood” in 1977.<sup>8272</sup>

2444. The NUON Chea Defence submits that Duch’s evidence on the issue of blood drawing is purely speculative.<sup>8273</sup> While the Chamber notes that Duch did not see the practice himself, his evidence is clear and precise about the manner in which blood drawing was authorised by him with the approval of SON Sen. The Chamber finds his evidence to be reliable in this regard and further corroborated by the evidence of other credible witnesses and documentary evidence referred to above.

<sup>8267</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 101-102; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 13-14 (testifying that those who had their blood drawn could not move or speak and were thrown to a corner of the room).

<sup>8268</sup> Case 001 Transcript (PRAK Khorn), E3/7463, 21 July 2009, pp. 37-38, ERN (En) 00355145-00355146; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 13 (testifying that he did not recall the exact number of bags of blood but that the prisoners had their “blood completely drawn”); PRAK Khorn Interview Record, E3/79, 25 September 2007, p. 9, ERN (En) 00161560.

<sup>8269</sup> Case 001 Transcript (PRAK Khorn), E3/7463, 21 July 2009, p. 38, ERN (En) 00355146; PRAK Khorn Interview Record, E3/79, 25 September 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00161559 (stating that he saw a vehicle full of prisoners whose blood had been taken, who had not yet died, but were “very weak and expiring”).

<sup>8270</sup> PRAK Khorn Interview Record, E3/79, 25 September 2007, p. 9, ERN (En) 00161560.

<sup>8271</sup> T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 13-16; Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7466, 28 July 2009, pp. 37, ERN (En) 00356823; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2285, multiple dates, pp. 212-213, 312-313, ERN (En) 01564972-01564973, 01565071, 01565072-01565073; S-21 list of prisoners of “Blood Taking Section” 25 October 1977, E3/2164, 26 October 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00181692.

<sup>8272</sup> S-21 Orange Logbook, E3/10770, multiple dates, pp. 137, 163, 197, 227, 239, ERN (En) 01460552, 01460578, 01460612, 01460642, 01460654 (22 July 1977: “Extract blood from 450”; 14 August 1977: “Extracted blood from 2 people”; 9 September 1977: “Two people KONG An and Chan, from Division 310 were destroyed to take their blood”; 3 October 1977: “Taking blood from five prisoners”; 10 October 1977: “Blood taken from a prisoner called Yin alias Sin from 21 Khor previously known as Social Affairs”). See also, S-21 list of prisoners of “Blood Taking Section” 25 October 1977, E3/2164, 26 October 1977, ERN (En) 00181692 (listing the names of five prisoners who entered at S-21 on 21 October 1977 and who had their blood drawn on 25 October 1977).

<sup>8273</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 620.

2445. The NUON Chea Defence further asserts that the evidence of PRAK Khorn on the issue of blood drawing is “riddled with inconsistencies”.<sup>8274</sup> With regard to these submissions, the Chamber notes that the NUON Chea Defence mischaracterises PRAK Khorn’s prior interview to suggest that he saw blood drawing incidents from his house but later testified that he witnessed these incidents when he visited the medical site.<sup>8275</sup> The Chamber has analysed PRAK Khorn’s prior interview in light of his live testimony and has found that there were no significant contradictions in his accounts; his evidence with respect to what he witnessed in relation to blood drawing is consistently reliable and corroborated by the S-21 contemporaneous evidence. The NUON Chea Defence’s submissions are therefore rejected.

2446. The NUON Chea Defence refers to the minutes of a meeting on health and social affairs, where there was discussion about successful attempts to collect blood from 5,000 people monthly in Phnom Penh from offices, military and industries to save the lives of soldiers on the borders.<sup>8276</sup> The NUON Chea Defence submits that this document shows that “blood drawing may have been authorised at S-21 exceptionally” in order to meet the urgent need for blood.<sup>8277</sup> SUOS Thy was unable to comment on this document and was not aware whether S-21 staff were asked to donate blood.<sup>8278</sup> PRAK Khorn testified that neither he nor any of his comrades in Battalion 143 were ever asked to donate blood for wounded comrades.<sup>8279</sup> In light of the credible evidence of PRAK Khorn, it is clear that this practice was directed toward prisoners at S-21 and carried out in such a way that prisoners had blood drawn forcibly and often died. Under these circumstances, the motivation behind the practice of blood drawing is irrelevant to the Chamber’s assessment of whether this amounted to a crime.

2447. With regard to medical experiments, the Chamber notes that the available evidence is scarce and does not allow a comprehensive finding on the scope of the practice, both with respect to its duration and frequency. The Chamber finds, however, that THACH Chea’s wife was detained at S-21 and was subjected to an experiment to

<sup>8274</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 620.

<sup>8275</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 620 referring to PRAK Khorn Interview Record, E3/79, 25 September 2007, pp. 8-9, ERN (En) 00161559-00161560.

<sup>8276</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 621 referring to Minutes of Meeting on Health and Social Affairs, E3/226, 10 June 1976, p. 10, ERN (En) 00183372.

<sup>8277</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 621.

<sup>8278</sup> T. 6 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/432.1, pp. 14-15.

<sup>8279</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 41.

allow the medical unit to study the surgical process on a live body. She died as a result of this experiment and SON Sen blamed Duch and Nat for allowing this to happen to the wife of a famous person, saying that a normal person's wife should have been taken instead.<sup>8280</sup> THACH Chea was the former State Secretary of the Ministry of Education during the Khmer Republic.<sup>8281</sup> His surviving four children were left behind at S-21 and were also "smashed".<sup>8282</sup> Duch claimed that after this incident, there were no further live surgical experiments at S-21.<sup>8283</sup> The Chamber further finds that on one occasion, Duch did order that at least two dead bodies be thrown into a pond to test how long it would take a body to float.<sup>8284</sup> This was done to investigate the circumstances surrounding the discovery of a body that was found floating near the base of Division 920, for the purposes of sending a report to SON Sen.<sup>8285</sup> According to Duch, it was NUON Chea, through SON Sen, who had asked him to investigate this incident.<sup>8286</sup>

2448. While Duch claimed that the practice of conducting live surgery on prisoners did not continue, he stated that on one occasion NUON Chea instructed him to use prisoners to test pills which were found during a search and which were suspected to be poison.<sup>8287</sup> He further stated that new medicines were also tested on prisoners.<sup>8288</sup>

<sup>8280</sup> T. 7 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/433.1, pp. 96-97 (testifying that he had denied the request to conduct this experiment on TACH Chea's wife but that he was informed that the experiment had nonetheless been carried out); T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 94-95. The Chamber notes that Duch retracted from his earlier testimony that his superior had boasted about taking TACH Chea's wife away for the experiment. See Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5800, 16 June 2009, p. 93, ERN (En) 00342050. The Chamber therefore does not rely on his prior evidence that the instruction to use live prisoners for the training of surgery was based on an instruction from his superiors.

<sup>8281</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5800, 16 June 2009, p. 94, ERN (En) 00342051.

<sup>8282</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5800, 16 June 2009, p. 94, ERN (En) 00342051.

<sup>8283</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, p. 3; T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 95-97. While Duch was shown a prisoner list and recognised his handwriting which indicated "medical experimentation", he did not recall that any other female prisoners being taken for medical experiments but testified that four male prisoners were taken to test a poison. See T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 96-97; T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, pp. 2-3, 6-7; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1671, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00181789.

<sup>8284</sup> T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, pp. 8-9.

<sup>8285</sup> T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, pp. 8-9.

<sup>8286</sup> T. 28 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/55.1, p. 64.

<sup>8287</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, p. 4; T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 97; T. 27 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/444.1, pp. 19-21. The Chamber notes that Duch further testified that he changed the powder in the capsules to paracetamol. However, the Chamber finds his evidence in this regard to be implausible given how strictly he followed all orders and given his testimony that all prisoners at S-21 were to be eventually killed in any event. The Chamber finds that this was an attempt to minimise his own involvement in the direct killing of prisoners.

<sup>8288</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5800, 16 June 2009, pp. 81-82, ERN (En) 00342038-00342039; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1671, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00181789 (noting that one female prisoner was the subject of a medical experiment); KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/1569, 29 April 2008, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00185476-00185477 (stating that this annotation was made by him and referred to the testing of new drugs).

However, the Chamber finds that there is insufficient evidence to enter a finding in this regard.

2449. The Chamber finds that the S-21 contemporaneous documentation corroborates the existence of a regular blood drawing practise which led to the death of a number of S-21 detainees. However, the Chamber is unable to establish the precise number of those who died in these circumstances during the entire operation of S-21. In this regard, the Chamber places no weight on PRAK Khorn's estimate that as many as 1,000 prisoners had their blood drawn in this manner.<sup>8289</sup> It is unclear on which basis PRAK Khorn made this estimate and to which period of time he referred. The Chamber also notes that Duch initially denied that such practice existed or that he was aware of it. Finally, Duch has estimated that approximately 100 people had been killed as a result of this practice.<sup>8290</sup> The Chamber notes that there is no documentary evidence available concerning this matter for the year 1976, the end of the 1977 or for 1978, when the armed conflict with Vietnam escalated. It finds that for the limited period of time covered by the Orange Logbook in year 1977, at the very least 12 prisoners died after having their blood extracted at S-21.<sup>8291</sup>

12.2.15. Forced Work

2450. Detainees who had particular skills stemming from previous professions such as doctors, interpreters, artists and those with the ability to repair machines were not immediately executed.<sup>8292</sup> This is corroborated by an S-21 prisoner list which includes annotations next to specific prisoner names stating "keep to use",<sup>8293</sup> and other S-21 records which identify the names of prisoners who were assigned to work.<sup>8294</sup> These

<sup>8289</sup> PRAK Khorn Interview Record, E3/79, 25 September 2007, p. 9, ERN (En) 00161560.

<sup>8290</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5800, 16 June 2009, p. 81, ERN (En) 00342038; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, pp. 37-38, ERN (En) 00342868-00342869; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/7471, 11 August 2009, p. 46, ERN (En) 00363738.

<sup>8291</sup> See above, para. 2443. See also, Section 4: General Overview, paras 281, 289.

<sup>8292</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 36, 62-63 (testifying that he repaired sewing machines, typewriters and the water pump at S-21 and thus his life was spared); Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 14-15, ERN (En) 00346472-00346473; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5770, 31 March 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00177608-00177609; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 8, ERN (En) 00198005. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 49; Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, pp. 18-19, 35, ERN (En) 00346676-00346677, 00346693; Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, pp. 34-35, ERN (En) 00345692-00345693.

<sup>8293</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8484, p. 10, ERN (En) 01321709.

<sup>8294</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners who were assigned to work outside, E3/10326, 31 August 1978, pp. 1-4, ERN (En) 01528694-0152867 (referring to 22 individuals).

records demonstrate that prisoners were assigned to work as carpenters, interpreters, cooks, medics, mechanics, and construction workers.<sup>8295</sup> A prison list from December 1978 notes that 16 prisoners were working at S-21.<sup>8296</sup> VANN Nath and BOU Meng were both painters by trade who were kept alive at S-21 in order to paint portraits. BOU Meng also mentions that in Building E there was a wood sculptor and a wax moulder working with him and VANN Nath.<sup>8297</sup>

2451. While these detainees were to be executed eventually, their execution was deferred so that they could be used to work at S-21.<sup>8298</sup> NUON Chea's niece LACH Dara was selected by Duch to work as a medic.<sup>8299</sup> Both Duch and Hor had the ability to make such decisions.<sup>8300</sup>

2452. Duch received instructions from SON Sen to "release" prisoners to work inside the S-21 compound.<sup>8301</sup> Duch and Hor had the authority to order prisoners to work outside of S-21.<sup>8302</sup> There was a workshop behind the S-21 facility, where a few detainees who had particular skills were taken to work.<sup>8303</sup> The detainees were guarded and were warned not to attempt to escape or else they would be shot and killed.<sup>8304</sup> Some of the detainees who started working at the workshop were no longer mistreated during the day but were taken back at night and shackled.<sup>8305</sup>

<sup>8295</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners who were assigned to work outside, E3/10326, 31 August 1978, pp. 1-4, ERN (En) 01528694-0152867 (referring to 22 individuals).

<sup>8296</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2255, December 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00789494.

<sup>8297</sup> Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, pp. 24-26, ERN (En) 00345682-00345684; Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, pp. 19, 29, 34-35, ERN (En) 00346677, 00346687, 00346692-00346693.

<sup>8298</sup> KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5770, 31 March 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00177608-00177609.

<sup>8299</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 49-51 (testifying that there were no family attachments and NUON Chea gave no instructions with respect to his two nieces who were arrested and detained at S-21); T. 3 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/58.1, pp. 52-53 (testifying that the confessions NUON Chea's nieces were sent to the upper echelon).

<sup>8300</sup> KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5770, 31 March 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00177608-00177609.

<sup>8301</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 76-77.

<sup>8302</sup> T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 33-34 (testifying that he could take prisoners outside on the orders of Hor).

<sup>8303</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 47-48, 90-92, ERN (En) 00346505-00346506, 00346548-00346550. See also, T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 24.

<sup>8304</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 14, 44-45, 48-49, ERN (En) 00346472, 00346502-00346503, 00346506-00346507 (testifying that they were guarded by a guard named Chab and that there were four or five individuals who worked at the workshop).

<sup>8305</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 74, ERN (En) 00346532. See also, Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, pp. 65-66, 97, ERN (En) 00345723-

2453. The NUON Chea Defence submits that CHUM Mey's evidence with respect to being forced to work at S-21 should be disregarded altogether "since even his mere presence at S-21 is dubious".<sup>8306</sup> The Chamber refers to its discussion above as to why it is satisfied that CHUM Mey was indeed detained and interrogated at S-21.<sup>8307</sup> Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied that CHUM Mey's evidence in this regard is reliable and the NUON Chea Defence's submissions are accordingly rejected.

2454. The NUON Chea Defence further submits that two other witnesses who testified in Case 001 explained that their conditions improved when they started working and that they did not have to sleep with other detainees and were not shackled.<sup>8308</sup> The Chamber finds that this evidence is generally consistent with the testimony of CHUM Mey that the conditions of detention improved after he started working at S-21.<sup>8309</sup> The only difference was that CHUM Mey was taken back from the workshop at night and shackled with the other prisoners.<sup>8310</sup> Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence's submissions, the evidence does not establish that those who worked at S-21 were not treated as detainees anymore and had the same conditions as other S-21 staff. The Defence's submissions in this regard are accordingly rejected.<sup>8311</sup>

12.2.16. Arrest of S-21 Staff

2455. Hor ordered SUOS Thy to make short biographies of those who worked within the 18 teams of the guard unit, and Meng was in charge of the biographies of all S-21 staff.<sup>8312</sup> Workers at S-21 completed biographies which had to show their loyalty and commitment to the tasks assigned to them. They performed their duties in fear that if they committed any wrongdoings or mistakes they would be considered "enemies" who 00345724, 00345755 (testifying that the conditions of detention improved when he was assigned to work as a painter but the workers still lived in fear).

---

<sup>8306</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 619.

<sup>8307</sup> See above, paras 2083-2085.

<sup>8308</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 619 referring to Case 001 Transcript (VANN Nath), E3/7450, 29 June 2009, pp. 34-35, ERN (En) 00345692-00345693; Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, pp. 35-36, ERN (En) 00346693-00346694.

<sup>8309</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 32-36, 63; T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 49.

<sup>8310</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 32-33. See above, para. 2364.

<sup>8311</sup> For discussion of the NUON Chea Defence's submission in regard to forced work at security centres exacted under emergent circumstances, see Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives, paras 1148-1149, 1155; Section 12.5: Phnom Kraol Security Centre, paras 3124-3126.

<sup>8312</sup> T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 82-83.

would be arrested, imprisoned and killed.<sup>8313</sup> Duch himself claimed that he also feared he would be arrested and killed.<sup>8314</sup>

2456. Guards and staff at S-21 lived in constant fear because co-workers, including former commanders such as HUY Sre,<sup>8315</sup> and other members of Division 703 were arrested.<sup>8316</sup> A significant number of S-21 cadres were arrested in 1977 and 1978, including most members of Division 703 and former resistance fighters in Phnom Penh.<sup>8317</sup> S-21 staff had to adhere to strict rules, which became stricter in late 1977 and in 1978 when internal arrests of S-21 staff intensified. One-on-one communication was forbidden and staff were afraid of being reported and arrested if they spoke to each other.<sup>8318</sup>

2457. Duch reported to the upper echelon, namely SON Sen and then NUON Chea, based on information he received from Hor on “mistakes” made by S-21 staff. SON Sen and NUON Chea then gave permission for arrests of S-21 staff, who were subsequently “smashed”.<sup>8319</sup> All of the mistakes or offences committed at S-21 had to

<sup>8313</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, pp. 29-31, 51-54 (testifying that Hor repeatedly emphasised that he should not mix up those detainees who had already been interrogated with those yet to be interrogated); T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 32-33, 35-37; Autobiography of SUOS Thy, E3/10570, 6 June 1977, p. 3, ERN (En) 01247579.

<sup>8314</sup> KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/455, 3 October 2007, p. 10, ERN (En) 00149916; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/526, 5 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00204286; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5802, 22 June 2009, p. 80, ERN (En) 00344187; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5807, 27 August 2009, p. 92, ERN (En) 00371914; T. 9 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/61.1, pp. 4, 23; T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, p. 42.

<sup>8315</sup> See above, para. 2317. See also, Section 12.2.8.4.4: NUN Huy alias HUY Sre.

<sup>8316</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, pp. 52-54 (stating that “in performing our function, we were afraid of committing infractions. If we had done anything wrong, we would have been imprisoned. We had to do whatever we can to avoid committing any infractions in order to survive, so it was useless to contest the tasks or jobs that we were assigned to do. [...] We had to focus on our work. We did not bother having any kind of sentiment or pity on the prisoners”). T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 47-48 (testifying that he feared that he would be arrested because people who belonged to the same network as the prisoner would also usually be arrested); T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 3; T. 16 September 2016 (NOEM Oem), E1/475.1, p. 32. See also, T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, p. 14 (testifying that he was terrified himself after the arrest of NGET Nhu alias Hong); Case 001 Transcript (SAOM Met), E3/7471, 11 August 2009, p. 16, ERN (En) 00363708.

<sup>8317</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 19-20, 27-28.

<sup>8318</sup> T. 5 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/428.1, pp. 79, 96-97. The Chamber notes that Duch testified that there were no blackboards with Santebal rules and the film produced by HO Vay Tan had been fabricated. See T. 27 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/444.1, pp. 21-25. Accordingly, the Chamber does not place any weight on these Santebal rules. See also, The Security of Regulation, E3/8375, undated.

<sup>8319</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 19-21, 2630; T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, p. 100 (testifying that an arrest could only be made with the authorisation of SON Sen or NUON Chea after a report was made on misconduct or offences); KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/60, 3 June 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00195604. See e.g., S-21 Confession – VUNG Sam, E3/3694, 7 March 1978, ERN (En) 00768210 (annotation by Duch to “respected brother” identifying VUNG Sam as a member of the S-21 interrogator group who himself had been interrogated).

be reported to the upper level to decide whether the person was to be arrested. If no decision was made, Duch could decide to transfer the cadre to another unit.<sup>8320</sup> Only Duch had the authority to issue an order for these arrests.<sup>8321</sup> For example, when HUY Sre, who was third in command at S-21 and in charge of Prey Sar, made several “mistakes” with respect to Party discipline, Duch reported him to NUON Chea, who then made the final decision about his arrest and detention at S-21. HUY was subsequently executed.<sup>8322</sup> At times, S-21 staff were first reassigned to work at Prey Sar, only to be later sent back to S-21 and killed.<sup>8323</sup>

2458. Based on the Chamber’s independent review of the prisoner lists falling into the seven enumerated categories, it has identified a minimum of 200 S-21 cadres who were arrested and/or killed at S-21.<sup>8324</sup> The lists demonstrate that in August 1977 there was a large spike in arrests of S-21 cadres; approximately 72 were arrested and detained at S-21 during this month, with 30 cadres smashed on 8 August 1977 and another 23

<sup>8320</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, p. 101.

<sup>8321</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 29 (testifying that these arrests took place after Duch issued an order to Hor, who issued an order to Peng); HIM Huy Interview Record, E3/5158, 18 January 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00164451.

<sup>8322</sup> T. 26 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/53.1, pp. 55-56. See above, para. 2317.

<sup>8323</sup> See above, para. 2337.

<sup>8324</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners executed in 1976, E3/3187, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00874249, 00874514; S-21 list of prisoners arrived in February 1977, E3/9844, 2 March 1977, pp. 21-25, ERN (En) 01368628-01368633; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in March 1977, E3/9845, undated, p. 91, ERN (En) 01332054; S-21 list of prisoners entering on 28 June 1977, E3/9646, 29 June 1977, p. 2, ERN (En) 01139859; S-21 List of prisoners, E3/10376, 1 April 1978; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in July 1977, E3/9954, 5 August 1977, pp. 43-45, ERN (En) 01563499-501 (four of whom are listed as smashed on 16 July); S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 3-7-77, E3/3859, 4 June 1977, ERN (En) 00634835-36, 00634839; S-21 list of prisoners entering in August 1977, E3/10274, multiple dates, pp. 3,5,9-11, 13-14, 23-25, 27, 37-40, 42, 49, 54-55, 75, 77-78, ERN (En) 01366767, 01366769, 0136673-75, 01366777-01366778, 01366787-01366789, 01366791, 01366801-01366804, 01366806, 01366813, 01366818-01366819, 01366839, 01366841-01366842; S-21 list of prisoners executed in 1977, E3/2285, multiple dates, pp. 22,54,56,58,158, 192-194, 226, 247-249, 311, 340-341, 368-369, 378, 407, 442-447, 482, ERN (En) 01564782, 01564814, 01564816, 01564818, 01564918, 01564952-01564954, 01564986, 01565007-01565009, 01565071, 01565100-01565101, 01565128-01565129, 01565135, 01565167,01565202-01565207, 01565242; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8600, undated, pp. 2-5, 13, ERN (En) 01321715-01321718, 01321727 (all destroyed in March 77); S-21 list of prisoners from Office S-21, E3/10376, 1 April 1978; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 28 March 1978, E3/10242, 28 March 1978, p. 5, ERN (En) 01397872; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 28 April 1978, E3/10373, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462224; S-21 list of prisoners destroyed on 29 April 1978, E3/10167, undated, p. 5, ERN (En) 01397579; S-21 list of Yvon prisoners who entered on 4 May 1978, E3/10139, 4 May 1978; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 5 May 1978, E3/10140, 5 May 1978, ERN (En) 01366715; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 8 May 1978, E3/10142, 8 May 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 01462135; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 10-11 May 1978, E3/10144, 11 May 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462136; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 22 July 1978, E3/10113, 22 July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01395536; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 1-5 August 1978, E3/10126, 5 August 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01556333.

smashed later that month on 27 August 1977.<sup>8325</sup> Sporadic arrests continued through 1978.<sup>8326</sup>

2459. Typically, if a leader of a network was arrested and sent to S-21, all people who were considered part of that network, including interrogators and messengers, were removed.<sup>8327</sup> Many of the original interrogators at S-21 were arrested and killed. These interrogators were replaced by children from the West Zone.<sup>8328</sup> If the leaders of a particular division were arrested, their subordinates would be subsequently arrested.<sup>8329</sup> For example, HUY Sre was arrested and “smashed” at S-21.<sup>8330</sup> Those arrested and detained as a result included former S-21 cadres, such as Pauch and two Cham people.<sup>8331</sup> HIM Huy noticed that members of his group also kept disappearing in successive arrests.<sup>8332</sup> Duch himself was terrified after NUON Chea ordered the arrest of NGET You alias HONG Sochea.<sup>8333</sup> Former S-21 staff members who were arrested were killed in the vicinity of the S-21 compound.<sup>8334</sup>

<sup>8325</sup> S-21 list of prisoners entering in August 1977, E3/10274, multiple dates, pp. 3, 5, 9-11, 13-14, 23-27, 37-42, 49-50, 54-55, 75, 77-78, ERN (En) 01366767, 01366769, 01366773-01366775, 01366777-01366778, 01366787-01366791, 01366801-01366806, 01366813-01366814, 01366818-01366819, 01366839, 01366841-01366842; S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 27 August 1977, E3/2285, 27 August 1977, pp. 247-249, ERN (En) 1565007-01565009; S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 8 August 1977, E3/2285, 8 August 1977, pp. 442-448, ERN (En) 01565202-01565208; S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 23 October 1977, E3/2285, 24 October 1977, p. 482, ERN (En) 01565242.

<sup>8326</sup> S-21 list of prisoners from Office S-21, E3/10376, 1 April 1978, pp. 1-4, ERN (En) 01528332-01528335; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 28 March 1978, E3/10242, 28 March 1978, p. 5, ERN (En) 01397872; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 28 April 1978, E3/10373, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462224; S-21 list of prisoners destroyed on 29 April 1978, E3/10167, undated, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 01397579-01397580; S-21 list of Yuon prisoners who entered on 4 May 1978, E3/10139, 4 May 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462131; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 5 May 1978, E3/10140, 5 May 1978, p. 7, ERN (En) 01366715; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 8 May 1978, E3/10142, 8 May 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462134-01462135; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 10 May 1978, E3/10144, 11 May 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462136; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 22 July 1978, E3/10113, 22 July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01395536; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 1 August 1978, E3/10126, 5 August 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01556333.

<sup>8327</sup> T. 16 September 2016 (NOEM Oem), E1/475.1, p. 32; T. 15 September 2016 (NOEM Oem), E1/474.1, p. 110.

<sup>8328</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 49; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 15.

<sup>8329</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 50 (testifying that he was the only surviving member of Division 703 in the interrogation unit and that some interrogators were arrested and sent with their faces covered to special prisons).

<sup>8330</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, p. 97 (testifying that Hor was not “smashed” because he was very meticulous in the tasks he carried out for the Party).

<sup>8331</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 27-28; T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, pp. 87-88; TAY Teng Interview Record, E3/7663, 17 January 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00401837.

<sup>8332</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 28.

<sup>8333</sup> T. 10 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/62.1, pp. 41-42.

<sup>8334</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 32; Case 001 Transcript (HIM Huy), E3/7461, 16 July 2009, pp. 70-71, ERN (En) 00353950-00353951; HIM Huy Interview Record, E3/5158, 18 January 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00164451.

12.2.17. Vietnamese Detainees

2460. Duch testified that the first Vietnamese soldier detained at S-21 entered in the facility in January 1978, and that many Vietnamese prisoners were brought to S-21 during that year.<sup>8335</sup> However, PRAK Khorn testified that many Vietnamese were brought to S-21 in 1977-1978, including soldiers, civilians and some of their spouses and children.<sup>8336</sup> HIM Huy testified that he went to collect Vietnamese soldiers who had been arrested near the border in Svay Rieng and Prey Veng provinces and brought them to Phnom Penh, but did not specify the date.<sup>8337</sup> CHHOUK Rin indicated in his WRI that in 1978, when he was fighting against the Vietnamese alongside SON Sen in the East Zone, he and his forces arrested Vietnamese soldiers and sent them to Phnom Penh.<sup>8338</sup> The Chamber also notes that documentary evidence establishes that Vietnamese prisoners were arrested, sent to S-21 and executed there as early as March 1976 and that the number of arrests and executions increased dramatically in 1978.<sup>8339</sup>

2461. Among the earliest Vietnamese detainees recorded at S-21 were Vietnamese nationals who were arrested in February or March 1976,<sup>8340</sup> either in Sector 25 at the border between Vietnam and Cambodia, or at Poulou Wai Island. These arrests show that border demarcation both on land and at sea was a point of serious contention even during times of relative détente between the two countries.<sup>8341</sup> Further, several S-21 biographies show that eleven Vietnamese were sent to S-21 on 6 May 1976. These

<sup>8335</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 84-85; T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, p. 11; T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 105. See e.g., S-21 Prisoner Biography – DAU Yang Soeng, E3/10557, ERN (En) 01462403; S-21 Prisoner Biography – TROEUNG Yang Ngim, E3/10558, ERN (En) 01462404 (prisoner biographies of Vietnamese prisoners who were arrested, registered and detained at S-21).

<sup>8336</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 105.

<sup>8337</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 25-26, 81-82.

<sup>8338</sup> CHHOUK Rin Interview Record, E3/361, 9 April 2008, pp. 6, 8-9, ERN (En) 00766452, 00766454-00766455.

<sup>8339</sup> See below, para. 2480.

<sup>8340</sup> The Chamber clarifies that these dates correspond with when the prisoners were arrested on the border, in territorial waters or on Poulou Wai Island, not their dates of entry at S-21, which occurred at a much later time. As noted in this paragraph, a few detainees were recorded as having been arrested in as early as November and December 1975.

<sup>8341</sup> S-21 list of Vietnamese prisoners, E3/7396, pp. 1-4, ERN (En) 00768213-00768216 (including the following who were arrested on 7 February 1976 at Poulou Wai Island: NGO Chen Long, civilian court of “Prey Nokor” (Saigon); DAING Yaing Phou, engine aircraft mechanic of a French company; LE Minh Try, second lieutenant and former medical student; VIT Beuy Lam, law and medical student; and LE Thy Thou Yaing. In addition, TROENG Yaing Lak, NGOV Yaing Chhun, LE Yaing Lak were arrested on 29 February 1976 and arrived at S-21 on 5 April 1976. YOEURNG Yaing Hip was arrested on 14 March 1976. Two notes signed by Duch indicate that the last three individuals were accused of being “Viet Cong spies” who were arrested while they had penetrated inside Cambodian territory as deep as 500 to 600 metres, with the purpose of removing the border posts at sites where there were no soldiers).

individuals are described as peasants or fishermen who entered DK territorial waters and were caught with their boats even earlier, in November and December 1975. Their biographies also contain notes indicating that after their arrests, they were sent to work at various plantations. There is no indication of the reason for their concomitant transfer to S-21 after months under the custody of local authorities.<sup>8342</sup> The information contained in these biographies is consistent with the testimony of MEAS Voeun, Deputy Commander of Division 1,<sup>8343</sup> who stated that when a boat with Vietnamese approached the waters patrolled by Division 1 near Koh Kong, the Division seized the boat and sent the captured Vietnamese to the “upper level” at the Division 164 headquarters in Kampong Som.<sup>8344</sup> An S-21 prisoner list shows that in addition to these 11 Vietnamese, other Vietnamese prisoners were sent from Kampong Som to S-21, arriving on 7 May 1976. The S-21 list reflects the arrival of 17 Vietnamese prisoners on 7 May 1976 and their execution two weeks later on 24 May 1976.<sup>8345</sup>

2462. “Comrade Lin” usually informed Duch about the arrival of Vietnamese prisoners, but sometimes NUON Chea also did so.<sup>8346</sup> NUON Chea told Duch that because the Vietnamese intended to invade Cambodia, “Yvon” prisoners were to be sent to S-21 and interrogated; moreover, their confessions were to be recorded and broadcast on the radio.<sup>8347</sup> Duch recalled that NUON Chea gave him this order on 8 January 1978

<sup>8342</sup> Compilation of S-21 Prisoner Biographies, E3/10520, p. 1, ERN (En) 01191483 (noting the following prisoners were all arrested on 30 November 1975 and sent to S-21 on 6 May 1976: S-21 Prisoner Biography – TROENG Yaing Kve, E3/10520, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 01191484-01194485; S-21 Prisoner Biography – CHIM Yaing Koeu, E3/10520, pp. 4-6, ERN (En) 01191486-01191488; S-21 Prisoner Biography – CHIM Yaing Yop, E3/10520, pp. 7-9, ERN (En) 01191489-00191491; S-21 Prisoner Biography – CHIM Yaing Koeng, E3/10520, pp. 9-11, ERN (En) 01191491-01191493; S-21 Prisoner Biography – KVIEN Din Y, E3/10520, pp. 11-13, ERN (En) 01191493-01191495. Compilation of S-21 Prisoner Biographies, E3/10521, p. 1, ERN (En) 01195307 (noting the following prisoners were arrested on 12 December 1975 and sent to S-21 on 6 May 1976: S-21 Prisoner Biography – KVIENG Thy Thoeng, E3/10521, pp. 2-4, ERN (En) 01195308-01195310; S-21 Prisoner Biography – KVIENG Hiv Lang, E3/10521, pp. 5-7, ERN (En) 01195311-01195313; S-21 Prisoner Biography – CHOENG Thann Hoeung, E3/10521, pp. 8-11, ERN (En) 01195314-01195316. Compilation of S-21 Prisoner Biographies, E3/10522, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462295 (noting that the following prisoners were arrested in December 1975 and sent to S-21 on 6 May 1975: (1) S-21 Prisoner Biography – LE Yaing Hay, E3/10522, pp. 2-4, ERN (En) 01462296-01462298; (2) S-21 Prisoner Biography – KIM Ngoc Toeung, E3/10522, pp. 5-7, ERN (En) 01462299-01462301. See also, S-21 Prisoner Biography – PHAM Yaing Phann, E3/10523, pp. 1-3, ERN (En) 01368090-01368092 (arrested on 12 November 1975 and sent to S-21 on 7 May 1976).

<sup>8343</sup> T. 2 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/386.1, p. 57.

<sup>8344</sup> T. 2 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/386.1, pp. 62-63; T. 3 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/387.1, pp. 10-11, 46-50; Section 13.3: Treatment of the Vietnamese, para. 3456.

<sup>8345</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/3187, ERN (En) 00874556-00874557.

<sup>8346</sup> KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/1580, 28 March 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00177588. Regarding the role of Lin, see above, para. 2211.

<sup>8347</sup> T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, pp. 11, 17; T. 3 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/58.1, p. 19; T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 83, 86.

after a meeting regarding the “victory” of DK forces over the Vietnamese army, and that one of the Vietnamese prisoners whose confession was recorded was VO Ding Hor.<sup>8348</sup> His confession was reproduced in a July 1978 DK government publication entitled “Evidences on [...] Vietnamese Aggression Against Democratic Kampuchea”.<sup>8349</sup>

2463. On 14 February 1978, Brother 47 (i.e. SON Sen), who was headquartered in the East Zone at the time, sent a telegram copied to “Uncle” and “Uncle Nuon”, reporting that two “Yuon heads” had been sent to S-21.<sup>8350</sup>

2464. The registration of Vietnamese prisoners at S-21 is further corroborated by surviving photographs from S-21 which depict prisoners in Vietnamese military uniforms.<sup>8351</sup> A prisoner who knew how to read and write Vietnamese assisted SUOS Thy in registering the personal details of Vietnamese prisoners when they were brought to S-21.<sup>8352</sup> The Vietnamese who entered S-21 were both civilians and soldiers and they were all “smashed”.<sup>8353</sup> According to Duch, few of the Vietnamese prisoners were civilians as most were soldiers.<sup>8354</sup> MAM Nai similarly testified that most of the Vietnamese that he interrogated were soldiers, but also that there were a few civilians who had been arrested from the battlefield and transferred to S-21 by military units.<sup>8355</sup>

<sup>8348</sup> T. 3 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/58.1, p. 19.

<sup>8349</sup> DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs Publication: Evidences on the Vietnamese Aggression Against Democratic Kampuchea, E3/8394, July 1978, pp. 40-47, ERN (En) 00011374-00011377.

<sup>8350</sup> DK Telegram, E3/181, 14 February 1978, ERN (En) 00340537; T. 3 September 2012 (NORN Sophang), E1/120.1, p. 83 (testifying that SON Sen signed telegrams with the number 47). See also, Section 6: Communication Structures, para. 458 (fn. 1446).

<sup>8351</sup> S-21 photographs, E3/8063.3, undated, ERN P00000004-P00000021, P00000044-P00000045.

<sup>8352</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, pp. 50-51; T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 4-6 (testifying that one detainee was a 14 year-old Vietnamese girl who was registered separately because she did not come with her parents); Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7466, 28 July 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00356794; T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 105; S-21 list of prisoners entering on 28 April 1978, E3/2209, 28 April 1978, ERN (En) 00181718 (signed by Thy).

<sup>8353</sup> T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, p. 31 (testifying that the civilians were labelled agents or spies); T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, p. 91; T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, p. 12; T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 18-20 (testifying that the soldiers were arrested at the border where there were conflicts and many civilians were arrested at sea); T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 105. See also, SUOS Thi DC-Cam Interview, E3/9320, 25 August 2003, p. 24, ERN (En) 00909159 (stating that the Vietnamese who were arrested were fleeing to Thailand).

<sup>8354</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, p. 86.

<sup>8355</sup> Case 001 Transcript (MAM Nai), E3/7459, 14 July 2009, p. 90, ERN (En) 00351173.

2465. Some Vietnamese prisoners were brought to S-21 with their families after trying to flee the country.<sup>8356</sup> The Vietnamese soldiers who were arrested were labelled as spies and considered enemies.<sup>8357</sup> Duch also stated that Vietnamese civilians were forced to confess they were spies,<sup>8358</sup> and that all Vietnamese who entered Cambodian territory were considered spies and were arrested and brought to S-21.<sup>8359</sup> Vietnamese soldiers were only brought to S-21 after war broke out with Vietnam, whereas Vietnamese civilians were detained at different times.<sup>8360</sup>

2466. MAM Nai alias Chan, who could communicate in Vietnamese, was assigned to interrogate Vietnamese detainees.<sup>8361</sup> MAM Nai testified that he was the only interrogator at S-21 who questioned Vietnamese prisoners and that he also interrogated FULRO and Jarai group members.<sup>8362</sup> MAM Nai further clarified that he remembered interrogating 20-30 Vietnamese prisoners.<sup>8363</sup> MAM Nai was initially accompanied by

<sup>8356</sup> T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 31-32 (SUOS Thy noted that in regard to spouses and children being brought to S-21, it “did not happen often”).

<sup>8357</sup> T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 80-82. See also, T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 3-4; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1553, 26 November 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 01236389 (describing several prisoners who entered S-21 on 26 November 1978 as “Yvon Spy”). The Chamber has taken into consideration the June 1978 Central Committee Guidance toward “Misled persons who have [...] served as Yvon Agents”. See Section 13.3: Treatment of the Vietnamese, para. 3404; Section 18: The Criminal Responsibility of KHIEU Samphan, para. 4260.

<sup>8358</sup> T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, p. 40.

<sup>8359</sup> T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, p. 30.

<sup>8360</sup> T. 7 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/433.1, pp. 30-33, 36. See also, T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, pp. 90-91 (testifying that he saw many Vietnamese brought to S-21 by truck especially in 1978). The Chamber notes some inconsistencies in the numbers provided by LACH Mean and therefore does not rely on his evidence with respect to the number of Vietnamese detainees who were brought to S-21. The Chamber further notes that some evidence suggests that some Vietnamese prisoners were captured in Vietnam. See Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/525, 10 June 2009, pp. 17-18, ERN (En) 00339612-00339613; BIL Sot DC-Cam Interview, E3/7590, 23 February 2003, pp. 14-16, ERN (En) 00890723-00890725; T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, p. 39. However, the Chamber finds that this evidence is not sufficient to make a finding beyond reasonable doubt that Vietnamese prisoners were captured in Vietnam.

<sup>8361</sup> T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, pp. 8-9; T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, p. 87; T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, p. 83; T. 27 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/54.1, pp. 23-24; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 7, ERN (En) 00198004; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 3. T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 105; T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, p. 32. See also, Case 001 Transcript (MAM Nai), E3/7459, 14 July 2009, pp. 22, 51-52, ERN (En) 00351105, 00351134-00351135.

<sup>8362</sup> Case 001 Transcript (MAM Nai), E3/7459, 14 July 2009, p. 52, ERN (En) 00351135; Case 001 Transcript (MAM Nai), E3/7460, 15 July 2009, pp. 12, 14, ERN (En) 00351798, 00351800; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/525, 10 June 2009, p. 9, ERN (En) 00339604.

<sup>8363</sup> Case 001 Transcript (MAM Nai), E3/7460, 15 July 2009 p. 12, ERN (En) 00351798. In view of this testimony, alongside evidence of hundreds of Vietnamese prisoners having been arrested and killed at S-21 from approximately March 1976 until the end of 1978 (see below, para. 2480), the Chamber concludes that many Vietnamese prisoners were not interrogated at S-21. See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners destroyed on 28 April 1978, Yvon Spy Section, E3/8463, 28 April 1978, ERN (En) 01554605-01554606 (showing that many of the Vietnamese prisoners listed were detained at S-21 for 10 days or less before being killed). See below, para. 2552.

Hor during the interrogations and remembered interrogating only Vietnamese soldiers.<sup>8364</sup> MAM Nai testified that they did not need to use whips or any other coercion as they could obtain their confessions easily, and that he was unaware what happened to them thereafter. He also stated that he was not aware of a policy that anyone detained at S-21 would be killed.<sup>8365</sup> The Chamber finds that this is an attempt by MAM Nai to distance himself from the mistreatment and killings at S-21 and accordingly does not accept his evidence in this regard.<sup>8366</sup>

2467. Duch stated that the upper echelon determined that the “Yuon” soldiers should be questioned so that they would confess that they invaded Kampuchea and wanted to include Kampuchea in an Indochinese Federation.<sup>8367</sup> Duch clarified that he “ordered the interrogators to do what it took in order to receive the objective of the upper echelon”,<sup>8368</sup> and that he instructed interrogators to find “Yuon” who had hidden in Kampuchea.<sup>8369</sup> Vietnamese prisoners were subjected to torture in order to obtain these confessions.<sup>8370</sup>

2468. PHAN Than Chan, who served as interpreter and assistant during the interrogation of Vietnamese prisoners by MAM Nai, alleged in an interview that some

<sup>8364</sup> Case 001 Transcript (MAM Nai), E3/7459, 14 July 2009, pp. 22, 26-29, 45, 51, ERN (En) 00351105, 00351109-00351111, 00351128, 00351134. Cf. T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, p. 87 (testifying that MAM Nai was assigned to interrogate Vietnamese civilians as well).

<sup>8365</sup> Case 001 Transcript (MAM Nai), E3/7459, 14 July 2009, pp. 52, ERN (En) 00351135.

<sup>8366</sup> PHAN Than Chann Interview Transcript, E3/2352 [E3/2352R], 1996, p. 16, ERN (En) 01245240 [ERN V00172536] (describing how MAM Nai alias Chan conducted the interrogation of Vietnamese detainees, PHAN Than Chan stated: “At first the Vietnamese replied honestly. They said that they were ordinary people, who lived on the border or were fishermen on the maritime border. Others said that they had been trying to flee South Vietnam for Thailand. However, Chan didn’t accept the replies and ordered ‘You’re going to admit that you’re a member of the army and that you are a secret agent who had come to spy in Khmer territory. If you do not say so, I will beat you to death.’ All of those under interrogation were terrified. They had already been beaten, but were afraid of dying. Under such circumstances, they said what Chan wanted. He recorded the statements in writing, affixed their thumbprints, recorded the sound and took photos.”); MAM Nai’s testimony in this regard is also contradicted the majority of evidence regarding interrogations at S-21, including the contemporaneous S-21 notebooks. See e.g., paras 2350, 2380-2381, 2383, 2426-2430; Section 12.2.3.2.4: S-21 Notebooks; Section 12.2.12.3: Interrogation Methods and Mistreatment. Likewise, MAM Nai’s testimony that he was not aware of a policy of killing Vietnamese is at odds with the evidence. See below, para. 2479.

<sup>8367</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 83, 86.

<sup>8368</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/525, 10 June 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00339603.

<sup>8369</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 92-93. See also, Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, April 1978 to December 1978, pp. 16, 22, ERN (En) 00184498, 00184504 (entries dated 18 June 1978 and 18 July 1978, noting that “Maximum victory” involved finding “Yuon” and that “Minimum victory” involved finding “Yuon” agents).

<sup>8370</sup> T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, p. 19 (testifying that the prisoners were tortured but not seriously). The NUON Chea Defence submits that Duch used the word “tearunakamm” which does not automatically translate as torture. See NUON Chea Closing Brief, fn. 1848. For the Chamber’s analysis of the term tearunakamm, see above, para. 2431.

civilian Vietnamese detainees were forced to wear military uniforms and to make false confessions. Confronted with these allegations, Duch denied them stating that “Yuon soldiers were Yuon soldiers”. He admitted however that “‘Yuon’ civilians, they were forced to confess that they were ‘Yuon’ spies”.<sup>8371</sup> The Chamber finds that the allegations made by PHAN Than Chan concerning the use of civilians disguised as soldiers are not corroborated by any reliable evidence and therefore it will not rely on them. It notes independently, however, that propaganda was of the utmost importance for the CPK leaders in order to denounce “Vietnamese aggression”.<sup>8372</sup>

2469. At a political study session attended by SON Sen and Duch, S-21 staff were informed that the Vietnamese were the “hereditary enemy” of the CPK.<sup>8373</sup> MAM Nai’s notebook indicates that “[i]n attacking the Yuon, we in [the] Special Branch must interrogate clearly and make documents clearly” and also refers to “sweep[ing] clean all the enemies, accurately” in accordance with “the principle of ‘1 against 30’ [Vietnamese]”.<sup>8374</sup> As discussed extensively in this Judgement, the Chamber has concluded that this order related to the whole of the Vietnamese population and was not limited to soldiers.<sup>8375</sup> Further, an entry in the S-21 Combined Notebook dated 18 July 1978 records the search for Vietnamese in hiding as one of the “principles set out by the Party”. It also notes that “Maximum victory = Finding the Yuon” and “Minimum victory = Finding additional traitor connections who are Yuon agents”.<sup>8376</sup> A further entry dated 8 October 1978 reflects on the new “objective” of S-21 “to save the maximum number of people who are misguided”.<sup>8377</sup> Pursuant to POL Pot’s directive,<sup>8378</sup> Vietnamese prisoners were explicitly exempted from this objective:

In the near term, we have plans to interrogate all of the Khmer without beatings and getting 80% confessions. No beatings and getting very detailed confessions, 70%. As for the foreigners, the Yuon, the

<sup>8371</sup> T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, p. 40.

<sup>8372</sup> See e.g., Section 13.3.5.2: Evidence of a Policy Targeting the Vietnamese.

<sup>8373</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 7.

<sup>8374</sup> S-21 Notebook of MAM Nai, E3/833, multiple dates, pp. 23, 25, ERN (En) 00184601, 00184603 (entry dated 12 April 1978).

<sup>8375</sup> Section 13.3.5.1: The Use of the Terms “Yuon” and Vietnamese “Enemy”.

<sup>8376</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, pp. 22-23, ERN (En) 00184504-00184505.

<sup>8377</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, pp. 40, ERN (En) 00184522.

<sup>8378</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 46-50 (referring to the 8 October 1978 entry: “As for the ‘Yuon’, the practice remained the same and of course, the same applied to CIA agents; the ‘Yuon’, the CIA agents had to be beaten, but per Brother Pol’s instructions, all interrogations had to be stopped.”).

imperialist CIA, we apply absolute Special Branch methods, completely and totally, permanently.<sup>8379</sup>

2470. The Combined S-21 Notebook mentions that the “enemy who would dare to attack the revolution is scared of the people, and the people smash them” and that “sweeping out the enemy” is done because the people understand that it was necessary “in order to save their lives and defend the collective regime”.<sup>8380</sup> Other notes instruct to “have a clear ideological view that they are enemy”.<sup>8381</sup> Finally another entry in the same notebook reads as follows: “On 17 January 1978, Brother Party Secretary [i.e. POL Pot] said that if we hit their legs the Yuon can still crawl, if we hit their arms they can still walk”.<sup>8382</sup>

2471. There is reference in the Combined S-21 Notebook to the “interrogation of the Yuon and the writing the Yuon documents” and the notebook states that there were problems with the interrogation of the Vietnamese because “[o]ur Comrades want to interrogate the Yuon by beating, which is only the outer shell. They do not yet think about the Yuon Party, the Yuon People, the situation in the Yuon country” and that they needed to “write on the views of the Yuon opposing the Party”.<sup>8383</sup> These notes also indicate that documents pertaining to the interrogation of Vietnamese detainees had been submitted to “Angkar”.<sup>8384</sup>

2472. According to the Closing Order, the confessions of Vietnamese prisoners of war who had been interrogated at S-21 were broadcast on the radio.<sup>8385</sup> PRAK Khorn gave evidence that some Vietnamese prisoners were told by Duch that they would be released if they read the prepared confessions.<sup>8386</sup> MAM Nai prepared statements for the Vietnamese prisoners to read, in which they confessed that they had entered Kampuchean territory in order to spy on and to invade DK. These statements were then

<sup>8379</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 40, ERN (En) 00184522.

<sup>8380</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 39, ERN (En) 00184521 (entry dated 8 October 1978).

<sup>8381</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 43, ERN (En) 00184525 (entry dated 24 October 1978).

<sup>8382</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 15, ERN (En) 00184497 (entry dated 3 June 1978).

<sup>8383</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, pp. 42-43, ERN (En) 00184524-00184525 (entry dated 24 October 1978).

<sup>8384</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 43, ERN (En) 00184525 (entry dated 24 October 1978).

<sup>8385</sup> Closing Order, paras 112, 989.

<sup>8386</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 4.

broadcast each morning on the radio in Vietnamese with Khmer interpretation.<sup>8387</sup> The confessions of numerous captured Vietnamese soldiers were broadcast on the Phnom Penh Domestic Service between 21 January 1978 and 28 November 1978.<sup>8388</sup> This included the confessions of Vietnamese women who were identified as spies.<sup>8389</sup> In addition, the confessions of Cambodian nationals and Kampuchea Krom, who were identified as Vietnamese agents or employed by the Vietnamese, were also broadcast.<sup>8390</sup>

2473. These recordings and broadcasts were made pursuant to the instructions of NUON Chea to interrogate and record the confessions of these prisoners. NUON Chea

<sup>8387</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 3-4 (testifying that some of the prisoners were soldiers while others were civilians and that MAM Nai prepared their confessions). See also, T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, p. 83; T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, pp. 39-40; SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/1359, multiple dates, pp. 118-124, 131-132, 137, ERN (En) 00169634-00169640, 00169647-00169648, 00169653 (containing the confessions of Vietnamese prisoners that were read on the Phnom Penh Domestic Service); Confession Discusses SRV's Invasion Plans (in FBIS collection), E3/292, 1 February 1978, pp. 19-25, 35-38, ERN (En) 00169190-00169195, 00169206-00169209; Confession of a Captured SRV Sailor (in SWB/FE/5730/A3 collection), E3/1249, 29 January 1978, pp. 3-5, ERN (En) 00008894-00008896; Irrefutable Proof of the Strategy of Aggression of our Annexionist, Land-grabbing Vietnamese Enemy (in Swedish document collection), E3/1587, pp. 4-8, ERN (En) 00280652-00280656; Case 001 Transcript (MAM Nai), E3/7459, 14 July 2009, p. 52, ERN (En) 00351135.

<sup>8388</sup> SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/1359, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00169635-00169640 (TRAN Van Tay alias Nho and TRAN Van Hay), 00169647-00169648 (NGUYEN Van Muoi), 00169653 (NGUYEN Minh Tan), 00169681-00169685 (VU Dinh Ngo); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/292, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00169232-00169236 (TRAN Van Thuong), 00169276-00169277 (THIEU Loc), 0016289-00169290 (NGUYEN Cong Hoai); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/1360, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00169876-00169878 (HA Van Hach), 00169892-00169893 (PHAN Van Tien), 00169892-00169893 (PHAN Van Tien), 00169902-00169903 (DIN Van Hoa), 00169915-00169917 (THACH Van Thong), 00169934-00169936 (SAN Kin), 01666967 (CHIU Ly); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/1361, ERN (En) 00168785-00168787 (NGUYEN Van Chan), 00168790-00168791 (TRAN Van Xuan), 00168793-00168794 (VINH Minh Chau), 00168893 (NGUYEN Van Be); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/1362, ERN (En) 00170000-00170001 (NGUYEN Vi Duc), 00170042 (VING Huyen); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/1363, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00169780-0016781 (NGUYEN Van Hai), 00169810-00169812 (HOANG Minh Kha), 00169819-00169820 (TRAN Ngoc Tuong), 00169835-00169837 (LUONG Van Vy), 00169859-00169861 (LUONG Ten Hong), 00169865-00169866 (VINH Tu Phuong); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/274, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00167919-00169720 (NGUYEN Thanh Son), 00168931-00168933 (NGUYEN Van Que), 00168957-00168958 (VU Van Tau); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/76, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00170381-00170383 (LE Minh Dao); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/294, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00170273-00170274 (TRAN Van Long); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/77, ERN (En) 00170119-00170120 (LE Van Tieng), 00170149-00170150 (NINH Viet Hong), 00170158-00170159 (NGUYEN Minh Sung).

<sup>8389</sup> SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/1360, ERN (En) 00169923-00169925 (confession of PHAN Thi My); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/1361, ERN (En) 00168893-00168894 (confession NGUYEN Thi Be); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/294, ERN (En) 00170314-00170316 (LAM Thi Thu); SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/295, ERN (En) 00169135-00169136 (LE Thi Vinh Sang).

<sup>8390</sup> SRV Troop Confessions (in FBIS collection), E3/292, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00169190-00169193 (MAU Chhin), 00169193-00169195 (CHAU Moeung), 00169206-00169207 (CHAU Choy), 00169207-00169209 (SAM Oeun).

was provided with copies of the confessions to which he made minor corrections before the broadcast.<sup>8391</sup> The confessions were also used in DK publications and government statements as evidence of Vietnamese aggression against DK.<sup>8392</sup>

2474. The propaganda booklet printed by the DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs in September 1978 known as the “Black Paper”<sup>8393</sup> included the photographs of Vietnamese soldiers who had been captured and detained. These included Commander TRAN Van Thuon and Colonel NGUYEN Can Chen, who were captured at sea in January 1978 and were members of the General Staff of the Vietnamese Division 9.<sup>8394</sup> The text of their confessions was also printed in DK publications.<sup>8395</sup> The confessions of the following Vietnamese prisoners were also printed in these publications: TRAN Van Hay (Lieutenant in Division 1); NGUYEN Van Muoi (a Private in Company 1); NGUYEN Minh Tam (Private in Division 10); PHAN Van Thieng (Private in Company 1); VU Dinh Ngo (a midshipman in the Navy);<sup>8396</sup> PHAN Thi Ni (described as a “Vietnamese Woman Intelligence Agent”); TO Van Nguu (Captain of Special Company 9); HA Van Heut (Second Lieutenant of Division 4); HOANG Minh Kha

<sup>8391</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 83-84, 87; T. 16 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/439.1, p. 11; T. 3 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/58.1, p. 19; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/1580, 28 March 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00177588, Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/525, 10 June 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00339603 (routinely “the essence of the confessions of those Vietnamese was sent to uncle Nuon. Therefore, whatever it is he would adjust it and then he would send it to me and I would make some changes.”).

<sup>8392</sup> DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs Publication: Evidences on the Vietnamese Aggression Against Democratic Kampuchea, E3/8394, July 1978, pp. 40-47, ERN (En) 00011374-00011377; DK Government Public Statement, E3/8393, 22 January 1978.

<sup>8393</sup> DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs Publication: Black Paper: Facts and Evidences of the Acts of Aggression and Annexation of Vietnam Against Kampuchea, September 1978, E3/23, p. 2, ERN (En) 00082511.

<sup>8394</sup> DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs Publication: Black Paper: Facts and Evidences of the Acts of Aggression and Annexation of Vietnam Against Kampuchea, September 1978, E3/23, p. 44, ERN (En) 00082553.

<sup>8395</sup> See e.g., DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs Publication: Evidences on the Vietnamese Aggression Against Democratic Kampuchea, 26 January 1978, E3/7401 [E3/1258], ERN (En) 00420557-00420564 (confession of TRAN Van Thuong), ERN (En) 00420564-00420567 (confession of TRAN Van Tu); DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs Publication: Evidences on the Vietnamese Aggression Against Democratic Kampuchea, E3/8394, July 1978, S00011357-S00011361 (confession of NGUYEN Van Chen), S00011361-S00011366 (confession of TRAN Van Thuong), S00011374-S00011377 (confession of VU Dinh Ngo).

<sup>8396</sup> DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs Publication: Evidences on the Vietnamese Aggression Against Democratic Kampuchea, 26 January 1978, E3/7401 [E3/1258], ERN (En) 00420567, 00420572-00420573, 00420575, 00420577; DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs Publication: Evidences on the Vietnamese Aggression Against Democratic Kampuchea, July 1978, E3/8394, ERN (En) S00011374; Confession of a Captured SRV Sailor (in SWB/FE/5730/A3 collection), E3/1249, 29 January 1978, ERN (En) S00008894-S00008896.

(Deputy Chief of a Squad in Division 2).<sup>8397</sup> S-21 records additionally confirm that some of these Vietnamese prisoners, were detained at S-21, namely TREN Van Hay, NGUYEN Van Moeuy, PHAN Van Thieng, VU Dinh Nga and HVANG Thini.<sup>8398</sup>

2475. Duch also received instructions that photographs should be taken of Vietnamese soldiers at S-21 to be used at a conference in Indonesia to show that the “Yuon” had invaded Kampuchea. In this regard, Duch testified that prisoners were photographed if they had names and physical features which were considered to be “Yuon”.<sup>8399</sup> While he initially stated that the order came from NUON Chea, he later clarified that Pang delivered the order and he was unsure whether it came from NUON Chea.<sup>8400</sup> While no date was given, Duch testified that this happened after SON Sen had been away at the battlefield for some time. The Chamber therefore places this event at the end of 1977 or early 1978.<sup>8401</sup>

2476. At around the same time, a movie was made on the premises of S-21 with Vietnamese prisoners dressed in the military uniforms in which they had been arrested.<sup>8402</sup> The film was shown to S-21 staff at a study session to celebrate the 17 April anniversary. This film depicted the arrest and the arrival of the Vietnamese soldiers at S-21 and showed their disembowelled bodies following their execution.<sup>8403</sup>

2477. The confession of VU Dinh Ho, published in January 1978 as evidence of Vietnamese aggression against Kampuchea, indicates that a number of Vietnamese

<sup>8397</sup> DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs Publication: Evidences on the Vietnamese Aggression Against Democratic Kampuchea, July 1978, E3/8394, ERN (En) S00011369; S00011372, S00011378, S00011382.

<sup>8398</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10122, 16 May 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 01556325 (referring to TROEN Van Theoung and TREN Van Hay); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8463, multiple dates, p. 309, ERN (En) 01554827 (referring to NGUYEN Van Moeuy and PHAN Van Thieng); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10209, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 01402117 (referring to VU Dinh Nga); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10218, 14 March 1978, p. 3, ERN (En) 01556047 (referring to HVANG Thini). Despite the minor spelling differences, the Chamber is satisfied that these are the same individuals.

<sup>8399</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 87-88, 90-91.

<sup>8400</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, p. 90.

<sup>8401</sup> As noted above, SON Sen went to the battlefield at some time in the second half of 1977, and Pang was arrested in April 1978. See above, paras 2193, 2195.

<sup>8402</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, pp. 88-89.

<sup>8403</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 82-84, 89-92. See also, T. 15 September 2016 (NOEM Oem), E1/474.1, pp. 61-62 (testifying that he took photographs of prisoners in Vietnamese military uniforms); T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, pp. 32-33 (testifying that S-21 workers were shown a film showing the interrogation of and, confessions made by, Vietnamese prisoners). See e.g., S-21 photographs, E3/8063.3; E3/8639.3917; E3/8639.3918; E3/8639.4303; E3/8639.4333; E3/8639.4334; E3/8639.4347.

navy personnel and civilians were captured on the ship that he was sailing on.<sup>8404</sup> These included navy officers, sailors and their family members, including women and children.<sup>8405</sup> S-21 lists show that VU Dinh Ngo entered S-21 on 3 January 1978.<sup>8406</sup> As found earlier, the Chamber has before it evidence that a number of other individuals whose confessions were recorded in publications were indeed detained at S-21.<sup>8407</sup>

2478. Moreover, the detention of Vietnamese children is demonstrated by S-21 records that refer to the detention of over 30 Vietnamese children between the ages of 13 and 17 taken to S-21 in 1978. They were taken primarily from the southern regions of the country and Vietnam border areas: 13 were taken from Svay Rieng,<sup>8408</sup> eight from the Southwest Zone<sup>8409</sup> and eight from Kampong Som,<sup>8410</sup> while one was arrested

<sup>8404</sup> DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs Publication: Evidences on the Vietnamese Aggression Against Democratic Kampuchea, 26 January 1978, E3/7401, ERN (En) 00420577.

<sup>8405</sup> DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs Publication: Evidences on the Vietnamese Aggression Against Democratic Kampuchea, 26 January 1978, E3/7401, ERN (En) 00420577 (noting that 25 children below the age of 15 were aboard the ship and captured).

<sup>8406</sup> S-21 list of prisoners: Yvon Spies, E3/8492, undated, ERN (En) 00181701 (entered 3 January 1978); S-21 list of prisoners, Intelligence Section, E3/10209, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 01402117 (entered 3 January 1978).

<sup>8407</sup> See above, paras 2462, 2474.

<sup>8408</sup> S-21 list of prisoners who entered in April 1978, E3/10354, p. 83, ERN (En) 01507624 (TROEUNG Thi Nhieng, 14-year-old female); S-21 list of Prisoners who entered 6 May 1978, E3/10141, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462132 (VIN Thi Ngok, 13-year-old female); S-21 list of Prisoners who entered on 12 May 1978, E3/10145, p. 15, ERN (En) 01395565 (NGVIENG Kong Thanh, 16-year-old male); S-21 list of Prisoners who entered in October 1978, E3/10205, p. 11, ERN (En) 01397686 (NGVIENG Thifa, 15-year-old female, described as a Vietnamese spy); S-21 list of prisoners entering in November 1978, E3/10212, pp. 3, ERN (En) 01397692 (PHAM Phankuo, 13-year-old male, described as a Vietnamese spy), 4, ERN (En) 01397693 (NGUYEN Vang Di, 17-year-old male, described as a Vietnamese spy), 8, ERN (En) 01397697 (LE Yang Seun, 16-year-old male, described as a Vietnamese spy); S-21 list of Prisoners, Intelligence Section, E3/10209, p. 3, ERN (En) 01402119 (LE Thi Yungkam, 15-year-old female, described as Vietnamese Intelligence Agent, entered on 27 September 1978); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8435, pp. 3, ERN (En) 00234283 (VIN Ngoc Lung, 13-year-old male, TRAN Thi Dien, 17-year-old; LE Thi Dung Cam, 15-year-old female; LE Son Dung, 16 years old), 4, ERN (En) 00234284 (PHAN Van Kem, 15 years old).

<sup>8409</sup> S-21 list of prisoners who entered in April 1978, E3/10354, p. 83, ERN (En) 01507624 (DAU Yaing Tong, 15-year-old male, arrested on 23 April and “removed” on 28 April 1978); S-21 list of prisoners who entered in October 1978, E3/10205, p. 14, ERN (En) 01397689 (NGVIENG Yangyin, 13-year-old male, described as a Vietnamese spy; TROENG Yangfak, 7-year-old male, entered in October 1978); S-21 list of prisoners entering in November 1978, E3/10212, p. 12, ERN (En) 01397701 (TRINH Yang Laum, 13-year-old male, described as a Vietnamese spy); S-21 list of prisoners, Intelligence Section, E3/10209, p. 15, ERN (En) 01402131 (TROENG Yang Sin, 17-year-old male, described as Vietnamese Intelligence Agent, entered on 14 November 1978); PHAM Yang Song, 17-year-old male, described as Vietnamese Intelligence Agent, entered on 14 November 1978); S-21 Prisoner Biography – PHAM Yang Man, E3/10546, p. 23, ERN (En) 01451552 (PHAM Yang Man, 15-year-old male, described as a Vietnamese spy, entered on 10 December 1978); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8435, p. 2, ERN (En) 00234282 (LE Van Loi, 15-year-old male, 12 September 1978).

<sup>8410</sup> S-21 list of prisoners entering 21 February 1978, E3/9848, pp. 1, ERN (En) 01368659 (TE Kokhuo, 16-year-old male) 2, ERN (En) 01368660 (LEANG Ming Tungng, 15-year-old male); S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 12 May 1978, E3/10145, pp. 13, ERN (En) 01395563 (CHOENG Thanh Voang, 17-year-old male), 14, ERN (En) 01395564 (TOENG Yang Nhien, 14-year-old male); S-21 list of prisoners entering 6 June 1978, E3/10201, p. 2, ERN (En) 01366723 (NGUYEN Cong Vieng, 15-

from Ministry S-71.<sup>8411</sup> Further S-21 records from May 1978 identify 16 Vietnamese children between the ages of 13 and 15 and seven other Vietnamese children between the ages of seven and 11 who were detained at S-21.<sup>8412</sup> The Chamber also notes S-21 records of May 1978 confirming that Vietnamese children were also taken out of S-21 and “smashed”.<sup>8413</sup>

2479. Vietnamese soldiers who had been arrested and detained at S-21 were killed behind the S-21 prison by Peng’s security guard unit after their interrogations had concluded.<sup>8414</sup> While Duch could not precisely indicate the number, he testified that there were hundreds of Vietnamese who were detained and executed at S-21.<sup>8415</sup> On one occasion, a Vietnamese family was brought to an office which received prisoners close to S-21. A young child was dragged away from his or her parents by guards, dropped from the balcony of the multi-storey building and killed.<sup>8416</sup>

---

year-old male); S-21 list of prisoners who entered in April 1978, E3/10354, pp. 86, ERN (En) 01507627 (TROENG Yaing Cham, 17-year-old male), 87, ERN (En) 01507628 (NGVIENG Yi Hae, 17-year-old male), 89, ERN (En) 01507630 (NGVIENG Yi Sen, 17-year-old male).

<sup>8411</sup> S-21 list of prisoners who entered 17 July 1978, E3/10109, ERN (En) 01548708 (THOEUN Chhuong, a 15-year-old male “Combatant of Office K-13”, with a handwritten annotation indicating “Yuon + Yuon half blood.”).

<sup>8412</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10141, 6 May 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462132 (VIN Yang Fa age eight and VIN Thi Ngok age 13 among the “Yuon” prisoners who entered S-21 on 6 May 1978); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10205, pp. 10, 14, ERN (En) 01397685, 01397689 (LE Yangve aged 11 and TROENG Yangfak age seven who entered S-21 on 12 and 30 October 1978, respectively); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10209, p. 13, ERN (En) 01402129 (TROENG Yang Ngok age 7, DING Thang Liem age 11, NGUYEN Yang Ta age 11, NGUYEN Thy Nga age 11 are listed as “Yuon Intelligence” agents who were arrested in Svay Rieng and detained on 13 November 1978); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10212, 19 November 1978 (LE Thi Mi Phoeung age 8 who was described as a “Yuon Spy”, was arrested in Svay Rieng and brought to S-21 on 19 November 1978); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10505, January 1978, ERN (En) 01398574 (MEU Chuk age 11, executed); S-21 list of prisoners, September 1978, E3/10203, ERN (En) 01016468 (VINH Saing Thach age 10, accused of being a spy and entered S-21 on 25 September 1978); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8436, p. 2, ERN (En) 00250013 (YOR Yaingnheuk age 11, entered S-21 on 4 December 1978). See also, S-21 photograph, E3/9837, p. 96, ERN P01223785 (photograph number 610, including the name of LE Yaing Ve in Khmer).

<sup>8413</sup> S-21 list of prisoner smashed on 2 December 1978, E3/8463, 15 May 1978, pp. 8, ERN (En) 01554526 (VIN Thy Ngoc, aged 13), 13, ERN (En) 01554531 (LE Thy Yong Kam, aged 15), 14, ERN (En) 01554532 (TRING Yang Loeng and NGIENG Yang Ha, both aged 17); S-21 list of prisoners destroyed on 30 October 1978, E3/10456, 31 October 1978, ERN (En) 01558315 (referring to the execution of TROENG Yaing Hvak, age 7, along with 23 prisoners on 31 October 1978).

<sup>8414</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 25-26, 81, 84 (testifying that there were approximately 40 to 60 Vietnamese soldiers who had been arrested); HIM Huy Interview Record, E3/5155, 19 September 20017, p. 5, ERN (En) 00161591 (stating that Vietnamese soldiers were kept for about half a month before being killed by members of his and Peng’s teams).

<sup>8415</sup> KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/1580, 28 March 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00177587. See also, Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/525, 10 June 2009, pp. 7, 9-10, 19, ERN (En) 00339602, 00339604-00339605, 00339614; T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, p. 86.

<sup>8416</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 5 (testifying that he buried the body of the dead child who was about one year old); Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006.

2480. These findings are further corroborated by S-21 prisoner lists. The S-21 lists demonstrate that the detention of Vietnamese soldiers and civilians was slow to start. From March 1976, there were at least 32 arrests of prisoners, both civilians and soldiers, labelled as Vietnamese or “Yuon”, and approximately 68 executions of the same.<sup>8417</sup> Lists show only five arrests of Vietnamese or “Yuon” for 1977, and only 11 executions.<sup>8418</sup> However, in 1978, arrests and executions of Vietnamese at S-21 increased dramatically, with lists demonstrating 695 individuals who were arrested and/or executed at S-21.<sup>8419</sup> An S-21 prisoner list from December 1978 records that only 35 Vietnamese prisoners remained at S-21.<sup>8420</sup>

<sup>8417</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1992, 5 October 1976, p. 2, ERN (En) 00844655 (indicating arrests in September 1976); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8761, undated, pp. 1-2, 5, ERN (En) 00184840-00184841, 00184844 (indicating arrests in March 1976); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10062, undated, p. 18, ERN (En) 01399004; S-21 list of prisoners of Commerce Section, E3/2090, undated, p. 6, ERN (En) 00701341; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/3597, undated, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00239747-00239748; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10065, undated, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 01397464-01397465; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2261, 19 November 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 01303317; S-21 list of prisoners who entered from 1 November 1976 to 15 November 1976, E3/10061, undated, p. 19, ERN (En) 01397461 (indicating arrests in November 1976); S-21 list of prisoners killed 1976, E3/3187, multiple dates, pp. 7, 9, 11, 20, 76, 124, 383-384, 394, 396, 415-417, ERN (En) 00874180, 00874182, 00874184, 00874193, 00874249, 00874297, 00874556-00874557 (indicating arrests in May 1976), 00874567, 00874569, 00874588-00874590, 00874598-00874599; S-21 list of prisoners killed from 1-15 July 1976, E3/8540, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00738605.

<sup>8418</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1999, undated, p. 5, ERN (En) 00233679; S-21 list of prisoners admitted in May 1977, E3/2590, 3 June 1977, p. 40, ERN (En) 01191295; S-21 list of prisoners from Yuon, E3/10073, 17 October 1977, p. 17, ERN (En) 01397561; S-21 list of prisoners executed on 12-5-77, E3/3858, 13 May 1977, p. 3, ERN (En) 00837617; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2285, multiple dates, pp. 23, 276, 289, 547-548, ERN (En) 01564783, 01565036, 01565049, 01565307-01565309.

<sup>8419</sup> S-21 list of prisoners entry on 31.1.78, E3/10438, 1 February 1978, p. 4, ERN (En) 01366949; S-21 list of prisoners entered in January 1978, E3/10430, undated, pp. 62-67, ERN (En) 01366904-01366909 (listing four individuals as “Previously A [contemptible] Thieu-Ky majors); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10505, multiple dates, pp. 7, 19, 22, 34, 46, 55, 70, ERN (En) 01398547, 01398559, 01398562, 01398574, 01398586, 01398595, 01398610 (identifying a former military captain); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/9848, multiple dates, pp. 1-2, 11, 13, ERN (En) 01368659-01368660, 01368669, 01368671; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10439, undated, pp. 36-39, ERN (En) 01398429-01398432 (listing “Youn Spies”); S-21 list of prisoners entry on 13 February 1978, E3/10451, 13 February 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 01366965; S-21 list of prisoners entry on 14 February 1978, E3/10452, 14 February 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 01366967; S-21 list of prisoners interrogated, E3/2025, 2 February 1978, pp. 1-2, 4, 8-9, ERN (En) 00184712-00184713, 00184715, 00184719-00184720; S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 20 February 1978, E3/9847, 20 February 1978, p. 6, ERN (En) 01368655; S-21 list of prisoners entry on 2 March 1978, E3/10246, 2 March 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01366763; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 5 March 1978, E3/10219, 5 March 1978, p. 7, ERN (En) 01396190; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 20 March 1978, E3/10234, 20 March 1978, pp. 11, 14-15, 17, ERN (En) 01399133, 01399136-01399137, 01399139; S-21 list of prisoners entry on 23 March 1978, E3/10237, 23 March 1978, p. 4, ERN (En) 01366744; S-21 list of prisoners entry on 29 March 1978, E3/10243, 29 March 1978, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 01366757-01366758; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8655, multiple dates, ERN (En) 01460841-01460842, 01460844, 01460846, 01460848, 01460852, 01460857, 01460864, 01460866-01460867, 01460869-01460870, 01460872, 01460879; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 5 April 1978, E3/10378, 5 April 1978, p. 15, ERN (En) 01398038; S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 17 April 1978, E3/10382, 17 April 1978, pp. 7, 16, ERN (En) 01398087, 01398096; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 18 April 1978, E3/10364, 18 April 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462217-01462218; S-21 list of prisoners executed on 21-4-78, E3/8448, 21 April 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00784433-00784434; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 23 April 1978, E3/10385, 23 April 1978, p. 3, ERN (En) 01548788; S-21 list of prisoners entered 21.4.78 to 28.4.78,

2481. The documentary evidence also demonstrates that Vietnamese prisoners were arrested in Svay Rieng province, not far from the border with Vietnam and Cambodian territorial waters between January and April 1978.<sup>8421</sup>

E3/2210, 28 April 1978, ERN (En) 00181721-00181722; S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 28 April 1978, E3/2209, 28 April 1978, pp. 1, 6, ERN (En) 00893763, 00893768; S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 27 April 1978, E3/10372, 27 April 1978, p. 14, ERN (En) 01528739; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in April 1978, E3/10354, undated, pp. 68-69, 82-91, ERN (En) 01507609-01507610, 01507623-01507632; S-21 list of prisoners admitted from 14 April 1978 to 21 April 1978, E3/10358, undated, pp. 24-25, 29-30, ERN (En) 01398017-01398018, 01398022-01398023; S-21 list of prisoners came in on 1 May 1978, E3/10390, 1 May 1978, pp. 11-12, ERN (En) 01398275-01398276; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 4 May 1978, E3/10139, 4 May 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462131; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10141, 7 May 1978, ERN (En) 01462132-01462133; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 12 May 1978, E3/10393, 12 May 1978, pp. 4, 15-17, 20, ERN (En) 01398307, 01398318-01398320, 01398323; S-21 list of prisoners who came in on 13 May 1978, E3/10146, 13 May 1978, p. 11, ERN (En) 01395576; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10153, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462138; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 26 May 1978, E3/10157, undated, p. 3, ERN (En) 01462146; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 27 May 1978, E3/10158, 27 May 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462147; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8463, multiple dates, pp. 3, 8-10, 12-15, 38-39, 42-43, 50, 52, 54-55, 56-59, 61-63, 70-74, 86-91, 94-95, 309-311, 313-314, 336, ERN (En) 01554621, 01554526-01554528, 01554530-01554533, 01554556-01554557, 01554560-01554561, 01554568, 01554570, 01554572-01554573, 01554574-01554577, 01554579-01554581, 01554588-01554592, 01554604-01554609, 01554612-01554613, 01554827-01554829, 01554831-01554832, 01554854; S-21 list of prisoners' entry on 18 June 1978, E3/10184, 18 June 1978, p. 3, ERN (En) 01366718; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in June 1978, E3/10161, 2 July 1978, pp. 94-95, ERN (En) 01564050-01564051; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in July 1978, E3/10120, undated, pp. 36-38, ERN (En) 01399098-01399100; S-21 list of prisoners who entered from 01 July to 7 July 1978, E3/10199, 7 July 1978, p. 11, ERN (En) 01397675; S-21 list of prisoners' entry on 5/7/78, E3/10101, 5 July 1978, pp. 1-4, ERN (En) 01366703-01366706; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 17 July 1978, E3/10109, undated, p. 5, ERN (En) 01548708; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 22 July 1978, E3/10113, 22 July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01395536; S-21 list of prisoners at various ministries, E3/10355, undated, pp. 8, 10, ERN (En) 01395676, 01395678; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 10 August 1978, E3/10134, 10 August 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01558253; S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 2 September 1978, E3/10133, 2 September 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462130; S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 5[sic] September 1978, E3/2248, 4 September 1978, ERN (En) 00181739; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 5 September 1978, E3/10130, undated, p. 5, ERN (En) 01548729; S-21 list of prisoners entering on 17, 22 September 1978, E3/2249, 22 September 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00181741-00181742; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8472, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00181688-00181690; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 22 September 1978, E3/10202, 22 September 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01548773; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 24-25 September 1978, E3/10203, undated, pp. 1-3, ERN (En) 01548774-01548776; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 28.9.78, E3/8543, 28 September 1978, ERN (En) 00181744; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 8.10.78, E3/2250, undated, ERN (En) 00181746; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8546, 9 September [sic] 1978, ERN (En) 00181748-00181749; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 13 October 1978, E3/10206, undated, p. 2, ERN (En) 01462156; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10207, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462158; S-21 list of prisoners with the entry date of 24 October 1978, E3/8548, 24 October 1978, ERN (En) 00181752; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 28.10.78, E3/8551, 28 October 1978, ERN (En) 00181755; S-21 list of prisoners who were destroyed on 30-31 October 1978, E3/10456, 31 October 1978, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 01558314-01558315; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in October 1978, E3/10205, undated, pp. 8-14, ERN (En) 013976834-01397689; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8654, multiple dates, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 01529404-01529405; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10212, undated, pp. 2-12, 14-16, ERN (En) 01397691-01397701, 01397703-01397705; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2255, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00789494; S-21 list of prisoners executed on December 12, 1978, E3/1901, undated, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00172214-00172215; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1651, undated, pp. 2, 4, 8, ERN (En) 00789498, 00789500, 00789504; S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 20, 23 October 1978, E3/10454, multiple dates, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 01544179-01544180.

<sup>8420</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2255, December 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00789494.

<sup>8421</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8463, 30 April 1978, pp. 309-310, ERN (En) 01554827-01554828; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10122, 16 May 1978, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 01556325-01556326.

2482. The NUON Chea Defence submits that there is no objective evidence that Vietnamese civilians were detained at S-21 and that, in any event, there is no information about the reasons for their arrests.<sup>8422</sup> As discussed above, the Chamber received reliable evidence which allows it to conclude that Vietnamese prisoners at S-21 included soldiers and civilians, as well as children. Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence's submissions, the testimony of PRAK Khorn and SUOS Thy was clear and the Chamber was able to rely on their identification of Vietnamese civilians at S-21 without detailed evidence about the precise name or number of those detained. Further, in regard to the reason for their arrests, the evidence described above and elsewhere in this Judgement clearly indicates that the Vietnamese were targeted as an enemy group and as a threat to the DK.<sup>8423</sup>

2483. As noted above, it is also clear that Vietnamese soldiers were arrested and detained at S-21. The NUON Chea Defence correctly submit that in a time of armed conflict, it would be legitimate for a party to the conflict to detain captured foreign troops with which it was at war.<sup>8424</sup> However, with respect to such soldiers the question is whether any of the alleged grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions were committed against them, even if they were lawfully detained. This will be addressed in Section 12.2.24: Legal Findings.

2484. The NUON Chea Defence submits that no witness provided specific evidence regarding the basis or circumstances of arrest of Vietnamese detainees or of their conditions of detention at S-21.<sup>8425</sup> The Defence further submits that Vietnamese prisoners were kept in the Special Prison where detainees enjoyed relatively better conditions.<sup>8426</sup> Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence's submission, there is no evidence to suggest that Vietnamese prisoners were detained under better conditions. Further, it is not clear whether they were only interrogated or whether they were also detained in the Special Prison.<sup>8427</sup> In any event, the Chamber will assess what evidence it has

<sup>8422</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 558.

<sup>8423</sup> See above, paras 2167, 2174-2175, 2460, 2464-2465, 2468, 2477-2478; Section 13.3.5: Targeting of the Vietnamese.

<sup>8424</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 559.

<sup>8425</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 560.

<sup>8426</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 560.

<sup>8427</sup> See e.g., Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5795, 29 April 2009, pp. 85-86, ERN (En) 00325935-00325936.

received on the conditions and treatment of Vietnamese prisoners in Section 12.2.24: Legal Findings.

12.2.18. Former Khmer Republic Officials

2485. According to the Closing Order, former LON Nol or Khmer Republic officials and soldiers were detained at S-21.<sup>8428</sup> The NUON Chea Defence submits that the Closing Order lacks clarity, particularly in relation to any underlying factual allegations pertaining to the treatment of former Khmer Republic soldiers and officials.<sup>8429</sup> The Chamber notes that the Closing Order clearly found that the main purpose of S-21 was to extract confessions from prisoners that would help uncover other networks of potential traitors.<sup>8430</sup> It specifically found that CPK authorities identified several groups as “enemies” based on their real or perceived political beliefs, including former Khmer Republic officials,<sup>8431</sup> that former Khmer Republic officials and soldiers were detained at S-21<sup>8432</sup> and that junior officials of the former LON Nol regime were arrested and many were executed at S-21.<sup>8433</sup> The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the Closing Order clearly sets out a number of findings with respect to the treatment of former Khmer Republic soldiers and officials. The NUON Chea Defence’s submission is therefore rejected.

2486. Many former Khmer Republic officials were sent to M-13 and others to Takhmau for interrogation shortly after 17 April 1975 and before S-21 was established.<sup>8434</sup> As discussed above, after S-21 was established, Duch was assigned to collect documents from houses and government buildings belonging to the former Khmer Republic regime in order to use them at S-21 for further investigation.<sup>8435</sup> Prisoners associated with the former regime were arrested in higher volume during the

<sup>8428</sup> See above, para. 2076.

<sup>8429</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 928-931; T. 19 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/524.1, p. 47. No other Party made submissions in this regard.

<sup>8430</sup> Closing Order, para. 455.

<sup>8431</sup> Closing Order, para. 1417.

<sup>8432</sup> Closing Order, paras 432-433.

<sup>8433</sup> Closing Order, para. 1417.

<sup>8434</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/62, 6 April 2009, p. 66, 85, ERN (En) 00314313, 00314332; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5794, 28 April 2009, pp. 76-77, 83, ERN (En) 00325624-00325625, 00325631; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5793, 27 April 2009, p. 67, ERN (En) 00322900.

<sup>8435</sup> See above, para. 2137.

early days of S-21, and were viewed as “key enemies” during the first period of its operation.<sup>8436</sup>

2487. While Duch stated that he never saw a written decision that LON Nol soldiers were to be killed, he confirmed that KHOEM Pin (who succeeded Nat as commander of Division 703) and Hor both told him that the soldiers were systematically eliminated.<sup>8437</sup> This is corroborated by the order to “smash” 17 former Khmer Republic soldiers issued by KHOEM Pin on 4 June 1975.<sup>8438</sup>

2488. The Chamber notes that S-21 documentation confirms the arrest and execution of former civil servants and soldiers of the Khmer Republic regime, with arrests occurring as early as October 1975.<sup>8439</sup> The Chamber also has before it a prisoner list which suggests that government officials were also detained at S-21 in 1976. The list includes engineers, a doctor, a veterinarian and a palace clerk from Sector 22 and others

<sup>8436</sup> See e.g., Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/345, 18 May 2009, p. 11, ERN (En) 00328455; T. 20 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/51.1, p. 3; T. 21 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/52.1, p. 26; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, p. 47, ERN (En) 00342878 (Duch states that by January 1977, there would have been “only very few Lon Nol government officers” remaining); Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5799, 15 June 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00341692 (“During the time that I was the Deputy Chairman, the people who entered S-21 were mostly the former officers, the former technicians. When I became Chairman, the former officers came in less frequency”). See also, T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 5-6 (Duch clarifies the latter testimony, confirming that by “former technicians” he meant people like engineers or people who had technical skills in the former regime); S-21 list of prisoners who died at Office “S-21 Kor (C)”, E3/1539 [E3/1540], undated; T. 27 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/54.1, pp. 14-15. See below, para. 2488.

<sup>8437</sup> KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/429, 11 November 2009, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00403920-004039211; Section 16.4.3.4.1: Common Purpose: Targeting of Specific Groups: Former Khmer Republic Officials: Existence of Policy.

<sup>8438</sup> Execution Order, E3/832, 4 June 1975, p. 8, ERN (En) 00068921.

<sup>8439</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of former civil servants of the old regime, E3/3973, undated, pp. 7-10, ERN (En) 00837533-00837536 (listing 60 former civil servants, with entries from December 1975 to August 1977, and executions from March 1976 to June 1978), pp. 45-55, ERN (En) 00837571-00837581 (listing military members notably CHOEK Brahim, a Lieutenant Colonel, as entering S-21 on 31 October 1975). See also, Section 16.4.3.4.1: Common Purpose: Targeting of Specific Groups: Former Khmer Republic Officials: Existence of Policy; S-21 list of prisoners killed in 1976, E3/8455, undated, pp. 2, 4, ERN (En) 00784450, 00784452 (noting a “Khmer Republic student” and a Lieutenant killed on 29 November 1976, and a Captain killed on 31 July 1977); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1949, undated, ERN (En) 00937127-00937128, 00937135-00937136, 00937140-00937141, 00937147-00934148, 00937153 (indicating the arrest of soldiers, Captains, Corporals, Lieutenants, a Lieutenant Colonel, a First Lieutenant, Second Lieutenants, a Sergeant, Major, an assistant to LON Nol, and the wife of a soldier); S-21 list of prisoners who died at Office “S-21 Kor (C)”, E3/1539 [E3/1540], undated, pp. 1-10, 12, ERN (En) 00182892-00182901, 00182903 (indicating the execution of 112 military members and one wife on 30 March 1976. The Chamber notes that this corresponds to evidence that in the early years of S-21, before it was relocated to the Ponhea Yat High School, prisoners were sent to be killed at Takhmau (S-21C). See above, para. 2152. See below, paras 2490, 2499, 2507. See also, S-21 list of prisoners in the soldier section, E3/8520, ERN (En) 01569467-01569469 (indicating the entry of 51 military members in August and September 1976); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/3187, ERN (En) 00874213-00874214 (indicating 11 military members who arrived in August and September 1976 as being executed on 16 September 1976).

from Battambang.<sup>8440</sup> Duch confirmed the authenticity of a list of former Khmer Republic soldiers who were “smashed” in March 1976.<sup>8441</sup>

2489. According to Duch, no generals or ministers of the LON Nol regime nor any singers or members of the royal family were detained at S-21.<sup>8442</sup> The Chamber notes that Duch’s evidence on this issue is contradicted by several S-21 prisoner lists which identify individuals as “Royal Family Relatives” who were detained and executed at S-21 between March 1976 and August 1978, including SISOWATH Butsara, SISOWATH Ketararak, NOREAK Norin Dararith and SISOWATH Iem Mariya.<sup>8443</sup>

2490. Well-known former Khmer Republic officials or people with connections to the regime, such as LONG Boret, NGOV Va, SAR Phorn, PAN Sothi and THACH Chea were labelled as traitors and targeted for arrest.<sup>8444</sup> LONG Boret was included in the “seven traitors” list, and his relatives along with those of THACH Chea were later arrested and sent to S-21.<sup>8445</sup> As found above, THACH Chea’s wife was killed at S-21 during a medical experiment.<sup>8446</sup> Duch also recognised another list of persons killed at S-21C,<sup>8447</sup> in which he identified relatives of LONG Boret.<sup>8448</sup> Shortly after March 1976, the Party shifted its focus from those associated with the previous regime to enemies within the Party.<sup>8449</sup> However, documentary evidence shows that while the arrest numbers of former Khmer Republic Officials began to dwindle at this time, some

<sup>8440</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2189, 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 00181626.

<sup>8441</sup> T. 27 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/54.1, pp. 14-15, referring to S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 22 March 1976, E3/1538, undated.

<sup>8442</sup> T. 23 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/443.1, pp. 106-107; KAING Guek Eav Military Tribunal Interview, E3/10586, 6 March 1999, p. 4, ERN (En) 00326765.

<sup>8443</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8462, undated, p. 2, ERN (En) 00786216; S-21 list of prisoners who entered Office S-21 in 1976, E3/9842, 26 May 1977, pp. 91, 116-117, ERN (En) 01367219, 01367244-01367245; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10049, p. 1, ERN (En) 01556252.

<sup>8444</sup> KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5761, p. 2, ERN (En) 00197754; Letter from Duch to Brother No. 3, E3/1052, 27 November 1975, ERN (En) 00289848-00289849. See also, KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/106, 1 April 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00177633 (Duch speaks about his letter to Brother No. 3, stating that he was instructed by Nat to write it); Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5794, 28 April 2009, pp. 76-83, ERN (En) 00325624-00325631; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5800, 16 June 2009, p. 94, ERN (En) 00342051; T. 21 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/52.1, p. 26; T. 26 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/53.1, p. 83.

<sup>8445</sup> KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5761, p. 2, ERN (En) 00197754; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5800, 16 June 2009, p. 94, ERN (En) 00342051; T. 29 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/56.1, pp. 99-100.

<sup>8446</sup> See above, para. 2447.

<sup>8447</sup> The Chamber has found that S-21C refers to Takhmau prison. See above, para. 2153.

<sup>8448</sup> T. 27 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/54.1, pp. 16-17; S-21 list of prisoners who died at Office S-21-C, E3/1540, undated, ERN (En) 00182895.

<sup>8449</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5799, 15 June 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00341692. See also, Section 16: Common Purpose, para. 3955.

prisoners associated with the previous regime were still arrested and killed at S-21 in 1977-1978.<sup>8450</sup>

2491. Confessions of former officers of the LON Nol regime were initially recorded. However, the practice was later ended as NUON Chea preferred to read confessions rather than listen to the recordings. Duch accordingly changed the S-21 practice to creating written records of confessions.<sup>8451</sup> The Chamber notes that in an annotation dated 18 September 1978 in the confession of TIV Mei, brother of TIV Ol, Duch states that the confession involved “people from previous regimes”. A copy of this document was sent to NUON Chea.<sup>8452</sup>

2492. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that former Khmer Republic officials and soldiers, as well as their relatives, were deliberately targeted for arrest and were executed at S-21. While most of the former Khmer Republic officials were arrested in 1976, the evidence shows that arrests and executions were also carried out in 1977-1978.

12.2.19. Cham Detainees

2493. The Chamber recalls that the Closing Order refers to some Cham cadres at S-21 who were killed in 1977 and 1978.<sup>8453</sup> PRAK Khorn was aware of Cham detainees at S-21 but did not recall any special instructions with respect to them.<sup>8454</sup> Duch did not receive any specific instructions from SON Sen or NUON Chea with respect to the <sup>8450</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/3973, undated, pp. 45-55, ERN (En) 00837571-00837581. This was reflective of the nation-wide search for, arrest, detention and/or execution of former Khmer Republic officials at the time. See Section 16.4.3.4.1.3: Common Purpose: Targeting of Specific Groups: Former Khmer Republic Officials: Existence of Policy: Early 1976 to 6 January 1979.

<sup>8451</sup> T. 27 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/54.1, p. 11. See also, S-21 Confession – TIV Mei, E3/1537, 18 September 1977 (indicating that one copy had been submitted to Brother Nuon).

<sup>8452</sup> S-21 Confession – TIV Mei, E3/1537, 18 September 1977, ERN (En) 01823838. See above, para. 2302.

<sup>8453</sup> Closing Order, para. 749.

<sup>8454</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 27-28. See also, T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 63-64; S-21 Confession – YI Sales Yasya, E3/7404, undated (indicating that he was arrested on 6 December 1976). YSA Osman testified that S-21 “was not actually the real target for the persecution of the Cham people” because S-21 was used to imprison and interrogate important people. See T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, pp. 87-88. However, the Chamber notes that this opinion falls outside the scope of his expertise and therefore does not rely on his conclusions in this regard. The Chamber does, however, accept his evidence based on his research that a small number of Cham prisoners were detained at S-21, including SALEH Yahya, who was a former Khmer Republic official, CHEK Ibrahim, who was a former Khmer Republic military commander, ISMAEL Ahmad, who was a student who studied overseas and returned to Cambodia, and others who were accused of being traitors. See T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, p. 87.

Cham people and testified that no Cham were arrested because they were Cham, but that if they committed a “mistake” they would be arrested.<sup>8455</sup> There was a Cham guard named SIM Mel alias Man at S-21 who was sent to work in the rice fields after he committed an offence. After he committed another mistake, he was arrested, interrogated and “smashed”.<sup>8456</sup> This is corroborated by PRAK Khorn’s testimony that a former S-21 Cham interrogator named “Man” was arrested and killed, but that to his knowledge, it was not because he was Cham.<sup>8457</sup> The Chamber finds that SIM Mel was treated the same as other S-21 cadre and his history is consistent with S-21 policy toward cadres perceived to be traitors, as described above.<sup>8458</sup> Evidence demonstrates that there were Cham prisoners who were arrested and detained at S-21,<sup>8459</sup> but because they comprised only a small percentage of the prison population at the facility, and while they were specifically recorded as “Cham ethnic” or “Cham”, the Chamber finds that this is not evidence of a specific policy of targeting the Cham at S-21.

12.2.20. Foreign Detainees

2494. Duch identified four western prisoners detained at S-21 who were interrogated and then “smashed”.<sup>8460</sup> This included two American nationals named Michael Scott DEEDS and Christopher Edward DELANCE, who were arrested in November

<sup>8455</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 28-29; T. 23 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/443.1, p. 105.

<sup>8456</sup> T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, p. 50.

<sup>8457</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 98-99 (testifying that, to his knowledge, Man was not arrested because he was Cham).

<sup>8458</sup> See above, paras 2455-2458.

<sup>8459</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners who entered Office S-21 in 1976, E3/9852, 26 May 1977, pp. 148, ERN (En) 01367444 (entry no. 1271: REH Younol “Cham Bandit”), 156, ERN (En) 01367452 (entry no. 1366: MAT El, “Cham”); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8445, undated, pp. 225, ERN (En) 01565816 (entry no. 82: MOEUN Math, “Cham ethnic”), 237, ERN (En) 01565828 (entry no. 186: MAN Lors, “Cham ethnic”), 243, ERN (En) 01565834 (entry no. 235: MOTH Lors, “Cham ethnic”), 359, ERN (En) 01565950 (entry no. 65: RUOM Math, “Cham ethnic”), 381, ERN (En) 01565972 (entry no. 151: SMAN Sless, “Cham ethnic”), 421, ERN (En) 01566012 (entry no. 441: SA Math, “Cham ethnic”; entry no. 445: SAMAS Karim, “Cham ethnic”), 436, ERN (En) 01566027 (entry no. 551: SALE Hat, “Cham”; entry no. 553: SA MAT, “Cham”), 475, ERN (En) 01566066 (entry no. 179: TEP You Nos, “Robber [Cham ethnic]”), 524, ERN (En) 01566115 (entry no. 138: YOEU Math, “Cham ethnic”). The Chamber considers that the only reasonable inference to be drawn under the circumstances is that these prisoners either died or were executed at S-21. See also, Book by Y. Osman, Oukoubah: Justice for the Cham Muslims under the Democratic Kampuchea Regime, E3/1822, 2002, p. 9, ERN (En) 00078457 (listing approximately 42 S-21 prisoners who were Cham Muslims).

<sup>8460</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 82-83; T. 2 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/57.1, p. 65; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 19-20 (testifying that one of the foreign prisoners was named David SCOTT). See also, S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1553, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01236388-01236389 (noting the detention of Christopher DELANCE and Michael Scott DEEDS KIMO at S-21).

1978.<sup>8461</sup> After being arrested and detained by the navy off the coast of Kampong Som, they were referred to the Central Committee, which gave instructions to transfer them to S-21. NUON Chea closely monitored their situation and discussed this matter with Duch during their meetings.<sup>8462</sup> These four western prisoners were treated as spies for having entered Kampuchea illegally, so they were interrogated and then “smashed”.<sup>8463</sup> Duch sent the photographs of the four western prisoners to his superior but was warned not to keep the films. He therefore ordered the destruction of the negatives.<sup>8464</sup> The western prisoners were detained in the Special Prison.<sup>8465</sup> S-21 prisoner lists also refer to other foreign nationals, including Jim CLARK, Lance MacNAMARA, Scott GLASS, Kerry HAMILL, John DEWHIRST, Ronald Keith DEAN and David Lloyd SCOTT. The Chamber notes that these individuals were arrested between August and November 1978.<sup>8466</sup>

2495. Duch issued instructions on how to interrogate a foreigner and chose interrogators who had experience interrogating “key” people to conduct the interrogation of western prisoners.<sup>8467</sup> The confessions of the English-speaking western prisoners were made in English and submitted by Duch to his superior.<sup>8468</sup> Foreign prisoners were interrogated in the public area of the S-21 compound by Duch and MAM Nai and were kicked during their interrogation.<sup>8469</sup> The Chamber notes that Duch

<sup>8461</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 82-83; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/3973, p. 39, ERN (En) 00837565; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1553, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01236388-01236389.

<sup>8462</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 51, 83-85; T. 2 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/57.1, pp. 66-67.

<sup>8463</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 82-83; T. 2 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/57.1, p. 66.

<sup>8464</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 22.

<sup>8465</sup> Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7465, 27 July 2009, p. 75, ERN (En) 00356665; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5795, 29 April 2009, pp. 86-87, ERN (En) 00325936-00325937.

<sup>8466</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/3973, p. 39, ERN (En) 00837565. It should be noted that on inspection of the Khmer original, this page of the prisoner list is composed of four pieces of one sheet that are clipped together. The two right pieces seem to be mistakenly used, as they are misaligned, and label these prisoners as “Pakistani”, “cow raiser” and has them entering or being executed at S-21 in April 1976, while other reliable evidence supports their entry dates in 1978. See S-21 Confession – John DEWHIRST, E3/7343, 13 October 1978; S-21 Confession – Kerry HAMILL, E3/7344, 17 September 1978-13 October 1978; Report of Australian Investigation, E3/8176, p. 10, ERN (En) 00526774. The Chamber notes that Kerry HAMILL’s brother was a Civil Party who testified in Case 001. See Case 001 Transcript (Robert Hamill), E3/5582, 17 August 2009, pp. 75-79, ERN (En) 00365860-00365864; How Two Australians Found Death in Kampuchea (The Bulletin, World in Focus), E3/8718, 5 February 1980, ERN (En) 00286671, 00286673; The Nightmare at the End of a Voyage of a Lifetime (International Media Report), E3/8856, undated.

<sup>8467</sup> T. 3 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/58.1, p. 87; T. 2 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/57.1, pp. 66-67.

<sup>8468</sup> T. 3 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/58.1, pp. 6-7; S-21 Confession – Kerry George HAMILL, E3/7344, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00007529-00007566.

<sup>8469</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 20.

testified that he assigned MAM Nai and Pon to interrogate the four western prisoners mentioned above, and that he did not personally participate in the interrogation but was there only to check on the quality of the interpreter.<sup>8470</sup>

2496. BOU Meng witnessed guards stomping on the chest of a foreign detainee, after which blood came out of the victim's mouth and he died. BOU Meng clarified that the body of this prisoner was subsequently taken out of the room and he assumed that the body was buried.<sup>8471</sup>

2497. The western prisoners were executed to the north of the S-21 compound. Duch then instructed Hor to burn the bodies rather than bury them.<sup>8472</sup> Duch had been personally instructed by NUON Chea that the western prisoners had to be “smashed” and burned completely so that there would be no evidence left behind that any westerner had been arrested and killed.<sup>8473</sup> NUON Chea told Duch that they were not like Cuba

<sup>8470</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 86-87; T. 4 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/59.1, pp. 38-39.

<sup>8471</sup> Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006; Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 47, ERN (En) 00346705.

<sup>8472</sup> The Chamber notes that, consistently with its previous finding in Case 001, the evidence is not clear as to whether the westerners were still alive when their bodies were burned. However, it is satisfied that regardless of whether they were dead or alive at the time, there is sufficient evidence to show that several bodies of western prisoners were burned outside of S-21. See T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 92-94. See also, T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 20-21 (testifying that he was told by a security guard at S-21 that the American and Australian prisoners were put in the middle of a road, had tires placed on them and were burned with gasoline); T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 27 (testifying that the western prisoners had been first executed and then their bodies burned to destroy any evidence); T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 82-83; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/504 [E3/65], 7 August 2007, p. 10, ERN (En) 00147526 (“Nuon Chea ordered them to be burned to ashes using vehicle tires.”); Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, p. 28, ERN (En) 00342859 (stating that the four westerners were “executed and their dead bodies were burned to ash”); Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5802, 22 June 2009, p. 110, ERN (En) 00344217 (testifying that the four westerners’ “corpses were burnt out.”); Case 001 Transcript (HIM Huy), E3/7461, 16 July 2009, pp. 60, 90, ERN (En) 00353940, 00353970 (“These four people were executed near the church and then they were burned using tyres just on the road, the paved road”); Case 001 Transcript (PRAK Khan), E3/7463, 21 July 2009, p. 50, ERN (En) 00355158; Case 001 Transcript (CHEAM Sour), E3/7469, 5 August 2009, pp. 16, 18, 41, ERN (En) 00360556, 00360558, 00360581 (testifying that the prisoner was still alive) cf. Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/7469, 5 August 2009, p. 53, ERN (En) 00360593 (“it is hard for me to believe that a prisoner was burned alive.”). See also, Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5582, 17 August 2009, pp. 111-113, ERN (En) 00365896-00365898; T. 2 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/57.1, pp. 65-68; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 20-21; T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 92-93; T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 27.

<sup>8473</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 83-84; T. 2 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/57.1, pp. 67-68; T. 3 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/58.1, pp. 10-11 (testifying that NUON Chea had given this instruction with respect to two of the western prisoners). See also, KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/1570, 29 November 2007, ERN (En) 00154194 (stating that based on NUON Chea's orders, the four westerners were killed and burned close to the intersection of Mao Tse Toung Boulevard and Street 163).

where they retained American prisoners in order to exchange them for tractors.<sup>8474</sup> After the western prisoners had been killed and burned, Duch reported to his superiors that the order had been implemented.<sup>8475</sup>

2498. The Chamber notes that in his testimony, Duch recalled that:

Regarding Westerners, in fact there were four Westerners who were brought into S-21. In Case 001, two applied as a civil parties [sic] in relation to two Westerners [...]. I can say that they were interrogated and later on they were smashed per instructions. To smash here means they were burned with tires.<sup>8476</sup>

The Chamber recalls that the two Civil Parties in Case 001 were Timothy Scott DEEDS, brother of Michael Scott DEEDS, and Robert HAMILL, brother of Kerry HAMILL.

2499. An S-21 daily controlling list from 11 April 1976 contains the names of 33 individuals “brought in from Prek Dach in Sector 25”, with a further reference to 20 male children and 5 female children. The document identifies these detainees as Arab, Pakistani or Indian. According to Duch, these people were Muslim people living in an “Arab village” located outside the skirts of Phnom Penh city, where they raised livestock. Duch stated that they were evacuated to different locations, until Nat was ordered to gather them from Prek Dach to Takhmau prison, where ultimately they were “smashed”. The Chamber notes that based on this list it appears that some of these detainees were previously merchants or students.<sup>8477</sup> In the absence of any corroborating evidence, the Chamber does not rely on Duch’s evidence to determine the precise reasons for their arrests or their initial location.

2500. Additionally, S-21 prisoner lists indicate that detainees coming or returning from Canada, France, Egypt, Russia, China, Thailand, Laos, Australia, Japan, India, Pakistan and Yugoslavia were all arrested and detained at S-21.<sup>8478</sup>

<sup>8474</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 84-85.

<sup>8475</sup> T. 2 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/57.1, p. 68.

<sup>8476</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 82-83.

<sup>8477</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 70-73; T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 29; T. 20 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/51.1, p. 20; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/8493, 11 April 1976, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00181624-00181625.

<sup>8478</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2236, undated, ERN (En) 00181633-00181635; S-21 list of prisoners not interrogations at House “Kor”, E3/2261, undated, ERN (En) 01303317-01303318; S-21 list of prisoners who entered Office S-21 in 1976, E3/9842, 26 May 1977, pp. 152-153, 156-158, 162-163, 165, ERN (En) 01367280-01367281, 01367284-01367286, 01367290-01367291, 01367293; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1999, undated, pp. 1-15, ERN (En) 00233676-00233689; S-21 list of prisoners who were

12.2.21. Killings

2501. The Closing Order found that NUON Chea gave specific orders with respect to the execution of specific prisoners and mass executions at S-21.<sup>8479</sup> Concerning KHIEU Samphan, the Closing Order found, as it did regarding his knowledge of torture, that due to his attendance and participation in Standing Committee meetings, it is likely that KHIEU Samphan was aware of the practice of execution at S-21.<sup>8480</sup>

2502. The Chamber finds that prisoners were usually taken out of the compound at night for execution. Prisoners were initially taken out every one or two weeks and the number of prisoners executed ranged from approximately 50 to 100 on any given day.<sup>8481</sup> Once a confession was obtained, the prisoner had to be taken out and killed unless there was a specific order to delay the execution.<sup>8482</sup>

2503. While the position of the CPK was that anyone arrested had to be “smashed”, in order to implement this principle, Hor decided which detainees had to be taken out for execution.<sup>8483</sup> However, after one incident in which Hor decided to smash a prisoner before his confession had been completed, SON Sen ordered in a telephone conversation that Hor consult Duch and seek his approval for every decision to “smash” a prisoner, after confirming that they had been interrogated.<sup>8484</sup> This instruction was implemented and Hor carried out the executions after receiving said order from Duch.<sup>8485</sup> PRAK Khorn testified that prisoners who did not confess even after torture executed from 15.1.77 to 31.1.77, E3/3185, undated, ERN (En) 00837627-00837628, 00837630-00837634, 00837636-00837639, 00837641; S-21 list of prisoners postponed in January 1977, E3/1542, 1 February 1977, pp. 3, 6-7, 12, 14, ERN (En) 00233975, 00233978-00233979, 00233984, 00233986; S-21 list of prisoners killed in 1977, E3/8455, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00784449; S-21 list of prisoners entering on 6 January 1978, E3/2020, 6 January 1978, ERN (En) 00184808; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/8493, 11 April 1976, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00181624-00181625.

---

<sup>8479</sup> Closing Order, paras 970, 972-974.

<sup>8480</sup> Closing Order, para. 1183.

<sup>8481</sup> T. 3 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/426.1, pp. 87-88.

<sup>8482</sup> T. 27 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/54.1, pp. 12, 14.

<sup>8483</sup> T. 21 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/441.1, pp. 36-37.

<sup>8484</sup> T. 21 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/441.1, pp. 38-40; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/452, 23 August 2007, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00147567-00147568; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, p. 10, ERN (En) 00342841.

<sup>8485</sup> T. 6 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/432.1, pp. 62-63, 81; SUOS Thy Interview Record, E3/10571, 6 February 2015, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 01079268-01079269; T. 26 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/53.1, p. 55 (testifying that Hor would be sanctioned severely if he failed to report to Duch before taking a prisoner out); KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/65, 7 August 2007, p. 10, ERN (En) 00147526; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/452, 23 August 2007, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00147567-00147568. SUOS Thy was presented with Duch’s prior statements, which suggested that Hor was responsible for smashing prisoners. SUOS Thy confirmed that this was correct, but to his knowledge, Hor acted on the

were taken out and executed.<sup>8486</sup> While the Chamber cannot rely on PRAK Khorn's evidence to reach a general conclusion in this regard, his testimony is consistent with the evidence discussed regarding the execution of all prisoners at S-21.

2504. As discussed earlier, the evidence shows that everyone sent to S-21 had to be "smashed" with rare exceptions, including those selected to work at the detention centre. For example, NUON Chea ordered that a dentist named DY Phon, who was arrested along with his wife on 10 December 1978, be "released" to work as a medic at S-21.<sup>8487</sup>

2505. The number of prisoners to be taken out to be killed varied depending on how many prisoners had been interrogated.<sup>8488</sup> Guards were instructed not to tell the prisoners that they were being taken to be killed and to instead tell them that they were being relocated to a new house.<sup>8489</sup> During the phase in October 1977 when 1,000 or more prisoners were detained at S-21, some prisoners were subjected to long interrogations, some were interrogated for shorter periods while others were not interrogated at all.<sup>8490</sup> During this period, the majority of prisoners at S-21 were sent to Choeng Ek to be executed without interrogation.<sup>8491</sup> Duch sent the less important prisoners for execution after receiving instructions to do so from SON Sen, while he was still Duch's direct supervisor.<sup>8492</sup>

2506. As discussed in the following section, while some executions were carried out at S-21 and its immediate surroundings, the majority of them were carried out at Choeng Ek.

---

orders he received from Duch. Given Duch's own testimony in this regard, the Chamber finds that prisoners were only taken out by Hor after having reported to, and sought the authorisation of, Duch.

<sup>8486</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 73, 92.

<sup>8487</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 75-77; T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 58-59; T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, p. 34; T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 24-25, 75-76; S-21 list of prisoners of social affairs, E3/2088, undated, ERN (En) 00244255. See above, paras 2163-2164, 2178, 2236, 2350, 2450-2452.

<sup>8488</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, p. 77.

<sup>8489</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 40, 44.

<sup>8490</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 6-7. See also, S-21 Orange Logbook, E3/10770, multiple dates, p. 260, ERN (En) 01460675 (entry dated 25 October 1977). For a more detailed discussion of peaks and troughs in S-21 prisoner arrest and execution numbers, see below, paras 2543, 2545-2552.

<sup>8491</sup> T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 7-8.

<sup>8492</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, p. 37.

12.2.21.1. Killings at S-21

2507. Before S-21 was relocated to the Ponhea Yat High School location and while it was still at the PJ, prisoners were killed and buried at an execution site in Takhmau.<sup>8493</sup> The bones of those killed at Takhmau were burned before the location was handed over to the Ministry of Social Affairs.<sup>8494</sup> Prisoners were not killed or buried on site at the PJ location.<sup>8495</sup>

2508. Once Duch was appointed as the head of S-21, he designated the places where the prisoners were to be killed and buried, and Hor assigned guards to take prisoners to be killed. Peng's group of guards was responsible for killing the prisoners and digging the pits to bury the bodies.<sup>8496</sup> A strong guard known as Chan was assigned to "smash" prisoners within the S-21 premises, and he killed them by beating the back of their necks with a club, after which their bodies were thrown into pits.<sup>8497</sup> SON Sen ordered Duch to watch the killing of two important prisoners in 1976, Chhouk and CHEY Suon, both of whom were stabbed to death in the neck.<sup>8498</sup>

2509. Prisoners were taken to an open space to the west of the S-21 compound to be killed and buried in pits.<sup>8499</sup> There was another execution and burial site approximately 100 metres to the south of the S-21 compound.<sup>8500</sup> Some detainees were executed and buried in the grounds of S-21 in graves which were dug behind Building D and next to the Special Prison.<sup>8501</sup> Executed detainees were also buried in graves in the alleys surrounding S-21.<sup>8502</sup> As discussed above, western prisoners were executed to the north

<sup>8493</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 10-13; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, pp. 8-10, ERN (En) 00342839-00342841. For discussion of Takhmau prison, see above, paras 2138, 2153.

<sup>8494</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, p. 11.

<sup>8495</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, p. 10, ERN (En) 00342841.

<sup>8496</sup> T. 3 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/426.1, pp. 86-87.

<sup>8497</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 22-23.

<sup>8498</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, p. 9, ERN (En) 00342840; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5790, 3 December 2009, p. 9, ERN (En) 00414346.

<sup>8499</sup> T. 3 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/426.1, p. 86. See also, T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 10-11; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, pp. 8-9, ERN (En) 00342839-00342840.

<sup>8500</sup> T. 3 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/426.1, p. 90.

<sup>8501</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 30, 48, 89-90, ERN (En) 00346488, 00346506, 00346547-00346548 (testifying that he saw guards carry three dead bodies on a corrugated zinc plate and bury them in a pit under a big tree); Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 00198006-00198007.

<sup>8502</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, pp. 22-25 (testifying that he saw bloodstains in the vicinity of these gravesites and that there was a smell. He also testified that bodies were buried in the alleys near the fire station which ran to the SAING Sarun theatre).

of the S-21 compound and their bodies were burned.<sup>8503</sup> When Duch reported that a prisoner was “smashed”, sometimes he would receive an instruction from the upper echelon, including from NUON Chea, to have the body exhumed and a photograph taken.<sup>8504</sup>

2510. Children were killed and buried behind the prison.<sup>8505</sup> When children were taken away to be killed, the mothers were told that the children were being sent to a children’s centre.<sup>8506</sup> Children at S-21 were handled by Peng and Sry.<sup>8507</sup> Hor instructed Peng to take children away two or three days after their arrival at S-21.<sup>8508</sup> Children were usually taken out and killed before the removal of their parents from S-21.<sup>8509</sup> The older children were blindfolded, handcuffed and given to Peng to be killed.<sup>8510</sup> Babies were

<sup>8503</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 92-93. See also, T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khom), E1/424.1, pp. 20-21 (testifying that he was told by a security guard at S-21 that the American and Australian prisoners were put in the middle of a road, had tires placed on them and were burned with gasoline); T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 27 (testifying that the western prisoners had been first executed and then their bodies burned to destroy any evidence); T. 9 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/435.1, pp. 82-83.

<sup>8504</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 21-22, 26-27; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/455, 3 October 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00149910 (stating that NUON Chea gave this order to SON Sen who passed on that order to him). See e.g., S-21 photographs, E3/8063.6, ERN P00005342; E3/8063.9, ERN P00005355; E3/8063.15, ERN P00005284; E3/8063.16, ERN P00005340; E3/8063.20, ERN P00005287; E3/8063.27, ERN P00005352; E3/8063.28, ERN P00005341; E3/8063.29, ERN P00005251; E3/8063.30, ERN P00005357; E3/8063.32, ERN P00005278; E3/8063.33, ERN P00005351; E3/8063.37, ERN P00005353; E3/8063.44, ERN P00005261; E3/8063.45, ERN P00005257; E3/8063.46, ERN P00005348; E3/8063.47, ERN P00005349; E3/8063.48, ERN P00005347; E3/8063.49, ERN P00005346; E3/8063.109, ERN P00005285.

<sup>8505</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 15-17, 20-21 (testifying that children were killed in this way because there was fear that the secret of their killing would be leaked if they were transported with their parents for execution); T. 5 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/428.1, pp. 45-50; Case 001 Transcript (HIM Huy), E3/7461, 16 July 2009, p. 69, ERN (En) 00353949; HIM Huy Interview Record, E3/5154, 18 September 2007, p. 9, ERN (En) 00161603; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, pp. 8, 14, 42, ERN (En) 00342839, 00342845, 00342873.

<sup>8506</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 18-20. See also, Documentary: Pol Pot: The Journey to the Killing Fields, E3/2357R, undated, ERN V00172603, 00:40:48-00:41:15 (which shows HIM Huy’s interview answers regarding this issue).

<sup>8507</sup> Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 7, ERN (En) 00198004.

<sup>8508</sup> Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 00198006-00198007. See also, T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, pp. 96-97 (testifying that for babies and toddlers, Hor instructed the guards whether or not to bring them out). The Co-Prosecutors submit that, given that S-21 children were not normally registered, the surviving records did not accurately reflect the number of children who were taken to and executed at S-21. See T. 15 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/522.1, p. 67. The Chamber has taken this into account, and when estimating the number of individuals killed at S-21 including children has noted that these figures are minimum calculations based on necessarily incomplete documentation.

<sup>8509</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, pp. 96-97; Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7466, 28 July 2009, pp. 18-19, ERN (En) 00356804-00356805.

<sup>8510</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 20-22; BBC Cambodia Report, E3/536R, 2 June 2008, ERN V00172527, 00:27:38-00:28:15. The Chamber does not rely on HIM Huy’s assumption that children were killed in the same way as adults. The Chamber notes that during his testimony in Case 001, HIM Huy was more equivocal and testified that he did not have any idea about the detention and execution of children and he thought Peng carried out this operation. See Case 001 Transcript (HIM carried away by the guards in their arms before being killed.<sup>8511</sup> With the exception of three children who survived following the closure of S-21, all other children who had previously entered S-21 were “smashed”.<sup>8512</sup>

2511. Even after Choeung Ek was established as a killing site some time in 1977, some prisoners including former S-21 staff members and important high-ranking detainees were still killed in the vicinity of the S-21 compound.<sup>8513</sup> Furthermore, prisoners who died inside the prison were also buried in the surroundings of S-21.<sup>8514</sup>

2512. The NUON Chea Defence contends that apart from the evidence of Duch, the only evidence of executions of children is the hearsay evidence of HIM Huy, and that no remains of children were found in the vicinity of S-21.<sup>8515</sup> The Chamber considers that while HIM Huy’s evidence is indeed hearsay, the Chamber is satisfied that his testimony on this issue is clear, consistent and credible. The Chamber considers that HIM Huy’s testimony corroborates Duch’s evidence that children who were detained at S-21 were killed, and further that the Party’s policy was to kill the children of those considered to be enemies. HIM Huy’s evidence is also consistent with S-21 lists that record the entry and execution of children at S-21.<sup>8516</sup> When considered in light of the reliable documentary evidence discussed below and Duch’s testimony that children were detained at S-21, the Chamber finds that children at S-21 were indeed killed in the vicinity of S-21.

---

Huy), E3/7461, 16 July 2009, p. 59, ERN (En) 00353939. However, the Chamber is satisfied that while he did not personally witness the executions and know the details, his evidence is consistent that children were taken out and executed.

<sup>8511</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 23-25 (testifying that the children were aged between one month and eight years); BBC Cambodia Report, E3/536R, 2 June 2008, ERN V00172527, 00:28:45-00:29:15.

<sup>8512</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 37-38, 74-75 (testifying that there were no orphanages so when the parents were “smashed” the children were also “smashed”).

<sup>8513</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 32; T. 5 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/428.1, pp. 60-63 (testifying that he heard Hor and Peng talking about this and that important prisoners had to be killed behind the prison because Angkar did not trust the people who transported prisoners); HIM Huy Interview Record, E3/5155, 19 September 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00161592; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, p. 15, ERN (En) 00342846 (testifying that important detainees were killed somewhere near Mao Tse Tung Boulevard and that their photographs were taken and their throats were slit to prove that they had died). See also, T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 25.

<sup>8514</sup> T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 25.

<sup>8515</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 571.

<sup>8516</sup> See below, para. 2543. See above, paras 2329-2332.

12.2.21.2. *Killings at Choeng Ek*12.2.21.2.1. Location and establishment

2513. Choeng Ek was located in fields in an area under the supervision of Division 703.<sup>8517</sup> It was located approximately 15 kilometres south-west of Phnom Penh in Kandal province (present-day Phnom Penh municipality).<sup>8518</sup> The Choeng Ek facility was surrounded by three layers of barbed wire fencing.<sup>8519</sup> From some time in 1977, prisoners were sent Choeng Ek for execution.<sup>8520</sup> Evidence indicates that prisoners from Prey Sar were also sent to Choeng Ek to be killed.<sup>8521</sup>

2514. Choeng Ek was established for the execution of S-21 prisoners following a discussion between Duch and Hor, whereupon they decided that killings had to be conducted at Choeng Ek because information may have leaked internationally about the killings at S-21.<sup>8522</sup> In addition, there was discussion about the need to move the killing site to Choeng Ek due to the risk of epidemics given the large number of corpses buried at the S-21 location.<sup>8523</sup> Duch requested “whitewash powder” from NUON Chea to spray on the dead bodies to avoid the spread of infection.<sup>8524</sup>

12.2.21.2.2. Transportation and recording of prisoners

2515. When detainees were sent to Choeng Ek, trucks parked in front of the gate to S-21 and SUOS Thy was given a list of detainees who had already been interrogated and were to be sent away.<sup>8525</sup> SUOS Thy confirmed his routine for compiling execution lists. First, Duch annotated lists with the word “smash”, which meant that he ordered the killings of all detainees mentioned in the lists; second, the lists went to Hor, who

<sup>8517</sup> HIM Huy Interview, E3/10767, 9 August 2014, p. 3, ERN (En) 01336767 (stating that Division 703 was under the responsibility of Nat, Kim and Pang).

<sup>8518</sup> Case 001 Transcript (Agreed Facts), E3/9416, 1 April 2009, p. 61, ERN (En) 00302089.

<sup>8519</sup> HIM Huy Interview, E3/10767, 9 August 2014, p. 3, ERN (En) 01336767.

<sup>8520</sup> T. 3 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/426.1, pp. 91-92 (testifying that he could not recall when in 1977 the killings were moved to Choeng Ek); T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 25. Contrary to the Co-Prosecutors’ submission (see Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, para. 720), the evidence does not allow the Chamber to establish that the site began to be used in early 1977.

<sup>8521</sup> See above, para. 2337.

<sup>8522</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 33; HIM Huy Interview, E3/10767, 9 August 2014, p. 3, ERN (En) 01336767.

<sup>8523</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, p. 29, ERN (En) 00342860; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5766, 28 February 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00165437; T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 34.

<sup>8524</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, p. 11.

<sup>8525</sup> Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006.

finally gave them to SUOS Thy. SUOS Thy then made a separate execution list, tallied the numbers and noted the prisoners' cells and buildings. The detainees were gathered from their cells and checked carefully before being put on a truck and taken away.<sup>8526</sup> HIM Huy was in charge of receiving detainees after their interrogations and for sending them away for execution. HIM Huy gathered the prisoners with the help of Peng.<sup>8527</sup> Ultimately, SUOS Thy checked the names of the prisoners being loaded onto the trucks at the front gate against the names on his list.<sup>8528</sup>

2516. When HIM Huy transported prisoners out of S-21, he was provided a list of prisoners, which he would check to ensure the number of prisoners was accurate.<sup>8529</sup> Detainees were taken from S-21 by truck to be killed at Choeng Ek.<sup>8530</sup> HIM Huy was ordered by Hor to prepare vehicles to bring prisoners from S-21 to Choeng Ek, after which the prisoners were handed over to Peng's team.<sup>8531</sup> Hor informed HIM Huy about the specific number of prisoners who had already been interrogated and the number of vehicles needed to be prepared for them to be taken to Choeng Ek.<sup>8532</sup> Each vehicle could carry between 30 to 40 prisoners and there were occasions when two vehicles drove to Choeng Ek twice on the same day in order to transport the prisoners.<sup>8533</sup> Peng, Phal, HIM Huy and sometimes Hor took turns transporting prisoners to Choeng Ek depending on Hor's instructions.<sup>8534</sup>

<sup>8526</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, pp. 75-77; T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 16-17, 23, 70-71, 74 (testifying that he only received the list of prisoners to be taken out from Hor); Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006; Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7466, 28 July 2009, pp. 21, 74, ERN (En) 00356807, 00356860. See also, SUOS Thy Interview Record, E3/7643, 18 October 2007, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 00162616-00162617. After the prisoners were taken to the execution site, a list would be provided to Hor by the "100-men unit" and SUOS Thy would then make daily reports on those who had been killed, even though he did not personally know whether the people who had been taken out were actually executed. See T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 17-18; Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7465, 27 July 2009, p. 94, ERN (En) 00356684.

<sup>8527</sup> Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006.

<sup>8528</sup> Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7466, 28 July 2009, pp. 21, 74, ERN (En) 00356807, 00356860.

<sup>8529</sup> Case 001 Transcript (HIM Huy), E3/7461, 16 July 2009, pp. 62-65, ERN (En) 00353942-00353945; T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 21.

<sup>8530</sup> Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 45-47, 79, ERN (En) 00346503-00346505, 00346537 (testifying that he was told this by another detainee when a truck arrived at around 11 p.m.).

<sup>8531</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 35-36.

<sup>8532</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 36.

<sup>8533</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 38-39 (testifying that he did not know about groups of multiple hundreds of prisoners being transported to Choeng Ek, but that others including Phal, Peng and Hor also went to this site). See also, T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, pp. 68-69 (testifying that the prisoners taken out of S-21 by truck never returned).

<sup>8534</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 39.

2517. SUOS Thy was responsible for ensuring that there were no discrepancies regarding the numbers of detainees and kept daily lists with the number of prisoners who entered, the number who were removed to be killed and the number of prisoners who had died in their cells including those who had died of severe illness, mistreatment or lack of food.<sup>8535</sup> On the daily prisoner lists, the words “to be removed” meant that the prisoners were to be “smashed”, and later the headings on the columns were changed from “released” to “died from illness” and the column “died from illness” was changed to “smashed”.<sup>8536</sup> Sometimes the word “released” was used on execution lists to conceal the fate of those whose execution was meant to remain secret, and in reality these people were also taken away and executed.<sup>8537</sup>

2518. After prisoners were taken for execution to Choeng Ek, HIM Huy made a list of the number of prisoners who were loaded off the vehicles at Choeng Ek and showed this to SUOS Thy, who in turn compared this with his own lists of the prisoners taken out of S-21 to ensure that the numbers were consistent.<sup>8538</sup> These daily lists were given to Hor for signature before being passed to Meng.<sup>8539</sup> Detainees were brought in or taken out almost on daily basis.<sup>8540</sup> SUOS Thy clarified that the names of important

<sup>8535</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, pp. 38, 97-98; T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 9-10, 74-75; SUOS Thy Interview Record, E3/7643, 18 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00162612; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00198006; T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 68-70 (confirming that the lists shown to him bore the handwriting of Hor and corresponded to the daily prisoner lists prepared at S-21). See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners entering on 6 January 1978, E3/2020, 6 January 1978, ERN (En) 00184808-00184809; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 11 July 1978, E3/2242, 11 July 1978, ERN (En) 00885207; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/3181, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00784611-00784615 (noting prisoners who died of disease, and who had committed suicide); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2164, 26 October 1977, pp. 2-4, ERN (En) 00181693-00181695; T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, pp. 72-74 (testifying that E3/2164 contained the totals of the number of prisoners but it was different from the list which on the incoming and outgoing prisoners). See also, T. 27 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/423.1, p. 62; T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/421.1, p. 75.

<sup>8536</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 70-72. Duch testified to this effect after having been referred to a number of S-21 daily control lists of prisoners (E3/9955 to E3/9967) and he testified that he recognised the handwriting of Hor.

<sup>8537</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 81-82. See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners who were smashed on 30.6.77, E3/2285, 1 July 1977, p. 73, ERN (En) 01564833. See above, paras 2346-2347, 2351.

<sup>8538</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 41-42; Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7465, 27 July 2009, pp. 94, 97, ERN (En) 00356684, 00356687 (testifying that he would insert the date, the names and the prisoners' positions on the execution list for those prisoners who had already been smashed).

<sup>8539</sup> SUOS Thy Interview Record, E3/7643, 18 October 2007, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00162612-00162613.

<sup>8540</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, pp. 70-71. SUOS Thy was shown a document which purported to be a list of prisoners executed from 1 November to 15 November 1976, but was unable to comment because this was not the kind of list which he prepared. He testified that it could have been drawn up by another unit: S-21 list of prisoners executed from 1 November 1976 to 15 November 1976, E3/3187, undated, ERN (En) 00874401-00874411. T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, pp. 65-71.

prisoners were reported directly to Duch, and SUOS Thy himself did not usually have all those names.<sup>8541</sup>

12.2.21.2.3. Mass graves

2519. TAY Teng was the chief of the group of guards who were assigned to guard the prisoners who were transported to Choeng Ek for execution and to dig pits.<sup>8542</sup> TAY Teng testified that his group was involved in digging 20 to 30 pits, but his recollection on this matter was not clear.<sup>8543</sup> This group received instructions from HIM Huy who visited Choeng Ek to inspect the location and also accompanied some prisoners who were transported there from S-21.<sup>8544</sup>

2520. HIM Huy instructed the guards to dig pits which were approximately three metres long, two metres wide and two metres deep, and which could fit between 10 to 30 bodies.<sup>8545</sup> There was a stench of rotting bodies at Choeng Ek because some of the

<sup>8541</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, p. 90.

<sup>8542</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, pp. 89-91, 111-112 (testifying his duties also included performing executions and burying bodies. TAY Teng stated that his group consisted of between six to eight guards and that since people were “executed very easily” at Choeng Ek he could not disobey the orders with respect to tasks he had to perform, and was worried that he could also be executed); T. 25 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/421.1, pp. 40-43 (testifying that Chhuon was a member of his group, which consisted of seven or eight men and refuting Duch’s suggestion during the crime scene re-enactment that there was a company of 100 people in charge of Choeng Ek); TAY Teng Interview Record, E3/7617, 19 February 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00401879; T. 3 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/426.1, p. 92; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5764, 26 February 2008, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00197996-00197997. TAY Teng could not accurately estimate the number of people executed at Choeng Ek. He initially estimated that the number could have been 1,000, but when confronted with a figure in excess of 8,000, he was unable to estimate the specific numbers which would include those killed before he arrived at the site. See T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, pp. 112-114.

<sup>8543</sup> T. 25 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/421.1, pp. 48-51, 56-57 (testifying that on his arrival at Choeng Ek there were already two or three older Chinese graves); TAY Teng Interview Record, E3/7617, 19 February 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00401879 (stating that there were approximately 20 to 30 pits at Choeng Ek but that he did not remember clearly). The Chamber finds that while TAY Teng had difficulties in remembering the detail of certain matters, his recollection on key issues was consistent and can be relied on.

<sup>8544</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, p. 90; T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 37. HIM Huy testified that was removed from his position at S-21 by Duch and assigned to work in the rice fields south of Choeng Ek in mid-1978, after he had been implicated in a confession for planning a rebellion at S-21 by NOP Nuon. The Chamber however notes that NOP Nuon was arrested on 6 July 1977 and smashed on 27 August 1977. It is implausible that Duch did not react to and punish HIM Huy’s implication in a rebellion until one year later. The Chamber finds that HIM Huy was embellishing this detail regarding his planned “rebellion” in an effort to minimise his responsibility at S-21, as seen with his testimony regarding his role in killing prisoners. In light of the above, the Chamber approaches HIM Huy’s evidence on this issue with caution. See T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 78-79; T. 5 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/428.1, pp. 7-8, 99-100; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in July 1977, E3/9954, 5 August 1977, p. 44, ERN (En) 01563500; S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 27 August 1977, E3/2285, 27 August 1977, p. 247, ERN (En) 01565007.

<sup>8545</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, pp. 98-100 (testifying that he did not know exactly how many bodies were in each pit but he estimated that a pit could fit between 10 to 20 bodies); T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 38 (testifying that a grave could fit 50 to 70 bodies); HIM Huy Interview pits were not fully covered with dirt.<sup>8546</sup> Prior to the arrival of prisoners for execution, HIM Huy told the guards how many pits had to be dug.<sup>8547</sup> The burial of bodies in this manner without a funeral was against the Cambodian traditional practices and customs.<sup>8548</sup>

2521. HIM Huy arrived at Choeng Ek in the same vehicle as Hor.<sup>8549</sup> HIM Huy instructed TAY Teng that he had to be vigilant and take an “absolute stance” in their tasks, which meant that they had to be focused on their duty.<sup>8550</sup>

12.2.21.2.4. Arrival of prisoners

2522. Prisoners were brought to Choeng Ek in the evening by truck and ordered to get off the vehicle and enter a wooden house where there were cells or small rooms.<sup>8551</sup> One and sometimes two trucks usually arrived at Choeng Ek at night.<sup>8552</sup> The prisoners brought to Choeng Ek were blindfolded, had their hands cuffed and were accompanied by two or three guards and HIM Huy.<sup>8553</sup> When there was a large number of prisoners being transported, the prisoners were shackled to prevent them from escaping.<sup>8554</sup> Prisoners, including children, were brought to Choeng Ek directly from Prey Sar to be killed as well.<sup>8555</sup> While Prey Sar is not a crime site within the scope of Case 002/02, the execution of prisoners from Prey Sar, by virtue of the fact that the killings occurred at Choeng Ek, falls within the ambit of the Case 002/02 charges.<sup>8556</sup>

---

Record, E3/5155, 19 September 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00161592 (stating that there were about 30 bodies in each pit). See also, Case 001 Transcript (CHHUN Phal), E3/7470, 10 August 2009, pp. 35-39, ERN (En) 00361878-00361882.

<sup>8546</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, p. 98.

<sup>8547</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, pp. 99-101 (testifying that sometimes HIM Huy would inform them in person or send a messenger).

<sup>8548</sup> T. 13 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/436.1, p. 38.

<sup>8549</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 47-48 (testifying that Hor would accompany each batch of prisoners brought to Choeng Ek and that Duch only visited the site on about three occasions).

<sup>8550</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, p. 92.

<sup>8551</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, pp. 100-101; T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 40, 42.

<sup>8552</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, pp. 101-102. See also, HIM Huy Interview, E3/10767, 9 August 2014, p. 2, ERN (En) 01336766.

<sup>8553</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, pp. 102-103; T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 40, 42-43 (testifying that there were two guards in the back with the prisoners, one driver and another guard in the cabin); HIM Huy Interview, E3/10767, 9 August 2014, p. 2, ERN (En) 01336766.

<sup>8554</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 40.

<sup>8555</sup> See above, para. 2337. See below, para. 2530.

<sup>8556</sup> See above, para. 2336.

2523. All prisoners were taken out of the house one at a time to the execution site and killed, usually on the same night on which they arrived.<sup>8557</sup> HIM Huy took note of the name of each prisoner as they were taken out for execution.<sup>8558</sup>

12.2.21.2.5. Execution of prisoners

2524. Hor was responsible for the overall organisation and supervision of how each prisoner had to be taken out and executed, and HIM Huy oversaw the transportation of prisoners to Choeung Ek and recorded their names with SUOS Thy.<sup>8559</sup> The execution sites were approximately between 20 to 100 metres away from the house where the prisoners were held and prisoners cried for mercy when they realised they were going to be killed.<sup>8560</sup>

2525. Prisoners were told to sit at the rim of the pit and were then hit from the back.<sup>8561</sup> Prisoners were executed by a blow to the neck with an iron bar, after which their throats were slit with a knife and their bodies buried in freshly dug graves.<sup>8562</sup> The shackles or cuffs were removed and the prisoners were typically disembowelled and thrown into the pit.<sup>8563</sup> The bodies were disembowelled to prevent them from swelling and to reduce the stench, so that people would not find out about the killings.<sup>8564</sup> Given the large number of detainees brought on any given night, the killing process could take several hours.<sup>8565</sup>

2526. Guards were taught how to kill the prisoners by Duch and Hor.<sup>8566</sup> Prisoners who were wearing new clothes were stripped on the instructions of Hor.<sup>8567</sup> After

<sup>8557</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, pp. 104-106; T. 25 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/421.1, p. 9; T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 43-44.

<sup>8558</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 43.

<sup>8559</sup> T. 3 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/426.1, p. 94; T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 44, 48. See above, paras 2515-2516.

<sup>8560</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, p. 105; T. 25 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/421.1, pp. 9-10; T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 45.

<sup>8561</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, p. 106; T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 43.

<sup>8562</sup> T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, pp. 106-109; T. 25 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/421.1, pp. 9, 34-38 (confirming that the crime scene re-enactment at Choeung Ek corresponded to the location where he lived and worked and the place where people were executed); T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 22, 45-47; TAY Teng Interview Record, E3/7617, 19 February 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00401877; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 8, ERN (En) 00198005; BBC Cambodia Report, E3/536R, 2 June 2008, ERN V00172527, 00:25:00-00:26:00.

<sup>8563</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 46-47; T. 21 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/420.1, p. 107.

<sup>8564</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 76.

<sup>8565</sup> Case 001 Transcript (HIM Huy), E3/7461, 16 July 2009, p. 67, ERN (En) 00353947.

<sup>8566</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, pp. 46-47.

<sup>8567</sup> T. 4 May 2016 (HIM Huy), E1/427.1, p. 46.

prisoners were killed at Choeng Ek, their clothes were brought back to the workshop at S-21.<sup>8568</sup>

2527. When SUOS Thy was shown a document which purported that 582 prisoners from the East Zone, including 25 people with Vietnamese names, were “smashed” on 27 May 1978, SUOS Thy testified that it would not be possible for this number of people to be “smashed” on one day and that it was a consolidated list of prisoners.<sup>8569</sup> However, the Chamber observes that these executions took place at the apex of the East Zone purges. When Duch was confronted with the same list, he testified that he received instructions from the upper echelon that “a maximum amount of prisoners had to be withdrawn or removed to reserve space for newcomers. So, prisoners were sent to Choeng Ek in large numbers at that time”. He clarified that it was NUON Chea who ordered him “to remove prisoners to the maximum”, and that prisoners from the East Zone were brought in on trucks, were placed into cells and were sent out for execution the very same day without interrogation. He added “there were about 200 or 300 of them”.<sup>8570</sup>

2528. While Duch testified that he did not contest that more than 12,000 people died at S-21, this was based on the list prepared by the Co-Prosecutors.<sup>8571</sup> The Chamber has conducted its own analysis and assessment of these lists and underlying documents. This is addressed in more detail below.<sup>8572</sup>

2529. The NUON Chea Defence contests Duch’s testimony that children were sent to Choeng Ek to be killed and notes that those involved in the operations at Choeng Ek denied seeing children at the location.<sup>8573</sup> The NUON Chea Defence concludes that there is sufficient doubt about some of the evidence relied on by the Co-Prosecutors to establish that children were also taken to Choeng Ek to be killed.<sup>8574</sup> One such

<sup>8568</sup> Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, p. 47, ERN (En) 00346505.

<sup>8569</sup> T. 2 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/430.1, pp. 77-81; S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 27 May 1978, E3/8463, 29 May 1978, ERN (En) 01032508-01032536.

<sup>8570</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 41-44. The Chamber further notes that the S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 27 May 1978, E3/8463, is actually dated 29 May 1978. Entries 526 through 556 on this list correspond to prisoners recorded as arriving on 28 May 1978, suggesting that these executions had carried over until the next day. See also, Section 12.1.6.3.4: Internal Factions: Purge of the East Zone.

<sup>8571</sup> T. 20 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/51.1, pp. 20-21.

<sup>8572</sup> See below, Section 12.2.22: Prisoner List Data and Analysis.

<sup>8573</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 571 referring to KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5766, 28 February 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00165438.

<sup>8574</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 572.

contested piece of evidence is a prisoner list from July 1977 of persons at Prey Sar who were to be eliminated, containing an annotation stating, in its previous translation, that 160 children were smashed by “Brother HUY Sre”.<sup>8575</sup> While Duch testified that this list indicated that on this day, 18 adults and 160 children were “smashed”, the Chamber notes that Duch was simply interpreting the list of prisoners and had no personal recollection of this incident and thus does not rely on Duch’s testimony in this regard.<sup>8576</sup> Additionally, the NUON Chea Defence contested the translation of this document.<sup>8577</sup> While the original document indicated that these children had been smashed, a revised translation was issued, and the annotation simply reads: “Total number of persons in the rice-production section: 178, including 160 children”.<sup>8578</sup> In light of the ambiguity in translation and Duch’s lack of first-hand knowledge regarding this document, the Chamber finds that it is not sufficient to support a finding that the 160 children mentioned therein were killed at Choeng Ek.

2530. TAY Teng testified that he never heard the sounds or the cries of children at S-21 and that he never saw children at Choeng Ek.<sup>8579</sup> However, many S-21 lists support the fact that children were killed at Choeng Ek.<sup>8580</sup> The Case File also contains S-21 lists indicating that children were transferred from Prey Sar to Choeng Ek for execution.<sup>8581</sup> Both the S-21 documentary evidence and the bone study conducted by

<sup>8575</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 572; S-21 list of prisoners under Brother HUY Sre’s authority to be eliminated, E3/2133, 23 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00242285.

<sup>8576</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 81-82, 84-85; T. 23 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/443.1, pp. 114-115; T. 27 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/444.1, pp. 4-5.

<sup>8577</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 572.

<sup>8578</sup> S-21 list of prisoners under Brother HUY Sre’s authority to be eliminated, E3/2133, 23 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00242285.

<sup>8579</sup> T. 25 April 2016 (TAY Teng), E1/421.1, pp. 7, 55-56; TAY Teng Interview Record, E3/7617, 19 February 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00401878.

<sup>8580</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners smashed, E3/2285, 7 June 1977, p. 98, ERN (En) 01564858 (naming UONG Ngech Eng, age 15); S-21 list of prisoners who were smashed on 31.10.77 Northwest section, E3/2285, undated, pp. 66-67, ERN (En) 01564826-01564827 (listing HAT Seng, age 15, “Art performance child” and RIEN Chet, age 15 “Medical child”); S-21 list of prisoners withdrawn on 29.8.77, E3/2285, 30 August 1977, pp. 101-103, ERN (En) 01564861-01564863 (listing BAU Li, age 14; AUN Voeun, age 14; and SREU Pheap, age 7); S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 23 November, 1977, E3/2285, 24 November 1977, pp. 209-210, ERN (En) 01564969-01564970 (listing PENG Ren, age 15 and LAN Pum, age 15); S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 12 May, 1977, E3/2285, 13 May 1977, p. 281, ERN (En) 01565041 (listing CHOM Phal, “A child”).

<sup>8581</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of smashed prisoners for Bong HUY Sre, E3/2285, 9 July 1977, pp. 328-329, ERN (En) 01565088-01565089 (listing 18 “Female youth(s)” as smashed); S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 2 July, 1977, the Section of HUY Srae, E3/2285, 3 July 1977, pp. 429-435, ERN (En) 01565189-01565195; S-21 list of prisoners from S-21D, E3/8460, 10 February 1978, ERN (En) 00843447 (listing CHEA Mao, age 14); S-21 list of prisoners of Bong HUY Srae’s Section: Smashed on 3 August 1977, E3/2285, 4 August 1977, pp. 405-407, ERN (En) 01565165-01565167 (listing 20 prisoners labelled as “child”); S-21 list of prisoners executed on 2 July 1977, Bang Huy Sre’s Section, E3/8458, 3 July 1977, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 00828299-00828300.

VOEUN Vuthy, as discussed in more detail below, support the conclusion that children were taken to and executed at Choeung Ek.<sup>8582</sup> Thus, the NUON Chea Defence submission to the contrary is rejected.

2531. The NUON Chea Defence submits that the number of detainees who entered S-21 “likely lies around 6,000 and there is no evidence to prove beyond reasonable doubt that all those people were killed”.<sup>8583</sup> As outlined below, the Chamber finds that, based on its analysis of the verified information contained in the contemporaneous S-21 lists on the Case File, these lists allow the identification of a minimum of 10,887 prisoners who were arrested and detained at S-21 during its operation, and the identification of at least 11,742 prisoners who were executed in the vicinity of S-21 or at Choeung Ek after their registration at S-21.<sup>8584</sup> The evidence presents an incontrovertible picture that, contrary to the NUON Chea Defence’s assertion, S-21 was by no means a simple detention facility where most registered prisoners were sent to re-education sites and not killed. On the contrary, the evidence demonstrates that S-21 was a structure where perceived “enemies” of the DK regime were detained, tortured and ultimately executed without any trial or legal process, and that all these killings formed part of the same killing operation. In reaching this conclusion, the Chamber has had regard to the live evidence of guards, those involved in executions, survivors and S-21 staff who kept records of those who were arrested, detained, interrogated and subsequently executed in the vicinity of S-21 or Choeung Ek. The evidence analysed above establishes that prisoners who entered S-21 including men, women and children were labelled as “enemies”, were almost never released and were removed from the facility in order to be killed. The NUON Chea Defence’s submissions are accordingly rejected.

12.2.21.2.6. Analysis of VOEUN Vuthy’s evidence

2532. VOEUN Vuthy testified in Case 002/02 as an expert in osteology, which is a branch of anatomy dealing with structure and function of bones. He testified about the bone analysis he conducted on remains from Choeung Ek and Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre.<sup>8585</sup> VOEUN Vuthy and his team also conducted investigative exhumations of

<sup>8582</sup> See above, para. 2337. See below, paras 2535, 2543.

<sup>8583</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 451.

<sup>8584</sup> See below, para. 2541.

<sup>8585</sup> Decision on Designation of 2-TCE-1062, E404/8, 4 November 2016, paras 9, 12; T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, pp. 48-49.

human remains at other locations. He and his team produced a 32-volume Choeung Ek study with their results regarding the bones found, including total numbers, ages, genders, dates and causes of death, portions of which were admitted as evidence by the Chamber.<sup>8586</sup>

2533. VOEUN Vuthy's study evaluated the remains of 6,426 human crania at the Choeung Ek site.<sup>8587</sup> He used methods to identify the gender, age, cause of death and sometimes the type of weapon used.<sup>8588</sup> Due to budgetary constraints, VOEUN Vuthy and his team did not have the technological capacity to pinpoint the time of death. He testified that he and his crew used contextual factors to deduce windows of time within which the person died. For example, the team looked to both layers of soil and signs of trauma to infer that the remains came from victims of the DK regime. Similarly, VOEUN Vuthy asserts that based on the unique composition of dirt found on the crania, they could match bones to crime sites.<sup>8589</sup> When questioned on how the team knew that the bones at Choeung Ek were from victims of the DK regime as opposed to bodies from the Chinese burial ground located at the same site, VOEUN Vuthy testified that they looked to traces of trauma, type of mud on the remains and the circumstances surrounding the bones to determine this. He testified that unlike remains thought to be from the DK era, the Chinese bodies were buried in coffins, several of which they found during the project.<sup>8590</sup>

2534. At Choeung Ek, VOEUN Vuthy and his team examined 63,112 bones.<sup>8591</sup> Their methodology included a 12-step process of cleaning, photographing and registering the bones.<sup>8592</sup> VOEUN Vuthy draws conclusions about the types of weapons used on the victims. His conclusions are based on traces found on the bones, and interviews

---

<sup>8586</sup> Decision on the Admission into Evidence of the Choeung Ek Study Documents, E404/9, 4 November 2016, paras 9-11; T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, pp. 57-59. See also, Evaluation of the Choeung Ek Conservation of Victims at Killing Fields Project, E3/10643, 2015, ERN (En) 01235378-01235427; Cheung Ek Genocidal Center: the Inventory of the Skeletons of the Victims, Preface, E3/10645, undated, ERN (En) 01240557-01240559; Cheung Ek Genocidal Center: the Inventory of the Skeletons of the Victims, Volume 32, E3/10646, undated, ERN (En) 01240562-01240563; Choeung Ek Study identified in E404 notice, Volume 32, E3/10647, undated, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01538271-01538272; Choeung Ek Study identified in E404 Notice, Volumes 1-32, summary charts, un-paginated, E3/10648, undated, ERN (En) 01324883-01324913.

<sup>8587</sup> T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, p. 58.

<sup>8588</sup> T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, p. 53.

<sup>8589</sup> T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, pp. 62-63; T. 10 January 2017 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/518.1, pp. 13-14, 19-21.

<sup>8590</sup> T. 14 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/513.1, pp. 40-43, 89-91.

<sup>8591</sup> T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, p. 63.

<sup>8592</sup> T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, pp. 52-53.

conducted both with those on-site who may have witnessed the killings or the corpses at some stage and those who worked there, such as HIM Huy.<sup>8593</sup> VOEUN Vuthy and his team used microscopes to match particles from weapons used, such as bamboo sticks, with particles found on the skull. His study concludes that a variety of weapons were used to kill the victims at Choeung Ek, such as wood clubs, iron bars, knives, hoes, axes, bullets, bamboo stems and bayonets.<sup>8594</sup> VOEUN Vuthy later stated that his team could not find the actual tools used, and that they reproduced tools that matched the cracks and dents on the bones.<sup>8595</sup>

2535. VOEUN Vuthy and his team applied scientific, internationally standardised criteria to determine factors such as gender and age of the crania.<sup>8596</sup> He and his team found bones from individuals of the following ages:

- 1) 3-8 years old – 13 remains found;
- 2) 8-19 years old – 241 remains found;
- 3) 20-34 years old – 3,984 remains found;
- 4) 35-49 years old – 1,894 remains found;
- 5) 50-69 years old – 273 remains found; and
- 6) 70 years old and above – 18 remains.<sup>8597</sup>

2536. VOEUN Vuthy testified that, according to the Office of Propaganda and Culture of Phnom Penh, there were 8,985 crania stored at the Choeung Ek wooden stupa in 1983.<sup>8598</sup> However, the final number of crania that VOEUN Vuthy evaluated totalled only 6,426, and he and his team found 7,708 right humerus bones. The Chamber notes that VOEUN Vuthy conducted his research on-site 23 years after the creation of the stupa and after the official figure of 8,985 crania had been recorded. VOEUN Vuthy suggested that he and his team found less crania than the official figure because, over time, remains fell into the mass graves and/or were eaten by animals.<sup>8599</sup> Regardless of

<sup>8593</sup> T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, pp. 54-55, 58-59; T. 14 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/513.1, pp. 45-46.

<sup>8594</sup> T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, pp. 58-59, 65.

<sup>8595</sup> T. 14 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/513.1, pp. 60-61.

<sup>8596</sup> T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, pp. 62, 67-68.

<sup>8597</sup> T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, pp. 68-69.

<sup>8598</sup> T. 14 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/513.1, pp. 13, 16-18. See also, Evaluation of the Choeung Ek Conservation of Victims at Killing Fields Project, E3/10643, 2015, p. 17, ERN (En) 01235397 (noting that this total is quoted in other reports on Choeung Ek, such as HUGHES' report from 2006, and the reports of VENECIANO and HINTON from 2007).

<sup>8599</sup> T. 14 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/513.1, pp. 16-18. See also, Evaluation of the Choeung Ek Conservation of Victims at Killing Fields Project, E3/10643, 2015, pp. 18-19, ERN (En) 01235398-01235399.

what did or did not happen to the crania, the Chamber finds that only the number of bones actually found and studied can be taken into consideration. The team found marks of trauma on 28,083 of the 63,112 bones that they studied.<sup>8600</sup> Due to government restrictions and seasonal flooding, VOEUN Vuthy and his team investigated only 86 out of an estimated 129 pits at the site.<sup>8601</sup> Dr. Nancy BEAVAN, a New Zealand expert in radiocarbon dating and isotopic analyses specialising in bones,<sup>8602</sup> acted as an external consultant and evaluated the work that VOEUN Vuthy and his team did at Choeung Ek. Among other things, she determined that it “was a very successful program” based on its objectives. She determined in her evaluation that the methods used for data collection were “very professional”, and the monthly monitoring committee tasked with overseeing the project indicated a very high standard of quality control and monitoring. While she suggested ways to improve the database for easier access to information, Dr. BEAVAN’s evaluation of inventory lists and database information entry revealed no errors.<sup>8603</sup>

2537. The NUON Chea Defence opposed VOEUN Vuthy’s admission as an Expert in Case 002/02, and emphasised in its submissions that VOEUN Vuthy is not an expert in forensic pathology.<sup>8604</sup> As such, in its Closing Brief, the NUON Chea Defence submits that VOEUN Vuthy does not have the requisite expertise to draw conclusions on cause of death for legal purposes. Because VOEUN Vuthy often relied on interviews and investigative methods unrelated to osteology to draw conclusions in his study, the NUON Chea Defence submits that his testimony must be weighed cautiously. The NUON Chea Defence highlights VOEUN Vuthy’s testimony that he could not have reached certain conclusions about causes of death without the informal interviews that he and his team conducted. The NUON Chea Defence further draws attention to the fact that many conclusions made about weapons used were also partially based on interviews. The Defence additionally emphasises that VOEUN Vuthy and his team did not possess the requisite equipment and technology to determine the date of death, or

<sup>8600</sup> Exhausted [sic] List of Preserved Remains, E3/10766, undated, ERN (En) 01336759-01336760.

<sup>8601</sup> T. 14 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/513.1, pp. 70-71, 77; Cheung Ek Genocidal Center: The Inventory of the Skeletons of the Victims, Preface, E3/10645, 26 August 2016, ERN (En) 01240557.

<sup>8602</sup> Evaluation of the Choeung Ek Conservation of Victims at Killing Fields Project, E3/10643, 11-30 December 2015, p. 15, ERN (En) 01235395.

<sup>8603</sup> Evaluation of the Choeung Ek Conservation of Victims at Killing Fields Project, E3/10643, 11-30 December 2015, pp. 5, 8, 13, 25, ERN (En) 01235385, 01235388, 01235393, 01235405.

<sup>8604</sup> NUON Chea’s Submissions on the Possible Expert Status of VOEUN Vuthy [E404/5], E404/7, 1 September 2016, paras 18-20; NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 468.

when an injury was sustained.<sup>8605</sup> Finally, the NUON Chea Defence notes that while they contest the reliability of VOEUN Vuthy's study results, the total number of crania evaluated by the expert and his team, 6,246, supports the Defence's submission that under 7,000 prisoners were killed at S-21.<sup>8606</sup>

2538. At trial, the Co-Prosecutors supported admission of VOEUN Vuthy as an Expert,<sup>8607</sup> and in their Closing Brief submit that VOEUN Vuthy's evidence can be relied on to quantify the scale of killing that took place at Choeung Ek, and corroborate the testimony of S-21 cadres about the usual method of killings at the site.<sup>8608</sup>

2539. The Chamber agrees with ICTY case law that holds that any doubts cast with regard to an expert's report and research methodology are to be reflected in the weight the trial chamber accords to the expert's evidence. Statements falling outside the scope of the expert's field of knowledge are to be treated as personal opinions and weighed accordingly.<sup>8609</sup> This Chamber designated VOEUN Vuthy as an expert in osteology.<sup>8610</sup> As such, he is not qualified to render expert advice on subjects such as cause of death or the occurrence of torture, especially for legal purposes. Thus, the Chamber only relies on VOEUN Vuthy's conclusions that are a direct product of his expertise as an osteologist, and accords no weight to conclusions made outside the scope of his expertise or personal experience.

2540. In light of the above, the Chamber is satisfied with VOEUN Vuthy's submissions, based on his expertise in osteology, regarding the numbers and types of bones evaluated, ages and gender of crania, and the existence and number of traces on the bones indicating trauma.<sup>8611</sup> As VOEUN Vuthy's conclusions regarding weapons used, torture, and cause of death fall outside his expertise, the Chamber will not consider them.<sup>8612</sup> Given that the exhumation process was not completed, that some pits

<sup>8605</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 468, 472-473, 475.

<sup>8606</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 640, 645-646.

<sup>8607</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Submission Regarding Possible Expert Status of Voeun Vuthy, E404/6, 25 August 2016, paras 4-5.

<sup>8608</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, paras 725-727.

<sup>8609</sup> See Perišić, Decision on Admissibility of Expert Report of Patrick Treanor (TC I), para. 14; Milošević, Decision on Admission of Expert Report of Robert Donia (TC III), para. 11.

<sup>8610</sup> Decision on Designation of 2-TCE-1062, E404/8, 4 November 2016, p. 7.

<sup>8611</sup> T. 13 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/512.1, pp. 58, 63-64, 67-70; T. 14 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/513.1, pp. 106-107; Exhausted [sic] List of Preserved Remains, E3/10766, 14 December 2016, ERN (En) 01336759-01336760.

<sup>8612</sup> See e.g., Decision on Designation of 2-TCE-1062, E404/8, 4 November 2016, p. 7.

remain untouched, some bones may have disappeared since 1979 and further because of their deterioration for other reasons, the Chamber finds that the number of bones actually found and studied does not represent the totality of the victims executed at Choeng Ek. It finds however that the 7,708 right humerus bones is indicative of a minimum number of detainees executed at Choeng Ek – a number which is consistent with the available documentary evidence.

12.2.22. Prisoner List Data and Analysis

2541. According to the Closing Order, more than 12,273 detainees were killed at the Choeng Ek execution site, in or within the vicinity of the S-21 complex or died as a result of the conditions of detention.<sup>8613</sup>

2542. The Chamber now turns to its own analysis of the prisoner list data. Based only on the select categories of prisoner lists mentioned above, the Chamber finds that, at the very least, 10,887 prisoners were arrested and detained at S-21 during its operation<sup>8614</sup> and at least 11,742 prisoners were executed at or in the vicinity of S-21

<sup>8613</sup> Closing Order, paras 460-472, 1373, 1381, 1385.

<sup>8614</sup> S-21 Lists relied upon, in chronological order: S-21 list of prisoners who entered in January 1977, E3/10265, 1 February 1977, pp. 1-27, ERN (En) 01397917-01397943; S-21 list of prisoners arrived in February 1977, E3/9844, 2 March 1977, pp. 1-42, ERN (En) 01368608-01368649; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in March 1977, E3/9845, March 1977, pp. 1-119, ERN (En) 01331964-01332082; S-21 list of prisoners entering in May 1977, E3/2590, 3 June 1977, pp. 1-170, ERN (En) 01191256-01191425; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10074, 3 June 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462100-01462101; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9976, 10 June 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462011-01462012; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10006, 11 June 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462045-01462046; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9977, 14 June 1977, ERN (En) 01462013-01462014; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9978, 16 June 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462015-01462016; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9979, 17 June 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462017-01462018; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9980, 19 June 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462019-01462020; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9981, 20 June 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01562021-01462022; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9982, 27 June 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462023-01462024; S-21 list of prisoners entering on 28 June 1977, E3/9646, 29 June 1977, pp. 1-7, ERN (En) 01139858-01139863; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9984, 30 June 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01461809-01461810; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9985, 1 July 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01461811-01461812; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in July 1977, E3/9954, 5 August 1977, pp. 1-64, ERN (En) 01563457-01563520; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10274, multiple dates, pp. 1-78, ERN (En) 01366765-01366842; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in September 1977, E3/10275, multiple dates, pp. 1-58, ERN (En) 01368827-01368884; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/9953, 2 December 1977, pp. 1-38, ERN (En) 01367660-01367697; S-21 list of prisoners entering in October 1977, E3/9951, 2 November 1977, pp. 1-77, ERN (En) 01332083-01332159; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/9950, 7 January 1978, pp. 1-43, ERN (En) 01367563-01367605; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10505, multiple dates, pp. 1-70, ERN (En) 01398541-01398610; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10430, undated, pp. 1-67, ERN (En) 01366843-01366909; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10439, undated, pp. 1-39, ERN (En) 01398394-01398432; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8655, multiple dates, ERN (En) 01460840-01460884; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in April 1978, E3/10354, pp. 1-91, ERN (En) 01507542-01507632; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 3 May 1978, E3/10138, 3 May 1978, pp. 1-4, ERN (En) 01548730-01548733; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 2 May 1978, E3/10137, 2 May 1977, ERN (En) 01373835-01373841; S-21 list of prisoners who and Choeng Ek after their registration at S-21.<sup>8615</sup> The Chamber notes that this is a conservative minimum finding which does not account for all documentation created during S-21's operations. As part of its calculations, the Chamber has not relied on certain S-21 prisoner lists on the Case File due to, for example, lack of authentication, internal or external inconsistencies or lack of sufficient resemblance to other documents associated with S-21. Other documentation disappeared since the abandonment of S-21, was never included on the Case File or is inaccessible.<sup>8616</sup> The above analysis relating to total number of prisoner arrested and executed does include the information in periodical entry lists, interrogation lists or entry lists by origin, due to the aforementioned issues with analysing the lists in a chronological fashion.<sup>8617</sup> Moreover, entered on 4 May 1978, E3/10139, 4 May 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462131; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 5 May 1978, E3/10140, 5 May 1978, ERN (En) 01366709-01366715; S-21 list of prisoners who entered the prison on 5 May 1978, E3/10392, 5 May 1978, pp. 1-16, ERN (En) 01398288-01398303; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 6 May 1978, E3/10141, 7 May 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462132-01462133; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 8 May 1978, E3/10142, 8 May 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462134-01462135; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10144, 11 May 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462136-01462137; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 12 May 1978, E3/10393, 12 May 1978, pp. 1-21, ERN (En) 01398304-01398324; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 13 May 1978, E3/10146, 13 May 1978, pp. 1-11, ERN (En) 01395566-01395576; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 16 May 1978, E3/10395, 16 May 1978, pp. 1-6, ERN (En) 01548792-01548797; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 19 May 1978, E3/10152, 19 May 1978, pp. 1-3, ERN (En) 01548734-01548736; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10153, undated, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462138-01462139; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 25 May 1978, E3/10156, 25 May 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462142-01462143; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 26 May 1978, E3/10157, undated, pp. 1-3, ERN (En) 01462144-01462146; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 27 May 1978, E3/10158, 27 May 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462147-01462148; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 29 May 1978, E3/10396, 29 May 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01548798-01548799; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 30 May 1978, E3/10397, 5 August 1978, pp. 1-4, ERN (En) 01528750-01528753; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 31 May 1978, E3/10160, 31 May 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01462149-01462150; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in June 1978, E3/10161, 2 July 1978, pp. 1-95, ERN (En) 01563957-01564051; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in July 1978, E3/10120, undated, pp. 1-38, ERN (En) 01399063-01399100; S-21 list of prisoners at various ministries, E3/10355, August 1978, pp. 1-11, ERN (En) 01395669-01395679; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 7 August 1978, E3/10421, undated, pp. 1-3, ERN (En) 01548803-01548805; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 10 August 1978, E3/10134, 10 August 1978, pp. 1-3, ERN (En) 01558253-01558255; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 2 September 1978, E3/10132, 2 September 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462129; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 2 September 1978, E3/10133, 2 September 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462130; S-21 list of prisoners who entering on 3 September 1978, E3/2248, 3 September 1978, ERN (En) 00181737-00181739; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 6.9.78, E3/10201, 5 June 1978, pp. 1-6, ERN (En) 01366722-01366727; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8540, undated, ERN (En) 00738605; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8541, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00181740; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2249, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00181741-00181742; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8472, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00181688-00181690; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10203, undated, pp. 1-3, ERN (En) 01548774-01548776; S-21 list of prisoners entered on 28.9.78, E3/8543, 28 September 1978, ERN (En) 00181744; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in October 1978, E3/10205, undated, pp. 1-14, ERN (En) 01397676-01397689; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10212, undated, pp. 1-18, ERN (En) 01397690-01397707; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/9888, undated E3/10171, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461953; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 31 December 1976, E3/10290 28 December 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01528637-01528638.

---

<sup>8615</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/3187, multiple dates; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2285, multiple dates; S-21 Execution List, E3/8463, multiple dates.

<sup>8616</sup> See above, paras 2111, 2115, 2117-2119.

<sup>8617</sup> See above, paras 2125, 2127.

because many prisoners were sent directly to Choeng Ek and executed without being registered or documented in any way, the actual number of deaths is certainly much greater.<sup>8618</sup> In light of the conservative approach that the Chamber has adopted with regard to prisoner lists, the figures identified should strictly be viewed as minimums.

2543. The majority of S-21 prisoners were male, and only approximately one in five prisoners arrested and detained at any given time was female.<sup>8619</sup> Both children and the elderly were also detained, and the age of prisoners at S-21 ranged anywhere from seven to 92 years old.<sup>8620</sup> S-21 prisoner lists indicate that many children were detained and executed at Choeng Ek and S-21 throughout its operation.<sup>8621</sup> The Chamber finds that the highest numbers of detainees arrested and detained at S-21 originated from the East and Northwest Zones.<sup>8622</sup> Most of the prisoners were arrested from Divisions 310, 703,

<sup>8618</sup> See above, para. 2244.

<sup>8619</sup> S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9955, 8 January 1977, ERN (En) 01249682; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9960, 23 February 1977, ERN (En) 01461804; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in March 1977, E3/9845, undated, ERN (En) 01331968-01331984; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9990, 16 July 1977, ERN (En) 01529833; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10009, 24 October 1977, ERN (En) 01461725; S-21 list of prisoners entered in January 1978, E3/10430, undated, ERN (En) 01366843-01366909; S-21 list of prisoners brought in on March 1978 [sic], E3/8655, multiple dates, ERN (En) 01460884-01460884; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in July 1978, E3/10120, undated, ERN (En) 01399063-01399100.

<sup>8620</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2285, multiple dates, ERN (En) 01564761-01565312; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in March 1977, E3/9845, undated, ERN (En) 01331980, 01332052.

<sup>8621</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners in General Staff Section, E3/8487, undated, p. 4, ERN (En) 01321683 SOK Phal, age 13); S-21 list of prisoners arrived in May 1977, E3/8660, May 1977, p. 6, ERN (En) 01565319 (KHIN Phal, age 12); S-21 list of prisoners who entered in July 1977, E3/9954, 5 August 1977, pp. 17, 28, ERN (En) 01563473, 01563484 (KEV Soeung, age 14, HOENG Phorn, age 15); S-21 list of prisoners entering in October 1977, E3/9951, 2 November 1977, p. 6, ERN (En) 01332088 (CHEU Soeut, age 10); S-21 list of prisoners entered in January 1978, E3/10430, undated, p. 65, ERN (En) 01366907 (MEI Chuk, age 11); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10439, undated, p. 19, ERN (En) 01398412 (ENG Chak, age 12); S-21 List of prisoners, E3/10141, multiple dates, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462132 (VIN Yang Fa, age 8); S-21 List of prisoners who entered on 14 July 1978, E3/10108, undated, p. 11, ERN (En) 01397573 (LOCH Rann, age 10); S-21 List of prisoners who entered in October 1978, E3/10205, undated, pp. 10, 14, ERN (En) 01397685, 01397689 (LE Yangve, age 10, TROENG Yangfak, age 7); S-21 list of prisoners who were destroyed on 31 October 1978, E3/10456, 31 October 1978, p. 3, ERN (En) 01558315 (TROENG Yaing Hvak, age 7).

<sup>8622</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners executed in 1976, E3/3187, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00874269, 00874288, 00874335; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2285, multiple dates, ERN (En) 01564808-01564810, 01564823-01564832, 01564855, 01564866, 01564868-01564870, 01564872-01564873, 01564880-01564881, 01564889-01564894, 01564897-01564898, 01564906-01564913, 01564921, 01564941-01564945, 01564968-01564973, 01564975, 01565072, 01565138, 01565199-01565200, 01565212, 01565252-01565255, 01565264-01565269, 01565272-01565273, 01565277-01565278, 01565282, 01565284-01565290, 01565292-01565293, 01565304-01565307, 01565310-01565312; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8463, multiple dates, ERN (En) 01032508-01032525, 01032527, 01032532-01032536, 01554519, 01554522-01554525, 01554527-01554529, 01554551, 01554559-01554564, 01554566, 01554570, 01554574-01554575, 01554578, 01554584-01554585, 01554593-01554601, 01554611-01554612, 01554619-01554620, 01554627-01554632, 01554645-01554651, 01554658, 01554662, 01554666-01554678, 01554703-01554709, 01554711-01554716, 01554719-01554721, 01554726-01554735, 01554738-01554739, 01554763-01554764, 01554767, 01554779-01554791, 01554796-

and 450.<sup>8623</sup> These numbers are consistent with the largest purges of the East Zone, starting in April 1976 and continuing into 1977 until a second crescendo in 1978, and the purges of the Central (old North) and Northwest Zones that occurred in 1977 and 1978.<sup>8624</sup>

2544. The prisoner lists corroborate the findings above<sup>8625</sup> that during the course of its operation, S-21 was also used to imprison DK ministry workers from the Ministries of Foreign Affairs, Commerce, Energy, Agriculture, Industry, Propaganda, Public Works and others.<sup>8626</sup> Furthermore, the prisoner lists confirm that officials from the Khmer Republic, S-21 cadres, labourers, Vietnamese, monks and foreigners from various countries were also among the prisoners at S-21.<sup>8627</sup> Medics and workers from hospitals

---

01554797, 01554799-01554801, 01554804-01554806, 01554809-01554810, 01554813, 01554831, 01554839, 01554845-01554850.

<sup>8623</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners executed in 1976, E3/3187, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00874176-00874177, 00874182, 00874185-00874188, 00874197, 00874215, 00874288, 00874291, 00874306, 00874318-00874320, 00874336, 00874346-00874349, 00874353, 00874357, 00874379, 00874411, 00874414, 00874418, 00874423, 00874425, 00874451, 00874453-54, 00874457, 00874484, 00874494, 00874496, 00874497, 00874508, 00874513-00874514, 00874519-00874520, 00874522-00874523, 00874526, 00874528, 00874533, 00874566-00874567; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2285, multiple dates, ERN (En) 01564770-01564776, 01564782, 01564785-01564793, 01564813-01564822, 01564834, 01564836, 01564838-01564839, 01564842, 01564844-01564854, 01564858, 01564861, 01564867, 01564878-01564880, 01564883-01564885, 01564888-01564889, 01564898-01564904, 01564913-01564920, 01564925-01564932, 01564961-01564968, 01564972-01564973, 01564976-01564977, 01564979-01564989, 01564992-01564993, 01564997-01564998, 01565014, 01565018-01565019, 01565023-01565027, 01565029, 01565031-01565034, 01565037-01565041, 01565043-01565055, 01565057-01565059, 01565062-01565064, 01565067, 01565070-01565073, 01565075, 01565080, 01565085, 01565087, 01565091-01565105, 01565117-01565118, 01565127-01565132, 01565134-01565135, 01565137-01565138, 01565144, 01565147, 01565150, 01565162-01565173, 01565175-01565176, 01565178-01565180, 01565197-01565198, 01565201, 01565206-01565207, 01565220-01565221, 01565232-01565234, 01565239-01565240, 01565247, 01565256-01565261, 01565293-01565294, 01565296-01565297, 01565303, 01565305, 01565311-01565312; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8463, multiple dates, ERN (En) 01032527, 01554527-01554528, 01554539-01554540, 01554572, 01554574, 01554578, 01554583, 01554610, 01554614-01554617, 01554624-01554625, 01554655-01554656, 01554679, 01554695-01554696, 01554722-01554725, 01554736, 01554742-01554743, 01554745-01554750, 01554752, 01554756-01554757, 01554794, 01554834, 01554837, 01554854.

<sup>8624</sup> See above, paras 2266-2267, 2289, 2303, 2308, 2319.

<sup>8625</sup> See above, paras 2076, 2230, 2233, 2248, 2257, 2262, 2283, 2287, 2297, 2300, 2318, 2327.

<sup>8626</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1994, undated; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10057, 5 December 1976, ERN (En) 01366683-01366685; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1981, undated; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in March 1977, E3/9845, pp. 95-98, ERN (En) 01332058-01332061; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10506, 29 April 1977, pp. 203-208, ERN (En) 01369181-01369186; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10504, 2 January 1978, pp. 1-19, ERN (En) 01395785-1395803.

<sup>8627</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1949, undated, ERN (En) 00937153; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10045, undated, ERN (En) 01397412-01397427; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2274, undated, ERN (En) 00785260; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8462, undated, ERN (En) 00786215; S-21 list of prisoners from France, E3/2236, undated; S-21 list of prisoners not interrogations at house "Kor" [sic], E3/2261, undated; S-21 list of prisoners who entered Office S-21 in 1976, E3/9842, 26 May 1977, pp. 37, 138, 152-153, 160, 165, ERN (En) 01367165, 01367266, 01367280-01367281, 01367288, 01367293; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1999, undated; S-21 list of prisoners who were executed from 15.1.77 to 31.1.77, E3/3185, undated; S-21 list of prisoners postponed in January 1977, E3/1542, 1 February 1977, pp. 3, 6, 7, 12, 14-16, ERN (En) 00233975, 00233978, 00233979, 00233984-00233986, 00233988; S-21 list of

from various regions were also arrested, sent to S-21 and killed throughout the Security Centre's operation.<sup>8628</sup> S-21 served as prison for not only people accused of being enemies but also their wives, children, siblings and parents.<sup>8629</sup>

2545. As discussed above, S-21 began operations by October 1975, but documentation from the Security Centre during this time period is scarce. Several S-21 lists on the Case File that fall into the tested categories<sup>8630</sup> indicate arrest dates of detainees ranging from August 1975 through the end of the year, with a few arrests occurring in February, April, May and July 1975.<sup>8631</sup> It is not clear how much time elapsed between the individuals' arrests and their detention at S-21, but these arrest dates indicate that S-21 was operational in 1975.

---

prisoners killed in 1977, E3/8455, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00784449; S-21 List of prisoners entering on 6 January 1978, E3/2020, 6 January 1978, ERN (En) 00184808. See also, Section 12.2.16: Arrest of S-21 Staff; Section 12.2.17: Vietnamese Detainees; Section 12.2.18: Former Khmer Republic Officials; Section 12.2.20: Foreign Detainees.

<sup>8628</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2285, multiple dates, pp. 23, 222-225, 242, 279, 281-283, 307-308, 360, 417, 444, ERN (En) 01564783, 01564982-01564985, 01565002, 01565039, 01565041-01565043, 01565067-01565068, 01565120, 01565177, 01565204 (recording the deaths of around 37 hospital workers); S-21 list of prisoners died from 1-7-76 to 15-7-76 [sic], E3/8450, undated, p. 8, ERN (En) 00784445 noting arrest and execution of PRUM Samnieng, Chief of Hospital 259); S-21 list of prisoners who entered from 15 September 1976 until 30 September 1976, E3/10065, undated, p. 22, ERN (En) 01397484 (arrest of CHROK Hel from Hospital 17); S-21 list of prisoners who entered Office S-21 in 1976, E3/9842, 26 May 1977, pp. 7, 88, 149, 151, 163-164, 166, ERN (En) 01367135, 01367216, 01367277, 01367279, 01367291-01367292, 01367294; S-21 list of prisoners who were executed from 15.1.77 5 to 31.1.77, E3/3185, undated, ERN (En) 00837627 (noting the arrest of TOP Slep from 17 April hospital); S-21 list of prisoners arrived in May 1977, E3/8660, May 1977, pp. 2, 30, 39, 42, 107, ERN (En) 01565315, 01565343, 01565352, 01565355, 01565420; S-21 list of prisoners entering on 12 February 1978, E3/10450, multiple dates, p. 2, ERN (En) 01366961; S-21 list of prisoners entering on 410.78, E3/2250, undated, ERN (En) 00181745; [Partial] S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8463, multiple dates, pp. 2, 4, 33-34, 48, 99, 108-109, 116-117, 123, 131, 151, 153, 167, 194, 196-197, 209, 215, 226, ERN (En) 01554520, 01554522, 01554551-01554552, 01554566, 01554617, 01554626-01554627, 01554634-01554635, 01554641, 01554649, 01554669, 01554671, 01554685, 01554712, 01554714-01554715, 01554727, 01554733, 01554744.

<sup>8629</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10062, undated, p. 7, ERN (En) 01398993 (wife); S-21 list of prisoners who entered Office S-21 in 1976, E3/9842, 26 May 1977, pp. 37, 66, 69, 82, ERN (En) 01367165, 01367194, 01367197, 01367210 (wives, brother, daughter, parents); S-21 list of prisoners entering in October 1977, E3/9951, 2 November 1977, pp. 18, 52, 60, ERN (En) 01332100, 01332134, 01332142 (wives, father, children); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8463, multiple dates, pp. 99, 100, 118, 162, ERN (En) 01554617, 01554618, 01554636, 01554680 (sister, wife, mother-in-law, son, father-in-law).

<sup>8630</sup> See above, paras 2115-2119.

<sup>8631</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1949, undated, ERN (En) 00937128, 00937133, 00937136, 00937140, 00937141, 00937147; S-21 list of prisoners from Commercial Section from the beginning to 26 March 1977, E3/2005, undated, ERN (En) 00858491-00858492; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10062, undated, ERN (En) 01398988-01398990, 01398993-01398994, 01398997-01398998, 01399000, 01399003-01399005; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/3973, undated, ERN (En) 00837527, 00837530, 00837533-00837534, 00837537, 00837542, 00837550-00837551, 00837567, 00837571-00837572; S-21 list of prisoners from 1-7-76 to 15-7-76, E3/8450, undated, ERN (En) 00784438, 00784441, 00784445-00784446; S-21 list of prisoners from Ministry of Commerce, E3/1980, undated; S-21 list of prisoners from the Base, E3/1992, 5 October 1976, ERN (En) 00844655.

2546. The number of S-21 prisoner lists from the seven categories discussed above increased in 1976, as demonstrated by several lists from every month of the year, including periodical entry lists, entry lists by origin, two daily entry lists, interrogation lists, a daily controlling list and execution logs.<sup>8632</sup> The only and earliest daily controlling lists of 1976 shows that in April 1976, S-21 held around 658 prisoners at one time, with 58 “new arrivals”, many having entered from Sector 25.<sup>8633</sup> Execution logs begin to appear in March 1976; one recording 47 prisoners “smashed” in one day from Sector 25, Battambang and Pochentong. Another list which includes the same prisoners brings the total for March to 153 smashed, with nine prisoners dying of illness.<sup>8634</sup> The analysis of the execution lists dated July and August 1976 show that the duration of a prisoners’ detention in S-21 varied from one day to eight months, and one prisoner is recorded as having been detained at S-21 for one year before dying of disease.<sup>8635</sup> Between 1 July and 15 July 1976, the lists record that 130 prisoners were executed and approximately 23 died of disease.<sup>8636</sup> On 31 August 1976 alone, 54 prisoners were executed.<sup>8637</sup>

2547. A compilation of 64 execution lists spanning 22 February 1976 to 28 December 1976, almost the full year, show that there were at least 3,031 detainees recorded as executed, not including those allegedly dying of disease. Detainees spent from less than one to 673 days at S-21 before execution. There were at least 649 military prisoners, 469 workers/laborers, 218 civilians, 15 “bandits” and 43 students.<sup>8638</sup> In 1976, more than 248 prisoners were arrested from Division 170 alone, and during the first week of

<sup>8632</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners who were government officials, E3/2189, undated, ERN (En) 00181626; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8607, 20 February 1976; S-21 list of prisoners of the East Zone, 1976, E3/8489, undated; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8761, undated; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/8493, 11 April 1976; S-21 list of prisoners who entered from 15 May 1976 until 30 May 1976, E3/10064, undated; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1994, undated; S-21 list of prisoners who died from 1.7.76 to 15.7.76, E3/8452, undated; S-21 list of prisoners executed on 31-8-76, E3/8453, undated; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2236, undated; S-21 list of prisoners who entered from 1 November 1976 to 15 November 1976, E3/10061, undated; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 31 December 1976, E3/10054, undated.

<sup>8633</sup> S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/8493, 11 April 1976, ERN (En) 00181623-00181624.

<sup>8634</sup> S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 22.03.76, E3/1538, 22 March 1976, ERN (En) 00233904-00233905; S-21 list of prisoners who died at Office “S-21 Kor (C)”, E3/1539 [E3/1540], undated, ERN (En) 00182892-00182903.

<sup>8635</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8451, undated, ERN (En) 00784447-00784448; S-21 list of prisoners who died of disease from 1-7-76 to 15-7-76, E3/8450, undated, ERN (En) 00784446.

<sup>8636</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8450, undated, ERN (En) 00784438-00784446; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8451, undated, ERN (En) 00784447-00784448.

<sup>8637</sup> S-21 list of prisoners executed on 31-8-76, E3/8453, undated, ERN (En) 0778927-0778931.

<sup>8638</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/3187, undated, ERN (En) 00874174-00874599.

October 1976, 114 prisoners from Division 170 were executed.<sup>8639</sup> This clear increase in the number of prisoners executed corresponds to the arrest of CHAN Chakrei in April 1976 and the following purge of Division 170.<sup>8640</sup> Prisoners arrested due to familial connections were executed relatively soon after they were brought to S-21.<sup>8641</sup>

2548. Operations at S-21 reached a peak in 1977 as the CPK systematically purged the North and Northwest Zones. From early January to 31 December 1977, an S-21 execution list indicates that approximately 5,282 prisoners were killed.<sup>8642</sup> This list indicates that as many as 418 prisoners were executed in one day.<sup>8643</sup> Roughly 836 women and at least 27 children between the ages of seven and 17 numbered among the victims that year. The execution list shows that in 1977, many of the prisoners killed were RAK members.<sup>8644</sup> The list indicates that the highest numbers of those killed in 1977 totalled approximately 550 prisoners from Division 310, approximately 500 prisoners from the Northwest Zone, and close to 360 prisoners from Division 450.<sup>8645</sup>

<sup>8639</sup> S-21 list of prisoners who entered Office S-21 in 1976, E3/9842, 26 May 1977, ERN (En) 01367131-01367157. See also, Section 12.1.4.2.2: Internal Factions: The Royal Palace Grenade Explosions (April 1976): Findings.

<sup>8640</sup> See above, para. 2273. See also, Section 12.1.4.2.2: Internal Factions: The Royal Palace Grenade Explosions (April 1976): Findings.

<sup>8641</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners executed in 1976, E3/3187, multiple dates, ERN (En) 00874195-00874196.

<sup>8642</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2285, multiple dates. This document was authenticated by SUOS Thy (see T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, p. 16) and was put to other witnesses in court (see T. 21 November 2016 (SON Em), E1/500.1, pp. 23-25; T. 11 August 2016 (ROS Chuor Siy), E1/455.1, pp. 96-97; T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 100-101). However, the Chamber notes that this document includes irregularities, such as names crossed off or duplicated; thus, the total number of prisoner deaths is an approximate one.

<sup>8643</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2285, multiple dates, pp. 160-199, ERN (En) 00873281-00873320.

<sup>8644</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2285, multiple dates.

<sup>8645</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2285, multiple dates, Division 310: pp. 8, 10-15, 61, 85, 93-94, 102, 118-120, 123-124, 157, 159-160, 168-172, 205-206, 216-217, 220-226, 228-229, 237-238, 254, 259, 263, 264-267, 269, 271-274, 277-281, 283-285, 288-292, 302-304, 310-313, 327, 332, 341, 344-345, 366, 374, 377-378, 380-384, 408-410, 419-420, 446, 460-461, 472-474, 487, 496-501, 536-537, 552, ERN (En) 01564768, 01564770-01564775, 01564821, 01564845, 01564853-01564854, 01564862, 1564878-1564880, 01564883-01564884, 01564917, 0156419-0156420, 01564928-01564932, 01564965-01564966, 01564976-01564977, 01564980-01564986, 01564988-01564989, 01564997-01564998, 01565014, 015465019, 015465023-015465027, 01565029, 01565031-01565034, 01565037-01565041, 01565043-01565045, 01565048-01565052, 01565062-01565064, 01565070-01565073, 01565087, 01565092-01565101, 01565104-01565105, 01565126, 01565134, 01565137-01565138, 01565140-01565144, 01565168-01565170, 0156179-0156180, 01565206, 01565220-01565221, 01565232-01565234, 01565247, 01565256-01565261, 01565296-01565297, 01565312, Northwest Zone: pp. 48-50, 63-72, 95, 106, 120-121, 129-134, 137-138, 146-153, 161, 181-185, 208-210-215, 312, 439-440, 452, 492-495, 506-509, 512-513, 517-518, 522, 524-530, 532-533, 546-547, 550-552, ERN (En) 01564808-01564810, 01564823-01564832, 01564855, 01564866, 01564880-01564881, 01564889-01564894, 01564897-01564898, 01564906-01564913, 01564921, 01564941-01564945, 01564968-01564970, 01564975, 01560072, 01565199-01565200, 01565212, 01565252, 01565254-01565255, 01565266-01565269, 01565272-01565273, 01565277-01565278, 01565282, 01565284-01565290, 01565292-01565293, 01565306-01565307, 01565310-01565312, Division 450: pp. 7-8, 25-33, 61-62,

2549. Most of 1977 is also documented by daily controlling lists, many of which are also found in the Orange Logbook. Individual daily controlling lists along with the Orange Logbook itself were both authenticated by SUOS Thy.<sup>8646</sup> The S-21 Orange Logbook, together with the additional individual daily controlling lists from the Tuol Sleng Archives, show that within this time period at least 4,955 prisoners were arrested and detained at S-21, and 4,789 prisoners died or were executed.<sup>8647</sup> These totals do not

---

84-88, 101, 123-124, 158, 165-168, 207-208, 221, 226-228, 232-233, 254, 286-290, 292, 307, 310, 312, 327, 330-344, 377-378, 384-387, 410-411, 416, 418-419, 441, 446-447, 460-461, 487, 534, 536, 550, ERN (En) 01564767-01564768, 01564785-01564793, 01567821-01567822, 01564844-01564848, 01564861, 01564883-01564884, 01564918, 01564925-01564928, 01564967-01564968, 01564981, 01564986-01564988, 01564992-01564993, 01565014, 01565046-01565050, 01565052, 01565067, 01565070, 01565072, 01565087, 01565090-01565104, 01565137-01565138, 01565144-01565157, 01565170-01565171, 01565176, 01565178-01565179, 01565201, 01565206-01565207, 01565247, 01565294, 01565296, 01565310.

<sup>8646</sup> See above, paras 2122-2123.

<sup>8647</sup> See e.g., S-21 Orange Logbook, E3/10770, multiple dates; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9955, 8 January 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01249682; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9956, 3 February 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461990; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10023, 7 February 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462069; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9974, 10 February 1977 p. 2, ERN (En) 01298102; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9958, 15 February 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461992; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9959, 17 February 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461993; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9960, 22 February 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461804; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9961, 27 February 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461994; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9963, 2 March 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461996; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9964, 3 March 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461997; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9967, 5 March 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461806; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9965, 8 March 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461998; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9966, 29 March 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461805; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10027, 14 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462077; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10028, 19 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01556240; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10031, 24 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462083; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10032, 26 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462085; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10034, 29 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462089; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9968, 5 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461999; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9969, 7 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 0146200; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9970, 8 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461807; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9971, 9 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462003; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9972, 10 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462005; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9974, 11 February 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01298101; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9973, 12 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462007; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10075, 3 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01555965; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10036, 20 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462091; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9975, 24 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462009; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10074, 3 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462100; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9976, 10 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462011; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10006, 11 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462045; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9977, 14 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462013; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9979, 17 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462017; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9980, 19 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462019; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9991, 17 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01556091; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9982, 27 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462023; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9983, 29 June 1977, p. 4, ERN (En) 01556089; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9984, 30 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461809; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9985, 1 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461811; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9986, 3 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462025; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9987, 5 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462027; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9989, 15 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462031; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9990, 16 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01529833; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9991, 17 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01556091; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9992, 18 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01529836; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9993, 23 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01529839; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9995, 30 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01529845; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9996, 31 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461813; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9997, include approximately 90 days in 1977 that the available controlling lists do not account for, which would explain the larger execution total noted in the list compilation referred to above. Many of the daily controlling lists are consistent with daily entry lists, execution lists and lists of deaths.<sup>8648</sup>

2550. Monthly entry lists for 1977 indicate that the prisoners arrested per month numbered in the hundreds, and in March alone, 1,059 prisoners were arrested, registered, and detained at S-21.<sup>8649</sup> According to the daily controlling lists, the

---

9 August 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462033; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9998, 12 August 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462035; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9999, 29 August 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01558103; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10000, 24 September 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461836; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9977, 14 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462013; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9978, 16 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462015; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10002, 6 October 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461840; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10003, 8 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461721; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10004, 9 October 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461842; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10005, 10 October 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462043; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10008, 15 October 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461723; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10009, 24 October 1977, p. 1, 01461725; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10010, 6 October 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462049; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10011, 7 November 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462051; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10012, 12 November 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462053; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10013, 13 November 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462055; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10014, 20 November 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462057; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10016, 30 November 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01300026; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10019, 4 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462061; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10020, 5 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462063; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10021, 6 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462065; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10022, 7 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462067; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10023, 8 February 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462069; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10024, 9 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462071; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10025, 15 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462073; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10026, 10 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462075; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10027, 15 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462077; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10028, 20 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01556240; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10029, 21 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01556240; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10030, 22 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462081; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10031, 25 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462083; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10032, 27 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462085; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10033, 28 February 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462087; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10034, 30 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462089; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10035, 31 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01461727; T. 6 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/432.1, pp. 74-78.

<sup>8648</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners died on 12-10-77, E3/3181, 13 October 1977, ERN (En) 00784614-00784615; S-21 Daily controlling list, E3/10770, 13 October 1977, ERN (En) 01460657; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 23 November 1977, E3/1645, 24 November 1977, ERN (En) 00809627-00809639; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10770, 24 November 1977, ERN (En) 01460730; S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 18 December 1977, E3/10288, 19 December 1977, ERN (En) 01528632-01528634; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10027, 15 December 1977, ERN (En) 01462077-01462078; S-21 list of prisoners from Military Division, smashed on 10-6-77, E3/2132, 11 June 1977, ERN (En) 00182876-00182891; S-21 Daily Controlling, E3/10006, 11 June 1977, ERN (En) 01462045.

<sup>8649</sup> S-21 list of prisoners who entered in January 1977, E3/10265, 1 February 1977, ERN (En) 01397917-01397943; S-21 list of prisoners entering in May 1977, E3/2590, 3 June 1977, ERN (En) 01191256-01191342; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in March 1977, E3/9845, undated, ERN (En) 01331968-01331982. See also, S-21 list of prisoners, E3/9843, multiple dates; S-21 list of prisoners [who] arrived in February 1977 [sic], E3/9844, 2 March 1977, ERN (En) 01368608-01368649; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in March 1977, E3/9845, undated, ERN (En) 01331964-01332082; S-21 list of prisoners entering in May 1977, E3/2590, 3 June 1977, ERN (En) 01191256-01191425; S-21 list of maximum recorded number of prisoners entering S-21 on any given day during 1977 was 150,<sup>8650</sup> and the prisoner deaths and executions reached the maximum of 419 in a single day in October 1977. The majority of those deaths were prisoners from Division 170, 310, and 450, which correspond with the continuing East and West Zone purges discussed above.<sup>8651</sup>

2551. In 1977, there was a steady stream of prisoners who entered S-21 on a regular basis. By contrast, the number of deaths varied significantly with batches of prisoners sent for execution in either small or very large groups.<sup>8652</sup> The largest number of recorded prisoners held on any given day in that year was 1,729 prisoners held on 14 October 1977. Similarly, the lowest recorded number of prisoners held was on 3 February 1977 with 610 detainees.<sup>8653</sup> During the height of S-21's operations, groups of prisoners were taken immediately to Choeng Ek to be killed.<sup>8654</sup>

2552. In 1978, prisoner lists show that S-21 continued to receive and execute a large numbers of prisoners.<sup>8655</sup> Lists in evidence for 1978 are mostly daily entry lists, divided into multiple rounds of prisoners per day, as opposed to the daily controlling lists that the cadres used throughout 1977.<sup>8656</sup> In January 1978, records show that at least 404

---

prisoners who entered in July 1977, E3/9954, 5 August 1977, ERN (En) 01563457-01563520; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10274, multiple dates; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in September 1977, E3/10275, multiple dates; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/9951, 2 November 1977; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/9953, 2 December 1977; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in September 1977, E3/10275, multiple dates; S-21 list of prisoners., E3/9950, 7 January 1978.

<sup>8650</sup> S-21 Orange Logbook, E3/10770, 24 November 1977, p. 315, ERN (En) 1460730. See also, S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 23 November 1977, E3/1645, 24 November 1977, p. 13, ERN (En) 00809639 (closely corroborating this number with 151 entries on this day).

<sup>8651</sup> S-21 Orange Logbook, E3/10770, multiple dates, p. 250, ERN (En) 01460665. See above, Section 12.2.8.2: January 1977 to 17 April 1977 – Purges of the North Zone and Beyond; Section 12.2.8.3: April to late 1977 – Purges continue within Ministries and the East, North, and Northwest Zones.

<sup>8652</sup> See e.g., S-21 Orange Logbook, E3/10770, multiple dates, pp. 159-172, ERN (En) 01460574-01460587.

<sup>8653</sup> S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/9956, 4 February 1977, ERN (En) 01461990.

<sup>8654</sup> See above, para. 2244.

<sup>8655</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners entered in January 1978, E3/10430, undated, p. 3, ERN (En) 01366845; S-21 list of prisoners who entered in April 1978, E3/10354, undated, p. 4, ERN (En) 01507545). See also, S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8463, multiple dates.

<sup>8656</sup> S-21 daily entry lists for 1978: E3/10431, E3/2020, E3/10432, E3/10433, E3/10434, E3/8923, E3/10435, E3/10436, E3/10504, E3/8494, E3/2181; E3/10437; E3/10438; E3/10305; E3/2184; E3/10440; E3/10442; E3/10441; E3/10442; E3/10444; E3/10179; E3/10445; E3/10446; E3/10448; E3/10450; E3/10451; E3/10452; E3/9847; E3/10245; E3/10246; E3/10219; E3/10221; E3/10222; E3/10224; E3/10225; E3/10226; E3/10227; E3/10228; E3/10230; E3/10232; E3/10233; E3/10234; E3/10235; E3/10236; E3/10237; E3/10240; E3/10241; E3/10242; E3/10243; E3/10244; E3/10234; E3/10239; E3/10378; E3/10379; E3/10380; E3/10362; E3/2203; E3/10382; E3/10364; E3/10367; E3/10383; E3/10384; E3/10385; E3/10386; E3/10370; E3/10371; E3/10238; E3/2210; E3/8512; E3/10368; E3/10387; E3/10372; E3/10373; E3/9883; E3/10374; E3/10390; E3/10138; E3/10137; E3/10391; E3/10139; E3/10140; E3/10392; E3/10141; E3/10142; E3/10144; E3/10145; E3/10393;

prisoners were arrested throughout the month, and at least 43 were executed.<sup>8657</sup> In March 1978, 589 new prisoners were arrested and detained at S-21.<sup>8658</sup> An April monthly entry list shows a spike in arrests, with 971 prisoners entering S-21, ranging from ages 15 to 71. In the same month, 343 of these prisoners were executed after less than a month in detention. This number does not include those executed during this time period who were detained prior to April 1978.<sup>8659</sup> An execution log shows that the number of prisoners executed on 27 May 1978 alone was 582 (approximately 350 from the East Zone) and the average duration of a prisoner's detention at that time was between one day and 2.5 weeks.<sup>8660</sup> This corresponds to the Chamber's earlier finding that arrests increased significantly following KOY Thuon's arrest with purges in the North, West, Northwest and finally the last wave of East Zone purges in approximately May-June 1978.<sup>8661</sup>

2553. S-21 lists demonstrate that the Security Centre continued to operate until the end of 1978 and witness testimony indicates that S-21 was operational until liberation by the Vietnamese in early January 1979.<sup>8662</sup>

12.2.23. Abandonment of S-21

2554. According to Duch, in late 1978 during a political education session led by POL Pot and attended by NUON Chea, POL Pot told him that the interrogations at S-21

---

E3/10146; E3/10395; E3/10152; E3/2226; E3/10153; E3/8519; E3/10154; E3/10156; E3/10157; E3/10158; E3/10396; E3/10397; E3/2224; E3/1955; E3/10160; E3/8706; E3/1962; E3/10177; E3/8524; E3/10187; E3/2234; E3/2240; E3/8525; E3/10188; E3/10180; E3/10181; E3/10182; E3/10040; E3/10190; E3/10191; E3/10184; E3/10192; E3/10193; E3/10196; E3/10197; E3/10199; E3/10099; E3/10101; E3/2242; E3/10121; E3/2243; E3/10108; E3/10109; E3/9903; E3/10111; E3/10213; E3/10114; E3/10118; E3/10119; E3/10360; E3/10421; E3/10359; E3/10133; E3/10132; E3/2248; E3/10130; E3/10201; E3/8540; E3/8541; E3/2249; E3/8472; E3/10202; E3/10203; E3/8543; E3/9882; E3/2250; E3/8546; E3/10206; E3/10207; E3/8548; E3/8549; E3/8547; E3/10208; E3/8551; E3/8654; E3/10212; E3/8553; E3/10171; E3/10296; E3/10290.

<sup>8657</sup> S-21 list of prisoners entered in January 1978, E3/10430, undated, ERN (En) 01366843-01366909.

<sup>8658</sup> S-21 list of prisoners brought in on March 1978 [sic], multiple dates, E3/8655, ERN (En) 01460840-01460884.

<sup>8659</sup> S-21 list of prisoners who entered in April 1978, E3/10354, undated, ERN (En) 01507542-01507632.

<sup>8660</sup> S-21 list of prisoners taken out in May 1978, E3/8463, 29 May 1978, ERN (En) 01032507-01032536.

<sup>8661</sup> See above, Section 12.2.8: Prominent Prisoners and Internal Purges.

<sup>8662</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 31-12-1978, E3/10455, undated, ERN (En) 01248066-01248083; T. 20 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/440.1, pp. 70-72. See also, T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, pp. 72-73; Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 51, ERN (En) 00346709.

should stop. Duch passed on these instructions to the interrogators.<sup>8663</sup> Duch stated that he spoke to NUON Chea a few days later and asked NUON Chea what they should do with the remaining prisoners.<sup>8664</sup> NUON Chea reprimanded Duch for stopping the interrogation and told Duch that he was “well versed in the Party’s line”. After this discussion, Duch resumed interrogating the remaining prisoners.<sup>8665</sup>

2555. Duch testified that in early January 1979, before the arrival of Vietnamese forces, NUON Chea instructed him to remove and kill all prisoners from S-21.<sup>8666</sup> Duch subsequently ordered that all children and adults at S-21 be “smashed” without delay, but the order was not fully implemented and several prisoners – including those who had been kept to work, prisoners in the Special Prison and three or four children – were not killed.<sup>8667</sup>

2556. Duch asked NUON Chea whether he should “smash” the remaining Vietnamese detainees, because they still needed to “prepare the text for the radio broadcast”, and NUON Chea ordered Duch to “smash them all”. Duch further asked NUON Chea to keep four detainees from a unit known as YO-8 or Y-8 for further interrogation in a

<sup>8663</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 44-50; T. 29 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/56.1, pp. 8-9. See also, Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, April 1978 to December 1978, pp. 40, ERN (En) 00184522 (entry dated 8 October 1978 noting that there were short-term plans to “interrogate all of the Khmer without beatings” to secure confessions and that Special Branch methods would be completely and totally applied with respect to “foreigners, the Yuon, the imperialist CIA” but that in the temporary period the “old principles” were to be applied); KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/429, 11 November 2009, pp. 8-9, ERN (En) 00403923-00403924. This is further corroborated by a note made on 4 December 1978 by an S-21 cadre that “Brother gave instructions on a number of situations [and] raised new interrogation requirements [sic] the newly arrived group”. See Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, April 1978 to December 1978, p. 46, ERN (En) 00184528 (entry dated 4 December 1978). See also, T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, p. 9; T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, pp. 49-50.

<sup>8664</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, p. 46.

<sup>8665</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 46-48, 50; T. 29 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/56.1, pp. 9-10.

<sup>8666</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 43-44; T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 31; T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, pp. 92-94; T. 2 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/57.1, pp. 18-19; T. 10 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/62.1, pp. 89-90. The Chamber notes that Duch could not recall the precise date of the conversation but testified that the prisoners were killed over several days and that they may have all been killed by 3 January 1979. The Chamber does not consider that Duch’s imprecision regarding the exact date undermines the credibility of his evidence on this issue.

<sup>8667</sup> T. 8 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/434.1, pp. 37-38, 73-74; Case 001 Transcript (NORNG Chanphal), E3/7453, 2 July 2009, pp. 34-35, ERN (En) 00348139-00348140; Case 001 Transcript (SUOS Thy), E3/7466, 28 July 2009, pp. 13, 23, ERN (En) 00356799, 003567809 (“Regarding the detainees who would have been left behind on the 6th or 7th of January, 1979, I think I have no idea because all detainees had already been smashed before that date, except those who were detained at the special prisons [...] [T]oward late 1978 or early 1979 all the prisoners were taken out and killed and those remained [sic] were those who were allowed to work, and there were some inside a special prison but I did not know the exact number.”).

case concerning the killing of Malcom CALDWELL. NUON Chea told Duch that this was up to him and that Duch would be responsible for this investigation.<sup>8668</sup> After this conversation, Duch instructed Hor to remove all prisoners from S-21 and to interrogate the four individuals from Y-8.<sup>8669</sup> The final list of prisoners to be “smashed” was compiled and contained 225 prisoners.<sup>8670</sup> Prisoners were continuously transferred out of S-21 on trucks until about 2 or 3 January 1979, after which, no prisoners were transferred out.<sup>8671</sup> Hor reported to Duch that the task of removing the remaining prisoners had been completed.<sup>8672</sup>

2557. On or about 6 January 1979, Duch went to the Suramarit Buddhist School and attended a short meeting where KHIEU Samphan alias Brother Hem said that they should not panic and should continue working as usual because the DK forces were defending against the Vietnamese forces which had entered Cambodia.<sup>8673</sup> This

<sup>8668</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, p. 43; T. 10 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/62.1, pp. 89-90; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, pp. 84-85, ERN (En) 00342915-00342916. Malcolm CALDWELL, a UK professor, was invited by DK authorities to visit Cambodia with journalists Richard DUDMAN and Elizabeth BECKER in late 1978, and during the visit and shortly after he met with POL Pot, Malcolm CALDWELL was killed. See T. 9 February 2015 (Elizabeth BECKER), E1/259.1, pp. 11, 30, 59-60, 64-66; Delegations, Visitors, Journalists' Arrivals Reported: London University Professor (in FBIS collection), E3/295, 9 December 1978, ERN (En) 00169086-00169087.

<sup>8669</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 43-44; T. 29 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/56.1, p. 12; T. 29 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/56.1, pp. 18-19; Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5803, p. 9, ERN (En) 00344880.

<sup>8670</sup> T. 3 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/431.1, pp. 24-26 (testifying that “from my review, it is a final list of prisoners who had to be smashed”); S21 list of prisoners smashed on 31-12-1978, E3/10455, 31 December 1978. The Chamber notes that there is ambiguity in the meaning of the original Khmer, and as to whether this list should be interpreted as prisoners already killed, or prisoners “to be killed”. Regardless of whether the killings were carried out or not, the Chamber considers that this list demonstrates the intent to execute the remaining prisoners at S-21 before the Vietnamese arrived.

<sup>8671</sup> T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 9-10.

<sup>8672</sup> T. 2 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/57.1, p. 19. However, there were a number of detainees at S-21 who survived and remained there after S-21 cadres had abandoned the facility. See above, para. 2555. SUOS Thy refuted a prior statement which suggested that two months before Vietnamese forces captured Phnom Penh, all prisoners at S-21 were moved to the West. See T. 6 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/432.1, pp. 7-10; SUOS Thy Interview Record, E3/7845, 9 May 2007, pp. 6, 8, ERN (En) 00276838, 00276840.

<sup>8673</sup> T. 20 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/440.1, p. 70; T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 16-19; T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, pp. 84-88 (stating that the meeting was attended by five or six people); T. 28 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/55.1, pp. 95-97; T. 10 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/62.1, pp. 55-58. In a prior statement made before the Cambodia Military Tribunal, Duch stated that he had never met KHIEU Samphan and IENG Sary. See KAING Guek Eav Cambodia Military Tribunal Interview, E3/530, 6 March 1999, p. 3, ERN (En) 00329135. However, Duch maintained that he had met KHIEU Samphan at this meeting and later on the same day saw IENG Sary. Duch stated that his prior statement was not correct, he did not know the context of his interview at the time and that what he said had been taken out of context. See T. 22 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/442.1, pp. 94-103; T. 23 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/443.1, pp. 12-17. The Chamber notes that in a subsequent interview, Duch did testify about this meeting with KHIEU Samphan. See KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/452, 23 August 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00147565. Duch also

meeting was held to disseminate information to chiefs of units and to discuss work issues.<sup>8674</sup> Prior to this meeting, Duch had neither met nor had any direct involvement with KHIEU Samphan because he was not his direct superior.<sup>8675</sup> Despite this, the Chamber recalls its finding above that in training sessions, S-21 cadres were told on 12 April 1978 to “come and listen to speech by the Brother Head of State”, which the Chamber found to be a reference to KHIEU Samphan.<sup>8676</sup>

2558. Despite the assurances provided at this meeting by KHIEU Samphan, on 7 January 1979 Vietnamese forces and tanks arrived in Phnom Penh and Duch told the S-21 staff to return to their posts. By 3 p.m., Duch and other staff had hurriedly left S-21.<sup>8677</sup> The remaining detainees at S-21 were gathered in a hall and walked out of the facility at gunpoint in order to flee toward Amleang.<sup>8678</sup> When the Vietnamese tanks arrived, Duch was informed that the four remaining Y-8 prisoners had been killed in accordance with NUON Chea’s order and their corpses remained on the beds where they had been shackled.<sup>8679</sup>

---

explained that he did not speak about this in a 2002 interview before the Investigating Judge of the Military Tribunal because he was not asked this question. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that this meeting with KHIEU Samphan occurred shortly before the arrival of Vietnamese forces in Phnom Penh. However, the Chamber notes some inconsistency in the evidence and is unable to conclude whether or not KHIEU Samphan disseminated any orders at this meeting, apart from the instruction to not panic and for staff to remain at their posts.

<sup>8674</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, p. 17.

<sup>8675</sup> T. 10 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/62.1, pp. 2-5 (testifying that SON Sen never talked to him about KHIEU Samphan and that he was not sure what his superior did with S-21 confessions). Duch had previously stated that “Nothing allows me to affirm that KHIEU Samphan himself read the confessions”. See KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/355, p. 4, ERN (En) 00242875.

<sup>8676</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, multiple dates, p. 1, ERN (En) 00184483 (entry dated 12 April 1978).

<sup>8677</sup> T. 20 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/440.1, pp. 70-71. See also, T. 26 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, pp. 72-73. While Duch’s travel pass was initially issued by SON Sen, it was later signed with the name “Khang”. Pang informed Duch that Khang referred to Brother Hem (i.e. KHIEU Samphan). See T. 28 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/55.1, pp. 87-88. However, given the hearsay nature of this evidence, in the absence of further evidence identifying Khang as KHIEU Samphan, the Chamber is unable to conclude whether or not KHIEU Samphan signed Duch’s travel passes.

<sup>8678</sup> T. 18 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/417.1, pp. 36-37, 39; T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 10-11. See also, T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, pp. 49-53; Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009, pp. 15-16, 28, 56-57, 83, ERN (En) 00346473-00346474, 00346486, 00346514-00346515, 00346541; Case 001 Transcript (BOU Meng), E3/7452, 1 July 2009, p. 51, ERN (En) 00346709.

<sup>8679</sup> T. 20 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/440.1, p. 71; T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 32; T. 29 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/56.1, p. 12 (testifying that it was Comrade Nan who killed these prisoners); Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5801, 17 June 2009, pp. 19-20, ERN (En) 00342850-00342851; Report of Crime Scene Reconstruction, E3/5765, 27 February 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00198002. See also, KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/65, 7 August 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00147520 (stating that the killings continued from the beginning of operations at S-21 until noon on 7 January 1979); T. 19 April 2016 (CHUM Mey), E1/418.1, p. 50 (testifying that he heard that the prisoners had their throats slashed); Case 001 Transcript (CHUM Mey), E3/7451, 30 June 2009,

2559. Given the rapid entry of Vietnamese forces into Phnom Penh and the rapid abandonment of S-21, nothing was done with respect to the documents which remained.<sup>8680</sup> Neither Duch nor SOUS Thy received instructions on the destruction of S-21 documents prior to the arrival of the Vietnamese forces in Phnom Penh.<sup>8681</sup> However, PRAK Khorn destroyed and burned the draft documents which remained at the time.<sup>8682</sup> Duch was subsequently scolded by both NUON Chea and SON Sen for not having destroyed the S-21 documents.<sup>8683</sup>

12.2.24. Legal Findings

12.2.24.1. Crimes Against Humanity

12.2.24.1.1. Murder

2560. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of murder at S-21 based on the fact that personnel of S-21 both directly and indirectly caused the death of a large number of detainees. According to the Closing Order, in most instances the detainees were killed deliberately through a variety of means, including summary execution in or near the Security Centre. The Closing Order further charges the crime against humanity of murder in relation to prisoners who died as a result of torture or ill-treatment,<sup>8684</sup> including those who died following interrogations, as a result of blood-drawing, medical experiments and detention conditions.<sup>8685</sup>

2561. The Chamber notes that the Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of murder in regard to security centres as a result of personnel both “directly and indirectly” causing the death of detainees. It further notes that the Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of murder of detainees at S-21 through “ill-treatment” in addition to torture.<sup>8686</sup> The Chamber interprets the crime

---

p. 82, ERN (En) 00346540; S-21 photograph, E3/8063.120, ERN P00005371; Case 001 Transcript (NORNG Chanphal), E3/7453, 2 July 2009, pp. 40, 76, ERN (En) 00348145, 00348181.

<sup>8680</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, p. 33.

<sup>8681</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 32-35; T. 29 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/56.1, p. 19; T. 6 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/432.1, pp. 45-47; T. 7 June 2016 (SUOS Thy), E1/433.1, p. 14. See also, T. 25 April 2016 (LACH Mean), E1/422.1, p. 74 (testifying that neither he nor his group received orders to destroy any documents).

<sup>8682</sup> T. 2 May 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/425.1, p. 50 (testifying that he was not aware of what the other interrogation teams did).

<sup>8683</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 32-35.

<sup>8684</sup> Closing Order, paras 460-472, 1373, 1376.

<sup>8685</sup> Closing Order, paras 473-474.

<sup>8686</sup> Closing Order, para. 1376.

against humanity of murder as charged in the Closing Order to encompass deaths resulting from the deplorable detention conditions at S-21.<sup>8687</sup>

2562. The Chamber has found that at least 11,742 individuals were executed by S-21 cadres in the vicinity of the S-21 compound or at Choeng Ek.<sup>8688</sup> The Chamber has found that these executions were carried out in a thorough and precise fashion. Usually prisoners had already been registered at S-21 before they were transported to Choeng Ek for execution. They were executed by a blow to the neck, after which their throats were slit with a knife, the bodies disembowelled and then buried in freshly-dug graves.<sup>8689</sup> The Chamber has also found that prisoners killed at S-21 or near the premises were buried in the surrounding area.<sup>8690</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the actus reus of murder is established with respect to detainees who were executed.

2563. The Chamber notes the systematic way in which these killings were organised, carried out and recorded, and the manner in which the bodies were disposed of in pits or mass graves.<sup>8691</sup> On occasion, photographs were taken of bodies which had been exhumed from graves in order to prove to the upper echelon that important prisoners had been killed.<sup>8692</sup> Killings, particularly of important prisoners, were reported to the higher levels.<sup>8693</sup> The Chamber has also established that S-21 cadres received instructions and training that anyone arrested and brought to S-21 was an “enemy” and that all prisoners had to be killed.<sup>8694</sup> The Chamber also found that there were direct instructions received from the upper echelon, including NUON Chea and SON Sen, to kill prisoners or groups of prisoners.<sup>8695</sup> This evidence establishes beyond reasonable doubt that the direct perpetrators, the S-21 leaders and the direct supervisors of S-21

---

<sup>8687</sup> See above, para. 2560. The Chamber’s interpretation of the phrase “ill-treatment” is consistent with jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights, which has found that poor detention conditions can constitute ill-treatment. See e.g., Peers v. Greece, Judgement, ECtHR, Application No. 28524/95, 19 April 2001, paras 63-75 (holding that the conditions of the applicants detention in the segregation unit of a prison amounted to degrading treatment in violation of Article 3 of the European Convention on Human Rights). See also, Kalashnikov v. Russia, Judgement, ECtHR, Application No. 47095/99, 15 July 2002, paras 92-103; Modarca v. Moldova, Judgement, ECtHR, Application No. 14437/05, 10 May 2007, paras 60-69.

<sup>8688</sup> See above, para. 2542.

<sup>8689</sup> See above, paras 2245-2249, 2515-2518, 2524-2526.

<sup>8690</sup> See above, paras 2507-2511.

<sup>8691</sup> See above, paras 2501-2531.

<sup>8692</sup> See above, paras 2197, 2251, 2509.

<sup>8693</sup> See above, paras 2197, 2199, 2210-2211, 2215, 2234.

<sup>8694</sup> See above, paras 2149, 2162, 2503.

<sup>8695</sup> See above, paras 2197, 2203, 2215, 2234, 2285, 2282, 2311, 2312, 2316, 2318, 2505, 2511, 2555.

including SON Sen and NUON Chea, acted with the direct intent to kill the victims. The Chamber is satisfied that the mens rea of murder is also established.

2564. The Chamber has found that a number of prisoners died as a result of the practice of blood-drawing.<sup>8696</sup> This practice was forcibly carried out on prisoners at S-21 and directly resulted in numerous deaths.<sup>8697</sup> Annotations named several individuals who had their blood drawn or who were “destroyed to take their blood” in 1977.<sup>8698</sup> The Chamber has also found that one prisoner was subjected to an experiment to allow the medical unit to study the surgical process on a live body. As a result of this experiment, the victim died.<sup>8699</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the actus reus of murder is established with respect to detainees who died as a result of blood drawing and surgical experimentation.

2565. Due to the forced nature of the blood drawing, the fact that these deaths were recorded in S-21 documents, and the nature of the surgical medical experiment, the Chamber finds that the direct perpetrators not only intended to cause serious bodily harm to the victims but acted with the knowledge that the blood drawing and the live surgical experiment could lead to death and accepted such outcome. The fact that the perpetrators repeatedly performed blood drawing and observed the physical effects that the procedure had on the prisoners’ bodies and at times their resulting deaths confirms their knowledge and acceptance of the result of their acts. The Chamber has also found that both SON Sen and Duch gave permission to carry out the blood drawing. The Chamber is satisfied that the mens rea (dolus eventualis) of murder is also established.

2566. Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence’s submissions,<sup>8700</sup> none of the killings carried out at S-21 followed a lawful process or had a legal basis. None of those killed at S-21 had the benefit of any kind of judicial process prior to their execution.<sup>8701</sup> Many prisoners were not even interrogated prior to their deaths. The findings above establish that all prisoners who entered S-21 were labelled as “enemies” and with rare exception,

<sup>8696</sup> See above, paras 2440-2446.

<sup>8697</sup> See above, paras 2440-2446.

<sup>8698</sup> See above, para. 2443.

<sup>8699</sup> See above, para. 2447.

<sup>8700</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 648, 675.

<sup>8701</sup> See above, paras 2238, 2531; Section 4: General Overview, para. 276; Section 5: Administrative Structures, para. 417.

had to be killed.<sup>8702</sup> Others killed included the wives, family members or children of those identified as enemies.<sup>8703</sup> The evidence demonstrates that there was no legal justification for these killings.<sup>8704</sup>

2567. The Chamber has found that a number of prisoners at S-21 died as a result of beatings or mistreatment during or following their interrogation.<sup>8705</sup> Interrogators were instructed by the S-21 leadership to avoid causing the death of prisoners prior to obtaining their full confession and were told that they would be held responsible and punished if a prisoner died before their confession was complete.<sup>8706</sup> Despite this instruction, the Chamber has found that a number of detainees died in the course of interrogations or died from their wounds.<sup>8707</sup> In addition, the Chamber has found that prisoners died in detention not only as a result of these wounds but also from illnesses resulting from the conditions of detention imposed, which included severe starvation, inadequate hygiene and lack of proper medical care.<sup>8708</sup> Thus, the Chamber is satisfied that the actus reus of murder is further established with regard to these facts.

2568. The manner in which prisoners were systematically mistreated at S-21, the methods of interrogation used and the fact that many of the prisoners were in poor physical conditions not only due to mistreatment but also due to conditions of detention,<sup>8709</sup> all demonstrate that death resulting from such conduct was an entirely foreseeable possibility – and occurred repeatedly. The Chamber finds that the perpetrators acted in the reasonable knowledge that their conduct would likely lead to death of the prisoners and accepted the possibility of the fatal consequences. In this regard, the Chamber recalls that in some cases, permission was expressly given to the interrogators to use brutal violence towards prisoners. For example, with respect to Ya, Duch gave an instruction allowing for the “use [of] hot methods strongly and for a long time” and instructed that “even if you make a misstep and he died, you will have done

<sup>8702</sup> See above, paras 2149, 2162-2164, 2174, 2178, 2180, 2236, 2238, 2350-2505, 2531.

<sup>8703</sup> See above, paras 2329-2335.

<sup>8704</sup> See above, paras 2253, 2501-2531; Section 4: General Overview, para. 276; Section 5: Administrative Structures, paras 417-418.

<sup>8705</sup> See above, paras 2391, 2397, 2425.

<sup>8706</sup> See above, paras 2267, 2368-2369, 2391, 2397, 2425.

<sup>8707</sup> See above, paras 2397, 2425, 2436.

<sup>8708</sup> See above, paras 2367, 2390-2391, 2397, 2432, 2435-2436.

<sup>8709</sup> See above, paras 2363- 2401, 2433-2439.

nothing wrong in terms of organisational discipline”.<sup>8710</sup> In light of the above the Chamber is satisfied that the mens rea (dolus eventualis) of murder is also established.

2569. Some victims who were killed were former soldiers, and the Chamber recalls that victims of crimes against humanity may include non-civilians.<sup>8711</sup> Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the executions of at least 11,742 individuals, as well as deaths resulting from blood drawing, medical experiments, beatings or mistreatment and conditions of detention all constitute the crime against humanity of murder at S-21.

12.2.24.1.2. Extermination

2570. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of extermination at S-21 on the basis that the perpetrators’ acts and omissions, either direct or indirect, caused the deaths of a very large number of people, including through the creation of conditions that were calculated to bring about the destruction of part of the population.<sup>8712</sup> Specifically, it charges that in addition to individual killings, there is sufficient evidence of executions and deaths resulting from torture and other acts of violence of both a massive and collective character. It refers to documentary records establishing the death of more than 12,000 people at S-21.<sup>8713</sup>

2571. The Chamber has already established above that the intentional execution of at least 11,742 individuals in the vicinity of S-21 and at Choeung Ek constituted the crime against humanity of murder.<sup>8714</sup> These killings clearly formed part of the same murder operation.<sup>8715</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that killings were committed on a massive scale, thus establishing the actus reus of extermination. The systematic manner in which the killings were organised, the nature and objective of the S-21 facility, the way in which the killings were co-ordinated by the S-21 leadership, the manner in which the killings were carried out, the deliberate way in which the bodies were subsequently disposed of after the killings, and the orders which were given to those who physically carried out these killings<sup>8716</sup> all collectively show that the direct perpetrators, the S-21 leadership

<sup>8710</sup> See above, paras 2232, 2279.

<sup>8711</sup> Section 4: General Overview, paras 305-312.

<sup>8712</sup> Closing Order, paras 1381-1382.

<sup>8713</sup> Closing Order, para. 1385.

<sup>8714</sup> See above, para. 2542, Section 12.2.24.1.1: Murder.

<sup>8715</sup> See above, paras 2507-2531, Section 12.2.24.1.1: Murder.

<sup>8716</sup> See above, paras 2162-2163, 2197, 2203, 2215, 2234, 2236, 2285, 2311, 2316, 2318, 2350, 2502-2521, 2540, 2542, 2531, 2555.

and the direct supervisors of S-21 including SON Sen and NUON Chea, acted with intent to kill on a mass scale. The Chamber is satisfied that the mens rea of extermination is also established. The Chamber accordingly finds that the execution of at least 11,742 individuals in and around S-21 and at Choeung Ek constitutes the crime against humanity of extermination.

12.2.24.1.3. Enslavement

2572. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of enslavement at S-21 on the basis that prisoners at S-21 Security Centre were subjected to total physical and psychological control, such that virtually all decisions concerning their physical environment were made by the authorities in order to achieve Party goals. Victims were forced to perform work without their consent and without remuneration, and the perpetrators deliberately exercised all powers attached to the right of ownership over the detainees.<sup>8717</sup>

2573. The Chamber has found that detainees who had particular skills were forced to work at S-21 as carpenters, interpreters, cooks, medics, mechanics, construction workers and artists and other capacities.<sup>8718</sup> Although they continued to be treated as prisoners, the conditions of detention for those who worked at S-21 improved slightly.<sup>8719</sup> While they were still destined to be killed, their executions were suspended so that they could be used to work at S-21. While they were working, the detainees were guarded and warned that they would be shot if they tried to escape. At the end of the work day, they were returned to their cells and, in the case of CHUM Mey, shackled.<sup>8720</sup> The Chamber finds that the conditions in which individuals were detained at S-21, the lack of freedom of movement, the interrogations and executions created a pervasive atmosphere of fear in which the provision of genuine consent to work was impossible.<sup>8721</sup> The Chamber finds that S-21 personnel intentionally exercised powers over the prisoners attaching to the rights of ownership. Prisoners were brought to the work station from their cells, forced to work, guarded while they worked and brought back to their cells at night. They did not receive compensation and were temporarily

<sup>8717</sup> Closing Order, paras 1391-1394.

<sup>8718</sup> See above, para. 2450.

<sup>8719</sup> See above, paras 2450-2452, 2454.

<sup>8720</sup> See above, Section 12.2.15: Forced Work.

<sup>8721</sup> See above, para. 2238, Section 12.2.12: Conditions of Detention.

kept alive so that they could carry out the work.<sup>8722</sup> The Chamber finds that these individuals were reduced to mere commodities, and exploited for the benefit of the Party until they were to be executed.<sup>8723</sup> The physical and psychological control exerted over prisoners was absolute. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that both the actus reus and the mens rea of enslavement are established. The Chamber accordingly finds that the crime against humanity of enslavement is established in relation to prisoners who were forced to work at S-21.

12.2.24.1.4. Imprisonment

2574. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of imprisonment at S-21 on the basis that S-21 staff intentionally imposed serious, arbitrary deprivation of liberty on the detainees in violation of legal guarantees. The Closing Order finds that the network of security centres replaced the judicial system in order to facilitate detention in violation of detainees' fundamental right to liberty and security as recognised under international law. Prisoners were not informed of the cause of their arrest or permitted to challenge their detention.<sup>8724</sup>

2575. The NUON Chea Defence submits that there were both factual and legal basis for the arrests and detention at S-21.<sup>8725</sup> In relation to the legitimate factual reasons, the NUON Chea Defence submits that in most cases there were reasonable grounds for the arrest. According to the Defence, "thorough investigations, and notably monitoring, were carried out prior to arrests to ensure that people were rightfully suspected of participation in unlawful activities".<sup>8726</sup> Regarding the legal basis, the NUON Chea Defence submits that S-21 implemented the "lawful policy to defend DK's national sovereignty and safeguard the territorial integrity of the nation" from traitors and spies collaborating with Vietnamese armed forces or engaging in subversive activities that could seriously jeopardise the integrity and safety of the country.<sup>8727</sup> The Co-Prosecutors respond that international law does not permit authorities to imprison and execute people without judicial process.<sup>8728</sup> They submit that arrests and imprisonments

<sup>8722</sup> See above, paras 2237-2238, 2245-2246, 2253, 2363, 2364, 2368, Section 12.2.15: Forced Work.

<sup>8723</sup> See above, para. 2351.

<sup>8724</sup> Closing Order, paras 1402-1404.

<sup>8725</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 538-539, 553-554.

<sup>8726</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 538.

<sup>8727</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 553-554, 558-562, 565-566, 568-572, 574-575, 577.

<sup>8728</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, para. 650.

were carried out without due process: individuals were arrested solely on the basis of others' torture-induced confessions; prisoners were not informed of their rights and the charges against them, nor were they entitled to challenge their arrest and imprisonment through any judicial mechanism.<sup>8729</sup>

2576. The Chamber has found that from at least October 1975 until the abandonment of S-21 in early January 1979, S-21 was used for the detention of prisoners who had been identified as "enemies" by the CPK.<sup>8730</sup>

2577. The Chamber has found that, according to the aforementioned S-21 lists in evidence, at the very least, 10,887 prisoners were arrested and detained at S-21 during its operation.<sup>8731</sup> Detainees were arrested or transferred from a number of locations and zones across Cambodia to S-21. Those detained included Party members, revolutionary combatants, military and political leaders, monks, CPK officials, factory workers, soldiers, hospital workers, railway workers, engineers, intellectuals, former diplomats and ambassadors, district and commune-level officials, medics, performance artists, ministry workers and former Khmer Republic officials.<sup>8732</sup> The Chamber has also found, based in part on its analysis of S-21 prisoner lists, that S-21 staff were also subjected to purges and many were arrested, detained and killed at S-21.<sup>8733</sup> Important prisoners who were detained at S-21 included secretaries and deputy secretaries of zones, sectors, divisions and ministry officials.<sup>8734</sup> As found above, foreign prisoners including Vietnamese soldiers and civilians were also arrested, detained and killed at S-21.<sup>8735</sup>

2578. The Chamber has established that individuals were often arrested and detained at S-21 when they were implicated in confessions extracted from S-21 prisoners. Associates, friends and family members of those identified as enemies were rounded up, arrested and detained in large groups.<sup>8736</sup> For example, after KOY Thon's

<sup>8729</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, para. 648.

<sup>8730</sup> See above, paras 2135-2144, 2149, 2162-2164, 2236, 2558-2559.

<sup>8731</sup> See above, para. 2541.

<sup>8732</sup> See above, paras 2239, 2248, Section 12.2.22: Prisoner List Data and Analysis; Section 12.2.18: Former Khmer Republic Officials; Section 12.2.20: Foreign Detainees.

<sup>8733</sup> See above, Section 12.2.16: Arrest of S-21 Staff; Section 12.2.8.4.4: NUN Huy alias Huy Sre; Section 12.2.8.5.3: IN Lorn alias Nat.

<sup>8734</sup> See above, Section 12.2.8: Prominent Prisoners and Internal Purges.

<sup>8735</sup> See above, para. 2544, Section 12.2.20: Foreign Detainees; Section 12.2.17: Vietnamese Detainees.

<sup>8736</sup> See above, paras 2203-2204, 2206, 2233, 2268, 2270, 2273.

confessions, hundreds of people were arrested from the North Zone in early 1977.<sup>8737</sup> Typically, if a leader of a “network” or division was arrested, all people considered part of that network were arrested as well.<sup>8738</sup>

2579. The Chamber has found that some important individuals were monitored and arrested only after being implicated in a number of confessions.<sup>8739</sup> However, contrary to the NUON Chea Defence’s submissions, there is nothing to suggest that these individuals were arrested on the basis of concrete evidence.<sup>8740</sup> The Chamber finds that while they may have been implicated by multiple confessions, these confessions were obtained under conditions marked by intimidation, torture and fear.<sup>8741</sup> The Chamber finds that confessions given under these circumstances did not provide a legal basis for the arrest and continued detention of individuals without charge.<sup>8742</sup>

2580. Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence’s submissions,<sup>8743</sup> there is no evidence that most prisoners at S-21 were the subject of thorough investigations and monitoring prior to their arrests to ensure “that people were rightfully suspected of participation in unlawful activities”. Conversely, the evidence shows that individuals were detained without due process of law and without a warrant or any document emanating from an investigative or judicial authority. Moreover, there were often mass arrests and detention of individuals simply on the basis of association with perceived enemies, usually established through confessions obtained by torture. The Chamber recalls its finding that prisoners were arrested by virtue of association and status rather than any genuine suspicion.<sup>8744</sup> This did not provide a legal basis for arrests or detention.

2581. Further, the Chamber has found that any person who entered S-21 had already been deemed an “enemy” by the CPK and there was no room for the interrogators or S-21 staff to question that decision.<sup>8745</sup> Their role was simply to confirm the assumption that these individuals were “enemies” and to extract confessions which implicated

<sup>8737</sup> See above, para. 2289, 2548-2551.

<sup>8738</sup> See above, para. 2458, Section 12.2.8: Prominent Prisoners and Internal Purges.

<sup>8739</sup> See above, paras 2229, 2272, 2274, 2277, 2286.

<sup>8740</sup> See above, para. 2272; NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 538-539.

<sup>8741</sup> See above, paras 2238, 2245-2246, 2364-2431.

<sup>8742</sup> Section 9: Applicable Law: Crimes, paras 691-694.

<sup>8743</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 538. See above, para. 2575.

<sup>8744</sup> See above, paras 2203-2204, 2206, 2226, 2233, 2240, 2253, 2268, 2270, 2273; Section 12.2.7: Arrests, Arrival, Registration and Prisoner Photographs at S-21.

<sup>8745</sup> See above, paras 2163-2164, 2169, 2386.

others who were subsequently arrested.<sup>8746</sup> Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence's submissions, these implications did not constitute a legal basis for the arrest and continued detention of these individuals.<sup>8747</sup>

2582. Prisoners were not informed of the reason for their arrest, nor were they provided access to legal recourse.<sup>8748</sup> In this regard, the Chamber recalls its finding that no functioning judiciary existed during the DK period.<sup>8749</sup> Prisoners were cut off from all direct communication and if they wanted to make reports or requests they had to do so through the S-21 leadership. For example, as found above, KOY Thuon was told that he no longer had the right to meet Angkar and could only report to Angkar through Duch.<sup>8750</sup> When prisoners were arrested and brought to S-21 they were not provided with any information on their rights, what they were accused of or provided with counsel or access to judges. The prisoners had no opportunity to defend themselves against the allegations levelled against them and were never formally charged.<sup>8751</sup>

2583. Even allowing for the possibility that, as claimed by the NUON Chea Defence, there was a factual or legal basis for the initial detentions, the prisoners' continued detention would have become unlawful given that they were not provided with the opportunity to review their initial arrest and detention and thus were arbitrarily deprived of their liberty without due process of law.<sup>8752</sup> The NUON Chea Defence's submissions in this regard are therefore rejected. The Chamber is satisfied that the actus reus of imprisonment is established.

2584. The arbitrary arrests, the systematic failure to inform and sufficiently particularise the charges levelled against prisoners that allegedly caused their detention,

<sup>8746</sup> See above, paras 2161, 2253, 2372-2402. See also, paras 2273-2274, 2277, 2279, 2286-2287, 2291-2292, 2300, 2313, 2320, 2322-2323.

<sup>8747</sup> With regard to the NUON Chea Defence submissions that in times of public emergency states may derogate from certain obligations related to individuals' arrests and fair trial guarantees, the Chamber reiterates that pursuant to the ICCPR, a state is required to give notice of its intent to do so. There is no evidence to suggest that DK authorities at any time officially proclaimed the existence of a "public emergency which threatens the life of the nation." See Section 12.5: Phnom Kraol Security Centre, paras 3081-3082.

<sup>8748</sup> See above, para. 2531; Section 12.2.7: Arrests, Arrival, Registration and Prisoner Photographs at S-21.

<sup>8749</sup> Section 4: General Overview, para. 276; Section 5: Administrative Structures, paras 417-418.

<sup>8750</sup> See above, paras 2179, 2238, 2245, 2287, 2363, 2368; Section 12.2.5.4: Internal Reporting Structure; Section 12.2.5.5: External Reporting Structure.

<sup>8751</sup> See above, paras 2236, 2238, 2253.

<sup>8752</sup> Section 9.1.5: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Imprisonment.

the prolonged detention without access to procedural safeguards or any ability to challenge their detention all demonstrates the flagrant, deliberate and continuous denial of due process rights that constitutes arbitrary detention contrary to international law. The Chamber is satisfied that the evidence above proves that the perpetrators demonstrated the requisite intent to arbitrarily deprive the individual of liberty. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of imprisonment is also established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of imprisonment is established at S-21 Security Centre.

12.2.24.1.5. Torture

2585. The Closing Order charges the Accused with crime against humanity of torture at S-21 on the basis that CPK cadres, through acts or omissions, deliberately inflicted severe physical and mental harm and suffering during interrogations. It finds that the interrogation methods, inhumane conditions, and context of terror in the security centres had serious physical and psychological effects, at times resulting in death. Torture was a premeditated, institutionalised policy use against “enemies” in order to extract confessions regarding subversive activities and identify members of the enemy “network” for arrest.<sup>8753</sup>

2586. The Chamber has found that at S-21 there were “cold”, “hot” and “chewing” interrogation units which applied different forms of mistreatment during the course of interrogations.<sup>8754</sup> Several methods of mistreatment were discussed with and approved by SON Sen and systematically inflicted on prisoners at S-21. Duch also taught the interrogation techniques to the interrogators.<sup>8755</sup>

2587. In assessing whether the acts inflicted caused severe pain or suffering, be it physical or mental, the Chamber has considered a number of objective and subjective criteria.<sup>8756</sup>

2588. Prisoners were brought to interrogation rooms handcuffed and blindfolded and had their legs chained during the questioning. The forms of severe mistreatment during

<sup>8753</sup> Closing Order, paras 1408-1411.

<sup>8754</sup> See above, Section 12.2.12.2: “Cold”, “Hot” and “Chewing” Units; Section 12.2.12.3: Interrogation Methods and Mistreatment.

<sup>8755</sup> See above, paras 2162, 2201, 2260, 2392, 2405.

<sup>8756</sup> Section 9: Applicable Law: Crimes, para. 703.

interrogations included beatings with sticks, rods, rattan, bamboo, tree branches, electrical wire, whips and other tools; the use of electroshocks; suffocation through covering the head with a plastic bag; covering the mouth and nose with a towel and pouring cold water from a kettle; and the extraction of toenails and fingernails. Prisoners were cursed at and humiliated during interrogations and some were also forced to eat excrement and pay homage to images of dogs.<sup>8757</sup>

2589. The Chamber has found many individual examples of prisoners who were subjected to this kind of mistreatment in order to secure a confession. For example, as discussed above, the Chamber has found that individual examples include CHUM Mey, TIT Son alias Nhem, YIM Sambath, SEAT Chhae alias Tum, CHHIM Sam Aok alias Pang, LY Phen, HU Nim, NEY Sarann alias Ya and VORN Vet, all of whom were tortured to secure confessions about their supposed traitorous networks.<sup>8758</sup> Further, in one summary of a confession that was sent to NUON Chea, the interrogator noted that the prisoner “did not confess to being a traitor until he had been tortured [...] he did not provide clear information; thus he was tortured. After being tortured, he provided clear information about his systematic networks and activities.”<sup>8759</sup> The Chamber has established that prisoners were subjected to severe mistreatment in order to force them to produce and re-write their confessions until the content conformed with the Party’s expectations.<sup>8760</sup> Duch’s superiors, SON Sen and subsequently NUON Chea, were provided with full original confessions including annotations which described the use of torture,<sup>8761</sup> some of which refer to express instructions from “Angkar” to torture.<sup>8762</sup> Some confessions were the result of interrogations carried out over an extended period of time.<sup>8763</sup> The Chamber has found that the upper echelon was informed that torture was one of the methods used to extract confessions from prisoners who were detained at S-21. The upper echelon was also sometimes asked for clarification and gave further instructions with respect to these interrogations.<sup>8764</sup>

<sup>8757</sup> See above, para. 2377; Section 12.2.12.3: Interrogation Methods and Mistreatment.

<sup>8758</sup> See above, paras 2268, 2277, 2279-2280, 2287, 2302, 2304, 2306, 2315-2316, 2322, 2328, 2395-2396, 2411-2431.

<sup>8759</sup> See above, para. 2231.

<sup>8760</sup> See above, paras 2275, 2287, 2302, 2406, 2415; Section 12.2.12.3: Interrogation Methods and Mistreatment.

<sup>8761</sup> See above, paras 2221-2222, 2229-2232.

<sup>8762</sup> See above, para. 2232.

<sup>8763</sup> See above, paras 2287, 2316, 2384.

<sup>8764</sup> See above, paras 2412-2431.

2590. The Chamber has established that prisoners were threatened and told, for example, that they would not be beaten to death before they provided complete answers. Other prisoners were threatened in order to pressure them to reveal information about their own involvement in traitorous activities.<sup>8765</sup> One prisoner was threatened that if he continued to hide this information he would have his ankle tendons and eyes pierced.<sup>8766</sup> Another prisoner was threatened that he would be “gradually tortured to death” if he continued to safeguard information about treasonous forces.<sup>8767</sup> The Chamber has found that one of the cold interrogation techniques involved applying psychological pressure, making the prisoners fear for the safety of their wives and children and telling the prisoners that they would not have a chance to see their family if they did not confess.<sup>8768</sup> Other techniques included psychologically breaking the prisoners by destroying their trust in their associates and telling them that the decision of keeping them alive or “smashing” them depended on the judgement of the Party.<sup>8769</sup>

2591. The Chamber has found that some prisoners died following the severe abuse inflicted during interrogations.<sup>8770</sup> The Chamber has also found that prisoners who were beaten with whips had wounds and scars on their body, which remained for several months, and that some prisoners were beaten so severely that they lost consciousness.<sup>8771</sup> As a result of beatings and mistreatment during interrogations at S-21, prisoners such as CHUM Mey suffered broken bones and long-term physical consequences. CHUM Mey also lost consciousness during his interrogation after being subjected to electric shocks.<sup>8772</sup> The Chamber’s findings that severe pain and suffering were inflicted on prisoners are supported by annotations on confessions discussed above.<sup>8773</sup> For example, one annotation noted that after being tortured, the prisoner could not get up and had constant nausea. A further annotation observed that a

---

<sup>8765</sup> See above, paras 2245, 2279, 2287-2288, 2292, 2389.

<sup>8766</sup> See above, para. 2292.

<sup>8767</sup> See above, para. 2421.

<sup>8768</sup> See above, para. 2379.

<sup>8769</sup> See above, para. 2428.

<sup>8770</sup> See above, paras 2390-2391, 2397.

<sup>8771</sup> See above, para. 2393.

<sup>8772</sup> See above, para. 2388.

<sup>8773</sup> See above, paras 2411-2431.

prisoner's head bled after he was hit with a lock three times.<sup>8774</sup> Detainees who survived also suffered extreme mental harm and could hear the screams of other prisoners.<sup>8775</sup>

2592. Where no specific evidence was available regarding the impact on a particular individual of the treatment imposed in his or her case, the Chamber has considered the nature and severity of the conduct described. The Chamber has further considered the circumstances in which the mistreatment was inflicted against these individuals, who were evidently placed in a position of vulnerability and an environment of fear. The Chamber finds that the severe mental suffering inflicted upon prisoners is demonstrated by the fact that prisoners begged for their lives, implored to be spared from mistreatment and pleaded for forgiveness from the CPK.<sup>8776</sup> Furthermore, guards were instructed to watch over prisoners to make sure that they did not commit suicide.<sup>8777</sup> The circumstances under which the prisoners were imprisoned and interrogated, the length of their detention without any outside communication and without any protection from the law, in combination with the awareness that other prisoners regularly disappeared, led to a genuine fear for their lives and placed them in a position of vulnerability and inferiority with respect to S-21 cadres.<sup>8778</sup>

2593. The NUON Chea Defence acknowledges that some mistreatment at S-21 may have reached the level of torture, but contends that "this was the exception" and that any such acts were conducted by staff who were deviating from the official policy.<sup>8779</sup>

2594. Having considered the objective and subjective criteria above, the Chamber is satisfied beyond reasonable doubt that the acts described above caused severe physical and mental pain and suffering. The Chamber did not hear sufficient evidence to establish that physical torture was inflicted with respect to each and every prisoner at S-21. However, having regard to the credible evidence of insiders, victims and contemporaneous documents, the Chamber finds that there was extensive use of torture

---

<sup>8774</sup> See above, para. 2416.

<sup>8775</sup> See above, para. 2393.

<sup>8776</sup> See above, paras 2179, 2293, 2305.

<sup>8777</sup> See above, para. 2369.

<sup>8778</sup> See above, para. 2253; Section 12.2.12: Conditions of Detention.

<sup>8779</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 580, 588; T. 16 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/523.1, pp. 88-89.

at S-21 in order obtain confessions from prisoners who did not immediately provide a confession that supported the alleged existence of traitors' networks.<sup>8780</sup>

2595. The Chamber finds that this mistreatment was exclusively inflicted by S-21 cadres who were acting on behalf of the DK authorities and were thus public officials. This mistreatment was inflicted during the course of interrogations for a variety of purposes: to obtain information or a confession, as a means of intimidation, as punishment for failing to confess and to pressure prisoners to implicate associates. The Chamber is satisfied that the actus reus of torture is established.

2596. The Chamber has found that before resorting to physical violence, interrogators sought permission from their supervisors including Duch.<sup>8781</sup> Duch discussed methods of torture used at S-21 with SON Sen, who agreed to them.<sup>8782</sup> In training sessions, interrogators were told to feel no pity for the "enemy" even if they were dealing with their parents.<sup>8783</sup> S-21 cadres were instructed by Duch to be absolute in striking the enemy and to be merciless, firm and loyal to the Party. They were told that all people arrested by Angkar were "enemies" and were instructed that they had to work hard to obtain confessions for the Party, to search for networks based on the answers provided by prisoners, to take an "absolute" approach, to take vengeance and to harbour anger against the enemy.<sup>8784</sup> The Chamber therefore finds that these acts causing severe pain or suffering were inflicted intentionally. The mens rea of torture is also established.

2597. In view of the above, the Chamber finds that prisoners at S-21 were subjected to acts which caused severe physical and mental pain or suffering, and which were carried out intentionally by S-21 cadres acting on behalf of DK authorities. These acts were performed with the purpose of obtaining information, inflicting punishment and causing intimidation. The Chamber therefore finds that the crime against humanity of torture is established at S-21 Security Centre.

<sup>8780</sup> See above, paras 2268, 2277, 2279-2280, 2287, 2302, 2304, 2306, 2315-2316, 2322, 2328, 2395-2396, 2411-2431; Section 12.2.12.1: Interrogations and Mistreatment of Detainees; Section 12.2.12.2: "Cold", "Hot" and "Chewing" Units; Section 12.2.12.3: Interrogation Methods and Mistreatment.

<sup>8781</sup> See above, para. 2389.

<sup>8782</sup> See above, para. 2201.

<sup>8783</sup> See above, para. 2163.

<sup>8784</sup> See above, paras 2161-2164, 2168-2180, 2383.

12.2.24.1.6. Persecution on political grounds

2598. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds of “real or perceived enemies of the CPK”, which it defines as those whose real or perceived political beliefs were contrary to the CPK, or were opposed to those wielding power within the Party. According to the Closing Order, such people were “arrested en masse for re-education and elimination” at security centres including S-21.<sup>8785</sup> The Closing Order finds in this regard that some junior officials of the former LON Nol regime were arrested, many were executed at S-21 and that intellectuals, students and diplomatic staff who were living abroad were recalled to Cambodia and sent to re-education camps or to S-21.<sup>8786</sup>

2599. In relation to S-21, the Closing Order specifically identifies numerous real or perceived enemies to the CPK or its ideology, including those considered to be traitors, CIA or KGB, or Vietnamese.<sup>8787</sup> People arrested under such suspicion included RAK soldiers, CPK cadres, ministry personnel, former Khmer Republic soldiers and officials, intellectuals, diplomats returning from abroad and foreigners.<sup>8788</sup>

2600. The Chamber has already found that the specific categories of real or perceived enemies mentioned above are not exhaustive, but included detractors of the socialist revolution and critics or opponents of the Party and these categories continued to expand over time.<sup>8789</sup> The discernibility of the targeted group may be assessed by examining whether the victims belonged to a category of the group as identified by the Party leadership. As set out elsewhere in this Judgement, the Chamber is satisfied that the target group of “real or perceived enemies of the CPK” was sufficiently discernible in order to determine whether the requisite consequences occurred for the group.<sup>8790</sup>

<sup>8785</sup> Closing Order, paras 1416-1418.

<sup>8786</sup> Closing Order, para. 1417.

<sup>8787</sup> Closing Order, para. 455.

<sup>8788</sup> Closing Order, paras 424-433.

<sup>8789</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies; The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that the charge of persecution on political grounds is restricted to the three categories of enemy particularised in the Closing Order (namely, former Khmer Republic Officials, New People and Cambodians returning from abroad. See KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1255. This submission has been addressed and rejected elsewhere in this Judgement. See Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 170.

<sup>8790</sup> See e.g., Section 12.4 Au Kanseng Security Centre, paras 2981-2983.

2601. The Chamber has found that the focus of the S-21 operation was directed against real or perceived political enemies of the CPK.<sup>8791</sup> Individuals were arrested because they were implicated as members of an enemy network in confessions and were detained and subsequently interrogated with the use of torture to obtain confessions on their networks. They were eventually executed. On occasion, individuals were executed without being interrogated.<sup>8792</sup> Detainees were held in detention in extremely poor hygienic conditions and prevented from speaking and moving without permission for fear of being beaten.<sup>8793</sup> Detainees were subjected to physical and psychological torture. In particular, some were humiliated by having to at times eat their own faeces and bow to images of dogs.<sup>8794</sup> Some were forced to work and were momentarily spared from execution.<sup>8795</sup> Those arrested, detained, interrogated, tortured and ultimately executed at S-21 were identified and arrested based on the fact that they were labelled as enemies, traitors or spies and viewed as political enemies of the CPK and the revolution. These individuals were arrested en masse as described above, particularly during the purges and in connection to the escalation of the conflict with Vietnam.<sup>8796</sup> The prisoners at S-21 were subjected to severe mistreatment, including during the course of interrogations, and were held in deplorable living conditions prior to their execution at S-21 or Choeung Ek because they were labelled as enemies of the revolution. The Chamber is satisfied that the actus reus of persecution is established.

2602. The Chamber will now consider whether the foregoing underlying acts were discriminatory in fact and deliberately perpetrated with the intent to discriminate against the targeted group of real or perceived enemies, such as to constitute persecution on political grounds. The Chamber has established that those arrested and detained at S-21 were in fact viewed as internal or external enemies with perceived links to the CIA, KGB or the Vietnamese, from the time of arrest throughout their detention.<sup>8797</sup> The Chamber has found that individuals were arrested, detained, subjected to harsher

---

<sup>8791</sup> See above, Section 12.2.5.3: Political Training and Party Discipline; Section 12.2.8: Prominent Prisoners and Internal Purges.

<sup>8792</sup> See above, Section 12.2.5.3: Political Training and Party Discipline; Section 12.2.8: Prominent Prisoners and Internal Purges; Section 12.2.21: Killings.

<sup>8793</sup> See above, paras 2363-2364, 2367-2369, 2434-2436.

<sup>8794</sup> See above, paras 2366, 2392, 2394.

<sup>8795</sup> See above, Section 12.2.15: Forced Work; Section 12.2.24.1.3: Enslavement.

<sup>8796</sup> See above, paras 2236, 2547-2552; Section 12.2.5.3: Political Training and Party Discipline; Section 12.2.8: Prominent Prisoners and Internal Purges.

<sup>8797</sup> See above, Section 12.2.5.3: Political Training and Party Discipline; Section 12.2.8: Prominent Prisoners and Internal Purges.

treatment and living conditions and ultimately tortured and executed at S-21 as a direct result of their perceived status as enemies of the CPK. Having found that the victims were in fact perceived to be enemies and therefore part of the targeted group, the Chamber is satisfied that the foregoing acts were discriminatory in fact. The Chamber has established that there was a policy targeting perceived political adversaries and that this was systematically disseminated.<sup>8798</sup> Further, the regular training and study sessions attended by S-21 cadres highlighted the need to target and destroy those labelled as enemies.<sup>8799</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the mens rea of persecution is also established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the acts were committed at S-21 with the intent to discriminate on political grounds.

2603. The conduct the Chamber has taken into account for the purposes of persecution has been found to amount to independent crimes against humanity including murder, extermination, enslavement, imprisonment, torture and other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity. The Chamber has considered all of this conduct together with the surrounding context and finds that these acts cumulatively rise to the requisite level of severity such as to constitute persecution. Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied that the arrest, detention, mistreatment, conditions of detention and killing of perceived enemies at S-21 constituted the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds.

2604. The Chamber therefore finds that the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds is established at S-21 Security Centre.

12.2.24.1.7. Persecution on racial grounds

2605. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of persecution on racial grounds on the basis that “Vietnamese people were deliberately and systematically identified and targeted due to their perceived race”, as they were perceived by the CPK to be “racially distinct from Cambodian people”.<sup>8800</sup> With respect to S-21 in particular, Vietnamese were arrested, detained and killed. The Closing Order

<sup>8798</sup> See above, Section 12.2.5.3: Political Training and Party Discipline; Section 16.2: Common Purpose: Development of the Common Purpose; Section 16.3.2.1: Real or Perceived Enemies: The Stratification of the Population and the Categorisation of Enemies; Section 16.3.2.3: Real or Perceived Enemies: Dissemination of Information regarding Enemies.

<sup>8799</sup> See above, Section 12.2.5.3: Political Training and Party Discipline.

<sup>8800</sup> Closing Order, para. 1422.

finds that the intent to discriminate is reflected in the context of the attack and circumstances surrounding the commission of the acts.<sup>8801</sup>

2606. The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that the evidence is insufficient to conclude that persecution of Vietnamese people on racial grounds occurred.<sup>8802</sup> The Defence submits that everyone at S-21 was considered to be a traitor to the nation or an enemy, and they were all treated in the same way, without distinction as to race or nationality.<sup>8803</sup> They submit that although a number of Vietnamese were held at S-21, they were not treated differently in terms of the conditions of their detention, or the nature of their interrogation. Accordingly, the Defence submits that the Vietnamese held at S-21 were not persecuted on the basis of their race.<sup>8804</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence notes that in Case 001, the Trial Chamber's conviction for persecution on political grounds was overturned by the Supreme Court Chamber on appeal and that the Chamber should adopt the same kind of reasoning on the basis that all detainees were treated equally and subjected to the same regime of terror, and acquit the Accused of all charges for persecution on racial or political grounds.<sup>8805</sup> The NUON Chea Defence posits that there is no evidence generally proving that any crimes were linked to the fact that the alleged victims belonged to the Vietnamese race, or that the perpetrators intended to discriminate based on race.<sup>8806</sup>

2607. The Chamber has established that the Vietnamese constituted a significant proportion of the foreign detainees at S-21. They were arrested from various locations near the border with Vietnam and in Cambodian territorial waters and included both soldiers and civilians.<sup>8807</sup> Vietnamese were arrested, detained, interrogated and executed at S-21, and were targeted on the basis that they were considered by the CPK to be racially distinct from the Cambodian people. The training and study sessions

---

<sup>8801</sup> Closing Order, paras 1422-1424.

<sup>8802</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1196.

<sup>8803</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1196-1211; T. 21 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/526.1, pp. 14-15.

<sup>8804</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1212-1219.

<sup>8805</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1217-1219.

<sup>8806</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 876-877.

<sup>8807</sup> See above, paras 2460-2461, 2478, 2480-2481.

attended by S-21 cadres inculcated national hatred and fear of the Vietnamese and their territorial ambitions.<sup>8808</sup>

2608. The Vietnamese prisoners were also labelled as “enemies”.<sup>8809</sup> While the Vietnamese were also seen as political enemies, it is clear that they were primarily identified as being hereditary enemies by virtue of their race.<sup>8810</sup> In this regard, the Chamber has found that they were referred to in a derogatory way and regarded with contempt by S-21 cadres.<sup>8811</sup> The Chamber finds that those Vietnamese who were detained, interrogated and ultimately executed at S-21 were labelled as Vietnamese spies or soldiers who were enemies of the CPK and the revolution.<sup>8812</sup>

2609. The Chamber will now consider whether the foregoing underlying acts were discriminatory in fact and deliberately perpetrated with the intent to discriminate against the targeted group of Vietnamese, such as to constitute persecution on racial grounds. The Chamber’s findings above establish that those Vietnamese arrested and detained at S-21 were viewed as enemies throughout their detention. Contrary to the KHIEU Samphan Defence’s submissions outlined above,<sup>8813</sup> the Chamber finds that the Vietnamese individuals were arrested, detained, interrogated and executed at S-21 based on their racial difference. The Chamber accordingly finds that the acts were committed at S-21 with the intent to discriminate on racial grounds. Having found that the victims were in fact Vietnamese and therefore part of the targeted group, the Chamber is satisfied that the foregoing acts were discriminatory in fact. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that both the actus reus and the mens rea of persecution are established. As discussed above, the acts committed with discriminatory intent include acts separately found to amount to independent crimes against humanity including murder and imprisonment.<sup>8814</sup>

<sup>8808</sup> See above, paras 2167-2168, 2174-2175; Section 12.2.17: Vietnamese Detainees; Section 13.3.5: Targeting of the Vietnamese; Section 13.3.6: Treatment of the Vietnamese: Identification of the Vietnamese and Matrilineal Ethnicity; Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3853.

<sup>8809</sup> See above, paras 2167-2168, 2174-2175; Section 12.2.17: Vietnamese Detainees.

<sup>8810</sup> Section 13.3.6: Treatment of the Vietnamese: Identification of the Vietnamese and Matrilineal Ethnicity.

<sup>8811</sup> See above, paras 2167-2168, 2174-2175, 2235, 2311, 2408, 2469-2471, 2476.

<sup>8812</sup> See above, paras 2167, 2174-2175; Section 12.2.17: Vietnamese Detainees.

<sup>8813</sup> See above, para. 2606.

<sup>8814</sup> See above, para. 2603.

2610. The Chamber therefore finds that the crime against humanity of persecution on racial grounds is established at S-21 Security Centre.

12.2.24.1.8. Other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity

2611. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity at S-21, in particular through the conditions imposed at S-21, including deprivation of sufficient food, medical attention and sanitation, resulting in physical and psychological deterioration and at times death.<sup>8815</sup>

2612. The Chamber has found that S-21 prisoners were held in deplorable conditions. Prisoners were handcuffed and blindfolded before their arrival at S-21 and were then forced to strip to their underwear.<sup>8816</sup> They were forced to sit and sleep on the bare floor with their ankles constantly shackled.<sup>8817</sup> Prisoners were only taken out of their cells for interrogation or to work or for execution.<sup>8818</sup> Some prisoners were held in solitary confinement with windows completely closed. Most prisoners were detained in rooms of 20 to 60 detainees and were shackled and had to ask for permission if they wanted to move or sit. Prisoners were instructed not to speak with other detainees and to keep silent.<sup>8819</sup>

2613. The Chamber has found that hygienic conditions at S-21 were very poor. Prisoners were provided with a small bucket container in order to relieve themselves and, as they had to eat and sleep in the same place, could smell the excrement and urine. Prisoners were on occasion forced to consume excrement or urine. Given the poor hygienic conditions, prisoners were infested with lice and also suffered from skin rashes.<sup>8820</sup> Prisoners were rarely able to wash and had water thrown or sprayed on them.<sup>8821</sup> Those held in solitary confinement were not allowed to bathe. Prisoners were also provided with insufficient food which had dire consequences for their health.<sup>8822</sup>

<sup>8815</sup> Closing Order, paras 1434-1438.

<sup>8816</sup> See above, paras 2245-2246.

<sup>8817</sup> See above, para. 2363.

<sup>8818</sup> See above, paras 2363, 2502.

<sup>8819</sup> See above, paras 2363-2364, 2368.

<sup>8820</sup> See above, paras 2325, 2366, 2392, 2438.

<sup>8821</sup> See above, paras 2365-2366.

<sup>8822</sup> See above, paras 2366-2367.

2614. The Chamber has also found that prisoners were given inadequate medical care. While S-21 did have a medical unit at one point, the medics in this unit were all arrested and replaced by untrained children. The Chamber found that while prisoners were sometimes provided with medical treatment, the medicines were not effective and given the conditions of detention the prisoners became emaciated and suffered from various diseases, which placed some prisoners in a critical condition. There were inadequate medical supplies to treat injuries including those inflicted on prisoners during interrogations.<sup>8823</sup> Many prisoners died as a result of these diseases while in detention.<sup>8824</sup>

2615. The Chamber also finds that the acts and omissions described above were of a nature and gravity similar to other enumerated crimes against humanity. In reaching this conclusion, the Chamber takes into account the nature of the conditions of detention and treatment, the vulnerability of the prisoners and the impact on the victims. The Chamber is satisfied that the actus reus of other inhumane acts is established.

2616. The Chamber finds that these acts or omissions were performed intentionally by S-21 cadres. It has found that staff at S-21 were taught at training sessions to have vengeance and “harbour anger against the enemy” and that Duch gave instructions to eliminate any feelings of sympathy towards the enemy.<sup>8825</sup> These findings support the Chamber’s conclusion that the direct perpetrators acted with the requisite intent. The Chamber is satisfied that the mens rea of other inhumane acts is established.

2617. Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied that both the intentional infliction of serious mental and physical suffering, as well as a serious attack on human dignity are established at S-21 Security Centre. The Chamber therefore finds that the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity is established at S-21 Security Centre.

2618. The purpose of important prisoners’ separate detention in the Special Prison was primarily to keep their presence at S-21 confidential, to monitor them strictly in order to prevent suicide and to keep them alive until they provided exhaustive confessions

---

<sup>8823</sup> See above, paras 2432-2439.

<sup>8824</sup> See above, para. 2436.

<sup>8825</sup> See above, para. 2164.

prior to their unavoidable execution.<sup>8826</sup> While Duch asserted that those detained in the Special Prison had better living conditions and were treated when sick, the Chamber notes that there is no evidence that clearly corroborates this assertion.<sup>8827</sup> The Chamber notes that those who were detained in the Special Prison were considered extremely important detainees who were expected to provide valuable information.<sup>8828</sup> The Chamber recalls how information was extracted in S-21 and the physical and mental abuse that was inflicted upon prisoners to do so.<sup>8829</sup> The important prisoners' detention in a separate building did not spare them from the pervasive climate of fear at S-21.<sup>8830</sup> Additionally, the Chamber recalls that prominent prisoners held in the Special Prison wrote letters begging the upper echelon to spare them, which is also indicative of the conditions to which they were subjected and their utter despair.<sup>8831</sup> Accordingly, the Chamber's findings with respect to the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity also apply to those prisoners detained in the Special Prison.

12.2.24.2. Grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions

2619. The Chamber reiterates its finding that an ongoing international armed conflict existed between Vietnam and Democratic Kampuchea from May 1975 through 6 January 1979. The Chamber further recalls its finding that the crimes committed against protected persons at S-21 Security Centre were closely related to the armed conflict between Democratic Kampuchea and Vietnam.<sup>8832</sup> Furthermore, the Chamber recalls its findings that the Accused NUON Chea and KHIEU Samphan were aware of the existence of the armed conflict with Vietnam and that they both were aware of the protected status of victims at S-21 Security Centre.<sup>8833</sup>

<sup>8826</sup> See above, paras 2256, 2258-2259.

<sup>8827</sup> See above, para.2258.

<sup>8828</sup> See above, paras 2256, 2258-2260, 2286, 2494.

<sup>8829</sup> See above, para. 2328; Section 12.2.12.1: Interrogations and Mistreatment of Detainees; Section 12.2.12.2: "Cold", "Hot" and "Chewing" Units; Section 12.2.12.3: Interrogation Methods and Mistreatment; Section 12.2.24.1.5: Torture.

<sup>8830</sup> See above, paras 2238, 2258, 2328, 2369, 2402.

<sup>8831</sup> See above, paras 2179, 2293, 2305. The Chamber recalls that during his detention HU Nim wrote a letter pleading to be spared, and he requested the Party not to chain his legs as he had insomnia and hepatitis. See above, para. 2301.

<sup>8832</sup> Section 4: General Overview, paras 281, 338.

<sup>8833</sup> Section 4: General Overview, paras 339-340.

12.2.24.2.1. Wilful killing

2620. The Closing Order charges the Accused with wilful killing of Vietnamese prisoners of war and civilians as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions at S-21, through both deliberate execution and deaths caused by methods of interrogation and general conditions of detention, inflicted with the reasonable knowledge that their death was likely.<sup>8834</sup>

2621. The Chamber has found that hundreds of Vietnamese civilians and soldiers were killed at S-21. Vietnamese prisoners were killed behind S-21 following the conclusion of their interrogations. Those killed included detained Vietnamese soldiers and children. This includes one incident where a young child was taken away from its parents by guards and dropped from the balcony of the multi-storey building and died.<sup>8835</sup>

2622. The Chamber finds that those killed were either Vietnamese civilians or prisoners of war and thus protected persons for the purposes of the Geneva Conventions. The circumstances in which these protected persons were killed were substantially the same as the incidents of murder discussed above in connection with S-21. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus of wilful killing is satisfied. As found above, all Vietnamese who entered S-21 were killed in a deliberate and systematic manner following their interrogation. S-21 cadres were also shown images of Vietnamese soldiers who had been disembowelled following their execution.<sup>8836</sup> The Chamber accordingly finds that the perpetrators of each of these incidents and the S-21 leadership acted with the intent to kill the victims. The Chamber is satisfied that the mens rea of wilful killing is also satisfied. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that wilful killing as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions is established at S-21 Security Centre.

12.2.24.2.2. Torture

2623. The Closing Order charges the Accused with torture as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions at S-21 as a result of the alleged torture of Vietnamese prisoners

---

<sup>8834</sup> Closing Order, paras 1491-1492.

<sup>8835</sup> See above, para. 2544; Section 12.2.17: Vietnamese Detainees.

<sup>8836</sup> See above, Section 12.2.17: Vietnamese Detainees; Section 12.2.21: Killings; Section 12.2.24.1.1: Murder.

of war and civilians, applied by S-21 cadres through interrogation methods inflicting severe physical or mental pain or suffering for the purpose of obtaining information or extracting confessions.<sup>8837</sup>

2624. The Chamber has found that interrogators were instructed to question Vietnamese prisoners in order to get them to confess that they invaded Kampuchea and to identify others who had hidden in Kampuchea.<sup>8838</sup> The Chamber has found that confessions of Vietnamese prisoners (soldiers) were published in various DK publications aimed at showing the Vietnamese “aggression” against the DK and that the names of a number of these prisoners were found in S-21 prisoner lists.<sup>8839</sup> The Chamber has also found that all Vietnamese who entered S-21 were killed in a deliberate and systematic manner following their interrogation by S-21 interrogators.<sup>8840</sup> The Chamber has also found that the Vietnamese constituted a significant proportion of the foreign detainees at S-21.<sup>8841</sup> The Chamber has rejected MAM Nai’s evidence that he did not use whips or other coercive means to obtain such confessions, and instead found detainees were subjected to coercive measures to provide confessions.<sup>8842</sup> The Chamber has also found that there were instructions from the upper echelon to apply “Special Branch methods, completely and totally, permanently”.<sup>8843</sup> Further, as discussed extensively above, the Chamber has found that torture as crime against humanity was inflicted on the prisoners at S-21.<sup>8844</sup> While the Chamber did not hear sufficient evidence to establish that physical torture was inflicted with respect to a specific Vietnamese person, having found that the Vietnamese constituted a significant portion of prisoners at S-21,<sup>8845</sup> the Chamber is satisfied that Vietnamese prisoners detained and interrogated at S-21 were victims of acts causing severe physical or mental pain or suffering. The Chamber further notes that S-21 interrogators were instructed to obtain confessions and were not only permitted but even encouraged to be “absolute” and to use torture to this end. This mistreatment was exclusively inflicted by S-21 cadres who were acting on behalf of the DK authorities

<sup>8837</sup> Closing Order, paras 1498-1499.

<sup>8838</sup> See above, paras 2167-2168, 2174-2175; Section 12.2.17: Vietnamese Detainees.

<sup>8839</sup> See above, paras 2462, 2467, 2472-2474, 2477.

<sup>8840</sup> See above, paras 2462, 2465-2469, 2471, 2621-2622.

<sup>8841</sup> See above, para. 2480.

<sup>8842</sup> See above, para. 2466.

<sup>8843</sup> See above, para. 2469.

<sup>8844</sup> See above, Section 12.2.24.1.5: Torture.

<sup>8845</sup> See above, para. 2480.

and were thus public officials.<sup>8846</sup> The Chamber therefore finds that both the actus reus and mens rea of torture are established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that torture as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions is established at S-21 Security Centre.

12.2.24.2.3. Inhumane treatment

2625. The Closing Order charges the Accused with inhumane treatment as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions at S-21 as a result of the alleged inhumane treatment of Vietnamese prisoners of war and civilians by S-21 personnel through conditions imposed causing serious physical or mental pain, suffering or injury, or acts which amounted to serious attacks on human dignity, constituting inhumane treatment. The Closing Order charges that these conditions of detention included overcrowding, lack of sanitation, medicine, food or clothing, which collectively degraded detainees, leaving them in a permanent climate of fear.<sup>8847</sup>

2626. The Chamber has already found that the conditions of detention and treatment of the prisoners at S-21 amounted to the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity and that prisoners at S-21, including Vietnamese were victims of torture both as a crime against humanity and as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions.<sup>8848</sup> Accordingly, the Chamber finds that inhumane treatment as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions was also committed at S-21.

12.2.24.2.4. Wilfully causing great suffering or serious injury to body or health

2627. The Closing Order charges the Accused with wilfully causing great suffering or serious injury to body or health as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions at S-21 as a result of the alleged conditions imposed by acts or omissions aimed at Vietnamese prisoners of war and civilians, which caused great physical or mental suffering or serious injury to body or health. The general conditions of detention inflicted on the protected persons by S-21 staff included overcrowding and lack of adequate sanitation, medicine or food.<sup>8849</sup>

<sup>8846</sup> See above, Section 12.2.5.3: Political Training and Party Discipline; Section 12.2.12.1: Interrogations and Mistreatment of Detainees; Section 12.2.12.2: “Cold”, “Hot” and “Chewing” Units; Section 12.2.12.3: Interrogation Methods and Mistreatment.

<sup>8847</sup> Closing Order, paras 1501-1503.

<sup>8848</sup> See above, Section 12.2.24.1.8: Other Inhumane Acts through Attacks against Human Dignity.

2628. The Chamber has already found that the conditions of detention and treatment of prisoners at S-21 amounted to the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity and to inhumane treatment as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions.<sup>8850</sup> As discussed above, the Chamber has found that S-21 prisoners were held in deplorable conditions: they were forced to sit and sleep on the bare floor with their ankles constantly shackled, and were only taken out of their cells for interrogation or to work or for execution.<sup>8851</sup> The Chamber has found that hygienic conditions were very poor. Given these poor conditions, prisoners were infested with lice and also suffered from skin rashes.<sup>8852</sup> Prisoners were also not provided with sufficient food which had dire consequences for their health.<sup>8853</sup> The Chamber has found that while prisoners were sometimes provided with medical treatment, the medicines were not effective and given the conditions of detention the prisoners suffered from various diseases which placed some prisoners in a critical condition. There were inadequate medical supplies to treat injuries, including those inflicted on prisoners during interrogations. Many prisoners died as a result of these diseases while in detention.<sup>8854</sup> The Chamber has found above that the staff at S-21 intentionally inflicted these conditions on the prisoners.<sup>8855</sup> Based on the fact that the Vietnamese constituted a significant portion of the population of S-21,<sup>8856</sup> the Chamber finds that wilfully causing great suffering or serious injury to body or health as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions is also established at S-21 Security Centre.

12.2.24.2.5. Wilfully depriving a prisoner of war or a civilian the rights of fair and regular trial

2629. The Closing Order charges the Accused with wilfully depriving a prisoner of war or a civilian the rights of fair and regular trial as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions at S-21 as a result of the alleged wilful deprivation of the rights of a fair

<sup>8849</sup> Closing Order, paras 1504-1505.

<sup>8850</sup> See above, Section 12.2.24.1.8: Other Inhumane Acts through Attacks against Human Dignity.

<sup>8851</sup> See above, para. 2612.

<sup>8852</sup> See above, para. 2613.

<sup>8853</sup> See above, para. 2613.

<sup>8854</sup> See above, para. 2614.

<sup>8855</sup> See above, para. 2616.

<sup>8856</sup> See above, para. 2480.

and regular trial to Vietnamese prisoners of war and civilians. S-21 cadres deprived the protected persons of the right to be judged by an independent and impartial court, the right to be informed of their charged offence, the rights and means of a defence, protection against collective punishment, the presumption of innocence, the right of appeal, and protection from a sentence without judgement pronounced by a competent court.<sup>8857</sup>

2630. The Chamber has found that the Vietnamese prisoners who entered S-21 were not provided any opportunity to defend themselves following their arrest, were deprived of any semblance of a fair trial and were forced to confess that they were spies before being killed. All Vietnamese soldiers and civilian who entered S-21 were labelled as spies and considered enemies. The fate of these prisoners was a foregone conclusion as they were all ultimately subject to execution.<sup>8858</sup> The Chamber recalls that prisoners were given no access to lawyers or judges throughout their detention as S-21 and were eventually executed without a trial.<sup>8859</sup> As found above, all Vietnamese who entered S-21 were killed in a deliberate and systematic manner following their interrogation.<sup>8860</sup> The Chamber is therefore satisfied that both the actus reus and the mens rea of this offence are established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that wilfully depriving a prisoner of war or a civilian the rights of fair and regular trial as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions is established at S-21 Security Centre.

12.2.24.2.6. Unlawful deportation of a civilian

2631. The Closing Order charges the Accused with unlawful deportation of civilians as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions at S-21 as a result of the alleged unlawful deportation of Vietnamese civilians captured by CPK forces during military incursions into Vietnam, which was followed by detention, interrogation and execution at S-21. According to the Closing Order, these acts were carried out pursuant to well-defined CPK policies regarding the transfer of Vietnamese civilians to S-21 as opposed to security or military reasons.<sup>8861</sup>

<sup>8857</sup> Closing Order, paras 1507-1509.

<sup>8858</sup> See above, paras 2167-2168, 2174-2175, 2238, 2253; Section 12.2.17: Vietnamese Detainees.

<sup>8859</sup> See above, paras 2238, 2253. See also, Section 4: General Overview, para. 276; Section 5: Administrative Structures, para. 417.

<sup>8860</sup> See above, para. 2619.

<sup>8861</sup> Closing Order, paras 1515-1516.

2632. The Chamber recalls that while it has excluded from the scope of Case 002/02 the facts contained in paragraphs 832 to 840 of the Closing Order regarding deportation, it may consider evidence of crimes committed by the RAK, including incursions in Vietnam for other purposes, including but not limited to the grave breaches charges related to civilians or soldiers hors de combat who were arrested during such fights on Vietnamese territory and who were sent to S-21 thereafter.<sup>8862</sup>

2633. The Chamber has nevertheless found that there is insufficient evidence to conclude that Vietnamese prisoners at S-21 were originally captured in Vietnam.<sup>8863</sup> Accordingly, the Chamber finds that unlawful deportation of civilians as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions is not established at S-21 Security Centre.

12.2.24.2.7. Unlawful confinement of a civilian

2634. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the unlawful confinement of civilians as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions at S-21 as a result of the alleged arbitrary detention of Vietnamese civilians in the absence of reasonable or legal grounds for detention and without procedural and substantive protections afforded by Geneva Convention IV.<sup>8864</sup>

2635. The Chamber has already found that individuals, including Vietnamese individuals, were arbitrarily deprived of liberty and detained at S-21 without due process of law and without a warrant or any document emanating from an investigative or judicial authority and this amounted to the crime against humanity of imprisonment.<sup>8865</sup> The Chamber has found that some of the Vietnamese prisoners were civilians who were brought to S-21 after trying to flee the country. Those detained included Vietnamese children and women.<sup>8866</sup> There is no evidence to suggest that the civilians were detained as a matter of absolute necessity for reasons of state security. On the contrary, the Chamber has found that Vietnamese civilians were arrested and detained at S-21 by virtue of their identity and without due process of law. The Chamber therefore finds that both the actus reus and the mens rea of unlawful confinement of

<sup>8862</sup> Section 9: Applicable Law: Crimes, para. 778.

<sup>8863</sup> See above, Section 12.2.17: Vietnamese Detainees.

<sup>8864</sup> Closing Order, para. 1518.

<sup>8865</sup> See above, paras 2238, 2253, 2582. The Chamber has also already found that this amounts to Wilful deprivation of the rights of fair and regular trial. See above, para. 2630.

<sup>8866</sup> See above, paras 2460, 2465, 2477-2479.

civilians is established. Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied that unlawful confinement of civilians as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions is established at S-21 Security Centre.

12.3. Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre

12.3.1. Closing Order and Preliminary Issues

2636. The Closing Order describes Kraing Ta Chan as a security centre located in Kus commune, Tram Kak district.<sup>8867</sup> The Chamber refers to this site as “Kraing Ta Chan”. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the following crimes against humanity committed at Kraing Ta Chan: (i) murder; (ii) extermination; (iii) enslavement; (iv) imprisonment; (v) torture; (vi) persecution on political and (vii) racial grounds; and other inhumane acts through (viii) attacks against human dignity and (ix) conduct characterised as enforced disappearances.<sup>8868</sup>

2637. The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that various facts are either outside the scope of Case 002/02 or otherwise outside the Chamber’s jurisdiction, based on a comparison of the Closing Order with the Co-Prosecutors’ Introductory Submission. It submits that deaths resulting from the conditions of detention are outside the scope of the case, so that allegations of murder and extermination are restricted to executions only. It further submits that facts regarding the treatment of Vietnamese, persecution on racial grounds, enslavement, torture, and other inhumane acts as breaches of human dignity and enforced disappearances were all outside the scope of the judicial investigation.<sup>8869</sup> Specifically, it contends that to the extent that relevant allegations were set out in the Co-Prosecutors’ Introductory Submission, they were restricted to the annexes, whereas the relevant ECCC legal framework, including Internal Rule 53, requires that such facts be set out in the main body of a submission.<sup>8870</sup> The Lead Co-Lawyers note that the KHIEU Samphan Defence did not raise this matter in an appeal against the Closing Order or did not raise relevant preliminary objections before this

<sup>8867</sup> Closing Order, para. 489.

<sup>8868</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, pp. 3-4.

<sup>8869</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1223-1253, 1272-1283.

<sup>8870</sup> T. 23 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/528.1, pp. 27-28 (with reference to Cambodian law, the Internal Rules, French law and the jurisprudence of French courts).

Chamber.<sup>8871</sup> No other Party made relevant submissions in response.

2638. To the extent that the KHIEU Samphan Defence premises their submissions on their comparison of the Co-Prosecutors' Introductory Submission with the Closing Order issued by the Co-Investigating Judges, the Chamber has already found that such submissions should have been made at a much earlier stage – either to the Pre-Trial Chamber, or to the Chamber as a preliminary objection according to the time limit set by Internal Rule 89.<sup>8872</sup> These submissions in relation to Kraing Ta Chan are therefore rejected.

2639. The KHIEU Samphan Defence also challenges the relevance of evidence heard by the Chamber as having been outside the scope of Case 002/02, particularly evidence of rape and/or forced labour at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8873</sup> The NUON Chea Defence contends that, although the Closing Order refers to rape at Kraing Ta Chan, the Accused are not charged with rape outside the context of forced marriage.<sup>8874</sup> No other Party made relevant submissions in response.

2640. Contrary to the KHIEU Samphan Defence's submission, the Closing Order charges the crime of enslavement, which expressly includes forced labour in the context of the conditions at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8875</sup>

2641. In relation to rape, the Co-Investigating Judges found that rapes occurred at Kraing Ta Chan, but concluded that, outside the context of forced marriages, it had not been established that rape was used by CPK leaders as a means to implement the common purpose.<sup>8876</sup> As previously held during the evidentiary phase of Case 002/02, although the Closing Order did not find the Accused to be criminally responsible for rapes committed at Kraing Ta Chan, such rapes (or indeed other sexual violations) may be relevant to its examination of the general context of the conditions at Kraing Ta

<sup>8871</sup> T. 21 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/526.1, p. 58.

<sup>8872</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, paras 158-165.

<sup>8873</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1291-1294; T. 20 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/525.1, p. 30.

<sup>8874</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 413 (fn. 1256), para. 623.

<sup>8875</sup> Closing Order, paras 501 (“Everyone was shackled day and night unless they were put to work”) (emphasis added), 503 (“Some prisoners recall being forced to work inside the prison compound performing a variety of labour”), 514 (referring to prisoners ordered to dig pits, where bodies were then buried), 1394 (referring to victims being “forced to perform work without their consent”).

<sup>8876</sup> Closing Order, para. 1429.

Chan, and to credibility assessments of persons who appeared before the Chamber.<sup>8877</sup> The Chamber accordingly rejects submissions that such evidence is outside the scope of Case 002/02.

2642. The NUON Chea Defence submits that the Khmer Krom are not identified as a targeted group in Case 002/02 and should not be subsumed within the Vietnamese group. As a result, it contends that evidence related to Khmer Krom at Kraing Ta Chan should be disregarded, at least in so far as it relates to allegations of racial persecution.<sup>8878</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence made broader submissions that the Trial Chamber is not seised of facts concerning the Khmer Krom as a group.<sup>8879</sup> No other Party made relevant submissions in this regard. The Chamber has confirmed that the Closing Order did not identify the Khmer Krom as a targeted group in Case 002.<sup>8880</sup> The Chamber has also found that the Defence were not adequately notified of an allegation that Khmer Krom were to be identified as a “sub-group” of the Vietnamese, such that the Chamber is not properly seised of the targeting of Khmer Krom either as a specific group or as a sub-group of the Vietnamese.<sup>8881</sup> The submission of the NUON Chea Defence in this regard is accordingly upheld. However, the Chamber recalls that while there is no charge of racial persecution against the Khmer Krom, evidence relating to such persons may be relevant to charges (murder, extermination, etc.) which do not depend upon their group identification.<sup>8882</sup>

2643. Finally, the NUON Chea Defence submits that the Closing Order lacks clarity, particularly in relation to any underlying factual allegations pertaining to the treatment of former Khmer Republic soldiers and officials.<sup>8883</sup> No other Party made relevant submission on this issue. The Chamber notes that the Closing Order specifically finds that CPK authorities identified several groups as “enemies” based on their real or perceived political beliefs, including former Khmer Republic officials and “New People”.<sup>8884</sup> As to Kraing Ta Chan specifically, the Closing Order describes a “purge

<sup>8877</sup> Section 2.5.6.7.2: Rape Outside the Context of Forced Marriage.

<sup>8878</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 420.

<sup>8879</sup> T. 20 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/525.1, pp. 22-23; KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 157-170.

<sup>8880</sup> Section 2.5.6.7.1: Facts Allegedly Outside the Scope of the Indictment: Khmer Krom.

<sup>8881</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 185.

<sup>8882</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, paras 182-183.

<sup>8883</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 928-931; T. 19 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/524.1, p. 47.

<sup>8884</sup> Closing Order, para. 1417.

of evacuees” in the period after 17 April 1975, including those with the rank of “Corporal Sergeant or above” in the Khmer Republic’s armed forces, or “first deputy chief or higher” in the Khmer Republic’s administration.<sup>8885</sup> It also finds that the purge of former Khmer Republic soldiers and officials continued after 1975, with specific references to documentary evidence from 1977.<sup>8886</sup> There are specific references to former Khmer Republic soldiers and officials being arrested then taken to Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8887</sup> The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the Closing Order clearly sets out a number of findings with respect to the treatment of former Khmer Republic soldiers and officials, such that related charges are properly before the Chamber. The NUON Chea Defence’s submission is therefore rejected.

12.3.2. Witnesses, Civil Parties and the Tram Kak District Records

12.3.2.1. Overview

2644. The Chamber heard evidence from 17 witnesses, 14 Civil Parties (including those heard on harm suffered) and one expert during the trial segment nominally dedicated to the Tram Kak Cooperatives and Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8888</sup> The Chamber heard from witnesses and Civil Parties whose detentions cumulatively encompassed the entire period over which the Chamber has jurisdiction. Civil Party SORY Sen was at Kraing Ta Chan from 1974 until the arrival of Vietnamese forces in 1979.<sup>8889</sup> Witness KEO Chandara was detained shortly before 17 April 1975 and released at the end of April 1975.<sup>8890</sup> Witness MEAS Sokha was detained from June 1976 to August 1978 –

<sup>8885</sup> Closing Order, para. 498.

<sup>8886</sup> Closing Order, para. 498.

<sup>8887</sup> Closing Order, paras 315, 319, 506 (referring to prisoners being accused of being “enemies” and questioned whether they were American or Yvon CIA and which rank they held during the Lon Nol era).

<sup>8888</sup> MEAS Sokha; OUM Suphany; CHOU Koemlan; CHANG Srey Mom; EM Phoeung; KEO Chandara; SORY Sen; Elizabeth BECKER; RY Pov; PHNEOU Yav; SAO Han; SREI Than; PHANN Chhen; VAN Soeun; NEANG Ouch; NUT Nov; RIEL Son; SAUT Saing; OEM Saroeun; Richard DUDMAN; PECH Chim; KHOEM Boeun; EK Hoeun; THANN Thim; VONG Sarun; TAK Sann; EAM Yen; BENG Boeun; YEM Khonny; BUN Saroeun; IM Vannak; LOEP Neang.

<sup>8889</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 44; T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, pp. 33-35.

<sup>8890</sup> Before the Chamber, KEO Chandara stated that he was arrested in March 1975 and released by the end of April 1975, thereby correcting an answer given in an earlier interview that he was arrested between 1973 and 1974. See T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 32-33 (testifying that he was detained until April 1975 for 29 days), 63 (stating he was detained for 25 days in Kraing ta Chan), 51 (stating that he was detained around mid-March until early April), 71 (stating that he was detained on 20 March 1975 and released by the end of April 1975), 104-105 (having discussed the chronology with his family, he was detained about 10 days before the liberation of Phnom Penh until about 10 days after the liberation); T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, p. 19 (explaining that his eldest son told him he was detained in late March 1975). The balance of KEO Chandara’s account, in particular his together with members of his family, some of whom were killed or died there.<sup>8891</sup> Witness VONG Sarun arrived at Kraing Ta Chan on 23 May 1977 together with her baby girl, and remained there until the arrival of Vietnamese forces.<sup>8892</sup> In addition, Civil Party OEM Saroeun gave evidence that her husband (OY Mut), father (IM Pum), uncle (IM Chat) and elder brother (UNG Lim) were arrested then taken to Kraing Ta Chan;<sup>8893</sup> and Civil Party BUN Saroeun gave evidence of his father's detention at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8894</sup>

2645. Some witnesses and one Civil Party worked at Kraing Ta Chan, visited it, and/or had contemporaneous knowledge of its operation and oversight. Witness PHANN Chhen was the chief of Kus commune before 1975.<sup>8895</sup> Despite his attempts to distance himself from the security centre, the Chamber is satisfied, for reasons explained below, that he oversaw Kraing Ta Chan from 1973 into 1975.<sup>8896</sup> The Chamber heard from three former Kraing Ta Chan guards: Civil Party SAUT Saing, Witness VAN Soeun and Witness SREI Than alias Duch. SAUT Saing was a district soldier assigned to Kraing Ta Chan as a guard.<sup>8897</sup> His younger cousin, VAN Soeun, worked as a guard and messenger, having previously been a commune militiaman in Leay Bour commune then part of the Tram Kak District Military.<sup>8898</sup> SREI Than alias Duch was another district soldier assigned to Kraing Ta Chan as a guard and typist.<sup>8899</sup> Witness RIEL Son description of the events after his release, such as the arrival of large numbers of evacuees in Tram Kak district, satisfies the Chamber that he was indeed released after 17 April 1975.

---

<sup>8891</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 13, 43. Also before the Chamber are WRIs of persons detained around the same time as MEAS Sokha, including SOK Soth (see SOK Soth Interview Record, E3/5835, 31 October 2007) and his mother (HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/5826, 31 October 2007, p. 5 (stating she was in Kraing Ta Chan for 23 months from 1976 until June 1978); HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015).

<sup>8892</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 16-18, 54-55; Tram Kak District Record, E3/4164, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00973147 ("RANG Sarun" arrived at Kraing Ta Chan on 23 May 1977); Tram Kak District Record, E3/4101, 12 June 1977, ERN (En) 00322126 (a report from "Ann" detailing various persons from Hospital 22 including "the contemptible (female) Run"); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5827, undated, p. 11, ERN (En) 00866434 (entry for VONG Sarun, described as 26 years old). The reliability of the date of 23 May 1977 is addressed below at para. 2714.

<sup>8893</sup> T. 26 March 2015 (OEM Saroeun), E1/283.1, pp. 14-15 (referring to her husband OY Mut), 25-26 (referring to IM Pum, IM Chat and UNG Lim being on a list she saw).

<sup>8894</sup> T. 3 April 2015 (BUN Sarouen), E1/288.1, pp. 29-30, 47-49.

<sup>8895</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/268.1, pp. 61-62 (stating that he was the chief of Kus commune), 81-82; T. 25 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/269.1, pp. 24-25 (describing attending meetings at the District Office twice per month as chief of Kus commune).

<sup>8896</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/268.1, pp. 65-67 (evasive when asked whether he was chief of Kraing Ta Chan), 81 (appearing to describe Phy as the chief, or at least part of the District Committee). See below, Section 12.3.5: Authority Structure.

<sup>8897</sup> SAUT Saing is VAN Soeun's elder cousin. See T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 26; T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, p. 29.

<sup>8898</sup> VAN Soeun gave evidence before the Chamber on 3, 4 and 5 March 2015.

<sup>8899</sup> SREI Than alias Duch gave evidence before the Chamber on 19, 23 and 24 February 2015.

was the deputy chief of the Tram Kak District Hospital and visited Kraing Ta Chan once during the relevant period.<sup>8900</sup>

2646. The Chamber also heard evidence from persons with significant roles in Tram Kak district, at the district and/or commune level. In assessing the charges pertaining to Kraing Ta Chan, the Chamber found the evidence from the following persons to be significant: Witness PECH Chim (District Committee member then District Secretary until February 1977); Witness NEANG Ouch alias Ta San (Ta Mok's brother-in-law, present in Tram Kak district from late 1977, then District Secretary); and Witness KHOEM Boeun (related to LENG An, the chief of Kraing Ta Chan, secretary of Cheang Tong commune then, from 1978, member of the District Committee).<sup>8901</sup> A fuller discussion of their roles is found in the Chamber's findings in relation to the Tram Kak Cooperatives. In addition to the aforementioned persons heard during the segment dedicated to the Tram Kak Cooperatives and Kraing Ta Chan, the Chamber also heard evidence from expert VOEUN Vuthy in relation to his analysis of human remains stored at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8902</sup>

2647. In addition to persons who appeared before the Chamber, a significant number of persons were interviewed in the course of judicial investigations who either worked

---

<sup>8900</sup> RIEL Son gave evidence before the Chamber on 16, 17, 18 and 19 March 2015.

<sup>8901</sup> For the Chamber's findings in relation to the functions of PECH Chim, NEANG Ouch alias Ta San, and KHOEM Boeun, see Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives, para. 818. For the Chamber's findings on the identity and role of LENG An, see below, paras 2693-2698.

<sup>8902</sup> VOEUN Vuthy gave evidence before the Chamber on 13, 14 December 2016 and 10 January 2017.

at,<sup>8903</sup> were imprisoned at,<sup>8904</sup> or lived nearby Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8905</sup> The Chamber considered these interviews when evaluating the evidence of persons who appeared before it, in particular in the event of either corroboration or material contradictions.<sup>8906</sup> Some of these persons could not be called because they had died.<sup>8907</sup> The Chamber also recalls that it found the collection of documents referred to as the Tram Kak District Records to be authentic.<sup>8908</sup> Documents in this collection are directly relevant to Kraing Ta Chan. The Chamber assesses the weight and probative value of particular documents in the sections which follow.

12.3.2.2. Credibility and related fair trial challenges

2648. The NUON Chea Defence challenges the credibility of former prisoners MEAS

<sup>8903</sup> IEP Duch Interview Record, E3/4627, 30 October 2007; IEP Duch Interview Record, E3/430, 1 November 2007; SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007; TOEM Hy Interview Record, E3/9605, 6 December 2013. The Chamber rejected a request by the NUON Chea Defence, submitted under Internal Rule 87(4), to locate and hear SAING Sim as an additional witness. See Reasons Following Decision on the NUON Chea Defence's Consolidated Rule 87(4) Request to Hear Additional Witnesses for the First Case 002/02 Trial Segment on the Tram Kak Cooperatives and Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre and Decision on SANN Lorn (2-TCW-1007), SOU Phirin (2-TCW-1027) and IV Sarik (2-TCW-1026) (E346/2), E346/3, 31 March 2016 paras 42-47. In the same decision, the Chamber deferred a decision on TOEM Hy but in the end he was not heard by the Chamber either. See Decision on Witnesses, Civil Parties and Experts Proposed to be Heard During Case 002/02, E459, 18 July 2017, para. 32.

<sup>8904</sup> HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/5826, 31 October 2007; HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015; SOK Soth Interview Record, E3/5835, 31 October 2007; SEANG Soeun Interview Record, E3/7901, 29 October 2007; UK Him Interview Record, E3/9584, 14 July 2014; LIM Hach Interview Record, E3/7984, 29 November 2007; NEANG Dam Interview Record, E3/7904, 1 November 2007; KEV Mao Interview Record, E3/7900, 29 October 2007; SET YEM Interview Record, E3/9484, 9 September 2014. The Chamber rejected a request from the NUON Chea Defence to hear as additional witnesses former Kraing Ta Chan prisoners including HUN Kimseng, MEAS Sarat, OUCH Han, SET Yem. See Reasons following Decision on the NUON Chea Defence's Consolidated Rule 87(4) Request to Hear Additional Witnesses for the First Case 002/02 Trial Segment on the Tram Kak Cooperatives and Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre and Decision on SANN Lorn (2-TCW-1007), SOU Phirin (2-TCW-1027) and IV Sarik (2-TCW-1026) (E346/2), E346/3, 31 March 2016, paras 35-37 (in relation to HUN Kimseng and MEAS Sarat), 38-39 (in relation to OUCH Han), 40-41 (in relation to SET Yem).

<sup>8905</sup> THAONG Seav Interview Record, E3/7902, 29 October 2007.

<sup>8906</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 49 (noting that the Chamber takes into consideration consistencies and inconsistencies in relation to material facts, corroboration and all the circumstances of the case); Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 69 (noting that the Chamber may consider whether evidence is corroborated by other evidence and, if so, the nature of that evidence).

<sup>8907</sup> Decision on Witnesses, Civil Parties and Experts Proposed to be Heard During Case 002/02, E459, 18 July 2017, para. 28 (referring to witnesses SOK Soth, IEP Duch and NEANG Dam). The Chamber finds that two interviews given by IEP Duch require increased scrutiny because he accepted that he was the head of the District Youth and worked at Kraing Ta Chan. See Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 72. See WESU Report Witness IEP Duch (strictly confidential), E29/462, 4 October 2014, ERN (En) 01029906; Death Certificate of IEP Duch (strictly confidential), E29/462.1, 18 July 2014, ERN (Kh) 01029905.

<sup>8908</sup> Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Trak Kak District Records.

Sokha and SORY Sen.<sup>8909</sup> It submits that both persons are emblematic examples of this tribunal's over-reliance on Civil Parties which, after MEAS Sokha's appearance, prompted their request for the Chamber to change its previous practice, in particular by asking Civil Parties to take an oath.<sup>8910</sup> It emphasises several points in challenging MEAS Sokha and SORY Sen's credibility, including their age at the relevant time, the asserted implausibility of their accounts, inconsistencies between their accounts and other evidence (particularly the guards' evidence), and suggests biases or tendencies to embellish answers when pressed. For example, it characterises SORY Sen's evidence as a "preposterous account" which derives from him seeing himself as "Kraing Ta Chan's spokesperson" who has "both the motive and means to embellish his pre-determined account".<sup>8911</sup> Just as the Supreme Court Chamber found a witness it heard during the Case 002/01 appeal to be unreliable, the NUON Chea Defence submits that the same result should follow for MEAS Sokha and SORY Sen. It also contends that their questioning of SORY Sen was systematically disrupted and their questioning of MEAS Sokha was subject to "absurdly rigorous time limitations", such that their evidence went unscrutinised in an unfair way.<sup>8912</sup> 2649. The KHIEU Samphan Defence also challenges the credibility of SORY Sen, but it focuses on discrepancies between his account and evidence from guards SREI Than alias Duch and SAUT Saing.<sup>8913</sup> It submits that SORY Sen's evidence should be rejected because, having heard their contradictory accounts, the Chamber failed to schedule a further confrontation between SREI Than alias Duch, SAUT Saing and SORY Sen.<sup>8914</sup> No other Party made relevant submissions in this regard.

2650. As a preliminary matter, the Chamber finds that the evaluation of credibility requires a case-by-case assessment. Further, the Chamber finds that the NUON Chea Defence repeatedly misrepresented MEAS Sokha's status. He appeared as a witness and not, as asserted by the NUON Chea Defence, a Civil Party.<sup>8915</sup> This error was

<sup>8909</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 455; T. 16 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/523.1, pp. 92-93, 99, 101.

<sup>8910</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 456.

<sup>8911</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 460.

<sup>8912</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 455 (in relation to SORY Sen), 461 (in relation to MEAS Sokha).

<sup>8913</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1300-1303.

<sup>8914</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1301.

<sup>8915</sup> T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, p. 31 (confirming that he took an oath before the Iron Statue); T. 17 November 2014, E1/245.1, p. 2 (Greffier confirming that the witness took an oath that morning).

pointed out during the course of Closing Statements, but the NUON Chea Defence did not correct their submissions until they filed an Amended Closing Brief some months later, permission for which had been given only to account for the transcript review exercise.<sup>8916</sup>

2651. The Chamber has repeatedly found that a person's status as either a witness or Civil Party does not lead to a mechanistic attribution of more or less weight.<sup>8917</sup>

2652. The Defence teams' submissions depend, to varying degrees, on discrepancies between the evidence from MEAS Sokha and/or SORY Sen on the one hand, and the Kraing Ta Chan guards SAUT Saing, VAN Soeun and/or SREI Than alias Duch, on the other. The Chamber finds the guards' evidence to be unreliable in key respects. A common feature of their evidence was a clear tendency to diminish their role(s), including the length of time they spent at Kraing Ta Chan, the tasks they performed, and their knowledge of or their possible involvement in executions. The Chamber rejects the KHIEU Samphan Defence's submission that the inconsistent accounts required a further confrontation to be scheduled. These persons and others provided extensive evidence which allows a rigorous assessment of their credibility. The Chamber provides more specific reasons below, beginning with the three guards.

12.3.2.2.1. SAUT Saing

2653. SAUT Saing was interviewed by the Co-Investigating Judges in 2007, at which time he described himself as an army combatant sent to Kraing Ta Chan in late 1977 because he lost his weapon.<sup>8918</sup> He admitted that he performed some official roles once there: escorting prisoners and watching over them.<sup>8919</sup> He presented the impression that he was a victim rather than a perpetrator. In 2008, he applied to become a Civil Party in Case 002. In his Civil Party Application, he claimed that he was a prisoner at Kraing

<sup>8916</sup> T. 21 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/526.1, p. 72 (MEAS Sokha is not a Civil Party, but a witness who took an oath); T. 22 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/527.1, p. 41. The NUON Chea Defence subsequently used the opportunity to file an Amended Closing Brief addressing the impact of corrections to transcripts and/or typographical errors to amend some (see NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 433, 455-456, 461, 463) but not all of the incorrect references to MEAS Sokha being a Civil Party (see NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 46, 596, 626, fn. 3877 which persist with the erroneous submission).

<sup>8917</sup> Section 2.4.4.2: Evidence of Civil Parties, Witnesses and Experts.

<sup>8918</sup> SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/5864, 28 November 2007, p. 2, ERN (En) 00223548.

<sup>8919</sup> SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/5864, 28 November 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223550 (describing escorting prisoners and watching over them while they worked in rice fields).

Ta Chan, with the caveat added that, since his “grandfather” was friends with the prison chief, he was put in charge of other prisoners.<sup>8920</sup> SAUT Saing was one of 11 Civil Parties declared admissible by the Co-Investigating Judges in relation to crimes committed at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8921</sup> 2654. Interviewed again by OCIJ investigators in 2013, SAUT Saing suggested that he had withdrawn his Civil Party Application.<sup>8922</sup> He repeated that he was sent to Kraing Ta Chan in 1977 as punishment for losing his weapon.<sup>8923</sup> He elaborated, however, that he was a member of the district militia, assigned to Kraing Ta Chan as a soldier then head of the prison guards because the prison chief knew Ta Chem a close friend of his family he considered as his “god-grand-father”.<sup>8924</sup> The Chamber notes that SAUT Saing’s answers therefore evolved from being a prisoner with some oversight over fellow prisoners, to being a guard in charge of other guards.

2655. Before the Chamber, SAUT Saing conceded that none of the harm mentioned in his victim information form related to his time at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8925</sup> He then offered an alternative motivation for his Civil Party Application, referring to a cousin detained and executed at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8926</sup> He accepted that he was sent to Kraing Ta Chan in 1976, possibly even early 1976, rather than late 1977 as he had previously claimed.<sup>8927</sup> He described his functions in somewhat less equivocal terms than before: he was sent <sup>8920</sup> SAUT Saing Victim Information Form, E3/5863, 28 August 2008, pp. 6-7, ERN (En) 00379421-00379422. He also referred to himself as a “prison guard working outside (outside gate)”. The specific harms said to have been suffered included: feeling uncomfortable, suffering from headaches and being unproductive, shrapnel injuries and related pains.

<sup>8921</sup> Closing Order, para. 515 (fn. 2232) referring to SAUT Saing’s Civil Party Application “D22/0088”; Order on the Admissibility of Civil Party Applications from Current Residents of Takeo Province (OCIJ), D399, 31 August 2010, p. 11, ERN (En) 00598049 referring to SAUT Saing’s Civil Party Application 08-VU-01691 and D22/0088. See SAUT Saing Civil Party Application, E3/5863, 28 August 2008.

<sup>8922</sup> SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/9583, 25 November 2013, p. 4, ERN (En) 00970115 (Answers 6-7). The Chamber is unable to identify any record of such a withdrawal.

<sup>8923</sup> SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/9583, 25 November 2013, p. 6, ERN (En) 00970117 (Answer 24).

<sup>8924</sup> SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/9583, 25 November 2013, pp. 4, ERN (En) 00970115 (Answer 5 referring to District Militia), 9, ERN (En) 00970120 (Answer 48, identifying Ta Chem as his “god-grandfather”).

<sup>8925</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 35, 52 (father died in 1973), 56 (injury suffered in 1973 when fighting former Khmer Republic soldiers in Takeo province).

<sup>8926</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 57-62 (referring to his cousin “Bong Chea”, the son of Pou Yun and Ming Mech). The Chamber is unable to identify any further evidence to confirm the detention of SAUT Saing’s cousin at Kraing Ta Chan.

<sup>8927</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 8 (referring to 1977 having stayed in “Trapeang Lean” during 1976), 28 (referring to 1976, but unsure whether it was late 1976 or early 1976), 80 (accepting that he was already at Kraing Ta Chan when Yeay Nha and her family arrived, but they arrived in the same year that he did).

to Kraing Ta Chan to be a guard and provide security.<sup>8928</sup> He described being one of six members of the District Military who all started working at Kraing Ta Chan at the same time, including his cousin VAN Soeun, SREI Than alias Duch and Sim.<sup>8929</sup> He described guarding the eastern part of the compound at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8930</sup> He described having various roles inside the prison compound: handling prisoners, reporting on the number of incoming and outgoing prisoners each day, shackling and unshackling prisoners.<sup>8931</sup> He described sleeping in the prison compound and having access to it to cook and feed pigs.<sup>8932</sup>

2656. SAUT Saing claimed that his unit was told to guard outside while the “staff” performed executions.<sup>8933</sup> He described the staff as including the three-member committee, together with members of the youth league and militia, who dug pits and buried bodies.<sup>8934</sup> SAUT Saing’s evidence fluctuated, however, over whether he personally witnessed any executions.<sup>8935</sup> He accepted that he witnessed interrogations from the kitchen on three or four occasions, and appeared to accept that he “glimpsed” prisoners being killed – albeit from a distance.<sup>8936</sup> At other times, he claimed that he only saw one interrogation, and one man killed, but then further qualified his evidence by saying that he did not witness the killing but “guessed” the man was killed.<sup>8937</sup> Contrary to his clear admission to investigators, he denied being the head of the guard

<sup>8928</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 9-10.

<sup>8929</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 26 (clarifying that they were in different 50-member units in the District Military, but in the same regiment).

<sup>8930</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 13.

<sup>8931</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 24.

<sup>8932</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 50.

<sup>8933</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 53-54.

<sup>8934</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 57; T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 26.

<sup>8935</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 58 (accepting that he sometimes saw a “glimpse” of executions from a distance); T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 22-23 (claiming not to have seen the physical act of executions).

<sup>8936</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 47-49 (describing witnessing interrogations), 57-58 (describing glimpses of executions).

<sup>8937</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 18 (describing witnessing a single interrogation), 19-21 (qualifying his evidence as to witnessing killings), 22 (explaining that he did not actually see the execution but that, as the person had disappeared when he returned from his guard, he “made a guess that he must have been taken away and killed”).

unit.<sup>8938</sup> He confirmed, however, that Ta Chem, a close friend of his family, was also friends with the prison chief Ta An.<sup>8939</sup>

2657. The Chamber finds that SAUT Saing repeatedly sought to alter or qualify his evidence in an attempt to minimise his association with atrocities, about which he clearly knows. The Chamber therefore approaches his evidence with great caution.

12.3.2.2.2. VAN Soeun

2658. VAN Soeun made incoherent attempts to distance himself from events inside Kraing Ta Chan. The Chamber found crucial aspects of his account to lack credibility.

2659. When interviewed by OCIJ investigators in 2007, he said he was a member of the District Military transferred to Kraing Ta Chan in late 1976.<sup>8940</sup> He was part of a six-man guard unit with Duch, Sim, Saing, Touch and Uok.<sup>8941</sup> When interviewed by investigators in 2013, he specified that he was sent to Kraing Ta Chan in October or November 1976.<sup>8942</sup> Before the Chamber, however, he testified that he started work at Kraing Ta Chan much earlier, in late 1975 together with fellow guards Saing, Sim and Srei Than alias Duch.<sup>8943</sup>

2660. Once at Kraing Ta Chan, VAN Soeun was ordered by prison chief Ta An to deliver messages to the District Office at Angk Roka.<sup>8944</sup> VAN Soeun sought to emphasise that he was an “outside guard” with limited knowledge of the work of the “Party members” inside Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8945</sup> He claimed that he was never allowed to work inside the compound – only Party members were allowed to work there, while his guard unit stayed at the outer part of the compound.<sup>8946</sup> He described Moeun, a member

<sup>8938</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 76; T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 48.

<sup>8939</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 28-29 (explaining that they knew each other from Totueng Thngai village).

<sup>8940</sup> VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, 29 November 2007, p. 2, ERN (En) 00223208.

<sup>8941</sup> VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, 29 November 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223210.

<sup>8942</sup> VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, p. 4, ERN (En) 00980280 (Answer 15).

<sup>8943</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 14-15, 23; T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 52-53.

<sup>8944</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 11, 27, 30, 43 (referring to Angk Roka). See also, Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives, para. 932.

<sup>8945</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 36; T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 94; T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 25, 35.

<sup>8946</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 94.

of the “Core Youth League”, passing messages from inside Kraing Ta Chan to him for onward delivery to the district.<sup>8947</sup> VAN Soeun accepted that his unit guarded prisoners working outside the main compound.<sup>8948</sup> He maintained, however, that his unit did not work inside the compound and did not transfer prisoners to and from the detention buildings and the interrogation site – again this was the work of Party members rather than mere guards.<sup>8949</sup>

2661. According to VAN Soeun, executions at Kraing Ta Chan were the work of Party members inside the main compound, rather than the guards outside.<sup>8950</sup> When interviewed by the Co-Investigating Judges in 2013, he volunteered the identity of two Party members called “Ruos” and “Khorn” who killed prisoners.<sup>8951</sup> Before the Chamber, however, VAN Soeun claimed not to know Ruos or Khorn.<sup>8952</sup> He insisted that he did not see executions because he guarded outside the compound, and there were two layers of fence and a lot of banana trees which meant he could not see.<sup>8953</sup>

2662. Other aspects of VAN Soeun’s evidence undermined his suggestion that his unit was distanced from the events inside the main compound. He had intimate knowledge of the inner workings of Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8954</sup> When interviewed by OCIJ investigators in 2013, despite stating that he was based “outside” Kraing Ta Chan, he repeatedly described seeing Ta An writing letters inside the compound from a distance of six or seven metres.<sup>8955</sup> He also saw “Big Duch” – a reference to IEP Duch, the head of the

<sup>8947</sup> VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, p. 5, ERN (En) 00980281 (Answers 17-21). For a further discussion of Moeun, see below, para. 2712.

<sup>8948</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 36.

<sup>8949</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 37.

<sup>8950</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 42 (identifying An, Penh, Chhen, Moeun, Chheang and Chhoeun).

<sup>8951</sup> VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, pp. 24-25, ERN (En) 00980300-00980301 (Answers 187, 193 identifying Chhieng, Penh, Moeun, Ruos and Khorn as five Party members who were killers).

<sup>8952</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 18, 35 (“I really did not know Ruos and Khorn”), 42-44. The Chamber notes that SAUT Saing also identified Ta Khorn and Ta Ruos as people from the district who were responsible for executions at Kraing Ta Chan: SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/9583, 25 November 2013, p. 12, ERN (En) 00970123 (Answer 74).

<sup>8953</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 85; VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, pp. 22-23, 25, ERN (En) 00980298-00980299, 00980301 (Answers 176, 183, 193).

<sup>8954</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 29, 36; T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 93; T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 25, 35.

<sup>8955</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 46; VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, pp. 5, ERN (En) 00980281 (Answer 23, “I was posted outside”), 8, ERN (En) 00980284 (Answer 44, describing seeing Ta An writing letters).

District Youth – participate in meetings every month at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8956</sup> He knew that Party members took turns interrogating prisoners.<sup>8957</sup> He described fellow guard SREI Than alias Duch alias “Sarat” using the typewriter inside Kraing Ta Chan “every day”.<sup>8958</sup> He described a conversation with Ta An during one lunchtime, when Ta An made a statement about all Khmers being equal.<sup>8959</sup> He described sleeping in a room close to the fence, together with prisoner MEAS Sokha.<sup>8960</sup> He knew that executions took place, suggesting a frequency of perhaps once or twice per month.<sup>8961</sup> He also gave a detailed account of the killing of MEAS Sokha’s family members, explaining that “Ta Kun” and “Boeun” arrived first and were killed shortly thereafter: Ta Kun first then Boeun.<sup>8962</sup> The Chamber finds that VAN Soeun was selective and at times inconsistent in the evidence he provided, in particular in relation to his knowledge of events inside the main compound. The Chamber therefore approaches his evidence with caution.

12.3.2.2.3. SREI Than alias Duch

2663. SREI Than alias Duch’s evidence differed from that given by VAN Soeun and SAUT Saing. At first, he was more forthcoming than his two colleagues. When interviewed by OCIJ investigators in 2008, he assisted with a sketch of the layout of Kraing Ta Chan and he described working there as guard and typist. He accepted that people were beaten during interrogations and smashed.<sup>8963</sup> Unlike SAUT Saing and VAN Soeun, he described his unit guarding detention buildings, with three guards assigned to the west and three guards to the east.<sup>8964</sup> SREI Than alias Duch guarded the eastern building with the main guard post being just 20 metres away – but during duty he sat even closer to the building.<sup>8965</sup> He described the main compound to be relatively small, estimating it to be some 1.5 hectares in size. He described resting inside the

<sup>8956</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 31, 38-39 (stating that he was scared to look at Big Duch’s face).

<sup>8957</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 33-34.

<sup>8958</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 46.

<sup>8959</sup> T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 37-38.

<sup>8960</sup> T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, p. 36.

<sup>8961</sup> T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, p. 31.

<sup>8962</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 10-11, 67 (husbands killed first); T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, p. 9.

<sup>8963</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5852, 16 September 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00231675.

<sup>8964</sup> T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, p. 26.

<sup>8965</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 9.

fence, next to the gate, in an area where three or four persons could tie hammocks.<sup>8966</sup>

2664. At other times, however, SREI Than alias Duch gave inconsistent evidence. His evidence fluctuated when asked about the date his unit arrived at Kraing Ta Chan, seeking to push back the date and reduce the length of time he worked inside the main compound. In 2008, he told investigators he was sent to Kraing Ta Chan during the harvest months of 1977. He described a first period receiving prisoners brought by commune militia, then a second period from March or April 1978 when he typed documents inside Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8967</sup> In 2009, he told investigators that he was sent to Kraing Ta Chan in late 1977.<sup>8968</sup> He described being based about one kilometre away initially, only later working as a typist inside Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>8969</sup> He repeated that it was in 1978 when his group was moved to work inside the prison compound.<sup>8970</sup> In 2013, he told investigators that he started working at Kraing Ta Chan in 1976 or 1977, but claimed that he only worked as a typist for the last two or three months of his time there.<sup>8971</sup>

2665. Before the Chamber, SREI Than alias Duch testified that he was transferred to Kraing Ta Chan at the end of December 1976, or early January 1977.<sup>8972</sup> He maintained that two distinct phases followed: a first phase of almost one year when his unit worked one kilometre from the main compound, escorting arriving prisoners from there to Kraing Ta Chan,<sup>8973</sup> followed by a second phase when his unit was “asked to go inside” to guard, after which he was tasked with typing.<sup>8974</sup> He testified that the second phase started in late 1977 or early 1978, when he was assigned to guard the gate close to the prison buildings.<sup>8975</sup> He attributed the reason for his move there to the fact that there

<sup>8966</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 60-61, 99; T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 12-14, 23.

<sup>8967</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5853, 16 September 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00433568-00433569.

<sup>8968</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5834, 29 December 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00434688 (Answers 2-3).

<sup>8969</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5834, 29 December 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00434690 (Answers 14-16).

<sup>8970</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5834, 29 December 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00434693 (Answer 49).

<sup>8971</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/9597, 31 October 2013, pp. 3, 6, ERN (En) 00970068, 00970071 (Answers 3, 26).

<sup>8972</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 31-32.

<sup>8973</sup> T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, p. 14, 18 (confirming that he walked the prisoners upon their arrival); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 44; T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, p. 33.

<sup>8974</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 46.

<sup>8975</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 23, 27.

was a “larger number of prisoners” at the time, and he testified that the second phase lasted some six months until he left Kraing Ta Chan in June or July 1978.<sup>8976</sup>

2666. SREI Than alias Duch’s evidence became increasingly inconsistent and incoherent when he sought to introduce greater distance between his unit and events inside Kraing Ta Chan. He repeatedly distinguished his unit – the “combatants” – from the main prison staff.<sup>8977</sup> Bearing similarities to evidence given by SAUT Saing and VAN Soeun, he testified that his unit was told to guard the outside of Kraing Ta Chan while people were killed inside. He accepted, however, that he heard screams from people inside.<sup>8978</sup> As noted, whereas he described his unit guarding close to the detention buildings, at other times he claimed that his unit was generally on duty outside the main compound and they only went inside “accidentally”.<sup>8979</sup> This evidence was not credible, especially given that he accepted that he worked inside the compound, including when he typed lists of prisoners who were new arrivals, and lists of those who were killed.<sup>8980</sup> He testified that he saw prisoners returning to the prison building after having been beaten during interrogations.<sup>8981</sup> Considering the relatively small size of compound he described, SREI Than alias Duch’s belated attempts to introduce greater distance between his unit and events inside Kraing Ta Chan were not credible.

2667. While the Chamber accepts there was a distinction between the guard unit and more senior persons at Kraing Ta Chan, the specifics of SREI Than alias Duch’s account did not withstand scrutiny. He tried to introduce a unique and implausible distinction by claiming that his unit was so separate from Kraing Ta Chan that the leadership could not even issue it with “instructions”. He then distinguished “instructions”, which could not be given, from “requests” to perform a specific task, which he accepted his unit indeed performed.<sup>8982</sup> He maintained that the Kraing Ta

<sup>8976</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 63; T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 23, 39, 42). He therefore maintained that, although he knew that his elder cousin MEAS Phoeun was imprisoned at Kraing Ta Chan, and the Tram Kak District Records indicate this was in mid-April 1977, he did not see his cousin. See T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 31, 34; Tram Kak District Record, E3/5854, 17 April 1977, ERN (En) 00322134.

<sup>8977</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 10, 39 (claiming his unit was “not part of the prison staff”); T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, p. 24.

<sup>8978</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5834, 29 December 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00434691 (Answer 26).

<sup>8979</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, p. 16.

<sup>8980</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/9597, 31 October 2013, p. 7, ERN (En) 00970072 (Answers 31-32).

<sup>8981</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 11.

<sup>8982</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 11, 56; T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 24-25.

Chan leaders had no real authority over his six-man unit, which instead remained under the authority of the “military district”.<sup>8983</sup> Although he typed for prison chief An, he claimed this did not amount to supervision.<sup>8984</sup> The Chamber did not find these aspects of his account to be credible in light of evidence confirming that his unit followed orders from Ta An.<sup>8985</sup> The Chamber therefore approaches SREI Than alias Duch’s evidence with caution.

12.3.2.2.4. MEAS Sokha

2668. The NUON Chea Defence focuses their challenges to MEAS Sokha’s credibility on his accounts of events at Kraing Ta Chan. It does not appear to challenge directly MEAS Sokha’s account of his arrest from a cooperative in Cheang Tong commune or transfer to Kraing Ta Chan via Angk Roka. The Chamber nonetheless considers MEAS Sokha’s account of these events to be relevant to the holistic assessment of MEAS Sokha’s credibility.

2669. MEAS Sokha explained that he was born in around 1960. In 1976, he worked in a children’s unit comprised of 10-14 year-olds because he was small for his age. In June 1976, his father MEAS Kun and brother-in-law MOM Boeun were arrested at the cooperative. He described the circumstances of his father’s arrest, including his father’s last words to him.<sup>8986</sup> Then a few days later, MEAS Sokha and around 12 members of his family were arrested.<sup>8987</sup> Among those arrested were his elder sister MEAS Sarat and her small children, and his mother HUN Kimseng who also had a baby.<sup>8988</sup> MEAS Sarat was MOM Boeun’s wife.<sup>8989</sup> MEAS Sokha testified that when he arrived at Kraing Ta Chan via another prison in Angk Roka, he saw his father’s cigarette lighter

<sup>8983</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 48-49.

<sup>8984</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 11-12.

<sup>8985</sup> See above, paras 2660, 2664.

<sup>8986</sup> T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, p. 61 (describing his return from working in the children’s unit at lunchtime, the arrest of his father MEAS Kun by militiamen, his father leaving him his plate, spoon and knife then telling his son: “You should go home.”).

<sup>8987</sup> T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, pp. 37 (describing the children’s unit), 56 (stating that 12 members were arrested because his father had complained about food rations); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 68 (describing a “preparatory children’s unit”); T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 27 -28 (explaining that he was 15 years old in 1975 but he was small for his age and his mother referred to him as a “stunt”); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223497 (stating that he was 16 or 17 when he was arrested).

<sup>8988</sup> T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, p. 57 (“For my sister’s babies, the oldest ones were three or four years old and the infant was two months old”).

<sup>8989</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 27.

and learned from others that his father had already been killed.<sup>8990</sup> His aunt THAO Sin alias Yeay Sin told him that his father and brother-in-law had been badly beaten. MEAS Sokha never saw his father again.<sup>8991</sup> The chief of the prison and other guards also told MEAS Sokha that his father had been smashed in the prison compound.<sup>8992</sup> HUN Kimseng alias Yeay Nha also described to investigators seeing her husband's lighter at Kraing Ta Chan, and explained that, when she arrived at Kraing Ta Chan, she learned from others that her husband had been beaten to death using an ox-cart axle.<sup>8993</sup>

2670. MEAS Sokha's account of his family's arrest and their transfer to Kraing Ta Chan is confirmed by documentary evidence. A notebook contains entries for his father MEAS Kun and his brother-in-law MOM Boeun.<sup>8994</sup> The same notebook contains entries for his mother HUN Kimseng, his sister MEAS Sarat and his aunt THAO Sin.<sup>8995</sup> The execution of his father and brother-in-law is specifically recorded by the following annotation to a list of prisoners which includes HUN Kimseng and MEAS Sarat: "The two women were the spouses of Kun and Boeun. We smashed their husbands because of their involvement in inciting people to depose a village chief."<sup>8996</sup> The Chamber finds that this evidence confirms MEAS Sokha's credibility when he testified to why MEAS Kun and MOM Boeun were arrested and killed.

2671. The presence of MEAS Sokha and his family at Kraing Ta Chan, and the execution of his father and brother-in-law, is further confirmed by other witnesses and Civil Parties. KHOEM Boeun, the former secretary of Cheang Tong commune, recalled the arrest of MEAS Sokha and his family from Srae Kruo village in Cheang Tong commune. According to her, MEAS Kun was said to have been involved in organising a petition to dismantle the cooperative, followed by a meeting of 50 to 70 persons to denounce the village chief Nop. This led to reports from the village to the commune,

<sup>8990</sup> T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, pp. 63-64.

<sup>8991</sup> T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, pp. 63-64; T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 13 (stating that Kraing Ta Chan staff told him that his father had been killed three days before MEAS Sokha arrived there), 33-34 (confirming THAO Sin was Yeay Sin, who told him that his father had been taken away, and stating that she later died at Kraing Ta Chan together with five or six relatives, including her husband and children).

<sup>8992</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 42.

<sup>8993</sup> HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, p. 7, ERN (En) 01168012 (Answers 28-30).

<sup>8994</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4095, undated, p. 15, ERN (En) 00747250.

<sup>8995</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4095, undated, pp. 27, ERN (En) 00747262 (HUN Seng), 28, ERN (En) 00747263 (MEAS Sarat), 19, ERN (En) 0747254 (THAO Sin).

<sup>8996</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4145, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00762837.

then district militia arrested MEAS Kun.<sup>8997</sup> Kraing Ta Chan guard and messenger VAN Soeun recalled that he was at Kraing Ta Chan when MEAS Sokha's family arrived: he remembered the husbands arriving first and the families arriving later.<sup>8998</sup> VAN Soeun testified that Ta Kun and Boeun were interrogated and killed just after they arrived.<sup>8999</sup> Another guard, SAUT Saing, also recalled the detention of Yeay Nha (i.e. HUN Kimseng) and her children, including Yeay Rat (i.e. MEAS Sarat), whom he said were detained after their husbands.<sup>9000</sup> Prisoner SORY Sen, who was already in Kraing Ta Chan, recalled that Kun and Boeun were tortured to death and their bodies buried at the south fence, where he planted coconut trees.<sup>9001</sup> Another prisoner VONG Sarun, who arrived in May 1977, confirmed that Yeay Nha and her family were at Kraing Ta Chan when she was there.<sup>9002</sup> HUN Kimseng was interviewed by investigators and her account was essentially the same as MEAS Sokha's account.<sup>9003</sup> MOM Boeun's elder brother, SOK Soth, likewise told investigators that he was arrested after his younger brother and Yeay Nha's husband, and he too was taken to Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9004</sup> The Chamber concludes that there is no doubt whatsoever that MEAS Sokha and many of his relations were arrested from Cheang Tong commune and taken to Kraing Ta Chan, where his father and brother-in-law were killed. MEAS Sokha's detailed account of these events was credible and reliable in its entirety.

2672. As noted, the NUON Chea Defence's challenge to MEAS Sokha's credibility seems to focus on his account of what he experienced and witnessed while at Kraing

<sup>8997</sup> T. 4 May 2015 (KHOEM Boeun), E1/296.1, pp. 77-80.

<sup>8998</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 24-25; T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 66-67 (the families arrived perhaps one or two weeks after the husbands).

<sup>8999</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 10, 65-66; T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, p. 9 (stating that Ta Kun died first).

<sup>9000</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 79-81.

<sup>9001</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SOR Y Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 77-78 (expanding that MOM Boeun was initially placed in the west prison building, then he was interrogated, beaten and placed in the east prison building where SORY Sen was at the time).

<sup>9002</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 13, 28-29 (referring to several of her sons and her youngest daughter who was 4-5 years of age, and stating that they were allowed to stay outside the cell because Yeay Nha was a cook).

<sup>9003</sup> HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/5826, 31 October 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00223488 (describing the arrest of her husband and son-in-law around one week before she was arrested with her children, and describing how she had to serve food and gruel to the prisoners); HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, pp. 6-7, ERN (En) 01168011-01168011 (Answers 27-28, describing the arrest of her husband for complaining in the cooperatives and, when arriving at Kraing Ta Chan, seeing his lighter on the wall and being told by his cousin he had been "taken away" that morning).

<sup>9004</sup> SOK Soth Interview Record, E3/5835, 31 October 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00223505 (describing his arrest the morning after the arrest of his younger brother and Yeay Nha's husband, his detention in an "Industry building" for six days, before being transferred to Angk Roka then Kraing Ta Chan with Yeay Nha's family).

Ta Chan. By MEAS Sokha's own account, compared to most prisoners he and his surviving family members had a relatively privileged status. After an initial 20 to 30 days when he was not allowed to go outside, he was put to work.<sup>9005</sup> MEAS Sokha and some of his family members then received larger food rations compared to other prisoners.<sup>9006</sup> Although his tasks varied, they included: taking buffaloes to plough at dawn; picking vegetables and fruits for the guards in the morning; tending cows and buffaloes in the afternoon which allowed him to travel several kilometres away from Kraing Ta Chan, provided that he returned by around 5 p.m.; catching frogs or fish in the evening; and having to collect meals from the guards' kitchen.<sup>9007</sup> He was allowed to sleep outside the main detention buildings.<sup>9008</sup> Although MEAS Sokha had some freedom of movement during the daytime, he explained that could not escape because his remaining family members would be in jeopardy.<sup>9009</sup>

2673. Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence's submissions, the Chamber found MEAS Sokha's general account of his relatively privileged position at Kraing Ta Chan to be reliable and coherent. The Chamber rejects the submission that MEAS Sokha's age at the time of events should lead to less weight being given to his evidence. He was 16 or 17 at the time of his arrest and incarcerated for an extended period of time. He accurately and honestly described his arrest and arrival at Kraing Ta Chan. Moreover, <sup>9005</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 10 (describing being allowed outside after about a month), 13-14 (starting work 20-25 days after his initial detention), 34 (initially he was kept inside and not allowed to go outside), 75 (he was initially detained for 25-30 days before starting work).

<sup>9006</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 14 (explaining that his mother and sister made gruel during the day and thus had some influence over the food); T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 42 (receiving a bigger ladle of gruel compared to other prisoners), 45 (receiving more food than other prisoners); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223497 (receiving more rations than given to prisoners held in cell: "They let us at twice a day.").

<sup>9007</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 14 (describing tending two cows and four buffaloes, but having to return by 5 p.m. then catching fish and frogs), 16-17 (describing picking vegetables and taking them to the guard's kitchen), 46-47 (describing bringing vegetables to the kitchen-hall close to the interrogation site), 70 (recalling being asked to take buffaloes to plough), 75 (describing tending two cows and four buffaloes, ploughing at dawn, then later having to return by 5 p.m.), 76 (describing collecting meals in the guards' kitchen), 77 (stating that during the day, he could even walk to Damrei Romeal); T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, p. 24 (explaining that after 5 p.m. or 6 p.m. he would be called to assist guards for example by hunting frogs as required).

<sup>9008</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 87-88 (describing being allowed to sleep near to the detention building, on a bed underneath a gum tree); T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, p. 49 (describing sleeping outside, when he saw prisoners brought into Kraing Ta Chan). This finds substantial corroboration in the evidence given by one of the Kraing Ta Chan guards, who described sleeping in the same room with MEAS Sokha at the outer gate to Kraing Ta Chan. See T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, p. 36 (describing how MEAS Sokha the child of Yeay Nha slept in the same room with VAN Soeun).

<sup>9009</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 77 (explaining that he did not dare to flee as his mother would then be killed).

guard VAN Soeun confirmed that MEAS Sokha tended cows at Kraing Ta Chan and that he was allowed to sleep in the same room as him, rather than in the detention buildings.<sup>9010</sup> While it is not necessary for the Chamber to make a finding as to the possible reason(s) for such preferential treatment, MEAS Sokha's mother, HUN Kimseng alias Yeay Nha, told investigators that she was not killed because the prison chief hailed from her village in Cheang Tong commune.<sup>9011</sup> MEAS Sokha and some of his relatives (his mother, elder brother, sister and three others) were eventually released from Kraing Ta Chan in around August 1978.<sup>9012</sup> The guard VAN Soeun also confirmed to the investigators that he led the wives and children back to Srae Kruo village in Cheang Tong commune.<sup>9013</sup> The Chamber accepts MEAS Sokha's general description of his position at Kraing Ta Chan.

2674. The NUON Chea Defence also challenged MEAS Sokha's account of witnessing three particular atrocities at Kraing Ta Chan, the thrust of these submissions being that these instances revealed MEAS Sokha's evidence to be implausible, invented or embellished. The challenged incidents were: a man suffocated during an interrogation; the killing of baby smashed against a tree; and a mass execution. The Chamber evaluates these incidents in its factual findings below.

2675. The Chamber rejects the NUON Chea Defence's submissions that undue time limits were imposed on their examination. MEAS Sokha was the first witness to appear

<sup>9010</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 78; T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, p. 36.

<sup>9011</sup> HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, p. 6, ERN (En) 01168011 (Answer 23). To somewhat similar effect, KHOEM Boeun, the former chief of Cheang Tong commune, explained that she and Ta An were cousins. See T. 4 May 2015 (KHOEM Boeun), E1/296.1, p. 26. Consistently with this, a former guard from Kraing Ta Chan told the Office of Investigating Judges that An had lived in Kbal Au village in Cheang Tong commune: SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00433570.

<sup>9012</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 42-43 (describing the release of his mother, brother and sister around August 1978), 75 (identifying Ta Chhen, Ta Seng, Sok San and Sok Soth as released at the same time); SOK Soth Interview Record, E3/5835, 31 October 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00223508 (describing his release when the prison chairman wrote a letter to send through the militia to the commune chief); HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/5826, 31 October 2007, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00223490-00223491 (placing her release in June 1978, when she was transported back to the cooperative); HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, p. 18, ERN (En) 01168023 (Answer 110-111, stating that after 23 months, she was told that she had served her sentence so she was released to a reserve/preparatory cooperative).

<sup>9013</sup> VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, p. 13, ERN (En) 00980289 (Answers 90-91, including the suggestion, which the Chamber finds to be mistaken, that the family was released in 1979).

before the Chamber in Case 002/02. He was scheduled to be heard for one day.<sup>9014</sup> Instead, his evidence lasted three trial days. The Co-Prosecutors questioned MEAS Sokha for approximately two hours and 51 minutes split over two morning sessions on 8 and 21 January 2015.<sup>9015</sup> The Lead Co-Lawyers for the Civil Parties questioned him for approximately 24 minutes on 21 January 2015.<sup>9016</sup> The NUON Chea Defence questioned MEAS Sokha for approximately two hours and 17 minutes over the course of two days on 21 and 22 January 2015.<sup>9017</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence questioned MEAS Sokha for approximately one hour and twelve minutes on 22 January 2015.<sup>9018</sup>

2676. As noted below, the NUON Chea Defence spent nearly one hour of their time questioning MEAS Sokha on a single suffocation incident. After this, counsel submitted without substantiation that his approach was the “only way” to test MEAS Sokha’s credibility and a further three hours was necessary.<sup>9019</sup> The Chamber has reviewed the transcript and finds that there were occasions when counsel’s questions were repetitive and/or mischaracterised MEAS Sokha’s previous answers.<sup>9020</sup> To the extent that limitations were imposed on counsel’s questioning, they were justified in the circumstances. The NUON Chea Defence had ample opportunity to question MEAS Sokha on any subject they chose. Fair time limits are appropriate to impose discipline on questioning. The NUON Chea Defence also had numerous opportunities to question other witnesses about the incidents described by MEAS Sokha, including the suffocation incident, the killing of children and mass executions. The Chamber rejects

<sup>9014</sup> See Scheduling Order for Evidentiary Proceedings, E328, 17 December 2014 and Tram Kok Cooperatives and Kraing Ta Chan Witnesses, Civil Parties and Experts, E328.1, 17 December 2014 (listing the time allocation to be given to 2-TCW-936).

<sup>9015</sup> T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, pp. 36-65 (Co-Prosecutors’ questioning from approximately 10.51 a.m. to 12.05 p.m.); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 7-46 (Co-Prosecutors’ questioning from approximately 10.01 a.m. to 11.38 a.m.).

<sup>9016</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 57-67 (Lead Co-Lawyers’ questioning from approximately 1.37 p.m. to 2.01 p.m.).

<sup>9017</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 67-83 (NUON Chea Defence questioning from approximately 2.02 p.m. to 2.36 p.m.), pp. 84-108 (NUON Chea Defence questioning from approximately 3 p.m. to 4.01 p.m.); T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 10-25 (NUON Chea Defence questioning from approximately 10.28 a.m. to 11.08 a.m.).

<sup>9018</sup> T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 25-54 (KHIEU Samphan Defence questioning from approximately 11.08 a.m. to 12.20 p.m.).

<sup>9019</sup> T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, p. 6.

<sup>9020</sup> See e.g., T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 16-17 (counsel directed to move on from asserting that MEAS Sokha never saw the baby being killed, when MEAS Sokha had repeatedly stated that he saw this incident); T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 23-25 (characterising MEAS Sokha’s earlier evidence as having denied being involved in burials, when his prior evidence was that he had been involved in burials but other persons such as SORY Sen and Ta Chhen had dug the pits beforehand).

the submission that the time limits imposed on the questioning of MEAS Sokha were too rigorous. There was no breach of NUON Chea's right to a fair trial.

12.3.2.2.5. SORY Sen

2677. As noted, the NUON Chea Defence challenges the credibility of Civil Party SORY Sen. He was arrested and taken to Kraing Ta Chan in 1974.<sup>9021</sup> His father, for whom his mother worked, was a former official in the pre-1970 era.<sup>9022</sup> His father's past role led SORY Sen to use his mother's name KHUTH San, to conceal his background.<sup>9023</sup> SORY Sen gave evidence that, once at Kraing Ta Chan, his life was saved because the former prison chief Ta Chhen asked the new prison chief Ta An to spare him.<sup>9024</sup> PHANN Chhen essentially confirmed this, describing a visit to Kraing Ta Chan in 1975 when he saw SORY Sen who was 12 or 13 years old. PHANN Chhen knew SORY Sen because they were from the same commune. He confirmed that he took pity on him, then made a request to the Tram Kak District Committee for him to be spared to tend cows. PHANN Chhen confirmed that this is why SORY Sen survived.<sup>9025</sup>

2678. SORY Sen described having various tasks at Kraing Ta Chan including: farming, ploughing and tending cattle;<sup>9026</sup> carrying faeces from detention buildings;<sup>9027</sup> digging pits into which human corpses were placed, and dragging bodies from detention buildings to those pits;<sup>9028</sup> dragging bodies from the interrogation room to burial

<sup>9021</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 44 (stating he was arrested in 1974 but he could not recall the month).

<sup>9022</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 41-42, 55 (explaining that his father was not his mother's "lawful husband" and he learned this from his father's relatives).

<sup>9023</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 42. Cf. T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 64 (stating he only knew his name as SAY Sen; the name KHUT Sen did not ring a bell).

<sup>9024</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 92; T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 40 (Ta Chhen told the people at Kraing Ta Chan to keep the Civil Party alive).

<sup>9025</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/268.1, pp. 76-78, 88; T. 25 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/269.1, pp. 24, 39-40, 84.

<sup>9026</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 45, 47 (explaining that he might return from tending cattle at around 4 p.m.).

<sup>9027</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 45, 49 (describing collecting coconut shells with human faeces and urine in them); T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 17 (stating that if ordered to carry faeces or urine, he had to do it).

<sup>9028</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 45-46, 48 (describing how, if there was a dead body in the detention building, he had to remove and bury the body); 57 (when a person went without food and died, SORY Sen was ordered to drag bodies out to the pits for burial); 89-91 (explaining that bodies were left until 4 p.m. the next day, then he was the one ordered to unshackle the dead body and remove it).

sites;<sup>9029</sup> growing coconut trees;<sup>9030</sup> collecting alcoholic “palm juice” for guards;<sup>9031</sup> carrying prisoners to and from the interrogation building;<sup>9032</sup> cleaning and sweeping the site, including the interrogation room;<sup>9033</sup> and carrying a bucket of water or food to prisoners for their meals.<sup>9034</sup> He often worked together with another prisoner called IET Chen alias Ta Chen or Ta Chhin, who was over 50 years old.<sup>9035</sup> Another prisoner called Ta Norn also dug pits until around 1976.<sup>9036</sup>

2679. Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence’s submission that SORY Sen’s account of his tasks at Kraing Ta Chan was “preposterous”, the Chamber found SORY Sen’s description of his survival and his various roles to be reliable, coherent and corroborated by other evidence. Guard SREI Than alias Duch confirmed that, when he started working at Kraing Ta Chan, SORY Sen was allowed out to work, including cooking, but he was detained overnight.<sup>9037</sup> Guard VAN Soeun confirmed that people who “worked inside the compound”, including “Sen”, had to remove prisoners who had died in the detention buildings following beatings.<sup>9038</sup> He therefore specifically confirmed that SORY Sen, and also Ta Chhin, had to carry out dead bodies of prisoners who died

<sup>9029</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 99 (when a prisoner was clubbed to death, SORY Sen and Ta Chen were ordered to drag the body out).

<sup>9030</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 46.

<sup>9031</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 46; T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 63 (describing prison chief An as being drunk and shouting and other guards inebriated).

<sup>9032</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 57.

<sup>9033</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 82.

<sup>9034</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 88-89; T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 13 (describing taking food to MEAS Kun in the west building).

<sup>9035</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 45-46 (“they order me and Ta Chen to dig the grave or to dig the pits or also to bury the pits”), 81 (Ta Chhin was fifty something years old), 99; T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 11-12. See also, Tram Kak District Record, E3/4145, ERN (En) 00762837 (List of prisoners detained for months or years, identifying IET Chin, 51 years old, as a civilian from Slaeng Kaong village in Nhaeng Nhang commune). This further corroborates MEAS Sokha evidence that Ta Chhin was involved in burying bodies following the mass execution discussed below at paras 2679, 2758, 2773.

<sup>9036</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 65, 101 (describing three prisoners working together, under the supervision of a soldier, digging pits), 75 (describing Ta Norn as responsible for fishing); T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 9 (stating Ta Norn came from Hanoi and married a woman in Samraong commune who was “pure Khmer”); THAONG Seav Interview Record, E3/7902, 29 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223470 (describing a person (THAONG Nat) carrying water nearby when he snuck up to THAONG Seav to tell her that her uncle, THAI Nath alias Ta Norn, had been killed inside Kraing Ta Chan). See also, HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, p. 17, ERN (En) 01168022 (Answers 103-107, referring to Ta Norn, who did cooking, was killed at Kraing Ta Chan about one month after she had arrived there).

<sup>9037</sup> T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, pp. 21-23; T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 39, 63-64 (confirming that SORY Sen was a prisoner when SREI Than arrived and remained a prisoner after he left).

<sup>9038</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 38 (“They organised people; for example, in the case of Sen.”).

from beatings. SAUT Saing said that SORY Sen was engaged in “all kinds of works in the compound”.<sup>9039</sup> Prisoner VONG Sarun testified that SORY Sen was allowed to work outside of Kraing Ta Chan, and that he had to drag away dead prisoners and carry faeces from the detention buildings.<sup>9040</sup> When her group was ordered to carry human waste fertiliser to rice fields, they worked with SORY Sen, and during the planting season he also worked with her.<sup>9041</sup> SORY Sen’s account of the work he performed at Kraing Ta Chan finds further corroboration in interviews from a former guard<sup>9042</sup> and prisoners.<sup>9043</sup>

2680. SORY Sen gave evidence that his father was killed at Kraing Ta Chan. Although this incident appears to have pre-dated 17 April 1975, the Chamber scrutinised SORY Sen’s account because it was challenged by the NUON Chea Defence and is relevant to the Chamber’s overall credibility assessment. Before the Chamber, SORY Sen stated that he did not witness the execution.<sup>9044</sup> He told investigators in 2008 that he learned of his father’s arrival at Kraing Ta Chan from “Ta Chhuon” and that, although he did not see the execution, he saw his father’s dead body at an area known as the “old dungeon” under some tamarind trees.<sup>9045</sup> He further identified one of the Kraing Ta Chan staff called “Cheng” as having taken his father’s hat. Cheng and other prison staff including Ta An would sometimes wear this hat. SORY Sen was able to take his dead father’s t-shirt and sarong which he used to cover himself at night.<sup>9046</sup>

2681. It was suggested by the NUON Chea Defence that SORY Sen’s previous statements about his father differed from his evidence before the Chamber. In

<sup>9039</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 24-25.

<sup>9040</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 65.

<sup>9041</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 66.

<sup>9042</sup> SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00433573 (describing the killing of 100, up to 200 prisoners at a time, including children and adults, then stating that Sen, who was a prisoner, may know about this).

<sup>9043</sup> HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, pp. 11-12, ERN (En) 01168016-01168017 (Answer 64, Sen among other prisoners had to dig pits to bury bodies); NEANG Dam Interview Record, E3/7904, 1 November 2007, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00223518-00223519 (stating that Sen used to dig pits two or three times per month, and each pit would hold around 50 to 60 persons; further describing filling the pits and seeing bodies there).

<sup>9044</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 64 (stating that he heard of his father’s execution from a soldier and old people, that he took his t-shirt and sarong but the deputy chief and chief of the prison took his hat); T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 22.

<sup>9045</sup> SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 10, ERN (En) 00225509.

<sup>9046</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 64; SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 10, ERN (En) 00225509 (referring to the trilby hat); SORY Sen DC-Cam Interview, E3/4846, 26 February 2004, ERN (En) 00527785 (describing his father’s white t-shirt and “cowboy hat” which Ta An then wore).

particular, a DC-Cam Interview from 2004 records SORY Sen as saying that he had climbed a tamarind tree, from where he saw his father's execution who was killed at the same time as two other people.<sup>9047</sup> The NUON Chea Defence failed to note, however, that earlier in the same interview, SORY Sen explained that although he knew his father was taken to be killed, he did not witness the actual execution.<sup>9048</sup> Reading this interview as a whole, the Chamber is not persuaded that any inconsistencies are material. Rather, SORY Sen's core account was that he knew that his father was killed and that later he went to the location to collect his clothes. The site identification report includes a plan compiled from information provided by SORY Sen. It depicts the "old dungeon" to the south-west of the inner compound.<sup>9049</sup> This report also summarises that SORY Sen described the old dungeon as "simply a deep hole covered by a roof held up by four corner posts" which was used to incarcerate prisoners before 1975, then after 1975 was filled with bodies and earth.<sup>9050</sup> The Chamber finds SORY Sen's account of the circumstances of the death of his father to be reliable and accurate.<sup>9051</sup> Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence's submissions, the Chamber found SORY Sen's general account of his relatively privileged position at Kraing Ta Chan to be reliable and coherent. The Chamber accepts SORY Sen's general description of his position at Kraing Ta Chan. The NUON Chea Defence also challenged SORY Sen's account in three further respects, the thrust of their submissions being that these instances revealed his evidence to be implausible, invented or embellished. The challenged matters were SORY Sen's account of: matters relating to MEAS Sokha's family, including an alleged sexual assault; the rape and execution of two women from a mobile unit; and the execution of two young girls. The Chamber addresses each in turn. The Chamber evaluates these incidents in its factual findings below.

2682. SORY Sen's evidence was subject to objections and interruptions. During the course of questioning by the NUON Chea Defence, there were objections to the basis

<sup>9047</sup> SORY Sen DC-Cam Interview, E3/4846, 26 February 2004, ERN (En) 00527785 (the interview also records SORY Sen saying that later that evening he went to collect his father's clothes).

<sup>9048</sup> SORY Sen DC-Cam Interview, E3/4846, 26 February 2004, ERN (En) 00527773 (Q. "Did you personally witness it?" A. "No, I did not witness it, but right after his execution I went to see him. In less than an hour they had transfer the body to the grave [sic]. I took my father's cloths [sic] off, washed the blood out and kept it to wear and cover myself.").

<sup>9049</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/5830, ERN (En) 00363333 (Annex D).

<sup>9050</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/5828, 17 March 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00363339.

<sup>9051</sup> The Chamber notes that guard SAUT Saing (SOTR Sain) was unaware of a dungeon at Kraing Ta Chan. See T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 32-33. The Chamber finds that the reason for this is that it had been filled in by the time SAUT Saing (SOTR Sain) started work at Kraing Ta Chan.

on which questions were put and counsel's attempts to summarise earlier evidence, as well as interruptions to address whether SORY Sen should be allowed to state the identity of particular guards in open session. There were also submissions about the privacy of a person whom SORY Sen identified as a victim of sexual assault. The Chamber is satisfied, however, that the NUON Chea Defence had a full opportunity to challenge SORY Sen's evidence, irrespective of any interruptions or objections during the progress of their questioning. After SORY Sen's appearance before the Chamber on 4, 5 and 6 February 2015, he returned for further questioning on 25 March 2015 when, in answer to a scheduling question from Judge Fenz, counsel for NUON Chea answered "To be honest, I think we should be able to finish four-ish".<sup>9052</sup> His questioning ended shortly before 4 p.m.<sup>9053</sup> The NUON Chea Defence's submissions challenging the fairness of this aspect of proceedings are therefore dismissed.

12.3.3. Establishment and Location

2683. Kraing Ta Chan was located in Kus commune, Tram Kak district, approximately 20.5 kilometres due west from Takeo town,<sup>9054</sup> and about seven or eight kilometres from the Tram Kak District Office at Angk Roka.<sup>9055</sup> The district authorities started using the site as a security centre in 1973 or 1974 with "Phy" in an oversight role, but before then it was used for meetings.<sup>9056</sup> It operated during the whole period

<sup>9052</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/282.1, p. 90.

<sup>9053</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/282.1, p. 100 (questioning recorded as having concluded at approximately 3.55 p.m.).

<sup>9054</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/268.1, pp. 63-65 (Kraing Ta Chan was originally part of Kus commune); T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 14 (Kraing Ta Chan was in Kus commune); Site Identification Report, E3/5828, 17 March 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00363338 (stating that the Kraing Ta Chan site is located 20.5km east [sic] of the town of Takeo).

<sup>9055</sup> VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, p. 8, ERN (En) 00980284 (Answer 48, explaining that he delivered messages to the District Office and travelled by bike or by horse).

<sup>9056</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/268.1, p. 64; T. 25 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/269.1, 84, 89 (Kraing Ta Chan was taken over by the district for use as a security centre in mid-1973, with Phy in overall charge); T. 5 May 2015 (KHOEM Boeun), E1/297.1, p. 72 (Kraing Ta Chan was under the supervision of the district); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 19 (confirming that documents emanating from Kraing Ta Chan had the header "Education Office, District 105", such as that in the report, Office of Education District 105, E3/2421, 5 July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 0032201); PHANN Chhen Interview Record, E3/5522, 8 December 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00426284 (in mid-1973, the district took Kraing Ta Chan for use as a detention office; and Phi, Duch (the district youth chairman) and An were the "commission" brought in "to represent Kraing Ta Chan" having been sent by Saom at the sector level and Nhev of the District Military); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/9597, 31 October 2013, p. 4, ERN (En) 00970069 (Kraing Ta Chan was a security office of District 105); IEP Duch Interview Record, E3/4627, 30 October 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00223478 (explaining that Kraing Ta Chan was his former office, in that it was used for youth study sessions). See below, para. 2697 on Phy's later roles.

of the Chamber's temporal jurisdiction.<sup>9057</sup>

2684. The Chamber heard different evidence about the provenance of the name Kraing Ta Chan. PHANN Chhen stated that the remains of “Ta Chan”, the former owner, were stored here.<sup>9058</sup> RIEL Son recalled that the site was previously known as “Trapeang Ta Chan” because of the pond (trapeang) to the west.<sup>9059</sup> The Chamber attaches no significance to the etymology of Kraing Ta Chan. The evidence that some remains were stored here before 1973 is addressed when evaluating the evidence of exhumations after 1979.

12.3.4. Layout

2685. The Chamber dismissed a request during trial by the NUON Chea Defence to conduct a site visit because it would have been repetitious of the site identification visit conducted during the investigation.<sup>9060</sup> The report from that visit records that none of the original DK-era buildings still exist;<sup>9061</sup> accordingly, the Chamber found that the NUON Chea Defence had not substantiated the need for a site visit. Based in part on information from SORY Sen and SREI Than alias Duch as to how Kraing Ta Chan used to appear, the site identification report describes an inner compound surrounded by a fence, and notes that the southern boundary is lined by coconut trees in varying condition. The report estimates the size of the inner compound to be approximately 75 metres (north to south) by 90 metres (west to east).<sup>9062</sup> When in operation, the inner compound was accessed by two gates: one to the east and another to the west, with further rings of perimeter fences approximately 50 metres from the inner compound then another fence approximately 100 to 130 metres further out.<sup>9063</sup> The report observes

<sup>9057</sup> See above, para. 2645.

<sup>9058</sup> T. 25 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/269.1, p. 70.

<sup>9059</sup> T. 18 March 2015 (RIEL Son), E1/279.1, p. 80. The Chamber notes that Site Identification Report, Annex B, E3/5866, ERN (En) 00363331 shows the existence of pond a short distance to the west.

<sup>9060</sup> T. 27 April 2015, E1/293.1, pp. 71-74.

<sup>9061</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 76 (stating that there were no buildings left when he visited the Kraing Ta Chan site in 1979); Site Identification Report, E3/5828, 17 March 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00363338 (no trace of the original prison buildings remain).

<sup>9062</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/5830, ERN (En) 00363333 (Annex D).

<sup>9063</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/5828, 17 March 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00363338.

that some distances measured by OCIJ investigators were “somewhat shorter” than SORY Sen’s estimates.<sup>9064</sup>

2686. Other persons who appeared before the Chamber gave similar descriptions of the inner compound surrounded by perimeter fences. Their estimates of size, distances and the number of perimeter fences sometimes differed.

2687. MEAS Sokha estimated that Kraing Ta Chan covered three hectares “at most” and recalled two perimeters of barbed wire fences.<sup>9065</sup> He thought the distance between perimeter fences was about 100 metres.<sup>9066</sup> SREI Than alias Duch thought the inner compound was about 150 square metres, surrounded by a barbed wire fence.<sup>9067</sup> At another point, he estimated the area to be 200 square metres.<sup>9068</sup> VAN Soeun estimated the inner compound at 70 square metres, with the outer perimeter about 300 square metres.<sup>9069</sup> According to KEO Chandara, Kraing Ta Chan measured 250 by 200 metres.<sup>9070</sup> IEP Duch told investigators that the outer perimeter barbed wire fence was 500 square metres with an inside “wall/fence” of about 100 square metres.<sup>9071</sup> VONG Sarun described entering Kraing Ta Chan as a prisoner, passing first fences with barbed wire, then 50 metres later there was another layer of fences with a gate.<sup>9072</sup>

2688. The Chamber finds that the fences at Kraing Ta Chan were made of barbed wire.<sup>9073</sup> The Chamber is also satisfied that there were at least two stages of perimeter

<sup>9064</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/5828, 17 March 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00363338. SORY Sen told investigators that Kraing Ta Chan covered approximately 500 by 800 metres, surrounded by three layers of fences: a first fence 10 metres from detention buildings, a second fence 100 metres from the detention buildings, and a third fence 600 metres from the detention building to the west. See SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 13, ERN (En) 00225512.

<sup>9065</sup> T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, pp. 64-65 (describing wires inside the walls, below the floor and under the roof “just like a chess grid”); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 36 (stating prisoners were detained in the prison compound of a three-hectare plot). Cf. MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00223498 (suggesting the prison compound was nearly two hectares).

<sup>9066</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 78.

<sup>9067</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 60; T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, p. 27 (describing the area as less than 200 metres each side); T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, p. 22 (describing the barbed wire fence).

<sup>9068</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, p. 43.

<sup>9069</sup> T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, p. 22.

<sup>9070</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 62-63.

<sup>9071</sup> IEP Duch Interview Record, E3/4627, 30 October 2007, p. 9, ERN (En) 00223480.

<sup>9072</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 12.

<sup>9073</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/268.1, pp. 68-69 confirming PHANN Chhen Interview Record, E3/5522, 8 December 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00426285 (the fence comprised barbed wire and wooden poles); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 12 (Kraing Ta Chan was surrounded by barbed wire), 74 (there were several perimeters of fence around the compound).

fencing surrounding Kraing Ta Chan. For the size of the inner compound, the Chamber relies upon the more precise measurement performed during the site visit: 75 metres (from north to south) by 90 metres (from west to east).<sup>9074</sup> The Chamber is also satisfied there was at least 100 metres between the inner compound and at least one further perimeter fence.

2689. There were some differences in the various descriptions of the layout of the inner compound, and the Chamber is satisfied that over time structures were added between 1975 to 1979. Witnesses and Civil Parties described at least two long wooden buildings used to house prisoners, built running east-to-west. KEO Chandara, who was detained around April 1975, recalled one long building about 4 by 20 metres, running west-to-east, which held around 45 prisoners shackled at the ankles.<sup>9075</sup> He described thick barbed wires surrounding the buildings, with walls made from coconut leaf and the roofs made from sugar palm leaf.<sup>9076</sup> MEAS Sokha, who was detained from mid-1976, described three buildings which could house up to 100 prisoners, two of which were attached to each other with the third about 15 metres away.<sup>9077</sup> He described barbed wires inside the buildings in a grid pattern.<sup>9078</sup> The buildings had tile roofs and wooden walls and floors.<sup>9079</sup> SORY Sen, who was detained throughout the relevant period, stated that there were initially two buildings with two more added later on (he did not specify when) to house more prisoners. The site identification report includes a plan based upon SORY Sen's description, which shows four detention buildings located to the north of the inner compound.<sup>9080</sup> SORY Sen estimated there to have been between

<sup>9074</sup> Site Identification Report, Annex D, E3/5830, ERN (En) 00363333.

<sup>9075</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 33, 45, 75; T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, pp. 20-21.

<sup>9076</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, p. 21.

<sup>9077</sup> T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, p. 65; T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 65 (stating that there were three buildings which used to house up to 100 prisoners), 78 (stating that two detention buildings were attached to each other, with the third some 15 metres away).

<sup>9078</sup> T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, pp. 64-65 (describing wires inside the walls, below the floor and under the roof "just like a chess grid"); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 36 (prisoners detained in the prison compound of a three-hectare plot). Cf. MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00223498 (suggesting that the prison compound was nearly two hectares). See also, KEV Mao alias SAO Sary Interview Record, E3/7900, 29 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00163474 (describing two detention buildings made out of wood with thatched roofs, and barbed wire under the floors, along the walls and roofs, and along the outside of the walls).

<sup>9079</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 78 (reiterating that barbed wires were laid out like a grid under the roof tiles and on the walls).

<sup>9080</sup> Site Identification Report, Annex D, E3/5830, ERN (En) 00363333; T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 71 (stating that prior to 1975 there were only two buildings, later another two buildings were added to house prisoners, making four buildings together); T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 35-36 (stating that two more buildings were built due to the increase in the number of

20 to 100 prisoners in each building.<sup>9081</sup> VONG Sarun, who was detained in 1977, recalled three detention buildings or “long halls” made of wooden planks, with roofs made from leaves. Prisoners were shackled in two rows with an aisle between them.<sup>9082</sup> According to her, the buildings usually held around 40 prisoners each.<sup>9083</sup>

2690. The guard VAN Soeun also described three detention buildings: one old building which could house only “a few” prisoners, then two newer buildings which could hold 50 to 60 prisoners each.<sup>9084</sup> SAUT Saing agreed there were three detention buildings, describing two towards the east and one to the west.<sup>9085</sup> SREI Than alias Duch described two buildings for prisoners: one to the east and one to the west, made from wood with a thatched roof, each holding 50 to 60 prisoners.<sup>9086</sup> RIEL Son visited the prison once during the relevant period. He described three long buildings and two smaller buildings.<sup>9087</sup> He looked into the longest building and saw rows of prisoners, around 100 prisoners lying on the ground.<sup>9088</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the overall capacity of Kraing Ta Chan was well over 100 persons at any one time, and that sometimes more people were detained in the two or three main detention buildings, depending on the point in time.

2691. The site identification report depicts the interrogation house as situated in a cassava plantation, with the guards’ dining hall a short distance to the east, and the detention buildings and prison chief’s house further to the north.<sup>9089</sup> SREI Than alias Duch confirmed that the interrogation room was to the south of the compound.<sup>9090</sup> prisoners); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, pp. 5, ERN (En) 00225504 (stating that there were four buildings to house prisoners but in general only three houses were used, depending on the number of prisoners), 11, ERN (En) 00225510 (stating that serious offence prisoners, being the 17 April People, were held in two central houses, a mixture of serious offence and light offence prisoners were held in a third house and base area prisoners were held in a fourth house).

---

<sup>9081</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 47 (estimating that there were 20-100 prisoners in each building), 51 (SORY Sen noticed many prisoners were brought in after the liberation of Phnom Penh, ranging from 20 to 50 to 100); T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 65 (stating that at full capacity, there were 100 to 200 prisoners per building).

<sup>9082</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 18, 27-28, 31.

<sup>9083</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 32.

<sup>9084</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 9-10 confirming T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, p. 18.

<sup>9085</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 40.

<sup>9086</sup> T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, pp. 18-19; T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 37-38.

<sup>9087</sup> T. 17 March 2015 (RIEL Son), E1/278.1, p. 94.

<sup>9088</sup> T. 17 March 2015 (RIEL Son), E1/278.1, p. 74.

<sup>9089</sup> Site Identification Report, Annex D, E3/5830, ERN (En) 00363333.

<sup>9090</sup> T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, p. 23; T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 4.

According to him, the distance between each detention building, and from those to the interrogation building, was about 40 metres.<sup>9091</sup> He described the interrogation building as “not complicated” with a wooden wall and thatched roof.<sup>9092</sup> The distance between the prison chief’s room and the interrogation site was approximately 70 metres.<sup>9093</sup> The prison chief’s house was where SREI Than alias Duch worked typing documents.<sup>9094</sup> VAN Soeun described the interrogation site as approximately 30 metres south of Ta An’s office, in a building that was not fully enclosed.<sup>9095</sup> VONG Sarun, who the Chamber found was detained from May 1977, confirmed that the interrogation site was close (50 metres at most) to the guards’ kitchen, and explained that, but for cassava trees and/or Kantrang Khaet plants growing when she was there, she would have been able to see one from to the other.<sup>9096</sup> From the kitchen, however, she could “clearly hear” what was being said in the interrogation room.<sup>9097</sup> SAUT Saing also described the interrogation site as being to the south, after the cassava plantation, under a pongro tree next to a “small high hill”.<sup>9098</sup> He agreed that the interrogation site was next to the guards’ kitchen.<sup>9099</sup>

2692. There was an interrogation room to the south of the inner compound.<sup>9100</sup> Although there were discrepancies in the evidence as to the precise appearance of the

<sup>9091</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 5.

<sup>9092</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 6.

<sup>9093</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 5.

<sup>9094</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5834, 29 December 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00434690 (describing the house as three metres wide, with a table, chair, and cabinet for keeping documents inside); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5852, 16 September 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00231677 (sketched drawing indicating prison chief’s room and typing room).

<sup>9095</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 31 (stating that the walls of the interrogation hut were not all covered, they only covered half of it).

<sup>9096</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 45. For the Chamber’s findings on the date of VONG Sarun’s arrival at Kraing Ta Chan, see above, para. 2644. See below, para. 2714 (fn. 9217).

<sup>9097</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 45.

<sup>9098</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 46.

<sup>9099</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 48 (specifying that the interrogation site was next to guards’ kitchen).

<sup>9100</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp 81-82; T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 64 (the interrogation room was always in the same location); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 16-17 (describing the interrogation site 50 metres from where prisoners were detained and five metres from the guard’s kitchen), 93 (describing the interrogation room to the south); Site Identification Report, Annex D, E3/5830, 6 February 2015, p. 1, ERN (En) 003633333 (showing “interrogation house” on the south side of the compound); SAUT Saing confirmed that the location of the interrogation site on this map is correct. See T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 45-46. T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 4 (confirming interrogation room was on the south side of compound); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5852, 16 September 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00231677 (sketched drawing indicating “interrogation site” to south of compound); T. 24 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/268.1, p. 76 confirming PHANN Chhen Interview Record, E3/5522, 8 December 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00426286 (stating that the interrogation site was a small building at the south of the site); T.

interrogation room, the Chamber is satisfied that, at times during the relevant period, it was possible to see into it from the outside – in particular from the guards’ kitchen which was located nearby.<sup>9101</sup> On the south side of the inner compound, there were “many” grave pits of varying sizes along the inner fence, as well as grave pits on the east side.<sup>9102</sup> After the pits in the inner compound were filled, bodies were buried in between the first and second fences, and then outside Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9103</sup> SAUT Saing described rows of graves to the south of the interrogation site, although he attributed them to an earlier period when Chhen was the prison chief.<sup>9104</sup> VAN Soeun gave evidence that bodies were buried in the compound, to the south of the kitchen.<sup>9105</sup> His evidence was that the pits were dug by “internal people” working inside the compound.<sup>9106</sup> He recalled that Kraing Ta Chan smelled of human corpses and the smell came from the pits where corpses were buried.<sup>9107</sup> The Chamber finds that an increasing

---

4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 31 (stating that the interrogation room was to the south of Ta An’s office).

<sup>9101</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 16-17 (stating that the interrogation room was visible from the guard’s kitchen because it was an open place) p. 47 (stating that the interrogation room was not enclosed by walls); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 83 (stating that the front wall of the interrogation room was waist-high); T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 38 (stating that the front wall of interrogation room was low, allowing the room to be seen into); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 6-7 (at first stating the wall was “close – and we could not see through” but then confirming interrogation room was not completely enclosed by walls); T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 31 (stating that the walls of the interrogation hut were not all covered, they only covered half of it); T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 77 (stating that the interrogation site had coconut tree leaves for walls, but they were rotten so it was possible to see through); T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, pp. 31-32 (describing the interrogation site as being to the west of the compound and as having four walls, which the Chamber rejects as mistaken, given the evidence that there was only one wall).

<sup>9102</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 62-63 (stating that there were pits on the southern part of the fence and in the eastern area in the paddy field); T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, p. 25 (stating that the sizes of the pits varied, the largest being approximately four by four metres); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 83-85 (stating that there were pits along the fence and coconut trees were planted there); T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, pp. 79-80 (stating that there were many pits of varying sizes, the smaller pits contained only two or three bodies); T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, p. 22 (stating that there were pits for burying bodies and a smell came from the pits where corpses were buried); Site Identification Report, Annex D, E3/5830, ERN (En) 003633333 (indicating the location of grave pits on the eastern and southern sides of the inner compound).

<sup>9103</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 72, 84 (describing pits to the south and west of the compound and that there were too many burial places inside the compound, so some burials had to take place outside the perimeter); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 47 (describing how, when pits within first perimeter were filled, prisoners would be taken out and killed in between the first and second fences).

<sup>9104</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 43.

<sup>9105</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 33.

<sup>9106</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 44.

<sup>9107</sup> T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 21-22.

number of pits were filled with human corpses, first inside the main compound to the south, then expanding outwards and to the east over time.

12.3.5. Authority Structure

12.3.5.1. Leadership and oversight

12.3.5.1.1. Kraing Ta Chan chief

2693. PHANN Chhen was the chief of Kraing Ta Chan during the early period of its operation until approximately mid-1975.<sup>9108</sup> For most of the relevant period, however, the chief was LENG An alias Ta An.<sup>9109</sup> Ta An came from Totueng Thngai or nearby Kbal Ou village in Cheang Tong commune and was the cousin of KHOEM Boeun, Cheang Tong commune Secretary and later member of the District Committee.<sup>9110</sup>

<sup>9108</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/268.1, pp. 65-67 (PHANN Chhen sought to recharacterise his previous answers by suggesting that An was his deputy solely for the purpose of twice monthly meetings at Kraing Ta Chan. The Chamber rejects this characterisation and finds the PHANN Chhen was the chief of Kraing Ta Chan, and An his deputy, prior to 1975); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 73 (stating that Ta An came “after the liberation of Phnom Penh” but uncertain about the year); PECH Chim Interview Record, E3/4626, 27 August 2009, pp. 6-7, ERN (En) 00380136-00380137 (stating Chhen was transferred from Kraing Ta Chan in mid-1975); KEV Mao alias SAO Sary Interview Record, E3/7900, 29 October 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00163473 (recalling being detained at Kraing Ta Chan in 1974 when Chhen was the chief and An was the deputy); T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, pp. 19, 22 (confirming that when he was detained at Kraing Ta Chan, around the time of the liberation of Phnom Penh, the prison chief was Achar Chhen); KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5153, 12 March 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00205090 (stating that Achar Chhen was the prison leader).

<sup>9109</sup> T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, pp. 19-20 (referring to chief named “Leng An” when shown Handwritten Report, E3/2109, November 1977); T. 17 March 2015 (RIEL Son), E1/278.1, pp. 68-69; T. 18 March 2015 (RIEL Son), E1/279.1, p. 35 (stating that Ta An was chief); T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 21, 27 (Ta An issued instructions and headed Kraing Ta Chan); T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 30 (indicating that An was responsible for everything in Kraing Ta Chan); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 40 (Ta An was the chief), pp. 67, 87 (stating that he fled Kraing Ta Chan with Ta An when Vietnamese soldiers arrived). Some prisoners used slightly different names to refer to Ta An, referring to both “Siv An” and “Pai An”. See T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 31-32 (indicating that Siv An (phonetic) was the chief), 40 (stating An was the chief), 50 (stating Pai An (phonetic) was the chief); SOK Soth Interview Record, E3/5835, 31 October 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223506 (referring to Phai An). As to LENG An’s full name, the working relationship between Ta An and SREI Than alias Duch leads the Chamber to accept his identification to be the most reliable. The accuracy of the name LENG An is corroborated by research from EA Meng-Try, who identified LENG An as born in 1938 in Toteung Thngai village, Cheang Tong commune, based on interviews with his family members: Book by Ea M-T: The Chain of Terror: The Southwest Zone Security System, E3/2120, p. 50, ERN (En) 00416368 (based on the author’s interviews with LENG Tong and LENG Meay, Ta An’s elder brother and sister, on 3 June 2001).

<sup>9110</sup> T. 4 May 2015 (KHOEM Boeun), E1/296.1, p. 26 (although she claimed not to remember his full name); KHOEM Boeun Interview Record, E3/9480, 21 May 2014, p. 34, ERN (En) 01057708 (Answer 190). Consistently with this, a former guard told investigators that An had lived in Kbal Au village in Cheang Tong commune: SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00433570. See also, HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015 (Answer 23, stating that she knew Ta An from Cheang Tong commune, to which she attributed her survival).

12.3.5.1.2. District-level involvement

2694. KHOEM Boeun remembered Ta An attending meetings of the Tram Kak District Committee, where he reported on spy networks, although she claimed not to know whether he provided numbers of people purged.<sup>9111</sup> PECH Chim, the District Secretary, confirmed however that Ta An made monthly reports to the district, including the number of prisoners detained and smashed.<sup>9112</sup> In light of the evidence discussed below, the Chamber is satisfied that reports flowed regularly from Kraing Ta Chan to the district level, including on the numbers of people killed.

2695. In addition to Ta An attending meetings at the district, the evidence establishes that district-level cadres visited Kraing Ta Chan, stayed over and conducted interrogations. In interviews with investigators before he died, IEP Duch, the chief of the District Youth, accepted that he returned to Kraing Ta Chan about three or four months later, stayed over and participated in interrogations.<sup>9113</sup> Guard VAN Soeun recalled that “Big Duch”, that is IEP Duch the chief of the District Youth unit, came to Kraing Ta Chan and participated in meetings “every month”.<sup>9114</sup> He thought the frequency of these visits increased in 1978.<sup>9115</sup> SREI Than alias Duch saw An and Big Duch (with Sieng) together “quite often”.<sup>9116</sup> At one point he described his two superiors as Ta An and Duch, which as noted was contrary to his other claims that his only superiors were at the District Military rather than Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9117</sup> When interviewed by OCIJ investigators, SAUT Saing identified Big Duch as “Head of Youth at Kraing Ta Chan”.<sup>9118</sup> MEAS Sokha identified Duch as the “deputy” at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9119</sup> NUT Nouv, a commune secretary who attended district meetings, knew IEP Duch “very well”, describing him as the chief of the Tram Kak Youth Committee later

<sup>9111</sup> T. 4 May 2015 (KHOEM Boeun), E1/296.1, pp. 34-35.

<sup>9112</sup> T. 24 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/292.1, p. 11; PECH Chim Interview Record, E3/5786, 6 December 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00422343 (stating that it was An’s task to make a monthly report, including on the number of prisoners and numbers smashed).

<sup>9113</sup> IEP Duch Interview Record, E3/4627, 30 October 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00223479.

<sup>9114</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 31, 38-39; T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 51-52.

<sup>9115</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 39.

<sup>9116</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 14-15.

<sup>9117</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 11-12, 56-57; T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 24, 38-39 (outlining how, when so instructed by An and Duch, he would leave his guard post to carry out typing tasks). The witness attributed this to late 1977, or March or April 1978, or late June or early July 1978.

<sup>9118</sup> SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/9583, 25 November 2013, p. 11, ERN (En) 00970122 (Answer 69).

<sup>9119</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 50.

sent to work at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9120</sup> Documentary evidence confirms that IEP Duch held a position at Kraing Ta Chan alongside Ta An: a report from Kus commune dated 14 May 1977 is addressed to Comrade Brother Duch and Brother “Ann”;<sup>9121</sup> and an undated message from Mien is addressed both to Ta An and Duch stating that persons had already been sent “to you”.<sup>9122</sup>

2696. In relation to IEP Duch and the district’s oversight of Kraing Tha Chan, the Chamber recalls its discussion of the authenticity of handwritten reports for the months of July and November 1977.<sup>9123</sup> These include overview data, including total numbers for prisoners, prisoners entering, and prisoners “swept away” (in the case of July) or “purged” (in the case of November).<sup>9124</sup> The Chamber found that the handwriting in one of these reports belonged to IEP Duch. Although the Chamber found that some of the information appears to go beyond Kraing Ta Chan specifically, including the references to rice issued to Samraong and manioc to Totueng Thngnai (Ta An’s home village),<sup>9125</sup> considering IEP Duch’s role the Chamber is satisfied that the data for prisoners relates to Kraing Ta Chan specifically.<sup>9126</sup> The numbers reported are consistent with the Chamber’s findings on Kraing Ta Chan’s overall capacity.<sup>9127</sup>

2697. Several witnesses and Civil Parties recalled another district-level cadre called “Phy”, who was memorable both for his cruelty and because he limped.<sup>9128</sup> PHANN

<sup>9120</sup> T. 16 March 2015 (NUT Nov), E1/277.1, p. 30.

<sup>9121</sup> Tram Kak District Records, E3/2441, 14 May 1977, ERN (En) 00369465.

<sup>9122</sup> Tram Kak District Records, E3/2449, ERN (En) 00366708. See also, further correspondence from Mien (sometimes spelled Mean) in Nhaeng Nhang commune such as Tram Kak District Record, E3/4118, undated, ERN (En) 00355475; and Tram Kak District Record, E3/4115, 11 June [1977], ERN (En) 00363656-00363657; Tram Kak District Record, E3/2450, undated, ERN (En) 00322161.

<sup>9123</sup> Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives, para. 852.

<sup>9124</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4086, July 1977, ERN (En) 00276557-00276558 (reporting that one study meeting was held, 18 new prisoners entered during July 1977, making a total of 81 prisoners, 2 prisoners died from illness and 39 were “swept away”); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2109, November 1977, ERN (En) 00276555 (reporting that during the month of November 1977, 75 people entered, 92 people were purged, 6 people died of illness and one person was removed to the sector).

<sup>9125</sup> T. 30 April 2015 (Key Documents Hearing), E1/295.1, p. 47. The Chamber found above the LENG An came from Toteung Thngai or nearby. See above, para. 2693.

<sup>9126</sup> The Chamber therefore rejects the following evidence because it does not undermine its findings of IEP Duch’s role, knowledge and report(s): (1) T. 15 December 2016 (LONG Vonn), E1/514.1, pp. 99-100 (witness did not recognise the handwriting and did not see this sort of report, but he worked at the Angk Roka Commerce Office so, in the Chamber’s assessment, did not have cause to); (2) T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, p. 20 (to the extent he denied that monthly reports were prepared at Kraing Ta Chan, he did not have cause to see IEP Duch’s reports unless he had been asked to type, and PECH Chim among others confirmed that monthly reports were made from Kraing Ta Chan to the district. See above, para. 2694).

<sup>9127</sup> See above, para. 2690.

<sup>9128</sup> T. 17 March 2015 (RIEL Son), E1/278.1, p. 37; RIEL Son DC-Cam Interview, E3/5859, 22 May 2001, p. 75, ERN (En) 00729096 (stating that Phy was cruel and that he had a broken leg; also describing Chhen identified Phy as part of the “management” and recalled that Phy suffered from a disability in his leg.<sup>9129</sup> He identified Phy as a member of the Tram Kak District Committee who conducted interrogations at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9130</sup> He suggested that it was Phy who took charge of Kraing Ta Chan from mid-1973, when it was taken from the commune to be under the supervision of the district.<sup>9131</sup> When PHANN Chhen visited Kraing Ta Chan and requested that SORY Sen be spared, he met Phy with Ta An.<sup>9132</sup> The guard VAN Soeun also described Phy as “overall in charge” of Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9133</sup> NEANG Ouch alias Ta San, the secretary of Tram Kak district in 1978, recalled that Phy worked in the same office as Ta An.<sup>9134</sup> According to SORY Sen, Phy visited Kraing Ta Chan regularly.<sup>9135</sup> The Tram Kak District Records include a note from “Phy” to Comrade An, regarding a child called Phoeung Sao, age 12, who was to be interrogated.<sup>9136</sup> According to KHOEM Boeun, Phy supervised the district militia.<sup>9137</sup> SAN Lorn alias Maunh received oral instructions from Phy at the District Office relating to security matters.<sup>9138</sup> SAING Sim told OCIJ investigators that Phy, who he described as the Secretary of Tram Kak district, died in 1979.<sup>9139</sup> The Chamber finds that Phy was involved with security matters for Tram Kak district and this entailed oversight of and visits to Kraing Ta Chan.

2698. PECH Chim, the Tram Kak District Secretary, also visited Kraing Ta Chan. According to SORY Sen, before Phy started visiting regularly, he saw Ta Chim, the Phy as Dan’s predecessor as chief of the District Office); T. 16 March 2015 (NUT Nov), E1/277.1, p. 31 (Phy was handicapped in the legs and worked at Tram Kak district until sent to another commune); T. 28 January 2016 (SAN Lorn), E1/384.1, p. 29, 65 (Phy responsible for the education office; he limped); T. 25 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/269.1, p. 42, 50 (Phy handicapped in the legs since birth; his leg was not amputated but he could not walk well); T. 7 May 2015 (EK Hoeun), E1/298.1, pp. 24-25 (Phy treated people badly. He was based at a logistics office west of Ph’choek Chrum pagoda until he became Secretary of District 107); T. 21 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/289.1, pp. 81-82 (Phy was in charge of medical services and had a handicap in his legs; he would distribute medicines and medical supplies).

---

<sup>9129</sup> T. 25 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/269.1, pp. 42, 50-51.

<sup>9130</sup> T. 25 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/269.1, pp. 66-67, 89.

<sup>9131</sup> T. 25 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/269.1, p. 89.

<sup>9132</sup> T. 25 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/269.1, pp. 23-24.

<sup>9133</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 40.

<sup>9134</sup> T. 10 March 2015 (NEANG Ouch alias Ta San), E1/274.1, p. 76.

<sup>9135</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 67 (stating he came to Kraing Ta Chan about three to four times per week).

<sup>9136</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2057, 6 February [year not stated], ERN (En) 00276584.

<sup>9137</sup> T. 4 May 2015 (KHOEM Boeun), E1/296.1, p. 31.

<sup>9138</sup> T. 28 January 2016 (SANN Lorn), E1/384.1, pp. 28-29 (referring to Phi also being known as Thy); SANN Lorn Interview Record, E3/9487, 29 September-1 October 2014, p. 62, ERN (En) 01050395 (Answers 486-487).

<sup>9139</sup> SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00433574.

District Secretary, visit Kraing Ta Chan at least once per month.<sup>9140</sup> PECH Chim accepted in an interview that he visited Kraing Ta Chan, but claimed he only went twice: once in 1973 or 1974 then again in 1976 to release people.<sup>9141</sup> According to MEAS Sokha, district-level cadres such as Ta Kit and Ta Keav also visited Kraing Ta Chan from the district, but his evidence was that he did “not know them well” and did “not pay attention”.<sup>9142</sup> According to VAN Soeun, however, the district chiefs never went to visit Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre.<sup>9143</sup> The Chamber rejects this evidence, not least because PECH Chim accepted that he visited Kraing Ta Chan. The Chamber is satisfied that the highest-level cadres of Tram Kak district visited Kraing Ta Chan, in addition to the more regular visits by district cadres such as IEP Duch and Phy. The Chamber is also satisfied that other district-level cadres oversaw and came to Kraing Ta Chan on occasion, with various persons identifying Ta Khorn and Ta Ruos in particular.<sup>9144</sup>

12.3.5.1.3. Reporting to Tram Kak district

2699. In addition to regular visits, the evidence establishes that the Tram Kak District Committee oversaw operations at Kraing Ta Chan via regular written communications. Kraing Ta Chan guard and messenger VAN Soeun was ordered by Ta An to deliver messages to the District Office at Angk Roka – he referred to the specific location as the “commerce office”.<sup>9145</sup> He did not dare to open and read the messages but confirmed

<sup>9140</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 66.

<sup>9141</sup> PECH Chim Interview Record, E3/401, 28 August 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00381027; PECH Chim Interview Record, E3/9587, 19 June 2014, p. 37, ERN (En) 01000699 (Answers 272-276, describing going to Kraing Ta Chan a second time in 1976 to receive prisoners who had conflicts in the cooperatives which had been solved).

<sup>9142</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 45 (further caveating his evidence that he knew Ta Kit but did not know the other leaders).

<sup>9143</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 17.

<sup>9144</sup> VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, p. 25, ERN (En) 00980301 (Answer 193, identifying Ruos and Khorn as among the Party members who killed at Kraing Ta Chan); T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 18, 35 (“I really did not know Ruos and Khorn”), 41; T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 76-77; T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 47 (describing Ta Khorn and Ta Run (phonetic) coming in and out of Kraing Ta Chan), but they only made contact with senior people, namely Ta An, Ta Penh and Ta Chen); SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/9583, 25 November 2013, p. 12, ERN (En) 00970123 (Answer 74); TOEM Hy Interview Record, E3/9605, 6 December 2013, pp. 8-9, ERN (En) 00980269-00980270 (messenger from Tram Kak district describing Khorn as the security chairman at the district level, and messages passing between Ta An and Khorn); SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00433574 (identifying Ta Khuon as one of the perpetrators at Kraing Ta Chan).

<sup>9145</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 10-11, 27, 30, 42-47. See also, VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, pp. 6-8, ERN (En) 00980282-00980284 (indicating that he carried sealed envelopes to the district, which were most frequently addressed to Ta San and which VAN Soeun would not read).

that Ta An wrote on the envelopes.<sup>9146</sup> According to VAN Soeun, HORL worked closely with the District Chief and was responsible for delivering messages from the district to the outside gate of Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9147</sup> As noted above, TOEM Hy, a messenger from Tram Kak district, told investigators that he delivered messages from “Khorn”, who he identified as the chief of security in Tram Kak district, to Ta An.<sup>9148</sup> PECH Chim, the District Secretary, accepted in interview that he used messengers to communicate with Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9149</sup> SAUT Saing recalled that VAN Soeun was assigned as a messenger in addition to the existing messenger.<sup>9150</sup> The Chamber finds that any inconsistencies as to the precise persons involved at particular moments in time are immaterial to the fundamental point: the Tram Kak District Office and Kraing Ta Chan were in regular communication.

2700. SREI Than alias Duch was assigned by Ta An and IEP Duch to type up prisoners’ statements from handwritten documents.<sup>9151</sup> Ta An sent written reports to the District Office on individual prisoners’ confessions. He recalled that documents he typed bore the heading “Education Office, District 105”, that Ta An or other persons signed the documents and they were submitted to the Party using a messenger.<sup>9152</sup> When shown one of the typed documents before the Chamber, he confirmed that the reports he typed were of a “similar nature”.<sup>9153</sup> There are more than 10 type-written documents before the Chamber headed “Educational Office of District 105” or a translation to similar effect. They are addressed to “the Party”, signed by An, and summarise the contents of prisoners’ statements, including: a report dated 14 November 1976

<sup>9146</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 32, 44-47.

<sup>9147</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 12-13 (HORL did not often enter into the compound, but would deliver letters at the outside gate); VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, p. 6, ERN (En) 00980282 (Answer 29).

<sup>9148</sup> TOEM Hy Interview Record, E3/9605, 6 December 2013, 8-9, ERN (En) 00980269-00980270. See above, fn. 9144.

<sup>9149</sup> PECH Chim Interview Record, E3/401, 28 August 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00381027.

<sup>9150</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 52.

<sup>9151</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 5 (stating that he did the typing in the prison chief’s room); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 12-13, 19, 21, 47 (stating he was called in to do the typing, describing typing from handwritten notebooks; An and Duch would confirm with SREI Than the information he typed; he was told who to address reports: “Respectfully report to the party”); 57 (stating both An and Duch would call him to assist with typing).

<sup>9152</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 18-21, 79, 80-81.

<sup>9153</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 17 (shown a typed report dated 5 July 1978, E3/2421, ERN (En) 00322201-00322202 and responding that “the format and typing nature is true”).

summarising the statements of two persons;<sup>9154</sup> a report dated 10 March 1977 summarising the statements of three prisoners;<sup>9155</sup> a report dated 30 July 1977 summarising the statement of one prisoner;<sup>9156</sup> a report dated 30 July 1977 summarising the statement of one prisoner;<sup>9157</sup> a report dated 20 August 1977 summarising the statement of one prisoner;<sup>9158</sup> a report dated 25 August 1977 summarising the statements of three prisoners;<sup>9159</sup> a report from an unknown day in August 1977 summarising the statements of two prisoners;<sup>9160</sup> a report from an unknown day in September 1977 summarising the statement of one prisoner;<sup>9161</sup> a report from an unknown day in September 1977 summarising the statements of two prisoners;<sup>9162</sup> a report from an unknown day in July 1978 summarising the statement of one prisoner;<sup>9163</sup> a report from 5 July 1978 summarising the statements of seven prisoners;<sup>9164</sup> a report from July summarising the statements of two prisoners;<sup>9165</sup> and a report dated 5 July 1978 summarising the statement of one prisoner.<sup>9166</sup>

2701. Considered together with the guards' evidence, this documentary evidence establishes that cadres at Kraing Ta Chan in general, and Ta An in particular, regularly reported to the District Committee on the progress of individual interrogations. The

<sup>9154</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2431, 14 November 1976, ERN (En) 00322117-00322119 (report to the Party on the "confession" of prisoners identified as Sea Song Heng, 30 years old, and Moeung Sophan, 23 years old).

<sup>9155</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2434, 10 March 1977, ERN (En) 00276600-00276601 (the prisoners are identified as Seun Em, 34 years old; Maet Boeuk, 21 years old; and Kim Loeung, 22 years old).

<sup>9156</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2012, 30 July 1977, ERN (En) 00276593 (the prisoner is identified as Ung Ly, 43 years old).

<sup>9157</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2012, 30 July 1977, ERN (En) 00276594 (the prisoner is identified as Chan Soeun, 23 years old).

<sup>9158</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2434, 20 August 1977, ERN (En) 00276603 (the prisoner is identified as Mark Y, 54 years old).

<sup>9159</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4166, 25 August 1977, ERN (En) 00694355-00694356 (the prisoners are identified as YOENG Kean, 28 years old, UL Heang, age 37, and VAL Chea, 38 years old).

<sup>9160</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4101, August 1977, ERN (En) 00271039 (the prisoners are identified as Sum Seang, 41 years old, and Sum Seng, 38 years old and identified as "kinsmen").

<sup>9161</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4101, ERN (En) 00271038 (the prisoner is identified as Yem Poa, 38 years old).

<sup>9162</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2434, September 1977, ERN (En) 00276602 (the prisoners are identified as San Sophann, 24 years old, and TO Hong, 21 years old).

<sup>9163</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2434, July 1978, ERN (En) 00276598-00276599 (the prisoner is identified as the contemptible Voeun).

<sup>9164</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2421, 5 July 1978, ERN (En) 00322201-00322202 (the prisoners are identified as Pok San, 23 years old, Chung Kim Chhe, 20 years old, Uk Nhim, 26 years old, Sao Tuon, 24 years old, Lim, 29 years old, Chung, 24 years old, and Chen Din, 25 years old).

<sup>9165</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2421, 5 July 1978, ERN (En) 00322203-00322204 (the prisoners are identified as Im Lim, 25 years old, and Phan Boeun, 27 years old).

<sup>9166</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2421, 5 July 1978, ERN (En) 00322205 (the prisoner is identified as Tes Rum, 23 years old).

Chamber therefore rejects the later District Secretary NEANG Ouch alias Ta San's claim that he never received interrogation reports on prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9167</sup> There are also notes from Tram Kak district to Kraing Ta Chan giving very specific instructions in relation to the interrogation and execution of particular persons.<sup>9168</sup> The evidence establishes this to have been the general practice, including in 1978 when NEANG Ouch alias Ta San was the District Secretary.<sup>9169</sup>

12.3.5.1.4. Involvement of Sector 13 and/or Southwest Zone

2702. According to PECH Chim, Kraing Ta Chan was controlled by Sector 13 rather than by the district, describing prisoners as under the “exclusive control of the sector”.<sup>9170</sup> In his view, the Sector Secretary Ta Saom was in charge of “the military” at Kraing Ta Chan. PECH Chim claimed only to have learned about Kraing Ta Chan because the district received communications requesting that rice to be provided.<sup>9171</sup> He attributed decision-making authority in relation to Kraing Ta Chan to the sector rather than the district, but conceded that the sector took decisions based on the district's reports. He characterised the district as merely “standing by” the sector's decisions.<sup>9172</sup> At another point, he characterised the district as operating like an “assistant” to the sector in relation to Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9173</sup> He said that the district did not dare oppose the sector and would give up people to the sector if requested to do so.<sup>9174</sup> The Chamber finds that PECH Chim sought to minimise his own responsibility for Kraing Ta Chan. The evidence discussed in the previous section shows that the district level was heavily involved in the operation of Kraing Ta Chan.

<sup>9167</sup> T. 11 March 2015 (NEANG Ouch alias Ta San), E1/275.1, p. 76.

<sup>9168</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2430, ERN (En) 00322110 (a note from Kit to the “Police” regarding the interrogation of Chau Nga, a former military captain and referring to statements discussed with Kit days beforehand); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2423, ERN (En) 00322210 (letter from San suggesting areas of questions to “[e]lder brother” in relation to two persons); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2048, 28 March 1977, p. 10, ERN (En) 01454953 (note from Kith to An, proposing detailed interrogation); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2052, 13 June 1977, p. 2, ERN (En) 00276591 (report to An from Kith stating that 10 traitors sent by the commune yesterday should be “interrogated harshly and thoroughly”); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2453, p. 12, 9 October 1977, ERN (En) 00388585 (note from Kit to An requesting him to “come down to make a concrete assessment and make the arrest”, referring to a previous report (at ERN (En) 00276574) from Trapeang Thom North commune).

<sup>9169</sup> Section 10.1.5.3.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Tram Kak District: Leadership.

<sup>9170</sup> T. 22 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/290.1, p. 56.

<sup>9171</sup> T. 11 March 2015 (NEANG Ouch alias Ta San), E1/275.1, p. 76.

<sup>9172</sup> T. 1 July 2013 (PECH Chim), E1/215.1, pp. 28-29; T. 22 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/290.1, p. 59 (describing the sector's decision as an “instruction” but not an “absolute order”).

<sup>9173</sup> PECH Chim Interview Record, E3/4626, 27 August 2009, p. 6.

<sup>9174</sup> T. 1 July 2013 (PECH Chim), E1/215.1, pp. 28-29.

2703. The evidence satisfies the Chamber, however, that the sector could decide the fate of prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan. PECH Chim testified that confessions and other reports were sent from Kraing Ta Chan to Sector 13 via the District Office in Angk Roka. Perhaps one or two days later, the sector's decision would be returned. If it concerned individuals from Tram Kak district, the sector's decision would be in an open envelope and PECH Chim was entitled to read it. He explained that if names were crossed in red-ink, it meant that the sector's decision was those persons were to be killed. The district then forwarded those names to Kraing Ta Chan to implement.<sup>9175</sup> PECH Chim also described how Sector Secretary Ta Saom put a cross beside a name without additional comments which was forwarded to Ta An, and PECH Chim "did not dare do anything without letting [his superior] know". PECH Chim saw markings on documents sent to Kraing Ta Chan and, as noted, he explained to the Chamber what those markings sent from the sector level to Kraing Ta Chan meant: those persons were to be killed.<sup>9176</sup> According to PECH Chim, everything was there on paper and the upper echelon's decisions were carried out.<sup>9177</sup> PECH Chim further explained that Kraing Ta Chan could communicate directly with Sector 13 if the persons concerned were from other districts, such as Kirivong or Treang district.<sup>9178</sup> Irrespective of the veracity or otherwise of this last aspect, the Chamber is satisfied that Tram Kak district received regular instructions from Sector 13 in relation to the fate of prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan.

2704. PECH Chim further explained that, in his capacity as District Secretary, he could request the release of persons.<sup>9179</sup> PECH Chim recalled a specific example when he made a request to the sector to spare a person called Vang (phonetic) who he knew, but Sector Secretary Soam's response was to scold PECH Chim for indiscipline.<sup>9180</sup>

<sup>9175</sup> T. 22 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/290.1, pp. 49-50. At points in his evidence, PECH Chim claimed that names crossed in red had "no meaning". See T. 1 July 2013 (PECH Chim), E1/215.1, pp. 42-43, 60-61. At times during his evidence, he claimed that earlier (more incriminating) answers were given because he was tired and had been bombarded with questions. See T. 22 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/290.1, p. 35, 44. Cf. T. 1 July 2013 (PECH Chim), E1/215.1, pp. 42, 50, 60-61. The Chamber found these excuses to lack credibility.

<sup>9176</sup> T. 22 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/290.1, pp. 49-50, 53-56.

<sup>9177</sup> T. 24 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/292.1, p. 44.

<sup>9178</sup> T. 24 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/292.1, pp. 79.

<sup>9179</sup> T. 22 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/290.1, pp. 56-57 (describing the possibility to request the release of persons: "I had the authority at that time to request for people to be released from the security centre" and describing the possibility to make proposals to Ta Saom to be lenient on certain individuals), 56-57 (giving the specific example of 10 persons who he concluded were not "involved in politics" therefore meriting release), 58 (stating that if he knew the persons to be good, gentle, obedient and hardworking, then he would "happily" make a request to the upper authority).

<sup>9180</sup> T. 01 July 2013 (PECH Chim), E1/215.1, p. 34.

The Chamber accepts PECH Chim's description of this incident, and finds that Sector 13 had an oversight role in relation to Kraing Ta Chan.

2705. Documentary evidence confirms Sector 13's oversight role and decision-making ability. Two typed reports from Kraing Ta Chan include annotations on the top-left corner signed by "Prak" with the additional identifier "Sector 13". There is an annotation dated 7 August 1977 on a report dated 30 July 1977 stating "Decided to smash",<sup>9181</sup> and an annotation dated 7 August 1977 on another report dated 30 July 1977 also stating "Decided to smash".<sup>9182</sup> The Chamber recalls that former District Secretary PECH Chim authenticated these documents and identified Prak as then Secretary of Sector 13, having succeeded Ta Saom.<sup>9183</sup> These reports clearly demonstrate the Sector Secretary deciding upon the fate of persons, based upon written reports from Kraing Ta Chan.

2706. Further evidence convincingly demonstrates the involvement of Sector 13 in decisions to smash particular prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan. NEANG Ouch alias Ta San agreed with PECH Chim's characterisation of the process, and the Chamber notes that Ta San's evidence related to late 1977 into 1978 thus demonstrating continuity despite the different personnel involved.<sup>9184</sup> The Chamber has already addressed the notes of 7-8 August 1978 which NEANG Ouch alias Ta San authenticated.<sup>9185</sup> These discuss prisoners from Cheang Tong commune and a group of widows from Trapeang Thom North commune, with a request to "sweep them all clean". NEANG Ouch alias Ta San explained that, although he wrote and signed this message, it was dictated by then Sector Secretary, Ta Rorn. The Chamber rejects NEANG Ouch alias Ta San's claim to have been merely a passive scribe. The Chamber finds that the five widows referred to in the aforementioned note entered Kraing Ta Chan on 9 August 1978.<sup>9186</sup> There are crosses next to their names in notebook E3/4083 which, in light of the evidence discussed above as to the meaning of crosses, indicates that the decision to execute them was conveyed to Kraing Ta Chan. It is significant, in the Chamber's assessment,

<sup>9181</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2012, 30 July 1977, p. 2, ERN (En) 00276594 (the prisoner is identified as CHAN Soeun).

<sup>9182</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2012, 30 July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00276593 (the prisoner is identified as UNG Ly).

<sup>9183</sup> Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives, para. 849.

<sup>9184</sup> T. 10 March 2015 (NEANG Ouch alias Ta San), E1/274.1, p. 80.

<sup>9185</sup> Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives, paras 843-845.

<sup>9186</sup> Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives, para. 847.

that the five widows were sent from Angk Roka to Kraing Ta Chan after NEANG Ouch alias Ta San had been instructed by the Sector Secretary to “sweep them all clean”. They were sent to Kraing Ta Chan to be killed, and the only reasonable inference is that this decision was implemented.

2707. In addition to receiving reports on confessions and liaising with the sector level, the district level gave specific instructions to Kraing Ta Chan on interrogations. There were instances when the sector level monitored confessions from Kraing Ta Chan. There is documentary evidence of written communication between Sector 13 and Kraing Ta Chan. A report dated 5 December (no year specified) is addressed to An from Kit “for Sector 13 Committee” requesting that Ta An send “another copy of Khan Khiev today – it’s extremely urgent”.<sup>9187</sup> This further satisfies the Chamber that the sector level was involved in the operation of Kraing Ta Chan and decided the fate of some persons sent there.

2708. At the zone level, the evidence establishes that Southwest Zone Secretary Ta Mok visited Kraing Ta Chan and was kept apprised of its operation. KEO Chandara explained that Ta Mok personally came to Kraing Ta Chan on a motorcycle to release him shortly after 17 April 1975, after which Ta Mok took him to a zone hospital to repair a radiography machine.<sup>9188</sup> In addition to having a needed skill, KEO Chandara was released because Ta Mok knew his mother.<sup>9189</sup> The Chamber rejects the NUON Chea Defence’s submission that this evidence should be outweighed by KEO Chandara’s inability to pick out Ta Mok from a photographic array which they had prepared.<sup>9190</sup> KEO Chandara’s close relationship to Ta Mok was clearly established. While at Kraing Ta Chan, Ta Mok shouted to the prison chief “have you cooked a

<sup>9187</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4124, ERN (En) 00789264 (a handwritten note dated 5 December [no year given] from Kit “for Sector 13 Committee” directing An, District 105 Reeducation Office that: “you must send me another copy of Khan Khiev today – it’s very extremely urgent!”).

<sup>9188</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 49-50; T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, pp. 32-33 (Ta Mok shouted from outside the compound’s gate, standing to the east of the prison compound. Ta Mok shouted “Achar Chhen, have you cooked a doctor who was detained here yet?” When Chhen responded “Not yet, brother”, Ta Mok responded, “release him, when I return from the south then I will take him to the hospital”).

<sup>9189</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 30; KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5153, 12 March 2008, p. 3.

<sup>9190</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 512.

doctor who was detained here yet”. When Kraing Ta Chan Chief replied, “Not yet, brother”, Ta Mok directed KEO Chandara’s release.<sup>9191</sup>

2709. According to SORY Sen, Ta Mok alias Ta 15 visited Kraing Ta Chan once or twice, driving a jeep.<sup>9192</sup> HUN Kimseng alias Yeay Nha also told investigators that Ta Mok came to Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9193</sup> Although the basis for SORY Sen and HUN Kimseng’s identifications are less clear, the Chamber is satisfied that Ta Mok visited Kraing Ta Chan on at least a few occasions. Ta Mok also wrote to PHANN Chhen while he was at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9194</sup> PECH Chim told investigators that neither Ta Saom nor Ta Mok visited Kraing Ta Chan, and that instead they worked based on reports.<sup>9195</sup> While the evidence does not show that Ta Mok was intimately involved in the ongoing operation of Kraing Ta Chan, the Chamber is satisfied that information was relayed to the zone via the sector.<sup>9196</sup> Although the evidence is less clear as to the precise level of involvement of the Southwest Zone level after Ta Mok took on additional responsibilities outside the Southwest Zone, the Chamber is satisfied that the Southwest Zone level remained involved. The Southwest Zone’s ongoing oversight and control of Kraing Ta Chan is clear because guards were recalled from Kraing Ta Chan to Division 210 in 1978 in order to join the fight against Vietnamese forces.<sup>9197</sup> Division 210, <sup>9191</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, pp. 32-33. See also, KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5837, 29 October 2007, pp. 4-5 (describing Ta Mok calling out “That doctor where is he? Feed him.” Then when Ta Mok returned, he took KEO Chandara with him). Although KEO Chandara did not mention Ta Mok having used the specific word “cook” in his prior interviews, the Chamber finds that these interviews did not dwell on the details of his release from Kraing Ta Chan. The Chamber accepts his oral evidence that this is what Ta Mok said.

<sup>9192</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 66-67 (explaining that he learned Ta Mok’s identity from soldiers).

<sup>9193</sup> HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/5826, 31 October 2007, p. 6; HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, pp. 14-15 (Answers 85-88, suggesting that Ta Mok came once every month or two in a jeep accompanied by soldiers), 15 (Answer 89, Ta Kit came and sat at the same table with Ta An, Penh and Big Duch).

<sup>9194</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/268.1, p. 92; T. 25 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/269.1, p. 27.

<sup>9195</sup> PECH Chim Interview Record, E3/4626, 27 August 2009, p. 8.

<sup>9196</sup> T. 22 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/290.1, pp. 54-60 confirming PECH Chim Interview Record, E3/4626, 27 August 2009, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00380137-00380138 (in principle, the sector had to consult the zone before responding with decisions on executions and arrests; although PECH Chim did not know whether the zone was consulted in every matter, he heard a sector report to Ta Mok about Kraing Ta Chan, with Ta Soam telling Ta Mok that a group had been “resolved”, which PECH Chim understood to mean “purged”; then giving a further example when Ta Mok came to the office asking for Saom); T. 7 May 2015 (EK Hoeun), E1/298.1, pp. 75-76 (after the commune level identified security concerns, the list of names would be sent to the district, which would in turn send it to the sector).

<sup>9197</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 10 (“transferred back to Division 210 in order to go to the battlefield”); T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, p. 10; T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 29-30 (describing backing been in Regiment 13, Division 210); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5834, 29 December 2009, p. 10 (Answer 77, describing leaving Kraing Ta Chan and

formerly Division 2, had been Southwest Zone division and was later sent to Svay Rieng in the East Zone.<sup>9198</sup>

12.3.5.1.5. Visit by the Accused

2710. KEO Chandara claimed that, prior to his release from Kraing Ta Chan where he was detained until shortly after 17 April 1975, he saw NUON Chea, who he identified as “Ta Chea”, around 2 p.m. one afternoon from a distance of 70-80 metres, near the senior cadres’ office. He said that a district-level person who was also detained identified “Ta Chea” to him.<sup>9199</sup> Contrasted with this, PHHAN Chhen told investigators that NUON Chea never visited Kraing Ta Chan when he was there.<sup>9200</sup> Whereas KEO Chandara knew Ta Mok and his ability to identify him is clear, the Chamber finds that his identification of NUON Chea is based on hearsay, performed from a distance, and insufficiently reliable. The Chamber therefore finds that the evidence does not establish that NUON Chea ever visited Kraing Ta Chan.

12.3.5.2. Organisation inside Kraing Ta Chan

2711. The Chamber accepts the consistent evidence given by SAUT Saing, VAN Soeun and SREI Than alias Duch that the staff at Kraing Ta Chan were divided into two groups, and that they were part of the subordinate unit of six district soldiers described as the military group.<sup>9201</sup> Although they were not at Kraing Ta Chan returning to Platoon 24, Regiment 13, Division/Brigade 210); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/9597, 31 October 2013, p. 4 (Answer 12, describing leaving Kraing Ta Chan and returning to Regiment 13, Division 210, which he described as a “sector level” unit in the Southwest Zone military); VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, p. 23 (Answer 184, although not stating the Division number, explaining that he re-joined the army for three months in 1978 and was then recalled back to Kraing Ta Chan).

---

<sup>9198</sup> T. 31 October 2016 (IENG Phan), E1/492.1, p. 15 (referring to “Brigade 210” having previously been Brigade 2), 39 (IENG Phan had been in charge of Regiment 12 in Brigade 210); IENG Phan Interview Record, E3/419, 23 November 2009, p. 4 (specifying that between late 1976 and early 1977, the Southwest Zone set up a structure of four brigade directly subordinate to the Southwest Zone); CHHOUK Rin Interview Record, E3/362, 29 July 2008, p. 4 THY Pouse, became commander of Division 210).

<sup>9199</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 50-52; T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, pp. 5-6; KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5153, 12 March 2008, p. 3 (other prisoners identified NUON Chea); KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/7888, 27 November 2009, ERN (En) 00411483 (NUON Chea was talking to Ta Chhen and Ta An); KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/7888, 27 November 2009, ERN (En) 00411483 (suggesting the distance was seven metres).

<sup>9200</sup> PHANN Chhen Interview Record, E3/72, 2 March 2010, ERN (En) 00490539 (Answer 33).

<sup>9201</sup> T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, p. 12; T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 6-8 (identifying the members of his guard unit as Saing, Sim, Soan and Touch); T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 22-23, 32 (confirming that his six-man unit included Saing Sim, Small Duch, Touch, Uok and himself); SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/9583, 25 November 2013, p. 10 (Answer 54, “There were a total of 13 guards, including seven working at the Centre and the other six

throughout the relevant period, they were there for a significant length of time and the Chamber is satisfied that this reflected the general structure.<sup>9202</sup>

2712. Above the military unit were approximately six persons, referred to variously in the evidence as the core, youth league or party members. Within this superior group, VAN Soeun identified the three-member committee comprising Ta An (the chief), Penh (the deputy) and Cheng. He identified the others as Chieng, Choeun, another Chhieng and Moeun.<sup>9203</sup> As noted, he and others identified Sieng as one of the Party members at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9204</sup> SAUT Saing identified the “office chiefs” as Chheang and Moeun, whereas the chiefs who performed interrogations were Ta An, Penh and Ta Chhen.<sup>9205</sup> SAUT Saing also referred to the “three-member committee”, members of the Youth League, members of the Party, and members of the militia.<sup>9206</sup> He described the core group, Youth League, and Party members as supervising his unit.<sup>9207</sup> SORY Sen also described the three-member committee at Kraing Ta Chan and identified Ta Cheng as the third member of that committee alongside Ta An and Ta Penh.<sup>9208</sup> VAN Soeun’s evidence was that the Party members, to whom the guards were subordinate, held their own meetings at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9209</sup> There were also regular meetings at serving as soldiers); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5852, 16 September 2008, p. 3 (referring to six members of his unit including Sim, Saing and Soan).

---

<sup>9202</sup> In relation to the earlier period, see T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 39-40; T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, pp. 3-4 (describing 20 guards led by Dam, but the witness did not know their names); T. 24 March 2015 (SOTR Saing), E1/281.1, p. 77 (also recalling Ta Dam, but suggesting that he was sent away, committed moral misconduct then returned to Kraing Ta Chan as a prisoner).

<sup>9203</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 28 (also mentioning Duch as the chief of the unit from the district).

<sup>9204</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VANN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 74. This is corroborated by evidence from another guard, who identified EM Sieng. See SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 8.

<sup>9205</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 11, 49-50, 57, 72; SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/9583, 25 November 2013, p. 10 (Answer 57, identifying “Cheng” as third among the “Centre group” at Kraing Ta Chan). This is corroborated by SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 8 (identifying Cheng as one of the “leaders” at Kraing Ta Chan).

<sup>9206</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 30, 57 (distinguishing the three-member committee from the rest of the staff, then mentioning members of the youth league as separate from his own militia group), 76 (referring to the Youth League and/or Party members as the “core group” which supervised the soldiers).

<sup>9207</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 76.

<sup>9208</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 26, 31.

<sup>9209</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 29; VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, 29 November 2007, p. 5 (identifying the six CPK members as An, Penh, Cheng, Chieng, Moeun and Chhoeun). In interview, he further identified Moeun as part of the “Core Youth League” who would pass letters to him for delivery to the District Office. See VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, p. 5 (Answers 17-18). Another guard interviewed by OCIJ investigators identified Moeun as Van Moeun. See SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, pp. 5, 8.

which the guards were given instructions by Ta An and other leaders.<sup>9210</sup> The Chamber also accepts SORY Sen's evidence that more staff and soldiers would arrive at Kraing Ta Chan when the prison population increased, and recalls its findings that persons from the district regularly came to Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9211</sup> 2713. The Chamber is satisfied that there was a Party committee of three persons at Kraing Ta Chan and that it was headed by Ta An. The Chamber also finds it to be demonstrated, especially in light of IEP Duch's role, that members of the Party's Youth League also worked inside Kraing Ta Chan.

12.3.6. Arrests

2714. The Chamber has already made findings of the circumstances of many arrests in Tram Kak district when evaluating the evidence in relation to the Tram Kak Cooperatives.<sup>9212</sup> The Chamber also recalls its findings in relation to the arrest of MEAS Sokha's family.<sup>9213</sup> The Chamber further heard evidence regarding VONG Sarun and UCH Han, former medics at the Southwest Zone's military hospital, who were detained at Kraing Ta Chan together with their young babies.<sup>9214</sup> The date they entered Kraing Ta Chan is recorded as 23 May 1977 in a handwritten document titled "Brief Biographies of Prisoners at Tram Kak District Education Office".<sup>9215</sup> VONG Sarun confirmed the accuracy of this date.<sup>9216</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the dates recorded on this list are reliable. The dates for several other entries on the list are consistent with other Tram Kak District Records, including numerous dated <sup>9210</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 28-29; T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 32-33 (VAN Soeun and the other guards attended meetings once per month with Penh where guarding duties were discussed); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 28-29 (SAUT Saing and other soldiers attended meetings at Kraing Ta Chan approximately once per month where they were given instructions by Ta An and the leaders of security).

<sup>9211</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 64.

<sup>9212</sup> Section 10.1.8: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Security.

<sup>9213</sup> See above, paras 2668-2674.

<sup>9214</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 11, 16-17; Tram Kak District Record, E3/4145, p. 1, ERN (En) 00762837 (list of prisoners detained for months or years, identifying VORNG Sanu, 27 years old, and UCH Han, 26 years old, both from Hospital 22 with the comment that they had both been "implicated by Hang, a worker in Hospital 22).

<sup>9215</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4164, p. 1 (biographies of prisoners, identifying Sarun, 27 years old, and UCH Han, 26 years old, with arrival dates recorded as 23 May 1977 and the comment that "These two girls are implicated in the responses of Hang and Kang").

<sup>9216</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 18-19 (When shown the document and the date was put to her, she responded: "Yes, I recall it". She further confirmed that she arrived at Kraing Ta Chan at the same time as Han, who is also identified on the same list as arriving on 23 May 1977).

communications from communes and Kraing Ta Chan regarding prisoners identified on this list.<sup>9217</sup>

<sup>9217</sup> The following examples of consistency and corroboration between different Tram Kak District Records satisfied the Chamber that the document and the entry dates recorded therein are reliable:

- (1) The entry date recorded for VEN Ham and KUY Ni, 17 April People from Popel commune, is 15 July 1978 (see E3/4164, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00973147-00973148). The Chamber identified other Tram Kak District Records consistent with this date, including: an earlier note from Popel commune to Meng on 9 July 1978 (E3/2424, 9 July 1978, ERN (En) 00322221); a note from Meng to “Comrade Elder brother” on 15 July 1978 regarding sending over four persons, including Ham alias CHAU Peou Muny and “Any” from Popel commune (E3/2424, 15 July 1978, ERN (En) 00322223). See also, the discussion of other documents relevant to these persons in Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 864.
- (2) The entry date recorded for AOM Chanta and POK Bunli, 17 April People from Angk Ta Saom commune, is 15 July 1978 (see E3/4164, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00973148-00973149). The Chamber identified other Tram Kak District Records consistent with this date, including: a note from Meng to “Comrade Elder brother” on 15 July 1978 regarding sending over four persons, including OM Chanta and PON Bunli from Angk Ta Saom (E3/2424, 15 July 1978, ERN (En) 00322223); and a subsequent typed report to the Party on 25 September 1978 signed by An reporting on the statements of OM Chanta and MOK Bunly (E3/2425, 25 September 1978, ERN (En) 00322226). See also, the discussion of other documents relevant to these persons in Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 891.
- (3) The entry date recorded for CHAN Ngiv and MEN Mao, 17 April People from Popel commune, is recorded as 19 July 1978 (see E3/4164, p. 3, ERN (En) 00973149). The Chamber identified other Tram Kak District Records consistent with this date, including a handwritten note dated 13 July from Popel commune to “Comrade the District” requesting that two traitors (Ngiv and Mao) be received (E3/2424, ERN (En) 00322219). See also, the discussion of other documents relevant to these persons in Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 865.
- (4) The entry date recorded for KONG Vet, EM Sambath and CHHAOM Hang, 17 April People from Angk Ta Saom commune, is recorded as 23 July 1978 (see E3/4164, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00973149-00973150). The Chamber identified other Tram Kak District Records consistent with this date, including an earlier handwritten note from Angk Ta Saom commune dated 17 July 1978 reporting on KONG Vaet and EM Sambath (E3/2424, 18 July 1978, ERN (En) 00322220). See also, the discussion of other documents relevant to these persons in Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 866.
- (5) The entry date recorded for NGET Voeun, a Base Person from Samraong commune, is recorded as 28 June 1978 (E3/4164, p. 5, ERN (En) 00973151). The Chamber identified other Tram Kak District Records consistent with this date, including a subsequent confession by NGET Voeun dated 24 July 1978 (E3/8408, 28 July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00361771). See also, the discussion of other documents relevant to this person in Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 897.
- (6) The entry date recorded for TES Rum, a Base Person who “[r]an from Chrey Hou Phnov” is recorded as 28 June 1978 (E3/4164, p. 6, ERN (En) 00973152). The Chamber identified other Tram Kak District Records consistent with this date, including a typed report from Kraing Ta Chan on 5 July 1978 (E3/2421, 5 July 1978, ERN (En) 00322205). See also, the discussion of other documents relevant to this person in Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 894.
- (7) The entry date recorded for five women, all 17 April People from Trapeang Thom North commune, is recorded as 9 August 1978. The Chamber identified other Tram Kak District Records consistent with this date, including a note from NEANG Ouch alias Ta San dated 7 August 1978 discussing a group of widows then station at Comrade Meng’s place (E3/4093, 7 August 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00831486); and a note signed by Meng on 8 August 1978 identifying the five women (E3/4093, 8 August 1978, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00831487-00831488). See also, the discussion of other documents relevant to these five women in Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, paras 846-847.
- (8) The entry date recorded for THAI Phanna and PAN Naichi, 17 April People from Cheang Tong commune, is recorded as 9 August 1978 (E3/4164, p. 8, ERN (En) 00973154). The Chamber identified other Tram Kak District Records consistent with this date, including an earlier report from Boeun in Cheang Tong commune on 5 August 1978 on “Naicha” and “Phana” (E3/4093, 8 August

2715. VONG Sarun gave evidence that her husband PRACH Son alias Saet had been arrested and taken to Kraing Ta Chan about one week before she was arrested.<sup>9218</sup> Once she was at Kraing Ta Chan, she learned of her husband's earlier execution from another prisoner in the detention building called Yeay Phon.<sup>9219</sup> The evidence establishes that Saet and VONG Sarun were caught up in a purge of Hospital 22 for perceived unfaithfulness to the Party among the persons who worked there.<sup>9220</sup>

2716. Prisoners were tied up and led to Kraing Ta Chan on foot under guard,<sup>9221</sup> frequently at night,<sup>9222</sup> and entered the compound through either the east or west gate.<sup>9223</sup> Militiamen and/or soldiers brought prisoners to the external fence, where they were received by Kraing Ta Chan guards.<sup>9224</sup> The guards then walked the prisoners to 1978, p. 3, ERN (En) 00831489). See also, the discussion of other documents relevant to these two women in Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 867.

---

<sup>9218</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 3 (identifying husband), 9-10 (confirming his execution at Kraing Ta Chan).

<sup>9219</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 37 (Yeay Phon said that VONG Sarun's husband was killed near a tree to the west of the compound), 39 (explaining that Yeay Phon had been allowed out of the detention building, which was how she knew what happened).

<sup>9220</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4101, 12 June 1977, ERN (En) 00322126 (report from Ta An on the self-criticism of NHEP Yan, who revealed unfaithfulness to the Party at Hospital 22, including Kang, Saet and Duong); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 24 (confirming that Ta Duong was a surgeon who worked at the hospital with her husband); Tram Kak District Record, E3/8413, ERN (En) 00322108 (report detailing the network of the "contemptible Kang").

<sup>9221</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 68-69 (SORY Sen was tied up with other prisoners in a line and marched on foot to Kraing Ta Chan, escorted by village militia); T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, p. 15 (prisoners were "tied up" when they arrived at Kraing Ta Chan); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 45; T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 35-36 (prisoners arriving at Kraing Ta Chan had their hands tied behind their backs); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5852, 16 September 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00231674 (prisoners walked into Kraing Ta Chan with their arms tied behind their backs); KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5837, 29 October 2007, p. 9, ERN (En) 00223458 (arrestees were tied up).

<sup>9222</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 64 (although there were exceptions, prisoners were generally brought to Kraing Ta Chan at night, around 8 or 9 p.m.); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5852, 16 September 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00231674 (prisoners were sometimes brought in the day and sometimes at night).

<sup>9223</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 73 (there was no specific entrance for prisoners, who would be taken to either the east or west gate); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 51 (prisoners were brought in through either the east or west gates and handed over to prison staff); T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 21-22 (both the east and west gates were used for prisoner entry to Kraing Ta Chan, with the west gate used more frequently because the road there was better).

<sup>9224</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 69 (militia brought SORY Sen to the external fence, rang a bell and Kraing Ta Chan staff would receive the prisoner from the external fence); T. 25 March 2015 (SAY Sen), E1/282.1, p. 78 (militiamen brought prisoners to the external perimeter of the compound, where they were received by the guards who accompanied them to the detention facility); T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, p. 35 (the primary task of SREI Than's unit was to receive people who had been arrested from villages and communes); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 11 (special units brought arrestees to the fence of the compound, where they were collected by "people in the security office"); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5852, 16 September 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00231674 (SREI Than and his group had the job of receiving people who had been arrested).

the inner compound, from where they were taken to the detention facility and detained.<sup>9225</sup>

2717. Before the Chamber are a significant number of notes from various communes sent to Kraing Ta Chan whereby communes request to send people, or record that particular persons had already been sent. Often these reports record the reasons why the person had been arrested. Collectively, the Chamber finds these reports to reliably demonstrate the types of “offences” for which it was considered appropriate to send persons to Kraing Ta Chan. These offences included complaining about work or food, planning to flee and/or inciting others to do the same, being lazy, stealing food, threatening unit chiefs, speaking favourably of the old society, having “contradictions” with the revolution, and breaking collective property. The Chamber’s findings in relation to this evidence now follows.

2718. A message dated 9 January 1977 from Angk Ta Saom commune to Kraing Ta Chan explained that PEOU Choal, a New Person and former LON Nol captain, was to be brought over for complaining about food.<sup>9226</sup> A message dated 18 February 1977 from Angk Ta Saom to the “District Police” described militia bringing in two persons from the vegetable planting unit to be investigated for complaining, having a plan to flee or kill and saying “[w]e all should never forget our original status”. The report further identified former LON Nol officials to be investigated.<sup>9227</sup>

2719. A message dated 29 April 1977 from Tram Kak commune to Kraing Ta Chan explained that they wanted to send in AMRIT Mart, a former LON Nol soldier, who had been argumentative and questioned what Angkar was.<sup>9228</sup> A message dated 8 May 1977 from Popel commune to “Respected Comrade Police” records the transfer of four

---

<sup>9225</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SAY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 69 (after arrival, prisoners were sent to the building and locked up); T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, p. 63 (MEAS Sokha was placed in a detention place “immediately” after his arrival at Kraing Ta Chan); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 20 (MEAS Sokha was imprisoned at the outset and could not move freely); T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 35-36 (the guards received the prisoners and escorted them to the next gate, along with a letter, and delivered them to staff at the next gate); T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 24 (“all guards” were involved in shackling and unshackling prisoners”); E3/5852, 16 September 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00231674 (SREI Than and his group walked the prisoners to the office fence and then individuals who worked in the office came to receive them).

<sup>9226</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2044, 9 January 1977, ERN (En) 00290261.

<sup>9227</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/8423, 18 February 1977, ERN (En) 00322152 (identifying the persons as LONG Teul alias Chanthon and SOK Sal).

<sup>9228</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2437, 29 April 1977, ERN (En) 00366707.

traitors to be interrogated, identifying them as former LON Nol soldiers or officials.<sup>9229</sup> A message dated 3 June 1977 from Khporp Trabaek commune to the District Party reported on 10 New People from Phnom Penh who were lazy and kept meeting together to plan to run off to Thailand.<sup>9230</sup> This message corresponds to a handwritten note dated 13 June to Kraing Ta Chan from Kit, the District Secretary, proposing that they be interrogated “harshly and thoroughly” to find their network.<sup>9231</sup>

2720. A message dated 11 June 1977 from Nhaeng Nhang commune to Kraing Ta Chan reported on the activities of PRUM Sovan Chan, second lieutenant, and NGIL Tun, self-defence soldier, who had spoken about attacking the Khmer Rouge, complained about work and said they were being used as if they were cows.<sup>9232</sup> A message dated 1 August 1977 from Angk Ta Saom commune to the “District Police” recorded that persons were being brought in for inciting people to flee to Vietnam and complaining about the work and lack of food.<sup>9233</sup> A message dated 14 October 1977 from K-105, which the Chamber finds to be a District Military location at Angk Ta Saom, to Kraing Ta Chan reported on three “forest bandits” who had been captured and would be sent in for questioning and clarification.<sup>9234</sup>

2721. A message dated 7 December 1977 from Sre Ronoung commune to Kraing Ta Chan described having sent in a second lieutenant named “Man” that evening, who had committed “corruption” with a young woman named Nang by instigating her to leave the women’s unit.<sup>9235</sup> A message dated 13 December [1977] from Trapeang Thom South commune to Kraing Ta Chan described the activities of three New People who the Party had decided to send in: SENG Lim, who complained that conditions were like living as an animal with no freedom, no religion, and who claimed that 90 percent of people disliked the current regime; Hum, who suggested there would be chaos in the upcoming Khmer New Year; and KONG Ha, a Chinese national who, upon hearing

<sup>9229</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2440, 8 May 1977, ERN (En) 00322144 (identifying SOK Say, a former chief sergeant; Bien, a 2nd Lieutenant; Sim, said to be next below the provincial governor; and Prak Sary, linked to the law faculty).

<sup>9230</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2052, 3 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00276590.

<sup>9231</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2052, 13 June 1977, p. 2, ERN (En) 00276591. See also, Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 859.

<sup>9232</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4115, 11 June 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00363656.

<sup>9233</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4111, 1 August 1977, ERN (En) 00322153.

<sup>9234</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2453, 14 October 1977, p. 2, ERN (En) 00388575. For the Chamber’s finding on K-105, see Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives, para. 924 (fn. 2820).

<sup>9235</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2454, 7 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00364288.

gunfire, suggested that Vietnam would attack and seize the rice fields and/or that people would escape.<sup>9236</sup>

2722. A message dated 21 December 1977 from Angk Ta Saom commune to Kraing Ta Chan described persons who had refused to refashion themselves, had stolen a mosquito net and food, and had military ranks in the LON Nol regime.<sup>9237</sup> A message dated 23 December 1977 from Tram Kak commune to Kraing Ta Chan explained that they wanted to send in a new youth called SOEM Saren for fleeing and stealing.<sup>9238</sup> A message dated 26 December 1977 from Angk Ta Saom commune to Kraing Ta Chan reported on “enemy activities” by stating that KEA Heng had spoken of the previous regime in favourable terms and suggested that IN Tam would attack Cambodia in early 1978. The commune asked Ta An to “interrogate for his hidden strings in order to sweep up in accordance with the decision taken by our Party”.<sup>9239</sup> A message dated 27 December from Samraong commune to Kraing Ta Chan reported that the Party had “already decided” in relation to UM Phon, a new inhabitant, who had said that unit chiefs should be beaten and their stomach cut open to ask them why he had so little rice.<sup>9240</sup>

2723. A message dated 3 January 1978 from Trapeang Thom South commune to Kraing Ta Chan reported on the problems of “New People” who had been sent over, namely CHEA Song and Chhan, and who had praised the military strength of Vietnam and Thailand.<sup>9241</sup> A message dated 16 January 1978 from Trapeang Thom South commune to Kraing Ta Chan reported on an enemy named Nam who was “pure Yuon” and who said that, since his children worked hard, he should be able to stop working, had mocked KHIEU Samphan, and quarrelled with his wife.<sup>9242</sup> A message dated 17 January 1978 from Ta Phem commune asked Kraing Ta Chan to receive an enemy named SAN Sok, who had been implicated by CHIN Chrien so the “district level” decided to send him.<sup>9243</sup> A message dated 17 January 1978 from Angk Ta Saom

<sup>9236</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4125, 13 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00364290.

<sup>9237</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2456, 21 December 1977, p. 2, ERN (En) 00369495.

<sup>9238</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2456, 23 December 1977, p. 3, ERN (En) 00369496.

<sup>9239</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2456, 26 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00369494.

<sup>9240</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4126, 27 December 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00366713.

<sup>9241</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2457, 3 January 1978, ERN (En) 00322182.

<sup>9242</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4127, 16 January 1978, p. 6, ERN (En) 00362232.

<sup>9243</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4127, 17 January 1978, p. 4, ERN (En) 00362230.

commune to Kraing Ta Chan described two men who had left District 109 but were caught travelling across rice fields.<sup>9244</sup>

2724. A message dated 20 January 1978 from Nhaeng Nhang commune to Kraing Ta Chan recorded that three persons called Meng, Thon and Bav planned to join the “Yuon” so the Party had decided to arrest them and send them in.<sup>9245</sup> A message dated 27 January 1978 from Kus commune to Kraing Ta Chan recorded that the Party had decided to arrest three persons based on the confession of KEAN Kim, two of whom (Thong, a second lieutenant; and Sao, a Sergeant) had already been sent in.<sup>9246</sup> A message dated 2 February 1978 from Angk Ta Saom commune to Kraing Ta Chan reports on the Party’s decision to send over KUNG Pheun and KUNG Pet who had complained about discrimination under the revolution, suggested that food was more plentiful under the old society, stole food, and ridiculed Angkar’s claims to be attacking Vietnam when the sound of gunfire kept getting closer.<sup>9247</sup>

2725. A message dated 4 February 1978 from Tram Kak commune to Kraing Ta Chan described the arrest of four persons from the unit regrouping widows (“Widow Concentration Unit”) whose husbands Angkar had “smashed”. It reported on various comments the women made, including a plan to flee, and to their desire to smash the unit chief.<sup>9248</sup> A message dated 9 February 1978 from Ta Phem commune to Kraing Ta Chan requested to send in two enemies named Moeun and Hav who had been arrested following the responses of Sun Tren.<sup>9249</sup> A message dated 10 February 1978 from Tram Kak commune to Kraing Ta Chan described the enemy situation by reference to a person called Seng who incited “other new people not to work too hard” because of mistreatment and lack of food.<sup>9250</sup> A message dated 1 March 1978 from Angk Ta Saom commune to Kraing Ta Chan describes people brought over for talking to each other

<sup>9244</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4127, 17 January 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 00362228.

<sup>9245</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4127, 20 January 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00362227.

<sup>9246</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2441, 27 January 1978, p. 21, ERN (En) 00369489 (signed by Saen).

<sup>9247</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2057, 2 February 1978, p. 9, ERN (En) 00276589.

<sup>9248</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2057, 4 February 1978, pp. 6-7, ERN (En) 00276586-00276587. See also, the discussion of related documents at Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 898.

<sup>9249</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2057, 9 February 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 00276582.

<sup>9250</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2057, 10 February 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00276581.

and saying they had no rights, suggesting that the leaders were stupid, mentioning a Buddhist prophecy and suggesting that Vietnam was stronger than Angkar.<sup>9251</sup>

2726. A message dated 7 March 1978 from “Chorn” provides a “Clarified Report” on PRUM Yan, a Khmer Krom, who the District Party had decided should be sent over based on his role as a former soldier from South Vietnam who had fought against the Party’s revolutionary forces.<sup>9252</sup> A message dated 10 March 1978 from Angk Ta Saom commune to Kraing Ta Chan describes three persons from the planting unit who had criticised the revolution by suggesting there were more superiors and less equity than before; giving the example that, when leaders arrived in Leay Bour commune, the villagers ingratiate themselves by providing “abundant pork and beef” whereas “we not only have insufficient food to eat but also have no tobacco to smoke”.<sup>9253</sup> A message dated 5 April 1978 from Samraong commune to Kraing Ta Chan recorded that Ta Pring had committed “social affairs corruption” whereas the Party had not yet made a decision in relation to two children, so they had not been sent yet.<sup>9254</sup> A message dated 16 June 1978 from Leay Bour commune to the Tram Kak “District Police” reported on the enemy situation in that Pruonh Nuon had described hearing artillery shells, expressed a desire to go back to privatisation, whereas his wife Pen Nheip had complained about hard work.<sup>9255</sup>

2727. A message dated 8 July 1978 from Trapeang Thom North commune to Kraing Ta Chan detailed a new youth called Kap to be brought over. It sets out the reasons for his arrest in detail, including whistling and singing a song while hospitalised which depicted Vietnam as the elder brother of the Khmer.<sup>9256</sup> A message dated 5 August 1978 from Cheang Tong commune to Kraing Ta Chan reported on two women: Naichi who had “contradictions with the Revolution” and refused to refashion; and Phana, who refused to work, disappeared for two days and complained saying that “[d]ying is better than living”. The message concluded that the “two women cannot be kept because they have so many contradictions”.<sup>9257</sup> A message dated 18 July 1978 from Angk Ta Saom

<sup>9251</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2785, 1 March 1978, ERN (En) 00322197-00322198.

<sup>9252</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2785, 7 March 1978, ERN (En) 00322194-00322195.

<sup>9253</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2784, 10 March 1978, ERN (En) 00143484.

<sup>9254</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2420, 5 April 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00369457.

<sup>9255</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2448, 16 June 1978, ERN (En) 00322157-00322158.

<sup>9256</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2423, 8 July 1978, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00322206-00322207.

<sup>9257</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4093, 5 August 1978, ERN (En) 00831489-00831490. See also, Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 867.

commune to Kraing Ta Chan reports on an enemy named KONG Vaet, who had been stealing despite being educated collectively and individually. During the period of hard work transplanting rice, he had mocked those who worked hard. The report further identifies PICH San, a former LON Nol military, who spoke of fleeing; and EM Sambath, who intentionally broke a plough.<sup>9258</sup> There is a narrative entry for EM Sambath in notebook E3/4092.<sup>9259</sup> This is corroborated by the handwritten list of “Brief Biographies of Prisoners at Tram Kak District Education Office”, which includes an entry for EM Sambath and records his date of entry as 23 July 1978.<sup>9260</sup> Finally, there is another entry for EM Sambath in the tables contained in notebook E3/4083, with a cross next to his name.<sup>9261</sup>

2728. There are several undated reports which provide further insight into the reasons why persons were arrested and sent to Kraing Ta Chan. A message [date unknown] from Nhaeng Nhang commune to Kraing Ta Chan described various problems with a person called Soeun, a former teacher, who had complained about work in the ploughing unit and defecated in the cooperative’s dining hall.<sup>9262</sup> A message dated 19 September [year unknown] from Nhaeng Nhang commune to Kraing Ta Chan records that a woman called “O-A” over who was married to a lieutenant colonel and had three children was being brought. The report identifies disputes she had, namely complaints about the revolution and lack of food.<sup>9263</sup> A message dated 17 September [year unknown] from Nhaeng Nhang commune to Kraing Ta Chan records that three persons were being brought over who had disputes “mostly about doing works” and had stolen hens and eggs “very often”.<sup>9264</sup> An undated message from Nhaeng Nhang commune to Kraing Ta Chan records that three former LON Nol soldiers were being brought in because the Party had decided they had “high” ranks.<sup>9265</sup>

<sup>9258</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2424, 18 July 1978, ERN (En) 00322220. See also, Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 866.

<sup>9259</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4092, March 1978, pp. 37-38, ERN (En) 00834828-00834829.

<sup>9260</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4164, 23 July 1978, p. 3, ERN (En) 00973149 (noting that KONG Vet stole “a great deal” and had been educated for three years, but “remained the same”).

<sup>9261</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, undated, E3/4083, p. 1, ERN (En) 00323949.

<sup>9262</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4118, p. 1, ERN (En) 00355475.

<sup>9263</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2450, 19 September, ERN (En) 00322163.

<sup>9264</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2450, 17 September, ERN (En) 00322162.

<sup>9265</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2450, ERN (En) 00322161 (identifying two first lieutenants and one second lieutenant).

2729. The Chamber finds that these messages from various communes in Tram Kak district are consistent with the contents of various notebooks from Kraing Ta Chan. The Chamber has also found that it was members of the Party Committee who generally performed interrogations at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9266</sup> Various notebook entries record that people were arrested for offences such as scavenging for food;<sup>9267</sup> complaining or criticising their local authorities;<sup>9268</sup> being educated or upper-class;<sup>9269</sup> being lazy or pretending to be sick;<sup>9270</sup> stealing;<sup>9271</sup> or seeking to flee the area.<sup>9272</sup> Although the contents of these notebooks may derive in whole or in part from interrogations performed at Kraing Ta Chan, the Chamber finds that they demonstrate the matters which interrogators considered it appropriate to record in the course of their work and, therefore, their view of the reasons why those persons had been sent to Kraing Ta Chan.

<sup>9266</sup> See above, para. 2662. See below, para. 2736.

<sup>9267</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/2427 undated, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 00366684-00366685 (SOK Sourn stole husked rice), 10, ERN (En) 00366685 (VAN Sarun stole potatoes, chicken and chicken eggs), 12, ERN (En) 00366687 (Nhep stole palm tree juice); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4095, undated, pp. 11-12, ERN (En) 00747246-00747247 (MAK Mun stole cucumber and garlic), 30-31, ERN (En) 00747265-00747266 (CHOY Nhor stole husked rice and climbed palm trees to get juice for his children).

<sup>9268</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/2427, undated, p. 20, ERN (En) 00366695 (LONG Tel gathered with others for a debate where they said: “Nowadays we live in hardship like slaves; we can not stop working even a bit; the unit chief is very strict.”); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4095, undated, p. 52, ERN (En) 00747287 (YANG Kay complained about collectivism, rations, the new regime resembled the old regime in that high-ranking officers could eat anything as long as they want, noting also that this person was interrogated “with some ‘hot’ methods to dig up his network, but he refused to confess”); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4092, March 1978, p. 11, ERN (En) 00834802 (HEM Chantha refused to irrigate fields and said she was in sorrow for her husband, whom Angkar executed and she refused to eat); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5860, undated, p. 8, ERN (En) 01064172 (HAO Neang heard gunfire at the border and said he would be happy if his people won the war and at least he would be appointed as village chief).

<sup>9269</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4092, March 1978, pp. 13-14, ERN (En) 00834804-008348005 (SIN Sarath “was a senior student from the petty bourgeoisie”); 00834817 (SOK Huoy was a “capitalist” owner of eight car shops); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/2427, undated, p. 20, ERN (En) 00366695 (KE Sav “working at a civil aviation company at Pochentong in Phnom Penh as a capitalist”).

<sup>9270</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/2107, undated, p. 10, ERN (En) 00290213 (PRAK Un called to thresh rice, “he evaded and slept, and he tried to resolve this by saying he was faint and did not have to work”); undated, p. 20, ERN (En) 00290233 (IE Lim Touch “is lazy in his work and plays sick a lot.”); undated, p. 7, ERN (En) 00290210 (NGET Rin “is bored and too lazy to work, and he walks around saying if there is an opening he won’t stay with these people.”); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4092, March 1978, pp. 35-36, ERN (En) 00834826-00834827 (POK Bunly “never stopped stealing [...] then [pretended] to be sick and was lazy [...]. He was often absent from work”); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/2427, undated, p. 10, ERN (En) 00366685 (Van Sarun: “He is lazy at work and he is a major thief.”).

<sup>9271</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/2427, undated, p. 9, ERN (En) 00366684 (MOENG Sorn “is a major thief. The commune was unable to re-educate him so they arrested him and sent him in”); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/2107, undated, p. 53, ERN (En) EN 00290256 (CHEA Sophal, the “thief of thieves”, repeated re-education had not worked).

<sup>9272</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5860, undated, pp. 26-27, ERN (En) 01064190-01064191 (VAL Than); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4095, undated, p. 3, ERN (En) 00747238 (LY Phai); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5827, undated, p. 32, ERN (En) 00866455 (HANN Sou, TENG Len).

12.3.7. Detention Conditions

2730. Former prisoners and guards gave consistent evidence about the dire conditions at Kraing Ta Chan. Prisoners sat shackled and chained together in rows on the floor of the detention buildings.<sup>9273</sup> The metal shackles were painful and caused wounds which became infected and resulted in scarring.<sup>9274</sup> Guard VAN Soeun described prisoners shackled by the feet and handcuffed: when they fell ill they just lay there moaning until they died.<sup>9275</sup> VONG Sarun likewise described the death of prisoners inside the detention buildings, after which their bodies were dragged out and caught on the barbed wire on the floor at the door frame – causing damage and marks on the body as it was dragged out.<sup>9276</sup> Prisoner KEO Chandara described prisoners remaining shackled when defecating or urinating.<sup>9277</sup> Guard SREI Than alias Duch explained that prisoners ate their meals inside the detention buildings.<sup>9278</sup> Having assessed the evidence of VAN Soeun, VONG Sarun, KEO Chandara and SREI Than, the Chamber finds that the descriptions of the detention conditions are consistent and that the movement of prisoners was restricted by shackles, including at night and when relieving themselves,

<sup>9273</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 9 (prisoners shackled by the ankles on the floor day and night); T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, p. 28 (prisoners shackled by the ankles in rows); T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 45 (prisoners shackled in a row); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 56 (prisoners were shackled and slept on the floor); 57 (prisoners “shackled and cuffed” in the detention building), 61 (some prisoners shackled “all the time”); T. 5 February 2015 (SAY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 61 (when they arrived, prisoners were shackled in rows); T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, p. 38 (prisoners shackled by the ankles in rows); 70 (serious offence prisoners held in metal shackles); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 12 (prisoners “put in a house” shackled by the ankles when they arrived); 41 (each building could accommodate two rows of prisoners and there was a footpath in between); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 13 (VONG Sarun’s ankles shackled and her hands were cuffed); Photograph of Iron Shackles, E3/5851, 4 February 2015, ERN (En) 00407125 (which SORY Sen confirmed were the type of shackles used at Kraing Ta Chan); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 87; HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/5826, 31 October 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00223488 (HUN Kimseng placed in a row of people and shackled at Kraing Ta Chan); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223496 (prisoners shackled in rows); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00225502 (prisoners shackled in rows); SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/5864, 28 November 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223550 (prisoners shackled at the ankle); VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, 29 November 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223211 (prisoners placed in rows in metal shackles).

<sup>9274</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SAY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 88 (still has a scar on his ankle from the shackles, which caused wounds that became infected).

<sup>9275</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 37-38.

<sup>9276</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 34-35.

<sup>9277</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, p. 21.

<sup>9278</sup> T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, p. 25.

except when sent for interrogation or when some were unshackled and forced to work.<sup>9279</sup>

2731. Some evidence suggested that prisoners were treated differently according to their offences, but this evidence was inconclusive, and the Chamber is satisfied that the treatment the vast majority of prisoners received at Kraing Ta Chan was essentially the same, with prisoners put to work generally housed in the eastern detention building.<sup>9280</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that all prisoners were held at Kraing Ta Chan against their will.<sup>9281</sup>

<sup>9279</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 10, 13-14 (male and female prisoners were shackled day and night, except if they were released to work, and were shackled again when they returned; MEAS Sokha's mother worked outside of the building during the day and returned at night); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 44-46 (after a month of detention, he was allowed out of the detention building to work, including to tend livestock, carry human faeces from the detention building, dig pits and carry dead bodies. SORY Sen could not refuse any tasks assigned to him), 46 (prisoners would relieve themselves when in shackles), 56 (prisoners were shackled and slept on the floor); T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, p. 5 (prisoners were shackled day and night and only unshackled in order to work); 21 (prisoners were shackled when defecating or urinating); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 40-41 (after her interrogation, made to work in the fields with other inmates and had to work so hard that she became ill with symptoms which still persist today); 51 (prisoners were not allowed to go anywhere, except when they worked), 83 (during the daytime some prisoners worked under supervision, including in the fields, and the prisoners could not move freely); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 99-100 (some prisoners worked outside of the detention buildings, for example, carrying earth and harvesting rice); T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, p. 5 (some trusted prisoners were removed from the shackles during the day to tend the cattle and would be shackled again at night time); E3/5826, HUN Kimseng Interview Record, 31 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223490 (most prisoners were not allowed to go anywhere but HUN Kimseng could move around to serve food to the other prisoners); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, pp. 4, ERN (En) 00223496 (MEAS Sokha's mother was shackled), 5, ERN (En) 00223497 (MEAS Sokha's family was put to work in the prison compound); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 11, ERN (En) 00225510 (prisoners were only released from shackles for interrogation).

<sup>9280</sup> The Chamber heard evidence suggesting that serious offenders would be shackled more heavily than light offence prisoners and some prisoners who were allowed to work were housed in a different building. See T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 48 (he was considered a "less serious" offender), 75-76 (light offence prisoners were let out to work), 75-77 (prisoners who worked were housed in the east building); T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 60 (repeating that prisoners who were allowed to work would be housed in the east building). However, the Chamber also heard evidence that there was no significant difference in the treatment of different types of prisoner. See T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 51 (there were no distinctions between minor or serious prisoners for the purposes of detention, all prisoners were put in the building and deprived of food for a week before they were killed); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 11, ERN (En) 00225510 (serious offence prisoners had both their feet and hands shackled); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 63 (the treatment of all types of prisoner was "the same" in terms of executions). In view of this evidence, the Chamber finds that any differences in treatment of prisoners based upon whether they were considered light or serious offenders were minor.

<sup>9281</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 58-59 (prisoners who tried to escape from Kraing Ta Chan would be shot); T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 38 (Sorn was shot dead while trying to escape from Kraing Ta Chan); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 48-49 (prisoners who tried to escape were beaten up); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 7, ERN (En) 00225506 (prisoners who tried to escape were shot); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 89 (prisoners were not allowed outside of the prison buildings). While MEAS Sokha was allowed out to work during the day, he was told that if he escaped his mother would be killed. See T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 77.

2732. Prisoners were beaten by guards for behaviour the guards did not like.<sup>9282</sup> VONG Sarun testified that a guard called SIM beat her baby Chreb because it was crying.<sup>9283</sup> She described how, on entering one of the detention buildings, it smelled like death. The inside of the building was secured with bars and the floor and ceiling were also covered with barbed wire.<sup>9284</sup> MEAS Sokha testified that guards would beat prisoners if they moved or spoke to each other.<sup>9285</sup> The evidence further establishes that the food given to prisoners was inadequate. Prisoners were rendered weak and emaciated.<sup>9286</sup> HUN Kimseng alias Yeay Nha described to investigators how she cooked rice for prisoners: 10 cans of milled rice between 50 prisoners, but even if there

---

<sup>9282</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 64 (SORY Sen was hit on the head with a rifle, whipped for picking vegetables and cassava leaves and beaten severely for stealing cassava for food); T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 32-33 (Saing would beat prisoners for making minor mistakes); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 11 (at night, if prisoners moved and nobody answered when a guard asked “who moved?” all the prisoners would be beaten with a bamboo stem); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 14, 25-26 (“After seven days I was walked out of the room to be interrogated. As soon as I got out of the room I was falling down repeatedly [...] I tried to stand up again and continue to walk because it was obvious that they would beat me”); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223497 (prisoners who spilled urine or faeces when passing it to a can in the detention house were beaten); SORY Sen DC-Cam Interview, E3/4846, 26 February 2004, ERN (En) 00527773 (was accused of stealing a potato and beaten on the head), ERN (En) 00527779 (prisoners whose ankle chains became loose would be beaten to death). The Chamber notes the evidence of SAUT Saing that he did not beat prisoners for making mistakes and that he did not ever see little Duch beat anyone (T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 7-11). As noted above, the Chamber finds SAUT Saing to lack credibility on the issue of his alleged participation in crimes and rejects his evidence on this point.

<sup>9283</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 26 (her baby’s name was Chreb), 33 (her baby cried for three days and was beaten by “Sin”).

<sup>9284</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 28.

<sup>9285</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 77.

<sup>9286</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 47-48 (prisoners received porridge consisting of “only a few grains of rice” in water distributed in a coconut shell and some prisoners “died of starvation”), 57 (prisoners were denied food during interrogations, with some male prisoners denied food for as long as 18 days), 65 (prisoners who died of starvation were buried); T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 30 (prisoners would be deprived of food following an interrogation); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 51 (the largest quantity of food a detainee was given was a coconut shell full of rice, while guards received a better food ration although still insufficient); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 12-14 (VONG Sarun fell down while walking because she was so weak and had been shackled for seven days so she could not feel her legs), 29 (prisoners were “skinny” and could “hardly walk”), 79 (prisoners were given “very little gruel” and had no energy or strength); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 10-11 (prisoners given a ladle of gruel and several small pieces of potato and a little bit of water plant, which was “not enough”) 12 (prisoners died from starvation or illness), 13 (MEAS Sokha’s younger siblings died at Kraing Ta Chan due to “lack of milk and food”), 39 (prisoners “emaciated” due to starvation), 51 (prisoners were deprived of food because when they were emaciated they could be easily killed); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 14 (prisoners did not have enough food to eat, sometimes only watery gruel); VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, 29 November 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00223212 (prisoners died from starvation); HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/5844, 31 October 2007, p. 1, ERN (En) 01056614 (“the chairperson” instructed HUN Kimseng not to give prisoners their fill of food to ensure that they remained weak and unable to resist).

were 100 prisoners the allotted amount was the same.<sup>9287</sup> The same coconut shell which was used to distribute food among the prisoners was also used for prisoners to relieve themselves.<sup>9288</sup> Detainees did not have adequate facilities – indeed they were not allowed to clean themselves<sup>9289</sup> and multiple witnesses recalled the detention buildings filled with bugs and mice.<sup>9290</sup> IEP Duch, the chief of the district youth, confirmed the poor hygiene conditions to investigators: “When I entered [Kraing Ta Chan], when the door opened, I smelled the odour and saw all the people. I had them close [the door]. I did not want to look any more.”<sup>9291</sup> The Chamber accepts SORY Sen’s description of the conditions at Kraing Ta Chan as “miserable”<sup>9292</sup> and finds that prisoners were forced to live in unhygienic conditions.<sup>9293</sup>

2733. The NUON Chea Defence invites the Chamber to place weight on RIEL Son’s evidence that he visited Kraing Ta Chan to spray the centre with anti-mosquito chemical DDT on one occasion, which it contends shows Kraing Ta Chan was not a “blunt

<sup>9287</sup> HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, p. 12 (Answer 68).

<sup>9288</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 47-49. See also, SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00225503.

<sup>9289</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 13 (prisoners were not allowed to clean themselves); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 89 (prisoners had one coconut shell of water to drink water and wash their faces and would be scolded for not being fast enough); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 11, ERN (En) 00225510 (prisoners did not receive any water for bathing); VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, 29 November 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00223212 (prisoners could not clean up after relieving themselves).

<sup>9290</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 11 (the detention building was filled with bedbugs); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 48-49 (bed bugs and insects surrounded the prisoners); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 34 (there were “many mice running around” in the detention facility); SORY Sen DC-Cam Interview, E3/4846, 26 February 2004, ERN (En) 00527779 (bed bugs and lice bit the prisoners); KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5837, 29 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223454 (there were a lot of bed bugs); VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, 29 November 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00223212 (prisoners were bitten by bed bugs); MEAS Sokha, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) (prisoners suffered from bed bug bites).

<sup>9291</sup> IEP Duch Interview Record, E3/4627, 30 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223476.

<sup>9292</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 46.

<sup>9293</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 11-12 (prisoners would pass a container from one person to another in the detention unit to relieve themselves in front of other prisoners); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 88-89 (prisoners relieved themselves in the detention unit); T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, p. 4 (KEO Chandara was instructed to carry the faeces of other prisoners and pour them into a big jar); T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 20-21 (the compound stank of human corpses and “it was [an] awful smell everywhere inside the area, the site of the compound”); MEAS Sokha, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223497 (prisoners would use a gourd to relieve themselves and then pass it from one person to the next to put into a can and prisoner who spilled urine or faeces would be beaten); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, pp. 4, ERN (En) 00225503 (prisoners relieved themselves into a coconut shell which was passed from one prisoner to another and emptied into a container), 8-9, ERN (En) 00225507-00225508 (soldiers did not enter the prison because it smelled of urine and excrement); SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/5864, 28 November 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223551 (prisoners relieved themselves and passed a pot from one person to another to be emptied into a container).

instrument of death”.<sup>9294</sup> No other Party made relevant submissions on this matter. In fact, RIEL Son’s evidence was that this did not relate to prisoner welfare, and throughout his time working at the District Hospital he never received any requests from Kraing Ta Chan to provide medicine.<sup>9295</sup> Detainees were not provided with medical treatment and sick prisoners were left to die without treatment.<sup>9296</sup>

2734. The Chamber recalls its finding that evidence of sexual violations is relevant to the conditions in Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9297</sup> The NUON Chea Defence challenged SORY Sen’s evidence that MEAS Sarat alias Rat (MEAS Sokha’s elder sister) was sexually harassed by the guard SREI Than alias (small) Duch.<sup>9298</sup> Before the Chamber, SORY Sen gave evidence that he did not see any rape, but suggested that MEAS Rat’s mother had told him about this.<sup>9299</sup> In 2013, however, he told investigators that he “saw [Duch] raping a female prisoner who was a cook at night. Her mother told me about that. Duch did not kill her after raping her, but she died in 1979, and her husband was killed in Kraing Ta Chan.”<sup>9300</sup> When challenged on the inconsistency in his evidence in court, SORY Sen explained that he saw the sexual harassment of MEAS Sarat but he did not see a rape.<sup>9301</sup> In 2004, he is recorded as having told DC-Cam in more general terms

<sup>9294</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 613.

<sup>9295</sup> T. 17 March 2015 (RIEL Son), E1/278.1, p. 94 (the witness only went to Kraing Ta Chan to spray insecticide); T. 18 March 2015 (RIEL Son), E1/279.1, pp. 36-37.

<sup>9296</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 12 (there was no medical treatment for prisoners who were sick and such prisoners would be left there without treatment until they died); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 57 (some prisoners died from disease or starvation in the detention building); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 13-14, 43-44 (prisoners were not given medical treatment); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 34 (a detainee and his child’s bodies were swollen but they were not given medical treatment and died); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 44 (prisoners did not receive any medical treatment). VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, 29 November 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00223212 (there was no clinic and sick prisoners “just laid there moaning and died”); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 11, ERN (En) 00225510 (prisoners died from illnesses for which there were no medicines or medics to treat); RIEL Son Interview Record, E3/9602, 18 February 2014, p. 20, ERN (En) 00982652 (there was no medical unit at Kraing Ta Chan); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2109, November 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00276555 (noting that 6 prisoners died of illness in November 1977).

<sup>9297</sup> See above, para. 2641.

<sup>9298</sup> T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, pp. 8-9; T. 25 March 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/282.1, pp. 92-93, 102 (stating that Rat was “physically touched” by Duch, then referring to her having been “sexually assaulted”).

<sup>9299</sup> T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, pp. 8-9 (suggesting that her mother said that thing but personally SORY Sen knew she was harassed, “fool her around”), 12; T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 5. SORY Sen’s statement that MEAS Sarat’s mother “did not say anything about it” was not interpreted contemporaneously in court, but was noted in a subsequent revision to both the English and French transcripts. However, SORY Sen did proceed to state that it was MEAS Sarat’s mother “who had said that thing. See T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 8.

<sup>9300</sup> SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/9589, 31 October 2013, p. 16 (Answers 107-108).

<sup>9301</sup> T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, pp. 8-9 (“as for Meas Sarat, what I saw was only sexual harassment committed by those people against her, but I did not see the raping.”); T. 6 February 2015

that he did not see rapes, but he heard about rapes from victims and perpetrators.<sup>9302</sup> Any distinction which SORY Sen made between sexual harassment versus rape was not well-explored before the Chamber.

2735. MEAS Sarat's mother denied to investigators that her daughter was assaulted at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9303</sup> The alleged perpetrator SREI Than alias Duch also rejected SORY Sen's allegations.<sup>9304</sup> Indeed he went further, claiming not to even know MEAS Sarat or MEAS Sokha.<sup>9305</sup> Guard SAUT Saing denied that any guard raped or sexually harassed "Rath" and said he knew nothing about any allegation involving SREI Than alias Duch (small Duch).<sup>9306</sup> Guard VAN Soeun testified that he frequently chatted with "Rat", who called him her "son", but he did not know whether she had been attacked by a guard.<sup>9307</sup>

2736. The Chamber finds there to be a lack of clarity in aspects of SORY Sen's account as to what exactly he saw or was told. The contradictory evidence is noted. The Chamber finds, however, that SREI Than alias Duch's claim not to even know MEAS Sarat lacks all credibility.<sup>9308</sup> The confusion in the evidence leaves the Chamber unable

---

(SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 12 (Q. "Mr. Witness, did you watch, observe the rape of Meas Sarat or you didn't?" A. "No, I did not." Q. My follow up question would be, how did you know that she was raped?" The President intervened at this point to inform Mr Koppe that the witness had already given his answer to this. To which Mr Koppe replied "Whatever, Mr President."). Between days when SORY Sen appeared before the Chamber, he told investigators that he was not sure whether Rat was raped, but he believed that she was "just harassed" by small Duch. See SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/9553, 6 March 2015, p. 2, ERN (En) 01072286.

<sup>9302</sup> SORY Sen DC-Cam Interview, E3/4846, 26 February 2004, ERN (En) 00527782-00527783 (stating that Aunt Rath, the daughter of Grandma Nor, told him).

<sup>9303</sup> HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, pp. 13-14 (Answers 78, 82-83, describing the place as "clean and proper" which she explained as the staff only killing but not doing anything stupid like touching women). The Chamber rejected NUON Chea's request to summon MEAS Sarat and HUN Kimseng. See Decision on the NUON Chea Defence's Consolidated Rule 87(4) Request to hear Additional Witnesses for the First Case 002/02 Trial Segment on the Tram Kok Cooperatives and Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre, E346/2, 30 April 2015, para. 2(b); Reasons following Decision on the NUON Chea Defence's Consolidated Rule 87(4) Request to Hear Additional Witnesses for the First Case 002/02 Trial Segment on the Tram Kak Cooperatives and Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre and Decision on SANN Lorn (2-TCW-1007), SOU Phirin (2-TCW-1027) and IV Sarik (2-TCW-1026) (E346/2), E346/3, 31 March 2016, paras 35-37 (noting that NUON Chea had failed to exercise diligence in his request, that although rape was relevant to the conditions at Kraing Ta Chan, it had not been charged outside the context of forced marriage, and that several other witnesses had given evidence on issues relating to Kraing Ta Chan including MEAS Sokha, KEO Chandara, SORY Sen and VONG Sarun).

<sup>9304</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 95.

<sup>9305</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 68.

<sup>9306</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 1-3 (CS).

<sup>9307</sup> T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 2-3 (CS), 10-11.

<sup>9308</sup> The Chamber also notes that SREI Than was known to other guards by the nickname "Sarat", that is the same name as MEAS Sokha's sister, MEAS Sarat. See T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, p. 40 (referring to Duch alias Sarat); T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 52 (referring to Duch to determine with sufficient specificity whether MEAS Sarat was assaulted by SREI Than alias Duch. Nevertheless, the Chamber keeps in mind that rape outside the context of forced marriage is not charged and remains satisfied, having reviewed SORY Sen's evidence as a whole, that his uncertainty and the lack of clarity as to what exactly he saw or learned in relation to MEAS Sarat does not undermine his overall credibility.

2737. In reaching this conclusion, the Chamber considered whether there is a risk, as was implied by the NUON Chea Defence's submissions, that SORY Sen invented or embellished details of sexual crimes by guards at Kraing Ta Chan. The Chamber finds his account of another incident to be instructive in this regard. SORY Sen recalled that two famous movie stars called NOP Nem and KIM Nova, together with their child, were killed at Kraing Ta Chan. According to SORY Sen, NOP Nem was taken for execution first, leaving KIM Nova in front of the prison chief's office. Ta An then started "touching" KIM Nova while her child asked for its father. Later that afternoon at around 4 p.m., KIM Nova and her child were killed. SORY Sen explained that he learned the actors' names from Ta An.<sup>9309</sup>

2738. SORY Sen's account finds independent and significant corroboration in an interview conducted with IEP Duch, the head of the Tram Kak District Youth, before he died. IEP Duch told the investigators that he learned that the Kraing Ta Chan unit had "done wrong" because of the rape of "Kim Nauva" (i.e. KIM Nova), and he went to investigate but "[i]t was difficult, because the victim was dead". IEP Duch thought it was two or three months after the incident that news of it leaked. He reported to District Secretary Ta Chim and he called Ta An to present his revolutionary life view, but the district pardoned him due to his "merit in making the revolution".<sup>9310</sup> PECH Chim was asked about KIM Nova in interview, but denied any knowledge of her or her husband NOP Nem.<sup>9311</sup> Nonetheless, IEP Duch's independent description of the assault alias Sarat and not knowing the reason why he was nicknamed Sarat); SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/9583, 25 November 2013, p. 11, ERN (En) 00970122 (Answer 69, small Duch was called Sarat).

---

<sup>9309</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 96-97; T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, pp. 38-41; SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 10, ERN (En) 00225509 (their daughter was 7-8 years old, and other staff involved were Ta Penh, Ta Cheng and Ta Phy). Counsel for NUON Chea sought to challenge SORY Sen's account by suggesting that KIM Nova was interrogated at Kraing Ta Chan. However, the notebook entry he relied on to make this assertion related to a different actress: NAUK Lina, identified as married to Prak Vichara Put. See Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5827, p. 38, ERN (En) 00866461; T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 42.

<sup>9310</sup> IEP Duch Interview Record, E3/4627, 30 October 2007, pp. 4-5, 10, ERN (En) 00223475-00223476, 00223481.

<sup>9311</sup> PECH Chim Interview Record, E3/5786, 6 December 2009, p. 10, ERN (En) 00422345.

and execution of KIM Nova confirms SORY Sen's credibility when describing one instance of sexual assault. The Chamber finds that KIM Nova, NOP Nem and their young children were killed at Kraing Ta Chan, and that KIM Nova was sexually assaulted by Ta An before she was killed, and this is reflective of aspects of the conditions in Kraing Ta Chan.

12.3.8. Work Conducted by Prisoners

2739. Some prisoners including MEAS Sokha and SORY Sen were released from detention buildings and put to work.<sup>9312</sup> If those prisoners put to work attempted to flee, they were caught and beaten, which instilled fear in other prisoners.<sup>9313</sup> As noted, some prisoners were made to perform gruesome tasks, including MEAS Sokha, SORY Sen and IET Chhin who all buried dead bodies. KEO Chandara gave similar evidence that he had to drag people who were nearly dead or who had died because of beatings to a killing site.<sup>9314</sup> The Chamber finds that a very small number of prisoners were put to work inside the main compound.<sup>9315</sup> A select few prisoners worked as cooks.<sup>9316</sup>

<sup>9312</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 9-10 (small children and babies at Kraing Ta Chan were not shackled and were placed with their mothers), 13-14 (MEAS Sokha worked outside, including tending cows and buffaloes during the day); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 56 (children not shackled because there were not sufficiently small shackles at Kraing Ta Chan and so children sat next to their parents); T. 19 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/266.1, pp. 21-22 (minors would be let out to work during the day and were detained at night time); T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, p. 19 (children took care of livestock in the outer perimeters of the prison); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 13 (babies and children lived with their parents); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223496 (MEAS Sokha was small and was not shackled but his sister and mother were).

<sup>9313</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 49 (describing an incident when a new female peasant working with VONG Sarun hid in a rice field, after which she was badly beaten up).

<sup>9314</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 39; T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, p. 4 (more than 10 prisoners would be instructed to drag bodies into the pit).

<sup>9315</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 10; T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 52 (identifying Ta Dam as one of the prisoners who swept the grounds and watered vegetables); 99 (confirming that some prisoners were allowed out the detention buildings); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 79 (identifying prisoners Pou Saem and Ta Dam as tasked to push carts of prisoners who were too weak to walk).

<sup>9316</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 65 (HUN Kimseng alias Yeay Nha and her daughter MEAS Sarat worked as cooks, serving gruel to the prisoners); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 80 (saw Yeay Nha working at the kitchen and cooking rice for prisoners, sometimes washing dishes for prison staff); HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/5826, 31 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223490; HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, p. 12, ERN (En) 01168017 (Answer 68, she cooked gruel for 50-100 prisoners using only 10 cans of milled rice); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 51 (also referring to 10 cans of rice being available for prisoners, which was less than the staff received); SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00433572 (identifying both Yeay Nha and her child Rat); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 78-79 (describing seeing Yeay Nha working at the kitchen hall, cooking rice for prisoners, further describing chatting to Rat almost every day); HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15

2740. In addition to a small number of prisoners working inside the main compound, SORY Sen further explained that 12 or 13 people were assigned to farm and grow vegetables and rice between the first and second perimeter fences.<sup>9317</sup> Guard VAN Soeun gave a larger estimate to investigators, estimating that 15-30 prisoners worked outside the detention buildings performing tasks such as carrying soil.<sup>9318</sup> SAUT Saing described supervising five to a maximum of ten prisoners working outside the main compound.<sup>9319</sup> He described some prisoners working outside to carry soil, fertiliser or cow dung to fertilise the fields.<sup>9320</sup> The guard unit was armed with guns.<sup>9321</sup> Prisoner VONG Sarun explained that prisoners who arrived at Kraing Ta Chan during transplanting season would be asked to transport seedlings with her group, after which they were killed.<sup>9322</sup> She described carrying soil and termite mounds.<sup>9323</sup> According to her, the prisoners who were not beaten were used to provide services for prison.<sup>9324</sup> She described heavy and hard labour work which she had to perform in order to receive her ration of gruel. Her group of workers were used whatever way the Kraing Ta Chan staff pleased.<sup>9325</sup> The Chamber finds that some prisoners worked outside the first perimeter fence, but this constituted a small minority of the overall number of prisoners in Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9326</sup>

---

September 2015, p. 17, ERN (En) 01168022 (Answer 103, her uncle, Ta Norn, had worked as the cook before her, but he was killed and she was tasked to take his place); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 13-14, 51 (Yeay Nha was the “lady in charge of cooking the gruel” and someone who was very kind to her and her baby; Han arrived at Kraing Ta Chan at the same time as VONG Sarun, and she had a three-month old baby with her); T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 8-9 (Yeay Nha and MEAS Sarat were only detained overnight, and allowed out to work during the day time); T. 17 March 2015 (RIEL San), E1/278.1, p. 76; T. 18 March 2015 (RIEL San), E1/279.1, p. 81; T. 19 March 2015 (RIEL San), E1/280.1, p. 28 (when RIEL San, the deputy chief of the District Hospital, visited Kraing Ta Chan he saw and recognised Han from Hospital 22 cooking a small pot of rice).

<sup>9317</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 47, 95.

<sup>9318</sup> VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, p. 22, ERN (En) 00980298 (Answer 169).

<sup>9319</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 86; T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 49.

<sup>9320</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 16, 82, 86 (describing carrying earth from the pond to rice fields).

<sup>9321</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 40 (explaining that his team was armed with M16, AK [sic] and CKC weapons and they were armed “day and night”); T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 28 (suggesting that guards were armed at night with AK47 and M16 rifles, but not during the day).

<sup>9322</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 30, 40-41 (identifying the children of Yeay Nha, Ta Dam, Pou, Saem, Aunty Rat, Aunty Phon and Vooun).

<sup>9323</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 40-41.

<sup>9324</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 42.

<sup>9325</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 41-42, 85.

<sup>9326</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 84.

2741. The Chamber rejects the NUON Chea Defence's suggestion that "only" VONG Sarun encountered the hardship of physical labour at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9327</sup> These submissions bear little relation to the evidence before the Chamber, which described groups of prisoners. The Chamber is satisfied that prisoners including but not limited to VONG Sarun did not consent to work and could not, in all the circumstances, refuse to work.

12.3.9. Interrogations

2742. Some prisoners were executed immediately after their arrival at Kraing Ta Chan without facing interrogation.<sup>9328</sup> Large numbers of others were interrogated within a few weeks of their arrival.<sup>9329</sup> Detainees were taken from the detention room and led to the interrogation room on the south side of the compound, where one prisoner was interrogated at a time.<sup>9330</sup> Interrogations were conducted by members of the Party Committee, in particular Ta An, Penh and "Chhen". Typically, one member would conduct the interrogation with others present to take notes and guard the prisoner.<sup>9331</sup>

<sup>9327</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 613.

<sup>9328</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 53-54 (describing a large group of people from Sre Ronoung and Nheang Nhang communes who were executed without being interrogated); T. 22 January 2015, pp. 18-24 (MEAS Sokha recalled that on one occasion more than 100 people were brought to Kraing Ta Chan and executed without interrogation because there was no space for keeping those people, he was ordered to bury the bodies); T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 18 (confirming that in 1977 approximately 100 prisoners were executed without being interrogated first).

<sup>9329</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 45-47, 57, 90; T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 61 (SORY Sen was detained for between 10 and 14 days at Kraing Ta Chan before being interrogated); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 12-13 (interrogated after seven days at Kraing Ta Chan), 51-52 (some prisoners would be interrogated after having entered the prison for one night and when new groups arrived, prisoners would be interrogated one after the other); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 16 (on arrival MEAS Sokha was not interrogated because he was considered to be a "young boy" and only adults, "head of a household" were interrogated); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00225503 (SORY Sen detained for six to seven days before being called for interrogation); KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5837, 29 October 2007, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00223452-00223453 (KEO Chandara interrogated on his first day at Kraing Ta Chan).

<sup>9330</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 9 (prisoner staff took the prisoners to and from the interrogation room); T. 25 March 2015 (SAY Sen), E1/282.1, p. 74 (the guards accompanied the prisoners to the interrogation place); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 12 (VONG Sarun was led to the interrogation room); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 82-85 (only one prisoner was interrogated at a time), 92, 99 (Cheng unshackled the prisoners in the detention building and walked them to the interrogation house and back); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 33 (prisoners were interrogated one after the other), 51-52 (prisoners would be interrogated one after the other).

<sup>9331</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 96 (MEAS Sokha witnessed an interrogation during which An was the interrogator while Penh took notes); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 61 (the chief and deputy chief of Kraing Ta Chan conducted interrogations, including Chhen, An and Penh), 86 (Chhen interrogated SORY Sen in the presence of two other Khmer Rouge cadres, including an armed soldier who stood guard); T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 33-34, 40 (the six party members, An, Penh, Chhen, Moeun, Chheang and Chhoeun, rotated interrogation duties); T. 24

As noted, representatives from the district such as IEP Duch and Phy also participated in interrogations on occasion.<sup>9332</sup> According to VAN Soeun, the six Party members rotated to perform interrogations.<sup>9333</sup> SREI Than alias Duch told investigators that only Ta An and his “deputy” IEP Duch interrogated prisoners with Sieng their “close associate”.<sup>9334</sup> The Chamber therefore finds that although interrogations were primarily conducted by Ta An, Penh and Chhen, others involved included Phy, IEP Duch and Sieng.

2743. Detainees were questioned about their backgrounds and political tendencies, and were frequently accused of being or having links to enemies, including the LON Nol regime, KGB, CIA and Vietnam.<sup>9335</sup> Others were questioned about and accused of March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 48 (there were three interrogators at Kraing Ta Chan: An, Penh and Chhen), 49 (notes were taken during interrogations, although SAUT Saing was not present when this occurred); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 33-40 (Penh interrogated VONG Sarun, while An took notes and Cheng was present), 45 (An took the notes); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00223500 (the interrogators were An, Penh, Cheng, Sieng and Moeun); HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/5826, 31 October 2007, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00223489-00223490 (HUN Kimseng was interrogated by “the Chairman and the Deputy Chairman” and little Duch administered beatings); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5834, 29 December 2009, p. 10, ERN (En) 00434696 (the chairman and his staff, including An and Duch, interrogated prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, pp. 4, ERN (En) 00225503 (interrogated by three people, including Chhen, An and Duch, and a soldier stood guard), 8, ERN (En) 00225507 (SORY Sen saw An interrogate prisoners “once in a while”. After 1975, only the deputy chairman, Duch, and the member, Penh, conducted interrogations frequently, with one soldier on guard); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/9597, 31 October 2013, p. 8, ERN (En) 00970073 (An, Duch and Sieng conducted interrogations); VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223210 (An, Cheng and Penh conducted interrogations); KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5837, 29 October 2007, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00223452-3 (Chhen interrogated prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/9589, 31 October 2013, p. 9, ERN (En) 00969625 (An, Duch, Penh and some soldiers, Cheng, Sim and Saing, interrogated prisoners). While SORY Sen also confirmed that there were several cadres in the interrogation room during interrogations, he asserted that there was no note-taker. See T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 30. In view of the overwhelming documentary evidence indicating that there were notetakers present during interrogation, the Chamber rejects SORY Sen’s evidence on this point and finds that, as in the case of VONG Sarun’s interrogation, a note-taker was usually present during interrogations.

---

<sup>9332</sup> See above, paras 2694-2696.

<sup>9333</sup> T. 3 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/270.1, pp. 33-34.

<sup>9334</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/9597, 31 October 2013, ERN (En) 00970073 (Answers 43-44).

<sup>9335</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 17-18, 96 (MEAS Sokha heard the interrogator ask prisoners what they did during the LON Nol regime, whether they had rank, whether they were American CIA or “Yuon” CIA); T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 93 (KEO Chandara was questioned at Kraing Ta Chan about who trained him in a CIA or KGB network); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 77, 85-86; T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 6-7, 26-27 (SORY Sen listened to some interrogations, the purpose of which was to identify “CIA spies”, connections with Prum San or the LON Nol regime); T. 24 February 2015 (PHANN Chan), E1/268.1, p. 66 (prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan were accused of being KGB, CIA or White Khmer); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 30-32, 72 (VONG Sarun was asked where she hid a pistol, what level of education she had and whether her husband had introduced her to the KGB or “Yuon” spy network), 38-39 (VONG Sarun witnessed an interrogation where the detainee was asked whether he was a New Person or held the rank of captain in the army); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00223500 (during interrogation prisoners were asked what they did, whether they were behaviours deemed to indicate opposition to the revolution, such as stealing food from cooperatives and complaining about hunger or fatigue.<sup>9336</sup> These findings are consistent with type of information provided by communes to Kraing Ta Chan as noted above.<sup>9337</sup>

2744. MEAS Sokha described being close by to the guards' kitchen one day to deliver fruit, when he both saw and heard a man being suffocated with a plastic bag as part of an interrogation session.<sup>9338</sup> Counsel for NUON Chea submitted that MEAS Sokha "made up his story", suggesting it was a complete fabrication.<sup>9339</sup> MEAS Sokha was questioned about it at some length – almost one hour during which he gave limited information on what he could recall. He thought he had been at Kraing Ta Chan for around three months when the incident happened, but he could not remember any particular prisoners who were brought into Kraing Ta Chan that day, or the day before this incident.<sup>9340</sup> He described the victim as quite tall and a bit fat, but he was unable to give any more details.<sup>9341</sup> He could not remember the specifics of questions asked by the interrogators, but remembered general questions about the person's rank in the LON Nol regime.<sup>9342</sup> The prisoner claimed to be a cyclo driver, but the interrogators did not believe him.<sup>9343</sup> Later that day, when MEAS Sokha was collecting wood, he saw the

---

"American CIA or Yuon CIA" and for their rank during the LON Nol era); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00225503 (interrogated about possible contact with Prum San); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2052, 13 June 1977, p. 2, ERN (En) 00276591 (report from District Chief Kit to Ta An instructing him to interrogate ten former soldiers "harshly and thoroughly" to find all of "their network"); UK Him Interview Record, E3/9584, 14 July 2014, p. 14, ERN (En) 01031769 (Answer 52, describing being asked if she was ever a spy for LON Nol).

<sup>9336</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 57-58 (if prisoners did not confess, for example, to stealing a coconut or mango from the cooperative, they would be beaten until they confessed); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5852, 16 September 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00231675 (notes from interrogations indicated that prisoners confessed to stealing food and complaining of hunger and fatigue); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/2107, undated, p. 23, ERN (En) 00290226 (CHAO Tit was arrested for criticising the revolution); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5827, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00866424 (NOV Mom arrested for criticising the revolution, including food rations); Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/2107, undated, p. 8, ERN (En) 00290211 (NGET Nel, son of a LON Nol colonel, was arrested for stealing coconuts and melons to eat).

<sup>9337</sup> See above, paras 2716-2727.

<sup>9338</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 16-18 (explaining that the kitchen was five metres from the interrogation site, that the use of a plastic bag was rare, he only saw it once and it lasted for five minutes); 87 (recalling that he had been asked to pick kaisang fruit); 90-91 (explaining that he was walking from his sleeping place to bring fruits for the kitchen when he saw the man, and the guards asked him to split wood for the kitchen).

<sup>9339</sup> T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, p. 5 ("We are convinced that Meas Sokha never witnessed the torture incident of a fat cycle driver, suffocated by a plastic bag. We are convinced he made up his story").

<sup>9340</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 89.

<sup>9341</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 90-91.

<sup>9342</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 96.

<sup>9343</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 102.

same man carried back to the detention building in “bad shape” and he died the next day.<sup>9344</sup>

2745. The Chamber notes that MEAS Sokha does not appear to have mentioned the details of this specific incident in his 2007 interview with investigators. He is recorded, however, as making reference to faces being covered with plastic bags.<sup>9345</sup> The Chamber finds that MEAS Sokha’s account, when pressed for details, was a credible and cautious description of what he could best remember about one particular event.

2746. Other persons gave similar evidence that plastic bags were used to suffocate prisoners during the course of interrogations at Kraing Ta Chan, and they confirmed that the interrogation room could be seen and heard from the guards’ kitchen. The guard SAUT Saing recalled that plastic bags were used to suffocate prisoners during interrogations.<sup>9346</sup> He saw people suffocated during interrogations when he was cooking rice in the guards’ kitchen: he described an incident when the prison chief Ta An was the interrogator and a man was suffocated using a plastic bag made from a raincoat.<sup>9347</sup> The guard VAN Soeun confirmed that, from the kitchen, he also saw interrogations when prisoners’ heads were covered with plastic bags to suffocate them.<sup>9348</sup> Prisoner VONG Sarun described how, after she had been at Kraing Ta Chan for a year and it was trusted that she would not try to escape, she was tasked to feed pigs at the kitchen. She could hear interrogations clearly from that location.<sup>9349</sup> Prisoner

<sup>9344</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 96-107 (describing the prisoner claiming to be a tricycle/truck driver, Om Penh and Pai conducting the interrogation, with Ta Cheng kicking the prisoner; when MEAS Sokha later returned for wood, he saw the prisoner being carried back to one of the detention buildings in “bad shape” – he died and the next day SORY Sen and Ta Chhen were ordered to bury the body).

<sup>9345</sup> MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00223500 (“When they did not respond, at times they beat them unconscious. Sometimes they tortured. They covered their faces tightly with plastic bags.”).

<sup>9346</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 12 (“Yes, the prisoners were tortured and interrogated, for instance, they were beaten up to give answers, and plastic bags were used to cover their faces.”); 49 (“Prisoners were beaten by club and plastic sheet were used to cover their face to suffocate them in order to extract their confession.”); T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 16-18 (describing seeing plastic bags on the head of prisoners when he was cooking, describing the plastic bag as being made out of a raincoat and covering the head to suffocate the prisoner).

<sup>9347</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 16-18.

<sup>9348</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 32, 44 (describing how he witnessed this from the kitchen, that they would suffocate prisoners with plastic bags during the interrogation process). The Chamber notes that VAN Soeun subsequently, at p. 94, agreed with a leading question that he was “never able to watch interrogation in the interrogation room”. Contrary to the submissions at NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 596, the Chamber does not consider this to undermine his previous evidence that he observed parts of interrogations from the kitchen.

<sup>9349</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 60.

SORY Sen described having to clean the interrogation room and seeing equipment including plastic sheets.<sup>9350</sup> The use of plastic to suffocate prisoners was also confirmed another guard<sup>9351</sup> and prisoners<sup>9352</sup> interviewed during the course of the investigation. The Chamber finds MEAS Sokha's account to be reliable, credible and reflective of interrogations at Kraing Ta Chan.

2747. The Chamber is satisfied that violence and threats of violence were used to extract confessions from prisoners,<sup>9353</sup> including beatings with whips and clubs and pinching with pliers.<sup>9354</sup> As noted, suffocation was another method frequently deployed

<sup>9350</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 82; T. 25 March 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/282.1, p. 79 (further stating that soldiers would use a plastic sheet made out of raincoat to cover the head of the prisoners whose hands were tied behind their back during the interrogation).

<sup>9351</sup> SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00433573 (stating that "plastic cloths" were put over prisoners' faces and he saw this when cooking nearby).

<sup>9352</sup> LIM Hach Interview Record, E3/7984, 29 November 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00166452 (describing her face being covered with a "rain cloth"); KEV Mao Interview Record, E3/7900, 29 October 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00163470 (describing his 1974 interrogation when a "plastic cloth" was wrapped around his face which "made me unable to breathe and I passed out").

<sup>9353</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SAY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 54-55 (stating that if prisoners did not confess to the allegations against them, they would be beaten until they confessed); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 38-39 (VONG Sarun overheard the interrogation of another detainee who denied holding the rank of captain, was whipped and asked again and denied it, and this process continued until he eventually confessed to being a captain to avoid being beaten again); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 18, 82-107; T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 10-12 (MEAS Sokha witnessed a detainee being suffocated with a plastic bag to compel his confession). See also, T. 25 February 2015 (PHANN Chhen), E1/269.1, pp. 17-18 (PHANN Chhen who oversaw Kraing Ta Chan from 1973 into 1975 (see above, para. 2693), was told by "someone" that two methods were used: cold to encourage prisoners to confess; and hot to force prisoners to confess, which might include torture); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 8, ERN (En) 00225507 (An would hit prisoners who were "not talking easily" during interrogations); VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223210 (prisoners were beaten to force them to answer during interrogations).

<sup>9354</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 12 (prisoners were beaten up, including with whips, and had plastic bags tied around their faces), 49 (describing seeing whips at the interrogation site); T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 18 (on one occasion, SAUT Saing witnessed a prisoner being beaten and plastic bags tied around his face during an interrogation in order to extract confessions); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 10-11 (SREI Than saw prisoners after their interrogation being brought back to the detention building who had been beaten and "probably tortured severely"); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 57 (SORY Sen was instructed to carry prisoners who had been tortured to the point that they could not walk back into the detention building), 82 (the equipment in the interrogation room which SORY Sen would see when cleaning it in the mornings included a bamboo club and plastic sheets and scarves to cover the face of prisoners); T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 28 (prisoners were beaten with bamboo clubs during interrogations and pliers were used to extract or hurt the breast or nipples of female prisoners); T. 4 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/271.1, pp. 30-31 (confirming that he witnessed plastic bags being used against prisoners during interrogations); T. 25 March 2015 (SAY Sen), E1/282.1, p. 79 (clubs were used to torture prisoners, as well as plastic sheets to cover the prisoners' eyes); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 29-30 (VONG Sarun saw prisoners being beaten up), 44-45 (VONG Sarun heard the sound of whipping during an interrogation of a New Person who was being asked whether he had held the position of captain in the army); T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 30-31 (VAN Soeun saw plastic bags being used during interrogations); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 16-17 (the interrogation room contained sticks, chains, axes and pliers for use during interrogation, bamboo sticks and rattan were used and the building was "filled with screams"), 17, 100 (prisoners were beaten with bamboo stems and rattan during interrogation and pliers were used to pull out their fingernails), 18 (MEAS Sokha saw a

at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9355</sup> Former prisoners and staff alike gave evidence that they heard screams coming from the interrogation room.<sup>9356</sup> According to VONG Sarun, they interrogated people “loudly”. She heard them interrogating a New Person from Phnom Penh, asking whether he had been a captain. She then heard what sounded like whipping until he confessed and the beating stopped.<sup>9357</sup> According to VAN Soeun, clubs and whips were kept at the interrogation site.<sup>9358</sup> These were used during the interrogation process, and prisoners were suffocated as well.<sup>9359</sup> He later suggested, however, that he never witnessed interrogations as he was asked to go outside the perimeter of the compound during interrogations.<sup>9360</sup> The Chamber finds VAN Soeun’s attempt to distance himself from events inside the main compound to lack credibility. SREI Than alias Duch saw prisoners who were beaten or “probably tortured severely” being taken back to the prisoners’ buildings following interrogations.<sup>9361</sup> SAUT Saing did not think interrogations took place on a daily basis.<sup>9362</sup> Yet he heard screaming from prisoners when they were being interrogated, because they were being beaten and tortured.<sup>9363</sup>

2748. VONG Sarun also described the interrogation of a fellow prisoner called “Rom” who she identified as the “child of district committee of Angkor Chey”. VONG Sarun prisoner being suffocated with a plastic bag), 48 (prisoners were beaten and if they did not confess a plastic bag would be placed over their heads and their fingernails pulled); SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00433573 (SAING Sim saw prisoners being beaten and plastic cloths being put on their faces while they were interrogated); VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, 29 November 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223210 (prisoners were beaten with whips and clubs during interrogation); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00223500 (prisoners faces were covered tightly with plastic bags during interrogations); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, pp. 5, ERN (En) 00225504 (when sweeping the interrogation site, SORY Sen saw the plastic bags used to suffocate the prisoners), 8, ERN (En) 00225507 (SORY Sen witnessed Duch and Penh interrogating prisoners, with the guard putting a plastic bag over the detainee’s head and beating the detainee).

---

<sup>9355</sup> See above, para. 2746.

<sup>9356</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 76 (heard screaming or cries from prisoners when they were interrogated and suffered from torture or beating during interrogations); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 6 (could hear screaming from the interrogation room when he was typing in the prison chief’s room), 8, 53 (sometimes hear screaming during interrogations), 53 (heard the screaming of tortured prisoners); T. 21 Jan 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 16 (describing the interrogation building as “filled with screams”); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00223498 (heard the screams of prisoners being interrogated); SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/5864, 28 November 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00223552 (heard screaming during interrogations).

<sup>9357</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 45-46.

<sup>9358</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 31.

<sup>9359</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 44.

<sup>9360</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 94.

<sup>9361</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 11.

<sup>9362</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 67-68.

<sup>9363</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 75-76.

explained they were kept in the same detention building and Rom had “rashes from the tortures as big as the size of my thumb all over her body”.<sup>9364</sup> The Chamber also finds that prisoners died from injuries sustained during interrogation.<sup>9365</sup> Based in particular on the roles of IEP Duch and Phy, the Chamber is satisfied that the district level knew and approved of extreme levels of mistreatment at Kraing Ta Chan. This is confirmed by the documentary evidence. In particular, a report from District Secretary Kit proposed that 10 “traitors” from Khpob Trabaek commune be interrogated “harshly and thoroughly”.<sup>9366</sup> Further, a report from Ta An to the Party on interrogations noted with regard to a woman who kept crying while she was interrogated by a “comrade in the Army at Ang Ta Saom” that “only with hot measures during interrogation would she confess”; and further noting that “within Army workplace at Ang Ta Saom there are no confidential places to conduct interrogation at ease”, this suggesting that Kraing Ta Chan was a more appropriate place for keeping the use of these methods of interrogation confidential.<sup>9367</sup> Finally one of the Kraing Ta Chan Notebook bears the following annotation “[t]his person was interrogated with some hot methods to dig up his network, but he refused to confess”.<sup>9368</sup>

2749. Some prisoners, including VONG Sarun, did not suffer direct physical violence during interrogations.<sup>9369</sup> Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence’s submission<sup>9370</sup> that VONG Sarun’s evidence precludes a finding about the use of torture beyond reasonable doubt, the Chamber finds that the overwhelming evidence above shows that many prisoners were abused during interrogations, some to the point where they died. While

<sup>9364</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 31.

<sup>9365</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 85-107 (MEAS Sokha recalled a detainee dying after being suffocated during interrogation); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 61 (prisoners were in very bad shape after interrogations and in the case that they were not executed, typically died within a month); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, pp. 5, ERN (En) 00225504 (the three prisoners brought to Kraing Ta Chan with SORY Sen “died from being beaten during interrogation”), 11, ERN (En) 00225510 (prisoners died from wounds resulting from the torture); SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00433573 (some prisoners were beaten to death at the interrogation site); VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/5845, 29 November 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223210 (confirming that prisoners died as a result of beating during interrogations); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00223498 (some prisoners died when they returned from interrogation); LIM Hach Interview Record, E3/7984, 29 November 2007, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00166453-00166454 (describing seeing prisoners Phat, Uon and Hai beaten to death).

<sup>9366</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2052, 13 June [1977], p. 2, ERN (En) 00276591 (note from Kit, the District Secretary).

<sup>9367</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4126, 26 December 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00366713-00366714.

<sup>9368</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4095, ERN (En) 00747287 (YANG Kay).

<sup>9369</sup> See also, KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5837, 29 October 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00223456 (KEO Chandara was not tortured during interrogations).

<sup>9370</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 599.

VONG Sarun was not physically mistreated during interrogation, the Chamber notes the circumstances of her arrest and interrogation. She was made to walk all the way from Chan Teab village to Kraing Ta Chan while carrying her one year old baby girl.<sup>9371</sup> Once at Kraing Ta Chan, she was shackled and guards made fun of her because she was the wife of Ta Saet, whose execution just prior her arrival had been disclosed to her by a co-detainee.<sup>9372</sup> On arrival at Kraing Ta Chan, she thought she was “about to die”.<sup>9373</sup> She was detained for about seven days with very little food, shackled and handcuffed, before she was walked to the interrogation site. She fell down repeatedly on the way because she did not have the strength to walk.<sup>9374</sup> She was threatened both with physical violence and death<sup>9375</sup> During the interrogation, she was being accused of being a KGB or Yuon spy, – allegations she did not understand.<sup>9376</sup>

2750. Given the interrogators’ comments about VONG Sarun’s education level, her appearance and the well-being of her husband, the Chamber rejects the NUON Chea Defence’s submission that Vorng Sarun was imprisoned for her suspected participation in “unlawful activities”.<sup>9377</sup>

2751. The Chamber finds that this interrogation was an terrifying experience for VONG Sarun in horrendous circumstances, detained at Kraing Ta Chan with her young baby and in the knowledge that her husband had been executed.

12.3.10. Executions and Burials

2752. MEAS Sokha described an incident when he saw a guard called “Seang” smash a baby to death against a gum tree inside the first perimeter fence at Kraing Ta Chan. MEAS Sokha explained he was nearby because it happened close to where the cattle were kept. The incident happened in 1977 and he saw it by peeking through a fence

<sup>9371</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 11-13.

<sup>9372</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 13. See above, para. 2715.

<sup>9373</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 12.

<sup>9374</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 12-13.

<sup>9375</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 31-34 (Penh was about to hit her but he was stopped by Ta An), 34 (An stopped him and said that VONG Sarun was innocent but her husband had committed wrongdoing and “it would not be long before I die”), 35 (VONG Sarun was threatened with being beaten), 73 (at the end of her interrogation, VONG Sarun was told that she would “die anyway”).

<sup>9376</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 46; Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5827, ERN (En) 00866434 (VONG Sarun testified that she was not asked about Kang during her interrogation, even though the notes in notebook E3/5827 refer to Kang, the former head of the Zone Hospital). The Chamber does not find this discrepancy to be significant).

<sup>9377</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 563.

made of coconut leaves.<sup>9378</sup> The tree was to attached to a pit inside the first perimeter. MEAS Sokha testified that he did not know the identity of the baby or its mother.<sup>9379</sup> The mother was killed first, then the baby was smashed against the tree and thrown into the pit.<sup>9380</sup> 2753. MEAS Sokha does not appear to have mentioned this particular incident when he was interviewed in 2007, although he did identify a guard called “Sieng” as one of the executioners.<sup>9381</sup> Before the Chamber, he maintained that Sieng was “the executioner” and “in charge of killing”.<sup>9382</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the English and French translations in the alternate forms “Sieng” and “Seang” refer to the same person.

2754. Guard SREI Than alias Duch told the investigators in 2013 that “Sieng” was a close associate of prison chief Ta An.<sup>9383</sup> Before the Chamber, SREI Than alias Duch claimed at first not to even know “Sieng”, but then he accepted that he heard of “Seang” from others and saw him together with other “leaders” at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9384</sup> Guard VAN Soeun identified “Sieng” as one of the party members at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9385</sup> A former guard identified “Sieng” to the investigating judges as EM Sieng.<sup>9386</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that there was a relatively senior member of the Kraing Ta Chan staff known as Sieng. The Chamber is also satisfied that MEAS Sokha was in a position to correctly identify Sieng.

2755. There is evidence of similar incidents at Kraing Ta Chan and the Chamber finds that children, including babies, were killed there. KEO Chandara, who was detained for a relatively short period of time around 17 April 1975, described seeing the execution

<sup>9378</sup> T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 12-16.

<sup>9379</sup> T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 12-13.

<sup>9380</sup> T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 12-13.

<sup>9381</sup> MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00223500 (he also stated (at p. 7, ERN (En) 00223499) that he saw killings twice, which would consistent with having seen this incident and part of the mass killing incident described below).

<sup>9382</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 50; T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, p. 46.

<sup>9383</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/9597, 31 October 2013, p. 8, ERN (En) 00970073 (Answer 44). See also, SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5852, 16 September 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00231674 (identifying Sieng among the “supervisors” at Kraing Ta Chan).

<sup>9384</sup> T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 12-15 (he saw An, Big Duch and Sieng together “quite often”).

<sup>9385</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 74.

<sup>9386</sup> SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00433574.

of a woman and two young children: a three-year-old and a newborn baby boy. They arrived at Kraing Ta Chan around 5 p.m. one afternoon and were walked towards the east of Kraing Ta Chan underneath a “thngann tree” by four militiamen, one of whom snatched the baby boy from the mother and hit him against the tree before throwing him into the pit. The mother fell down and the other child started to cry, so they took him and hit him against the “rain tree” and threw him into the pit. The mother fainted before they killed her as well.<sup>9387</sup> Although the Chamber is unable to determine whether the incident witnessed by KEO Chandara took place within ECCC’s temporal jurisdiction, such evidence is indicative of a pattern of conduct at Kraing Ta Chan and is similar to the type of atrocity witnessed by MEAS Sokha. Other prisoners also described similar incidents to investigators.<sup>9388</sup> 2756. The Chamber has considered carefully the possibility of the unconscious transference of memories over the years. The killing of children was confirmed, however, by former guards. SAUT Saing gave evidence that he knew that children were killed at Kraing Ta Chan because mothers and children disappeared at the same time.<sup>9389</sup> SREI Than alias Duch confirmed that many children were killed at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9390</sup> VAN Soeun was evasive when asked about the killing of children: despite having told investigators that children were killed at Kraing Ta Chan, before the Chamber he testified that he did not recall this very well.<sup>9391</sup> The Chamber finds that MEAS Sokha saw the incident as he described it, and that babies and children were killed at Kraing Ta Chan in this way.

2757. Before the Chamber, MEAS Sokha described a mass killing incident at Kraing Ta Chan when more than 100 people arrived from Sre Ronoung and Nhaeng Nhang communes. According to MEAS Sokha, there was insufficient space in Kraing Ta Chan at the time, so the killing started at around 2 p.m. or 3 p.m. in the afternoon, shortly

<sup>9387</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 40.

<sup>9388</sup> UK Him Interview Record, E3/9584, 14 July 2014, p. 14, ERN (En) 01031769 (Answer 51, describing children being killed by hitting them against a tamarind tree); HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/5826, 31 October 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223489 (describing seeing children beaten against the trunk of a teal tree); SET Yem Interview Record, E3/9484, 9 September 2014, pp. 6-7, ERN (En) 01044898-01044899 (Answer 22, although not specifying the circumstances, explaining that her child SET Khem was killed in Kraing Ta Chan).

<sup>9389</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 59-60, 63 (describing his personal observation that when the children disappeared, it meant they were killed).

<sup>9390</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than alias Duch), E1/267.1, p. 42 (confirming the accuracy of SAY Sen’s evidence and stating that many children, male and female were killed).

<sup>9391</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 34.

after the group arrived. MEAS Sokha considered this to be something of an exception because prisoners generally arrived at Kraing Ta Chan in the evening.<sup>9392</sup> He specified that the killing took place to the south of the compound, with two to four people taken away at a time.<sup>9393</sup> MEAS Sokha described seeing a guard use a “sword” some 60cm long and two fingers’ width to slit the victim’s throat, while two other guards restrained the prisoner.<sup>9394</sup> MEAS Sokha saw this because he had returned to the compound that afternoon to collect ropes to catch cattle. He saw the killing for a brief moment by climbing a nearby tree, but when spotted by one of the killers he left.<sup>9395</sup> 2758. MEAS Sokha was challenged on an apparent inconsistency in his evidence. He was asked how it could be that he knew more than 100 people were killed that day in light of his evidence that he only witnessed the killing of one person. MEAS Sokha explained in response that he was ordered to help bury all of the bodies at around 5 or 6 p.m. that day, together with SORY Sen and another prisoner called Ta Chhen.<sup>9396</sup> MEAS Sokha’s account of this incident was confirmed by SORY Sen.<sup>9397</sup> The Chamber is also satisfied that another prisoner called IET Chen alias Ta Chen or Ta Chhin frequently assisted with burials together with SORY Sen.<sup>9398</sup> The Chamber notes that another Kraing Ta Chan guard, asked during the investigation about the killing of prisoners and how many were killed at a time, answered: “There were more than 100, up to 200 prisoners each time they took prisoners to kill them, both children and adults. Sen, who was a prisoner there, may know about this.”<sup>9399</sup> This corroborates MEAS Sokha’s account he helped SORY Sen and Ta Chhen to bury large numbers of bodies.

<sup>9392</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 54 (killing started at 2 p.m.), 64 (people generally arrived at 8-9 p.m. at night, but the group from Sre Ronoung and Nhang Nhang communes arrived during the daytime and were then taken to be killed); T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 18-19 (killing started at 3 p.m., with 3-4 people brought at a time).

<sup>9393</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 15, 54 (explaining that they were killed straight away because there was no room in the prison for them at the time); T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, p. 16.

<sup>9394</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 36-37.

<sup>9395</sup> T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 20-22; T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 79-81.

<sup>9396</sup> T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 22 (explaining that he buried the bodies), 23 (explaining that SORY Sen and Ta Chhen dug the pits, but MEAS Sokha was ordered to bury the bodies).

<sup>9397</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 18-19 (confirming that he knew about the incident described by MEAS Sokha when these prisoners were executed without being interrogated and stating that it happened in 1977).

<sup>9398</sup> See above, para. 2677.

<sup>9399</sup> SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00433573.

2759. Although MEAS Sokha did not detail this incident in his 2007 interview, when asked how many prisoners he saw killed at any one time he answered that the number varied, “sometimes 50, sometimes 30, sometimes more than 100”.<sup>9400</sup> He also described seeing executions from a tree when prisoners had their throat cut.<sup>9401</sup> Other witnesses also described seeing a long knife used for killings. SORY Sen described a 40-50cm knife being used to slash prisoners’ throats before they were dropped into a pit.<sup>9402</sup> VONG Sarun described seeing guards sharpening a curved knife, walking prisoners off in a line then later washing the blood off themselves and the knife in the pond at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9403</sup> Contrary to the submissions made by the NUON Chea Defence, MEAS Sokha gave careful and limited evidence, on several occasions expressing limitations to what he saw or heard by himself or what he could now remember, some 40 years later.<sup>9404</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that this incident occurred, as described by MEAS Sokha and SORY Sen, and that they were tasked with the burials following this mass execution.

2760. The NUON Chea Defence claimed that SORY Sen lacks credibility because of his inability to recall specific dates of the arrest and killing of MEAS Sokha’s father and brother-in-law, and his explanation that he did not know why they were arrested.<sup>9405</sup> However, while SORY Sen could not specify dates, he remembered that “Ta Kun” and “Boeun” arrived first at Kraing Ta Chan, were interrogated, tortured to death, then Yeay Nha and her family arrived later.<sup>9406</sup> As to the reasons for these arrests, SORY Sen gave evidence that he never knew this information: it was not something he felt able to ask

<sup>9400</sup> MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/ 5825, 31 October 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00223499.

<sup>9401</sup> MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00223499 (MEAS Sokha watched executions from a tree and saw prisoners killed by having their throats cut and being hit).

<sup>9402</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 53-57, 100 (prisoners would be hit on the back of the neck with a hoe, then a 40 to 50 cm knife would be used to slash their throat, before they would be dropped into the pit).

<sup>9403</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 38-39 (VONG Sarun saw people sharpening a curved knife, walking people in a line, and then washing blood from themselves in the pond. The knife was also blood stained. She did not see the people closely enough to know their names).

<sup>9404</sup> See T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 89 (explaining that he was unable to recall the names of particular prisoners brought in to Kraing Ta Chan on the day or two before he witnesses a prisoner being suffocated with a plastic bag); T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 15 (explaining that he did not know the name of the baby he saw smashed against a tree and thrown into a pit, or its mother), 20-22 (explaining in relation to a mass execution that he only saw one killing, but he then had to bury the bodies which is how he knew that more than 100 people had been killed on that single occasion).

<sup>9405</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 77-79.

<sup>9406</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 79-80 (stating that the family arrived 10 days or a month after the deaths); T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 13 (stating that Kun passed away a month after his torture and he died before Boeun).

them.<sup>9407</sup> The Chamber found SORY Sen’s evidence to be a frank and reliable explanation of his knowledge at the relevant time.<sup>9408</sup> SORY Sen’s inability to recall precise dates are immaterial: his evidence of the arrival of Ta Kun and Boeun, their execution, followed by the arrival of their family including Yeay Nha, who is MEAS Sokha’s mother, is – as the Chamber has found – entirely accurate and indicative of his overall reliability.<sup>9409</sup>

2761. At around 3 or 4 p.m. one afternoon SORY Sen was returning some water-buffalo to Kraing Ta Chan, when SREI Than alias Duch sent him to an area in the south of the compound known as the “dark” prison. The evidence is unclear whether this refers to the “old dungeon” described above. When SORY Sen got there, he saw two dead women from a mobile unit who had been raped, with M-79 bullets inserted into their vaginas. SORY Sen was ordered to bury their corpses.<sup>9410</sup> He identified the guards involved in this incident as SREI Than alias Duch and his superior “Saing”.<sup>9411</sup>

2762. SREI Than alias Duch denied this allegation, suggesting that SORY Sen had fabricated it.<sup>9412</sup> SREI Than alias Duch expanded that rape was prohibited by the

<sup>9407</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 80 (stating he was not aware); T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, pp. 3-4 (the President preventing Mr KOPPE from asking SORY Sen again whether he knew “the reasons” for the arrest of MEAS Sokha’s family).

<sup>9408</sup> The Chamber notes that SORY Sen explained that still knows Yeay Nha, MEAS Sokha’s mother, and listened to reports of MEAS Sokha’s appearance before the Chamber in January 2015, but never sought to offer their accounts of the reasons for their arrest. See T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 6, 16 (CS).

<sup>9409</sup> See above, paras 2668-2671.

<sup>9410</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 62; T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, pp. 70-72 (the women had already been killed when SORY Sen was asked to bury the bodies, afterwards the guard asked whether SORY Sen “saw something” which he understood to be a reference to the M79 projectiles); T. 25 March 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/282.1, pp. 101-102 (the two female prisoners were apparently raped before being killed and M-79 grenade heads were inserted into their vaginas then SORY Sen was ordered to bury the dead bodies); T. 25 March 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/282.1, pp. 106 (suggesting that the two women had been brought in from Srae Ronoung village, then Duch told him to bury the bodies), 114 (after small Duch raped the two women, he killed them, then ordered SORY Sen to bury the dead bodies; small Duch himself told SORY Sen what he had done and also said Saing was involved); SORY Sen DC-Cam Interview, E3/4846, 26 February 2004, p. 4, ERN (En) 00527774 (“Duch used to kill the young girls in the prison. They took the dead bodies and inserted the head of M79 missiles into the girls’ vaginas. They called on me to bury the bodies. Duch had asked me if I saw the M79 in the girl’s [sic] vaginas. I told him I did see it and ask[ed] him why he did that. After burying the, [sic] body Duch and his comrades laugh[ed] about it.”).

<sup>9411</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 31. See also, SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/9589, 31 October 2013, p. 12, ERN (En) 00969628 (Answer 78, stating that small Duch raped “many women in a Mobile Unit. He killed them after he had raped them. He inserted M-79 bullets in their vaginas, and he ordered me to bury them. Saing was Duch’s superior”).

<sup>9412</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 93-98.

army's 12 moral principles.<sup>9413</sup> SAUT Saing also denied this incident and stated that he did not witness rapes or anything similar at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9414</sup> He also recalled the 12 moral principles.<sup>9415</sup> VAN Soeun denied that members of his unit abused two women from a mobile unit, but added the caveat that he might have been elsewhere at the time.<sup>9416</sup>

2763. The Chamber finds the guards' generic references to the 12 moral principles to be irrelevant to whether this specific incident occurred. The Chamber has found that KIM Nova was sexually assaulted at Kraing Ta Chan, and that this was known to the District Office.<sup>9417</sup> There is also evidence that during the relevant period, persons who lived close by to Kraing Ta Chan learned that rapes were taking place inside.<sup>9418</sup>

2764. In relation to this specific incident of sexual assault and killing, the Chamber considers SORY Sen's evidence to be more reliable than that of the guards. The Chamber is satisfied that SORY Sen's account of this incident was consistent since he was interviewed by DC-Cam in 2004.<sup>9419</sup> The Chamber has found SREI Than alias Duch and SAUT Saing's evidence to be unreliable, especially in relation to matters concerning their own culpability. The Chamber rejects as untruthful their sporadic attempts to distance themselves from events inside Kraing Ta Chan. Other than unsubstantiated suggestions that SORY Sen's account was "preposterous", the NUON Chea Defence failed to articulate any foundation to support their submissions that SORY Sen deliberately and falsely implicated SREI Than alias Duch and SAUT Saing in this atrocity. The Chamber finds SORY Sen's account to be consistent with the permissions given to him to move around Kraing Ta Chan performing work as assigned, including burials.

<sup>9413</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 95; T. 24 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/268.1, pp. 6-7.

<sup>9414</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 66-67; T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 3 (CS); T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 53-55.

<sup>9415</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 52.

<sup>9416</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 87, 89 ("If there were rapes. If would know about that. Or perhaps I was away, and rapes happened there.").

<sup>9417</sup> See above, para. 2738.

<sup>9418</sup> YIN Teng Interview Record, E3/9472, 29 December 2014, pp. 49-50, ERN (En) 01067076-01067077 (Answers 349, 354, stating that during the operation of Kraing Ta Chan, Moeun told her that the rapists were his "fellow workers").

<sup>9419</sup> SORY Sen DC-Cam Interview, E3/4846, 26 February 2004, p. 4, ERN (En) 00527774; SORY Sen Civil Party Application, E3/5841, 17 November 2008, p. 2.

2765. SORY Sen described witnessing two young siblings killed by guards. He provided an account of this in his 2008 interview and it is also described in the site identification report. The 2008 interview records SORY Sen as stating that the elder girl, who was about three years old, was killed by “Saing”; whereas the younger girl (no age stated) was killed by SREI Than alias Duch – who smashed her head against the trunk of a tamarind tree while another guard called “SIM” stood by and watched.<sup>9420</sup> Included in the site identification report are two photographs in which SORY Sen is seen identifying the tree.<sup>9421</sup> The Chamber notes that SORY Sen identified this incident as having occurred outside the main compound to the west.<sup>9422</sup>

2766. Before the Chamber, however, SORY Sen described the younger girl as three or four years old, and the elder girl as five or six. He gave evidence that he was climbing palm trees one afternoon to make palm wine for guards when he witnessed the killings. The youngest girl was smashed against a “sugar palm tree”, whereas the eldest was killed using a hoe. Their gallbladders were removed and hung there. The bodies were dragged into a pit at the base of the trees.<sup>9423</sup> He described the incident as taking place outside the first perimeter fence, around 50 or 60 metres to the west, but inside the second perimeter fence.<sup>9424</sup> SORY Sen identified “Sieng” as the guard who grabbed the younger girl by the feet and smashed her head against the tree, whereas “Saing” killed

<sup>9420</sup> SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, pp. 11-12. The OCIJ site report similarly records that SORY Sen described small Duch and Saing’s murder of the two girls. See Site Identification Report, E3/5828, 17 March 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00363340 (the description in the Site Identification Report is different. It refers to a palm tree rather than a tamarind tree and suggests that both girls were swung by the feet and their heads dashed against the trunk).

<sup>9421</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/5828, 17 March 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00363340; Photograph, E3/5867, 17 March 2009, ERN (En) P00355394 (Photograph 29 showing SORY Sen pointing to a tree); Photograph, E3/5868, 17 March 2009, ERN (En) P00355395 (Photograph 30 showing SORY Sen standing next to a tree stump).

<sup>9422</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/5828, 17 March 2009, p. 40, ERN (En) 00363340; Plan of Site of former Kraing Ta Chan Prison, E3/5866, 17 March 2009, p. 1, ERN (En) 00363333 (marker indicating photographs 29 and 30, outside of the inner compound to the west).

<sup>9423</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 53-54 (stating that the parents had been killed two or three days beforehand, the younger girl was killed by smashing against the tree trunk, and the elder girl was made to sit with no blindfold then hit on the back of neck using a one metre long hoe), 99; T. 25 March 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/282.1, p. 82 (SORY Sen was up the palm tree when a child was killed at the base of the same tree).

<sup>9424</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/282.1, p. 86.

the elder girl.<sup>9425</sup> He identified other guards involved as SREI Than alias Duch, Sim and Moeun.<sup>9426</sup>

2767. SAUT Saing denied that he was involved in this incident and that there were palm trees inside the Kraing Ta Chan compound. He accepted there were palm trees “far from the compound”.<sup>9427</sup> The location to the west identified by SORY Sen was not put to SAUT Saing. He accepted that children were killed in Kraing Ta Chan because mothers and children “disappeared” at the same time.<sup>9428</sup> SREI Than alias Duch denied witnessing killings.<sup>9429</sup> At another point in his evidence, however, SREI Than alias Duch confirmed that many children were killed at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9430</sup>

2768. As noted, the Chamber generally considers Sory Sens evidence to be more reliable than that of the guards. There was a core consistency to SORY Sen’s account in that two young girls were killed in a horrific way at Kraing Ta Chan. He consistently described the location to the west, that the younger girl’s head was smashed against the tree, and that a group of guards was involved. The Chamber has already found it to be established beyond doubt that young children were indeed killed at Kraing Ta Chan, including in the manner described by SORY Sen.<sup>9431</sup> There is also relevant contextual evidence confirming that the execution of children was clearly contemplated in Tram Kak district.<sup>9432</sup> VONG Sarun similarly described a woman and new-born baby being <sup>9425</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 46-49 (Sieng was the one who smashed the kids against the trunk of a palm tree. The other child was killed by Saing and the younger child was killed by Sieng).

<sup>9426</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 32-33 (identifying the four guards), 46-47 (the group who killed the kids were Saing, Sieng, small Duch and Sim).

<sup>9427</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 63 (clarifying that “far from the compound, there were palm trees); T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 11-12 (stating as follows: “I never killed any young baby or treated anyone with such cruelty there in the prison” then further denying any knowledge of the involvement of small Duch or Sieng in this incident).

<sup>9428</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 59-60, 63 (describing his personal observation that when the children disappeared, it meant they were killed).

<sup>9429</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 42-43 (stating that he did not witness any killing of children, so he could not assume how such killings took place).

<sup>9430</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 42 (confirming the accuracy of SAY Sen’s evidence and stating that many children, male and female were killed).

<sup>9431</sup> UK Him told investigators that she was detained at Kraing Ta Chan in 1978 and described there being “many children” and that the “Khmer Rouge killed those children by hitting them against a tamarind tree.” She described seeing an executioner hold human organs through a hole in the detention building wall. See UK Him Interview Record, E3/9584, 14 July 2014, p. 14, ERN (En) 01031769 (Answer 51).

<sup>9432</sup> Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, paras 843-846. See also, Tram Kak District Record, E3/4126, 26 December 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00366713-00366714 (an instruction from Ta San to Ta An asking him to take four people to question including NEARY Huot, then stating “separate Neary Nuot’s 1 year-old child from her”); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2441, 24 April [no year stated], p. 5, ERN (En) 00369467 (a note from Saen to Angkar reporting that a woman had pretended removed from the detention building and taken to the “north and west”, from where she heard the sound of crying and screaming.<sup>9433</sup> There were discrepancies in SORY Sen’s account, including in relation to the age of the victims, the identity of the specific perpetrators, and the type of tree. Of these, the Chamber finds the discrepancy over the ages of the victims to be the most significant inconsistency. These inconsistencies were not put to SORY Sen when he appeared before the Chamber, so he was not given an opportunity to explain them. These inconsistencies in SORY Sen’s evidence do not undermine the core consistency of his account. The Chamber has no doubt that he saw the type of atrocity he described, even if his recollection and answers differed at times.<sup>9434</sup> The Chamber finds that this young boy experienced years of unspeakable horror at Kraing Ta Chan, forced to perform gruesome tasks in the place where his father had also been killed. The Chamber remains satisfied by SORY Sen’s overall credibility and finds that two young girls were killed in the circumstances he described.

2769. SORY Sen was regularly involved with burying bodies.<sup>9435</sup> MEAS Sokha also buried bodies, including following a mass execution, but not as frequently as SORY Sen.<sup>9436</sup> As noted, the Chamber found that the three guards who gave oral evidence lacked credibility when they sought to distance themselves from executions. The guards readily accepted, however, that large numbers of people were executed at Kraing Ta Chan. SREI Than alias Duch and VAN Soeun both estimated that 99 per cent of prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan were killed.<sup>9437</sup> Although the Chamber does not take this to be a precise figure, it is a telling estimate in that it confirms their view that the vast majority of those persons who entered Kraing Ta Chan were killed. Guard SAUT Saing likewise stated: “As for the survival from the security office, I don’t think there were to be mentally ill, noting that “We smashed two of their children in 1976”); Tram Kak District Record, E3/4145, 22 May 1977, p. 9, ERN (En) 00762845 (a partial list of persons bearing an annotation dated 22 May 1977 stating that a “total of 37 people, both young and old, whose names contained in this list have been purged”).

---

<sup>9433</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 57-58.

<sup>9434</sup> See SORY Sen Civil Party Application, E3/5841, 17 November 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 01069288 (referring to killing by the use of hoes to beat the back of heads, and children having their bellies cut open and gallbladders removed).

<sup>9435</sup> See above, paras 2677-2678 (digging pits into which human corpses were placed, and dragging bodies).

<sup>9436</sup> See above, paras 2678, 2739, 2758, 2761.

<sup>9437</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 33-34, 91 (confirming his prior statement that “Ninety-nine percent of prisoners were smashed”); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5834, 29 December 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00434694; T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 35 (agreeing with SREI Than’s statement and confirming that the “huge majority” of prisoners were “liquidated on site”).

many of them”.<sup>9438</sup> He further stated: “one could hardly leave that security centre alive”.<sup>9439</sup>

2770. Whereas these three guards sought to distance themselves from executions and events inside Kraing Ta Chan, the Chamber considers it to be significant that they did not claim that prisoners who had been brought into Kraing Ta Chan were allowed to leave. The flow of detainees was generally one way. One exception noted by the Chamber was KEO Chandara, who was released following a direct intervention by Ta Mok.<sup>9440</sup> Another exception to this was VAN Soeun’s description to investigators that he escorted MEAS Sokha and some of his family members back to Cheang Tong commune.<sup>9441</sup> The Chamber finds that the release of MEAS Sokha and his family in approximately August 1978 may be explained in part by the Central Committee’s Guidance of 20 June 1978 which provided that the CPK’s policy was, for certain people, to “re-educate and admonish” but then return them to the “Party, Revolution and People”.<sup>9442</sup> In particular, although not referring to Kraing Ta Chan specifically, KHOEM Boeun, the Cheang Tong Commune Chief, confirmed that there was an amnesty whereby people who had committed more minor offences were released.<sup>9443</sup> Notwithstanding this evidence, the Chamber is satisfied that persons continued to be sent to Kraing Ta Chan for minor infringements perceived to challenge the revolution.<sup>9444</sup> This is confirmed by the documentary evidence.<sup>9445</sup> VONG Sarun

<sup>9438</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 13.

<sup>9439</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 62.

<sup>9440</sup> See above, para. 2708.

<sup>9441</sup> VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, p. 13, ERN (En) 00980289 (Answers 90-91, including the suggestion, which the Chamber finds to be mistaken, that the family was released in 1979). There is evidence of other people being release from Kraing Ta Chan. See e.g., LIM Hach Interview Record, E3/7984, 29 November 2007, pp. 4-5 (describing being imprisoned for three months in Kraing Ta Chan in 1977); HUN Chim Civil Party Application, E3/5902, 28 August 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00379352 (learning that his brother HUN Chum was detained in Kraing Ta Chan from Ta Aun, “the old folk in Trapeang Keh” who was released from this security centre in 1977);

<sup>9442</sup> Guidance of the Central Committee of the CPK, E3/764, 20 June 1978, p. 3, ERN (En) 00275219.

<sup>9443</sup> T. 5 May 2015 (KHOEM Boeun), E1/297.1, pp. 66-67; KHOEM Boeun Interview Record, E3/9480, 21 May 2014, p. 8, ERN (En) 01057682 (Answers 31-32).

<sup>9444</sup> See e.g., para. 2706 (discussing the five widows from Trapeang Thum North commune who entered Kraing Ta Chan on 9 August 1978).

<sup>9445</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2421, 5 July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00322201 (Kraing Ta Chan reporting to the district on seven prisoners’ confessions who planned to break hoes among other conduct); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2423, 8 July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00322206 (Trapeang Thum North commune reporting to Kraing Ta Chan on the arrest of a youth); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2424, 15 July 1978, ERN (En) 00322223 (reporting on the decision to send over four persons including former LON Nol soldiers). See above, para. 2706 on the five widows from Trapeang Thum North commune, sent to Kraing Ta Chan in August 1978). See above, para. 2727 (on two women who “cannot be kept” because they had “so many contradictions”); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2424, 18 July 1978, p. 4, ERN (En) 00322220 (report from Angk Ta Saom commune to Kraing Ta Chan on three enemies who

likewise testified that prisoners were “taken away and killed almost on a daily basis” and the pretext that prisoners were being released was used “until all the prisoners were executed, except for very few of us”.<sup>9446</sup> While the Chamber allows for the possibility that there may have been other instances of release from time to time, including in mid-1978, the Chamber is satisfied that these were wholly exceptional and that execution was the rule.

12.3.10.1. Execution process and burials

2771. While executions and on occasion spontaneous killings, were carried out at various locations in and around Kraing Ta Chan,<sup>9447</sup> the evidence reveals a systematic process. MEAS Sokha, who was detained at Kraing Ta Chan for two years, estimated that executions took place once per week.<sup>9448</sup> Killings could start in the afternoon and continue into the evening, depending on the number killed on any given day. Prisoners were brought to executions sites in groups of two to four at a time.<sup>9449</sup> Prisoners were starved in order to make it easier to kill them.<sup>9450</sup> VONG Sarun likewise described prisoners being taken to be executed “rather often” and recalled people as being very thin, hardly able to walk when taken to be executed.<sup>9451</sup> A pretext was used whereby prisoners were told they were to be released, but in reality they were killed.<sup>9452</sup> Several prisoners would be walked to the edge of a pit at a time, blindfolded with their hands tied, and ordered to kneel at a pit.<sup>9453</sup> Detainees were struck on the back of the neck stole and so would be sent over “to seek for the undercover networks of these enemies hiding in the villages and communes and to take further measures in order to achieve according to the Guidelines of the Party”).

---

<sup>9446</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 30.

<sup>9447</sup> For example, some prisoners were shot dead while trying to escape. See T. 5 February 2015 (SAY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 38. See also, SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00433573 (some prisoners were beaten to death at the interrogation site); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5834, 29 December 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00434691 (prisoners were executed “both inside and outside the prison”).

<sup>9448</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 36.

<sup>9449</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 53-54.

<sup>9450</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 39, 51.

<sup>9451</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 29, 30, 47, 79 (stating that having been detained for half a month or a month with so little gruel that they had no energy or strength, they could “fall easily with just a little push”). This was corroborated by the guard VAN Soeun. See T. 18 May 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/300.1, p. 38 (described seeing lines of people being walked off, without having to be tied up because they had only been given gruel, not rice, and “walked tiredly”).

<sup>9452</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 30, 79.

<sup>9453</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 60 (prisoners were blindfolded and their hands tied before they were taken to the execution site, walked near the pit and ordered to kneel); T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 53-54 (two to four prisoners were walked to the pit at a time and then the guards would return to collect more prisoners); T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 16-18 (during the mass execution of more than 100 people, two to four prisoners were taken to the

with a hoe and their throats were cut with a knife, before their bodies were dropped into pits.<sup>9454</sup> Guard VAN Soeun estimated that executions took place once or twice per month, following the delivery of messages from the district.<sup>9455</sup> According to him, prison chief Ta An called meetings when executions were to happen, following which the guard unit was told to guard outside and not allow anyone to escape.<sup>9456</sup> SREI Than alias Duch told investigators that he saw handwritten notes once or twice per month saying that 20 or 30 people had been destroyed at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9457</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that there were regular executions at Kraing Ta Chan, and finds MEAS Sokha's estimate of their frequency to be more reliable than that of the guards, who sought to minimise their responsibility.<sup>9458</sup>

2772. Contrary to claims by guards SREI Than alias Duch and SAUT Saing, the Chamber is satisfied by diverse accounts from other guards and prisoners that loud music was played over speakers to disguise the noise of executions.<sup>9459</sup> Evidence pit at a time, until all of the group had been killed); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00225508 (prisoners were tied and blindfolded before being taken to the execution site).

---

<sup>9454</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 36-38 (prisoners walked in front of the pit and their throats were cut with a 60 cm sword – two guards held the prisoner while another slit the throat, and some were beaten with a bamboo stump); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 60-61 (stating that prisoners were hit on the back of the neck with a hoe, then a 40 to 50cm knife would be used to slash their throat, before they would be dropped into the pit); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 38 (VONG Sarun saw people sharpening a curved knife, walking people in a line, and then washing blood from themselves in the pond. The knife was also blood stained. She did not see the people closely enough to know their names); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 58; T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, pp. 22-23 (male and female prisoners killed using hoes or bamboo clubs).

<sup>9455</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 16-17; T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, p. 31; VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, pp. 23-24, ERN (En) 00980299-00980300 (Answer 181, 185).

<sup>9456</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 34.

<sup>9457</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/9597, 31 October 2013, p. 9, ERN (En) 00970074 (Answers 48-49).

<sup>9458</sup> See above, para. 2652 for the Chamber's view of MEAS Sokha's credibility compared to that of the guards.

<sup>9459</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 15, 37-38 (music played through a loudspeaker and they would knock on various instruments to hide the sounds of the killings); T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 40-41 (loudspeakers playing revolutionary songs used to mask the sounds of the killings); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 60 (Khmer Rouge songs played over the loudspeakers to muffle the sound of the killings), 93-94 (there was a loudspeaker in a tree at the gate and music would play when prisoners were taken for execution); T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 51, 53-54 (music would play on a loudspeaker when prisoners were smashed); T. 18 March 2015 (RIEL Son), E1/279.1, p. 37 (he saw loudspeakers hanging from a tree); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 29-30 (heard loud music played from a loudspeaker when people were sent to be killed), 59 (music was played when the prisoners were told that some people were allowed to return home, and VONG Sarun assumed its purpose was to mask the killings), 78; MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00223499 (MEAS Sokha heard the loudspeaker on days when prisoners were killed); SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00433573 (Guard SAING Sim heard a loudspeaker playing while prisoners were being killed); KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5837, 29 October 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00223456 ("they" played differed as to the precise nature and size of the speakers. Guard VAN Soeun testified that loud music was played over “two small speakers” when “they smashed the prisoners”.<sup>9460</sup> He described a small radio kept at Ta An’s office about 40cm wide with two removeable speakers which was used to listen to domestic radio broadcasts.<sup>9461</sup> MEAS Sokha described the playing of theatrical performances about Yeay Lot’s story called “Struggle, Snakebite and Amputated Hands” over the loudspeakers during executions.<sup>9462</sup> VONG Sarun described the volume as so high they could hardly hear the screaming of prisoners.<sup>9463</sup> HUN Kimseng told the OCIJ that loudspeakers were played when prisoners were killed.<sup>9464</sup> A former guard told the OCIJ that a loudspeaker was used when killings took place and “they always used prisoner Sen to play the loudspeaker and dig the pits to bury the bodies of those killed, the bodies of the prisoners”.<sup>9465</sup> According to RIEL Son, who visited Kraing Ta Chan on one occasion, there were loudspeakers hanging on the tree.<sup>9466</sup> KEO Chandara also described loudspeakers being used to play music, revolutionary songs which meant killing people that day.<sup>9467</sup> Music was played the moment it was announced that people were being “released” to go home, and VONG Sarun saw lines of people “walking tiredly” away.<sup>9468</sup> She assumed that the volume was put to the maximum to hide screaming.<sup>9469</sup> She described the sounds as coming from the direction of Ta An’s office.<sup>9470</sup> Whatever loudspeakers when enemies were killed); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00225508 (music was played over a loudspeaker to drown out the prisoner’s screams as they were killed); HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, p. 11, ERN (En) 01168016 (Answer 59, loudspeakers were played when prisoners were killed). The Chamber notes that SAUT Saing and SREI Than claimed that they did not see any loudspeakers at Kraing Ta Chan or hear music during executions. See T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 57, 64-70, 87 (clarifying that there was a tape player, but no loudspeaker); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 57, 64; T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 32 (contradicting evidence given by former guard to investigators); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 39, 52, 61. However, the Chamber finds that the aforementioned evidence of other individuals, including other guards and RIEL Son, clearly establishes that there were loudspeakers at Kraing Ta Chan.

---

<sup>9460</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 54.

<sup>9461</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 94-97 (testifying that he could hear the sound from the speakers if he stood about 15 metres away, but not 20 or 30 metres); T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, p. 7 (radio was kept at the prison chief’s office).

<sup>9462</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, p. 38; MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00223499 (loudspeakers played on the days they killed prisoners).

<sup>9463</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 79-80.

<sup>9464</sup> HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/10753, 15 September 2015, p. 11, ERN (En) 01168016 (Answer 59).

<sup>9465</sup> SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 7, ERN (En) 00433573.

<sup>9466</sup> T. 18 March 2015 (RIEL Son), E1/279.1, p. 37.

<sup>9467</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 41.

<sup>9468</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 37-38.

<sup>9469</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 59-60.

<sup>9470</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 79-81.

the precise technology used, the evidence establishes that loud music was played at Kraing Ta Chan, including when prisoners were being killed.<sup>9471</sup>

2773. After the executions, guards and other prisoners including SORY Sen and Ta Chhin and, on occasion, MEAS Sokha, covered the bodies in the pits.<sup>9472</sup> Initially killings took place within the inner compound, but later killings took place at the outer perimeter fence.<sup>9473</sup> Guard SREI Than alias Duch accepted in interview that he saw “dead bodies piled up on each other” at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9474</sup> Before the Chamber, however he sought to deny seeing piles of dead bodies.<sup>9475</sup> In light of the weight of the evidence, the Chamber does not find his belated denial to be credible.

2774. Guard VAN Soeun accepted that bodies were buried in the compound, recalling in particular an area to the south of the kitchen.<sup>9476</sup> He sought to assign responsibility for the burials to “internal people” working inside the compound.<sup>9477</sup> He explained that Kraing Ta Chan sometimes smelled of human corpses everywhere inside the compound, and the smell came from the pits where corpses were buried.<sup>9478</sup>

<sup>9471</sup> Further evidence corroborates this finding. See UK Him Interview Record, E3/9584, 14 July 2014, p. 19, ERN (En) 01031774 (Answer 83, detained towards the end of the relevant period, UK Him told OCIJ investigators that loudspeakers were played when women were sexually abused and killed); LIM Hach Interview Record, E3/7984, 29 November 2007, p. 6, ERN (En) 00166455 (detained for around six months in 1977, LIM Hach told OCIJ investigators that she recalled loudspeakers being played about once every 10 days); TOEM Hy Interview Record, E3/9605, 6 December 2013, p. 11, ERN (En) 00980272 (TOEM Hy, who worked as a district messenger, described to OCIJ investigators hearing Khmer Rouge songs playing “loudly” within the prison compound); THAONG Seav Interview Record, E3/7902, 29 October 2007, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00223469-00223470 (describing living nearby to Kraing Ta Chan and the playing of loudspeakers).

<sup>9472</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 36-38; T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, p. 23 (referring to Ta Chhen and SORY Sen digging a pit); Although SAUT Saing (SOTR Sain) asserted that the guards did not cover the grave pits and this was the job of “office staff”, former guard SAING Sim acknowledged that he was involved in covering the pits. See SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00433573-00433574 (Ta An assigned various people, including on occasion guard SAING Sim, to cover the dead bodies in the grave pits). The Chamber accordingly finds that some guards did cover the grave pits. For the Chamber’s findings in relation to SORY Sen’s role covering bodies, see above, para. 2678.

<sup>9473</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 36-39 (estimating the change to have happened in 1977).

<sup>9474</sup> SREI Than Interview Record, E3/9597, 31 October 2013, p. 6, ERN (En) 00970071 (Answer 23).

<sup>9475</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 37 (“I never saw the piles of dead bodies”).

<sup>9476</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 33.

<sup>9477</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 44.

<sup>9478</sup> T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 21-22.

12.3.10.2. Executioners

2775. As to the identity of the executioners, the former guards heard by the Chamber asserted that they were assigned to guard the perimeter of the compound during executions while Kraing Ta Chan staff conducted the executions without the participation of the guard unit.<sup>9479</sup> For example, according to the guard VAN Soeun, the six Party members were the executioners, namely An, Penh, Chhen, Moeun, Chheang and Chhoeun.<sup>9480</sup> Conversely, several former prisoners asserted that both the staff and guards carried out the executions under the supervision of Ta An.<sup>9481</sup> Recalling its earlier finding that these former Kraing Ta Chan guards were not credible on issues involving their involvement in and proximity to possible crimes, the Chamber accepts the contrary evidence and finds that both staff and guards perpetrated executions at Kraing Ta Chan.

2776. Alcoholic drinks were consumed by the killers at Kraing Ta Chan and the Chamber finds that they were inebriated at times. Both SORY Sen and MEAS Sokha described alcoholic sugar palm juice being produced for the Kraing Ta Chan staff to drink when executions were carried out.<sup>9482</sup> MEAS Sokha further described staff adding human gallbladders to the alcohol to increase their “bravery”, having dried them off in <sup>9479</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 38, 40-42, 98 (stating that when executions took place, SREI Than and his unit were outside the perimeter of the compound guarding the prison); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 52-53, 73 (explaining that the guards were assigned to guard outside the compound during executions and the staff inside would carry out the executions); SAING Sim Interview Record, E3/5853, 28 November 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00433569 (the guards were assigned to guard outside during executions); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/9597, 31 October 2013, p. 5, ERN (En) 00970070 (Ta An “murdered the prisoners himself” and the guards were not allowed near).

<sup>9480</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 41-44 (repeating that his unit was assigned to guard outside); VAN Soeun Interview Record, E3/9586, 18 December 2013, p. 25, ERN (En) 00980301 (the killings were perpetrated by Chhieng, Penh, Moeun, Ruos and Khorn).

<sup>9481</sup> T. 22 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/250.1, pp. 46-47 (An, Penh, Chhen, Duch, Moeun, Uok, Sim, Saing and Suon were all present at the time of executions, Chit and Sieng the executioner were there and only big Duch and a kitchen worker were absent); T. 4 February 2015 (SAY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 93-95; T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 25-28, 32; T. 25 March 2015 (SAY Sen), E1/282.1, pp. 71-72 (SORY Sen asserted that Ta An patrolled the execution site while soldiers and guards carried out the killings); T. 25 March 2015 (SAY Sen), E1/282.1, pp. 79-80 (generally soldiers were responsible for carrying out the executions); MEAS Sokha Interview Record, E3/5825, 31 October 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00223500 (An, Penh, Cheng, Moeun, Sieng and three guards participated in the executions).

<sup>9482</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 46, 99; T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 62-63 (explaining that “when you drink sour palm juice, you get drunk” and that he was asked to work on the palm trees to extract the juice); T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 50 (explaining that Ta An asked SORY Sen to bring him sour palm juice); T. 25 March 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/282.1, p. 83 (all the staff at Kraing Ta Chan knew that SORY Sen was tasked by Ta An to collect sugar palm juice to produce alcohol, and describing 10 palm trees within the perimeter used to make palm juice wine for the staff).

the sun.<sup>9483</sup> The practice of drying human gallbladders is corroborated by KEO Chandara, who described an incident when three women, one of whom he knew to be called Siet from Ta Prem village in Treang district, were abused with pincers and acid before being killed while another 10 prisoners were ordered to sit and watch the torture. A prisoner's heart and liver were removed using a knife, then the organs were touched to the head of those watching, then they called the guard to make “chha euk” to accompany their wine and to dry the gallbladder in the sun. The same thing happened to all three women.<sup>9484</sup> Guard VAN Soeun confirmed that “sour sugar palm” drinks were produced for the Kraing Ta Chan staff, but claimed that he did not drink it because he was young.<sup>9485</sup> The production of alcohol is further corroborated by evidence given by IEP Duch who told investigators that the Kraing Ta Chan unit had “done wrong” by producing liquor.<sup>9486</sup> Guard SAUT Saing also accepted that palm juice was made, describing it being made at villages to the far north or far west of the compound.<sup>9487</sup> He denied seeing the consumption of livers or gall bladders at the security centre.<sup>9488</sup> The Chamber nonetheless finds that this took place at Kraing Ta Chan.

12.3.11. Number and Identities of Victims

12.3.11.1. Exhumations

2777. There are inconsistencies in the evidence over the number of human remains discovered at Kraing Ta Chan after 1979. In recent years, expert VOEUN Vuthy and his team have examined and documented 1,904 crania and 3,158 other bones.<sup>9489</sup> The remains they examined were those stored in a stupa at the site: the Chamber understands that his team did not undertake new excavations; but he confirmed the existence of numerous mass grave pits.<sup>9490</sup> Other evidence indicated, however, that a much larger

<sup>9483</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 52-53, 66-67 (referring to “white wine”, and sometimes seeing only one or two gall bladders for a big container of wine).

<sup>9484</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 46-47. See also, T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 53-54 (describing children's gallbladders being hung from a tree); SORY Sen DC-Cam Statement, E3/4846, 26 February 2004, p. 7, ERN (En) 00527777.

<sup>9485</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 35-36, 90 (stating that he only saw three guards, Sim, Moeun and Cheng, who would drink this kind of alcohol and not knowing whether gallbladders or livers were added to it).

<sup>9486</sup> IEP Duch Interview Record, E3/4627, 30 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223476.

<sup>9487</sup> T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 63.

<sup>9488</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 31.

<sup>9489</sup> T. 14 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/513.1, pp. 64-66; VOEUN Vuthy's Kraing Ta Chan Report, E3/10769, undated, pp. 16-17, ERN (En) 01362865-01362865.

<sup>9490</sup> T. 14 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/513.1, p. 115 (stating that his team found 11 mass grave pits, excluding pits outside the fence where people were buried in the rice field).

number of remains were excavated after January 1979 compared to the numbers VOEUN Vuthy examined.

2778. KEO Chandara described the excavation of eight pits in the southern and eastern areas of Kraing Ta Chan taking place in around 1979.<sup>9491</sup> He identified various persons involved at that time, and described an initial count of 12,132 human skulls.<sup>9492</sup> Subsequent counts recorded lower numbers. He mentioned a count of 12,013<sup>9493</sup> and then lower figures of 10,045 and around 10,000 skulls.<sup>9494</sup> According to KEO Chandara, the discrepancy between the figure of around 12,000 versus the figures of around 10,000 resulted from relatives coming to Kraing Ta Chan to remove skulls and remains for funeral rites or rituals.<sup>9495</sup> This is corroborated by SORY Sen, who described chaotic scenes after 1979 when people rushed to excavate to find gold teeth. He recalled more than 10,000 skulls found at that time, but the precise source of his knowledge is not clear to the Chamber.<sup>9496</sup> THAONG Saev told OCIJ investigators that after 1979 she saw five or six rectangular pits covered only with banana leaves about 100 metres west of the compound, and covered pits south of the compound which she saw people dig up in 1980.<sup>9497</sup> VOEUN Vuthy's team also interviewed people who claimed to have been involved in the original exhumations at Kraing Ta Chan, who relayed to him a figure of 10,042 crania exhumed in around 1980.<sup>9498</sup> VOEUN Vuthy

<sup>9491</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 62-63 (discussing eight pits); T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, pp. 25-29 (stating that one of the first pits he exhumed was one he had dug when a prisoner, in the eastern part of the compound measuring four metres squared and three metres deep; further explaining the biggest pit he exhumed was four metres squared and the smallest was two metres squared).

<sup>9492</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 63-64 (referring to 12,132 "skulls"), 66 (referring to 12,132 skulls in eight pits then stored in a wooden house funded by Oxfam and identifying Venerable Khme Sok, the chief monk of Tram Kak district, as participating in the counting of skulls), 81 (repeating that 12,132 skulls were exhumed initially).

<sup>9493</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 63, 66 (attributing the difference to skulls taken away by dogs).

<sup>9494</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, pp. 25-28, 66, 83 (more than 10,000 skulls recovered, then mentioning the figure of 10,013 when he counted the skulls with the chief monk of Tram Kak district); KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5837, 29 October 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00223457 (mentioning 10,045 skulls being counted from eight pits, but many pits were not dug up, then after a stupa was built the count gave a figure of 10,011).

<sup>9495</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 66 (describing skulls taken away), 81-82 (describing a few skulls disappearing each day, taken away for funeral rites).

<sup>9496</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 65-66.

<sup>9497</sup> THAONG Saev Interview Record, E3/7902, 29 October 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223470.

<sup>9498</sup> T. 14 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/513.1, pp. 67-69 (identifying villagers including Yin Soeun or Yin Thoeun, Ta Nom Rin, Rim Kong, Roern Kin, "six other individuals" and a venerable monk who wished to remain anonymous); T. 10 January 2017 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/518.1, p. 35; VOEUN Vuthy's Kraing Ta Chan Report, E3/10769, p. 3, ERN (En) 01362851.

also asserted that more than 17,000 people were killed at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9499</sup> This number appears to have come from SORY Sen, to whom VOEUN Vuthy spoke in the course of his work.<sup>9500</sup> The Chamber is unable to identify any precise basis for this assertion. It is therefore rejected.

2779. Figures of approximately 10,000 are also found in reports produced after 1979. Research in 1984 by the “Crime Research Commission of the Ministry of Propaganda and Culture” purported to document 10,001 persons killed at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9501</sup> However, the basis for this figure is unexplained. A 1996 report by the “Culture and Fine Arts Office” purported to record “more than 10,045 people” from Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9502</sup> This figure matches one of the figures mentioned by KEO Chandara as emanating from the post-1979 counting process. On a careful reading, however, this 1996 report appears to attribute the figure of 10,045 to a “temporary statistics list” which is said to have since disappeared; and it distinguishes the figure of 10,045 from the exhumation of bones of “more than 3,000 persons”.<sup>9503</sup> A 1997 DC-CAM project estimated 10,043 victims from Kraing Ta Chan – a figure said to be based on the exhumation of 50-60 pits, plus an unspecified number based on a further 11 pits. This information was provided by a person called MEU Chren, then 63 years old, who DC-CAM identified as having excavated pits at Kraing Ta Chan between 1979 and 1982.<sup>9504</sup> However, the details of these excavations are unexplained.

2780. The Chamber finds that none of the 1984, 1996 or 1997 reports provide sufficient support for the estimates of more than 10,000 human remains at Kraing Ta

<sup>9499</sup> T. 10 January 2017 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/518.1, pp. 31-32; VOEUN Vuthy’s Kraing Ta Chan Report, E3/10769, p. 3, ERN (En) 01362851 (attributing the figure of 17,000 to “the Khmer Rouge Tribunal” without further explanation or citation).

<sup>9500</sup> See SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, pp. 13-14, ERN (En) 00225512-00225513 (recalling state authorities and journalists counting more than 17,000 skulls).

<sup>9501</sup> Interview Record, E3/7825, 19 October 1989, p. 2, ERN (En) 00434853 (“statistics that we researched after the 7 January 1979 victory day sufficiently document that 10,001 persons were here, and according to the documents, all types of prisoners were killed at this site.”).

<sup>9502</sup> History of Kraing Ta Chan, E3/2062, 5 March 1996, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00301369-00301370.

<sup>9503</sup> History of Kraing Ta Chan, E3/2062, 5 March 1996, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00301369-00301370.

<sup>9504</sup> DC-CAM Report: “Mapping the Killing Fields of Cambodia: Takeo”, E3/2063, 4 January 1997, pp. 1, ERN (En) 00095660 (estimate of victims at “Kraing Tachan” is 10,043 from 50-60 pits), 5, ERN (En) 00095664 (stating that he participated in excavating remains, describing pits 20 metres wide and 30 metres long, and a great number of small pits). EA Meng-Try gave a figure of 10,045 which he attributed to the DC-CAM mapping survey. See Book by EA M-T: The Chain of Terror: The Khmer Rouge Southwest Zone Security System, E3/2120, 2005, pp. 62, ERN (En) 00416380, 88, ERN (En) 00416406 (endnote 223). See also, Execution of Rogatory Letter, E3/8350, 5 November 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00163570 (reporting that MEU Chren is deceased).

Chan. The report with the most solid basis for such a figure is the 1997 DC-Cam report, but it does not provide sufficient information on the excavation process it describes. A clear risk remains that figures of more than 10,000 have simply been repeated, without analysis or proper attribution. Indeed, the 1996 report suggests that the figure of 10,045 came from a list which has since disappeared, rather than a physical analysis of human remains.

2781. Although KEO Chandara explained some of the details of the counts after 1979, and the figure of more than 10,000 is corroborated by local people interviewed by VOEUN Vuthy, the Chamber finds that the method of counting and the reasons behind any corroboration were insufficiently explored. No documentary or other records such as photographs were produced to demonstrate the process involved. While the Chamber accepts that remains went missing for various reasons, the size of the discrepancy between figures of more than 10,000 remains versus the numbers examined by VOEUN Vuthy's team, and the mention of 3,000 remains in the 1996 report, has not been explained on the evidence. In the circumstances, the Chamber therefore takes VOEUN Vuthy's figure of 1,904 crania and 3,158 other bones as the minimum figure for the number of human remains at Kraing Ta Chan.

2782. Some evidence suggested that areas at Kraing Ta Chan containing human remains may not have been excavated. The site identification report states that it appears that most, if not all, of the burial sites at Kraing Ta Chan appear to have been disturbed.<sup>9505</sup> SORY Sen identified locations in the west area of Kraing Ta Chan which remain untouched.<sup>9506</sup> VOEUN Vuthy referred to six un-excavated grave pits.<sup>9507</sup> On the evidence before the Chamber, it appears that the excavated areas focused on the locations to the southern and eastern areas of Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9508</sup>

<sup>9505</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/5828, 17 March 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00363340.

<sup>9506</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, p. 33.

<sup>9507</sup> T. 14 December 2016 (VOEUN Vuthy), E1/513.1, pp. 67-69 (referring to six remaining un-excavated grave pits), 114-116 (referring to finding 11 mass grave pits).

<sup>9508</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 63 (pits on the southern part of the fence and in the eastern area in the paddy field); T. 4 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/256.1, p. 25 (sizes of the pits varied, the largest being approximately four by four metres); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 83-85 (there were pits along the fence and coconut trees were planted there); T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, pp. 79-80 (there were many pits of varying sizes, the smaller pits contained only two or three bodies); T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 21-22 (pits for burying bodies in the inner compound); Annex D: Plan of Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre compiled from information provided by witness SORY Sen, E3/5830, 17 March 2009, p. 1, ERN (En) 00363333 (indicating the location of grave pits on the eastern and southern sides of the inner compound).

2783. It is not clear, however, whether all the remains which were undoubtedly excavated from Kraing Ta Chan related to killings and deaths between 1975 to 1979. As the Chamber found above, Kraing Ta Chan was in operation from 1973. Guard SAUT Saing sought to attribute rows of graves to the south of the compound to Chhen's period as chief of Kraing Ta Chan, meaning essentially but not exclusively to the period prior to 17 April 1975.<sup>9509</sup> The Chamber rejects his suggestion that all of those graves related to the earlier period. Even his fellow guard and cousin VAN Soeun accepted that bodies were buried in the main compound, to the south of the kitchen, during their time at Kraing Ta Chan, i.e. after 17 April 1975 under the leadership of Ta An.<sup>9510</sup> Prisoners VONG Sarun and SORY Sen both described pits being filled within the first perimeter fence after 1975, with prisoners later killed outside the first perimeter fence.<sup>9511</sup> The Chamber finds, however, that some unquantified portion of the human remains discovered at Kraing Ta Chan relate to the period before 1975.

2784. The NUON Chea Defence offers another explanation for the human remains, suggesting that Kraing Ta Chan was a grave site from long before 1975.<sup>9512</sup> They rely upon a suggestion in the 1985 report that "In the previous regime, Kraing Ta Chan had been a gravesite"; and a suggestion in the 1996 report that "Kraing Ta Chan used to be a completely quiet forest and a stupa to preserve the remains of the ancestor of the people in that base".<sup>9513</sup> The Chamber also notes that EK Hoeun, who worked at the Tram Kak District Office, questioned the origin of the remains at Kraing Ta Chan. He suggested that it had been a burial site before 1970. His evidence was that Kraing Ta Chan was close to the "forest of child ghosts" and children who died of measles before 1970 were buried to the east of Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9514</sup> He further suggested that many people were killed in this area in 1979 when the Vietnamese forces invaded.<sup>9515</sup>

<sup>9509</sup> T. 25 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/282.1, p. 43.

<sup>9510</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 33; T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 21-22 (pits for burying bodies in the inner compound).

<sup>9511</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 47; T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 84-85 (SORY Sen gave evidence that by 1977, when mass killings took place, there were too many burial sites within the first perimeter of the compound and so additional pits were dug beyond the second perimeter). See also, SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5834, 29 December 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00434691 (prisoners were executed "both inside and outside the prison").

<sup>9512</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 625 referencing 1985 Report, E3/5838, p. 1, ERN (En) 00713113 and 1996 Report, E3/2062, 3 May 1996, p. 1, ERN (En) 00301363.

<sup>9513</sup> 1985 Report, E3/5838, p. 1, ERN (En) 00713113; 1996 Report, E3/2062, 3 May 1996, p. 1, ERN (En) 00301363.

<sup>9514</sup> T. 7 May 2015 (EK Hoeun), E1/298.1, p. 76, 110; T. 8 May 2015 (EK Hoeun), E1/299.1, p. 9; EK Hoeun Interview Record, E3/9582, 19 March 2014, p. 5, ERN (En) 00983570.

<sup>9515</sup> T. 7 May 2015 (EK Hoeun), E1/298.1, pp. 110-111.

Contrary to EK Hoeun's evidence and NUON Chea's submissions, KEO Chandara denied that Kraing Ta Chan was a gravesite before 1975.<sup>9516</sup> There is evidence of children's remains being found at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9517</sup>

2785. The Chamber is not persuaded that imprecise references to previous graves in the vicinity of Kraing Ta Chan have any significant bearing on the Chamber's findings. The evidence of killings, mass graves and pits being filled during the relevant period, and then excavated shortly after 7 January 1979, is clear. While the possibility exists that there may be exceptions, the Chamber finds this to be a marginal possibility. The evidence of killings, burials, and excavations involving former prisoners like KEO Chandara and SORY Sen satisfies the Chamber that the remains examined by VOEUN Vuthy's team are essentially of persons who were killed or died at Kraing Ta Chan. While an unquantifiable portion of these remains relates to the period before 17 April 1975, the Chamber finds that the only reasonable inference which can be drawn from the totality of the evidence of executions and burials after that date is that most of these remains post-date 17 April 1975.

12.3.11.2. Findings on the Co-Prosecutors' analysis

2786. The Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief includes an analysis of some of the documentary evidence relevant to Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9518</sup> They produced one prisoner list of 646 persons (at Annex G.1)<sup>9519</sup> and an additional prisoner list of 202 persons (at Annex G.3).<sup>9520</sup> The list of 646 persons is based on 11 Tram Kak District Records: seven notebooks<sup>9521</sup> and four other documents.<sup>9522</sup> The list of 202 persons is based on their analysis of another notebook E3/4083, the format of which the Chamber found to differ from the other seven notebooks.<sup>9523</sup> These documents and the Co-Prosecutors' analyses include varying degrees of identifying information for the persons mentioned,

<sup>9516</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 85.

<sup>9517</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 82 (describing finding the skulls of children the size of a ladle exhumed from the southern and eastern pits).

<sup>9518</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, paras 790-794.

<sup>9519</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, Annex G.1.

<sup>9520</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, Annex G.3.

<sup>9521</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, para. 790 (fn. 3178, identifying notebooks E3/2107, E3/2427, E3/4092, E3/4095, E3/4122, E3/5827 and E3/5860). See also, Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 841.

<sup>9522</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, para. 790 (fn. 3178, identifying Tram Kak District Records E3/2046, E3/4145, E3/4164 and E3/8407).

<sup>9523</sup> Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 841; Section 10.1.4.2.4.3: Notebook E3/4083 (D00213).

such as whether they were a Base or New Person, their former ranks in the LON Nol regime if applicable, ethnicity, and the alleged offence(s) if identified.<sup>9524</sup>

2787. The Co-Prosecutors deployed their list of 646 persons (Annex G.1) and the data therein to produce further charts (in Annex G.2) presenting the prisoners' backgrounds. The Co-Prosecutors submit that the "overwhelming majority" (75.9 per cent) of people arrested and imprisoned at Kraing Ta Chan were New People.<sup>9525</sup> They further submit that this data demonstrates that former Khmer Republic soldiers and officials were targeted together with their families because almost 50 per cent of those persons in their analysis are recorded as having had roles in LON Nol regime.<sup>9526</sup> No other Party made submissions on the Co-Prosecutors' Kraing Ta Chan lists.<sup>9527</sup>

2788. The Chamber recalls its finding that seven of the notebooks comprise mostly short statements or notes relating to more than 500 individuals.<sup>9528</sup> Some of the information contained in these entries may have emerged from interrogations and may therefore be tainted by torture. The Chamber also identified instances whereby information provided by a commune to Kraing Ta Chan was repeated in notebook entries.<sup>9529</sup> It is therefore also possible that the entries in the notebooks mix information provided to Kraing Ta Chan with information obtained from prisoners within Kraing Ta Chan. In either case, consistent with its findings on the use of torture tainted evidence, the Chamber has regard to the basic biographical information in these notebooks and lists.

2789. The Chamber identified above some errors in the Co-Prosecutors' analyses.<sup>9530</sup> In addition, the Chamber cannot exclude the possibility of duplication within and/or between the Co-Prosecutors' lists, for example when the underlying documents contain more than one entry related to the same person.<sup>9531</sup> The Chamber's analysis of the

<sup>9524</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, paras 790-794 (see Annex G.2 in particular).

<sup>9525</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, para. 791 and Annex G.2, Figure 1.1.

<sup>9526</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, para. 793 and Annex G.2, Figure 1.5.

<sup>9527</sup> For the Chamber's findings on submissions from the NUON Chea Defence and KHIEU Samphan Defence on the authenticity of the underlying documents used by the Co-Prosecutors to produce their lists, see Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records.

<sup>9528</sup> Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 841.

<sup>9529</sup> Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, paras 857, 859, 864-867.

<sup>9530</sup> For the Chamber's findings in relation to Tram Kak District Record, E3/4145, see Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 882.

<sup>9531</sup> See e.g., VONG Sarun (VONG Sarun) appears in Annex G.1 at entries 132 (based on E3/4164) and 577 (based on E3/5827); LAY Kiek appears in Annex G.1 at entries 77 (based on E3/2056) and 305 (based on notebook E3/4092) and again in Annex G.3 at entry 51 (based on notebook E3/4083); and authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records also identified instances of corroboration between documents. This highlights the possibility of double-counting. On the other hand, the Co-Prosecutors' analysis is incomplete because the Tram Kak District Records include additional sources: messages from communes to Kraing Ta Chan;<sup>9532</sup> or from Kraing Ta Chan to the district level,<sup>9533</sup> which indicate that additional persons specified therein were already detained at, or were about to be sent to, Kraing Ta Chan.

2790. Even taking these imperfections into account, however, the Chamber is satisfied that the Co-Prosecutors' analyses serve to identify information and trends in the underlying documents which they analysed, in particular the prevalence of persons identified as New People, former Khmer Republic officials and their family members. The Chamber therefore considers the Co-Prosecutors' analyses together with the Tram Kak District Records and the evidence from witnesses and Civil Parties.

12.3.11.3. New People and former Khmer Republic officials

2791. The population of Kraing Ta Chan clearly increased after the liberation of Phnom Penh on 17 April 1975, with New People and former Khmer Republic soldiers prominent among this influx.<sup>9534</sup> For example, KEO Chandara described the arrival of a group of former students from Phnom Penh, who told him that they had been sent to

---

VEN Ham appears in Annex G.1 at entries 133 (based on E3/4164) and 341 (based on notebook E3/4092). In other instances, the Co-Prosecutors expressly identified and eliminated potential duplication. For example, UCH Han appears once in Annex G.1 at entry 601 (based on E3/4164 and E3/4145); SOK Nam appears once in Annex G.1 at entry 383; KIM An Huor appears once at entry 113 (based on notebooks E3/5860 and E3/5827); and SUON Phy appears once in Annex G.1 at entry 404 (based on E3/4164 and notebook E3/4092).

<sup>9532</sup> See e.g., Tram Kak District Record, E3/2051, 7 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00276575 (report to An requesting to send AM Seu, a 2nd Lieutenant, for re-education, confirming that "two district unit members and two subdistrict militiamen are sending in this prisoner"); Tram Kak District Record, E3/4127, 20 January 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00362227 (report that three persons had been planning to join the "Yvon" so were sent to An); Tram Kak District Record, E3/2450, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00322161 (confirm to An that two lieutenants and one major lieutenant were brought to An only because the Party decided they had "high ranks").

<sup>9533</sup> See e.g., Tram Kak District Record, E3/2434, 20 August 1977, p. 6, ERN (En) 00276603 (report on confession of MARK Y); Tram Kak District Record, E3/4101, August 1977, p. 6, ERN (En) 00322129 (report on SUM Seang and Sum Seng from Angk Ta Saom commune, who had military rank of corporal and chief-corporal respectively); Tram Kak District Record, E3/4101, September 1977, p. 5, ERN (En) 00322128 (report on YEM Pao).

<sup>9534</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 76 (the number of prisoners increased after the liberation of Phnom Penh, with former LON Nol soldiers and 17 April People brought to Kraing Ta Chan); PECH Chim Interview Record, E3/4626, 27 August 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00380134; PECH Chim Interview Record, E3/9587, 19 June 2014, p. 33, ERN (En) 01000695 (Answer 240, referring to demands from Kraing Ta Chan to the district for more rice).

Kraing Ta Chan via Wat Champa.<sup>9535</sup> He also recalled the death of former LON Nol officials at Kraing Ta Chan, including Prosecutor Suon from the Takeo provincial court, and Sao, the chief of Samraong commune.<sup>9536</sup>

2792. SORY Sen provided a more general estimate that “most of the prisoners were the New People called 17 April People”.<sup>9537</sup> This was corroborated by IEP Duch, who told investigators that “[p]robably the majority [of Kraing Ta Chan prisoners] were the brothers and sisters who had been evacuated from the cities, those called the 17 April group”.<sup>9538</sup> Other witnesses recalled specific instances of groups of New People at Kraing Ta Chan. VONG Sarun described how, when she was allowed to go outside the detention building, she “noticed that other prisoners in the other buildings were in fact new peasants”.<sup>9539</sup> UK Him, a New Person, described being brought to Kraing Ta Chan in 1978 with a group of other New People, and described the composition of Kraing Ta Chan as including New People “who were all arrested”.<sup>9540</sup> The Chamber finds this evidence to be consistent with the Co-Prosecutors’ analyses.

2793. SORY Sen also suggested, however, that in 1977 the distinction was not so clear in that “anyone who commit any mistake were sent to Kraing Ta Chan”.<sup>9541</sup> The guard VAN Soeun appeared to deny that any distinction was drawn between categories of prisoner. According to him, the position was that if anyone committed any wrongdoing then the saying was “Your hair is on your head”, which the Chamber understands to mean that a person had to face the consequences of their conduct.<sup>9542</sup> People who stole <sup>9535</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 42-43 (explaining that he learned this from asking them questions and they told him that they were sent to Champa Pagoda then sent to Kraing Ta Chan). For the Chamber’s findings on events at Champa Pagoda in the aftermath of evacuations, see Section 10.1.6.2: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Events at Champa Pagoda.

<sup>9536</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, p. 42.

<sup>9537</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 63; 74-77 (17 April People were detained on suspicion of being implicated with the former regime or being CIA spies); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 10, ERN (En) 00225509 (in 1975 the majority of prisoners were 17 April People, who were killed).

<sup>9538</sup> IEP Duch Interview Record, E3/4627, 30 October 2007, ERN (En) 00223476. See also, SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/5864, 28 November 2007, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223550 (prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan included 17 April People); KEO Chandara Interview Record, E3/5837, 29 October 2007, p. 8, ERN (En) 00223457 (prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan included 17 April People).

<sup>9539</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 29.

<sup>9540</sup> UK Him Interview Record, E3/9584, 14 July 2014, pp. 13-14, ERN (En) 01031768-01031769 (Answers 49-50).

<sup>9541</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 63.

<sup>9542</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 21.

or broke or lost cooking utilities were considered to be enemies, irrespective of whether they were New People or Base People.<sup>9543</sup>

2794. The Chamber finds that perceived wrongdoing and opposition to the Party's program was a factor in why persons were sent to Kraing Ta Chan. Base People were not immune in this regard, and in this context the Chamber recalls that MEAS Sokha and his family were Base People, originally from Srae Kruo village in Cheang Tong commune.<sup>9544</sup> The Chamber is satisfied, however, that the distinction between New People and Base People persisted: the group to which persons belonged continued to be identified as a factor in their being sent to Kraing Ta Chan. In this context, the Chamber notes that the "Brief Biographies of Prisoners at Tram Kak District Education Office" contains a column categorising prisoners as "Base/17 April People".<sup>9545</sup> This list identifies 28 persons who mostly arrived at Kraing Ta Chan in mid-1978, with 20 persons recorded as being 17 April People, including the five widows from Trapeang Thom North commune to whom the Chamber has already referred.<sup>9546</sup> The Chamber finds the entries for THAI Phanna and PAN Naicha on this list to be revealing: they are identified as 17 April People with the annotation added that they had "contradicted the line by refusing to work" and also said "[i]t is better to die than to live".<sup>9547</sup> A report from Trapeang Thom South commune to Kraing Ta Chan dated 13 December [1977] similarly describes three persons to be sent and records that they are "new people" or fall "into the category of the new people-17 April people". The note concludes: "With respect in the spirit of destroying the enemy".<sup>9548</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that staff at Kraing Ta Chan were able to identify prisoners as New People, and this origin was a decisive factor in determining their fate.

2795. Persons suspected of being former Khmer Republic soldiers or officials were taken to Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9549</sup> The documentary evidence establishes a notable period of

<sup>9543</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 45.

<sup>9544</sup> T. 8 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/247.1, p. 51 (confirming that they had never moved anywhere else).

<sup>9545</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4164, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00973147.

<sup>9546</sup> Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, paras 846-847, 890.

<sup>9547</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4164, undated, p. 8, ERN (En) 00973154. See also, Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 867.

<sup>9548</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4125, 13 December [no year], pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00364289-00364290.

<sup>9549</sup> T. 2 February 2015 (KEO Chandara), E1/255.1, pp. 36-37 (KEO Chandara saw former LON Nol soldiers he knew from a nearby village detained at Kraing Ta Chan); T. 6 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/258.1, p. 17 (former LON Nol officer, Ta Sokreach Pann, was detained and eventually killed at Kraing

activity in Tram Kak district in April and May 1977, with persons often sent to Kraing Ta Chan based on their prior ranks alone without reference to their having committed any particular offence. A report dated 11 April [1977] from Popel commune to Tram Kak district states that: “[f]or those people who hold a ranking position, we will send them out [to you] consecutively and for soldiers and some teachers who attempted to destroy [...] our revolution, could you please give us advice what to do or let us decide at some bases – so please give us your advice”.<sup>9550</sup> A list of 11 persons from Nhaeng Nhang commune on 17 April identifies former first and second Lieutenants, and a former major called MEAS Duch.<sup>9551</sup> There is an entry for MEAS Duch, a former major from Nhaeng Nhang commune, in notebook E3/5860.<sup>9552</sup> A report from the District Military location K-105 at Angk Ta Saom on 18 April 1977 identified “traitor” MEAS Phoeun, a former second Lieutenant, arrested in nearby Leay Bour commune.<sup>9553</sup> He was taken to Kraing Ta Chan and SREI Than alias Duch identified him as his cousin.<sup>9554</sup>

2796. A report from Angk Ta Saom commune provided confirmation on those with ranks of first or second lieutenant, stating that the author was going to contact the District Military “in order to take them out this evening right away”.<sup>9555</sup> Notebook E3/4083 includes a list of 36 people from Sre Ronoung commune, each of whom is identified according to their position and rank.<sup>9556</sup> A report from Ta Phem commune dated 28 April 1977 referred to having “examined and purged the enemies who held ranks after having received the instructions of the Party”. The report goes on to identify that there are “still six more with officer and official ranks” listed as first or second lieutenants and requests Angkar’s decision.<sup>9557</sup> A report from Cheang Tong commune Ta Chan); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, pp. 31-34 (prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan included former soldiers and officials of the LON Nol regime, as well as people with connections to former LON Nol officials); Tram Kak District Record, E3/4098, 4 August 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 00322114 (report from An noting that a prisoner called LAY Thi held the rank of sergeant).

---

<sup>9550</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4629, 11 April [1977], p. 4, ERN (En) 00322133. The Chamber is satisfied that this document is from 1977 because of the discussion of LIM Song in the same document, for whom there are other documents at around the same time. See e.g., Tram Kak District Record, E3/4629, 9 April 1977, ERN (En) 00322130.

<sup>9551</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2432, 17 April [1977], p. 1, ERN (En) 00366712.

<sup>9552</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5860, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 01064165.

<sup>9553</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/5854, 18 April 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00322134.

<sup>9554</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 32-34 (identifying MEAS Phoeun as his cousin when shown Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5827, undated, p. 7, ERN (En) 00866430).

<sup>9555</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2435, 26 April 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00322141.

<sup>9556</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4083, 20 and 27 April 1977, pp. 24-26, 28-30, ERN (En) 00323966-00323968; 00323970-00323972.

<sup>9557</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2048, 28 April 1977, p. 4, ERN (En) 01454947.

dated 30 April 1977 records having “received successive instructions from Angkar on vigilance against enemies and purges of ranking enemy soldiers”, pursuant to which two people had been identified including a former second Lieutenant named CHHIT Pil and a former worker in the Ministry of Community and Development named KHIEU Sokha. The report concludes with a “request to submit these people to the Police”.<sup>9558</sup> KHOEM Boeun, the former Secretary of Cheang Tong commune, confirmed that she received successive instructions from the district to clean up enemy soldiers, in particular “high-ranking” soldiers.<sup>9559</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that from April 1977 in particular, significant numbers of these persons were being sent to Kraing Ta Chan.

2797. A report dated 2 May 1977 from Popel commune to “District Angkar” records that 106 military families (393 people) had been “smashed by Angkar”.<sup>9560</sup> While it is unclear whether all 393 people were sent to Kraing Ta Chan, the Chamber finds that this corroborates the general approach in Tram Kak district in general, and Kraing Ta Chan in particular, around that point in time. A report from Kus commune dated approximately 4 May 1977 records that “those with ranks” had been arrested and sent to the police, including a first and second Lieutenant.<sup>9561</sup> A report from Khporp Trabaek commune dated 6 May 1977 records four persons with “former ranks and positions” living in the commune base.<sup>9562</sup> Two of these persons are further identified in a report from Khporp Trabaek commune dated 8 May 1977, which explains that they had complained about the lack of food.<sup>9563</sup> Further documentary evidence demonstrates that at least two of these persons ended up at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9564</sup>

2798. The Chamber has already discussed a partial list of persons numbered 22 to 35 dated 22 May 1977.<sup>9565</sup> This list identifies various persons as having been soldiers, with their ranks indicated, and the following annotation: “A total of 37 people, both young

<sup>9558</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2048, 30 April 1977, p. 2, ERN (En) 01454945; Tram Kak District Record, E3/4141, 30 April 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00711361.

<sup>9559</sup> T. 4 May 2015 (KHOEM Boeun), E1/296.1, pp. 47-48.

<sup>9560</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2048, 8 May 1977, p. 3, ERN (En) 01454946.

<sup>9561</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2441, p. 2, ERN (En) 00369464 (describing arrests from 4 May 1977).

<sup>9562</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2050, 6 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00276576 (identifying KONG Baurin, HANG Oeun, KIET Kham, MOM Ren).

<sup>9563</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4108, 8 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00726245 (recording HANG Oeun and MOM Ven).

<sup>9564</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5860, undated, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 01064173-001064174 (entries for KEAT Kham and KUNG Moran from Khpob Trabaek commune).

<sup>9565</sup> Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, para. 884.

and old, whose names contained in this list, have been purged”.<sup>9566</sup> This list includes an entry at number 22 for KEAT Kham, a first lieutenant, from Chi Khmar commune in Treang district.<sup>9567</sup> There is a corresponding biographical information for KEAT Kham in notebook E3/5860.<sup>9568</sup> Similarly, this list includes an entry at number 23 for KUNG Boran, a second lieutenant, from Puok district in Siem Reap province.<sup>9569</sup> There is a corresponding biographical information for “KUNG Boran” in notebook E3/5860.<sup>9570</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the annotation on this list refers to former Khmer Republic soldiers being killed at Kraing Ta Chan.

2799. VONG Sarun, who the Chamber notes was detained after May 1977, described overhearing the interrogation of a New Person from Phnom Penh, who was being asked whether they held the rank of captain in the army whereas the person denied having held any rank. VONG Sarun heard the sound of whipping and the person was between “almost to his death” before he confessed in order to have the beating stopped.<sup>9571</sup>

2800. The documentary evidence further establishes that persons identified as former Khmer Republic officials remained still in jeopardy after the notable period of activity in April and May 1977.<sup>9572</sup> A report from Kraing Ta Chan to the Party dated 25 August 1977 reported on the confessions of three former LON Nol soldiers who were “against the cooperative” and “not happy with labour work”. The report includes an annotation dated 27 August 1977 from District Secretary Kit, stating: “The Party decided to have the five traitors smashed”.<sup>9573</sup> A report from Kus commune dated 9 September 1977 identified seven further former LON Nol soldiers to be sent to the police, with the further annotation addressed to Ta An that he should arrest this group.<sup>9574</sup> An undated “letter of confirmation” from Nhaeng Nhang commune to Ta An records three persons

<sup>9566</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4145, 22 May 1977, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 00762845-00762846.

<sup>9567</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4145, 22 May 1977, p. 9, ERN (En) 00762845.

<sup>9568</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5860, undated, p. 9, ERN (En) 01064173 (there is a minor discrepancy over the age, 31 or 33, but the consistency of the other information satisfies the Chamber that this is the same person).

<sup>9569</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4145, 22 May 1977, p. 9, ERN (En) 00762845.

<sup>9570</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5860, p. 10, undated, ERN (En) 01064174.

<sup>9571</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, p. 46.

<sup>9572</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4101, August 1977, p. 6, ERN (En) 00322129 (report from Kraing Ta Chan to the Party that prisoners included former LON Nol officials); Tram Kak District Record, E3/4166, 25 August 1977, p. 2, ERN (En) 00694356 (report from An at Education Office 105, noting that three prisoners were ranking officers).

<sup>9573</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4166, 25 August 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00694355-00694356. See also, Section 10.1.4: Authenticity of the Tram Kak District Records, fn. 2506.

<sup>9574</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2441, 9 September 1977, pp. 18-19, ERN (En) 00369480-00369481.

been “brought over” because it had been “decided by the Party” they should be arrested because of their “(high) ranking”. The three individuals are identified as two first lieutenants and one second lieutenant.<sup>9575</sup>

2801. The Chamber finds that the categorisation and background of a prisoner influenced the length of time they survived at Kraing Ta Chan. SORY Sen’s evidence was that different sorts of prisoners were kept for different length of time: Base People were kept for longer, whereas 17 April People, or former soldiers would be kept no longer than one week.<sup>9576</sup> For “high ranking” officials, they were kept outside and marched in line to the killing site, without being brought into the detention building.<sup>9577</sup> As noted, this finds corroboration in MEAS Sokha’s evidence – some surviving members of his family, who were Base People, were released from Kraing Ta Chan in 1978. Men, women and children were all killed at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9578</sup> Family links were a basis for arrest and execution at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9579</sup>

12.3.11.4. Vietnamese and Khmer Krom

2802. SORY Sen’s evidence before the Chamber was that many individuals at Kraing Ta Chan did not speak Khmer well and were labelled “Yuon” or Khmer Krom and executed.<sup>9580</sup> In 2017, after his appearance before the Chamber, he was interviewed by

<sup>9575</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2450, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00322161 (letter from Nhang Nhang commune discussing KEO Chun, SAMRET Neun and LONG Phein and stating that they were arrested “because they were (high) ranking”).

<sup>9576</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 97 (continuing that for 17 April prisoners “they kept some of them a bit longer but later they were also executed”).

<sup>9577</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, p. 98.

<sup>9578</sup> T. 21 January 2015 (MEAS Sokha), E1/249.1, pp. 9-10 (stating that there were small children and babies including some from MEAS Sokha’s own family); T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 56-57 (explaining that there were female prisoners and children in the prison); T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, p. 45 (testifying that most of the prisoners were men, but there were females and children detained as well); T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 12 (stating that she was imprisoned with her baby), 34 (describing the death of a fellow detainee and his child at Kraing Ta Chan); T. 24 March 2015 (SAUT Saing), E1/281.1, p. 13 (stating that the babies and children at Kraing Ta Chan lived with their parents); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/5214, 1 September 2008, p. 12, ERN (En) 00225511 (the prisoners included males, females and “small children”); SAUT Saing Interview Record, E3/5864, 28 November 2007, p. 5, ERN (En) 00223551 (male and female prisoners were mixed together).

<sup>9579</sup> T. 4 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/256.1, pp. 55-56 (stating as follows: “I believed my detention was due to my father being District Chief during the Sihanouk regime”); T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 7 (stating as follows: “one prisoner said he was accused of being connected with a former regime because his sibling or relative have a rank of a major or a captain”), 28-29 (manifesting that based on his observation, the prisoners that were alleged to have a connection with the former Lon Nol regime, would be tortured”).

<sup>9580</sup> T. 5 February 2015 (SORY Sen), E1/257.1, pp. 21-24 (in 1977 there were many individuals detained at Kraing Ta Chan who did not speak Khmer well were labelled “Yuon” or Khmer Krom and executed, referring to 1977 when the “Yuon” arrived, some were put there for a short while and some were taken OCIJ investigators and clarified that there were Vietnamese in Kraing Ta Chan who could not speak Khmer.<sup>9581</sup> He also referred to Khmer Krom who, he said, were referred to as the Vietnamese at the time although they spoke Khmer “with dialects”.<sup>9582</sup> He suggested that, in 1977 two Vietnamese were taken to be killed immediately on arrival at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9583</sup> He also mentioned Khmer Krom arrested from Kirivong.<sup>9584</sup> HUN Kimseng alias Yeay Nha gave somewhat similar evidence to investigators, in that she recalled there being “two Yuon” at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9585</sup> In contrast, VAN Soeun testified that he never saw Vietnamese at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9586</sup> YIN Teng, who lived close to Kraing Ta Chan, described Khmer Krom taken to Kraing Ta Chan to be killed.<sup>9587</sup> This evidence suggests that there were both Vietnamese and a larger number of Khmer Krom – who were labelled as Vietnamese – at Kraing Ta Chan.

2803. The documentary evidence sheds more light on this issue. In particular, it reveals there to have been a concerted effort to track and screen Khmer Krom persons in Tram Kak district in April 1977. A report from Angk Ta Saom commune to “District Angkar” dated 26 April 1977 sought clarification concerning “the registration in the list of Kampuchea Krom people”. Angk Ta Saom commune asked the district level whether to distinguish (i) Cambodian husbands with Vietnamese wives; from (ii) Vietnamese husbands with Cambodian wives. It explained, now that the registration had taken place, people had started to request to leave Cambodia for Vietnam. The message concludes: “If all of them were Yuon (Vietnamese), we would send on to the Angkar (Organization) [Incomprehensible]. If it was like this, what would the Angkar decide then?”<sup>9588</sup> Although this is a report from a commune to the district level, it reveals a clear understanding over what to do with “pure Vietnamese” families – they would be sent to the district. There was, however, some uncertainty over what to do with mixed to the killing place); SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/9589, 31 October 2013, p. 13, ERN (En) 00969629 (Kampuchea Krom people were labelled “Yuon” by the Khmer Rouge and detained at Kraing Ta Chan).

---

<sup>9581</sup> SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/10801, 10 February 2017, pp. 3, 7, ERN (En) 01476144, 01476148 (Answers 12, 28).

<sup>9582</sup> SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/10801, 10 February 2017, p. 6, ERN (En) 01476147 (Answers 23-25).

<sup>9583</sup> SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/10801, 10 February 2017, p. 7, ERN (En) 01476148 (Answer 27).

<sup>9584</sup> SORY Sen Interview Record, E3/10801, 10 February 2017, p. 6, ERN (En) 01476147 (Answer 24).

<sup>9585</sup> HUN Kimseng Interview Record, E3/5826, 31 October 2007, p. 3, ERN (En) 00223488.

<sup>9586</sup> T. 5 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/272.1, pp. 24-26.

<sup>9587</sup> YIN Teng Interview Record, E3/9472, pp. 21-24, ERN (En) 01067048-01067051 (Answers 131-133, 143, 152).

<sup>9588</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2435, 26 April 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00322141.

families: “If it was like this, what would Angkar decide then?” The report also indicates the conflation of Khmer Krom with Vietnamese.

2804. Lists of Khmer Krom were prepared in various communes in late April 1977. Before the Chamber are lists of Khmer Krom people living in Kus commune dated 29 April 1977;<sup>9589</sup> Angk Ta Saom commune dated 30 April 1977;<sup>9590</sup> and an undated list of Khmer Krom people from Popel commune;<sup>9591</sup> a report from Popel commune dated 8 May 1977 referring to 228 Khmer Krom individuals;<sup>9592</sup> and a further report from Popel commune dated 4 May 1977 which refers to a Khmer Krom called CHAU Ny “who was brought over (to your place), on 3/4/77”.<sup>9593</sup> An undated list identifies more than 54 people as Khmer Krom, mentioning various locations such as Angk Ta Ngel, Trapeang Pring, Trapeang Pou, Trapeang Leang, Trapeang Thma, Ta Sman, Paen Meas, Ta Saom, Prey Kokir.<sup>9594</sup> The Chamber finds that some individuals mentioned in this list relates to locations in Samraong, Kus and Cheang Tong communes.<sup>9595</sup> There is also a report from Ta Phem commune to Angkar dated 13 May 1977, which records that a New Person had “propagandised people from Kampuchea Krom” by saying that Angkar did not need them and those in Samraong commune had been “taken away”. The report continues that, upon hearing this, an old Kampuchea Krom lady named CHHIV Ban Yi refused to work, and the unit chief found her at her house “weeping”.<sup>9596</sup>

2805. A report from Leay Bour commune to the District Party dated 4 September [1977] described a youth in the commune called HI Di who said that he did “not want to be alive; it is better to die”. The report describes him as complaining about food, then adds: “PS. This person is a Yuon”. The report bears an annotation dated 6 September 1977 from District Secretary Kit to Ta An: “Request that a thorough interrogation be

<sup>9589</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2615, 29 April 1977, pp. 1-11, ERN (En) 00366665-00366675 (13 husbands, 43 wives, 23 male youth, seven female youth, 28 boys, 35 girls).

<sup>9590</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2049, 30 April 1977, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00290262-00290263 (identifying eight families and indicating that the husband of one resident was “smashed since he was first arrived [here]”).

<sup>9591</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2262, undated, pp. 1-3, ERN (En) 00742626-00742628.

<sup>9592</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2917, 8 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00742890.

<sup>9593</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2439, 4 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 002322143.

<sup>9594</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2428, undated, pp. 1-7, ERN (En) 0036699-00366705.

<sup>9595</sup> T. 17 February 2015 (PHEOU Yav), E1/264.1, p. 5; PHEOU Yav Interview Record, E3/5515, 12 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00410246 (Answer 7, villages in Samraong commune including Paen Meas, Ta Sman, Pong Tuek, Prey Kokir, Kraing Banteay, Praouth Thmei and Ta Saom).

<sup>9596</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4084, 13 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00290264.

conducted, because this person is an organised string of the CIA”.<sup>9597</sup> A report from Trapeang Thum South commune to Kraing Ta Chan describes an “enemy” who had been sent for saying, among other things, that KHIEU Samphan boasted that he served the people when, in reality, he travelled by car, ate good food, all while the people worked hard but only ate gruel. The note concludes with the information that “[t]his contemptible Nam is a pure Yuon”.<sup>9598</sup>

2806. There are various entries for persons identified as Vietnamese in various notebooks, including: notebook E3/2427 (YIN Khoeun Hor Long);<sup>9599</sup> notebook E3/2107 (DE Yeun);<sup>9600</sup> notebook E3/4122 (PEOU Kan);<sup>9601</sup> notebook E3/5860 (THACH Soeung);<sup>9602</sup> and notebook E3/5827 (CHOU La).<sup>9603</sup> The Chamber is therefore satisfied that some Vietnamese persons were arrested, taken to Kraing Ta Chan and killed. The evidence also reveals occasions when Vietnamese and Khmer Krom were conflated together at Kraing Ta Chan.

12.3.11.5. Overall number killed at Kraing Ta Chan

2807. Whereas the Closing Order charged that more than 15,000 people were killed at Kraing Ta Chan, the evidence does not enable the Chamber to establish the precise number of people killed there. The Chamber is satisfied, however, that significantly more than 1,000 people were killed or died there between 1975 to 1979. The following evidence considered together satisfies the Chamber that 1,000 is a reliable minimum number. The basis for this finding now follows.

2808. VOEUN Vuthy’s team examined 1,904 crania and 3,158 other bones, which the Chamber considered together with the evidence of the nature and extent of the exhumations performed at the site after 7 January 1979. While some of these human remains may relate to people killed at Kraing Ta Chan before 17 April 1975, and there is a remote possibility that this number includes remains from other sources, the evidence satisfies the Chamber that the majority of these remains are of people killed

<sup>9597</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/2447, 6 September 1977, p. 2, ERN (En) 00355474.

<sup>9598</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4127, 16 January 1978, p. 6, ERN (En) 00362232.

<sup>9599</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/2427, undated, p. 6, ERN (En) 00366681.

<sup>9600</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/2107, undated, p. 13, ERN (En) 00290216.

<sup>9601</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/4122, undated, p. 4, ERN (En) 00779249 (describing this person as born in Kirivong district but having “returned from the Yuon”).

<sup>9602</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5860, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 01064165.

<sup>9603</sup> Kraing Ta Chan Notebook, E3/5827, undated, p. 34, ERN (En) 00866457.

at Kraing Ta Chan during the relevant period. The Chamber also recalls the evidence that human remains went missing for a variety of reasons, and therefore finds that this number understates the number of remains previously present at Kraing Ta Chan.

2809. Whereas witnesses such as the guard VAN Soeun testified that prisoners arrived at Kraing Ta Chan on an almost daily basis, their release or survival was the exception.<sup>9604</sup> The Chamber accepted prisoner VONG Sarun's description of the ruse whereby prisoners were told that they were being released having been "fully refashioned", but were in fact being taken to be executed. The Chamber accepted her description that this happened "very often".<sup>9605</sup> The Chamber also accepted SORY Sen's account of regular burials, and MEAS Sokha's description of burials and a mass execution. The Chamber recalls its findings that, as pits in Kraing Ta Chan became filled up with dead bodies, more and more pits had to be dug, further away from the inner compound.<sup>9606</sup> The monthly reports for July and November 1977 record 139 persons dead for those two months alone.<sup>9607</sup> Although it is impossible to extrapolate from such a small sample, this corroborates other evidence that executions were a regular occurrence. These monthly reports also confirm that the detention capacity of Kraing Ta Chan was over 100 persons at any one time.

2810. Notebooks contain entries for more than 500 persons, with other documentary evidence such as notes from communes to Kraing Ta Chan confirming that these notebooks are not comprehensive. Although not all the persons for whom there are notebook entries were killed, again the evidence established that survival was exceptional: two guards suggested that 99 per cent of those who entered Kraing Ta Chan were killed.<sup>9608</sup> The Chamber found this to be a telling estimate.<sup>9609</sup> Weighing these factors together, the Chamber finds that the minimum number of 1,000 persons

<sup>9604</sup> T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, pp. 9, 35.

<sup>9605</sup> T. 18 May 2015 (VONG Sarun), E1/300.1, pp. 57-59.

<sup>9606</sup> See above, para. 2692.

<sup>9607</sup> Tram Kak District Record, E3/4086, July 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00276557 (reporting that one study meeting was held, 18 new prisoners entered during July 1977, making a total of 81 prisoners, two prisoners died from illness and 39 were "swept away"; Tram Kak District Record, E3/2109, November 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00276555 (reporting that during the month of November 1977, 75 people entered, 92 people were purged, six people died of illness and one person was removed to the sector).

<sup>9608</sup> T. 23 February 2015 (SREI Than), E1/267.1, pp. 33-34, 91-92 (confirming his prior statement that 99 per cent of prisoners were smashed); SREI Than Interview Record, E3/5834, 29 December 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00434694; T. 4 March 2015 (VAN Soeun), E1/271.1, p. 35 (agreeing with SREI Than's statement and confirming that the "huge majority" of prisoners were "liquidated on site").

<sup>9609</sup> See above, para. 2769.

killed or dead at Kraing Ta Chan during the period 1975 to 1979 is likely to be a significant underestimate.

12.3.12. Legal Findings

12.3.12.1. Murder

2811. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of murder in relation to summary executions in or near Kraing Ta Chan by Security Centre personnel, including the killing of children, with bodies buried in various locations in and around the site.<sup>9610</sup> The Closing Order further charges murder in relation to torture and ill-treatment carried out by Security Centre personnel, specifically from starvation, disease and beatings.<sup>9611</sup>

2812. The Chamber has found a number of specific instances of intentional killings to be established: (i) KIM Nova, NOP Nem and their young child were killed at Kraing Ta Chan, and KIM Nova was sexually assaulted by Ta An before she was killed;<sup>9612</sup> (ii) two young women were killed, with M-79 bullets inserted into their vaginas afterwards;<sup>9613</sup> (iii) MEAS Sokha's family members including his father MEAS Kun and brother-in-law MOM Boeun were executed;<sup>9614</sup> (iv) five widows from Trapeang Thom commune were killed at Kraing Ta Chan, having been sent from another detention site at Angk Roka;<sup>9615</sup> (v) young babies and children were killed, including by smashing their heads against trees then throwing the bodies into pits;<sup>9616</sup> (vi) two young girls were killed to the west of the compound, as witnessed by SORY Sen;<sup>9617</sup> (vii) prisoners had their throats slit while guards restrained them; and (viii) at least one incident of mass executions of more than 100 people took place.<sup>9618</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that both the actus reus and the mens rea of murder are established with respect to these victims.

<sup>9610</sup> Closing Order, paras 1373-1374, 1376, 1379-1380, 510-514.

<sup>9611</sup> Closing Order, paras 1373-1374, 1376, 1379-1380, 502.

<sup>9612</sup> See above, para. 2737.

<sup>9613</sup> See above, para. 2764.

<sup>9614</sup> See above, paras 2668-2676.

<sup>9615</sup> See above, paras 2705-2706.

<sup>9616</sup> See above, paras 2752-2756.

<sup>9617</sup> See above, paras 2765-2769.

<sup>9618</sup> See above, para. 2759.

2813. Victims also included the former “high ranking” Khmer Republic soldiers and officials who were, on occasion, simply killed on arrival, without interrogation.<sup>9619</sup> The evidence did not clearly support the finding in the Closing Order that former Khmer Republic soldiers below the ranks of first or second lieutenants, but with the specific rank of corporal sergeant or above, or civil officials with the rank first deputy chief or higher, were purged at Kraing Ta Chan in the period immediately following 17 April 1975.<sup>9620</sup> The Chamber has found nevertheless that some former Khmer Republic civilian officials were killed at Kraing Ta Chan shortly after the liberation.<sup>9621</sup> Former Khmer Republic soldiers and officials were specifically targeted, often on the basis of their rank alone, especially from April 1977 onwards.<sup>9622</sup> The Chamber is therefore satisfied that both the actus reus and the mens rea of murder are established with respect to these killings.

2814. In addition to the intentional killings in specific instances and of the former Khmer Republic officials, the evidence has established that a much larger number of killings took place. Monthly reports for July and November 1977 record 139 persons killed or dead for those two months alone.<sup>9623</sup> Evidence from the guards demonstrates that prisoners were not allowed to leave Kraing Ta Chan,<sup>9624</sup> and they estimated that 99 per cent of prisoners were killed.<sup>9625</sup> Survival was the exception and only for a small number of Base People such as MEAS Sokha’s family and/or hinged upon fortuitous connections to decision-makers, such as SORY Sen’s survival hinging upon the previous prison chief knowing him from before.<sup>9626</sup> Documentary evidence in particular various notebooks, albeit incomplete, records the presence of over 500 persons at Kraing Ta Chan, with the presence of many additional persons evident from messages from the communes to Kraing Ta Chan, and reports from Kraing Ta Chan to Tram Kak district.<sup>9627</sup> Orders to smash from the sector<sup>9628</sup> and the district,<sup>9629</sup> annotations such as

<sup>9619</sup> See above, paras 2742, 2800-2801.

<sup>9620</sup> See above, paras 2643. The evidence has established that persons considered to have had high ranks included first or second lieutenants.

<sup>9621</sup> See above, para. 2791.

<sup>9622</sup> See above, para. 2643. See below, paras 2840-2841.

<sup>9623</sup> See above, para. 2809.

<sup>9624</sup> See above, para.2770.

<sup>9625</sup> See above, paras 2752-2769.

<sup>9626</sup> See above, paras 2669-2673, 2677.

<sup>9627</sup> See above, paras 2788-2790.

<sup>9628</sup> See above, paras 2703-2706.

<sup>9629</sup> See above, para. 2800.

crosses on the documentary evidence,<sup>9630</sup> the systematic process often accompanied by loud music,<sup>9631</sup> and the extensive evidence of burial operations<sup>9632</sup> demonstrate intentional (direct intent) and repeated killings sufficient to constitute murder as a crime against humanity. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that both the actus reus and the mens rea of murder are established with respect to these deaths.

2815. The Chamber has found that numerous other prisoners died in the detention buildings as a consequence of the treatment to which they were subjected, with their bodies dragged out the following day by other prisoners being forced to work. Some prisoners died following suffocation during interrogations.<sup>9633</sup> Both the nature of the treatment during interrogations, including suffocation, and the conditions in the detention buildings, including beatings for behaviour the guards did not like, demonstrate that deaths resulting from such conduct were an entirely foreseeable possibility – and one which eventuated repeatedly. The Chamber is accordingly satisfied that with regard to the facts described in the current paragraph the perpetrators acted with intent in the form of dolus eventualis. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that both the actus reus and the mens rea of murder are established in relation to these deaths.

2816. Contrary to the NUON Chea Defence's submissions,<sup>9634</sup> none of the killings or deaths at Kraing Ta Chan followed a lawful process or had any basis in law or fact. None of those who died at Kraing Ta Chan had the benefit of anything approximating to a judicial process. Many prisoners were not even interrogated prior to their execution.<sup>9635</sup>

2817. In sum, the Chamber is satisfied that a minimum of 1,000 people were murdered at Kraing Ta Chan during the relevant period, a figure likely to be a significant underestimate.<sup>9636</sup> This minimum figure includes those who were summarily executed and those who died as a result of the conditions, i.e. victims killed either by perpetrators who acted with direct criminal intent to kill or by perpetrators who acted with intent in

<sup>9630</sup> See above, paras 2703, 2706, 2805.

<sup>9631</sup> See above, para. 2772.

<sup>9632</sup> See above, paras 2678, 2772-2774.

<sup>9633</sup> See above, paras 2674, 2676, 2744-2747.

<sup>9634</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 648, 675.

<sup>9635</sup> See above, para. 2757.

<sup>9636</sup> See above, paras 2807-2810.

the form of dolus eventualis. All these deaths constitute murder as a crime against humanity. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of murder is established at Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre.

12.3.12.2. Extermination

2818. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of extermination on the basis of the deaths of more than 15,000 people at Kraing Ta Chan, by execution or resulting from torture and other acts of violence.<sup>9637</sup>

2819. For the purposes of establishing whether extermination was committed, the Chamber accumulates all the specific killings which are established beyond reasonable doubt. As detailed above, the only reasonable inference in light of the evidence as a whole is that a minimum of 1,000 people were killed or died.<sup>9638</sup> This is likely to be a significant underestimate. The Chamber notes that an unquantified fraction of this number died from the conditions and/or treatment to which they were otherwise subjected, and, having regard to extermination requirements, excludes these from consideration here because such deaths were not directly intended. The Chamber is satisfied that the remaining executions all formed part of the same murder operation and took place on a massive scale. The Chamber found that at least one mass execution took place,<sup>9639</sup> with other executions regularly taking place throughout the relevant period.<sup>9640</sup> The Chamber finds these executions at Kraing Ta Chan meet the required threshold for the crime of extermination. The actus reus of the crime is therefore established.

2820. In relation to the intent requirement, the Chamber is satisfied that the physical perpetrators, the district-level authorities, sector level and Southwest Zone level all acted with the intent to kill on a massive scale at Kraing Ta Chan. This is established beyond any doubt by the overall number and frequency of the executions often to loud music,<sup>9641</sup> the expanding burial operations,<sup>9642</sup> the regular and personal involvement of IEP Duch and Phy from the District Office, the Chamber's finding that the district level

<sup>9637</sup> Closing Order, paras 1381-1383, 1385, 1387-1390, 489, 514.

<sup>9638</sup> See above, paras 2807-2810.

<sup>9639</sup> See above, paras 2757-2759.

<sup>9640</sup> See above, para. 2771.

<sup>9641</sup> See above, para. 2772.

<sup>9642</sup> See above, paras 2772-2774.

sent additional personnel to Kraing Ta Chan at times of peak activity,<sup>9643</sup> and the decision-making by Sector Secretaries Ta Prak and Ta Rorn including in relation to groups of prisoners such as the five widows from Trapeang Thom North commune.<sup>9644</sup> The mens rea of the crime is therefore established. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that Kraing Ta Chan operated as an ongoing murder operation on a massive scale. It accordingly finds that the crime against humanity of extermination is established at Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre.

12.3.12.3. Enslavement

2821. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of enslavement at Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre. It charges that the Security Centre personnel at Kraing Ta Chan subjected prisoners to total control and exercised all of the powers attaching to the right of ownership over the persons placed there.<sup>9645</sup> In particular, some prisoners were forced to work inside the prison compound and also outside in the rice fields under guard.<sup>9646</sup>

2822. The Chamber recalls that the crime against humanity of enslavement is characterised by the intentional exercise over a person of any or all powers attaching to the right of ownership.<sup>9647</sup> While not a prerequisite for the crime to be established, forced labour may be sufficient on its own to establish enslavement as a crime against humanity.<sup>9648</sup> The Chamber has found that during the daytimes, a small number of prisoners was put to work inside the main compound, with other prisoners put to work outside performing tasks such as carrying earth, flattening termite mounds, farming rice or grazing cattle.<sup>9649</sup> Tasks for those inside the main compound included cooking, sweeping, carrying and fetching meals for guards, burying bodies and dragging dead bodies out of detention buildings.<sup>9650</sup> This was a regime of mandatory unpaid work for incarcerated persons. The Chamber rejects the generalised submissions advanced by the NUON Chea Defence that it is permissible to “keep prisoners actively

<sup>9643</sup> See above, paras 2694-2698.

<sup>9644</sup> See above, paras 2705-2706.

<sup>9645</sup> Closing Order, paras 1391, 1393-1394.

<sup>9646</sup> Closing Order, paras 503, 508.

<sup>9647</sup> Section 9.1.3: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Enslavement, para. 662.

<sup>9648</sup> Section 9: Applicable Law: Crimes, para. 666.

<sup>9649</sup> See above, paras 2739-2741.

<sup>9650</sup> See above, paras 2730-2731, 2739.

employed”<sup>9651</sup> because these submissions bear no relation to the evidence of the conditions at Kraing Ta Chan. Those prisoners who were put to work without their consent had to do as they were told in order to receive food.<sup>9652</sup> Prisoners like SORY Sen were cruelly exploited and made to perform vile tasks.<sup>9653</sup> The atmosphere was one of fear and intimidation. Even though prisoner MEAS Sokha slept outside the detention buildings and he was able to tend cattle outside Kraing Ta Chan, he had to return because he knew that otherwise his remaining family members would be in jeopardy – his father and brother-in-law having already been killed.<sup>9654</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that this objectively demonstrates that prisoners had no choice but to work as instructed in a situation of mortal jeopardy. The Chamber is accordingly satisfied that this amounted to forced labour. It is therefore satisfied that the actus reus of enslavement is established.

2823. The Chamber finds that Kraing Ta Chan personnel intentionally exercised over prisoners the powers attaching to the rights of ownership. Some of the surviving documents refer to Kraing Ta Chan as an “Education Office”.<sup>9655</sup> In reality, there existed mandatory regime of work for a small number of prisoners, which reduced them to mere commodities, permitting their manipulation and exploitation for the benefit of the Party until, in the vast majority of cases, they too were executed.<sup>9656</sup> Prisoners were exploited physically and economically, to their physical and psychological detriment in the last weeks and months of their lives. The physical and psychological control exerted over prisoners was absolute, to the extent that when they served no further purpose, they were killed.<sup>9657</sup> The Chamber therefore finds that the mens rea of enslavement is also established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of enslavement is established at Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre in relation to prisoners who worked inside and outside the main compound, whether they survived or not.

<sup>9651</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 669.

<sup>9652</sup> See above, paras 2659, 2732-2741.

<sup>9653</sup> See above, paras 2677-2682.

<sup>9654</sup> See above, paras 2669-2676.

<sup>9655</sup> See above, para. 2700.

<sup>9656</sup> See above, para. 2677.

<sup>9657</sup> See above, paras 2739-2741.

12.3.12.4. Imprisonment

2824. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of imprisonment. It charges that prisoners were arbitrarily deprived of their liberty at Kraing Ta Chan without legal basis or procedural safeguards.<sup>9658</sup> It describes a process of arrests based on reports from communes in Tram Kak district followed by imprisonment at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9659</sup>

2825. The Chamber has found that persons were sent to Kraing Ta Chan under the pretext of re-education, but this was a falsehood and death was the result for the overwhelming majority of prisoners.<sup>9660</sup> Although the reasons for specific arrests varied, the numerous messages from communes to Kraing Ta Chan reliably demonstrate the intentional and fundamental disregard for any procedural rights and that the initial deprivation of liberty was arbitrary.<sup>9661</sup> A common theme was that prisoners were sent to Kraing Ta Chan on the basis of a subjective perception that they had done something contrary to the Party or were a threat to the revolution, including by complaining, questioning what Angkar was, being lazy, criticising the revolution, or mocking its leaders.<sup>9662</sup> The Chamber rejects the NUON Chea Defence's submission that Kraing Ta Chan "served an entirely legitimate and lawful purpose" and that prisoners were interrogated "as part of a genuine criminal investigation".<sup>9663</sup> There is no evidence that individuals were detained after conviction by a competent court or for non-compliance of an order of a lawful court, or that they were afforded any right to challenge their detention.<sup>9664</sup>

2826. Arrests caught up families, including VONG Sarun and her young baby, MEAS Sokha's family, and SORY Sen – with no factual or legal basis offered for their lengthy detention, or the failure to afford them basic procedural guarantees, other than their association with other prisoners who, in each case, had already been executed.<sup>9665</sup> The eventual release of MEAS Sokha with some of his family members in mid-1978 does

<sup>9658</sup> Closing Order, paras 1402-1404, 1406-1407.

<sup>9659</sup> Closing Order, para. 497.

<sup>9660</sup> See above, paras 2769-2770.

<sup>9661</sup> See above, paras 2716-2729.

<sup>9662</sup> See above, paras 2716-2729.

<sup>9663</sup> See above, paras 2716-2728; NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 414.

<sup>9664</sup> Section 5: Administrative Structures, paras 417-418.

<sup>9665</sup> See above, paras 2671, 2714-2715.

not alter the Chamber's finding that the entire period of their lengthy detention was arbitrary, lacking any hint of a proper process.

2827. Given the ultimate fate of the vast majority of those persons sent to Kraing Ta Chan, the Chamber rejects NUON Chea's submission that any reasonable inference remains that the CPK genuinely sought to identify prisoners' involvement in unlawful activities.<sup>9666</sup> Even allowing for the possibility that the conduct of some prisoners could arguably be considered to have been a criminal offence, as opposed to merely offending the Party, the Chamber finds that such detention was also arbitrary because of the total lack of procedural safeguards, or any ability to challenge detention. Release from Kraing Ta Chan was the exception and resulted from fortuitous connections, rather than due process. The Chamber is satisfied that the perpetrators intended to arbitrarily deprive individuals of their liberty. This is revealed in particular by the reasons for arrest recorded in the documentary evidence.<sup>9667</sup> The Chamber is therefore satisfied that both the actus reus and the mens rea of imprisonment are established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of imprisonment is established in relation to all persons detained in Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre.

12.3.12.5. Torture

2828. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of torture in relation to Kraing Ta Chan based on the infliction of deliberate harm and suffering, both physical and mental, during interrogations.<sup>9668</sup> It refers to objective and subjective elements, including the methods used coupled with the inhumane conditions and context of terror.<sup>9669</sup> The abuse was mainly aimed at obtaining information about their activities and/or networks and was perpetrated by persons acting in an official capacity.<sup>9670</sup> The Closing Order describes serious mistreatment during interrogations at Kraing Ta Chan, by various methods including suffocation and beatings.<sup>9671</sup>

2829. The Chamber has found that interrogations at Kraing Ta Chan regularly involved beatings, whippings and suffocation to extreme degrees – treatment which

<sup>9666</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 386.

<sup>9667</sup> See above, paras 2770, 2795-2797, 2810.

<sup>9668</sup> Closing Order, para. 1409.

<sup>9669</sup> Closing Order, para. 1410.

<sup>9670</sup> Closing Order, paras 1411-1412.

<sup>9671</sup> Closing Order, paras 507-508.

caused the death of some prisoners.<sup>9672</sup> The Chamber rejects the NUON Chea Defence's unsubstantiated submission that interrogations at Kraing Ta Chan did not involve the systematic use of torture.<sup>9673</sup> The evidence established that suffocation using plastic sheets was an interrogation practice at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9674</sup> Screams were regularly heard coming from the interrogation hut.<sup>9675</sup> Some prisoners died from the treatment they received during interrogations.<sup>9676</sup> Prisoners who survived were left with wounds which shocked other prisoners.<sup>9677</sup> The Chamber has found that various implements such as clubs, whips and plastic sheets, were kept available to interrogators at the interrogation hut.<sup>9678</sup> The physical and psychological pain and suffering inflicted by this mistreatment during interrogations was severe and, in some cases, fatal.<sup>9679</sup>

2830. The Chamber has found the interrogation of VONG Sarun, upon which the NUON Chea Defence places particular emphasis, to be instructive.<sup>9680</sup> Although she was not physically beaten during her actual interrogation, she had barely eaten for one week while imprisoned, spending that whole time shackled by the ankles with the result that she was unable to walk from the detention building to the interrogation hut. During the interrogation itself, she was threatened with physical violence by an interrogator holding a tree branch. She was told that she was going to die and that her husband had already been executed, all while she was imprisoned together with her one-year old baby. The Chamber finds that even in this particular case, the subjective characteristics of VONG Sarun including her physical and mental condition at the time, her inferiority in relation to her interrogators, the nature of the threats to which she was subjected, caused severe mental pain and suffering in an overall context of terror and constitute torture.

2831. The physical and mental mistreatment deliberately inflicted during interrogations came from persons acting on behalf of the CPK, who the Chamber finds to be public officials.<sup>9681</sup> Furthermore, this mistreatment was inflicted during the course

---

<sup>9672</sup> See above, paras 2744-2748, 2798.

<sup>9673</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 414.

<sup>9674</sup> See above, paras 2744-2746.

<sup>9675</sup> See above, para. 2747.

<sup>9676</sup> See above, para. 2743.

<sup>9677</sup> See above, para. 2747.

<sup>9678</sup> See above, para. 2747.

<sup>9679</sup> See above, paras 2744-2748.

<sup>9680</sup> See above, paras 2749-2751.

<sup>9681</sup> See above, para. 2742.

of interrogations and was utilised by interrogators, including cadres from the district level, for the purposes of obtaining information, a confession, or as a means of intimidation or punishment.<sup>9682</sup> The Chamber found that Kraing Ta Chan regularly reported to the district level on information generated from interrogations.<sup>9683</sup> Some reports contained explicit information on the actual or intended use of “hot” measures. The Chamber found that the district level gave specific instructions to Kraing Ta Chan on particular interrogations, and there were occasions when the sector level was provided with confessions.<sup>9684</sup>

2832. In light of all these factors, the Chamber finds that prisoners interrogated at Kraing Ta Chan were subjected to acts which caused severe physical and/or mental pain or suffering. These acts were carried out intentionally by Kraing Ta Chan cadres who were acting on behalf of the CPK. Furthermore, these acts were carried out with the purpose of obtaining information, a confession, or a means of punishment or intimidation. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that both the actus reus and the mens rea of torture are established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of torture is established at Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre.

12.3.12.6. Persecution on political grounds

2833. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds of “real or perceived enemies of the CPK”, which it defines as those whose real or perceived political beliefs were contrary to the CPK, or were opposed to those wielding power within the Party.<sup>9685</sup> According to the Closing Order, such people were “arrested en masse for re-education and elimination” at security centres including Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9686</sup> In this regard, the Closing Order particularises that those suspected of being CIA and KGB were “identified and smashed”,<sup>9687</sup> there was a “purge of evacuees”,<sup>9688</sup> that prisoners generally being accused of being “enemies”,<sup>9689</sup> and that more than 15,000 “enemies” were killed.<sup>9690</sup>

<sup>9682</sup> See above, para. 2747.

<sup>9683</sup> See above, para. 2701.

<sup>9684</sup> See above, paras 2707, 2719.

<sup>9685</sup> Closing Order, paras 1416-1418.

<sup>9686</sup> Closing Order, para. 1418.

<sup>9687</sup> Closing Order, para. 492.

<sup>9688</sup> Closing Order, para. 498.

<sup>9689</sup> Closing Order, para. 506.

<sup>9690</sup> Closing Order, para. 514.

The Closing Order expressly links events there to an ongoing purge of former Khmer Republic soldiers and officials.<sup>9691</sup> It further finds that “most” of the prisoners were “new people”, but various other prisoners also “contributed to the population” including Base People and CPK cadres.<sup>9692</sup>

2834. The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that the charge of persecution on political grounds is restricted to the three categories of enemy particularised in the Closing Order under the heading of “legal findings” (namely, former Khmer Republic officials, New People and Cambodians returning from abroad).<sup>9693</sup> This submission has been addressed and rejected elsewhere in this Judgement.<sup>9694</sup>

2835. The KHIEU Samphan Defence further contends that, concerning those who were detained at Kraing Ta Chan, the conduct underlying this charge is restricted to arrests, re-education and elimination, and that the charge excludes the imposition of harsher living conditions on the targeted groups compared to the rest of the population.<sup>9695</sup> No other Party made relevant submissions in this regard. The Chamber finds that the Closing Order indeed distinguishes “harsher treatment and living conditions” in cooperatives and worksites, from the various acts of arrest, re-education and elimination at security centres.<sup>9696</sup> Notwithstanding this distinction, in so finding the Closing Order implies that the targeted groups were at particular risk of being sent to security centres for “re-education and elimination” (e.g. “they were arrested en masse”). The Chamber therefore finds that nothing of substance turns on the distinction highlighted by the KHIEU Samphan Defence.

2836. Finally, the KHIEU Samphan Defence contends more generally that the Closing Order fails to show discrimination against New People and/or former Khmer Republic officials and, repeating arguments made elsewhere, fails to articulate any discriminatory conduct sufficient to require a defence.<sup>9697</sup> This submission will be addressed by the Chamber in its analysis below.

---

<sup>9691</sup> Closing Order, para. 498.

<sup>9692</sup> Closing Order, para. 500 (also referring to Chinese, Vietnamese and Cham).

<sup>9693</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1255.

<sup>9694</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 170.

<sup>9695</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing brief, paras 1257-1258.

<sup>9696</sup> Closing Order, para. 1418.

<sup>9697</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1254-1271.

2837. In relation to Kraing Ta Chan, the Closing Order specifically identifies numerous real or perceived enemies to the CPK or its ideology, including those considered to be CIA or KGB,<sup>9698</sup> former Khmer Republic soldiers and officials,<sup>9699</sup> and New People.<sup>9700</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that real or perceived political enemies at this security centre included but were not limited to the three categories identified by the KHIEU Samphan Defence.

2838. The discernibility of the targeted group may be assessed by examining whether the victims belonged to a category of the group as identified by the Party leadership. In this regard, the Chamber takes into consideration evidence of the CPK's ideological aspirations and policies concerning socialist revolution and State-building.<sup>9701</sup> It further takes into account the state of armed conflict between Democratic Kampuchea and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam between May 1975 and 6 January 1979,<sup>9702</sup> the evolving CPK policy toward the Vietnamese and other enemies,<sup>9703</sup> the spate of internal purges from 1977 and the resultant atmosphere of paranoia inside the Party.<sup>9704</sup> It is evident from the foregoing that the CPK identified as enemies counter-revolutionaries, detractors and traitors of the revolution, feudalists and those engaging in feudalistic practices, the Vietnamese, foreign agents and collaborators of the foregoing categories, among others. Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied that the target group of "real or perceived enemies of the CPK" was sufficiently discernible in order to determine whether the requisite consequences occurred for the group.

2839. The evidence has established a significant amount of discriminatory conduct in relation to Kraing Ta Chan. Large numbers of real or perceived enemies of the CPK were sent to Kraing Ta Chan where they were starved, tortured and then killed.<sup>9705</sup> The discriminatory basis on which these persons were targeted is established in the documentary evidence recording the reasons why persons were sent to Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>9706</sup> The Chamber has found that New People and/or those believed to be

---

<sup>9698</sup> Closing Order, para. 492.

<sup>9699</sup> Closing Order, para. 498.

<sup>9700</sup> Closing Order, para. 500 (also referring to Chinese, Vietnamese and Cham).

<sup>9701</sup> Section 16: Common Purpose.

<sup>9702</sup> Section 4.1: Factual Overview of the Temporal Scope of Case 002/02 (including the Nature of the Armed Conflict).

<sup>9703</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies.

<sup>9704</sup> Section 12.1: Internal Factions.

<sup>9705</sup> See above, paras 2732, 2809.

<sup>9706</sup> See above, paras 2717-2729.

connected to the former Khmer Republic were particularly likely to be identified as enemies and sent to Kraing Ta Chan, often on spurious bases such as being lazy or criticising the revolution or sometimes on the mere basis that they had certain ranks.<sup>9707</sup> Perceived enemies also included persons who complained about work or food, planned to flee and/or incited others to do the same, were perceived to be lazy, stole food, threatened unit chiefs, spoke favourably of the old society, had “contradictions” with the revolution, broke collective property, and it included perceived unfaithfulness to the Party, which then caught up families such as VONG Sarun and MEAS Sokha.<sup>9708</sup> The Chamber found that five widows from Trapeang Thom commune were expressly identified as 17 April People and sent from one detention site at Angk Roka to Kraing Ta Chan in order for them to be killed.<sup>9709</sup>

2840. The Chamber is satisfied that the majority of prisoners in Kraing Ta Chan were New People. The isolated instances of survival (such as MEAS Sokha and some of his family members; and VONG Sarun) generally concerned Base People.<sup>9710</sup> The Chamber also found that SORY Sen’s survival depended upon the fortuitous intervention from the former prison chief.<sup>9711</sup> The nature of these exceptions, together with the documentary evidence which identifies categories of prisoners based on whether they were New or Base Persons, and/or their role in the LON Nol regime, satisfies the Chamber that both New People and those with connections to the Khmer Republic were identified as particular enemies and targeted on that basis.<sup>9712</sup> The Chamber has also found that, on occasion, former “high ranking” Khmer Republic officials were simply killed on arrival, without interrogation.<sup>9713</sup> The evidence has established that persons considered to have had high ranks included first or second lieutenants.<sup>9714</sup>

2841. The evidence did not clearly support the finding in the Closing Order that former Khmer Republic soldiers below the ranks of first or second lieutenants, but with the specific rank of corporal sergeant or above, or civil officials with the rank first deputy

<sup>9707</sup> See above, paras 2725-2729.

<sup>9708</sup> See above, paras 2715, 2717-2729.

<sup>9709</sup> See above, paras 2705, 2794.

<sup>9710</sup> See above, para. 2790.

<sup>9711</sup> See above, para. 2814.

<sup>9712</sup> See above, paras 2794-2795.

<sup>9713</sup> See above, paras 2742, 2800-2801.

<sup>9714</sup> See above, para. 2799.

chief or higher, were purged at Kraing Ta Chan in the period immediately following 17 April 1975.<sup>9715</sup> The Chamber has nevertheless found that some former Khmer Republic civilian officials were killed at Kraing Ta Chan shortly after the liberation.<sup>9716</sup> The Chamber has further found that New People were sent to Kraing Ta Chan shortly after 17 April 1975, when the population clearly increased and some evacuees arrived at Kraing Ta Chan via Wat Champa.<sup>9717</sup> Former Khmer Republic officials were specifically targeted, often on the basis of their rank alone, especially from April 1977 onwards.<sup>9718</sup> Real or perceived enemies of the CPK were arrested, detained and eliminated as a direct result of their perceived enemy status, and this was the case throughout the relevant period. The Chamber finds that these acts were committed with the intent to discriminate on political grounds, namely against anybody considered to be opposed to the CPK. Having found that the victims were in fact perceived to be enemies and therefore part of the targeted group, the Chamber is satisfied that all the foregoing acts were discriminatory in fact.

2842. Acts committed against this group variously infringed upon and violated fundamental rights and freedoms pertaining to movement,<sup>9719</sup> personal dignity,<sup>9720</sup> life, liberty and security,<sup>9721</sup> freedom from arbitrary or unlawful arrest,<sup>9722</sup> a fair and public trial and equality before the law as enshrined in customary international law.<sup>9723</sup>

2843. The conduct which the Chamber has taken into account for the purposes of persecution has been found to amount to independent crimes against humanity, including murder, extermination, enslavement, imprisonment, torture, and other inhumane acts. The Chamber has considered this conduct together with the surrounding context and finds that it cumulatively rises to the requisite level of severity such as to constitute persecution. In light of the foregoing, the Chamber is satisfied that both the

<sup>9715</sup> See above, para. 2643.

<sup>9716</sup> See above, para. 2791.

<sup>9717</sup> See above, para. 2791.

<sup>9718</sup> See above, para. 2643.

<sup>9719</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR), Art. 13(1); ICCPR, Art. 12(1); ECHR Protocol No. 4, Art. 2; ACHR, Art. 22(5).

<sup>9720</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Preamble, Arts. 1, 22, 23(3); ICCPR, Art. 10; ACHR, Arts 5-6. See also, Kordić and Čerkez Appeal Judgement, para. 106.

<sup>9721</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 3; ICCPR, Arts 6, 9(1); ECHR, Arts 2, 5; ACHR, Arts 4, 7.

<sup>9722</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 9; ICCPR, Art. 9(1); ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7(3).

<sup>9723</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Arts 6, 10; ICCPR, Arts. 9(2)-(4), 14; ECHR, Art. 6; ACHR, Arts 7(6), 8.

actus reus and the mens rea of persecution on political grounds are established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds is established.

12.3.12.7. Persecution on racial grounds

2844. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of persecution on racial grounds. It charges that “Vietnamese people were deliberately and systematically identified and targeted due to their perceived race”, as they were perceived by the CPK to be “racially distinct from Cambodian people”.<sup>9724</sup> With respect to Kraing Ta Chan in particular, the Closing Order charges that Vietnamese persons were “probably” executed there.<sup>9725</sup>

2845. The evidence has established that there were some unidentified Vietnamese speaking prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan, and that a number of specific prisoners identified as Vietnamese were arrested, taken to Kraing Ta Chan, and killed there.<sup>9726</sup> The evidence did not establish, however, whether their Vietnamese race was the determining factor on which they were sent to Kraing Ta Chan. The Chamber found that “pure Vietnamese families” were clearly to be dealt with at the district level. In contrast, the position in relation to racially mixed families caused some confusion at the commune level.<sup>9727</sup> The evidence did not establish, however, whether any such “pure Vietnamese families” were actually sent to Kraing Ta Chan. In relation to particular persons identified at Kraing Ta Chan as speaking Vietnamese, as opposed to Khmer with an accent, the evidence did not establish who they were or the basis on which they had been sent to Kraing Ta Chan.

2846. The Chamber has also found that the evidence conflates Vietnamese with Khmer Krom. The Chamber recalls its finding that the Khmer Krom are not to be subsumed as part of the Vietnamese group.<sup>9728</sup> It has not been established with sufficient specificity whether the persons who the Chamber identified as killed at Kraing Ta Chan were really Vietnamese, or were rather Khmer Krom but labelled as

<sup>9724</sup> Closing Order, para. 1422.

<sup>9725</sup> Closing Order, para. 500.

<sup>9726</sup> See above, para. 2805.

<sup>9727</sup> See above, para. 1122.

<sup>9728</sup> Section 2.5.6.7.1: Facts Allegedly Outside the Scope of the Indictment: Khmer Krom.

Vietnamese. Accordingly, the Chamber is unable to determine whether the acts were discriminatory in fact, in that they actually had consequences for that group.

2847. The Chamber therefore finds that, while some individuals who were Vietnamese or perceived as Vietnamese were detained at Kraing Ta Chan, the allegation of racial persecution against the Vietnamese is not established on the evidence.

12.3.12.8. Other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity

2848. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity at Kraing Ta Chan, in particular through conditions including the deprivation of sufficient food, medical attention and sanitation, poor living and detention conditions, overcrowded detention cells, and physical and psychological mistreatment.<sup>9729</sup>

2849. The Chamber has found that prisoners at Kraing Ta Chan were mostly shackled for extended periods in unhygienic buildings. While, according to some guards, the overall detention capacity of Kraing Ta Chan was over 100 persons, which already implied appalling conditions of detention, sometimes significantly more persons were crammed in.<sup>9730</sup> Prisoners spent the last days of their lives in squalid conditions, in a climate of extreme fear and intimidation.<sup>9731</sup> Prisoners died in detention buildings, their bodies left among the other prisoners overnight until other prisoners such as SORY Sen were made to remove them the next day, dragging them out across the barbed wire at the doorway.<sup>9732</sup> The Chamber has found that prisoners were starved before they were killed.<sup>9733</sup> Even prisoners like MEAS Sokha, who received comparatively better treatment in terms of food, or were allowed to sleep outside the detention buildings, were forced to perform gruesome tasks such as burying the bodies of executed prisoners.<sup>9734</sup> The Chamber has found that prisoners were subjected to physical violence and threats of physical violence.<sup>9735</sup> The Chamber found that prisoners were not provided with medical treatment and sick prisoners were left to die without

<sup>9729</sup> Closing Order, paras 1434, 1438.

<sup>9730</sup> See above, para. 2689.

<sup>9731</sup> See above, paras 2730-2732.

<sup>9732</sup> See above, paras 2678, 2730.

<sup>9733</sup> See above, para. 2732.

<sup>9734</sup> See above, para. 2731.

<sup>9735</sup> See above, para. 2731.

treatment.<sup>9736</sup> Prisoners saw other prisoners die, and some prisoners including SORY Sen were forced to bury large numbers of bodies over a period of years.<sup>9737</sup>

2850. In assessing the gravity of the acts, the Chamber takes into consideration the pervasive nature of attacks on the dignity of prisoners throughout the span of their incarceration, the severity of mental and physical suffering which was inflicted as a result of interrogations and the conditions, both inside and outside the main compound.<sup>9738</sup> The Chamber finds that the conditions of detention collectively rise to the gravity of other enumerated crimes against humanity. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity is established.

2851. This conduct necessarily entailed the intentional infliction of serious mental and physical suffering, as well as an incessant, long-lasting and egregious attack on human dignity. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity is also established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity is established at Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre.

12.3.12.9. Other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances

2852. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances in respect of the great suffering experienced by victims as a result of the arrest, detention or abduction of loved ones and others in conditions that placed them outside the protection of the law, and the subsequent refusal to provide information on their whereabouts.<sup>9739</sup> In particular, it describes disappearances and executions at Kraing Ta Chan whereby guards told prisoners they were being returned to the cooperatives, but their fate was hidden from other prisoners by playing loudspeakers which drowned out their screams.<sup>9740</sup>

<sup>9736</sup> See above, para. 2733.

<sup>9737</sup> See above, paras 2677, 2732, 2773.

<sup>9738</sup> Section 9.1.8.2: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Other Inhumane Acts: Attacks Against Human Dignity.

<sup>9739</sup> Closing Order, paras 1470-1478.

<sup>9740</sup> Closing Order, para. 511.

2853. The Chamber has already found that other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances were established in relation to the Tram Kak Cooperatives.<sup>9741</sup> A legal issue therefore arises as to whether the crime of other inhumane acts through the underlying conduct of enforced disappearances should be considered in relation to Kraing Ta Chan, in circumstances where the Chamber is already satisfied that many of those who disappeared from Tram Kak district were brought to Kraing Ta Chan. In other words, is the disappearance established as an inhumane act just the once, at the moment of first disappearance in Tram Kak district, or can it be established a second time, at Kraing Ta Chan. No Party made submissions on this issue.

2854. The Chamber concludes that, as a matter of principle, the underlying conduct of enforced disappearance can be committed more than once in relation to the same person, provided the necessary elements of other inhumane acts are established on each occasion. In the case of Kraing Ta Chan specifically, although the original deprivation of liberty began with arrests in the Tram Kak Cooperatives, the Chamber is satisfied that this deprivation of liberty continued throughout the phase of detention at Kraing Ta Chan. Subsequently, the unrecorded nature of the new phase of detention, the almost inevitable and fatal result, combined with the form of the executions and burials committed by persons who may not have been involved in the original arrests, all served to ensure the complete denial of recourse for family or friends – either to intervene, or to determine the whereabouts of their loved ones' remains. These were deliberate and material steps by additional actors following the initial disappearance of persons from the cooperatives. The Chamber is satisfied that the removal of prisoners from detention buildings constituted the continued deprivation of liberty, and culminated in their execution.

2855. The Chamber is further satisfied that the foregoing circumstances demonstrate the refusal to disclose information regarding the fate of detainees removed from the detention buildings, either to fellow detainees in Kraing Ta Chan at the same time, or to family members and loved ones outside. The fact and method of executions ensured the complete denial of individual recourse for fellow inmates, family or friends to any of the applicable legal remedies and procedural guarantees enshrined under international law. The Chamber has found that when prisoners were removed from detention buildings, it was generally under the ruse that they were being sent home.<sup>9742</sup> Prisoners were therefore subjected to the disappearance of fellow inmates, left to speculate about their ultimate fate in circumstances where they came to associate the playing of music over loudspeakers with the disappearance and probable killings.<sup>9743</sup> In circumstances where some indication was provided as to their ultimate fates, such as the information obtained by MEAS Sokha and VONG Sarun, there had been a complete denial of individual recourse by fellow inmates, family or friends to any legal remedies or procedural guarantees.

---

<sup>9741</sup> Section 10.1.13.10: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Legal Findings: Other Inhumane Acts through Conduct Characterised as Enforced Disappearances.

2856. In light of the Chamber's findings on the prominence of the CPK at Kraing Ta Chan, the Chamber is satisfied that these further disappearances were carried out by state agents with the authorisation and support of the CPK, which held secrecy as a major principle imposed on its members.<sup>9744</sup> The murders of MEAS Sokha's relatives and VONG Sarun's husband illustrate the Chamber's approach to this issue. When these persons were arrested, they disappeared from their families – incidents which caused extreme anguish in each case. MEAS Sokha and VONG Sarun later learned some information about the fate of their loved ones at Kraing Ta Chan. Nonetheless, an official account was not provided to them. They never located the remains of their loved ones. The Chamber finds that the perpetrators at Kraing Ta Chan ensured that these prisoners could not exonerate themselves of the accusations levelled against them and executed them in circumstances which ensured that MEAS Sokha and VONG Sarun had no formal indication of their fate or ability to reliably identify their remains. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that enforced disappearances occurred at Kraing Ta Chan.

2857. The Chamber finds that the ongoing abduction of prisoners in the above circumstances inherently constitutes a serious attack on their human dignity. As to third parties such as fellow prisoners, the evidence demonstrated the long-lasting psychological effect of disappearances. Inmates were subjected not only to the unexplained disappearances of their fellow prisoners, but were put outside the

---

<sup>9742</sup> See above, para. 2809.

<sup>9743</sup> See above, paras 2771-2774.

<sup>9744</sup> See above, paras 2693-2700.

protection of the law and subjected to an environment of uncertainty and fear that they too would be removed. In many instances, the prospect of discovering the fate of specific individuals is reduced to the fragmentary surviving documentary evidence, rumours or suspicion. As to the majority of family members, friends, acquaintances and fellow inmates of those who were abducted from communes throughout Tram Kak district and taken to Kraing Ta Chan, it is clear that no explanation was afforded to them in the nearly 40 years following their disappearances, leaving them to speculate or participate in the excavation of pits at Kraing Ta Chan in the hope of finding some indication as to the fate of their loved ones.<sup>9745</sup> The Chamber finds that the removal and execution of prisoners resulted in serious mental and physical suffering or injury to third parties and constituted a serious attack on their human dignity. The Chamber finds that the enforced disappearances at Kraing Ta Chan were of a nature and gravity similar to other enumerated crimes against humanity. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances is established.

2858. As to whether the personnel at Kraing Ta Chan intended to engage in the above acts, the Chamber is satisfied that the conduct amounting to enforced disappearances was carried out repeatedly and over a prolonged period of time with egregious disregard for the effect on either those detained or those who might seek information about those individuals. The repetitious nature of the conduct satisfies the Chamber that the serious attacks on human dignity were committed intentionally, often to loud music.<sup>9746</sup> The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances is also established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances is established at Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre.

---

<sup>9745</sup> See above, para. 2778.

<sup>9746</sup> See above, para. 2771.

12.4. Au Kanseng Security Centre*12.4.1. Closing Order and Preliminary Issues

2859. According to the Closing Order, Au Kanseng Security Centre, also known as the Au Kanseng Re-education and Corrections Office, Re-education School 801 or Military Prison 801, was operated by Division 801, a Centre Military Division under the direct command of General Staff Chairman SON Sen, who reported to the CPK Central Committee.<sup>9747</sup> The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crimes against humanity of (i) murder,<sup>9748</sup> (ii) extermination,<sup>9749</sup> (iii) enslavement,<sup>9750</sup> (iv) imprisonment,<sup>9751</sup> (v) political and (vi) racial persecution,<sup>9752</sup> and (vii) other inhumane acts through “attacks against human dignity” at Au Kanseng Security Centre.<sup>9753</sup> The Closing Order further charges the Accused with grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions through wilful killings and wilful deprivation of Jarai civilians’ rights to a fair and regular trial.<sup>9754</sup>

2860. The Chamber in Case 002/01 heard the testimony of two witnesses relevant to Au Kanseng Security Centre. Former Chairman CHHAOM Se gave evidence on the administrative and communication structures concerning the Security Centre but could not be recalled in Case 002/02 due to his death prior to appearing as a witness in those proceedings.<sup>9755</sup> The Chamber in Case 002/01 permitted certain questions to be put to the witness that were directly or incidentally relevant to the scope of Case 002/02.<sup>9756</sup> Insofar as the substance of these responses was open to examination by the Parties in court, the Chamber has relied upon the witness’s responses in making findings in this section.

<sup>9747</sup> Closing Order, paras 589-590.

<sup>9748</sup> Closing Order, paras 1373, 1376, 1380.

<sup>9749</sup> Closing Order, paras 1381, 1385, 1387, 1389.

<sup>9750</sup> Closing Order, paras 1391, 1393-1394.

<sup>9751</sup> Closing Order, paras 1402, 1404.

<sup>9752</sup> Closing Order, paras 1416-1418, 1422, 1424.

<sup>9753</sup> Closing Order, paras 1434, 1438.

<sup>9754</sup> Closing Order, paras 1485-1489, 1494, 1511.

<sup>9755</sup> Decision on Witnesses, Civil Parties and Experts Proposed to be heard during Case 002/02, E459, 18 July 2017, para. 104 (fn. 264).

<sup>9756</sup> See e.g., T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 91-93 (request to Angkar for instruction regarding arrested Jarai); T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, pp. 19-22 (women and children victims), 23-24 (execution of Jarai), 39-40 (classification of prisoners).

2861. The Chamber also has before it the witness's Written Records of Interview before the Office of the Co-Investigating Judges ("OCIJ") and interview by DC-Cam, which was conducted alongside his wife, AN Sopheap. The Chamber recalls that AN Sopheap was requested by the NUON Chea Defence as a witness to, among other things, internal purges within Division 801 and the alleged rebellion within CPK ranks under East Zone Secretary SAO Phim, but passed away prior to the Chamber's determination.<sup>9757</sup> Consistently with its approach to the assessment of the probative value of evidence,<sup>9758</sup> the Chamber recalls that the contents of such documents are of limited probative value and are accorded less weight than OCIJ interview records and in court testimony. Where appropriate, the Chamber has referred to such documents for corroborative purposes only. The Chamber also heard the testimony of former Division 801 Deputy Commander UNG Ren, who was initially called to testify about military structures within Democratic Kampuchea and gave evidence relevant to the reporting structure in Division 801.

2862. The Chamber in Case 002/02 heard the testimony of three witnesses in relation to Au Kanseng: former Deputy Chairman of the Security Centre, CHIN Kimthong, and former detainees MOEURNG Chandy and PHON Thol. The Chamber is cognisant of the possibility of unconscious transference and confabulation between the recollections of MOEURNG Chandy and PHON Thol, who were married during the DK period.<sup>9759</sup> The Chamber has assessed their evidence on a case-by-case basis and in light of the totality of evidence before it.

---

<sup>9757</sup> NUON Chea's Third Witness Request for the Case 002/02 Security Centres and "Internal Purges" Segment (Evidence of Treasonous Rebellion), E395, 8 April 2016, paras 36-40; Decision on NUON Chea Defence Requests to hear Additional Witnesses pursuant to Internal Rule 87(4) (E391, E392, E395, E412 and E426), E443, 21 September 2016; Decision on NUON Chea Defence Requests to hear Additional Witnesses pursuant to Internal Rule 87(4) (E391, E392, E395, E412 and E426) (Full Reasons), E443/10, 30 March 2017, paras 13, 31.

<sup>9758</sup> Section 2.4.6.2: Written Statements including WRIs, Civil Party Applications, DC-Cam Statements, Refugee Reports and Newspaper Articles.

<sup>9759</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 33-34; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 39; T. 3 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/396.1, pp. 15-16.

12.4.2. Establishment and Reporting Structure

12.4.2.1. Division 801

2863. The formation of Division 801 was announced during a CPK rally held in July 1975 at the Olympic Stadium in Phnom Penh.<sup>9760</sup> The event, attended by POL Pot, NUON Chea, KHIEU Samphan, IENG Sary, SON Sen and all Democratic Kampuchea military commanders,<sup>9761</sup> marked the foundation of the Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea and saw the re-designation of former Special Zone Division 14 into Division 801.

2864. In October 1975, the Standing Committee resolved to dispatch one RAK division to Ratanakiri and Steung Treng provinces as part of its “preparation of forces” along the DK-Vietnam frontier.<sup>9762</sup> By late 1975, former Special Zone Division 11 was absorbed into Division 801,<sup>9763</sup> which was deployed to the Northeast Zone, and was briefly headquartered in Ban Lung district before relocating to Veun Sai district in November or December of the same year.<sup>9764</sup> Consisting of over 5,000 soldiers,<sup>9765</sup> the Division was headed throughout the DK period by former Division 14 Commander SAO Saroeun<sup>9766</sup> alias Ta 05 alias Roewn.<sup>9767</sup> Deputy Commanders Ta San alias Ta

<sup>9760</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 42; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00406211; T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, pp. 52-53; UNG Ren Interview Record, E3/84, 23 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00408399.

<sup>9761</sup> T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, p. 52; T. 10 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/158.1, p. 41; T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 69.

<sup>9762</sup> Standing Committee Minutes, E3/1612, 9 October 1975, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00183397-00183398.

<sup>9763</sup> Standing Committee Minutes, E3/1612, 9 October 1975, p. 6, ERN (En) 00183398 (“Dissolve the 11th Division and incorporate into other divisions”).

<sup>9764</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 36-37; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00403579-00403580; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5605, 4 March 2010, p. 4, ERN (En) 00488706; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 46. See also, UNG Ren Interview Record, E3/402, 17 September 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00381032. The Chamber estimates the aerial distance between the Ban Lung and Veun Sai districts to be at least 30 kilometres. See Map of Ban Lung, Lumphat, Koun Mom, Ou Chum and Veun Sai Districts, E3/9190, undated, ERN (En) 01045062.

<sup>9765</sup> Standing Committee Minutes, E3/1612, 9 October 1975, p. 6, ERN (En) 00183398 (resolving to standardise divisions to three divisions at combined male-female combatant strength of 4,000); Rice Consumption Plan 1976, E3/3476, 4 January 1976, p. 2, ERN (En) 00003387 (indicating the composition of Division 801 as 5,423 regular and 500 reserve soldiers); RAK Joint Statistics of Armed Forces, E3/849, March 1977, ERN (En) 00183956 (indicating 5,284 personnel in March 1977, “including 41 elements, 24 of our comrades’ spouses and 4 young children”); T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, pp. 56-57 (stating that the total number of soldiers was “more than 5,000” and that each regiment consisted of a logistical, military and political section).

<sup>9766</sup> Not to be confused with Sector 105 Secretary SAO Sarun. For SAO Sarun, see Section 12.5: Phnom Kraol Security Centre, para. 3039.

<sup>9767</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 42-43; T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 11; T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 28-29; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong),

06<sup>9768</sup> and Ta Leu<sup>9769</sup> served in that capacity until mid-1977, whereupon they were reassigned to Division 920 in Sector 105 (Mondulkiri). Former Division 14 regimental commanders UNG Ren<sup>9770</sup> and KEO Saroeun<sup>9771</sup> also briefly served as Division 801 Deputy Commanders in early to mid-1977.<sup>9772</sup> No replacements or appointments were made to these positions following this time as a result of the “chaotic” situation inside the division.<sup>9773</sup>

2865. Division 801 was subdivided into three regiments. Regiment 81 was initially posted to northern Ratanakiri before relocating to Bar Kaev to patrol the DK-Vietnam border region around Andoung Meas and Ou Ya Dav.<sup>9774</sup> Initially headed by Maut following the Division’s formation,<sup>9775</sup> the Regiment was subsequently led by KEO

---

E1/406.1, p. 5; T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, pp. 57-58; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 47, 74. Although CHHAOM Se identified the signature of “Rooun” as that of Division 801 Deputy Commander KEO Saroeun, the evidence (in particular, telegrams bearing the signature “Rooun” communicated before KEO Saroeun’s brief tenure as deputy commander in 1977 and after his arrest and execution later that year) consistently contradicts this assertion. See T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 30 (referring to telegram E3/1168, the witness asserts that “[t]he signature of Rooun – “Rooun” here referred to Keo Saroeun; it was Keo Saroeun who signed this letter, it was not Sou Saroeun”); Rice Consumption Plan, E3/1136, 4 January 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 00543743 (listing “comrade Rooun” as Division 801 “chair”); DK Telegram, E3/1164, 25 November 1976 (signed “Rooun”); DK Telegram, E3/1079, 25 December 1976 (signed “Rooun”); DK Telegram, E3/870, 5 April 1978 (signed “Rooun”); T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, pp. 81-83; UNG Ren Interview Record, 23 October 2009, E3/84, p. 4, ERN (En) 00408396. The Chamber is accordingly satisfied that “Rooun” in contemporaneous evidence refers to SAO Saroeun, not KEO Saroeun.

<sup>9768</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 43; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/9459, 8 May 2013, p. 2, ERN (En) 00922117; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 5; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/9734, 19 May 2013, ERN (En) 00943563. See also, UNG Ren Interview Record, E3/402, 17 September 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00381034; Section 12.5: Phnom Kraol Security Centre, para. 3046.

<sup>9769</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 87. See also, DK Telegram, E3/876, 23 April 1977, ERN (En) 00183714 (telegram from “Leu” to SAO Saroeun).

<sup>9770</sup> T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, p. 73; T. 10 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/158.1, p. 83 (indicating that he remained for one month); UNG Ren Interview Record, 7 September 2009, E3/402, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00381032-00381033 (deposing that he was assigned to Phnom Penh in August 1977); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 90.

<sup>9771</sup> CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/9734, 19 May 2013, ERN (En) 00943563. See also, CHHAOM Se and AN Sopheap DC-Cam Interview, E3/10569, 25 June 2012, pp. 89-90, 92, 94, ERN (En) 01079462-01079463, 01079465, 01079467.

<sup>9772</sup> It is unclear whether UNG Ren continued to occupy this position after being sent to Phnom Penh to attend study sessions in or about mid-1977. See T. 10 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/158.1, p. 83; UNG Ren Interview Record, 7 September 2009, E3/402, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00381032-00381033. KEO Saroeun was arrested in March or May 1977, detained at S-21 and executed in December 1977. See below, para. 2886.

<sup>9773</sup> DC-Cam Interview with CHHAOM Se and AN Sopheap, 25 June 2012, E3/10569, p. 147, ERN (En) 01079520. This is consistent with the spate of Division-wide purges conducted at around this time. See below, para. 2886.

<sup>9774</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 77; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00403579-00403580; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00406212; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/9459, 8 May 2013, p. 6, ERN (En) 00922121.

<sup>9775</sup> T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, pp. 70-71.

Saroeun and PAO Sam On until at least April 1977, when the latter was removed at SAO Saroeun's request and replaced by Mao.<sup>9776</sup> Regiment 82 was stationed in Siem Pang district and charged with patrolling the DK-Laos border to the north.<sup>9777</sup> The regiment was commanded by UNG Ren from its inception in 1975 until early to mid-1977.<sup>9778</sup> Former Division 14 officer CHHAOM Se served as deputy commander until his appointment to the chairmanship of Au Kanseng Security Centre in late 1976 or early 1977,<sup>9779</sup> and was replaced as deputy commander by Son (or Sun).<sup>9780</sup> Regiment 83 was initially headed by Son (or Sun), who was followed by former Regiment 81 Deputy Commander Thy (or Thin) and Pra (or Bra) before his reassignment to Division 920.<sup>9781</sup> The regiment was posted to the north-eastern region of Ratanakiri province around Veun Sai and Ta Veang districts to patrol the DK-Laos-Vietnam border.<sup>9782</sup> Each regiment was further subdivided into military, political and logistical units.<sup>9783</sup>

2866. In addition to its patrolling duties, Division 801 and its regiments were tasked with assisting bases and cooperatives across the Northeast Zone with agricultural production.<sup>9784</sup> The division also comprised a "special" unit (802), artillery unit (803), <sup>9776</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 99; T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, pp. 27, 30; DK Telegram, E3/1168, 30 March 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00916974 (requesting that Comrade Sam On be "transferred to the office and be replaced by Comrade Mao instead in accordance with Angkar's recommendation."); DK Telegram, E3/1198, 5 April 1977 (telegram by "Sam Un" to "Rooun" on behalf of the Division 801 Political Section). See also, UM Keo Interview Record, E3/5173, 8 May 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272660 ("The regimental commander was changed four times in a short period; Keo Savoeun [sic], Ta Mao, Comrade On and another one"); CHUM Cheat Interview Record, E3/5504, p. 6, ERN (En) 00398838 (indicating that PAO Sam On disappeared at about the same time as KEO Saroeun in 1977).

<sup>9777</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 77-78; T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, p. 70; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00406212; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00403579.

<sup>9778</sup> T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, p. 70; T. 10 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/158.1, p. 81; UNG Ren Interview Record, E3/402, 17 September 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00381035.

<sup>9779</sup> See below, paras 2867-2868.

<sup>9780</sup> DC-Cam Interview with CHHAOM Se and AN Sopheap, 25 June 2012, E3/10569, pp. 89, 95, ERN (En) 01079462, 01079468.

<sup>9781</sup> T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, pp. 70, 84; UNG Ren Interview Record, E3/402, 17 September 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00381035; DC-Cam Interview with CHHAOM Se and AN Sopheap, E3/10569, 25 June 2012, pp. 104-106, 109, ERN (En) 01079477-01079479, 01079482. The Chamber was unable to determine an approximate timeline of Regiment 83's leadership.

<sup>9782</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 77-78; DC-Cam Interview with CHHAOM Se and AN Sopheap, 25 June 2012, E3/10569, p. 106, ERN (En) 01079479.

<sup>9783</sup> T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, p. 57.

<sup>9784</sup> Minutes of Meeting Division 801, E3/806, 16 December 1976, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00874987-00874988 (Reporting on the crop output by Regiments 81 and 82. Brother 89, i.e. SON Sen, comments that "[t]he Division's strategic direction or strategic task in that place [the vicinity of Roads 13 (Laotian border) and 19 (Vietnamese border) is to defend the border and reform the social image and geographical landscape there"]; T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 68, 75-78 (stating that Regiment 81 was assigned to patrolling the north along Road 19. Regiment 82 was tasked with the north to Ou Da Lav. Regiment 83 patrolled from Au Sedthei to the Dragon's Tail area by the border with Laos and a female battalion (804), a hospital unit headed by LAY Sarim (805), a logistics and transportation battalion (806), a corrections office for minor offences at Au Tang chaired by Ta Vanna (809) and Au Kanseng Security Centre (810).<sup>9785</sup>

12.4.2.2. Au Kanseng Security Centre

2867. Au Kanseng Security Centre was located to the west of Au Kanseng Lake, La Ban Siek commune, Ban Lung district, Ratanakiri province within Sector 102 of the Northeast Zone.<sup>9786</sup> The Security Centre was established between late 1976 and early 1977,<sup>9787</sup> coinciding with the resolution of General Staff Chairman SON Sen alias Khieu alias Brother 89<sup>9788</sup> in late August 1976 to “screen out no-good elements” and “concentrate [them] in one location”.<sup>9789</sup> The establishment of Au Kanseng also followed the arrest of Northeast Zone Secretary NEY Sarann alias Ya in September 1976.<sup>9790</sup> The Security Centre remained operational until the arrival of Vietnamese forces in early 1979.<sup>9791</sup>

---

Vietnam); T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 30-31, 36-37; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 100; East Region Army's Border Defense Efforts Cited: Northeast Army's Functions (in FBIS collection), E3/1358, 20 August 1977, ERN (En) 00168288-00168289; Revolutionary Army's Role in Northeast Praised (in FBIS collection), E3/1362, 20 May 1978, ERN (En) 00170060-00170061.

<sup>9785</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 61-62; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00406212; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/9459, 8 May 2013, p. 3, ERN (En) 00922118; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5605, 4 March 2010, p. 5, ERN (En) 00488707; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, pp. 3-4, 7, ERN (En) 00403579-00403580, 00403583; UM Keo Interview Record, E3/5173, 8 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272662. See also, CHHAOM Se and AN Sopheap DC-Cam Interview, E3/10569, 25 June 2012, p. 129, ERN (En) 01079502.

<sup>9786</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8024, 21 June 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00384800; T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, pp. 66-67; T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 38; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 5-6; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5605, 4 March 2010, p. 3, ERN (En) 00488705; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00406212.

<sup>9787</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 87; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403574; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00406213; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 6.

<sup>9788</sup> T. 10 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/62.1, p. 71; T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, p. 70.

<sup>9789</sup> Minutes of Meeting (Deputy) Secretaries of Divisions and Regiments, E3/798, 30 August 1976, ERN (En) 00183968 (SAO Saroeun was among those attending this meeting). This stance would be repeated over one year later in a meeting of divisional and regimental deputies. See Minutes of Logistics Meeting (Deputy) Secretaries of Divisions and Regiments, E3/810, 19 September 1976, p. 12, ERN (En) 00195350 (“Inside the army, it is imperative to educate [the soldiers] on the situational view and enemy manoeuvres and to fight against liberalism, attachment to the image and social ranks [...]. It is imperative to have an absolute stance and not to hesitate to screen out anti-revolutionary elements.”).

<sup>9790</sup> Section 12.2.8.1.6: S-21 Security Centre: NEY Sarann alias MEN San alias Ya.

<sup>9791</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, pp. 66, 68-69 (the re-education centre in Au Kanseng was under Division 801); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 6 (“that security centre was under the supervision of Division 801”); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 46 (“the re-

2868. Au Kanseng was operated by a committee consisting of former Division 14 officers CHHAOM Se and CHIN Kimthong, and former Battalion 806 officer Tim. Appointed by Battalion 806 Chairman Ta Smien, CHHAOM Se served as chairman from late 1976 until early 1979.<sup>9792</sup> CHIN Kimthong alias Chhang served as CHHAOM Se's deputy and was responsible for prisoner interrogations during the same period.<sup>9793</sup> Tim, who was in charge of security matters at Au Kanseng, served either as a member of the Security Centre committee or as Deputy Chairman alongside CHIN Kimthong.<sup>9794</sup> Although Witness CHIN Kimthong denied in court his role as deputy of the Security Centre and asserted it was Tim who exercised this function,<sup>9795</sup> the testimony and documentary evidence before the Chamber directly contradicts his uncorroborated account,<sup>9796</sup> and the Chamber rejects CHIN Kimthong's assertions in this regard. Between six and nine guards worked at Au Kanseng under Tim's supervision, including Nhok, Auy (or Ouy), Lay, Chuop, Chang and Set.<sup>9797</sup> A limited education school [...] was supervised by Division 801"); T. 10 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/158.1, p. 48 (the security centre at Au Kanseng was under the supervision of Division 801 and it was not under the supervision of the local authority). See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403574-00403575; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/9459, 8 May 2013, p. 3, ERN (En) 00922118; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586.

---

<sup>9792</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 87; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00406212-00406213; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/9459, 8 May 2013, p. 3, ERN (En) 00922118; T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 39, 55; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 7; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00403580.

<sup>9793</sup> CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00403580 ("I, Chhang, was deputy chairman in charge of interrogation and preparation of prisoner documents"); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 47 ("Se was the supervisor [...] and below him was Chhang"); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272585 ("the Deputy Chairman responsible for the military was Chhang"); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00406212 ("Chhang who worked with me was the deputy chairman of the Re-education Centre at Au Kanseng"). See also, BUN Vann Tha DC-Cam Interview, E3/7953, undated, p. 13, ERN (En) 00843462 ("Yes [Se] was [chairman], and his deputy was Chhang [...] He was in charge of the soldiers."); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073 ("There were only 3 cadres in charge of that prison; they were Se, Chhang, and another whose name I don't remember."); MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404073 ("I knew Chhang who was one of the prison chiefs").

<sup>9794</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 47 (below Chhaom Se were Chhang and Tim); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00406213 ("Chhim Tim was deputy chairman in charge of techniques and arranging the guard and taking prisoners to work"); T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 40, 55, 90-91; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 7-8, 88.

<sup>9795</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 40 ("Se was the chief, and Tim was the deputy chief. And I was a member in charge of compiling the confessions or answers from the detainees."), 55 ("My actual role at Au Kanseng security centre was member and Se was the chairman and Tim was the deputy"); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 66 ("Tim was the deputy to Se and he was in charge of the security at Au Kanseng Security Centre [...] I simply took notes of the confessions or responses of the prisoners.").

<sup>9796</sup> See above, fn. 9793.

<sup>9797</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 40-41; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 8, 14; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En)

number of Sector Military soldiers were also assigned to security roles at the Security Centre.<sup>9798</sup>

12.4.2.3. Oversight of Au Kanseng Security Centre by Division 801

2869. Until late 1977, Au Kanseng reported to Battalion 806, the logistics unit of Centre Division 801 based in or near Veun Sai.<sup>9799</sup> CHHAOM Se maintained a direct relationship with the various chairmen of Battalion 806 including Ta Smien (until mid-1977<sup>9800</sup>), Ta Koy and Ta Mon, and routinely submitted reports on lesser Security Centre affairs to the Division through them.<sup>9801</sup> Smien, Koy and Mon made frequent trips to Au Kanseng to hold meetings with Security Centre staff to discuss security and living conditions at the Security Centre, as well as the general situation inside Au Kanseng.<sup>9802</sup> However, reporting through Battalion 806 had ceased by 1978 on Division 801 Deputy Commander Ta San's direction, whereupon all Security Centre matters were reported directly to SAO Saroeun.<sup>9803</sup>

2870. Further, the Chamber heard consistent evidence that throughout the Security Centre's operation, reports concerning prisoner interrogations and confessions were not communicated through Battalion 806 but were sent directly to Division 801 commander SAO Saroeun.<sup>9804</sup> Only Witness CHIN Kimthong offered partly conflicting evidence in

---

00403580. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00406213; KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073.

<sup>9798</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 45-46 (“[T]here were also security forces from the sector and, actually, there were two of them”).

<sup>9799</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 79; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3985, 3 March 2010, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00488699-00488700; T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 39.

<sup>9800</sup> See below, para. 2886.

<sup>9801</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 41-42; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 8, 89; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, pp. 4, 6, ERN (En) 00403580, 00403582. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3985, 3 March 2010, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00488699-00488700.

<sup>9802</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 55-56; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 8-9; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404077.

<sup>9803</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 94 (“06 used to be in charge of this section, and later on he did not ask me to report things to him and he asked me to report directly to the commander of the division”).

<sup>9804</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 43, 94-95 (“And with regard to the report that we obtained from the confessions, for example, we did not report to or copy to these heads of the battalions but to the division commander instead”), 97; T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 11. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3985, 3 March 2010, p. 3, ERN (En) 00488700 (“But throughout this period [referring to the three years from 1976] the work concerned with important matters such as the confessions that contained two or three pages, I also had to report directly to 801. As for the common political affairs, the control of forces, other activities, preventive measures, I reported through Ta Smien.”).

this regard. He initially testified that he did not know whether CHHAOM Se reported sensitive issues to anyone beyond Battalion 806.<sup>9805</sup> In response to a question by counsel for the Civil Parties however, and consistently with his 2009 statement to the OCIJ,<sup>9806</sup> he affirmed without elaboration that all communication to Division 801 passed through Battalion 806.<sup>9807</sup> In yet another statement to the OCIJ in 2013, the witness asserted that prisoner statements were forwarded by CHHAOM Se to SAO Saroeun.<sup>9808</sup> While the witness was not questioned in court about these discrepancies, the Chamber considers the testimony of Witness CHHAOM Se, who personally forwarded such confessions, to be more reliable on this point. CHHAOM Se was questioned at length and testified – consistently with his own prior statement to OCIJ investigators – that confession reports were never forwarded to battalion chiefs but were instead forwarded directly to SAO Saroeun.<sup>9809</sup> In light of his former position and consistent testimony, the Chamber finds CHHAOM Se’s account to be credible and is satisfied that reports concerning prisoner interrogations were forwarded directly to Division 801 Commander SAO Saroeun for the duration of the Security Centre’s operation to the exclusion of Battalion 806.

2871. The frequency of dispatches to the Division depended on their urgency and the inflow and outflow of prisoners at Au Kanseng.<sup>9810</sup> CHHAOM Se forwarded interrogation reports and confessions extracted at Au Kanseng either by telegram or <sup>9805</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 42 (“Q. As regards sensitive issues and regarding confidential reports, did [Ta Se] address them directly to Ta Saroeun or did he meet Ta Saroeun directly? A. I did not know whether he went to meet Ta Saroeun or any other person.”).

<sup>9806</sup> CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00403582 (“After the interrogations, we made summary reports to be sent through Ta Mon, the commander of Unit 806, to Ta Saroeun at division level. I reported to Se, the office chairman, and Se reported to Ta Mon”).

<sup>9807</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 8 (“Q. Yesterday, you also testified that the communication between the centre and Division 801 had to go through 806. It means it has to pass through Ta Smien, Is that correct? A. Yes, it is.”). See also, NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 520 (raising the discrepancy between CHHAOM Se and CHIN Kimthong’s evidence on this point).

<sup>9808</sup> CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/9734, 19 May 2013, ERN (En) 00943563 (“When I arrived there, Ta Cheng assigned me to write down statements of prisoners when he questioned them. I was [sic] then handed in those written statements to Ta Se who then transferred the statements to the division commander.”).

<sup>9809</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 94-95 (“And with regard to the report that we obtained from the confessions, for example, we did not report to or copy to these heads of the battalions but to the division commander instead”) See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3985, 3 March 2010, p. 3, ERN (En) 00488700 (“But throughout this period [referring to the three years from 1976] the work concerned with important matters such as the confessions that contained two or three pages, I also had to report directly to 801. As for the common political affairs, the control of forces, other activities, preventive measures, I reported through Ta Smien.”).

<sup>9810</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 95; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403575.

radio to SAO Saroeun,<sup>9811</sup> who instructed that individual detainees were “to be resolved, to be lessened or to be re-educated” depending upon the severity of their alleged offending or the nature of the information elicited.<sup>9812</sup> CHHAOM Se attended meetings with SAO Saroeun in person “whenever there was any issue relating directly” to Au Kanseng Security Centre.<sup>9813</sup>

12.4.2.4. Oversight of Division 801 by the RAK General Staff

2872. The evidence before the Chamber overwhelmingly demonstrates that overall authority at Au Kanseng Security Centre was vested in the RAK General Staff. SAO Saroeun reported directly to SON Sen at the General Staff headquarters in Phnom Penh via radio, by messenger and in person.<sup>9814</sup> Witness CHIN Kimthong encrypted SAO Saroeun’s reports to the General Staff during his posting to Division 14,<sup>9815</sup> and saw letters seeking the advice of the “upper echelon” on topics including battlefield issues, the border situation, the health of subordinates and medical supplies.<sup>9816</sup> At the time, he also personally delivered to the General Staff in Phnom Penh a letter from SAO Saroeun addressed “to Bong Khieu”, i.e. SON Sen.<sup>9817</sup>

2873. Former Division 801 Deputy Commander and later General Staff employee UNG Ren confirmed in court that SAO Saroeun sent reports during the DK period to the upper level, specifically SON Sen, who “was in charge above [the] division level”, and POL Pot.<sup>9818</sup> Questioned in court about his awareness of Division 801 seeking

<sup>9811</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 97-98; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3985, 3 March 2010, p. 4, ERN (En) 00488701; T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, pp. 60, 62; UNG Ren Interview Record, E3/402, 17 September 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00381035. See also, KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00250075.

<sup>9812</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 97, 103; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3985, 3 March 2010, p. 4, ERN (En) 00488701. See also, CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/9734, 19 May 2013, ERN (En) 00943563; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 9, ERN (En) 00403585.

<sup>9813</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 14; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 9, ERN (En) 00406217; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403575; T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 43 (CHHAOM Se “did not go to see the superiors every day”).

<sup>9814</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 33; T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 97-98.

<sup>9815</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 28-29, 36-37.

<sup>9816</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 34.

<sup>9817</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 35; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 100.

<sup>9818</sup> T. 10 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/158.1, p. 86 (“Son Sen was also the upper level; Pol Pot was also the upper level. And as I indicated earlier, when we had to make a report on politics or on military, these two were the main figures that reports would be sent to; 05 also made a report to them. And besides that, I did not know whether there were other people that division had to report to because above division, instructions from the Party Centre, CHHAOM Se responded, “Yes, of course. We had to communicate. If we do not communicate, we cannot lead the unit.”<sup>9819</sup> In this regard, the Chamber has before it six telegrams addressed directly to “Brother 89” from SAO Saroeun.<sup>9820</sup> Dated between November 1976 and April 1978, the telegrams detail a vast range of military and non-military matters, including the general situation across all Northeast Zone sectors (101, 102, 104 and 107), soldier welfare and discipline across Division 801, civilian and military enemies and their re-education, seasonal conditions and rice yields. One such telegram bears multiple handwritten annotations to the attention of “Angkar” dated 5 April 1977.<sup>9821</sup> A similarly annotated telegram from Regiment 81 Commander PAO Sam On to SAO Saroeun details the military situation inside regiment and is copied to Brother “8[illegible]” and “Brother 81”.<sup>9822</sup> Consistent with evidence of the subordination of SEAT Chhae alias Tum alias 81 to SON Sen within the General Staff,<sup>9823</sup> the number of telegrams from other RAK Centre Divisions bearing the two as co-recipients<sup>9824</sup> and latter’s tendency to annotate telegrams channelled to the Party Centre,<sup>9825</sup> the Chamber finds that SON Sen was not only the intended recipient of this telegram, but that he received it prior to forwarding it to the Party Centre.

---

there were Pol Pot and Son Sen. [...] Regarding the level above the division, first, on the military side, there was Son Sen who was in charge above division level. And above Son Sen, I would say there would be Pol Pot and no one else who would be above Son Sen”). Not to be confused with Comrade R(a)en. See Section 5: Administrative Structures, para. 428.

<sup>9819</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 25.

<sup>9820</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1164, 25 November 1976; DK Telegram, E3/1079, 25 December 1976; DK Telegram, E3/1061, 24 March 1977; DK Telegram, E3/1060, 25 March 1977; DK Telegram, E3/1168, 30 March 1977; DK Telegram, E3/870, 5 April 1978.

<sup>9821</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1060, 25 March 1977 (bearing annotation “To Angkar” dated 5 April 1977).

<sup>9822</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1198, 5 April 1977, ERN (En) 00916978.

<sup>9823</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAING Guek Eav), E3/56, 26 May 2009, pp. 58-59, ERN (En) 00334467-00334468 (SEAT Chhae “was the Deputy Secretary of the Standing Committee of the General Staff”). SEAT Chhae was arrested, detained and executed at S-21. See Section 12.2.8.3.2: S-21 Security Centre: SEAT Chhae alias Tum.

<sup>9824</sup> See e.g., DK Telegram, E3/1100, 20 May 1976, ERN (En) 00517910-13 (Division 920); DK Telegram, E3/1162, 26 May 1976, ERN (En) 00525763-00525765 (Division 310); DK Telegram, E3/1212, 29 August 1976, ERN (En) 00782244 (Division 502); DK Telegram, E3/1199, 6 April 1977 (Division 920), ERN (En) 00531038; DK Telegram, E3/1127, 29 [illegible] 1977, ERN (En) 00983609-00983610 (Division 164); DK Telegram, E3/1099, 9 June 1977, ERN (En) 00509691 (Division 920); DK Telegram, E3/1080, 13 July 1977, ERN (En) 00143512-13 (Division 164); DK Telegram, E3/1033, 24 August 1977, ERN (En) 00335205 (Division 450).

<sup>9825</sup> See e.g., DK Telegram, E3/1135, 19 October 1976, ERN (En) 00505040; DK Telegram, E3/1199, 6 April 1977, ERN (En) 00531038; DK Telegram, E3/1082, 12 August 1977, ERN (En) 00233972; DK Telegram, E3/1033, 14 August 1977, ERN (En) 00335205.

2874. Both UNG Ren and CHHAOM Se testified that directives of the upper echelon were relayed to lower cadres through SAO Saroeun.<sup>9826</sup> Witnesses uniformly testified that SAO Saroeun frequently attended meetings in Phnom Penh with the “upper echelon”.<sup>9827</sup> Contemporaneous lists before the Chamber confirm the SAO Saroeun’s attendance at General Staff “revolutionary self-criticism study courses” along with Division 801 regimental commanders and other independent RAK division and regiment chiefs.<sup>9828</sup> 2875. The Chamber is satisfied that SON Sen was kept apprised of the situation inside Division 801, including prisoner interrogations inside Au Kanseng Security Centre. Consistently with the fact that he annotated reports that were channelled through the General Staff to the Party Centre,<sup>9829</sup> the Chamber is satisfied that, as the Chairman of the General Staff, SON Sen had overall authority for Au Kanseng and regularly relayed information to Angkar before furnishing instructions to lower echelons, including Au Kanseng Security Centre.

2876. Regarding operational authority at Au Kanseng, the Chamber heard consistent evidence that no independent authority was vested in Security Centre staff. Witness CHIN Kimthong asserted that decisions to arrest and send soldiers to Au Kanseng were “made at the upper level”.<sup>9830</sup> Witness CHHAOM Se testified that he never received

<sup>9826</sup> T. 10 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/158.1, p. 7 (in response to whether Sao Saroeun required authorisation from the Party Centre, “We knew of the instructions from the Upper Echelon through him, only through the meetings that he relayed those instructions to us”); T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, pp. 11-13 (“[F]ollowing his meeting[s], [Sao Saroeun] disseminated information or direction from the upper authority as to how we are going to execute the plan [...] As for the security office [of which] I was in charge, we had to monitor the execution of the plan, as well, and we had to train our people, and we [had] to strengthen ourselves with all the components to which we belonged. We had to make sure that we work[ed] along the line with the orders from the upper authority.” [emphasis added]). See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/9459, 8 May 2013, p. 7, ERN (En) 00922122; KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073.

<sup>9827</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 11 (Sao Saroeun “frequently travelled back and forth from Phnom Penh to the Northeast Zone – every year”); T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 33 (“When [Ta Saroeun] was immediately in Ratanakiri province, one month after his arrival in Ratanakiri, he went to Phnom Penh”); T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, pp. 60-61 (“Sometimes I saw [Sao Saroeun] going up to Phnom Penh every month, or sometime[s] every two month”); UNG Ren Interview Record, E3/402, 17 September 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00381034.

<sup>9828</sup> First General Staff Training Session, E3/1585, 20 October 1976, pp. 1, 6, 7, ERN (En) 00897649, 00897654-00897655 (identifying SAO Saroeun (“Comrade Roen”), LAY Sarim, PAO Sam On, Ta Mao, Ta Vanna as being in attendance, among a total of 31 participants from Division 801); Second General Staff Training Session, E3/1142, 23 November 1976, ERN (En) 00535800 (identifying “Comrade Roen” as being in attendance).

<sup>9829</sup> See e.g., DK Telegram, E3/1135, 19 October 1976, ERN (En) 00505040; DK Telegram, E3/1199, 6 April 1977, ERN (En) 00531038; DK Telegram, E3/1082, 12 August 1977, ERN (En) 00233972; DK Telegram, E3/1033, 24 August 1977, ERN (En) 00335205. See below, para. 2906 (fn. 9940).

<sup>9830</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 10-11.

instructions or orders from NUON Chea or any leader other than SAO Saroeun.<sup>9831</sup> Both CHHAOM Se and CHIN Kimthong consistently declared that Security Centre staff did not have the right to exercise independent authority over the arrest, release or execution of detainees without SAO Saroeun's authorisation.<sup>9832</sup>

2877. With respect to these contentions, the Chamber has considered consciousness of guilt owing to the witnesses' positions and responsibilities at the time as a motivating factor to shift responsibility for the treatment of prisoners at the Security Centre. In light of the abundance and consistency of evidence demonstrating SAO Saroeun's considerable oversight at the Security Centre, the Chamber accepts as credible CHHAOM Se and CHIN Kimthong's assertions that ultimate operational authority at Au Kanseng did not vest in them.

12.4.2.5. Oversight by the Northeast Zone Committee

2878. Concerning the relationship between Division 801 and the Northeast Zone Committee, CHHAOM Se testified that a line of "mutual assistance" and cooperation existed between the two.<sup>9833</sup> Several contemporaneous documents before the Chamber bear evidence of such cooperation. In February 1976, the Standing Committee resolved that "the military will report to the bases and the bases will report [the] information to the General Staff" following the escalation of "problems at the border" with Vietnam. Referring specifically to Ratanakiri province and the leadership of Northeast Zone

<sup>9831</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 59.

<sup>9832</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 95 ("It was for [SAO Saroeun] to make the decision [...] the person should be arrested or disciplinary actions shall be taken for that particular individual."), 104 ("Regarding the execution[s], I, myself, never issued any orders"), 106 (confirming that the decision to release detainees was decided at the division level by the division secretary); T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, pp. 15-16 ("We did not arbitrarily accuse anyone of being [an] enemy and we were not allowed to exert any torture against the prisoner, either". The witness affirmed that he "exercised no authority in order to implement any decisions and that all decisions were exercised by Mr Sou Saroeun, whether it concerned the liberation or execution of prisoners"), 42 ("First and foremost, we were obliged to implement the policy"); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, pp. 8-9, ERN (En) 00406216-00406217; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/407, 8 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00406222 ("[T]he upper echelon always had a plan before they did something"); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403575; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 11 ("Security centre supervisor did not have any authority to make an arrest of anyone in his or her respective unit. As for the release, he also did not have that authority. He needed to seek permission from the upper level."); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00403583-00403584.

<sup>9833</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 79-81 ("It was our intention to cooperate, to mutually assist each other, because the [Northeast] Zone was close to the area we were deployed.").

Secretary Ya, the Standing Committee determined that, “[t]he important thing is that the army and the bases are in agreement and stick together”.<sup>9834</sup>

2879. In a telegram dispatched to SON Sen at about the time of Ya’s arrest and Au Kanseng’s establishment, SAO Saroeun reports the organisation of “[a] number of forces [...] in collaboration with the bases in order to arrest the enemies”, and further indicates a wide-ranging initiative for Division 801 to “help the people at all costs, i.e. harvesting and threshing rice”, noting that generally, the Division “have to do their best” in the Northeast Zone.<sup>9835</sup>

2880. Ya’s arrest saw the promotion of his former deputy, UM Neng alias Vy alias Vong, to the position of Northeast Zone Secretary, with Ta Lav as deputy.<sup>9836</sup> A stream of reports to and from the Zone Committee detailing enemy activity and networks in the Northeast Zone is apparent from as early as February 1977. In a telegram to S-21 Chairman KAING Guek Eav alias Duch, Vy requests the “hasty” interrogation of “BUO Khao” from Kok Lak commune “in order to smash his string in Se San at the right time”, naming among his associates Nou and CHAN Deng.<sup>9837</sup> In a telegram to SON Sen in late March 1977, Division 801 Commander SAO Saroeun reports the incrimination of these three in the confession of Say and their “stirring [of] the people” in Sector 101.<sup>9838</sup> SAO Saroeun reported the hunt for this network’s “enemy strings” to SON Sen again a day later: “A [contemptible] Nou and A Chan Deng etc [had]

<sup>9834</sup> Standing Committee Minutes regarding national defence matters, E3/229, 22 February 1976, p. 2, ERN (En) 00182626.

<sup>9835</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1164, 25 November 1976, ERN (En) 00516711-00516712.

<sup>9836</sup> See e.g., DK Telegram, E3/1122, 11 January 1977 (telegram by Vy to Party Centre); DK Telegram, E3/1058, 20 February 1977 (telegram by Vy addressed to Duch); DK Telegram, E3/240, 15 June 1977 (telegram by Vy to Party Centre). See below, Section 12.4.6: Arrival and Execution of the Jarai); DK Telegram, E3/919, 13 January 1978 (telegram by Vy to Party Centre); DK Telegram, E3/157, 21 April 1978 (telegram by Vy to Party Centre); DK Telegram, E3/943, 25 April 1978 (telegram by Vy to Party Centre); T. 26 July 2012 (ROCHOEM Ton), E1/97.1, p. 34 (“As for the Northeast zone, there were Ya and Bong Vong”). See also, NORNG Sophang Interview Record, 28 March 2009, E3/67, p. 4, ERN (En) 00483966 (“[T]he Northeast Zone where Mr Vi was in charge”); KLAN Vet Interview Record, 8 November 1009, E3/125, p. 5, ERN (En) 00404464 (referring to Ta Lav as having had “a role in the zone committee”); S-21 Confession – KHEANG Han alias But, E3/7388, 18 December 1978, ERN (En) 00143701 (referring to Vy and Lav being at a meeting with Angkar in 1975).

<sup>9837</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1058, 20 February 1977, ERN (En) 00583681 (“BUO Khao, who was sent from the North Zone, has been a cadre since the revolutionary struggling period. He is a Kavet ethnic minority in Kok Lak commune, Veun Sai Cheung district, located to the north of Se San River. Comrade Thi arrested him and sent him here. Please interrogate him hastily in order to smash his string in Se San at the right time.”).

<sup>9838</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1061, 24 March 1977, ERN (En) 00538730.

implicated other [...] names” but “the base simply ignored it”.<sup>9839</sup> BOUR Khav (BUO Khao) was executed at S-21 in October 1977.<sup>9840</sup>

2881. The close collaboration between the RAK and Zone Committee in the hunt for enemies is further evident in a telegram from Division 801 Deputy Commander Leu to SAO Saroeun dated late April 1977, where “the problem of Li” is reported as having been “handed over” to Om Lav. It notes that “Om Lav has been making the arrests” regarding enemies across cooperatives in Sector 107, stating that they were “still not finished” and reports Lav’s request for the Division “to cooperate with him closely and to monitor and to further cooperate”.<sup>9841</sup>

2882. A telegram by Vy in mid-June 1977 to the Party Centre reports on “secret measures” being taken by Battalion 81 Deputy Commander Thy against enemies in mobile units and rubber and cotton plantations. Specific references to the networks of enemies in Sector 107 and Stung Treng (Sector 104), as well as those connected with IN Tam and CHENG Heng; two of the “seven traitors” of the Khmer Republic.<sup>9842</sup> This same telegram reported to the Party Centre the arrest and detention of a group of Jarai in Sector 107 by Division 801 forces.<sup>9843</sup> Beside reporting the matter up the DK hierarchy, there is no evidence to suggest the Zone’s further involvement in the Jarai’s arrest or detention.

2883. With respect to the division of authority between Division 801 and the Zone Committee, the Chamber has already found that the Division regularly reported to the General Staff on both military and civilian matters.<sup>9844</sup> On the other hand, there was insufficient evidence to delineate the extent of the Zone Committee’s mandate with respect to civilian affairs. Concerning military affairs, while limited references point to the existence of a Northeast Zone Military headed by Ta Thoat,<sup>9845</sup> there was no evidence to suggest the Zone Committee’s direct involvement in the execution of

<sup>9839</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1060, 25 March 1977, ERN (En) 00574315.

<sup>9840</sup> See below, para. 2886.

<sup>9841</sup> DK Telegram, E3/876, 23 April 1977, ERN (En) 00183714.

<sup>9842</sup> For IN Tam and CHENG Heng, see Section 3: Historical Background, fn. 556.

<sup>9843</sup> DK Telegram, E3/240, 16 June 1977, ERN (En) 00897667-00897668.

<sup>9844</sup> See above, para. 2873.

<sup>9845</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 10, ERN (En) 00406218 (“Ta Thoat was responsible for the Military Zone [after 17 April 1975]”. Following the removal of Ya as Northeast Zone Secretary, “Ta Thoat was still responsible for the military.”). The Chamber has found that a limited Zone Military presence existed at Au Kanseng Security Centre. See above, para. 2868.

arrests, and the Chamber has found that the foregoing arrests were in fact carried out by Division 801 forces.<sup>9846</sup> SAO Saroeun's elevation to the role of Northeast Zone Secretary shortly before the collapse of the DK regime further demonstrates the significant degree of trust that he enjoyed from the Party Centre and the predominant role that Division 801 played in the Northeast Zone.<sup>9847</sup> 2884. The Chamber is satisfied that while a high degree of cooperation existed between Division 801 and the Northeast Zone in the hunt for enemies and, to a lesser extent, agricultural production, the execution of arrests and detentions within the Northeast Zone was the sole jurisdiction of Division 801, which was accountable to the General Staff. Consistently with its findings that Au Kanseng Security Centre was subordinated to Division 801, the Chamber finds that the Northeast Zone Committee did not maintain oversight of the Security Centre or its operations. It is nevertheless satisfied that the Zone Committee did report the progress of internal purges across the Zone and inside Division 801 directly to the Party Centre.

12.4.3. Purpose, Location and Layout

2885. Various referred to by witnesses as a “security”, “re-education” and “correction” centre or “prison”,<sup>9848</sup> Au Kanseng initially served as a detention and corrections centre for Division 801 soldiers who had been sent for re-education as a result of minor wrongdoings.<sup>9849</sup> Ill-disciplined soldiers and suspected internal enemies were reformed through indoctrination or reinforcement of the Party line.<sup>9850</sup> This

<sup>9846</sup> See above, paras 2878-2882. See below, paras 2893, 2935.

<sup>9847</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 11; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, 31 October 2009, E3/405, p. 10, ERN (En) 00406218.

<sup>9848</sup> For “re-education centre”, see T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, pp. 40, 43, 45; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1 (generally); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 71. For “security centre”, see T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1 (generally); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1 (generally). See also, T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 87 (“correction centre”); T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 56 (“prison”); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 37 (“the prison was called Au Kanseng prison”).

<sup>9849</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 45 (“[A]t the beginning there were about five to 60 prisoners and later on the number increased”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00406213-00406214 (the initial 50 prisoners were all soldiers; in 1977 there were no civilians or plantation union workers. “The prisoners were a mix of soldiers that had been arrested and brought in from units subordinate to Division 801”).

<sup>9850</sup> Minutes of Logistics Meeting (Deputy) Secretaries of Divisions and Regiments, E3/810, 19 September 1976, p. 12, ERN (En) 00195350 (“But [we must] be most especially vigilant of the enemy attacking from inside by boring holes inside the bases and our army. it is imperative to thwart them by frequent and clear education on the revolutionary line and the Party Statutes.”); DK Telegram, E3/1164, 25 November 1976, ERN (En) 00516711 (indicating organisational measures to arrest suspected enemies, examine those implicated by enemy confessions, “absolutely” remove “any company or squad

continued with the commencement of internal purges of Division 801 in late 1976, with lower-ranking Division 801 soldiers implicated in confessions also being sent to Au Kanseng for correction.<sup>9851</sup>

2886. As internal purges expanded across the Northeast Zone, a small number of CPK cadres were arrested, detained and executed at S-21 between 1976 to 1978, including Northeast Zone Secretary NEY Sarann alias Ya,<sup>9852</sup> Northeast Zone Committee Member and Rubber Plantation Chief TOUCH Soeun alias Tum,<sup>9853</sup> Veun Sai District Secretary MOUY Pay,<sup>9854</sup> Lumphat Leu and Krom District Secretaries KHORN Thin and SAO Thuok alias Phan<sup>9855</sup> and Kok Lak District Secretary PUY Ke alias BUOR Khav.<sup>9856</sup> Division 801 personnel were similarly arrested, detained and executed at Scadres who are inactive, deceitful or lazy” and gradually arrest “[t]hose who affiliated to political tendency”); T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 86 (“[A]t the time, the situation at the border was chaotic, and a lot of people in the army were not properly disciplined. And for that reason, at each regiment, they had to make sure that a system was in place to discipline those people who were free and ill-disciplined [...] that’s why a centre was set up, so that the [...] irregular elements could be contained and detained”), 88 (“[P]eople who were holding the rank of captain or major would not be subjected to be sent to this centre”); T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 42 (“I could also note that it was a transitional period, the period to transfer the society into a social one, and people had to build their view and stance -- social stance [...] we would impart or indoctrinate or educate people to make sure they could be corrected, should be following the social line or policy”). See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403575; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, pp. 4, 7, ERN (En) 00406212, 00406215; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/407, 8 November 2009, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00406221-00406222.

---

<sup>9851</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 63-64; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/9734, 9 May 2013, ERN (En) 00943564 (“I saw they arrested and sent many people to Au Kanseng [as part of the purge of Division 801 in mid-1977]”). See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00406213; DK Telegram, E3/1164, 25 November 1976, ERN (En) 00516711; KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073.

<sup>9852</sup> Section 12.2.8.1.6: S-21 Security Centre: NEY Sarann alias MEN San alias Ya.

<sup>9853</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/9905, undated, ERN (En) 01398940 (TOUCH Soeun alias Tum, entered 23 March 1978); S-21 list of prisoners interrogated on 28 April 1978, E3/1935, 28 April 1978, ERN (En) 00864801 (TOUCH Soeun alias Tum, “Chief of Ratankiri Rubber Plantation”, entered 22 March 1978). For descriptions of Tum’s position, see T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 37, 41; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272585; T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 32-33, 35-36.

<sup>9854</sup> S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 12 November 1978, E3/10212, undated, ERN (En) 01397695 (entry no. 3, MUOY Poy, “Secretary of Veun Sai District, Sector 101”); S-21 list of Northeast Zone prisoners, E3/2257, 6 December 1978, ERN (En) 00747641 (entry no. 7, MOUY Pay, “removed”, “Secretary of Vensai district, Sector 101”).

<sup>9855</sup> S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 31 December 1978, E3/10455, ERN (En) 01248071 (entry no. 70, KHORN Thin alias Vieng Khann, “Secretary of Lumphatt Leu District”, entered 1 December 1978); S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 16 November 1978, E3/10212, undated, ERN (En) 01397702 (entry no. 1, SAO Thuok alias Phan, “Member of Sector 102 and Secretary of Lamphat Kraom District”, entered 16 November 1978).

<sup>9856</sup> S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 31 October 1977, E3/2285, 1 November 1977, ERN (En) 01564832 (entry no. 97, PUY Ke alias BUOR Khav, “Secretary of Kok Lak District”).

21 during this period,<sup>9857</sup> including Regiment 81 Commander KEO Saroeun,<sup>9858</sup> Unit 802 Chief NUON Lauch alias Phaath,<sup>9859</sup> Unit 803 Chief IENG Heang alias Han,<sup>9860</sup> Unit 805 Chief LAY Sarim<sup>9861</sup> and Unit 806 Chief HANG Keo alias Smien.<sup>9862</sup> There was no evidence to suggest that any or all of these detainees were incarcerated in, or otherwise transited through, Au Kanseng Security Centre prior to their imprisonment in S-21. To the contrary, the evidence was clear in demonstrating that there were no prisoner transfers between Au Kanseng and S-21, and that cadres arrested in the Northeast Zone were sent directly “to Phnom Penh”.<sup>9863</sup> The Chamber has accordingly

<sup>9857</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners to be interrogated at house “Cha”, E3/2263, 19 November 1976, p. 3, ERN (En) 01339126; S-21 Daily Controlling List, E3/10770, various dates, p. 141, ERN (En) 01460556 (recording 27 prisoners from Division 801 as at 25 July 1977); S-21 list of prisoners admitted in July 1977, E3/9954, 5 August 1977, pp. 36-37, ERN (En) 01563492-01563493; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10073, 18 October 1977, p. 6, ERN (En) 01397550; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8600, undated, p. 22, ERN (En) 01321735; S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 22 June 1978, E3/10196, 26 June 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 01548767.

<sup>9858</sup> S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 9 December 1977, E3/2286, undated, p. 501, ERN (En) 00873622 (entry no. 189, KEV Saroeun alias Seng, Division 801, “Member of Division”, entry date listed as “5.77”); S-21 Confession – KEV Seng alias Saroeun, E3/2951, 5 June 1977, ERN (En) 00783145-007856 (cover page of confession dated 8 October 1977); Prisoner Biography – KEO Saroeun, E3/9276, undated, ERN (En) 01184741 (indicating date of arrest as 25 March 1977); T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 99-100 (KEO Saroeun “was called for a study session in Phnom Penh and he disappeared” and confirming S-21 record).

<sup>9859</sup> S-21 list of prisoners admitted in July 1977, E3/9954, 5 August 1977, ERN (En) 01563492 (entry no. 1, NUON Lauch alias Phaath, Chairperson of Battalion 802, entered 30 July 1977).

<sup>9860</sup> S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 22 June 1978, E3/10196, 26 June 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 01548767 (entry no. 11, IENG Heang alias Han, Secretary of Battalion 803, in charge of division artillery).

<sup>9861</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 10 (“Q. [W]as Lay Sarim also sent to the Au Kanseng Security Centre? A. Lay Sarim was not sent to Au Kanseng Security Centre. However, I indirectly heard that Lay Sarim was sent to Phnom Penh.”); S-21 Confession – LAY Sarim, E3/3637, 23 May 1977, ERN (En) 00779037-00779054; S-21 Confession – LAY Sarim, E3/3638, undated, ERN (Kh) 00514814-00514998.

<sup>9862</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 89 (“After Ta Smien was removed from the unit, Ta Koy and Mon were in charge of the unit”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5605, 4 March 2010, p. 4, ERN (En) 00488706; S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 12 June 1977, E3/9646, 29 June 1977, ERN (Kh) 01017034 (entry no. 3, HANG Keo alias Smien, Secretary of Battalion 806 in Division Office, Division 801).

<sup>9863</sup> T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, p. 95 (stating that KEO Saroeun was called to Phnom Penh, where he “met [his] fate”); UNG Ren Interview Record, E3/84, 23 October 2009, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00408394-00408395; T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, pp. 102-103 (rejecting that battalion chief “Chhaom” was detained at Au Kanseng and stating that he heard that Chhaom “had been sent to Phnom Penh” and never returned); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403576 (“Cadres from Ratanakiri were transported to Phnom Penh on [sic] van or by plane. Some returned and some disappeared.”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/9459, 8 May 2013, pp. 5, ERN (En) 00922120 (“Elements accused of being traitors were called to Phnom Penh, but never seen to have returned [...] for example, in the case of the Secretary of Sector 101, when they took him to Phnom Penh, they put Ta Thin in replacement of the military side.”), 8, ERN (En) 00922123 (“Q. Do you know LAY Sarim? A. I know him [...] but he was never detained in my place [i.e. Au Kanseng Security Centre]”); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 10 (“Lay Sarim was not sent to Au Kanseng Security Centre. However, I indirectly heard that Lay Sarim was sent to Phnom Penh.”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404077 (“Q. Were any prisoners transferred from Au Kanseng to Phnom Penh? A. There was not.”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5605, p. 4, ERN (En) 00488706 (“Smien had been arrested and sent to Phnom Penh”).

not considered these arrests as part of the Au Kanseng Security Centre crime base. It finds that Au Kanseng served as an auxiliary to S-21, detaining and reforming less serious offenders from the Northeast Zone, while higher-ranking CPK and Division 801 cadres from the Zone were sent to, detained and frequently executed at S-21.

2887. From mid-1977, civilians who did not hold senior positions including workers from cooperatives and rubber plantation unions across the Northeast Zone were also detained at Au Kanseng.<sup>9864</sup> While some were imprisoned under the pretext of being too lazy to work or stealing food from their respective groups or unit chiefs,<sup>9865</sup> these arrests in fact coincided with Division 801's identification of the presence of "enemy infiltrators" inside the division sowing discord by "inducing" soldiers to reject revolutionary values, encouraging laziness, free speech and food theft.<sup>9866</sup> As a result, the Northeast Zone had by mid-1977 resolved to "take secret measures against the contemptible persons burrowing within rubber and cotton plantations".<sup>9867</sup> Spouses and children of plantation and cooperative workers were also interned at Au Kanseng as a result of these purges.<sup>9868</sup>

<sup>9864</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 84 (base people from the cooperatives and some from unions were sent to Au Kanseng from mid-1977); T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, pp. 40-41 (base people workers from the union in Sector 101 were sent to Au Kanseng); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 9 (a small number of ordinary people or workers were arrested by cooperative or union chairmen and sent to Au Kanseng); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 40 (the witness was arrested while working at a rubber plantation in Ban Lung district), 47 (three categories of people were detained at Au Kanseng Security Centre: ordinary people, soldiers and union members); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586 (stating that "Ta Tum reported me" and identifying the location of his arrest as Katieng village, Kachanh sub-district); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 31-32 (the witness was arrested while working at a plantation in Ban Lung district supervised by "Tum"); T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 62; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 44.

<sup>9865</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 71; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 11-12. See also, SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620.

<sup>9866</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1164, 25 November 1976, ERN (En) 00516709 (specifically referring to enemy infiltrators in Regiment 83).

<sup>9867</sup> See below, fn. 9914.

<sup>9868</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 14; T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 36; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00406214; MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272580; UM Keo Interview Record, E3/5173, 8 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272661).

2888. As military confrontations intensified at the Cambodia-Vietnam border in 1977,<sup>9869</sup> a small number of Vietnamese were detained at Au Kanseng.<sup>9870</sup> The arrival and detention of a group of Jarai is discussed below.<sup>9871</sup>

2889. Up to 60 prisoners were detained at the Security Centre in the first year of its operation,<sup>9872</sup> with the number of prisoners growing progressively as the armed conflict with Vietnam and internal purges of Division 801 and CPK cadres escalated.<sup>9873</sup> Witness testimony and other evidence before the Chamber consistently identified there having been between 100 and 200 detainees in 1978 and 1979.<sup>9874</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that Au Kanseng Security Centre detained no more than 200 prisoners at the zenith of its operation in 1978.

<sup>9869</sup> Section 4: General Overview, paras 285-289.

<sup>9870</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 45 (“[I]t was difficult for me to record any responses from Vietnamese prisoners because I do not speak Vietnamese, and since Lai spoke Vietnamese he was used to interpret the responses”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00403583 (“There were some ethnic minority prisoners [at Au Kanseng], and there were some ethnic Vietnamese as well”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00406215-00406216 (“[A] group of six Vietnamese (civilians) had been taken prisoner [...]. My office [Au Kanseng Security Centre] only had the right to interrogate and to prepare the documents and report to [the] upper echelon for them to decide, that’s all.”). Witness MOEURNG Chandy did not see any Vietnamese prisoners in her detention building (which only contained female prisoners), but was not examined on the presence of Vietnamese detainees at Au Kanseng more generally. See T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 39, 70-71.

<sup>9871</sup> See below, Section 12.4.6: Arrival and Execution of the Jarai.

<sup>9872</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 45 (“at the beginning there were about five to sixty prisoners and later on the number increased”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00406213 (initially fifty prisoners were all soldiers that had been sent from subordinate units of Division 801 to Au Kanseng Security Centre); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403574 (there were about forty prisoners detained in late 1976).

<sup>9873</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 45 (“[T]he situation developed from bad to worse and the purges operation was intensified and for that, more and more people were sent to [the] re-education centre. And this also coincides with the intensifying situation at the border areas”).

<sup>9874</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 80-81 (“The prisoners at Au Kanseng security centre were no more than 200 [...] they were somewhere near the number of 200”); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 12-13 (“There were less than 200 prisoners. I can say there were around more than 100 prisoners”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00403583 (“By late 1977 when the situation was in turmoil, the number of prisoners had risen to more than 200. In 1978 and up until we fled from the Yvon, there were only 100 or more prisoners”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00406214 (“By 1978 the number of prisoners increased to more than 100”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403574 (“The number of prisoners was increased to about 70 in 1977 [...] In 1978, there were about 100 prisoners as more prisoners from the cooperatives and workers from trade unions were sent to the centre. The centre did not accommodate thousands of prisoners as there were not so many security people.”); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00250074 (“At the beginning [of the witness’s detention at Au Kanseng] there were about 200 prisoners, but later it was down to about 100, and at the end of the regime there were about 20 to 30 prisoners left. During my stay in that prison the daily average number of prisoner[s] was about 100 persons”); MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272579 (“There were approximately 100 prisoners in total”).

2890. The Security Centre occupied an area of approximately 200 to 250 square metres in uninhabited forest behind what is today the Ratanakiri Hospital.<sup>9875</sup> The compound was encircled by a perimeter of bamboo spikes or stakes.<sup>9876</sup>

2891. Au Kanseng consisted of a number of bamboo buildings with thatched rooves, approximately four by six to 15 metres in dimension, used to detain prisoners in cells.<sup>9877</sup> Accounts of the number of detention buildings at the Security Centre varied between witnesses. Former Au Kanseng Deputy Chairman CHIN Kimthong testified that there were a total of five detention buildings, clarifying that one fell into disuse after another was constructed on the eastern part of the Security Centre compound.<sup>9878</sup> Former prisoner PHON Thol stated that there were three buildings in which detainees were housed.<sup>9879</sup> In their statements to OCIJ investigators, other witnesses variously deposed to having seen three to five detention buildings at various points in time.<sup>9880</sup>

2892. The compound further consisted of a separate interrogation house by the forest, partly enclosed by walls and located approximately 30 to 50 metres from the various

<sup>9875</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 37; MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00404071-00404072; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215; Sketch by CHHAOM Se of the location of the Au Kanseng Security Centre, E3/2923, ERN 00699170; Site Identification Report, E3/8024, 21 June 2009, pp. 18-19, ERN (En) 00384813-00384814; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586; MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272577; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586.

<sup>9876</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 97 (describing a fence around the compound); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586 (the centre was “surrounded by a bamboo fence with bamboo stakes emplaced”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403576 (“the centre was not surrounded by walls”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00403581 (the centre was “not surrounded by a fence”); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073 (“The prison compound was not fenced, but they planted bamboo spikes around it and guards were guarding constantly”).

<sup>9877</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 50 (five bamboo buildings with thatched rooves, one of which was a “long” building); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 40 (the building was 15 metres long); MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404072 (“the building was about 10 metres long and four metres wide”); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 67 (“three long buildings”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215 (prisoner buildings were 4x6m); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073 (each prisoner house was 4x8m).

<sup>9878</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 50.

<sup>9879</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 67.

<sup>9880</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215 (four prisoner buildings); Sketch by PHON Thol of Au Kanseng Security Centre, E3/5172, 8 June 2008, ERN 00272590 (showing two buildings for “prisoners”, a third for “females” and a “wives’ house”); MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404072 (identifies three buildings similar to the first one in which she was detained); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073 (five houses for prisoners); MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272577 (three buildings in the prison).

detention buildings.<sup>9881</sup> A kitchen and food hall were located by the Au Kanseng stream within the compound,<sup>9882</sup> and living and working quarters for guards and cadres were also present within the Security Centre proper.<sup>9883</sup> B-52 bomb craters and jackfruit plantations were located to the south of the Security Centre.<sup>9884</sup> None of the buildings from Au Kanseng Security Centre remain on the site today.<sup>9885</sup>

12.4.4. Living, Working and Detention Conditions

12.4.4.1. Arrest and transfer

2893. Civilian detainees were transported to Au Kanseng in trucks under armed guard by Regiment 81, 82 and 83 soldiers,<sup>9886</sup> at times together with a number of other

<sup>9881</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 52 (the interrogation house was about 100 metres from CHIN Kimthong's house, had a thatched roof, was not fully enclosed by walls and had forest to the sides of the house); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 42 (interrogations were conducted in a separate room), 96 (the distance to the interrogation room from MOEURNG Chandy's holding cell was about 20 metres); MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404072 (the interrogation room was about 30m from the holding cells); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 63 (PHON Thol was interrogated in a small and separate place which was about 50m from where he was detained), 78 (the interrogation room was "about 50 metres away" from the cell in which the witness was detained); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272585 (the interrogation building was about 50m from the prisoner holding cells); Sketch by PHON Thol of Au Kanseng Security Centre, E3/5172, 8 June 2008, ERN 00272590 (showing the interrogation building 20 metres from the building for the "females"); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215 (the interrogation house was about 50 to 60 metres from the working building).

<sup>9882</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 50 (there was a kitchen hall); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 7 (the centre had a kitchen which was built next to the stream), 70; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 60-61; T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 89; Sketch by PHON Thol of Au Kanseng Security Centre, E3/5172, 8 June 2008, ERN 00272590 (showing a kitchen building by the stream).

<sup>9883</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215; Sketch by PHON Thol of Au Kanseng Security Centre, E3/5172, 8 June 2008, ERN 00272590 (showing a building labelled "HQs"); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073.

<sup>9884</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 7 (there were no pits inside the Security Centre compound); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 81 (describing the B-52 craters as "far away from the detention buildings"); Sketch by CHHAOM Se of the location of the Au Kanseng Security Centre, E3/2923, ERN 00699170 (showing a B-52 bomb crater south of Au Kanseng Security Centre); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/407, 8 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406226 (there were B-52 bomb craters at the middle of Svay Mountain); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00403583; MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272580 (stating that there were B-52 bomb craters less than one kilometre from the prison); Site Identification Report, E3/8024, 21 June 2009, p. 18, ERN (En) 00384813.

<sup>9885</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8024, 21 June 2009, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 00384804-00384805; DC-Cam Mapping Project (Ratanakiri Province), E3/2628, 7 December 1999, ERN (En) 00078145.

<sup>9886</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 34-37, 69; MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00404071-00404072; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 40; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586; T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 63 (soldiers transferring prisoners to Au Kanseng were from Regiments 81, 82 and 83), 72, 74; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 10. See also, UM Keo Interview Record, E3/5173, 8 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272661; SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620.

detainees.<sup>9887</sup> New prisoners arrived irregularly.<sup>9888</sup> Guards from the Security Centre unloaded prisoners from the vehicles and custody of regimental units and brought them into the detention buildings,<sup>9889</sup> where they recorded prisoners' names and biographies, and queried the reasons for their arrests.<sup>9890</sup>

2894. Upon arrival, males and females were immediately segregated and detained in separate buildings,<sup>9891</sup> where they would await interrogation and thereafter remain for the duration of their incarceration.<sup>9892</sup>

2895. Witnesses before the Chamber testified that they were not provided with any information – either at the time of their arrest, upon their arrival at Au Kanseng or in the immediate aftermath thereof – about the reasons for their arrests. Witness PHON Thol, a plantation worker at the time of his arrest in mid-1977, testified that he was not only unaware of the reason for his arrest upon arrival at Au Kanseng, but that he was brought to the Security Centre along with his wife under the pretence of being required by Angkar for a meeting.<sup>9893</sup> PHON Thol's wife, Witness MOEURNG Chandy, was told by her village chief that Northeast Zone Plantation Chief Tum had ordered her to “go to a meeting”.<sup>9894</sup> Her account was consistent with other statements before the Chamber indicating that witnesses were brought to the Security Centre under the pretext <sup>9887</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 13 (“Sometimes the prisoners would come in a group of three or sometimes on prisoner was brought in. The number varied. And not more than five prisoners were brought in at a time.”); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 35-36 (there were two or three other people in the truck with the witness); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 43-44 (there were approximately 10 other union workers in the truck); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586 (around 10 people were transported by Chinese GAZ truck and dropped at Boeng Kanseng).

<sup>9888</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 77.

<sup>9889</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 63; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 13.

<sup>9890</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 66; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 12; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00403582. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403575; KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073.

<sup>9891</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 44-45 (stating that his pregnant wife was arrested with him and subsequently gave birth in the prison), 88; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586; T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 38, 41.

<sup>9892</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 49-50, 97. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215; MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272578; BUN Vann Tha DC-Cam Interview, E3/7953, undated, p. 22, ERN (En) 00843471; SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620.

<sup>9893</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/396.1, p. 8 (“We were only told that Angkar needed us for re-education, and my wife and I were asked to board a vehicle”).

<sup>9894</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 36; MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, p. 2, ERN (En) 00404071.

of attending meetings or re-education sessions.<sup>9895</sup> It was further consistent with Au Kanseng Deputy Chairman CHIN Kimthong's testimony that Tum had ordered the arrest of plantation workers arrests on the basis that they were workers of the "previous regime".<sup>9896</sup> MOEURNG Chandy only realised that she was being imprisoned upon arriving at and seeing the Security Centre.<sup>9897</sup> In their interviews with OCII investigators, former prisoners KHOEM Peou and UM Keo deposed to not having been told the reasons for their arrest,<sup>9898</sup> while witnesses including PHON Thol asserted they were only accused of wrongdoing during their interrogations.<sup>9899</sup> On the basis of the foregoing, the Chamber is satisfied that civilians were not properly informed of the reasons for their arrest before or within a reasonable time of having been brought to Au Kanseng Security Centre.

2896. The Chamber heard limited evidence about military prisoners who were detained at Au Kanseng. As part of the Division 801 purges in 1977, former Division 11 soldiers associated with Unit 805 Chief LAY Sarim were arrested and interrogated at the Security Centre,<sup>9900</sup> while senior Unit 805 cadres were sent to S-21.<sup>9901</sup> Security

<sup>9895</sup> MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272577 ("Union Chairman Samrit [...] called me to a meeting to tell me, "Angkar has called [you] to study at S-8 [...] and had me get on a truck. But to the contrary, the truck did not bring me to S-8, but drove on past there to a location in the forest which they called Au Kanseng"); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072 ("Chhap and Samrith were the ones who called me into the vehicle and told me that I had to go to attend an education").

<sup>9896</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 71 ("Regarding the union workers who were sent to Au Kanseng security centre, they were sent through the union chairperson named Tum [...] He said that those workers were former elements and former workers of the previous regime. They were workers of the rubber plantation in the previous regime and that they did not strictly adhere to Angkar's disciplines. For instance, if they felt hungry, they would stop working and went to find food. And they rarely adhered to the instructions and he requested us to further question them."). The foregoing evidence is also consistent with the program of Division 801 and the Northeast Zone to identify and arrest enemies inside plantations and cooperatives. See above, para. 2887.

<sup>9897</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 41 ("I did not know the reasons that I was sent there and I thought that would be the end of my life").

<sup>9898</sup> KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072 ("I didn't know why they arrested me and my wife [...] they told me that I had to go to attend education"); UM Keo Interview Record, E3/5173, 8 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272661 ("they interrogated me and I asked them in return 'what have I done wrong?").

<sup>9899</sup> See below, para. 2899.

<sup>9900</sup> CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00403584; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5605, 4 March 2010, p. 5, ERN (En) 00488707; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/9459, 8 May 2013, p. 8, ERN (En) 00922123. See also, CHHAOM Se and AN Sopheap DC-Cam Interview, E3/10569, 25 June 2012, p. 136, ERN (En) 01079509 ("Most of the people from Division 11 were arrested").

<sup>9901</sup> S-21 list of prisoners admitted in July 1977, E3/9954, 5 August 1977, ERN (En) 01332192-01332193 (entry no. 3, SAOM Pech alias Sam An, Deputy Commander of Company 51, Battalion 805; entry no. 4, KHIM Kosal alias Chan, Political section of Platoon 502, Battalion 805; entry no. 5, PAN Khauy, Deputy Chairperson of Economic Section of Battalion 805; entry no. 9, SOEM Hum, Male

Centre staff received lists from time to time detailing the names of incoming soldiers, their units and the reasons for their arrests.<sup>9902</sup> Although he initially told investigators that soldiers were restrained upon arrival to Au Kanseng,<sup>9903</sup> Witness CHIN Kimthong testified in court that soldiers were typically neither shackled nor chained upon arrival to the Security Centre. This discrepancy was not tested at trial, however the witness did see one soldier blindfolded and a handful of other soldiers whose hands were tied.<sup>9904</sup> The blindfolded soldier, PHENG Phoy, was exceptional according to CHIN Kimthong, as he arrived to the Security Centre under armed guard in about mid-1977 after having been implicated in the S-21 confession of his superior, LAY Sarim.<sup>9905</sup> PHENG Phoy was immediately put into a detention room and chained pending interrogation.<sup>9906</sup> In his statement to investigators, Witness CHHAOM Se provided that some of the prisoners sent to Au Kanseng “arrived in shackles”. It remains unclear whether he was there referring to civilian or military prisoners. No further evidence was heard at trial in relation to the arrival of military prisoners at Au Kanseng. Noting the lack of further evidence in this regard, the Chamber considers CHIN Kimthong’s inconsistent account to be an insufficient basis to establish beyond reasonable doubt the manner of military prisoners’ arrivals at Au Kanseng Security Centre.

12.4.4.2. Interrogations

2897. Interrogations did not take place immediately following arrest but occurred between a couple of days and one month after arrival at the Security Centre.<sup>9907</sup> They combatant of Economics Section of Battalion 805 – all entered between 23 and 30 July 1977). The Chamber has not considered these arrests and detentions as part of the Au Kanseng crime base.

---

<sup>9902</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 67; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00403581.

<sup>9903</sup> CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00403581 (“The prisoners were soldiers. Most of them were in restraints when they arrived”).

<sup>9904</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 72-74; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 9-10. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00406216 (some prisoners arrived in shackles when they arrived and remained shackled when put in cells).

<sup>9905</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 10; T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 73. LAY Sarim was arrested, detained and executed at S-21. See T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 65; S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 19 September 1977, E3/2286, p. 47, ERN (En) 01564807 (entry no. 31, LAY Sarim, Division 801, Hospital Chief of Division, entered “04.07.1977”). See also, S-21 Confession – LAY Sarim, E3/3637, 23 February-23 May 1977 (partial confession).

<sup>9906</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 74. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00406216 (some prisoners arrived in shackles and remained shackled when put in detention cells). See below, para. 2906.

<sup>9907</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 86; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00406216; MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN

were variously conducted by CHIN Kimthong, CHHAOM Se and/or Tim in the presence of a guard.<sup>9908</sup> A Vietnamese prisoner named Lai assisted with questioning and interpreting the responses of suspected “Thieu-Ky” collaborators (i.e. of the former South Vietnamese regime<sup>9909</sup>), as Security Centre staff had difficulties in understanding the language.<sup>9910</sup>

2898. The evidence at trial demonstrated that the object of interrogations at Au Kanseng was to elicit responses about counter-revolutionary activity and weed out suspected enemies. Former Au Kanseng Chairman CHHAOM Se was asked by Division 801 Commander SAO Saroeun to carry out investigations into prisoners at the Security Centre, in particular to establish whether there were “internal enemies burrowing from inside” and at which level this was occurring.<sup>9911</sup> This is consistent with contemporaneous evidence before the Chamber indicating Division 801’s measures in late 1976 to “purge the enemy inside the unit and to try to search for all enemy networks within the unit”.<sup>9912</sup> In a telegram to SON Sen, Division 801 Deputy Chairman KEO Saroeun outlines the Division’s priority to “absolutely” arrest those suspected of being enemies, as well as those “affiliated to political tendency” in order to determine their disposition toward the Revolution.<sup>9913</sup> It is further consistent with the

---

(En) 00272580. See also, CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00403581-00403582.

<sup>9908</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 67 (“Sometimes I also participate[d] because I want[ed] to get more information [about detainees’ techniques]”); T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 43 (“On the issue of interrogating every prisoner, Se was always present. And he was the one who interrogated those prisoners. I was there to take note of the responses.”); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 42 (“[T]here was a guard who was past[ed] outside the room”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, pp. 8-9, ERN (En) 00406216-00406217 (“Comrade Chhang [i.e. CHIN Kimthong] interrogated the prisoners in the presence of a guard [...] I made him responsible for interrogation because he was clever theoretically and technically.”); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072 (“There were 3 interrogators: first, the prison chief was Se [...], second, the deputy was Chhang, in charge of military; and another was Tim, in charge of logistic.”); SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620 (“Chhang questioned me”); UM Keo Interview Record, E3/5173, 8 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272661 (“I had two or three interrogators, the prison chiefs Ta Chhang, Ta Se and Ta Tin.”). See also, T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 44 (witness states that she was interrogated by two people).

<sup>9909</sup> See below, para. 2949.

<sup>9910</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 44-45. See also, CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00403583-00403584.

<sup>9911</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 99; T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 14; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/407, 8 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00406224.

<sup>9912</sup> See above, para. 2887 (fn. 9866).

<sup>9913</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1164, 25 November 1976, ERN (En) 00516710-00516711 (“Certain corrective measures: [...] 6. To cooperate with the base to completely purge the enemy inside the unit and to try to search for all enemy networks within the unit. Organisational measures: 1. Anyone who is suspicious [sic] of being an enemy must absolutely be examined; 2. To examine the document regarding a person

Northeast Zone's campaign in mid-1977 to "take out the contemptible persons burrowing within rubber and cotton plantations".<sup>9914</sup>

2899. Although Witness CHIN Kimthong initially claimed in court that detainees were interrogated because staff wanted to know why they were brought to the Security Centre, he later clarified that soldiers and union workers arrived with letters specifying the reasons for their arrest.<sup>9915</sup> Witness CHHAOM Se testified that interrogators would press detainees to reveal their "tactics" or "strategies".<sup>9916</sup> This was corroborated by Witness MOEURNG Chandy, who attested to having repeatedly been questioned about her alleged communications with the Yuon, which she steadfastly denied.<sup>9917</sup> Witness PHON Thol stated that he was first repeatedly asked, and then finally informed, of the reasons for this arrest during his interrogation, namely, his use of "modern", French-style rubber tree treatment techniques which were deemed to belong to the "feudalist class" and were contrary to the techniques of the "farmer class".<sup>9918</sup> His testimony is consistent with statements before the Chamber indicating that detainees at Au Kanseng were prompted to elicit answers during interrogation before being accused of counter-implicated by the enemy and request for a temporary arrest; [...] 5. Those who [are] affiliated to [sic] political tendency shall be gradually arrested. At the beginning, we examine these elements to determine their good or bad activities toward the Revolution. The good shall be temporarily kept. Anyone who is resisting or inactive shall be removed and put into a group.").

---

<sup>9914</sup> DK Telegram, E3/240, 15 June 1977, ERN (En) 00897668 ("Comrade Thi is chosen to take secret measure against the contemptible persons burrowing within rubber and cotton plantations as well as mobile units taken from the military in 1974").

<sup>9915</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 16, 83-84.

<sup>9916</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 67 ("So, first, we had to ask them repeatedly in order to identify the tactics or the strategies of the detainees. Later on, we invite them – we asked them again and again.").

<sup>9917</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 42, 45 ("I was questioned whether I had any communication with the 'Yuon' and I kept responding that no"). See also, MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404072 ("[T]hey pressed me on whether I had communicated with the Yuon; I still answered the same things that I had not communicated [with the Yuon].").

<sup>9918</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 42-43 ("[W]hen I was arrested, I had no idea what I did wrong, but when I was interrogated, they asked me whether I knew of what I had committed that I was brought to the prison. I told the interrogator that I did not do anything wrong and I did not do anything against the Party. The interrogator asked me several times and then, finally, they told me the reason that I was arrested and brought to the re-education school was because I belonged to the upper class and I used [...] techniques to treat the rubber trees of the feudalist class, and they were not the techniques needed by the farmer's class to work in the rubber plantation. [...] [T]hey alleged [...] that I applied the technique of the feudalist class. That was the modern technique. They said that the technique was only for those who travelled by aeroplane. They said that the technique applied by the farmer class was different. [...] Having heard the technique I had acquired from the French, I was told that the technique was for those who travelled by aeroplane."), 89 ("They simply accused me of using the feudalist class techniques, not the techniques from the farmer's class, and that's why I was brought into the re-education school."); T. 3 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/396.1, p. 8 ("I only knew about my case when they told me during the interrogation").

revolutionary activities, including being Yuon agents<sup>9919</sup> and working in CIA networks.<sup>9920</sup> 2900. The Chamber finds these accounts to be consistent and credible, and is satisfied that interrogative practices were employed at Au Kanseng to elicit confessions of counter-revolutionary activity in order to incriminate civilian prisoners and identify enemies. Consistently with this overarching objective, the subject matter of interrogations and the implementation by Security Centre personnel, Division 801 and the Northeast Zone of measures targeting perceived enemies, the Chamber is satisfied that civilians were arrested and detained at Au Kanseng as a result of the Party's perception that these individuals were enemies of the CPK or its ideology.

2901. The Chamber also heard evidence about prisoner treatment during interrogations at Au Kanseng. Although some witnesses referred to acts of "torture" being inflicted upon detainees during interrogations,<sup>9921</sup> the Chamber notes that it is not seized of torture as a crime against humanity in relation to Au Kanseng Security Centre. The Chamber will however analyse the evidence of prisoner treatment in the context of the residual category of crimes against humanity of other inhumane acts perpetrated through attacks against human dignity, of which it is seized.<sup>9922</sup>

2902. According to Witness CHHAOM Se, interrogators "were not allowed to exert any torture against the prisoner[s]".<sup>9923</sup> In response to questioning by defence counsel in Case 002/01 about whether Security Centre staff would resort to "torture" or beatings during interrogations, however, the witness testified that interrogators "asked them again and again, and if they do not tell us we may do it".<sup>9924</sup> While this witness's evidence could not further be tested during the course of either trial segment,<sup>9925</sup> Witness PHON Thol corroborated accounts of mistreatment by interrogators, stating in evidence that when interrogators "thought that the biographies [of detainees] were not

<sup>9919</sup> BUN Vann Tha DC-Cam Interview, E3/7953, undated, p. 7, ERN (En) 00843456.

<sup>9920</sup> UM Keo Interview Record, E3/5173, 8 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272661.

<sup>9921</sup> The Chamber notes that while the word "torture" was used in a casual manner by the Parties, witnesses and Civil Parties throughout Case 002 trial proceedings, the ultimate determination of whether underlying treatment or conduct amounts to the crime of torture as a crime against humanity will rest with the Chamber in the Legal Findings sections of this Judgement.

<sup>9922</sup> Closing Order, para. 1434.

<sup>9923</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 15.

<sup>9924</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 67.

<sup>9925</sup> The treatment of detainees was beyond the scope of the Case 002/01 trial and the witness was unable to be recalled during the Case 002/02 trial by virtue of his death.

consistent with what [staff] had, then they used a plier [sic] to squeeze their thighs until they became unconscious”, clarifying that one prisoner from Bar Keo was subjected to such treatment.<sup>9926</sup> He further testified to having personally witnessed from another building other detainees being beaten and electrocuted with a telephone cord in the interrogation house.<sup>9927</sup> In light of PHON Thol’s clear and corroborated testimony, the Chamber finds credible his account regarding prisoner mistreatment by Au Kanseng interrogators.

2903. Witness MOEURNG Chandy did not witness any “torture” as such, but described accounts of the treatment of other detainees’ husbands that she heard at the Security Centre.<sup>9928</sup> MOEURNG Chandy heard from a fellow detainee that the latter’s husband had or may have been electrocuted, adding that other women had indirectly spoken of the same happening to their spouses.<sup>9929</sup> MOEURNG Chandy further stated that she and other female inmates “realised”, “concluded” and “assumed” that their husbands were mistreated, as they had observed them walking differently following their interrogations.<sup>9930</sup>

<sup>9926</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 64-65; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272587. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00406216 (“Torture to get responses was done on any prisoners that we suspected were hiding things and were not responding truthfully”); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073 (“There [was] some torturing during an interrogation if an interrogator thought the prisoner didn’t tell the tru[th]”).

<sup>9927</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 63-64 (“For other detainees, when they were interrogated, they were beaten and electrocuted with the power from a manual phone [...] I was interrogated at a small and separate place which was about 50 metres from where I was detained [...] I witnessed it personally [...] [T]he re-education centre’s buildings were built out of bamboo trees -- bamboo tree walls, so that you could actually see through”).

<sup>9928</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 44-48.

<sup>9929</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 45 (“[I]t was the wives, who were detained with me who told me that their husbands were tortured -- that is, they were electrocuted, for example, during their interrogation[s] [...] I learned this from their wives who spoke to their husbands. They said that some of their husbands were whipped or electrocuted during the interrogation.”), 47 (“And then those wives said maybe their husbands were asked serious questions [...] they concluded that their husbands were tortured during the interrogation.”), 48 (“the wives, who were detained with me, said that their husbands were tortured”); T. 7 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, p. 14 (“One woman talked to me about that, not many of them. And that woman said that she discussed with other women that their husbands may have been tortured. And she came to tell me about that. Normally, their husbands, my husband probably received the same fate.”). See also, MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404072.

<sup>9930</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 47-48 (“The interrogation room was not far from where we were detained and when [...] their husbands came out of the room, the wife saw him. So of course, when people [were] tortured, we could see that the way he walked was different from the normal way that he walked, so the wife realised that her husband was tortured [...] [A]fter they left the interrogation room, the wives could observe that the husbands walked in an abnormal way, so they concluded that their husbands were tortured during the interrogation. [...] We could see the husbands leaving the interrogation room because the buildings were kind of close to each other.”); T. 7 March

2904. The Chamber approaches MOEURNG Chandy's testimony on this point with caution, noting its inherent unreliability as speculation, inference and hearsay.<sup>9931</sup> In assessing its veracity, the Chamber also considers the witness's direct evidence of having seen a whip and an "electricity cable" in the interrogation room.<sup>9932</sup> Further, the Chamber notes that CHIN Kimthong initially testified that there were no clubs or electrical wires during his time in the interrogation room,<sup>9933</sup> but later confirmed that electric shocks were indeed administered to prisoners using telephone cables.<sup>9934</sup> Furthermore, Witness CHHAOM Se affirmed to OCIJ investigators that prisoners were beaten "with whips and were electrically shocked".<sup>9935</sup> KHOEM Peou saw blood stains and scars on prisoners after they had been interrogated and brought back into his detention cell.<sup>9936</sup> Former detainees variously stated that they were not "tortured" at Au Kanseng.<sup>9937</sup> However, the Chamber notes the direct evidence of PHON Thol and MOEURNG Chandy's first-hand perceptions, the consistency of their descriptions of the poriferous structure of detention buildings and their general ability to witness the various goings-on inside the Security Centre, witness accounts of electrocution, beatings or other mistreatment during interrogations, as well as CHIN Kimthong's initial denial, subsequent concessions and overall motive to minimise his involvement in the mistreatment of detainees. On this evidence, the Chamber is satisfied that, while not all detainees at Au Kanseng Security Centre may have been systematically

---

2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, p. 14 ("Normally, people who were healthy could walk very steadily, but [...] we could assume that some people may have been tortured and beaten because we noticed them, that they could not walk very steadily.").

<sup>9931</sup> The Chamber counts among the declarants of alleged "torture" to Witness MOEURNG Chandy: the female detainees at Au Kanseng who had witnessed or otherwise perceived their husbands' mistreatment (first degree hearsay); the male detainees who informed their wives of such mistreatment (second degree hearsay); and female detainees who had communicated stories of other detainees' husbands' mistreatment (third degree hearsay).

<sup>9932</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 42-43; MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404072.

<sup>9933</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 88.

<sup>9934</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 89 ("From my recollection, those electrical shocks were used when Jarai were sent into the security centre"); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00403582 ("There was equipment to apply electric shock. I saw security personnel use them on the ethnic Jarai prisoners they had captured on the battlefield.").

<sup>9935</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00406216.

<sup>9936</sup> KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073.

<sup>9937</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 63 ("Personally, my hands were tied and my feet were shackled when I was being interrogated; however, I was not tortured."); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 42 ("During my interrogation, I was not threatened; I was asked questions and I responded to those questions accordingly."); MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404072 ("The interrogators did not bully, hit me"); SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620 ("I never saw them mistreat prisoners or torture [...] My husband and I were never beaten or mistreated."); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072 ("They didn't torture me").

mistreated, some civilian inmates at the very least suffered ill-treatment in the form of beatings and electrocutions through telephone cables or similar means.

2905. As to military prisoners, Division 801 soldiers who had been implicated in confessions were interrogated personally by Nau (or Nao), a General Staff cadre from Phnom Penh who arrived at Au Kanseng in mid-1977 and stayed for about three months to uncover enemy communication lines among soldiers implicated in confessions.<sup>9938</sup>

2906. CHHAOM Se received from SAO Saroeun confessions which had originated in Phnom Penh<sup>9939</sup> and which were marked in red ink, indicating that the soldiers in question must be examined because “they were networks of the agents”.<sup>9940</sup> CHIN Kimthong testified that he was present during Nau’s interrogations of Division 801 soldiers in the capacity of note-taker but denied ever having seen or read a confession.<sup>9941</sup> The Chamber accords little weight to either assertion in light of the

<sup>9938</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 97; T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 43 (“Yes, [Nau] did give me the letter and I also called to the chief of the division to see whether he was actually sent from the division. Sou Saroeun confirmed such assignment.”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/407, 8 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00406224; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3985, 3 March 2010, p. 4, ERN (En) 00488701; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 45, 93-94 (Nau “stated that he once worked in the interrogation unit in Phnom Penh. At the time, it was known as Tuol Svay Prey [...] However, through the dialogue exchange, he made mention about the location which was to the west of the Chinese Embassy, and it was in a school [...] He knew that the location consisted of school buildings. And then it was called Tuol Sleng and subsequently it was S-21, but I learnt about it later on.”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00403584. S-21 Chairman KAING Guek Eav alias Duch “did not know of any interrogator called N[a]o”. He did “not believe that any personnel were sent from Phnom Penh to organise training or to work with the [security] centres in the provinces”. See KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5790, 3 December 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00414344. The Chamber is unable definitively to conclude that Nao was in fact dispatched from S-21, but is satisfied that he was in fact sent by the General Staff, who otherwise coordinated security activities between S-21 and Au Kanseng.

<sup>9939</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 97 (“I received the confessions, in fact, usually through a message from 05’s [i.e. SAO Saroeun’s] office. It would be the names of people who had been implicated in a confession of this person or that person. And, on another instance, a person named Nao - - coming from the General Staff [came to Au Kanseng] asking about the people who were implicated. [...] Q. Were there confessions obtained in Phnom Penh that were sent to you because they were sent with the persons who came to your centre? Did such a thing happen? A. Yes.”).

<sup>9940</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/407, 8 November 2009, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00406223-00406224; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3985, 3 March 2010, p. 3, ERN (En) 00488700. See also, S-21 Confession – SOUR Tuon Mao, E3/3655, 2 June 1976, ERN (En) 00224628 (bearing annotation by SON Sen in red ink to SAO Saroeun requesting that he “read this report of Mao and pick out the relevant names + Unit 802”, referring to the names of persons denounced by Mao).

<sup>9941</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 86 (“When a prisoner was interrogated, only Nau had in his hand a confession document from Phnom Penh, and Nau himself was the one who interrogated the prisoner. I was sitting nearby to take notes of the questions and the answers, but I did not have access to that kind of a [sic] document [...] I did not ask [Nau] from which security centre those confessions were. I, myself, had to be careful in what I said or what I asked. If I were to know more about the affairs of other peoples [sic], it means that I put my security at risk. However, from my observation, he interrogated prisoners based on the documents he had with him.”); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), witness's tendency to minimise his role at the Security Centre at the time, and inconsistent prior statements indicating that he saw Nau holding a confession and was himself handed a further confession by SAO Saroeun to interrogate prisoners.<sup>9942</sup> Nevertheless, the witness further recalled witnessing Nau instruct security staff to feed soldiers, including PHENG Phoy, rice mixed with salt and directing them to draft a confession "to tell the truth to Angkar" before being given water.<sup>9943</sup> Having been questioned on the substance of this statement at trial, which was consistent with his statement to investigators,<sup>9944</sup> the Chamber accepts CHIN Kimthong's testimony regarding Nau's treatment of military prisoners as reliable. The Chamber is satisfied that soldiers were arrested and detained at Au Kanseng as a result of their perceived connection to or collaboration with enemies of the Party. It is further satisfied that soldiers were interrogated in order to elicit confessions of counter-revolutionary activity for the purpose of incriminating themselves and identifying enemies. It remains unclear whether military prisoners were informed of the reasons for their arrests before or within a reasonable time of arriving at Au Kanseng.

12.4.4.3. Re-education

2907. Following interrogation, many detainees were subjected to regular re-education or refashioning sessions. Every 10 or so days,<sup>9945</sup> Au Kanseng Chairman CHHAOM Se presided over meetings to disseminate information to staff and detainees that he had obtained from the Party Centre.<sup>9946</sup> At the meetings, detainees were instructed how to correct their behaviour and attitudes to work,<sup>9947</sup> and were informed about internal and

---

E1/406.1, p. 12 ("we have never seen any confession sent in together with the prisoners"). See also, CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5605, 4 March 2010, p. 4, ERN (En) 00488706.

<sup>9942</sup> CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 9, ERN (En) 00403585 ("Nau arranged the interrogations of company-level cadre PHENG Phay [i.e. Phoy] [...] and I saw Nau holding confession(s) [sic] from Phnom Penh. As for me, I received one confession from Ta 05 for use in interrogating prisoner(s) [sic] at Au Kansaeng [sic]."); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404078 ("I saw No [sic] carrying a bunch of the prisoner confession[s] which was about 20 pages, but I did not see the substance in that document.").

<sup>9943</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 87-88; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00403582.

<sup>9944</sup> CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00403582.

<sup>9945</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 49; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 14, 95. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403575 (meetings were held "every fortnight").

<sup>9946</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 41; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403575; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 14, 95-96.

<sup>9947</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 41.

security issues in Democratic Kampuchea.<sup>9948</sup> Loyalty to the CPK was taught through political indoctrination. Revolutionary Flag and Revolutionary Youth magazines were used as aids to explain the socialist revolution and strengthen socialist consciousness in life and work.<sup>9949</sup> 2908. Division 801 Chairman SAO Saroeun held annual or bi-annual workshops lasting two days in which he encouraged the strengthening of the military forces and of the Party line, and denounced as enemies anyone who opposed the revolution, socialist affairs or the progress of the CPK. He instructed that workers transplanting seeds at a distance greater than that prescribed would be accused of opposing the revolution and would therefore be considered the enemy.<sup>9950</sup> CHIN Kimthong attended one such workshop conducted by SAO Saroeun but testified that the Division 801 Commander did not personally visit Au Kanseng Security Centre.<sup>9951</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that while SAO Saroeun did not personally visit Au Kanseng, he instructed Security Centre cadres on the re-education of detainees in accordance with the Party line and its stance with regard to enemies and opponents of the revolution.

12.4.4.4. Detention conditions

2909. Detention regimes varied between serious offenders, light offenders, and women and children. Soldiers who were considered dangerous were continuously chained or shackled in a separate detention building that was guarded day and night.<sup>9952</sup> Serious offenders, including both civilians and soldiers, would be fettered by the ankle

<sup>9948</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 56; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403575.

<sup>9949</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 49; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 14, 95. See also, MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 8, ERN (En) 00272582; BUN Vann Tha DC-Cam Interview, E3/7953, undated, pp. 14, 30, ERN (En) 00843463, 00843479. See also, Section 6.1.5: Communication Structures: Magazines.

<sup>9950</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 68; T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, p. 71. See also, DK Telegram, E3/1160, 11 March 1976, ERN (En) 00590304 (“At the moment, Brother 05 is visiting all regiments with an aim to indoctrinate”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/407, 8 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00406223.

<sup>9951</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 55, 68; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 8-9; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404077.

<sup>9952</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 52; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 84; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00403581.

using chains or metal or wooden shackles,<sup>9953</sup> in two rows of five to 10 prisoners.<sup>9954</sup> They would not be permitted to leave the detention buildings at any time.<sup>9955</sup> Serious offenders comprised a small proportion of the total Security Centre population, totalling approximately 10 to 30 in number at any one time.<sup>9956</sup>

2910. Less serious offenders, mostly plantation workers,<sup>9957</sup> were not shackled, chained or otherwise restrained.<sup>9958</sup> During the day, light offenders were able to move freely within the Security Centre compound and would be guarded in locked detention buildings at night.<sup>9959</sup> Female prisoners and children at Au Kanseng were treated more

<sup>9953</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 67 (there were three types of shackles and cuffs: chains with locks, shackles with a metal bar and shackles with a wooden bar); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272585 (prisoners would be put in leg shackles “made from steel rebar”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00406216 (steel and wooden shackles were used at night for serious offenders).

<sup>9954</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 52 (“The building to house the serious-offence prisoners, yes, there was such a building and that building was guarded day and night since those serious-offence prisoners were chained or shackled all the time”), 74-75 (confirming the accuracy of former prisoner KHOEM Peou’s statement regarding having his ankles chained); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 84 (confirms that soldiers who were considered dangerous were tied up and that people undergoing harsher treatments were locked in a room); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00403581 (“one chain might hold five or six prisoners strung together”); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 45 (“And when we arrived in the prison, the security guards took the chain and locked us in rows”), 48 (“I was not allowed to [...] move freely and at that time my ankle was shackled”), 49 (“We were not allowed to get out of that house [...] we could not physically go out of the house”), 76 (upon entry to Au Kanseng Security Centre “I walked past a building [...] I just had a glance through the cracks of the wall and I noticed about 10 detainees lying on the ground locked into the metal bar or shackles”); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 39 (“I saw one building [where] there were two or three people with their ankles shackled. And then in another building, I saw a few people who were also shackled.”). See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215 (serious offenders, of which there were about 10, were held separately, shackled and locked in from the outside); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072 (serious offenders were shackled by the ankle in rows of ten in two rows); BUN Vann Tha DC-Cam Interview, E3/7953, undated, p. 8, ERN (En) 00843457 (witness saw prisoners chained by the ankle; some had both ankles shackled).

<sup>9955</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 49 (We were not allowed to get out of that house [...] we could not physically go out of the house”). See also, MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404073; BUN Vann Tha DC-Cam Interview, E3/7953, undated, p. 28, ERN (En) 00843477.

<sup>9956</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215 (stating that there “were about ten of those prisoners”, referring to serious offenders); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00250074 (“about 20 to 30 others were constantly chained”).

<sup>9957</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 52-53.

<sup>9958</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 84; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00403582; T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 40; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00406216.

<sup>9959</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 84; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00403580; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00406216.

leniently and were not shackled but were nevertheless also locked in the detention building at night.<sup>9960</sup>

2911. Detention buildings comprised five or six detention cells in which approximately four to 21 prisoners were detained.<sup>9961</sup> No sleeping mats, pillows or mosquito nets were provided to the female detainees, who slept on the floor in mosquito-infested cells.<sup>9962</sup> Detention building walls and floors were made of bamboo planks with large gaps, such that it was possible to see into and out of detention buildings.<sup>9963</sup> Detainees who were entitled to work used firewood brought from the forest to light fires to keep warm at night as the detention buildings were not insulated and could not retain any heat.<sup>9964</sup>

2912. There were no latrines at Au Kanseng.<sup>9965</sup> Prisoners received large bamboo tubes and pots into which they urinated and defecated.<sup>9966</sup> Prisoners emptied these receptacles themselves in the morning or when they were let out of their cells to work.<sup>9967</sup>

2913. Whether prisoners were compelled to relieve themselves inside their cells in the presence of other inmates was not the subject of examination in court. Witness

<sup>9960</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 39-40, 66; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 88. See also, SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620.

<sup>9961</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 86; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272585 (seven to eight prisoners in each cell); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00406213 (ten to twelve persons were placed in a cell); UM Keo Interview Record, E3/5173, 8 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272661 (witness was put into a square 4x4m cell with 30 prisoners); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072 (each house could accommodate about 20 prisoners); MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272577 (there were five to six cells in each detention building, with about 10 prisoners per cell, each approximately 4x5m).

<sup>9962</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 75; T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 76.

<sup>9963</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 40; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 49, 95.

<sup>9964</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 76.

<sup>9965</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 15; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 68.

<sup>9966</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 76 (prisoners were told to urinate into bamboo tubes); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 68 (“If we needed to urinate, we had to relieve ourselves in a bamboo tube”); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272588 (“When urinating or defecating, they had us relieve ourselves in large bamboo tubes placed in the cells. At dawn, they came and unlocked the shackles and the door, and had us pour [the bamboo tubes] out in a cluster of banana trees. They did not allow us to go outside to relieve ourselves during the night.”).

<sup>9967</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 68; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272588.

CHHAOM Se stated to OCIJ investigators that nobody relieved themselves inside detention cells, adding that even serious offenders were escorted outside by guards to do so.<sup>9968</sup> MAO Phat similarly deposed that prisoners needing to relieve themselves would request permission from the guards, who would unlock the cell and chaperone them outside.<sup>9969</sup> Conversely, KHOEM Peou, who was incarcerated with MAO Phat,<sup>9970</sup> stated that shackled prisoners would urinate or defecate in their cell during his first night in detention.<sup>9971</sup> Both prisoners underwent an initial period of shackled and confined detention before being released to work within the Security Centre.<sup>9972</sup> KHOEM Peou separately indicated that he and other serious offenders were unable to sleep “[e]very night [...] because if someone needed to relieve himself, everyone in the row had to get up also since their ankles were chained together”.<sup>9973</sup> His statement did not permit the Chamber to ascertain whether he was in fact referring to prisoners being chaperoned beyond the confines of their cells to relieve themselves. Resultantly, the Chamber considers that there is insufficient evidence before it to find that prisoners were forced to urinate and defecate inside their cells.

2914. Male detainees, both serious and light offenders, were permitted to bathe in the stream running through Au Kanseng Security Centre under guard, respectively during the course of their detention and following work assignments.<sup>9974</sup> Witness MOEURNG Chandy testified that serious offenders “were not allowed to go out and bathe”.<sup>9975</sup> However, the evidence of former staff and prisoners, including serious offenders, <sup>9968</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215 (“Light offenders could go outside to relieve themselves but a guard was posted. As for serious offenders the guards tied them with ropes and walked them outside to relieve themselves. No one relieved themselves inside the detention cells.”).

<sup>9969</sup> MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272577.

<sup>9970</sup> MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272580 (“There are some prisoners still alive, like Khoem Peou, who was held with me in prison”).

<sup>9971</sup> KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073 (“In the first night at the prison [...] [t]hey shackled us in a room; so if we needed to urinate and defecate, we just did it in the room.”).

<sup>9972</sup> MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272577 (“I was imprisoned for three months in a cell locked from the outside where I was chained day and night. After three months, they released me to do work outside the prison.”); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072 (“I was chained in the room for one month, but was released to work outside afterward”).

<sup>9973</sup> KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072.

<sup>9974</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 76-77; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 15; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272588; MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272577.

<sup>9975</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 76 (asked what the situation for “male prisoners who were chained in the building” was, the witness responded that, “for them, they were not allowed to go out and bathe”).

consistently emphasised that they were permitted to wash themselves in the stream at the Security Centre.<sup>9976</sup> The Chamber therefore rejects MOEURNG Chandy's assertion in this regard. Female detainees were permitted to bathe unguarded and wash their clothes at a separate location near the kitchen.<sup>9977</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that detainees had the opportunity to bathe at Au Kanseng.

2915. Prisoners received two meals a day consisting of rice mixed with potatoes and sometimes soup or vegetables harvested within Au Kanseng.<sup>9978</sup> Portion sizes were small and witnesses were consistent in stating that they did not have enough food.<sup>9979</sup> Witness MOEURNG Chandy, who gave birth to a daughter while imprisoned at Au Kanseng, was not given a special food ration after giving birth and the food that she did

---

<sup>9976</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 76-77 (“[A]fter [each detainee] returned from work from the plantation or gardens, they bathed themselves at the stream or river by themselves behind the building.”); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 15 (“[F]or those who were detained within the holding cells, when they wanted to bathe themselves, they would be walked towards the stream”); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272588; MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272577; SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620.

<sup>9977</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 75-76; SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620 (guards allowed males and females to bathe at different locations).

<sup>9978</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 15 (food was served in medium sized bowls once in the morning and once in the evening), 70 (as the rice received from the Division was not sufficient, “we had to mix the potatoes with rice. We consumed those vegetables and the potatoes that [detainees] grew”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404077 (“As for the regular prisoners, they had enough steamed rice mixed with potato to eat”); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 74 (“We were given a food ration -- that is, a bowl each and whatever soup that was given to us we simply ate it”), 101 (“we were given food ration of one small bowl with potatoes”); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 72 (“We received a bowl of food. The bowl was small and a bowl of soup was for four people at the time”); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586 (detainees received rice mixed with potatoes, one small dish per meal twice a day). See also, KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073 (the food ration was a small bowl for each person and there were two meals a day); MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272578 (detainees ate soup, never gruel, with rice and boiled potatoes mixed with banana stalks and cinnamon leaves which had no flavour. There was neither meat nor fruit to eat.).

<sup>9979</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 72 (“It was not the place that we were given supplementary food or enjoyed sufficient food to eat [...] I was so skinny. I never weighed myself but, you know, the trousers that I had brought along that I could not wear them anymore as they were too loose”); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586 (“As for the food in the prison [...] [i]t was not enough [...] When we ate it all, we did not dare ask for more”); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072 (“I was not provided enough foods [sic] to eat”); UM Keo Interview Record, E3/5173, 8 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272661 (prisoners got little to eat and were skinny). Cf. SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620 (“For me, the food was sufficient, like normal, because I was at the kitchen where the food was”). The Chamber does not find SAM Soem's statement reflective of the conditions faced by other detainees as, by her own description, she was uniquely placed to work where food was being prepared.

otherwise receive was insufficient.<sup>9980</sup> Water was distributed to prisoners in bamboo tubes once a day.<sup>9981</sup>

2916. Former Au Kanseng Deputy Chairman CHIN Kimthong acknowledged in court that the limited food at the Security Centre led to prisoners dying of malnutrition.<sup>9982</sup> Indeed, former prisoner KHOEM Peou described in his statement to OCIJ investigators that prisoners looked healthy upon their arrival to the Security Centre, but became thinner and weaker with ongoing detention, with some dying occasionally from starvation and other diseases.<sup>9983</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the provision of inadequate food led to prisoner malnutrition and death at the Security Centre.

2917. Prisoners at Au Kanseng suffered from a number of diseases and other health problems in detention. Prisoners suffered from malaria, inflammatory bowel disease and dysentery from drinking unboiled water,<sup>9984</sup> with the majority of deaths resulting from dysentery.<sup>9985</sup> Former prisoner PHON Thol saw prisoners become sick, develop swelling of the limbs as a result of chaining and dying of dysentery, and witnessed a serious offender die while chained.<sup>9986</sup> CHIN Kimthong disagreed that chained prisoners faced any serious illnesses and stated in court that he had not witnessed chained or shackled prisoners developing wounds from their imprisonment.<sup>9987</sup> On the <sup>9980</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 74-75 (“[A]lthough I had just delivered a baby, [...] I did not receive any special food rations at all [...] Of course [the food] was not sufficient when we were detained there.”).

<sup>9981</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 77; KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250073.

<sup>9982</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 79 (“[T]he limited food [...] led to malnutrition, the illness became more serious until the prisoners died”). See also, CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404077; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404077.

<sup>9983</sup> KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, pp. 4-6, ERN (En) 00250073-00250074.

<sup>9984</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 78; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 66.

<sup>9985</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 82.

<sup>9986</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 69 (identifying Ngoeun, a plantation worker from Kampuchea Krom, who died from dysentery; and another prisoner who died while chained); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272588. See also, MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272578; KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00250074 (shackled and chained prisoners developed limb numbness and swollen legs after prolonged, fettered detention).

<sup>9987</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 79-80. The Chamber notes that Division 801 had been afflicted by sickness and fevers, leading to death, before the establishment of Au Kanseng Security Centre. See DK Telegram, E3/1160, 11 March 1973, ERN (En) 00590304 (“1. With regard to fever, as of 11 March 1976, 470 people have taken a rest. This figure does not include the sick people who lived along the stream. [...] 3. 14 people died in total by 11 March. 4. Mostly they died of horse fever.”).

basis of his senior position at the Security Centre and strong motive to minimise his involvement in the treatment of detainees, the Chamber does not find CHIN Kimthong's assertion reliable and is satisfied that conditions of detention contributed to the ill-health and death of detainees at Au Kanseng.

2918. Limited medical assistance was available to prisoners who developed illnesses or became sick. While former prisoners MAO Phat and KHOEM Peou told investigators that some prisoners never received medical treatment,<sup>9988</sup> testimony elicited at trial indicated that some form of medical assistance was indeed present at Au Kanseng. Witness CHIN Kimthong recalled that a medic worked inside the Au Kanseng compound and provided treatment to prisoners in the form of home-made herbal pills and modern medicine supplied by Battalion 806.<sup>9989</sup> He further acknowledged that prisoners died as a result of ineffective medicine.<sup>9990</sup> Witness MOEURNG Chandy received neither medicine nor medical assistance during her pregnancy while detained at Au Kanseng,<sup>9991</sup> but noted that a medic would bring medicine for her child in its infancy.<sup>9992</sup> The Chamber accepts that a limited degree of medical assistance and medicine was available at Au Kanseng Security Centre but was often ineffective and/or insufficient.

2919. A work regime was prescribed for prisoners at Au Kanseng, with light offenders assigned to work duties as part of the tempering process at the Security Centre. After they were no longer deemed to be a risk,<sup>9993</sup> detainees were assigned to work inside and <sup>9988</sup> MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272578 (There was no medicine and many prisoners died because there was no medicine to treat them); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00250074 (prisoners never received any medicines or treatment).

<sup>9989</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 78-79; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 67-68. See also, PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272588 (“When we were sick, a medic from the division named Huot came to treat us; he cooked up the medicines for us to swallow”).

<sup>9990</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 79.

<sup>9991</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 67.

<sup>9992</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 72-73 (the medic “would bring some medicine” for her daughter, who recovered after medicating). See also, T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 69-70 (MOEURNG Chandy's husband, PHON Thol, testified that his wife was seen by a medic every day after delivery and was given traditional medicine or an injection).

<sup>9993</sup> T. 7 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, p. 7 (“[L]ater on, when they believed that I would not flee [...] I was allowed to work outside and to pick vegetables”); T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 74-75 (agreeing that KHOEM Peou was released after interrogation); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 88 (Female detainees “were released to remove grass [...] a few days after they were brought in”). See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/407, 8 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00406224; KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072.

outside the Security Centre compound,<sup>9994</sup> sometimes as far as border regions.<sup>9995</sup> Work hours ranged between 6am and 11am, and again from 1pm to 6pm, with a meal break in between.<sup>9996</sup> Agricultural assignments included planting, farming and foraging vegetables,<sup>9997</sup> which were fertilised with human faeces,<sup>9998</sup> and working in rice fields.<sup>9999</sup> Produce would either be delivered to the Division or frontline soldiers, or consumed by detainees and staff at the Security Centre.<sup>10000</sup> Many detainees were tasked with weeding and clearing grass for new plantations, and were forced to do so without the use of sickles, knives or other tools, causing cuts and abrasions.<sup>10001</sup> Some <sup>9994</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 94, 97, 105; T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 55, 60-61. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215; MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272577.

<sup>9995</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 55, 58-59 (from June 1978 minor prisoners were allowed to work in the field along Road 19 close to the border). See also, T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 73, 92; MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00404072; Map of Cambodia: Tile 6436, E3/9190, undated, ERN (En) 01045068.

<sup>9996</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 71; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586. See also, CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00403581; CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215; KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072; MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272578; SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620; BUN Vann Tha DC-Cam Interview, E3/7953, undated, pp. 21, 30, ERN (En) 00843470, 00843479.

<sup>9997</sup> T. 7 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, pp. 7, 9, 20 (tasked to pick vegetables); MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00404072-00404073; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 53, 98 (working in a jackfruit plantation); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586. See also, CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00403581 (prisoners grew wax melons, gourds, pumpkins, cabbage and farmed rice and potatoes under guard by security personnel); SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620 (growing potatoes and transplanting); UM Keo Interview Record, E3/5173, 8 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272661 (hoeing the ground).

<sup>9998</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 70 (“We planted vegetables, for instance, only with human fertiliser, that is our faeces”).

<sup>9999</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 55; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00403581. See also, KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072 (detainee was sent to help other units working on rice paddy and building dams and dykes).

<sup>10000</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 70.

<sup>10001</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 70 (“The work there was to pull the grass with our bare hands and we were not given any tool to dig it”), 88, 94, 97; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272587 (Security Centre staff had prisoners working with their bare hands, pulling grass); T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 47 (“The work [detainees] mostly did was to clear grass at the potato plantation or to clear a forest area for plantations and planting potatoes”); T. 7 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, p. 9. See also, KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072 (“I worked with bare hands because they didn’t allow me to use knives or tools. Working in that condition my hands were cut by thorns, but I didn’t dare say anything”); BUN Vann Tha DC-Cam Interview, E3/7953, undated, p. 9, ERN (En) 00843458 (“We worked with our bare hands, so our hands sustained many cuts continuously”); MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272578 (“As for the work, it was done by hand; no sickles or other tools were used when weeding the potatoes”).

detainees were assigned to cooking duties in the kitchen,<sup>10002</sup> while others were directed to carry wood lumbered from the forest to construct buildings for cadres.<sup>10003</sup> There is no evidence that workers were remunerated at any point or otherwise compensated for their toil. The Chamber finds that detainees could not refuse to work.

2920. The Chamber has before it evidence that no exceptions were made to the work regime for female detainees who had given birth at Au Kanseng. MOEURNG Chandy was required to carry large planks shortly after giving birth to her daughter. She described struggling to carry 10 metre-long planks on her shoulders a long distance back to Au Kanseng without assistance.<sup>10004</sup> As a result of the laborious work assignment, she could no longer lactate and therefore feed her baby daughter, requiring her to be nourished by sugar cane juice.<sup>10005</sup> MOEURNG Chandy's daughter fell ill frequently during their detention at Au Kanseng, was malnourished and continues to suffer health problems to this day.<sup>10006</sup> The Chamber also has before it the corroborative statement of SAM Soem, who was forced to work three months after giving birth in Au Kanseng. She described having stiff hands and feet following childbirth and being assigned to transplanting duties, while she left her child to the care of other female inmates.<sup>10007</sup> MOEURNG Chandy in court similarly described having to leave her daughter with a caretaker while performing work tasks during the day.<sup>10008</sup> The Chamber accepts MOEURNG Chandy's account of the conditions she experienced and

<sup>10002</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 88-89; T. 7 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, p. 9. See also, SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620.

<sup>10003</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 68; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 70. See also, PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272586 ("The hardest work was shoulder-carrying wood from Au Kanseng to the prison. The cut face of that wood was 5x15, and it took three people to shoulder it up and down the mountain to the prison"); BUN Vann Tha DC-Cam Interview, E3/7953, undated, p. 24, ERN (En) 00843473.

<sup>10004</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 73-74; T. 7 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, pp. 11-12. See also, MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404073.

<sup>10005</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 67-68 ("I did not have any breast milk to feed my baby [...] Because I did not have breast milk to feed her, then I asked for sugar cane juice to feed her. And that happened because I did the hard work; namely, carrying wood."), 73 ("I was asked to sort of carry wood planks and the distance was rather far. And at that time I had just delivered my baby and I could not carry it."). See also, MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404073.

<sup>10006</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 72 ("My child was young and was skinny [...] If children had enough breast milk, then the children would be healthy, but my child was not that healthy.").

<sup>10007</sup> SAM Soem Interview Record, E3/9327, 7 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272620).

<sup>10008</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 72-73 ("When I went to work, the child would stay with the caretaker there [...] So it was up to the caretaker to ask for medicine if my child had fever and I only saw my child at night time.").

is satisfied that no exceptions were made to the mandatory work regime for female detainees who had given birth at Au Kanseng.

2921. While performing work assignments at Au Kanseng, detainees were not shackled but were under constant armed guard by the security unit.<sup>10009</sup> At night, prisoners were sent back to and locked in their detention cells and were required to remain silent.<sup>10010</sup> A few prisoners were tasked with assisting CHIN Kimthong and guards with night-time guarding duties.<sup>10011</sup>

2922. The Chamber heard evidence of the psychological distress experienced by detainees while interned at Au Kanseng. Witnesses PHON Thol and MOEURNG Chandy lived in fear of death during their one-and-a-half-year detention if they did not abide by the instructions of Security Centre staff,<sup>10012</sup> a sentiment shared by other former prisoners interviewed by OCIJ investigators.<sup>10013</sup> MOEURNG Chandy additionally recalled being terrified of being kicked by guards or hit with a rifle butt if she committed an infraction.<sup>10014</sup> Light offenders could talk with one another during the

<sup>10009</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 55. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403576 (workers were guarded by the security unit); MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272577 (workers were always under guard but unshackled); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250072 (two armed soldiers guarded workers).

<sup>10010</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 78, 88. See also, BUN Vann Tha DC-Cam Interview, E3/7953, undated, p. 8, ERN (En) 00843457.

<sup>10011</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 16, 74. See also, T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 98 (detainee was tasked with guarding the jackfruit plantation).

<sup>10012</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 44 (“After I disembarked [from] the truck, they instructed me to walk straight, not to turn anywhere or flee in the forest. Otherwise, we would be shot dead.”); 106 (“Anyone not following the order, he or she [would] certainly be killed”); T. 3 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/396.1, p. 24 (“Otherwise, we would be killed”); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 39 (“I saw guards with guns, and I was so scared because I had no idea what would happen to my life, would I be killed or what [...] So all of this picture frightened me.”), 41 (“When I arrived in the area, I realised that I would die. I did not know the reasons that I was sent there and I thought that would be the end of my life.”), 48 (“[I]t was natural that we were scared when we were living there, but what could we do?”). The couple were detained from mid-1977 until the arrival of the Vietnamese in January 1979. See e.g., PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272588 (stating that he was able to sleep outside of his cell prior to the Vietnamese liberation).

<sup>10013</sup> MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272578 (“While they worked, some prisoners captured various animals, like crickets and small lizards, and hid them in the waists of their trousers. When they got back to their cells, they would roast these animals and eat them. If they had been caught, they surely would have died.”); KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00250074 (“Prisoners were all frightened. Everyone was working and tempering themselves hard. No-one dared walk without permission because they were afraid of being caught and shot dead or killed. [...] Punishments were: 1) If a prisoner tries to escape, s/he will be shot dead; or if s/he is caught during escape, s/he will be shot dead also.”).

<sup>10014</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 62 (“When Auy released detainees to go to work and when those detainees committed any infraction, he would hit the offender with the rifle butt or sometimes he hit and kicked. [...] I was so terrified and I was afraid of him.”).

course of the day but dared not converse about politics or Angkar for fear of being accused of being CIA or KGB agents.<sup>10015</sup> 2923. Further, the Chamber heard accounts of Au Kanseng security guards menacing prisoners with acts and stories of brutality and human mutilation. Witness PHON Thol recounted witnessing security guard Nhok hang a human gallbladder in the kitchen area to dry, to frighten detainees.<sup>10016</sup> Witnesses consistently described hearing that Nhok had hacked open the back of a female prisoner who had been accused of immorality, and extracted her gallbladder.<sup>10017</sup> Witness MOEURNG Chandy also heard Security Centre guard Auy openly boasting that he consumed human gallbladder.<sup>10018</sup> As the commission of alleged brutality and mutilation by security personnel was not explored at trial, the Chamber is unable to conclude that prisoner mutilation or death resulting from such acts occurred as described in hearsay accounts. The consistency of these corroborated accounts nevertheless leads the Chamber to conclude that security guards at Au Kanseng did at the very least engage in scaremongering in order to intimidate prisoners.

2924. Adding to their psychological distress, detainees lived in fear of being called by Security Centre staff at night, aware that those summoned to attend study sessions with Angkar would not return and were believed to have been executed.<sup>10019</sup> Disappearances

<sup>10015</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 65-66; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00272585. See also, MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272578.

<sup>10016</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 60-61 (“I saw the gallbladder. I did not witness the execution itself but I saw the gallbladder, and [Nhok’s] hands stained with blood, when he hanged it to dry at the kitchen.”).

<sup>10017</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 62 (“I recall that she was accused of having a moral offence with a man and her husband”); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272587 (“From what I learned one female prisoner was hacked in the back and her bile bladder taken. I learned of this when Nhok, the person who hacked open her back, told all the prisoners in the kitchen building that ‘it was very difficult to take a hatchet and chop that prisoner’s back open to get that bile bladder’. The bile bladder had been hung in the kitchen building to frighten other prisoners. That bladder and Nhok’s hands were covered with blood. The woman had been a rubber plantation union worker who had been sexually immoral with a man.”); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 65; MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404073; MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272578.

<sup>10018</sup> T. 7 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, pp. 5-6; MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404073.

<sup>10019</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 68-69 (“[W]hat I knew is that we were detained in that detention building and whenever a guard called a detainee out at night or detainees out at night we were terrified because those who were called out at night never returned.”), 77 (“At night time if I heard the sound of a door opening and names were being called out to attend a study session at the Angkar place, it was certain that those persons would disappear”); T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 90 (“I can recall that when prisoners were taken to be killed, mostly they took them out at night time”).

occurred from time to time,<sup>10020</sup> and detainees sometimes heard screams emanating from the interrogation hut.<sup>10021</sup> On the basis of the foregoing and scaremongering by Security Centre personnel, the Chamber is satisfied that detainees were subjected to a climate of fear and intimidation while detained at Au Kanseng.

2925. Aside from one account of approximately 20 prisoners accused of stealing potatoes having been released on instruction from SAO Saroeun,<sup>10022</sup> the Chamber finds that no other prisoners were released from Au Kanseng during its operation.<sup>10023</sup>

12.4.5. Executions

2926. Orders to execute detainees at Au Kanseng emanated from Division 801 Chairman SAO Saroeun and were forwarded to Security Centre Chairman CHHAOM Se for action. CHHAOM Se testified that he never personally issued execution orders, stating that those who were ultimately executed “were not criminals”,<sup>10024</sup> but clarified that he did receive direct orders from SAO Saroeun to execute a group of six Vietnamese civilians.<sup>10025</sup> The Chamber concludes that the witness was here referring

<sup>10020</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 65, 101 (the person whom PHON Thol saw being mistreated with pliers disappeared a day later); T. 11 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/159.1, p. 55 (“Some people disappeared”).

<sup>10021</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 79; UM Keo Interview Record, E3/5173, 8 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272661.

<sup>10022</sup> T. 9 January 2013 (UNG Ren), E1/157.1, pp. 86-87 (“I knew that there was a security or prison in the Boeng Kanseng area [...] through the people who live near the prison or the security centre, because two or three of their children who were starving while working in the cooperative decided to steal potato, and then they were arrested and taken to the security centre. [...] And when 05 arrived at Boeng Kanseng, I reported to him about the issue [...] and then he decided to release those people. And there were about 20 of them at the time.”).

<sup>10023</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, pp. 60-61 (“Regarding the release, in that period, they were released to work within the compound of Au Kanseng Security Centre. The release was applied to those [...] prisoners who had minor offences.”); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 80 (“After the interrogation no one at the Au Kanseng re-education school was released”). See also, MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272579 (“I never saw a prisoner released. The prisoners remained there until liberation, when they went free.”).

<sup>10024</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 104 (“I, myself, never issued any orders for the execution because they were not criminals, even if those people who committed serious offence[s] and were shackled, since we did not have a complete document on those people. [...] [R]egarding the group of six people, I receive[d] instructions from Sao Saroeun for them to be executed.”); T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 16 (witness confirms that he “exercised no authority in order to implement any decision and that all decisions were exercised by Mr Sou Saroeun, whether it concerned the liberation or execution of prisoners.”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215 (“After [six Vietnamese civilians] interrogations were completed, [the] upper echelon decided to finish off those persons in accordance with the orders of the Division 801 commander who made the decision to finish them off.”). With regard to the Security Centre staff’s authority to issue such orders, see above, para. 2876.

<sup>10025</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406215 (“Shortly before 1979, before the strong Vietnamese attacks in 1979, I saw a group of six Vietnamese civilians had to the same group of Vietnamese people referred to in his statement as having been “finished off” in accordance with the orders of the Division 801 Commander. CHHAOM Se further acknowledged that three detainees had been shot as a result of two separate melees with Security Centre guards.<sup>10026</sup> The Chamber accepts CHHAOM Se’s consistent accounts of these deaths and is satisfied that at least nine prisoners, including six captured Vietnamese civilians and three detainees, were executed by Au Kanseng security guards.

2927. Beyond these executions, CHHAOM Se testified that “no one else had been sent for execution” at Au Kanseng.<sup>10027</sup> This assertion is inconsistent with the witness’s own statements to investigators, in which he claimed that detainees who were unable to be re-educated would be “killed”.<sup>10028</sup> Noting the absence of further evidence in this regard, the Chamber considers CHHAOM Se’s contradictory statements insufficient to establish beyond reasonable doubt that unreformed detainees were killed without exception.

2928. The Chamber nevertheless has before it evidence of other extrajudicial executions at or within the purview of Au Kanseng Security Centre which contradicted CHHAOM Se’s assertion, and now turns thereto.

2929. Witness PHON Thol witnessed the execution of two to four soldiers while posted to guard a jackfruit plantation. He described seeing the people carried to the execution site by Au Kanseng security guards, whereupon they were struck to the head been taken prisoner at the Au Ya Dav village battlefield along the border. [...] After their interrogations were completed, [the] upper-echelon decided to finish off those persons in accordance with the orders of the Division 801 commander who made the decision to finish them off.”)

---

<sup>10026</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 104 (“However, some of them caused an injury to one of my guards. They were [in] a fight, and as a result, one died. And in the second instance, one person who was shackled escaped; that person was chased, and it resulted in his death. [...] As I stated earlier, there were three other people, due to their reactions and the harm they caused to one of [...] my guards.”). See also, KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00250074 (“Another incident was about a prisoner who was trying to escape but was shot dead by the guards [...] Punishments were: 1) If a prisoner tries to escape, s/he will be shot dead.”).

<sup>10027</sup> T. 11 January 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/159.1, p. 104 (“Separately, regarding the group of six people, I receive[d] instructions from Sao Saroeun for them to be executed.”).

<sup>10028</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 9, ERN (En) 00406217 (“[I]f after being kept for a period of time [detainees] had still not reformed, Ta Saroeun ordered them killed”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/3984, 2 November 2009, ERN (En) 00403575 (“In the centre compound, there were about 10 pits. One of them was used for no-choice prisoners, namely those who could not be changed by the orders of the upper echelon. There were only about 10 prisoners.”). See also, MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00272578 (“If prisoners broke the rules and could not be re-educated, they were taken away and killed”).

with the backs of hoes, “smashed and killed and buried” in trenches.<sup>10029</sup> Confronted with his previous statement to OCIJ investigators, PHON Thol clarified that he saw two previously-shackled divisional soldiers, one of whom “was dead and the other one was alive”, being carried to a jackfruit plantation, with the second soldier “killed with a hoe before being buried in the trench”.<sup>10030</sup> The witness unequivocally confirmed that the security guards who carried the prisoners “worked for Au Kanseng Security Centre”.<sup>10031</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that while the witness observed two dead bodies on this occasion, he witnessed the execution of only one military prisoner by Security Centre.

2930. Testifying about another incident, PHON Thol described being ordered to bury the body of a Jarai, Tumpoun or Kravet detainee, allegedly shot to death by Security Centre guard and leading cadre Tim after seeking food from a village while working outside the Au Kanseng compound.<sup>10032</sup> PHON Thol provided conflicting accounts about whether he personally witnessed the event; twice stating that he did, and twice stating that he did not see Tim kill the prisoner.<sup>10033</sup>

2931. The nexus between the alleged execution and subsequent burial was not explored at trial. Although he was consistent in asserting that he buried a body, the Chamber is at most able to infer from PHON Thol’s testimony that this was the body of the person allegedly shot by Tim. The Chamber does not have before it the witness’s observations of the body he buried, the perceived cause of death, the chain of custody of the corpse or information about the intervening period between alleged death and burial. Further, the Chamber does not have the benefit of corroborative accounts of this incident. As a result, while the Chamber is satisfied that PHON Thol was directed to

<sup>10029</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 57, 99-100. See also, PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272587.

<sup>10030</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 99-105.

<sup>10031</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 57, 103-105; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272587.

<sup>10032</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 59-60; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 105-106; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272587.

<sup>10033</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 59 (“Q: Did you ever see [Tin] kill anyone and if so, could you describe that incident for us? A: No”), 60 (“Q: Did you actually see Tin shoot this detainee? A: Yes, I witnessed it with my own eyes.”), 105 (“Q: Let me now go to the incident of Tin. You didn’t see Tin kill the person, but he asked you to bury a person. Is that correct? A: Yes.”); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272587 (“I also saw a guard shoot and kill one prisoner [...] while I was labouring near the person who did the shooting. The shooter was Tin.”).

bury a body on this occasion, it is unable to satisfy itself to the requisite standard of proof that he in fact witnessed the execution.

2932. MOEURNG Chandy testified to a further incident before the arrival of Vietnamese forces in which she and two other women secretly witnessed Security Centre guard Auy hit a chained female detainee with the back of a hoe.<sup>10034</sup> The witness described the victim grasping Auy by the leg and begging for her life, before again being struck and killed and then buried in a specially dug pit. The women remained hidden from Auy, who “would have smashed” them had he seen them.<sup>10035</sup> As a result of the witness’s consistent and specific recollections of this event, the Chamber finds MOEURNG Chandy’s account to be credible.

2933. In light of the foregoing evidence, the Chamber rejects CHHAOM Se’s assertion that other prisoners were not executed at Au Kanseng.

2934. Bodies of executed detainees and those who had died of disease were buried in approximately 10 pits dug by Security Centre guards outside the compound.<sup>10036</sup> Two suspected grave sites were identified by OCIJ investigators immediately south of the Au Kanseng compound.<sup>10037</sup> According to former Au Kanseng Deputy Chairman CHIN

<sup>10034</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 62-63 (“One day, when I was picking up vegetables, I saw a woman was walked by [Auy] and that woman implored him. But [...] Auy hit her with the back of a hoe. At the time, the woman did not die yet and she was imploring Auy. There were three of us picking up vegetables in a nearby place and we secretly looked at that incident. [...] And a while later, that woman was smashed with the back of the hoe. She died as a result. He then dug a pit to bury her. [...] She was locked to the chains while being walked by Ta Auy”), 93 (“I saw Auy beating the woman with a hoe and then when the woman gent to grab his leg and begged for her life and then Auy did not let her survive. He kept beating her with another hoe and then he dug a pit and pushed her into the pit.”); MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404073 (“I clearly saw Ta Auy killing one Cambodian female who folded her arms around his legs and begged him for her life. At that time, I was picking vegetables.”).

<sup>10035</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 63 (“We did not let him see us; otherwise, he would have smashed us too.”), 93 (“[W]e secretly sneaked out to make sure that Auy did not see us. After that, we secretly ran way, because we were afraid that he would beat us with a hoe too.”).

<sup>10036</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 47 (“Mostly that was the job done by security guards -- that is, to dig [...] pits”); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 7 (“[T]here was no pit inside the compound of the centre” [emphasis added]); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00403583 (describing “less than ten pits for burying the corpses of prisoners” but placing these “[i]nside the security office compound”, which “were old trench positions and B-52 craters and pits under breadfruit trees”). Despite his placement of the burial pits inside the compound proper, CHIN Kimthong’s descriptions are otherwise consistent with witness sketches of the Security Centre. See Sketch by CHHAOM Se of the location of the Au Kanseng Security Centre, E3/2923, ERN 00699170; Sketch by PHON Thol of Au Kanseng Security Centre, E3/5172, 8 June 2008, ERN 00272590.

<sup>10037</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8024, 21 June 2009, pp. 19-20, ERN (En) 00384814-00384815. The first suspected site measuring approximately 3x3m in size was identified within a cashew nut plantation approximately 250m south of the compound. Brief test digging identified suspicious bone material but Kimthong, the number of deaths at Au Kanseng possibly numbered in the hundreds, but fewer people “died from illnesses than those who were smashed”.<sup>10038</sup> Cognisant of the witness’s motive to minimise the extent of criminal offending at the Security Centre, the Chamber accords minimal weight to the witness’s estimation of the number of deaths at Au Kanseng.

12.4.6. Arrival and Execution of the Jarai

2935. The Chamber has before it a telegram (E3/240) by Northeast Zone Secretary Vy requesting “Angkar’s comments” and “a high-level decision” with respect to “209 Vietnamese soldiers” of Jarai ethnicity including nine females arrested in Sector 107 by “Production Unit 801”. Dated 15 June 1977, the telegram states that the Jarai, who spoke “Khmer poorly” and who claimed that they were “people who came to seek refuge in Cambodia”, had “already been confined”. Vy concludes that “[b]ased on my examination, they are external enemies coming to burrow in our territory but when unmasked, they moved”.<sup>10039</sup>

2936. The telegram’s intended recipients are listed as “Om” (POL Pot), “Om Nuon” (NUON Chea), “Bang Van” (IENG Sary), “Bang Vorn” (VORN Vet), “Bang Khieu” (SON Sen), “Office” (870) and “Documentation”.

2937. The timing of this event as well as the type and number of prisoners were contested by the Parties at trial. The Chamber proceeds with an analysis of the evidence before it.

12.4.6.1. Arrival at Au Kanseng Security Centre

2938. There was no evidence before the Chamber concerning the period between the Jarai’s arrest in Sector 107 and their arrival at Au Kanseng in Sector 102. It was further no further findings could be made. The second suspected grave site, consisting of two suspected pits measuring 8x10m and 5x5m in size, was identified within a jackfruit plantation approximately 145m west of the first site.

---

<sup>10038</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 83 (“I added that from my recollection, the number of prisoners who died was possibly hundreds of people”), 85 (“I cannot give any precise number or answer to the percentage of prisoners who died [...] there were hundreds of them who died, that included those who were smashed as well as those who died in the detention centre from illnesses. [...] I could say that there were a lesser number of prisoners who died from illnesses than those who were smashed.”).

<sup>10039</sup> DK Telegram, E3/240, 15 June 1977, ERN (En) 00897667-00897668.

unclear whether the telegram's reference to the group's "confinement" was referable to their eventual detention at Au Kanseng Security Centre or intervening detention at another location.

2939. The Jarai were transported to Au Kanseng at night in trucks and under armed guard. Upon reaching the Security Centre, they were bound by the hands with rope, segregated by gender and locked in detention buildings.<sup>10040</sup> The inability of Au Kanseng to accommodate such a large influx of prisoners resulted in the Jarai being locked in a "tiny space" in cramped conditions.<sup>10041</sup>

12.4.6.1.1. Date of arrival

2940. The Chamber heard varying evidence regarding the Jarai's arrival date at Au Kanseng. Witness PHON Thol testified that the Jarai arrived at the Security Centre "about one month" after his own internment in mid-June 1977,<sup>10042</sup> or at about the time jackfruit ripened; "from February up to June".<sup>10043</sup> Witness CHIN Kimthong recalled that the event coincided with rainy season and sporadic border clashes that took place from late 1977.<sup>10044</sup> Witness MOEURNG Chandy initially testified that she saw Jarai prisoners while she was pregnant, stating that she was two months pregnant in mid-1977, and accepted NUON Chea defence counsel's suggestion that her daughter was born in or about January 1978.<sup>10045</sup> Confronted with her previous inconsistent statement to OCIJ investigators that she saw Jarai prisoners tied with rope two or three months after giving birth, MOEURNG Chandy conceded that she could not "recall things well" and reaffirmed her earlier assertions to investigators.<sup>10046</sup>

<sup>10040</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 91-92; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00403583; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404078; T. 7 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, p. 16. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/407, 8 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406226.

<sup>10041</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 91 ("[T]here were too many of them. The space to sleep was full, but we put them in that tiny space because we knew there was a door which can be locked.").

<sup>10042</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 40-41, 89, 99.

<sup>10043</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/396.1, p. 14 ("I only know that the jackfruits got ripe from February onwards, [...] so from February up to June").

<sup>10044</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 92-93.

<sup>10045</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 77 ("Q: [...] would you agree with me that if you were pregnant for about two months mid-June 1977, that your daughter must have been born somewhere in January 1978? A: Yes, it's probably like that. It was in 1978.").

<sup>10046</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 78-80 ("It [was] maybe like what you just said. I cannot recall things well. I lost some of my memory because my memory was not good. So what I answered in my first statement is correct.").

2941. The Chamber does not consider MOEURNG Chandy's testimony to be reliable in this regard, considering her own acknowledgment that she could not recall the date of her daughter's birth well, and her general ambiguity about temporal timeframes.<sup>10047</sup> For this reason, the Chamber finds more reliable the testimony of PHON Thol, who provided clear, consistent and specific testimony, and was able to recall with confidence the date of his arrest and transfer to Au Kanseng, namely 16 June 1977. This date accords with the dispatch date of Vy's telegram to Angkar, 15 June 1977, about the arrest of the Jarai.

2942. The Chamber recalls the significant probative value which attaches to the contents of contemporaneous records.<sup>10048</sup> On the basis of PHON Thol's independent corroboration of the temporal timeframe discussed in the telegram, the Chamber accepts as veritable Vy's report that the Jarai were arrested on or about 15 June 1977 and finds that the Jarai were transferred to the Security Centre in or about mid-1977. This timeframe further accords with the substance of CHIN Kimthong's testimony that the Jarai's arrival coincided with the onset of the rainy season and the escalation of armed conflict at border regions of the Northeast Zone, which occurred throughout 1977.<sup>10049</sup>

12.4.6.1.2. Number of Jarai

2943. As to their precise number, while Ta Vy's telegram reported 209 Jarai as having been arrested, witnesses consistently testified and deposed to the arrival of fewer than 200 Jarai to Au Kanseng. Former Deputy Chairman CHIN Kimthong and former prisoners PHON Thol and KHOEM Peou estimated that between 100 and 110 Jarai had been brought to the Security Centre.<sup>10050</sup> Chairman CHHAOM Se rejected the number averred in telegram E3/240 as “not true”, stating that “only more than 100 were sent to my section”.<sup>10051</sup> When asked about Ta Vy’s report that 209 Jarai had been arrested, CHIN Kimthong testified, that:

<sup>10047</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 77 ("I cannot recall because I did not pay attention to the date when the child was born. I simply gave birth without taking much notice of the date.").

<sup>10048</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 57.

<sup>10049</sup> T. 27 July 2016 (MOENG Vet), E1/449.1, pp. 44-45 ("When I arrived in 1977, the 'Yuon' army were attacking in a number of directions [...] In the Northeast Zone, there was Division 801 in Ratanakiri [...] the Yuon army had invaded several fronts."), 47 (The Yuon "attacked a number of other targets including [...] Ratanakiri"); T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 27 ("The reason Division 801 was reassigned to Ratanakiri, that is to the Northeast Zone, is because of the encroachments by the Vietnamese troops, in particular in the area of Ou Dambouk"); DK Telegram, E3/1058, 20 February 1977, ERN (En) 00583681-00583685; Meeting Minutes of Divisional and Independent Regiment Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries, E3/807, 1 March 1977, p. 11, ERN (En) 00933843; DK Telegram, E3/1061, 24 March 1977, ERN (En) 00538730-00538731; DK Telegram, E3/876, 23 April 1977, ERN (En) 00183714; Cambodian Border Clashes Confirmed (Los Angeles Times), E3/8272, 29 August 1977, ERN (En) 00166112; Book by S. Morris: Why Vietnam Invaded Cambodia, E3/7338, p. 99, ERN (En) 01001766.

I think that the [evidence] in relation to the capture of 209 Vietnamese [Jarai], when I compare to the real situation happening at my location, I think the number was overstated. When I received them at the security centre, there were less than 200 people. In fact, 200 people could not have been put together in a building which was about 10-metre[s] long and six-metre[s] wide. Together with previous prisoners who were soldiers, that centre could not accommodate all of them.<sup>10052</sup>

2944. Witness MOEURNG Chandy recalled seeing only 20 to 30 Jarai prisoners, of which 10 or 20 were women.<sup>10053</sup> Indeed, former Au Kanseng Deputy Chairman CHIN Kimthong testified that there were between five and 10 females,<sup>10054</sup> while Vy’s telegram identified nine females as having been arrested.<sup>10055</sup> Further, witnesses also confirmed that a small number of children or babies were among the Jarai brought to Au Kanseng.<sup>10056</sup>

<sup>10050</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 92 (“Perhaps there were around 105 or 110 of them”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00403583 (“Jarai were in fact captured and brought to the Au Kanseng Security Office [...] There were more than 100 of those Jarai”); T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 49-50 (affirms his estimate of 100 prisoners provided to OCIJ investigators); PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272587; KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00250073-00250074 (“But in one night they arrested 105 prisoners from the border (the guard-soldiers told me the figure). [...] I knew that they were Jarai because I heard them speaking the language.”).

<sup>10051</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, pp. 21 (“Q: You said that there were more than 100 people who were Jarai who were arrested. So was it a number between 100 and 200 people, or could this mean more than that even? A: There were more than 100”), 25 (“[T]he number here [in E3/240] is not true; only more than 100 people were sent to my section.”). See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/405, 31 October 2009, p. 8, ERN (En) 00406216 (“In approximately 1978 more than 100 Jarai were captured and brought in from the Vietnamese border”).

<sup>10052</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 98.

<sup>10053</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 50 (There were actually 20 to 30 of them, including men, and later on, the men were separated and only women were placed in my building and those women amounted to [...] between 10 [and] 20”).

<sup>10054</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 94 (“There were not many female Jarai and [...] I cannot tell you whether there were five or ten female Jarai. Most of them were male, and as for the female, there were around 5 or 6 of them.”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404078.

<sup>10055</sup> DK Telegram, E3/240, 15 June 1977, ERN (En) 00897667 (“Production Unit 801 being stationed at 107 patrolled and arrested 209 Vietnamese soldiers, including 9 females in the vicinity of O Laak”).

<sup>10056</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 50; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00272586-00272587; T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 49-51. See also, MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272580.

2945. The Chamber finds these accounts to be consistent and reliable. Turning to the apparent discrepancy between the number of Jarai reported in Vy's telegram and those seen by witnesses who testified in court, the Chamber does not consider these accounts to be contradictory or mutually exclusive. First, the Chamber has already found that approximately one month had elapsed between the arrest in Sector 107 of 209 Jarai and the subsequent detention of at least 100 Jarai at Au Kanseng in Sector 102.<sup>10057</sup> Second, it recalls that witnesses who observed the arrival of at least 100 Jarai at Au Kanseng did so from the limited vantage point of their detention cells inside the Security Centre compound at night.<sup>10058</sup> Thirdly, and as a result of the foregoing, a number of inferences are available to the Chamber about the Jarai for whom witnesses did not account at trial, including that all 209 Jarai were conveyed to the Security Centre but that, in accordance with Au Kanseng's limited prisoner capacity,<sup>10059</sup> only a fraction was subsequently detained therein (i.e. those seen by witnesses). Alternatively, the Chamber could infer that only half of those arrested were detained at Au Kanseng, while the remainder were otherwise dealt with by Division 801. Having no evidence to support a finding concerning those Jarai who were not ultimately detained at Au Kanseng, the Chamber declines to speculate about the circumstances of their separation from the remainder of the arrested group or their ultimate fate. Consistently with the testimony before it regarding the present crime site, the Chamber is satisfied that at least 100 of the 209 arrested Jarai, including men, small children and at least five women, were detained at Au Kanseng Security Centre.

12.4.6.1.3. Identification

2946. Witnesses consistently identified the prisoners as being of Jarai ethnicity. CHIN Kimthong stated that according to the group's skin colour, they were not Vietnamese and that, judging by their accents, they may have been Jarai.<sup>10060</sup> Although she did not speak with them for fear of getting into trouble from the guards,<sup>10061</sup> MOEURNG Chandy observed the group wearing ethnic clothing which was stylistically different from that of Khmers, and heard their Jarai accent, which she knew to be similar to the

<sup>10057</sup> See above, para. 2942.

<sup>10058</sup> The Chamber has found that prisoners were locked in poriferous detention buildings at night. See above, paras 2910-2911, 2921.

<sup>10059</sup> See above, paras 2889, 2939.

<sup>10060</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 99.

<sup>10061</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 52.

way Laotian or Thai people speak.<sup>10062</sup> While the Chamber did not hear expert testimony on the ethnic, national or linguistic distribution of Jarai populations, it has before it sufficient evidence corroborating the foregoing accounts about the spread of ethnic Jarai peoples across border regions of Ratanakiri province and former South Vietnam prior to and during the DK period.<sup>10063</sup> Witness testimony also consistently referred to Jarai people detained at Au Kanseng as an “ethnic” minority group.<sup>10064</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the group referred to as Jarai and imprisoned at Au Kanseng in mid-1977 was, in fact, of Jarai ethnicity.

2947. Limited evidence was heard regarding the question of the Jarai’s origin. CHIN Kimthong testified that the Jarai specified that they lived in mountainous areas near the Vietnam-Kampuchea border on the Vietnamese side but were arrested on Cambodian territory.<sup>10065</sup> Indeed, Vy’s telegram reports the capture of 209 “Vietnamese” soldiers carrying “a Vietnamese map”. The Chamber notes the context in which this information was communicated to Angkar, including the intensifying armed conflict with Vietnam and pervasive atmosphere of paranoia in mid-1977.<sup>10066</sup> Noting further evidence indicating the wide geographic distribution of Jarai peoples across Cambodian and Vietnamese territory,<sup>10067</sup> the Chamber accords the foregoing assertions of the Jarai’s origin little weight. As no further evidence is available in this regard, the Chamber is unable to conclude beyond reasonable doubt that the Jarai were either nationals of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam or ordinarily resident in Vietnamese territory.

<sup>10062</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 51-53. See also, MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00404074.

<sup>10063</sup> Map of Indochinese Ethnolinguistic Groups, E3/2651, undated, ERN (En) 00327660 (showing the Jarai as a “Tribal Malayo-Polynesian” ethnolinguistic group distributed across the Ratanakiri-Vietnam frontier). See also, Book by C. Etcheson: The Rise and Demise of Democratic Kampuchea, E3/29, p. 85, ERN (En) 00393271 (referring to Jarai populations “in the mountainous areas of Stung Treng”); Book by Sak S.: The Khmer Republic at War and the Final Collapse, E3/4534, p. 8, ERN (En) 00495598 (referring to the “majority of the population” in Monduliri and Ratanakiri comprising “ethnic minorities known as [...] Jarai”).

<sup>10064</sup> T. 30 July 2012 (ROCHOEM Ton alias PHY Phuon), E1/98.1, p. 61; T. 8 August 2012 (SUONG Sikoeun), E1/104.1, p. 27; T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, p. 37; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, p. 43; T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 51; T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 52; T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 91; T. 29 March 2016 (CHAN Bun Leath), E1/410.1, p. 19; T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, p. 99.

<sup>10065</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 93.

<sup>10066</sup> Section 16.3.1.4: Real or Perceived Enemies: 1977.

<sup>10067</sup> See above, para. 2946.

12.4.6.1.4. Rationale for arrest

2948. On its face, Vy's telegram evinces the perception that the group of Jarai consisted of enemy combatants as the rationale for their arrest. This conclusion appears to be a result of the Jarai's alleged possession of weapons (including one AK rifle, three guns, two pistols, three US-manufactured grenades, bayonets and knife blades), a Vietnamese map, US-made backpacks, the telegram's assertion that they "served in the army for two to ten years" and claim that they were seeking "refuge in Cambodia", which was considered as untrue.<sup>10068</sup>

2949. Witness CHHAOM Se deposed to investigators that members of the group were arrested and killed because they "were accused of being Vietnam's undercover agents embedding in cooperatives".<sup>10069</sup> Witness CHIN Kimthong testified that the Jarai were "not accused of being Vietnamese soldiers". From the information he received from the battlefield, "they were considered as Thieu-Ky soldiers in the war before 1970";<sup>10070</sup> a reference to soldiers of the former Republic of South Vietnam under President NGUYEN Van Thieu and General NGUYEN Cao Ky.<sup>10071</sup> Corroborating the view that this group was perceived as an external enemy, the Chamber has before it evidence that perceived Thieu-Ky combatants were indeed the subject of skirmishes and antagonisms with Cambodian revolutionary forces before and during the DK period.<sup>10072</sup> A number of prisoners identified as Thieu-Ky soldiers were arrested and detained or executed at S-21.<sup>10073</sup> In his statement to OCIJ investigators, the witness asserted that these Jarai

<sup>10068</sup> See above, para. 2935.

<sup>10069</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/9459, 8 May 2013, p. 6, ERN (En) 00922121.

<sup>10070</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 98.

<sup>10071</sup> Case 001 Transcript (KAINING Guek Eav), E3/5798, 9 June 2009, p. 71, ERN (En) 00339379.

<sup>10072</sup> T. 29 August 2016 (SENG Soeun), E1/465.1, p. 74 ("[A]fter 17 April 1975, [...] the fighting with us was not with the "Yuon" from the [sic] Vietnam, but was with the Thieu-Ky soldiers. [...] Thieu-Ky was the leader of [...] South Vietnam -- of the "Yuon" in the [sic] South Vietnam. [...] I fought against Thieu-Ky soldiers."); T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, pp. 81-82 ("[T]he shelling came from [the] direction [of Vietnam]. However, I could say there were two groups: one was good and one was bad. [...] [O]ne group was the Thieu-Ky group, and another group was a good Vietnamese group. [...] [the shelling] was in 1977, and it was early that year, not in the later part of the year."); T. 2 November 2016 (LONG Sat), E1/494.1, p. 74 ("Yes, in [19]70, there were Thieu-Ky soldiers entering our territory").

<sup>10073</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 3 May 1978, E3/10138, p. 3, ERN (En) 01548732 (listing two "Vietnamese" soldiers "of Thiv Ky" from the Northeast Zone); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10205, 1-13 October 1978, pp. 8-11, ERN (En) 01397683-01397687 (listing 18 "Thiv Ky 'Vietnamese'" soldiers including 13 from Mondulkiri and five from "Kratie, Snuol"); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10212, 8 November 1978, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 01397693-01397694 (listing four "Thiv Ky 'Vietnamese'" soldiers from Mondulkiri); S-21 list of "Yuon Espionage Section" prisoners, E3/8436, undated, ERN (En) 00250014 (listing four Thieu Ky "lieutenants", including one from Mondulkiri and another from Kratie). The Chamber has not considered these arrests and detentions as part of the Au Kanseng crime base.

were called “ethnic FULRO” at the time,<sup>10074</sup> referring to the Front Uni pour la Lutte des Races Opprimées (United Front for the Struggle of Oppressed Races); a multi-ethnic resistance group active in the mountainous region between Cambodia (Ratanakiri and Mondulokiri) and Vietnam (Central Highlands) before, during and after the DK era.<sup>10075</sup> 2950. It is clear from the foregoing that, whatever the nature of their ultimate categorisation by Division 801, the Jarai were arrested on grounds of their perceived non-Cambodian affiliations rather than their membership of any ethnic or racial group, whether Jarai or Vietnamese. Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied that the Jarai were arrested as a result of Division 801 and the Northeast Zone Secretary’s perception that they were “external enemies”.

12.4.6.2. Execution

2951. Less than one week following their arrival,<sup>10076</sup> the Jarai were tied with rope in lines of 10 and marched out of the prison under the pretext of being returned to their

<sup>10074</sup> CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404078 (“They arrested and sent those prisoners to Au Kanseng during the night time. They called them ethnic FULRO”).

<sup>10075</sup> Founded in 1964, FULRO was initially supported by LON Nol, and had as its objective the liberation of the former Kingdom of Champa. It abandoned its struggle in 1992. See T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, p. 45 (referring to Jarai, Rhade, Kacho, Kavet and “other minority people involved in the movement. [...] Initially, when the FULRO forces arrived at the [Mondulokiri] border, we assumed that they were the Vietnamese forces [...]. [T]hey were part of a resistance movement belonging to the Vietnamese ethnic minorities and their plan was to liberate their territory.”); T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, p. 91 (“As far as I know, Lon Nol himself was the chief of [the] FULRO movement. [...] FULRO Champa had participant from other ethnic groups such as Jarai and Rhade from Mondulokiri and Ratanakiri province who wanted to regain back our motherland, Champa territory.”); Book by W. P. Deak: Road to the Killing Fields: The Cambodian War of 1970-1975, E3/3328, p. 46, ERN (En) 00430626; Book by N. Chanda: Brother Enemy: The War after the War, E3/2376, pp. 97, ERN (En) 00192282 (FULRO “received material support from the Khmer Rouge” in about 1977), 240, ERN (En) 00192425 (referring to FULRO resistance to the Khmer Rouge); Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, pp. 265-266, ERN (En) 01150139-01150140 (referring to a quote from SENG Hong alias Chan: “The reason [that POL Pot scattered the Cham] was that the Muslims had an organisation called ‘FULRO Champa’, to defend the interests of the Muslims, led by Les Kasem, a colonel in Phnom Penh during the Lon Nol era.”).

<sup>10076</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 52 (the witness estimated that the Jarai disappeared “less than one week” after their arrival), 95 (“When I witnessed the Jarai disembarking from the truck and sent away four or five days later”); T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, p. 51 (“The tie [rope] remained there while they were detained in the building for about four to 10 days, and after that, they removed the rope”); MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404073 (“In about three, four days later [after MOEURNG Chandy first saw the Jarai tied] these minority people were told that they would be taken back to their birth district”). See also, KHOEM Peou Interview Record, E3/7684, 26 August 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00250074 (“Next morning [after their arrival at Au Kanseng] all of those prisoners disappeared”).

home districts.<sup>10077</sup>

2952. There are no eyewitness accounts or forensic evidence before the Chamber of the alleged execution of the Jarai.<sup>10078</sup> The Chamber nevertheless has before it significant circumstantial evidence that evinces the fate of this group following their removal from Au Kanseng.

2953. Witness MOEURNG Chandy testified that she had seen a large, empty B-52 bomb crater located one kilometre from the Security Centre.<sup>10079</sup> A few days after the Jarai had been taken away, she returned to the area on a work assignment to pick vegetables and saw the same crater filled with dirt. She testified that she could “smell the decomposed bodies from the cracked-open soil”,<sup>10080</sup> and “saw the clothing of the dead people”. Garments resembling the torn and distinctive clothes previously worn by the Jarai were distributed to detainees in the days following these observations, leading MOEURNG Chandy to conclude that they had been executed.<sup>10081</sup>

---

<sup>10077</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, p. 49; PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272587; T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 55 (“At that time, the Jarai people were told to leave the building in order to go back to their birth district and those Jarai people were tied together in single file and taken back”), 60-61.

<sup>10078</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8024, 21 June 2009, p. 9, ERN (En) 00384814.

<sup>10079</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 60 (“Before the incident, I could see the pit was empty [...] For instance, one day before [the] Jarai people had been taken out, the pit was not covered”), 81-82 (“The empty pit [...] was the result of the B-52 bombing. [...] The first time I saw the crater, the pit was not filled with dirt [...] At one time I saw an empty, deep pit”); T. 7 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, pp. 20 (“The crater or pit was deep and, at the time, it was not covered with dirt yet. It [...] was the result of the bombing [...] At first the dirt was not covered with dirt yet and it was deep.”), 22 (“The pit, at one time, was deep”). See also, MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404073 (“But about a few hundred metres or nearly one kilometre [...] at the mouth of the bomb crater [...] I used to see those pits before”).

<sup>10080</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 57 (“A few days later, I returned to that location and I could smell the decomposed bodies from the cracked-open soil”), 60 (“[T]wo or three days later, I went back to that location or I went to a place close to the pit. The pit was fully covered after that incident.”), 82 (“The crater was filled with dirt, with a crack on the surface [...] I saw the pit was filled with dirt and I could smell the decomposing bodies.”); T. 7 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, pp. 20-21 (“On another occasion, after I went to that place for the second time, the dirt was used to cover the pit already. [...] And the dirt in that pit was cracked open, it smelled bad, so no one would go near it.”), 25 (“There was only one pit. When I first saw it, it was deep and not covered. And when I saw it again, it was covered with dirt.”). See also, MOEURNG Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404073 (“Two, three days later I went to pick the cassavas and saw the cracks in that pit and [it] smelled stinky”).

<sup>10081</sup> T. 3 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/396.1, pp. 51, 57 (“And at that location, I also saw the clothing of the dead people and [...] those clothes were taken and given to other people to wear, so it makes me to believe that those Jarai people had all been killed.”), 61 (“Two days later, clothes were distributed to other people to wear. [...] The clothes had the same colours and model. Those clothes [...] were distributed to other detainees.”); T. 7 March 2016 (MOEURNG Chandy), E1/397.1, p. 18 (“[T]heir clothing was distinctive from our clothing, [...] so I could recognise that the women were wearing red cloth with white colour in the front. So I knew that Jarai people wore that kind of clothing.”); MOEURNG

2954. MOEURNG Chandy's account is corroborated by Witness PHON Thol's own observations. About a week after the Jarai had disappeared from Au Kanseng,<sup>10082</sup> PHON Thol was assigned to guard a jackfruit plantation near a B-52 bomb crater, "approximately one kilometre away" from Au Kanseng. He testified that he saw a cracking pit and perceived a stench that he concluded were "decomposing bodies in that grave which was not fully covered".<sup>10083</sup> PHON Thol did not see any dead bodies at the time, but did see bloodstained and tattered clothes, shoes and sandals through the crack, asserting that he could recognise the clothing as that worn by the Jarai prisoners when they were taken away from the Security Centre.<sup>10084</sup>

2955. Witness CHIN Kimthong provided compelling corroboration of the death and burial of the Jarai. He confirmed knowing first-hand that the Jarai were executed and buried in a B-52 bomb crater that was outside of the Security Centre compound and among a jackfruit plantation, and stated that he personally saw the burial pit.<sup>10085</sup> Accounts of the pit, its distance to Au Kanseng and the stench emanating therefrom following the disappearance of the Jarai are further corroborated by the statements of Chandy Interview Record, E3/9357, 9 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404073 ("The guards brought in the clothes of those ethnic prisoners to give to other prisoners; and I recognised those clothes because I stayed with those ethnic people for two, three days").

---

<sup>10082</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 94-96, 99.

<sup>10083</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 53 ("Later on, two days after [the Jarai] had disappeared, I was assigned to work in a jackfruit plantation and at that location, I saw a pit left by bombing next to the palm trees"), 56 ("Upon my arrival, I saw the cracking pit and I smelled the stench, and I concluded that the stench was of the decomposing bodies in that grave which was not fully covered, so [...] it made me believe that those people were killed and they died [...] it was about one kilometre away [...] It was outside the compound of the Au Kanseng Security Centre.").

<sup>10084</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (PHON Thol), E1/395.1, pp. 50-51, 53-55 ("I saw blood. And the pit was cracking. I also saw some clothes, shoes, sandals and flash lights and I suspected that Jarai minority people could have been killed, at that place, and the pit there was cracking [...] I could recognise [...] the clothing they wore when they were being taken. The clothing remained at the grave was the same clothes they wore when they were being taken away. [...] The clothes they wore were in blue and in red and the clothes were tattered and I assumed that the clothes I saw were the same clothes worn by those Jarai when they were being walked out. [...] I did not see the dead body, but clothes stained with blood."). See also, PHON Thol Interview Record, E3/5172, 6 May 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00272587 ("I saw a B[52] bomb crater [...]. Near that crater I saw blood, backpacks, native clothing, torches, and shoes; from those materials I concluded that the bodies were Jarai and that they had been brought there to be killed.").

<sup>10085</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 91 ("There was a pit used to put the Jarai people who had been killed. The pit was the result of a B-52 bombing. I knew that they buried them in the B-52 pit because on one occasion, a few days after the ethnic Jarai were smashed, I went to the upper area where there were jackfruits. It stunk [sic]. So I assumed that perhaps the ethnic Jarai had been killed at that location"). See also, CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00403583; CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404078.

CHHAOM Se and MAO Phat.<sup>10086</sup>

2956. CHHAOM Se confirmed that both male and female Jarai were among those executed.<sup>10087</sup> The Chamber accepts as credible the consistent and corroborated accounts of Witnesses MOEURNG Chandy, PHON Thol, CHIN Kimthong and CHHAOM Se regarding the ultimate fate of the Jarai. The Chamber is satisfied that the only reasonable inference available from the foregoing evidence is the death and subsequent burial of the Jarai approximately one week after their arrival at Au Kanseng.

2957. The source of the order to execute the Jarai was affirmed by CHIN Kimthong in court. He described being called to a meeting with SAO Saroeun, along with CHHAOM Se, to discuss the Jarai situation. At the meeting, SAO Saroeun enquired whether or not the Security Centre could manage the Jarai, to which CHHAOM Se responded in the negative, citing limited accommodation within the Security Centre and the small number of available guards. SAO Saroeun thereafter instructed them to “sort out” or “solve” the situation. CHIN Kimthong confirmed that he understood this to mean “to kill” or “to kill and get rid of”.<sup>10088</sup> CHHAOM Se agreed that as commander of Division 801, the “particular issue of the 100 Jarai who were captured [was at] the sole discretion of Ta Sou Saroeun”.<sup>10089</sup> The Chamber recalls its findings that the RAK General Staff, and in particular SON Sen, oversaw the operation of Au Kanseng.<sup>10090</sup> It further recalls that members of the Standing Committee including POL Pot, NUON Chea, and SON Sen were not only apprised of the Jarai’s arrest by Northeast Zone <sup>10086</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/407, 8 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406226 (“Those prisoners were taken away to be killed and buried in B[52] craters on the slope of Phnom Svay in the western part, northwest of the national road”); MAO Phat Interview Record, E3/9326, 6 May 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00272580 (“When I was working pulling grass, I saw three B[-52] bomb craters less than one kilometer from the prison and near those graves I saw shoes (Vietnamese style sandals) and Jarai clothing. I saw cracks in the grave pits full of flies and there was a strong smell since the pits had covered with only a thin layer of dirt. After seeing that, I concluded that those Jarai had been brought there and killed.”).

<sup>10087</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 21 (“Q: [A]mong the Jarai who had been executed close to your centre, were there women or young women among them? A: Yes, there were.”).

<sup>10088</sup> T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, pp. 99-101 (“I can recall the instruction of Ta Saroeun, or Ta 05, about ethnic Jarai after the report of Se. And after hearing the report, he summed it up by saying that, ‘Please solve it’. ‘Solve it’ is the term they [sic] used. And from what we understood, the word [sic] ‘solve it’ meant to kill.”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/5512, 3 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00403583 (“At the time, Ta Saroeun (Ta 05) called me and Se to meet him and he told us [...] to sort out those Jarai. [...] The term ‘sort out’ meant ‘to kill and get rid of’.”).

<sup>10089</sup> T. 8 April 2013 (CHHAOM Se), E1/177.1, p. 18. See also, CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/9459, 8 May 2013, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00922120-00922121.

<sup>10090</sup> See above, paras 2872-2875.

Secretary Vy, but were also asked for a “high level” decision on the matter.<sup>10091</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the order to execute the Jarai was channelled through SON Sen and SAO Saroeun with the direct involvement of the CPK Standing Committee.

2958. The order was relayed to Au Kanseng security guards for action. CHIN Kimthong testified that the execution of the Jarai prisoners was carried out by Au Kanseng security personnel after a discussion with SAO Saroeun.<sup>10092</sup> In his interview with OCIJ investigators, CHHAOM Se conversely claimed that the Jarai were executed by the military unit that initially brought them to the Security Centre.<sup>10093</sup> The Chamber notes that CHHAOM Se could not be examined on this contention in court and that, as chairman of Au Kanseng, has sufficient reason to minimise his own and subordinates’ roles in the execution of Jarai. The Chamber therefore attributes no weight to his apportionment of blame. Consistently with its finding that other executions at Au Kanseng were perpetrated by security personnel,<sup>10094</sup> the Chamber accepts CHIN Kimthong’s testimony and finds that the Jarai were executed by the Security Centre’s security guards.

12.4.7. Legal Findings

12.4.7.1. Murder

2959. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of murder at Au Kanseng Security Centre. It specifically charges the Accused with the execution of six ethnic Vietnamese by Security Centre personnel on the instructions of SAO Saroeun.<sup>10095</sup> The Chamber has found that six Vietnamese civilians were deliberately executed pursuant to the orders of SAO Saroeun.<sup>10096</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that both the actus reus and mens rea of murder are established and

<sup>10091</sup> See above, para. 2936.

<sup>10092</sup> T. 22 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/406.1, p. 81 (“Regarding the killings of Jarai people, that task was performed by Tim, the deputy of Se”); T. 21 March 2016 (CHIN Kimthong), E1/405.1, p. 101 (“After we met Ta Saroeun, Se invited security guards and me to sit together and solve the issue”); CHIN Kimthong Interview Record, E3/406, 5 November 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00404078.

<sup>10093</sup> CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/407, 8 November 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00406226 (“The soldiers, who had transported those Jarai people [into my Centre], were the ones who killed them personally”); CHHAOM Se Interview Record, E3/9459, 8 May 2013, p. 5, ERN (En) 00922120 (“Q: Who killed the Jarai people? A27: The military who had brought the Jarai people there were the killers; it was not the sector’s military”).

<sup>10094</sup> See above, paras 2926, 2929, 2932.

<sup>10095</sup> Closing Order, para. 622.

<sup>10096</sup> See above, para. 2926.

accordingly finds that the crime against humanity of murder is satisfied with respect to these six civilians.

2960. The Closing Order further charges the Accused with the execution of 209 ethnic Jarai prisoners at Au Kanseng in mid-1977.<sup>10097</sup> The Chamber has found that at least 100 ethnic Jarai, comprising men, small children and approximately five women were detained at Au Kanseng in mid-1977.<sup>10098</sup> The Chamber has further found that approximately one week after their internment at the Security Centre, the Jarai were marched out of the detention compound under pretence, tied with rope,<sup>10099</sup> their remains to be found days later decomposing in a pit located beyond the Security Centre compound.<sup>10100</sup> The Chamber was satisfied that an order to execute the Jarai was channelled through RAK General Staff Chairman SON Sen and Division 801 Commander SAO Saroeun with the involvement of the CPK Standing Committee to security personnel for implementation.<sup>10101</sup>

2961. The Chamber finds that the order to execute the Jarai, their conveyance by security personnel under pretence beyond the Security Centre proper a short time after their arrival, their subsequent execution and burial clearly demonstrates intentional killings sufficient to constitute murder as a crime against humanity. The Chamber is satisfied that both the actus reus and mens rea of murder are established and finds that the crime against humanity of murder is established with respect to the Jarai.

2962. The Closing Order charges the Accused with other deaths at Au Kanseng more generally.<sup>10102</sup> The Chamber was not satisfied beyond reasonable doubt that unreformed detainees were killed without exception.<sup>10103</sup> Similarly, the Chamber was not satisfied that the evidence established to the requisite standard that a prisoner was killed before having his or her gallbladder removed, and could at most conclude that Security Centre staff were complicit in scaremongering and intimidation by spreading such stories.<sup>10104</sup> Accordingly, the Chamber is not satisfied that the actus reus of murder is established

---

<sup>10097</sup> Closing Order, paras 618-621.

<sup>10098</sup> See above, para. 2945.

<sup>10099</sup> See above, para. 2951.

<sup>10100</sup> See above, paras 2953-2955.

<sup>10101</sup> See above, para. 2957.

<sup>10102</sup> Closing Order, para. 623.

<sup>10103</sup> See above, para. 2927.

<sup>10104</sup> See above, para. 2923.

with respect to either the alleged systematic execution of any unreformed prisoners, or the death of prisoners who were allegedly mutilated posthumously. It accordingly finds that the crime against humanity of murder is not established in these instances.

2963. The Chamber has found that three detainees died after melees with Security Centre guards.<sup>10105</sup> By shooting at these detainees, the Chamber finds that the guards' acts not only substantially contributed to their deaths, but were also perpetrated with intent to kill or cause serious bodily harm. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that both the mens rea and actus reus of murder are established and accordingly finds the crime against humanity of murder is established with respect to these three individuals.

2964. The Chamber has further accepted the accounts of PHON Thol and MOEURNG Chandy with respect to two separate prisoner executions perpetrated by security personnel.<sup>10106</sup> The manner of these executions, including sequestering detainees from their quarters, conveying them while restrained to an isolated location, striking at their bodies with blunt force and burying them in pits in and around the Security Centre demonstrates a clear intention by the direct perpetrators to occasion death. The Chamber is satisfied that both the actus reus and mens rea of murder are established and accordingly finds that the crime against humanity of murder is established with respect to these two deaths.

2965. Although the Chamber accorded limited weight to the estimation that "hundreds" of prisoners were "smashed" or died from illnesses at Au Kanseng,<sup>10107</sup> it has found that some deaths at the Security Centre had in fact resulted from prevailing conditions of detention, the lack of medicine and physical mistreatment inflicted upon detainees.<sup>10108</sup>

2966. With regard to executions, the Chamber has found that PHON Thol saw a dead soldier whose death he did not witness.<sup>10109</sup> Further, the witness recounted being instructed to bury the body of a Jarai, Tumpoun or Kravet detainee allegedly shot to death by security guard Tim. Although the nexus between the alleged shooting and the

---

<sup>10105</sup> See above, para. 2926.

<sup>10106</sup> See above, paras 2929, 2932.

<sup>10107</sup> See above, para. 2934.

<sup>10108</sup> See above, paras 2917-2918, 2934.

<sup>10109</sup> See above, para. 2929.

burial of the body were not clarified at trial, the Chamber has found that PHON Thol was in fact directed to bury a body on this occasion.<sup>10110</sup> OCIJ investigators identified two suspected grave sites south of the Au Kanseng compound in jackfruit and cashew nut plantations, similar to those described by witnesses at trial. The investigation uncovered suspicious bone material within suspected grave sites, but no forensic analysis was subsequently conducted.<sup>10111</sup> 2967. The absence of forensic evidence notwithstanding, evidence before the Chamber indicates a pattern of conduct at Au Kanseng resulting in the deaths of civilian and military detainees during the course of its operation. The evidence does not, however, rise to a level such as to allow the Chamber to enter an inferential or general finding that “hundreds” of deaths were occasioned at the Security Centre. While it is probable that some of the deaths at Au Kanseng were the result of executions by Security Centre staff as suggested by witnesses at trial, the Chamber is unable to delineate the preponderance of instances to which executions (or deaths as a result of detention conditions) could be attributed and is, at most, able to find that deaths not exceeding hundreds in number resulted from both detention conditions and executions at Au Kanseng. In sum, the Chamber is satisfied that the crime against humanity of murder is established with respect to the foregoing 111 deaths and that these killings had no lawful basis.

12.4.7.2. Extermination

2968. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of extermination at Au Kanseng.<sup>10112</sup> The Chamber has already found that the intentional execution of a least 111 prisoners at this Security Centre constitutes murder as a crime against humanity.<sup>10113</sup> It is satisfied that the execution of at least 111 people constitutes death on a “massive scale”, and therefore fulfils the gravity requirement for the crime of extermination, and that these deaths were part of the same murder operation at Au Kanseng Security Centre. Separately, the Chamber is satisfied that the order to execute, and subsequent execution, of a group of at least 100 Jarai prisoners in and of itself evinces the direct intention to kill on a massive scale and therefore fulfils the mental

<sup>10110</sup> See above, paras 2930-2931.

<sup>10111</sup> See above, para. 2934.

<sup>10112</sup> Closing Order, paras 618-623, 1381, 1384-1385.

<sup>10113</sup> See above, Section 12.4.7.1: Murder.

element of the crime of extermination. Having satisfied itself of the actus reus and mens rea elements of the crime of extermination, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of extermination is established at Au Kanseng Security Centre with respect to at least 111 prisoners.

12.4.7.3. Enslavement

2969. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of enslavement at Au Kanseng Security Centre. It finds that prisoners at Au Kanseng Security Centre were subjected to total physical and psychological control, such that virtually all decisions concerning their physical environment were taken by the authorities in order to achieve Party goals.<sup>10114</sup>

2970. The NUON Chea Defence submits that the working conditions at the Security Centre did not exceed that which would normally be required of a person under “lawful detention”.<sup>10115</sup> The Chamber has already determined that compulsory labour may, under certain circumstances, legally fall within the remit of work “normally required” of detained persons. The prerequisite condition for legality in such circumstances, however, is the existence of a lawful order of a competent court mandating compulsory labour.<sup>10116</sup> In this regard, the Chamber does not have before it evidence of any judicial pronouncements – whether sentences, judgments or other ancillary judicial orders – rendered against prisoners at Au Kanseng prior to their arrival. This is consistent with the Chamber’s previous finding that a regular or functioning judicial system was absent during the DK era.<sup>10117</sup> Further, the Chamber has found that prisoners were not informed of the reasons for their arrests within a reasonable time of having been brought to Au Kanseng and were denied due process rights for the duration of their incarceration.<sup>10118</sup> Indeed, it has found that the denial of freedom to prisoners was the direct result of a discriminatory, and therefore persecutory, intent.<sup>10119</sup> Insofar as it submits that detainee labour at Au Kanseng was legally prescribed, the NUON Chea Defence’s submission is rejected.

<sup>10114</sup> Closing Order, paras 1391, 1393-1394.

<sup>10115</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 615.

<sup>10116</sup> Section 9.1.3: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Enslavement.

<sup>10117</sup> Section 5: Administrative Structures, paras 417-418.

<sup>10118</sup> See above, para. 2895. See below, para. 2979.

<sup>10119</sup> See below, para. 2979.

2971. The NUON Chea Defence further submits that “crops which the detainees grew were meant for their own consumption”.<sup>10120</sup> The Chamber has found that produce harvested by detainees was either consumed by prisoners and cadres at Au Kanseng, or was otherwise distributed to divisional or frontline soldiers.<sup>10121</sup> It has further found that some workers transported firewood from the forest in order to keep warm in detention buildings at night.<sup>10122</sup> However, while it is clear that detainees may have derived benefit from their labour in some instances, this does not necessarily preclude a finding of enslavement. The relevant question, to which the Chamber now turns, is whether powers of ownership were exercised over detainees, reducing them to mere commodities.

2972. The Chamber has found that detainees were subjected to a regimented work regime as part of the tempering process at Au Kanseng and could not refuse to work.<sup>10123</sup> Light offenders were assigned to work inside and outside the Security Centre compound planting, farming and foraging vegetables, working in rice fields, weeding and clearing grass for new plantations, cooking, carrying wood and constructing buildings for cadres.<sup>10124</sup> Other detainees were assigned to assisting with interrogations, guarding other prisoners and burying bodies.<sup>10125</sup> Security Centre personnel dictated working times and locations, which at times were at distant locations at the Vietnam border.<sup>10126</sup> Security Centre staff additionally controlled the timing, distribution and quantity of meals and water during the workday,<sup>10127</sup> and determined the movements and actions of detainees, keeping them under armed guard while working and requiring them to return to their cells at night, where they were required to observe silence.<sup>10128</sup> Although permitted to talk among themselves during the day, detainees dared not discuss politics or Angkar lest they be implicated as enemies of the regime. Prisoners feared repercussions if they failed to abide by the instructions of Au Kanseng

---

<sup>10120</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 615.

<sup>10121</sup> See above, para. 2919.

<sup>10122</sup> See above, para. 2911.

<sup>10123</sup> See above, para. 2919.

<sup>10124</sup> See above, paras 2919-2921.

<sup>10125</sup> See above, paras 2897, 2921, 2930.

<sup>10126</sup> See above, para. 2919.

<sup>10127</sup> See above, para. 2915.

<sup>10128</sup> See above, paras 2910, 2921.

personnel.<sup>10129</sup> To that end, the Chamber has found that detainees were subjected to a climate of fear and intimidation while interned at Au Kanseng.<sup>10130</sup>

2973. That detainees were involuntarily subdued to the point of involuntary servitude is perhaps best illustrated by MOEURNG Chandy's testimony. Compelled to engage in physical labour shortly after giving birth to her daughter, the witness was required to leave her daughter with a caretaker while labouring; a process which she could scarcely undertake without the assistance of other workers, and which she attributed to the subsequently deterioration of not only her own health, but also that of her young daughter.<sup>10131</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the actus reus of enslavement is established at Au Kanseng.

2974. The foregoing findings demonstrate that the predominant object of prisoners' labour – namely, assignments aimed at ensuring the nourishment of frontline troops and Security Centre staff as well as the construction of buildings for cadres – was largely centred on the subjugation of prisoners' needs to those of the Party apparatus. The Chamber finds that the prevailing regime of mandatory work imposed upon detainees at Au Kanseng entailed their physical and economic exploitation, to their physical and psychological detriment, which, together with their imprisonment at the Security Centre, rendered them incapable of expressing a genuine choice about whether they would work. As a result, the Chamber finds that prisoners were subjected to conditions of forced labour. Further, the Chamber finds that this mandatory regime effectively reduced prisoners to mere commodities and permitted their manipulation and exploitation for the benefit of the Party and its aims. By governing the movements, living arrangements, working conditions and environs of detainees within a climate of fear and intimidation, the Chamber is satisfied that Security Centre personnel intentionally exercised over them the powers attaching to the rights of ownership and is accordingly satisfied that the mens rea of enslavement is established. The Chamber therefore finds that the crime against humanity of enslavement has been established at Au Kanseng Security Centre.

---

<sup>10129</sup> See above, para. 2922.

<sup>10130</sup> See above, paras 2921-2924.

<sup>10131</sup> See above, para. 2920.

12.4.7.4. Imprisonment

2975. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of imprisonment at Au Kanseng Security Centre, finding that prisoners were arbitrarily held at Au Kanseng absent legal basis or procedural safeguards.<sup>10132</sup>

2976. The NUON Chea Defence submits that the evidence does not allow a finding that arrests at Au Kanseng lacked a legitimate factual basis.<sup>10133</sup> While the Chamber has found that military prisoners were received at the Security Centre from time to time along with lists detailing the reasons for their arrest, it has been unable to ascertain whether soldiers were in fact informed of the reasons of their arrests.<sup>10134</sup> With respect to civilian prisoners, the Chamber has found that these detainees were not properly informed of the reasons for their arrest, either before or within a reasonable time of having been brought to Au Kanseng Security Centre. Some civilian prisoners were brought to Au Kanseng by soldiers on the pretext of being required by Angkar for re-education. Others only realised that they were being imprisoned upon their arrival to the Security Centre. Detainees were frequently asked the reason for their arrest before being accused of wrongdoing during interrogations.<sup>10135</sup>

2977. The Chamber has additionally found that civilian prisoners were not detained pursuant to a warrant or any document emanating from an investigative or judicial authority.<sup>10136</sup> The Chamber specifically notes in this regard CHHAOM Se's acknowledgment that those detainees who were ultimately executed "were not criminals".<sup>10137</sup> Moreover, there was no evidence before the Chamber that any prisoners were either brought before a judicial officer vested with the authority to review the charges upon which prisoners had allegedly been detained, or to assess or appeal the lawfulness of ongoing detention. Further, the Chamber has found that prisoners languished in detention for an extended period of time beyond their initial arrest, having been interrogated between a few days and one month after their arrival at the Security Centre.<sup>10138</sup> Finally, and consistent with the Chamber's finding that no judicial system

---

<sup>10132</sup> Closing Order, paras 1402, 1404.

<sup>10133</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 535.

<sup>10134</sup> See above, para. 2906.

<sup>10135</sup> See above, paras 2893, 2899.

<sup>10136</sup> See above, para. 2895.

<sup>10137</sup> See above, para. 2926.

<sup>10138</sup> See above, para. 2897.

was established during the DK era,<sup>10139</sup> there was no evidence before the Chamber that detainees were afforded a trial or were otherwise convicted by a court of law before having being detained at Au Kanseng.

2978. The Chamber was able to deduce from the substance of prisoner interrogations the reasons for their arrest and detention at Au Kanseng. Having heard that civilians were interrogated about their “feudalist” activities, complicity with the Vietnamese or US collaborators and other “internal enemies”, the Chamber determined that interrogative practices were employed to procure confessions of counter-revolutionary activities in order to incriminate prisoners and identify enemies.<sup>10140</sup> While the NUON Chea Defence suggests that treasonable or espionage-type offences constituted serious, if not capital, punishment under DK law warranting detention,<sup>10141</sup> the Chamber rejects the notion that mere accusations of vaguely treasonous activity or espionage could, in the absence of supporting legal and procedural safeguards, legitimately found a basis for the deprivation of personal liberty.

2979. In view of the foregoing and insofar as it concerns civilian prisoners, the Chamber finds that the circumstances of civilian prisoners’ detention at Au Kanseng jointly and severally represent a fundamental disregard for and denial of the procedural rights enshrined under international law, and accordingly rejects the NUON Chea Defence’s submission on this point. The systematic failure to inform and sufficiently particularise the charges of which civilian detainees were suspected, and pursuant to which they were subsequently detained, demonstrates the flagrant, intentional and continuous denial of due process rights constituting arbitrary detention contrary to international law. The Chamber is satisfied that both the actus reus and mens rea of imprisonment are established and accordingly finds that the crime against humanity of imprisonment is established at Au Kanseng Security Centre as regards civilian prisoners.

12.4.7.5. Persecution on political grounds

2980. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds of “real or perceived enemies of the CPK”, which it defines as those whose real or perceived political beliefs were contrary to the CPK, or were opposed to those wielding power within the Party.<sup>10142</sup> The particular acts amounting to persecution must be expressly charged.<sup>10143</sup> According to the Closing Order, such people “were subjected to harsher treatment and living conditions” than the remainder of the population and were also “arrested en masse for re-education and elimination”.

<sup>10139</sup> Section 5: Administrative Structures, para. 417-418.

<sup>10140</sup> See above, para. 2899.

<sup>10141</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 406.

2981. With respect to Au Kanseng Security Centre, the KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that the charge of persecution on political grounds is restricted to the three categories of enemy particularised in the Closing Order under the heading of “Legal Findings” (namely, former Khmer Republic officials, New People and Cambodians returning from abroad).<sup>10144</sup> This submission has been addressed and rejected elsewhere in this Judgement.<sup>10145</sup>

2982. The Chamber must satisfy itself that the targeted group of “real or perceived enemies of the CPK” referred to in the Closing Order was sufficiently discernible.<sup>10146</sup> In delineating the precise category of persons contemplated by the present charge at Au Kanseng, it is necessary to read the Closing Order’s ultimate disposition and legal characterisation of facts referable to that crime site in conjunction with the factual findings of the Co-Investigating Judges. In this regard, and in the context of directives issued regarding enemies in Division 801, subsequent purges, arrests, detentions, interrogations and executions at Au Kanseng, the Closing Order clearly identifies a group consisting of adversaries of the CPK or its ideology who, as perceived counter-revolutionaries, may broadly be characterised as real or perceived enemies. According to the Closing Order, this group included detractors of the socialist revolution and critics or opponents of the Party (including those connected with feudalistic practices or accused of immorality, and individuals suspected of or implicated in complicity with Party enemies), as well as the Vietnamese and suspected Vietnamese collaborators (including former Thieu-Ky soldiers, FULRO members and ethnic Jarai from

<sup>10142</sup> Closing Order, paras 1417-1418.

<sup>10143</sup> Section 9.1.7: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Persecution on Political, Racial or Religious Grounds, para. 716.

<sup>10144</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1324-1325.

<sup>10145</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 170.

<sup>10146</sup> Section 9.1.7: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Persecution on Political, Racial or Religious Grounds, para. 714.

Vietnam).<sup>10147</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that real or perceived political enemies included, but were not limited to, the three groups referred to by the KHIEU Samphan Defence. The KHIEU Samphan Defence's submission is therefore rejected.

2983. According to the Closing Order, the targeted group included perceived enemies of the CPK.<sup>10148</sup> The discernibility of this group may accordingly be assessed by examining whether the victims belonged to a category of the group as identified by the Party leadership. In this regard, the Chamber takes into consideration evidence of the CPK's ideological aspirations and policies concerning socialist revolution and State-building.<sup>10149</sup> It further takes into account the state of armed conflict between Democratic Kampuchea and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam between May 1975 and 6 January 1979,<sup>10150</sup> the evolving CPK policy toward the Vietnamese and other enemies,<sup>10151</sup> the spate of internal purges from 1977 and the resultant atmosphere of paranoia inside the Party.<sup>10152</sup> It is evident from the foregoing that the CPK identified as enemies counter-revolutionaries, detractors and traitors of the revolution, feudalists and those engaging in feudalistic practices, the Vietnamese, foreign agents and collaborators of the foregoing categories, among others. Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied that the target group of "real or perceived enemies of the CPK" was sufficiently discernible in order to determine whether the requisite consequences occurred for the group.

2984. The Chamber has found numerous instances in which people were subjected to harsher treatment and living conditions than the remainder of the population and were arrested for re-education. A group of ethnic Jarai was arrested en masse, brought to Au Kanseng and detained in cramped conditions.<sup>10153</sup> The Chamber has found that civilian and military detainees were subjected to mental and physical suffering and attacks against their dignity constituting the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts as a result of the prevailing living, working and detention conditions at the Security

<sup>10147</sup> Closing Order, paras 591, 600-601, 613-614, 620, 622.

<sup>10148</sup> Closing Order, para. 1417.

<sup>10149</sup> Section 16: Common Purpose.

<sup>10150</sup> Section 4.1: Factual Overview of the Temporal Scope of Case 002/02 (including the Nature of the Armed Conflict).

<sup>10151</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies.

<sup>10152</sup> Section 12.1: Internal Factions.

<sup>10153</sup> See above, paras 2939, 2957.

Centre.<sup>10154</sup> Detainees were subjected to re-education sessions while detained and interrogated in order to elicit confessions incriminating themselves or others.<sup>10155</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the Jarai and other Au Kanseng detainees were subjected to harsher treatment and living conditions than the rest of the population by virtue of their detention at the Security Centre.

2985. The Chamber will now consider whether the foregoing underlying acts were discriminatory in fact and deliberately perpetrated with the intent to discriminate against the targeted group of real or perceived enemies, such as to constitute political persecution.

2986. The Chamber has already found that the group of at least 100 Jarai were perceived by the Northeast Zone and Division 801 to be external enemies.<sup>10156</sup> As a result of their subsequent detention at Au Kanseng and the cramped conditions to which they were subjected, the Chamber is satisfied that the Jarai continued to be viewed as enemies throughout their detention. It is therefore satisfied that the arrest and detention of the Jarai, as well as the imposition of harsher treatment and living conditions, were perpetrated as a result of their perceived enemy status.

2987. Plantation worker PHON Thol was arrested, detained, interrogated about his use of “feudal” tree treatment techniques, subjected to re-education and attacks against his human dignity at Au Kanseng.<sup>10157</sup> In view of the CPK’s resolve to overthrow the “feudalist class” and abolish the “feudalistic” structures of the preceding regime, the Chamber is satisfied that Witness PHON Thol was arrested, detained and subjected to harsher treatment and living conditions as a result of his perceived enemy status.

2988. Plantation worker MOEURNG Chandy was arrested, detained, interrogated about her communications with the Vietnamese, subjected to re-education, forced labour and attacks against her human dignity at Au Kanseng.<sup>10158</sup> On the basis of her home’s proximity to the Vietnamese border and her marriage to perceived enemy PHON Thol, the Chamber is satisfied that Witness MOEURNG Chandy was arrested,

---

<sup>10154</sup> See below, para. 2850.

<sup>10155</sup> See above, paras 2899, 2905-2907.

<sup>10156</sup> See above, para. 2950.

<sup>10157</sup> See above, paras 2895, 2899, 2907, 2917, 2922-2923, 2851.

<sup>10158</sup> See above, paras 2895, 2899, 2907, 2915, 2917, 2920, 2922-2923, 2851.

detained and subjected to harsher treatment and living conditions as a result of her perceived enemy status.

2989. Military prisoners were arrested, detained, interrogated about their collaboration with traitors and other enemies, subjected to re-education and attacks against their human dignity at Au Kanseng.<sup>10159</sup> The Chamber takes into consideration soldiers' perceived exposure to enemy combatants across the DK-Vietnam frontier and "internal enemies" or counter-revolutionary soldiers within military ranks as a result of the ongoing military conflict with Vietnam. It finds that military prisoners were arrested, detained and subjected to harsher treatment and living conditions as a result of their perceived enemy status.

2990. On the basis of the foregoing, the Chamber finds that enemies of the CPK were arrested, detained and subjected to harsher treatment and living conditions at Au Kanseng as a direct result of their perceived enemy status. Having regard to the systematic dissemination of the policy targeting perceived political adversaries, its steadfast implementation by the Northeast Zone, Division 801 and Au Kanseng personnel,<sup>10160</sup> the resultant uniform attack upon civilians and military personnel at the Security Centre and the intentional deprivation of rights contrary to international law,<sup>10161</sup> the Chamber finds that these acts were committed with the intent to discriminate on political grounds. It is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of persecution is established. Having found that the victims were in fact perceived to be enemies and therefore part of the targeted group, the Chamber is satisfied that the foregoing acts were discriminatory in fact.

2991. Acts committed against this group variously infringed upon and violated fundamental rights and freedoms pertaining to movement,<sup>10162</sup> personal dignity,<sup>10163</sup> liberty and security,<sup>10164</sup> freedom from arbitrary or unlawful arrest,<sup>10165</sup> a fair and public

<sup>10159</sup> See above, paras 2896, 2905-2907, 2851.

<sup>10160</sup> See above, paras 2867, 2873-2877, 2879-2884, 2886-2887, 2898, 2900.

<sup>10161</sup> See below, para. 2851.

<sup>10162</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Art. 13(1); ICCPR, Art. 12(1); ECHR Protocol No. 4, Art. 2; ACHR, Art. 22(5).

<sup>10163</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Preamble, Arts. 1, 22, 23(3); ICCPR, Art. 10; ACHR, Arts 5-6. See also, Kordić and Čerkez Appeal Judgement, para. 106.

<sup>10164</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 3; ICCPR, Art. 9(1); ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7.

<sup>10165</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 9; ICCPR, Art. 9(1); ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7(3).

trial and equality before the law as enshrined in customary international law.<sup>10166</sup>

2992. The acts charged as persecution include acts separately found to amount to independent crimes against humanity (including imprisonment, enslavement and other inhumane acts perpetrated through attacks against human dignity) as well as acts which, on their own, do not necessarily amount to crimes (in particular, arrests). Considered together and within the context these acts were committed, the Chamber is satisfied that they cumulatively rise to the requisite level of severity such as to constitute persecution. Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied that the instances of imprisonment, enslavement and the other inhumane act through attacks against human dignity committed against enemies constituted political persecution. The actus reus of persecution is therefore established.

2993. Having established the requisite elements, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds is established at Au Kanseng Security Centre.

12.4.7.6. Persecution on racial grounds

2994. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of persecution on racial grounds against the Vietnamese in Au Kanseng Security Centre, finding that “Vietnamese people were deliberately and systematically identified and targeted due to their perceived race” as they were perceived by the CPK to be “racially distinct from Cambodian people”.<sup>10167</sup> It identifies two discrete incidents in this regard at Au Kanseng; namely, the arrest and execution of six Vietnamese and the group of Jarai.<sup>10168</sup>

2995. The Chamber has found that CHHAOM Se was directed by SAO Saroeun to execute a group of six Vietnamese civilians and that this order was further executed by Au Kanseng security personnel.<sup>10169</sup> The Chamber has already found that Vietnamese people were perceived as enemies by the CPK,<sup>10170</sup> and is accordingly satisfied that the

<sup>10166</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Arts 6, 10; ICCPR, Arts. 9(2)-(4), 14; ECHR, Art. 6; ACHR, Arts 7(6), 8.

<sup>10167</sup> Closing Order, para. 1422.

<sup>10168</sup> Closing Order, paras 618-622.

<sup>10169</sup> See above, para. 2926.

<sup>10170</sup> See above, para. 2837. See also, Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies.

target group was sufficiently discernible in order to determine whether the requisite consequences occurred for the group.

2996. Turning to whether the arrest and execution of these six Vietnamese people was deliberately perpetrated with the intent to discriminate against them such as to constitute racial persecution, the Chamber takes into account the intensified nature of the armed conflict between DK and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam at the time of the group's arrest in late 1978, the impending collapse of the DK regime and evidence of the arrest and execution at S-21 of Vietnamese "spies" and perceived Thieu-Ky soldiers in late 1978.<sup>10171</sup> It is accordingly satisfied that the arrest and execution of the six Vietnamese was committed with the intention to discriminate on racial grounds. The mens rea of persecution is therefore established. Having already found that the victims were in fact perceived to be enemies and therefore part of the targeted group, the Chamber is satisfied that the foregoing acts were discriminatory in fact.

2997. Acts committed against this group variously infringed upon and violated fundamental rights and freedoms pertaining to life,<sup>10172</sup> movement,<sup>10173</sup> personal dignity,<sup>10174</sup> liberty and security,<sup>10175</sup> freedom from arbitrary or unlawful arrest,<sup>10176</sup> a fair and public trial and equality before the law as enshrined in customary international law.<sup>10177</sup>

2998. The acts charged as persecution include acts separately found to amount to independent crimes against humanity (murder) as well as acts which, on their own, do not necessarily amount to crimes (arrests). Considered together and within the context these acts were committed, the Chamber is satisfied that they cumulatively rise to the

<sup>10171</sup> See above, para. 2949. See also, Section 4.1: Factual Overview of the Temporal Scope of Case 002/02 (including the Nature of the Armed Conflict).

<sup>10172</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Art. 3; ICCPR, Art. 6(1); ECHR, Art. 2; ACHR, Art. 4. See also, Kordić and Čerkez Appeal Judgement, para. 106.

<sup>10173</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Art. 13(1); ICCPR, Art. 12(1); ECHR Protocol No. 4, Art. 2; ACHR, Art. 22(5).

<sup>10174</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Preamble, Arts. 1, 22, 23(3); ICCPR, Art. 10; ACHR, Arts 5-6. See also, Kordić and Čerkez Appeal Judgement, para. 106.

<sup>10175</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Art. 3; ICCPR, Art. 9(1); ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7.

<sup>10176</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Art. 9; ICCPR, Art. 9(1); ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7(3).

<sup>10177</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see Universal Declaration of Human Rights, Arts 6, 10; ICCPR, Arts. 9(2)-(4), 14; ECHR, Art. 6; ACHR, Arts 7(6), 8.

requisite level of severity such as to constitute persecution. Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied that this instance of murder committed against the Vietnamese constituted racial persecution. The actus reus of persecution is therefore established.

2999. Having established the requisite elements, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of persecution on racial grounds is established at Au Kanseng Security Centre with respect to the six executed Vietnamese people.

3000. With respect to the group of at least 100 Jarai, the Chamber has found that this group was arrested and detained on suspicion that they were external enemies and not as a result of their perceived membership of any racial group.<sup>10178</sup> Indeed, the Chamber has already found that the detention of civilians and soldiers at Au Kanseng was otherwise the result of persecutory practices grounded in political animus.<sup>10179</sup>

3001. Limited evidence was heard as to the reasons for the Jarai's execution. CHIN Kimthong's testimony suggested that the Jarai were executed on SAO Saroeun's orders after being informed that the Security Centre could not accommodate such a large number of detainees.<sup>10180</sup> While it has found that Au Kanseng's prisoner capacity was somewhat limited,<sup>10181</sup> the Chamber is not convinced by the witness's assertion and considers the swift execution of the Jarai within approximately one week of their arrival to be consistent with Division 801's desire to summarily dispense with the group of perceived external enemies. There remains, however, no evidence before the Chamber linking the group's death with their actual or perceived race.

3002. The Chamber is therefore not satisfied that the Jarai were arrested, detained or executed as a result of their actual or perceived race. It follows that the Chamber is not satisfied that these acts were carried out with the requisite discriminatory intent or were in fact discriminatory. The mens rea of persecution is not established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of persecution on racial grounds is not established with respect to the Jarai.

---

<sup>10178</sup> See above, paras 2949-2950.

<sup>10179</sup> See above, paras 2992-2993.

<sup>10180</sup> See above, paras 2889, 2939, 2957.

<sup>10181</sup> See above, paras 2889, 2939.

12.4.7.7. Other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity

3003. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity at Au Kanseng. In this respect, the Closing Order particularises that conditions at Au Kanseng Security Centre, including the deprivation of sufficient food, medical attention and sanitation, poor living and detention conditions, and physical and psychological mistreatment, constitute attacks against human dignity.<sup>10182</sup>

3004. The Chamber found that prisoners were mistreated at Au Kanseng during interrogations. Civilian detainees were subjected to physical mistreatment during interrogations through beatings, whippings and electrocutions through telephone cables or similar means. The Chamber accepted at least one instance of interrogators using pliers to pincer a prisoner's thigh in order to elicit desired responses, which resulted in the prisoner losing consciousness. Prisoners endured the screams of fellow inmates emanating from the interrogation hut, audible throughout the Security Centre, and witnessed detainees return to their cells bloodied, beaten and limping. The Chamber also accepted that instructions were furnished to Security Centre personnel to feed soldiers salty rice and to deprive them of water until they provided admissions of wrongdoing or confessions.<sup>10183</sup>

3005. The assault on the mental and physical integrity of detainees was further demonstrated by the living and detention conditions prevalent at Au Kanseng. Upon their arrival at Au Kanseng, serious offenders were shackled into chain gangs, confined to the detention house for extended periods and not permitted to leave for the duration of their detention as serious offenders, save for bathing under supervision and toileting.<sup>10184</sup> Light offenders were segregated by gender immediately after arriving to Au Kanseng.<sup>10185</sup> All detainees were locked in poriferous detention huts at night, which provided neither privacy nor shelter from the elements. Detainees were forced to collect firewood for warmth at night, while cells were typically mosquito-infested. No mosquito nets were provided by Security Centre personnel. Neither sleeping mats nor pillows were made available to detainees. There were no latrines at Au Kanseng and

---

<sup>10182</sup> Closing Order, paras 1434, 1438.

<sup>10183</sup> See above, paras 2901-2906.

<sup>10184</sup> See above, paras 2909-2914.

<sup>10185</sup> See above, para. 2894.

detainees were forced to urinate and defecate into bamboo tubes and pots before emptying the receptacles themselves.<sup>10186</sup>

3006. Detainees were provided insufficient amounts of food and only one can of water per day.<sup>10187</sup> The Chamber has accepted that a limited degree of medical assistance was available at Au Kanseng in the form of traditional medicine, but was often ineffective or insufficient.<sup>10188</sup> Further, having heard of instances of malaria, dysentery, and swollen limbs from shackling, the Chamber found that the conditions of detention contributed to the ill-health and death of detainees at Au Kanseng.<sup>10189</sup>

3007. The Chamber further found that detainees were subjected to a climate of fear and intimidation by Security Centre personnel while detained at Au Kanseng. Pending interrogation, some witnesses languished in detention for up to a month not knowing the reasons for their arrests.<sup>10190</sup> Others lived in fear of reprimand, physical harm or death if they did not follow instructions.<sup>10191</sup> Some inmates were subjected to intimidation and scaremongering by security personnel, as well as scenes of execution and the aftermath thereof.<sup>10192</sup> Prisoners disappeared from time to time, leaving inmates to speculate about their ultimate fate.<sup>10193</sup> Some were forced to bury the bodies of executed or otherwise deceased prisoners.<sup>10194</sup>

3008. Having satisfied itself that detainees at Au Kanseng were subjected to a relentless barrage of physical and psychological attacks by Security Centre personnel during the course of their detention, the Chamber finds that this conduct represents the intentional infliction of serious mental and physical suffering, as well as an incessant and serious attack on human dignity. The mens rea of other inhumane acts is therefore satisfied.

3009. The Chamber takes into consideration the pervasive nature of attacks on the dignity of prisoners throughout the span of their incarceration at Au Kanseng, the

---

<sup>10186</sup> See above, paras 2910-2913.

<sup>10187</sup> See above, para. 2915.

<sup>10188</sup> See above, para. 2918.

<sup>10189</sup> See above, para. 2917.

<sup>10190</sup> See above, para. 2897.

<sup>10191</sup> See above, para. 2922.

<sup>10192</sup> See above, paras 2923, 2929, 2932, 2953-2956.

<sup>10193</sup> See above, para. 2924.

<sup>10194</sup> See above, para. 2930.

severity of mental and physical suffering which was inflicted as a result of their interrogations and living and working conditions, as well as the fact that forced labour may in and of itself constitute an other inhumane act.<sup>10195</sup> The Chamber accordingly finds that the conditions of detention at Au Kanseng collectively rise to the gravity of other enumerated crimes against humanity. The actus reus of other inhumane acts is therefore satisfied.

3010. Having satisfied the requisite elements, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity is established at Au Kanseng Security Centre.

12.4.7.8. Wilful killing

3011. The Closing Order charges the Accused with grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions as a result of the alleged wilful killing of the group of Jarai captured and ultimately executed at Au Kanseng Security Centre.<sup>10196</sup>

3012. The Chamber notes that Grave Breaches of the Geneva Conventions require that victims have the status of “protected persons”.<sup>10197</sup> The Chamber further notes that the Closing Order expressly limits the categories of “protected persons” in Case 002 to “[m]embers of the armed forces of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam” and “[c]ivilians who were nationals of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam” who had fallen into the power of the forces of Democratic Kampuchea.<sup>10198</sup>

3013. Turning first to whether the Jarai were “protected persons”, the Chamber recalls that the group was referred to as comprising “Vietnamese soldiers” in Vy’s telegram, was allegedly in possession of weapons and materiel at the time of their arrest, and reportedly claimed that they had “served in the army for two to ten years”.<sup>10199</sup> Although the veracity of the telegram’s contents could not be tested at trial, the Chamber recalls the significant probative value that attaches to contemporaneous evidence. It further has

<sup>10195</sup> Section 9.1.8: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Other Inhumane Acts: Attacks Against Human Dignity.

<sup>10196</sup> Closing Order, paras 1485, 1494.

<sup>10197</sup> Section 4.3: General Requirements for Grave Breaches of the Geneva Conventions of 1949 Listed in Article 6 of the ECCC Law.

<sup>10198</sup> Closing Order, para. 1481. See also, Section 4.3: General Requirements for Grave Breaches of the Geneva Conventions of 1949 Listed in Article 6 of the ECCC Law, para. 331.

<sup>10199</sup> See above, para. 2948.

no reason to doubt the truth of Vy's report to his superiors, particularly in view of the CPK's strict upward reporting system (especially at the time of escalating border tensions),<sup>10200</sup> and independent corroboration by witnesses at trial of important aspects of the telegram, including the Jarai's ethnicity, their approximate number and the temporal and geographic details of their arrest and subsequent detention at Au Kanseng.<sup>10201</sup>

3014. Evidence of the presence of children or babies among the arrested Jarai poses a question as to the group's characterisation as combatants.<sup>10202</sup> Vy's telegram is silent on this issue. The Chamber resolves this ambiguity by applying the interpretation most favouring the Accused in conformity with the principle of in dubio pro reo. Consistently with the contents of Vy's telegram, the Chamber finds that the Jarai were indeed combatants. While it notes that Article 50(1) of Protocol I Additional to the Geneva Conventions mandates that, "[i]n case of doubt whether a person is a civilian, that person shall be considered to be a civilian",<sup>10203</sup> the Chamber finds that in the present instance, such interpretation would not, for the reasons outlined in the next paragraphs, affect the Jarai's status under international humanitarian law and would instead lead to interpretations inconsistent with the evidence before the Chamber and therefore the rights of the Accused.

3015. Turning to whether the Jarai were members of the armed forces of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam, the Chamber was unable to conclude beyond reasonable doubt that the Jarai were either nationals of the SRV or ordinarily resident in Vietnamese territory.<sup>10204</sup> Indeed, the evidence suggested that the Jarai were combatants of the former South Vietnamese (Thieu-Ky) regime (or perceived as such); not SRV combatants.<sup>10205</sup> Accordingly, while it is satisfied that the Jarai were combatants, it is unable to conclude beyond reasonable doubt that they were members of the armed forces of the SRV and therefore "protected persons" under the Geneva Conventions.

<sup>10200</sup> Section 6: Communication Structures.

<sup>10201</sup> See above, Section 12.4.6: Arrival and Execution of the Jarai.

<sup>10202</sup> See above, para. 2944.

<sup>10203</sup> Additional Protocol I, Art. 50(1).

<sup>10204</sup> See above, para. 2947.

<sup>10205</sup> See above, para. 2949.

3016. Having been unable to satisfy itself beyond reasonable doubt that the chapeau requirement of this crime has been met, it is unnecessary for the Chamber to consider whether the elements of wilful killings as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions have been established. The Chamber finds that wilful killings as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions at Au Kanseng Security Centre has not been established.

12.4.7.9. Wilful deprivation of the rights of a fair and regular trial

3017. The Closing Order charges the Accused with grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions as a result of the alleged wilful deprivation of the rights of a fair and regular trial to the group of Jarai captured and ultimately executed at Au Kanseng Security Centre.<sup>10206</sup> The Chamber was unable to satisfy itself beyond reasonable doubt that the Jarai were “protected persons” within the meaning of the Geneva Conventions.<sup>10207</sup>

3018. Having been unable to satisfy itself to the requisite standard that the chapeau requirement of this crime has been met, it is unnecessary for the Chamber to consider whether the elements of the crime have been established. The Chamber finds that the charge of wilful deprivation of the rights of a fair and regular trial as a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions has not been established at Au Kanseng Security Centre.

12.5. Phnom Kraol Security Centre

12.5.1. Closing Order and Preliminary Issues

3019. According to the Closing Order, Phnom Kraol Security Centre was a Sector 105 (Mondulhiri province) Security Office consisting of Phnom Kraol Prison, two related sector offices, K-11 and K-17, and an execution site at nearby Trapeang Pring.<sup>10208</sup> The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crimes against humanity of (i) murder,<sup>10209</sup> (ii) extermination,<sup>10210</sup> (iii) enslavement,<sup>10211</sup> (iv) imprisonment,<sup>10212</sup> (v) torture,<sup>10213</sup>

<sup>10206</sup> Closing Order, paras 1511-1514.

<sup>10207</sup> See above, para. 3016.

<sup>10208</sup> Closing Order, paras 625, 627.

<sup>10209</sup> Closing Order, paras 1373, 1376, 1380.

<sup>10210</sup> Closing Order, paras 1381, 1385, 1387, 1389-1390.

<sup>10211</sup> Closing Order, paras 1391, 1393-1394, 1396.

<sup>10212</sup> Closing Order, paras 1402, 1404, 1407.

<sup>10213</sup> Closing Order, paras 1408, 1410-1412, 1414.

(vi) persecution on political grounds;<sup>10214</sup> and other inhumane acts through (vii) attacks against human dignity and (viii) conduct characterised as enforced disappearances at the Security Centre.<sup>10215</sup>

3020. The Chamber heard the evidence of seven witnesses and two Civil Parties across Cases 002/01 and 002/02 in relation to Phnom Kraol Security Centre. In both trial segments, the Chamber heard the testimony of former Sector 105 Secretary SAO Sarun<sup>10216</sup> and PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan, the son of SAO Sarun's predecessor, Laing. In Case 002/02, the Chamber heard from former K-17 detainees CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch and NETH Savat. It also heard the testimony of former Sector 105 Military soldier and younger brother of SAO Sarun, SOV Maing alias SAO Champi, and Division 920 soldier CHIN Saroeun, both of whom were stationed in the vicinity of Phnom Kraol. Further, the Chamber heard the evidence of former Division 920 soldier and K-11 detainee, Civil Party KUL Nem, as well as Civil Party SUN Vuth, who was detained at an indeterminate location near Phnom Kraol.

3021. The Chamber also heard the evidence of Witness BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath, who in his statements to the OCIJ and DC-Cam provided information about detention sites in and around Kaoh Nheaek. At trial, the witness clarified that, before being sent to Roya worksite, he was detained at the Sector 105 economics office, K-16, which he described as being located approximately two kilometres from K-17.<sup>10217</sup> The NUON Chea Defence submits that evidence relevant to K-16 is beyond the scope of the charges envisioned by the Closing Order.<sup>10218</sup>

3022. While the existence of K-16 office in Sector 105 was evident at the time of indictment, no evidence of criminal offending imputable to the Accused at this site was found during the judicial investigation, and the OCIJ did not resultantly charge the commission of crimes at K-16. Moreover, the Chamber considers that the wording of the Closing Order provided neither actual nor constructive notice to the Parties of alleged acts at K-16 in order to allow them to litigate facts or issues relevant to this

<sup>10214</sup> Closing Order, paras 1415-1418.

<sup>10215</sup> Closing Order, paras 1434, 1438, 1440-1441, 1470, 1472-1474, 1476-1478.

<sup>10216</sup> Not to be confused with Division 801 Commander SAO Saroeun. For SAO Saroeun, see Section 12.4: Au Kanseng Security Centre, para. 2864.

<sup>10217</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 11-14.

<sup>10218</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 422.

office or the nearby Roya worksite.<sup>10219</sup> In its assessment of the evidence at Phnom Kraol Security Centre, the Chamber will consequently not take into account evidence of detention and working conditions referable to K-16 and the Roya worksite to assess the guilt of the Accused. Evidence relating to detention at these sites may nevertheless be relevant to understanding the general context of purges in Sector 105, or the implementation and operation of security measures in the sector.<sup>10220</sup>

3023. The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that the Chamber is not seised of facts concerning worksites throughout Mondulhiri to which detainees were allegedly sent after their release from Phnom Kraol Security Centre.<sup>10221</sup> The evidence at trial showed that prisoners at K-17 were typically sent to a worksite or worksites in Nang Khi Loek commune,<sup>10222</sup> some distance from Phnom Kraol.<sup>10223</sup> Surveying the materials underlying the Closing Order's allegations of forced labour at Phnom Kraol, it is clear that the Co-Investigating Judges contemplated enslavement only within the offices of the Security Centre, namely K-17, K-11 and Phnom Kraol Prison. In this regard, the Chamber concludes that evidence of conditions at worksites outside of these offices is beyond the scope of the present site.

3024. The KHIEU Samphan Defence also challenges the Chamber's jurisdiction with respect to torture at Phnom Kraol Security Centre, pointing to a lack of particularisation of the crime in the Co-Prosecutors' Introductory and Supplementary Submissions.<sup>10224</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence seeks on similar grounds to circumscribe the Chamber's jurisdiction with respect to enforced disappearances and enslavement, submitting that these charges are limited to K-17 and K-11, respectively.<sup>10225</sup> The Chamber has already

<sup>10219</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 11-14, 22; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, pp. 8-11, ERN (En) 00274102-00274104.

<sup>10220</sup> Nahimana et al. Appeal Judgement, para. 315. See also, Section 2.5.6: Notice of Charges, Scope of the Trial and Evidence in Case 002/02.

<sup>10221</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1418.

<sup>10222</sup> See below, para. 3103.

<sup>10223</sup> Map of Koh Neak District, E3/9100, undated, ERN 00992852 (showing "Nong Khilak" northeast of the Kaoh Nheaek "District HQ" by the border with Ratanakiri); Sketch of Phnom Kraol Security Centre and surrounds by BUN Loeng Chauy, E3/5179, ERN (En) 00274108 (showing the "Nang Khyloek worksite" near the Sre Pork River); Map of Cambodia: Tile 6435, E3/9190, undated, ERN 01045067. The Chamber estimates that the aerial distance between Phnom Kraol and Nang Khi Loek is approximately 25 to 30 kilometres.

<sup>10224</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1382-1385.

<sup>10225</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1372-1379 (enslavement); 1394-1399 (enforced disappearances).

rejected this line of argument as belated and therefore inadmissible.<sup>10226</sup>

12.5.2. Establishment, Location and Layout

3025. Sector 105 (Mondulkiri province) was subdivided into five districts during the DK period: Kaoh Nheaek, Chbar, Pechreada, Ou Reang and Kaev Seima.<sup>10227</sup> Phnom Kraol (Kraol Mountain) is located in Kaoh Nheaek, which today remains part of Kaoh Nheaek district, approximately 100 kilometres north of Mondulkiri provincial capital, Senmonorom.<sup>10228</sup>

3026. References at trial to “Phnom Kraol” were often equivocal.<sup>10229</sup> Witnesses at times referred to Phnom Kraol as the administrative multiplex located in Kaoh Nheaek and at other times to the detention facility therein.<sup>10230</sup> Witnesses’ use of descriptions such as “security centre” and “prison” to describe offices K-17 and K-11 further equivocated the distinction between individual Sector 105 offices and the Security Centre as a whole.<sup>10231</sup>

3027. The Chamber considers that the Closing Order clearly identifies the offices that constitute “Phnom Kraol Security Centre”, namely K-17, K-11, the Phnom Kraol

<sup>10226</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 165.

<sup>10227</sup> T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, pp. 87, 89; Organisational Chart of Khmer Rouge Leaders in Mondulkiri Province by BUN Loeng Chauy, E3/5179, ERN (En) 00274106.

<sup>10228</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8057, 21 July 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00365622; T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, p. 98. See also, Map of Cambodia: Tile 6435, E3/9190, undated, ERN 01045067.

<sup>10229</sup> See NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 522-524.

<sup>10230</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 15 (“Q. Was there a correction centre or education centre attached to [sector 105]? A. Yes, there was a correction centre or security centre attached to the sector. [...] People call it correction centre.”); T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 7 (“Q. Were the security office of the sector and the Phnom Kraol security office [...] the same -- just one name? A. No, these -- these are the two offices.”); T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 23 (“I do not recall the real name of the security centre; however, it was located near the K-11 office at Phnom Kraol. And as I said, it was a prison, although I cannot recall its official name. But it was the place they put K-11, which was a base for soldiers”); T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 31 (“Q. [W]as there a security office or prison located at the battalion or regiment to base at the Phnom Kraol Dam? A. Yes, there was a prison which [was] based at Phnom Kraol”); Sketch of Phnom Kraol Security Centre and surrounds by BUN Loeng Chauy, E3/5179, ERN (En) 00274108 (showing “Phnom Kraol Prison” south of “La[i]ng’s Office” [K-17] and “K-11”); Site Identification Report, E3/8057, 21 July 2009, pp. 3, 10-11, ERN (En) 00365621, 00365628-00365629.

<sup>10231</sup> T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 6 (referring to K-11 as a “security office”); T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 57 (referring to K-17 as a “security centre”); T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 22-23 (referring to K-11 as a prison); T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 38 (referring to K-11 and K-17 being outside the perimeter of “Phnom Kraol”); T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 15 (referring to K-11 as a “security centre” and “prison”); T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, p. 103 (referring to K-11 as a “security centre”).

Prison and Trapeang Pring. While Kaoh Nheak and its surrounds served as an administrative centre to a number interconnected sector offices and facilities, as clarified above,<sup>10232</sup> the Chamber considers itself seised only of facts concerning the four constituent sites particularised in the Closing Order. In that regard, the Chamber has taken care to distinguish and clearly identify the sites to which its findings relate.

3028. K-17, the office of Sector 105,<sup>10233</sup> was located on the road from Kaoh Nheak to Kratie at the north-western foot of Phnom Kraol, on the opposite side of the Phnom Kraol dam.<sup>10234</sup> The site comprised a two-storey concrete main building with wooden upper floor and walls and a corrugated iron roof.<sup>10235</sup> Small houses along a nearby road ascending Phnom Kraol to the southeast – containing the telegram decoding, radio communications, education, hospitality, mobile production and transport units<sup>10236</sup> – also formed part of K-17.<sup>10237</sup> The main office was initially used for re-education and

<sup>10232</sup> See above, paras 3022-3023.

<sup>10233</sup> T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, p. 97; T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, pp. 54-55; T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 41; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 13; T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 124; T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 17; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 7, 52.

<sup>10234</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8057, 21 July 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00365620; T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 97-98; T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 10, 44; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 14; T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, p. 54; T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 60.

<sup>10235</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 17, 44, 65, 90; T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 31-32; NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00239486; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 9; Site Identification Report, E3/8057, 21 July 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00365625 (OCIJ investigator noted the remnants of the concrete ground floor of the office building in 2009).

<sup>10236</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 74 (“At the office of 105, there was a workshop unit, for example, auto repair unit and the production -- mobile production unit, the unit in which there were people who had to do farming”), 75 (“There were other sections including the workers section and security within the office of 105”); T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 123 (referring to K-17 as the “messenger office”); T. 14 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/154.1, pp. 5-6 (stating that K-17 contained a telegram decoding and radio communications section); T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 10 (stating that the telegram office was about 100 metres away from the K-17 building), 13-14 (“[There was also] the transport section and the section in charge of education and other sections. [...] Regarding the structure of K-17, there were different units, an education unit within K-17. There was a kitchen unit, hospitality units and units in charge of the field and transportation, growing crops.”); KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/57, 10 March 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00290505; T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, p. 16 (stating that the telegram office in Mondulkiri Sector was located in K-17).

<sup>10237</sup> T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 8 (“It was large. I mean the compound was large. The area size was around five to 10 hectares”), 9 (“And there were small houses along the road from the dam along the foot of the mountain up to the peak of the mountain”), 11 (“[The K-17] compound was large, and there were different small houses within the compound. And there was also a big hall or big building within K-17. Those small houses and the big building were called an office. And houses were close to the meeting hall, and the distance was about 100 metres between the meeting hall and different small houses.”).

self-criticism seminars for Sector 105 staff.<sup>10238</sup> As internal purges of enemies intensified in late 1977 and throughout 1978, K-17's main building was used to detain Division 920 soldiers and Kaoh Nheak district cadres.<sup>10239</sup> The sector office was operational in that capacity prior to 1975 until the arrival of the Vietnamese in January 1979,<sup>10240</sup> and employed approximately 1,000 sector personnel under the supervision of Tin (until 1978) and VIN Lay alias Loy (until October 1978).<sup>10241</sup> The Sector 105 Chairman directly oversaw K-17's operations.<sup>10242</sup>

3029. K-11, the Sector 105 Military office,<sup>10243</sup> was located a few hundred metres to the southeast of K-17.<sup>10244</sup> Operated by the Sector 105 Military Commander,<sup>10245</sup> K-11

<sup>10238</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 84-85; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 24, 26 (stating that there was no detention at office K-17 while he was there; it was "simply an education place"); KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/57, 10 March 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00290506. See also, SOV Maing alias SAO Champi Interview Record, E3/506, 18 November 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00244491.

<sup>10239</sup> T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 22 ("[A]t the time I was there, there were not many arrests and detentions."). See below, Section 12.5.5.1: K-17.

<sup>10240</sup> T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 124. See also, PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/44, 11 March 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00295162 (sister of Kham Phan deposes to having worked at the telegram office between 1974 and 1976); T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 88 ("Q. Do you have [...] a sister [...] called Phan Sovan Hann? A. Yes, I do"); T. 12 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/152.1, pp. 6-8 (stating that his sister had been working at K-17 since liberation and that she took over his telegram duties).

<sup>10241</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 52; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 39; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 14, 52; KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/57, 10 March 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00290505; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 100. VIN Lay alias Loy was arrested, detained at S-21 and executed. See below, para. 3056 (fn. 10346).

<sup>10242</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 76; T. 14 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/154.1, p. 7; KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/58, 21 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250088; T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 81; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 39. See also, NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00239486. See below, para. 3043.

<sup>10243</sup> T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 75; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 23; T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 6. See also, KANG Sien Interview Record, E3/7697, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239500.

<sup>10244</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 14; T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, pp. 54-55; 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, pp. 4, 6; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 36; T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 41; Site Identification Report, E3/8057, 21 July 2009, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00365620-00365621; Sketch of Phnom Kraol Security Centre and surrounds by CHAN Bun Leath, E3/5179, ERN (En) 00274108; KANG Sien Interview Record, E3/7697, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239500. See also, T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 15-16 ("[K-11] was located far away [from K-17]. It was to the south of Kraol mountain. It's more than 10 kilometres away from K-17" but clarifies that "there was no straight road. We had to take a detour road to the west, and then we went east to go to the office [K-17]"). The Chamber is satisfied that KHAM Phan's estimation of distance referred to road distance, not aerial distance.

<sup>10245</sup> T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 38; T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 14; T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 6; T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 64; T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 9; T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, p. 88. See also, SAN Lan Interview Record, E3/1650, 29 October 2008, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00244336-00244337; NOU Saay Interview Record, E3/7705, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239506; SAL Ra Interview Record, E3/5222, 27 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242157.

was used as both the Sector 105 Military headquarters and as a temporary detention and re-education facility for light offenders.<sup>10246</sup> While the Chamber does not have the benefit of witness descriptions of the office, it is satisfied that K-11 consisted of at least one concrete building.<sup>10247</sup>

3030. For clarity, the Chamber also identifies office K-16, the Sector 105 economics office tasked, among other things, with receiving commodities from Phnom Penh,<sup>10248</sup> as having been located several hundred metres to a few kilometres south of both K-17 and K-11.<sup>10249</sup> The office was administered by Nhun under the supervision of the Sector 105 Deputy Secretary in charge of economic affairs.<sup>10250</sup>

3031. Phnom Kraol Prison was located approximately 300 metres southwest of K-11 and 500 metres southeast of K-17.<sup>10251</sup> It consisted of a single-storey, thatched-roof

<sup>10246</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 24-25; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, pp. 6, 8, ERN (En) 00274099, 00274101; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 15. See also, SAL Ra Interview Record, E3/5222, 27 October 2008, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00242157-00242158; SOK El Interview Record, E3/7702, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239510. For conditions at K-11, see below, paras 3093-3095, 3104.

<sup>10247</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8057, 21 July 2009, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00365623-00365624 (report includes captioned picture of AUM Mol “standing on the top of the K-11’s concrete ground”); SAL Ra Interview Record, E3/5222, 27 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242157 (“Inside the Office Ka-11 compound there was a prison with a concrete floor, brick walls and a thatch roof, approximately 8 by 7 metres in dimension”).

<sup>10248</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 92; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 27; T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 15, 22. See also, DK Telegram, E3/1192, 12 October 1976, ERN (En) 00508560 (in a telegram addressed “To beloved and missed Brother Nuon”, Laing reports that “We have assigned a commerce group for Phnom Penh. Comrade Chuon has received them.”).

<sup>10249</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 13-14; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, pp. 29, 36, 38; T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 14, 22-23.

<sup>10250</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 87; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 38; Organisational Chart of Khmer Rouge Leaders in Monduliri Province by CHAN Bun Leath, E3/5179, ERN (En) 00274106. See also, SAN Lan Interview Record, E3/1650, 29 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00244337; HAM Ansi Interview Record, E3/366, 26 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250750; B’LOEK Lam Interview Record, E3/5221, 26 October 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00239490. For the Sector 105 Deputy Secretary in charge of economic affairs, see below, para. 3034. For K-16’s use as a detention and re-education centre, see below, paras 3051-3055, 3144.

<sup>10251</sup> T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 38 (The “[s]ecurity centre was close to K-11 and about 500 metres further, there was K-17”); T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 42 (“[The security centre] was close to K-17. It was about 200 metres apart.”); T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 66 (“In Phnom Kraol, there was only one dam there. The name was known as Ta Sot. It was next to Phnom Kraol [...]. The prison was located nearby that area.”); T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, pp. 31 (“Q. [W]as there a security office or prison located at the battalion or regiment to base at the Phom Kraol Dam? A. Yes, there was a prison which [was] based at Phnom Kraol.”), 45 (“[Phnom Kraol Security Centre] was located next to the dam and it was also close to the base of the mountain”); T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 15 (“[The correction centre] was located close to the district office or to the sector’s office near Phnom Kraol”); SAO Sarun Interview Record, E3/10724, 2 April 2016, p. 5, ERN (En) 01235782 (The security office was located about 200 metres away from K-17); T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, p. 103 (“There was one [security centre] [...] [a]t Phnom Kraol, the location was under the supervision of Leng and it was not building constructed on wooden stilt foundations comprising no internal walls and was surrounded by a fence.<sup>10252</sup> Phnom Kraol Prison was administered by the Military Commander for Ou Reang district, Phai,<sup>10253</sup> and operated by the Sector 105 Military Commander of Regiment 2 (or 502) under the supervision of the Sector 105 Military.<sup>10254</sup>

3032. Trapeang Pring (also known as Tuol Khamaoch and Trapeang Toeun), a burial site identified by the OCIJ and witnesses,<sup>10255</sup> was located approximately four kilometres southwest of the Phnom Kraol Security Centre complex on the road from Kaoh Nheaek to Kratie.<sup>10256</sup>

3033. Only the concrete foundations of offices K-17 and K-11 remain today, while no physical evidence of the Phnom Kraol Prison building or Trapeang Pring was found by OCIJ investigators. Investigation efforts were also hampered by the presence of landmines at the constituent offices of Phnom Kraol Security Centre.<sup>10257</sup>

12.5.3. Reporting Structure

12.5.3.1. Sector 105 Committee

3034. As administrative boundaries were renamed and redrawn after 17 April 1975, far from the other one [K-11]. It was close to each other.”). See also, BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, pp. 6, 8, ERN (En) 00274099, 00274101.

---

<sup>10252</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 27; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 34; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00274099; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 37; SOV Maing alias SAO Champi Interview Record, E3/506, 18 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00244490; SOK El Interview Record, E3/7702, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239510; NOU Sauy Interview Record, E3/7705, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239506. See below, paras 3068-3069.

<sup>10253</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 27 (describing Phai as Sophea’s subordinate); T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 31; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, pp. 36, 55-56. See also, UONG Dos Interview Record, E3/7703, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242171; SOK El Interview Record, E3/7702, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239510 (referring to Phai beating a prisoner to death at Phnom Kraol Prison [see below, para. 3100]).

<sup>10254</sup> T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 29; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00274102; T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 43. For the Sector 105 Military, see below, para. 3044.

<sup>10255</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8057, 21 July 2009, pp. 1, 12, ERN (En) 00365619, 00365630; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 28-31; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 10, ERN (En) 00274103. See also, SAL Ra Interview Record, E3/5222, 27 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242157.

<sup>10256</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 28, 68; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, pp. 3, 10, ERN (En) 00274096, 00274103; Site Identification Report, E3/8057, 21 July 2009, pp. 4, 12, ERN (En) 00365622, 00365630. See also, SAL Ra Interview Record, E3/5222, 27 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00242158.

<sup>10257</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8057, 21 July 2009, pp. 1, 12, ERN (En) 00365619, 00365630.

Mondulkiri province retained its pre-DK borders and was designated as Sector 105, initially under the administrative framework of the Northeast Zone and, by late 1976,<sup>10258</sup> as an autonomous sector.<sup>10259</sup> From about this time to late 1977, the Sector 105 Committee was headed by Laing alias Chhan alias Ham as Secretary,<sup>10260</sup> with KHAM Phoun serving as Deputy Secretary in charge of economic affairs.<sup>10261</sup> PHAN Khoun alias Chuon replaced KHAM Phoun as Deputy Secretary in charge of economic affairs,<sup>10262</sup> while SAU Kim An alias Mey served as Deputy Secretary in charge of political affairs until late 1977.<sup>10263</sup>

<sup>10258</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1192, 12 October 1976, ERN (En) 00508560 (Laing reporting directly to “Brother Nuon”); Map of DK Zones and Autonomous Regions, E3/2766, undated, ERN (En) 00429148; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 7, ERN (En) 00274100 (stating that Northeast Zone Secretary, NEY Sarann alias Ya or Ta Ya, served as Sector 105 secretary “until late 1976 and [or] early 1977”, after whom “Khen, Sovan, Ham alias Lang” served as Sector Secretary); BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/8749, 1 July 2011, p. 4, ERN (En) 00715750 (confirming that Khen Sovann, Ham and Ta Laing were the same person); KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/57, 10 March 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00290505 (“From 1975 to 1979 Mondulkiri province was an autonomous Sector”).

<sup>10259</sup> T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, p. 93; T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, p. 54; T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 62-63; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 46; KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/57, 10 March 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00290505; T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 9; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 69; SAO Sarun Interview Record, E3/10724, 2 April 2016, p. 4, ERN (En) 01235781. A separate line of communication was nevertheless maintained between Sector 105 and the Northeast Zone. See T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 2. See also, BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/8749, 1 July 2011, p. 4, ERN (En) 00715750 [ERN (Fr) 00727661: “Elle communiquait avec la zone Nord-Est”].

<sup>10260</sup> T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, p. 78; T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 44, 61, 110; T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 16; T. 14 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/154.1, p. 22; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 59; T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 9, 11; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 19; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 59; T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, p. 11; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 49. See also, PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/44, 11 March 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00295162; HAM Ansi Interview Record, E3/366, 26 November 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00250749.

<sup>10261</sup> T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, p. 93; T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 87; T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 9; T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 13-15; NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239484. See also, Organisational Chart of Khmer Rouge Leaders in Mondulkiri Province by CHAN Bun Leath, E3/5179, 11 June 2008, ERN (En) 00274106; B’LOEK Lam Interview Record, E3/5221, 26 October 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00239490. Both Laing and KHAM Phoun died in Phnom Penh under suspicious circumstances in late 1977. See below, para. 3055.

<sup>10262</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 92; T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 47. PHAN Khoun alias Chuon was arrested, detained at S-21 in November 1977 and executed in May 1978. See below, para. 3056 (fn. 10346).

<sup>10263</sup> T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, pp. 93, 101. See also, Organisational Chart of Khmer Rouge Leaders in Mondulkiri Province by CHAN Bun Leath, E3/5179, 11 June 2008, ERN (En) 00274106; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, pp. 4, 7-8, ERN (En) 00274097, 00274100-00274101 (indicating that SAU Kim was also known by the alias “Muth”); NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239484. SAU Kim An alias Mey was arrested, detained at S-21 and executed in December 1977. See below, para. 3056 (fn. 10346).

3035. During his tenure as Sector 105 Secretary, Laing reported directly to the Party Centre at Office 870.<sup>10264</sup> Coded telegrams were transmitted through K-17's communications unit, manned by Laing's daughter, PHAN Sovannhan,<sup>10265</sup> to the Party Centre.<sup>10266</sup> Laing's son and personal messenger, PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan, credibly testified that his father addressed NUON Chea as "Brother" or "Bong" in telegrams and that "Uncle" or "Uncles" referred to NUON Chea, KHIEU Samphan and POL Pot.<sup>10267</sup> The Chamber has before it 12 telegrams dated between October 1976 and August 1977 either directly addressed or copied to NUON Chea and/or Office 870, reporting on the operational requirements of the sector, agricultural conditions, rice production and the enemy situation, and further requesting supplies and guidance on the treatment of captured Vietnamese combatants.<sup>10268</sup>

<sup>10264</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 61 ("Q. And in his capacity as Secretary of Sector 105, do you know to whom your father reported from April 1975 onwards? A. My father had to report to Office 870"), 103 (Q. Can you please tell us who within Sector 105, aside from your father, had the power to communicate directly via telegram with the Centre of the Party? [...] A. At that time, none; no-one was allowed. [...] [H]e was the only person who communicated via telegram to the Centre"); T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 3 ("According to my understanding, the communication went through 870"); T. 14 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/154.1, p. 13 ("Office 870 was a common place where messages were sent from the sectors"); T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 46 ("870 was a general number from the upper level, it was named 870"); T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, pp. 70-71 ("I stated that [Mondulkiri] was an autonomous sector because of the administrative structure. Usually districts formed a province and a province would fall under a zone, and based on what my superior told me, the provincial governor would go straight to Phnom Penh and not to the zone. [...] [The autonomous sector 105] made a direct report [to the Party Centre]"). See below, fn. 10268.

<sup>10265</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 88; PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/365, 26 November 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00251009-00251010; PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/44, 11 March 2009, pp. 3-5, ERN (En) 00295161-00295163.

<sup>10266</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 102-103 ("At the time, none [other than Laing] was allowed [to communicate with the Party Centre]. [...] [A]s far as the Sector 105 was concerned, [Laing] was the only person who communicated via telegram to the [Party] Centre."); KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/57, 10 March 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00290505 ("All types of works were reported directly to the [Party] Centre"); KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/58, 21 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250088 ("Those coded typewritten documents were sent from the district level to my office [K-17] and also to/from the [Party] Centre"). See also, T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, p. 16; PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/44, 11 March 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00295162.

<sup>10267</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 104-105, 115; T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 122 ("I simply addressed [Khieu Samphan] as 'Uncle', and everyone called him 'Uncle' at the time"); T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 45 ("Q. You stated that you sent letters to uncles; who were those uncles; do you know their names? A. during the time, there were Uncle Nuon and Uncle Pol. Q. Who was Uncle Nuon and who was Uncle Pol? A. Uncle Pol was Pol Pot. Q. What about Uncle Nuon? A. It was Nuon Chea.").

<sup>10268</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1191, 12 October 1976, ERN (En) 00539058 ("To beloved and missed comrade Doeun", copied to "Brother Nuon", "Documentation" and "Office", signed "Laing", stating that he has changed his name to "Chhan"); DK Telegram, E3/1192, 12 October 1976, ERN (En) 00508560 ("To beloved and missed brother Nuon", copied to "Brother Nuon", "Archives" and "Office", signed "Laing"); DK Telegram, E3/1189, 12 October 1976, ERN (En) 00590301 ("To beloved and missed Two Brothers", copied to "Brother Nuon", "Documentation" and "Office", signed by "Laing"); DK Telegram, E3/1193, 15 October 1976, ERN (En) 00590302 ("To beloved and missed comrade Doeun", copied to 3036. PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan confirmed the authenticity of these telegrams in court.<sup>10269</sup> Stating that the majority of telegrams to K-17 emanated “from Office 870”,<sup>10270</sup> the witness confirmed that NUON Chea would personally instruct the sector on security and military matters, including the need to remain vigilant, at times requesting forces from the sector and advising on the conflict between Democratic Kampuchea and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam.<sup>10271</sup> PHAN Sovannhan similarly deposed to OCIJ investigators to having seen telegrams from NUON Chea and POL Pot, mostly regarding agricultural matters and calling cadres to study at the Party Centre.<sup>10272</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that Sector 105 Secretary Laing reported directly to the Party Centre, and received instructions from POL Pot and NUON Chea.

3037. Un-encoded reports were forwarded by the Sector 105 Secretary to KHIEU Samphan on non-security related matters including social affairs, equipment and healthcare, responses to which were received at Sector 105 from KHIEU Samphan signed “Hem”.<sup>10273</sup>

---

“Brother Nuon”, “Documentation” and “Office”, signed by “Chhan”); DK Telegram, E3/1194 [E3/1663], 19 October 1976, ERN (En) 00548893 (“To beloved and missed Brother”, copied to “Brother Nuon”, “Documentation” and “Office”, signed by “Chhan”); DK Telegram, E3/1102, 20 October 1976, ERN (En) 00532708 (“To beloved and missed Comrade Dor [Doeun]”, copied to “Brother Nuon”, “Office” and “Documentation”); DK Telegram, E3/1118, 2 November 1976, ERN (En) 00436997 (“To respected and beloved Brother Nuon”, copied to “Brother Nuon”, “Office” and “Documentation”); DK Telegram, E3/1103, 7 November 1976, ERN (En) 00509692 (“To missed and respected Comrade Doeun”, copied to “Brother Nuon”, “Office” and “Documentation”); DK Telegram, E3/1104, 13 November 1976, ERN (En) 00532710 (“To beloved and missed Brother”, copied to “Brother Nuon”, “Office” and “Documentation”, signed by “Chhan”); DK Telegram, E3/1195, 25 November 1976, ERN (En) 00519519 (“To beloved comrade Pang”, copied to “Brother Nuon”, “Documentation” and “Office”, signed by “Lang”); DK Telegram, E3/1196, 26 November 1976, ERN (En) 00506647 (“To beloved and missed Office 870”, copied to “Brother Nuon”, “Brother Khiev”, “Office” and “Documentation”, signed by “Chhan”); DK Telegram, E3/877, 20 May 1977, ERN (En) 00185226 (“To beloved and missed Mo-870”, signed by “Chhan”). See also, DK Telegram, E3/1204, 27 August 1977, ERN (En) 00590303 (“To respected and beloved M-870”, signature illegible); T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 47-48 (“Sometimes I saw the names of senders [of telegrams] and most of the time, I could see the name of Uncle Nuon. [...] The content was about security matters and particularly instructions on how to build the dams and dykes. [...] It [also] concerned the situation at the borders. At the time, when I was there, the clashes happened at the borders.”).

<sup>10269</sup> T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 112 (from a sample of seven telegrams, the witness responded: “I believe that, as long as the originality of these documents [is] concerned, it is true that they could have been sent from Sector 105 to the Upper Echelon”).

<sup>10270</sup> T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 47.

<sup>10271</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 98, 106; T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, pp. 50, 68; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 41, 47; KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/58, 21 November 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250089.

<sup>10272</sup> PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/44, 11 March 2009, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00295161-00295162; PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/365, 26 November 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00251009.

<sup>10273</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 108-109 (“Q. Therefore, do you stand by this statement [E3/58, p. 4] [...] in terms of the issues that were being dealt with, Mr Khieu

3038. In addition to maintaining a written line of communication with the Party Centre, Sector 105 Secretary Laing also travelled to Phnom Penh to report in person and attend meetings and other major Party assemblies.<sup>10274</sup> Upon his return to Phnom Kraol, Laing convened meetings with sector and division officials to conduct training sessions and disseminate instructions from the Party Centre on the enemy situation.<sup>10275</sup>

3039. After his death in late 1977, Laing was replaced by longstanding CPK member and former Pechreada District Secretary, SAO Sarun,<sup>10276</sup> who testified before the Chamber in Cases 002/01 and 002/02. The Chamber approaches SAO Sarun's testimony with caution. The witness's evidence was characterised by poor recollections and outright denials, followed by acceptance of the contents of his OCIJ records of interview immediately thereafter when confronted, often in contradiction to his initial denial(s).<sup>10277</sup> The Chamber notes that the witness volunteered few details of his own volition relevant to his conduct during the DK era. SAO Sarun sought to minimise his own role and exhibited a tendency to attribute exclusive responsibility to POL Pot.<sup>10278</sup> He emphasised that, despite protestations to POL Pot, NUON Chea and SON Sen about his lack of qualification for the post in a meeting held in Phnom Penh following Laing's death, he was officially appointed to the position of Sector 105 Secretary during the Fifth CPK Party Congress in September 1978, but only served in that capacity for a Samphan sent telegrams relating to material, equipment, healthcare and social affairs, etc.? A. Yes, As I stated there, whenever it was related to equipment or so, as you enumerated, he would sign it with the initial 'Hem'.") affirming KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/58, 21 November 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250089; T. 14 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/154.1, pp. 10-13 ("No, [Khieu Samphan] had nothing to do with security. I did not see his name involving security matters. [...] Yes, I did see [non-coded letters going through the service from Hem]. [...] Q. But when you encoded telegrams to Khieu Samphan, you addressed them to 'Hem', am I right? A. Yes, you are.").

---

<sup>10274</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 91, 95-96; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 41-42, 46 ("Q. [H]ow did your father report to the upper level? A. The reports were done through telegrams. And when he arrived in Phnom Penh, he made oral reports by himself."). See also, HAM Ansi Interview Record, E3/366, 26 November 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250751; SAN Lan Interview Record, E3/1650, 29 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00244337; SOV Maing alias SAO Champi Interview Record, E3/506, 18 November 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00244492.

<sup>10275</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 96; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 14, 40-42; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 45.

<sup>10276</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, p. 79 affirming 00230781 (stating that he joined the Party in 1963); T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 53-54; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 81. For Laing's death, see below, para. 3055.

<sup>10277</sup> See e.g., T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, pp. 87-88; T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 2-3, 18, 24-25; T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, pp. 20-21, 38, 40-42; T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, pp. 5-6, 19-20, 26-27, 43-44, 46-47.

<sup>10278</sup> See e.g., T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 76.

period of two months.<sup>10279</sup> Contrary to this assertion, the Chamber has before it four telegrams signed by “Sarun” dating from January 1978, bearing salutations to the Party Centre and reporting, among other topics, on the armed conflict, border situation and movement of enemies in various areas throughout Sector 105<sup>10280</sup> – all of which SAO Sarun acknowledged sending.<sup>10281</sup> Indeed, witnesses – including SAO Sarun himself<sup>10282</sup> – consistently testified that SAO Sarun was appointed to replace Laing after the latter’s death in late 1977.<sup>10283</sup> In light of the foregoing and other irregularities evident in his testimony,<sup>10284</sup> the Chamber accords no weight to SAO Sarun’s testimony insofar as it relates to assertions uncorroborated by other witnesses or other relevant

<sup>10279</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 73-74, 97-99; T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, p. 12; T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, p. 26; T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 49; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, pp. 73-74, 82; SAO Sarun Interview Record, E3/367, 17 December 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00278695.

<sup>10280</sup> DK Telegram, E3/248, 1 January 1978, ERN (En) 00324809 (“To Respected and beloved Brothers of Office 870” reporting on the border situation at Teh (Pechreada district) and Dak Dam (Ou Reang district) and that “we have swept them away”, referring to “nine Yvon people fleeing from their country”); DK Telegram, E3/1078, 9 April 1978, ERN (En) 00361189 (“To respected M-870”, copied to “Uncle”, “Uncle Nuon”, “Uncle Van”, “Uncle Vorn”, “Office” and “Documents”, reporting the arrest of three men accused of destroying two boats and equipment); DK Telegram, E3/155 [E3/156, E3/938], 23 April 1978, ERN (En) 00296220 (“To Respected Brother”, reporting on the enemy situation at Teh (Pechreada district), seeking advice on the issuance of weapons to the sector and the fate of Comrade Sot, implicated in a confession [For Sot, see below, paras 3079-3080]); DK Telegram, E3/498 [E3/1072], 24 April 1978, ERN (En) 00185059 (bearing salutation “Respected Brother”, copied to “Grand Uncle”, “Grand Uncle Nuon”, “Grand Uncle Vorn”, “Office” and “Documentation”, and reporting on enemy attacks in Teg [i.e. Teh] (Ou Reang district) and O Chbar (Kaoh Nheak district)).

<sup>10281</sup> T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, p. 35 (E3/155 [E3/156, E3/938]); T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, pp. 12-13 (E3/498); T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 102 (E3/155 [E3/156, E3/938], E3/498, E3/248, E3/1078).

<sup>10282</sup> T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, p. 13 (“After Laing died, I was appointed to [...] report to Pol Pot”); T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 73 (“Q. You explained that [...] you were appointed by Pol Pot in late 1977, to replace Laing. Correct? [...] A. “Yes, that is correct. When Ta Laing died, I was appointed by Pol Pot, but I refused, and then there was a meeting in 1978, when the majority approved that I should be appointed the chief. I could not refuse it.”).

<sup>10283</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 79 (“Q. Who replaced your father as Secretary of Sector 105 after his death? A. Ta Sarun.”); T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 13 (“Q. Ta Sarun took over the position following your father’s death; is that correct? A. That is correct.”); T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 51 (“Q: [...] Sarun; is that the name of the man that you said replaced Ham as [...] sector secretary? A: Yes, that’s correct.”), 81 (“After Ta Ham died, Ta Sarun came to replace him as the head of the sector”); T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, p. 96 (“Ta Sarun was [on] the sector committee. He used to be a member of the sector committee. After Ta Laing and Ta Kham Phoun, I did not know what was going on.”); NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00239485; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 20 (“And after the [...] killing each of other of [sic] Laing and Kham Phoun, [Ta Sarun] came to replace Laing. [...] It was in late 1977, probably, or early 1978.”); BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 7, ERN (En) 00274100; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, pp. 10-11 (“Is it correct that your brother, Sao Sarun, became the sector secretary after the death of Ta Laing? A. Yes.”).

<sup>10284</sup> See e.g., T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, pp. 93-94 (denies having held a position other than that of District Secretary); T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, p. 97 (denies participating in any meetings with Party leaders).

and reliable evidence before the Chamber, and finds that he was, at the very least, acting Sector 105 Secretary from late 1977 until January 1979.

3040. The reporting structure remained unchanged following SAO Sarun's ascension to the role of Sector 105 Secretary. SAO Sarun testified that as Sector 105 Secretary, he reported to the Party Centre daily by way of telegram addressed to POL Pot,<sup>10285</sup> and acknowledged receiving instructions from him on topics including resisting the Vietnamese.<sup>10286</sup> Despite claiming it was only POL Pot to whom he forwarded reports, the telegrams clearly demonstrate that other recipients included NUON Chea and Office 870. SAO Sarun also received telegrams from NUON Chea from time to time calling him and others to Phnom Penh to attend study sessions.<sup>10287</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that SAO Sarun's testimony regarding Sector 105 reporting structures is, save for the ultimate recipient of his telegram dispatches, sufficiently consistent with practices employed during Laing's tenure as described by other witnesses, and therefore credible in this respect. It is therefore satisfied that as Sector 105 Chairman, SAO Sarun continued the practice of reporting directly to, and receiving instructions from, the Party Centre, including POL Pot, NUON Chea and Office 870.

3041. In late 1977, SAO Sarun travelled to Phnom Penh for a meeting with leading Party members, where POL Pot and NUON Chea discussed Vietnam's "intention to invade and swallow up Kampuchean territory" and the need to make preparations for a counteroffensive.<sup>10288</sup> SAO Sarun told the Chamber that he spoke with KHIEU Samphan about economic issues in the sector, including agricultural production and food rations,<sup>10289</sup> indicating that this was the first and only time he did so.<sup>10290</sup> The Chamber has no evidence before it contradicting SAO Sarun's account or otherwise

<sup>10285</sup> T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, p. 19; T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, pp. 14, 50, 102-103. See above, para. 3039.

<sup>10286</sup> T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, pp. 47-48; T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, p. 7; T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 74; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 99; T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 33.

<sup>10287</sup> T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, p. 14; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 72. The Chamber does not have before it telegrams from NUON Chea to SAO Sarun.

<sup>10288</sup> T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, pp. 50, 55-56; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, pp. 84-85.

<sup>10289</sup> T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, p. 59; T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, pp. 20-21.

<sup>10290</sup> T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, p. 60; T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, pp. 3-4; T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 106.

indicating that SAO Sarun met with or reported to KHIEU Samphan on a regular basis. It therefore accepts the witness's testimony that this was their only encounter.

3042. Following his return to K-17, SAO Sarun convened meetings with sector, district and commune officials to convey the Party Centre's instructions.<sup>10291</sup>

12.5.3.2. K-17, K-11 and Phnom Kraol Prison

3043. The Sector 105 Committee oversaw the operations of all sector units stationed at Phnom Kraol. The Sector 105 Secretary maintained authority over the sector office at K-17,<sup>10292</sup> appointed the Sector Military Commander and directed the Sector Military, headquartered at K-11.<sup>10293</sup> Despite their physical proximity, the Sector 105 Secretary received telegram reports from the Sector 105 Military Commander.<sup>10294</sup>

3044. The Sector Military, led by HUOT Ke alias Sophea until late 1978,<sup>10295</sup> comprised two regiments. Regiment 1 (or 501) consisted of approximately 90 soldiers and was responsible for the defence of Kaoh Nheaek under the command of SAN Lan.<sup>10296</sup> Regiment 2 (or 502) was headquartered at Phnom Kraol Prison and was in charge of sector security. Initially commanded by KHVEN Ngoc alias Leng, deputy Vieng (or Veang) alias Kham and member SOV Maing alias SAO Champi,<sup>10297</sup>

<sup>10291</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 11; T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, pp. 8, 33-34.

<sup>10292</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, p. 95; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 68.

<sup>10293</sup> T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, p. 45; T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 64; T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 43; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 9. See also, BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, pp. 4, 8, ERN (En) 00274097, 00274101.

<sup>10294</sup> See e.g., DK Telegram, E3/1030, 20 June 1977, ERN (En) 00324806 ("To beloved and missed Brother Chhan" signed "Sophea" reporting on the military situation at Au Phlay, Pechr Chenda and Dak Dam).

<sup>10295</sup> T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 55; T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 80; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 9. For the date of Sophea's removal to Phnom Penh, detention in S-21 and subsequent execution in late 1978, see below, fn. 10346.

<sup>10296</sup> T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, pp. 10-12, 47; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 8. See also, SAN Lan Interview Record, E3/1650, 29 October 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00244335-00244336; B'LOEK Lam Interview Record, E3/5221, 26 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239491; NOU Saury Interview Record, E3/7705, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239506.

<sup>10297</sup> T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, pp. 7-8, 13, 31; SOV Maing alias SAO Champi Interview Record, E3/506, 18 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00244490; T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, pp. 51-52; T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 56; T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 40. See also, SAN Lan Interview Record, E3/1650, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00244336; KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/58, 21 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250088; NOU Saury Interview Record, E3/7705, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239506; SAO Sarun Interview Record, E3/367, 17 December 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00278696. SOV Maing alias SAO Champi

Regiment 2 and its companies were tasked with patrolling the border with Vietnam and administering Phnom Kraol Prison alongside Division 920 forces.<sup>10298</sup> Each regiment was further subdivided into three battalions.<sup>10299</sup> Following his removal as Sector 105 Military Commander, Sophea was briefly replaced by Leng,<sup>10300</sup> who in turn was replaced by former deputy Vieng as Regiment 2 Commander.<sup>10301</sup> Although he denied taking over from Leng as the operational head of Phnom Kraol Prison,<sup>10302</sup> there is convincing evidence before the Chamber that SOV Maing had indeed assumed this post.<sup>10303</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that SOV Maing replaced Leng as the operational head of Phnom Kraol Prison following the latter's promotion to the role of Sector 105 Military Commander. As the headquarters of Regiment 2, Phnom Kraol Prison was subordinated to the Sector Secretary.<sup>10304</sup>

3045. During the DK period, Sector 105 Secretaries Laing and SAO Sarun channelled information between districts and the Party Centre. They personally received reports from District Secretaries,<sup>10305</sup> held regular monthly meetings with various district is the brother of SAO Sarun. See T. 27 October 2016, pp 9-10; SOV Maing alias SAO Champi Interview Record, E3/506, 18 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00244490.

---

<sup>10298</sup> T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, pp. 8, 13, 47. See also, SAN Lan Interview Record, E3/1650, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00244336.

<sup>10299</sup> T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 7. See also, Section 5.3: Structure of the CPK Military Forces.

<sup>10300</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 79; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 18-19, 77; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 31; SOV Maing alias SAO Champi Interview Record, E3/506, 18 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00244490; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 13. See also, NOU Saury Interview Record, E3/7705, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239506. HUOT Ke alias Sophea and KHVEN Ngok alias Leng were arrested, detained at S-21 and executed. See below, para. 3056 (fn. 10346).

<sup>10301</sup> T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, pp. 51-52; T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, pp. 10-11.

<sup>10302</sup> T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, pp. 35-36.

<sup>10303</sup> T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, pp. 29, 31-32 (stating that Maing's office was next to the prison and that he was "the direct perpetrator to arrest all other prisoners and then send them to Ta Phai's prison", but acknowledging that he did not know whether he held a position within the prison); SAO Sarun Interview Record, E3/367, 17 December 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00278696 ("I know Maing, my younger brother in Battalion [sic] 2, [...] came to replace Leng at Phnom Kraol Dam Office").

<sup>10304</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 43 ("Ta Laing had overall supervision" at the Security Centre); SAO Sarun Interview Record, E3/10724, 2 April 2016, p. 5, ERN (En) 01235782; UONG Dos Interview Record, E3/7703, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242171.

<sup>10305</sup> T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, p. 92; T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 63; T. 12 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/152.1, p. 40; T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 10-11; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 69.

cadres<sup>10306</sup> and appointed district officials.<sup>10307</sup>

12.5.3.3. Division 920

3046. RAK Centre Division 920 maintained a presence in Sector 105 from 1975,<sup>10308</sup> initially under the command of MEN Mang alias Chhin and Deputy Commander EA Chir alias Say (or Soy).<sup>10309</sup> Following their arrest and detention at S-21 in February and March 1977,<sup>10310</sup> the Division came under the command of former Division 801 Deputy Commanders San alias Ta 06 and Ta Leu, with CHAN Kung alias Kim (or Koem) as their deputy.<sup>10311</sup> Headquartered approximately seven kilometres south of Phnom Kraol,<sup>10312</sup> the Division dispatched its three battalions (91, 92 and 93) across Sector 105 to patrol and defend the border with Vietnam.<sup>10313</sup>

3047. A close line of cooperation existed between Division 920 and Sector 105 throughout the DK period. In September 1976, SON Sen proposed that “close contact”

<sup>10306</sup> T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, p. 53; T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 78, 83; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 9; KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/58, 21 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250088.

<sup>10307</sup> T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, p. 85; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 67.

<sup>10308</sup> T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 17; T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 64-65.

<sup>10309</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 65; T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 5; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 30, 68; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 10; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00274097; T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, p. 60; T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, p. 65; T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, p. 6. See also, Map of Koh Neak District, E3/9100, undated, ERN 00992852; NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239484; AUM Mol Interview Record, E3/7700, 29 October 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00239532.

<sup>10310</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1199, 6 April 1977, ERN (En) 00531038 (showing that, by April 1977, “San” was reporting “To respected and beloved Bang 89”). See also, UNG Ren Interview Record, E3/402, 17 September 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00381034 (stating that San, the Division 801 Deputy Commander under SAO Saroeun, was sent to Mondulkiri in July 1977). See below, fn. 10352.

<sup>10311</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 82; T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, pp. 12, 51; T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 8; T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, p. 30; T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 73, 75; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10631, undated, ERN (En) 01335771 (entry no. 14, CHAN Kung alias Kim, Deputy Chief of Division 920); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2253, undated, ERN (En) 00789492 (entry no. 16 CHAN Kung alias Koem, Deputy Secretary of Division 920). See also, PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/365, 26 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00251010; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 8, ERN (En) 00274101; Section 12.4: Au Kanseng Security Centre, para. 2864.

<sup>10312</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 63; T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 74; T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 60, 85; T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, p. 42; T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, p. 6.

<sup>10313</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 63-64; T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 59-61; T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, pp. 31-37. See also, Division 920 Plenary Meeting Minutes, E3/799, 7 September 1976, ERN (En) 00184780 (the direction of Brother 89 [Son Sen]: “The task received by the 920th Division is to absolutely defend the entire Mondulkiri border with Vietnam”).

be maintained with Sector 105 Secretary Laing, since “the border can only be defended as long as we, the army, and the bases agree on the line”.<sup>10314</sup> Division 920 commanders met with the Sector Secretary, who at times furnished work assignments to the division, which in return assisted the Sector Committee in the execution of its mandate.<sup>10315</sup> This included assisting with the arrest and detention of enemies, as well as the administration of Phnom Kraol Security Centre.<sup>10316</sup> The Sector Military also assisted Division 920 in the field, particularly as the latter was unfamiliar with the geographic and topographic conditions of the region.<sup>10317</sup> Division 920 reported directly to the Party Centre and received direction from General Staff Chairman SON Sen.<sup>10318</sup> The Chamber finds that while Division 920 and Sector 105 maintained their own reporting lines to the Party Centre throughout the DK period (through SON Sen and POL Pot respectively<sup>10319</sup>), as shown below, both entities collaborated closely within the territory of Sector 105 to identify, arrest and detain suspected enemies after April 1977.

<sup>10314</sup> Minutes of Plenary Meeting of the 920th Division, E3/799, 7 September 1976, ERN (En) 00184781.

<sup>10315</sup> Minutes of Plenary Meeting of the 920th, E3/799, 7 September 1976, ERN (En) 00184781 (the direction of Brother 89 [Son Sen]: “Propose that our cadres keep close contact with Comrade Laing because the border can only be defended as long as we, the army, and the bases agree on the line. [...] We must report to Laing, to Comrade Ya [i.e. Northeast Zone Secretary NEY Sarann alias Ya] and to the General Staff”); T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 99; T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 55; T. 12 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/152.1, pp. 39-40; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, pp. 6, 10; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, pp. 83-84; T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 30. See also, SAO Sarun Interview Record, E3/367, 17 December 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00278695 (POL Pot advised SAO Sarun that Ta San could assist SAO Sarun in the execution of his function as Sector Secretary).

<sup>10316</sup> T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, p. 22 (“[I]f the sector force had committed wrongdoing and then the Division 920 was instructed to perform the task, so whenever members of the sector forces committed wrongdoing, it was Division 920 that had the responsibility to make arrests. And when members of Division 920 committed wrongdoing, the sector forces would go and arrest them.”). See above, para. 3044. See below, paras 3076-3080, 3088.

<sup>10317</sup> T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 17; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, pp. 14-15; DK Telegram, E3/1030, 20 June 1977, ERN (En) 00324806 (telegram from Sector 105 Military Commander Sophea to Brother Chhan (Laing) stating that Comrade Veang (Division 920 member) is organising a force to monitor enemies). See also, DK Telegram, E3/1199, 6 April 1977, ERN (En) 00531038 (reporting to SON Sen, Division 920 Commander San reports that a decision to install an artillery battalion was done “in collaboration with Bang Saphea”, i.e. the Sector 105 Military Commander).

<sup>10318</sup> T. 28 March 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/55.1, p. 33; T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, p. 27; DK Telegram, E3/1022, 9 March 1976, ERN (En) 00335203 (“To beloved Brother 89” signed by “Comrade Chhin”); DK Telegram, E3/1101, 23 September 1976, ERN (En) 00524192 (“To Beloved and Missed Comrade Chhin” signed by “Khiev”); DK Telegram, E3/1199, 6 April 1977, ERN (En) 00531038 (“To respected and beloved Bang 89”) signed “San” and bearing handwritten annotation from SON Sen “Sent to Angkar for information, Khiev, 7 April 1977”). See also, Division 920 Meeting Minutes, E3/805, 16 December 1976, ERN (En) 00185237 (meeting between SON Sen and Division 920 Deputy Commander Say and Ren).

<sup>10319</sup> For the Sector 105 Secretary’s reporting line, see below, Section 12.5.4.5: Authority to arrest.

12.5.4. *Arrest and Detention*12.5.4.1. Internal purges

3048. As part of its objective to “absolutely” implement the revolution and strengthen socialism inside Democratic Kampuchea, the CPK Central Committee on 30 March 1976 resolved that “the right to smash inside and outside the ranks” in independent (i.e. autonomous) sectors was reserved for the Standing Committee, whereas the right with respect to the Centre Military (i.e. divisions under the authority of the Party Centre) was bestowed upon the General Staff.<sup>10320</sup> The Chamber has before it evidence demonstrating the application of this policy through the systematic eradication of perceived enemies throughout civil and military ranks across Sector 105. By April 1977, the Standing Committee had decided to “take control” of Sector 105 directly.<sup>10321</sup> Following his arrival in Sector 105 that same month, new Division 920 Commander Ta San reported to SON Sen that re-education initiatives demonstrated that “more than 90% [of Division 920 cadres] were traitors”.<sup>10322</sup> Upper echelons progressively denounced, arrested and detained and/or executed cadres suspected of collaborating, communicating or otherwise dealing with Vietnamese forces, civilians or relatives.<sup>10323</sup>

<sup>10320</sup> Decision of the Central Committee Regarding a Number of Matters, E3/12, 30 March 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 00182809.

<sup>10321</sup> Standing Committee Minutes, E3/10693, 13 April 1977, ERN (En) 01324080-01324082 (at a meeting attended by POL Pot and SON Sen (among others), the Standing Committee, “[b]ased on the resolutions of the Central Party and the Standing Committee” decides that “we must take the [sic] control of the Sector 106 and 105”).

<sup>10322</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1199, 6 April 1977, ERN (En) 00531038 (telegram copied to Brothers 89, 81, “Office” and “Documentation”, bearing annotation “To Angkar for information” dated 7 April 1977).

<sup>10323</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, p. 107 (“Back then, those who had disappeared, they announced that those people were the traitors. Some were accused of the members of the traitorous network [...] charged of associating with the Vietnamese enemy”); T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 52-53 (“Every single Vietnamese [was] singled out and taken away to be killed”); T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 16-17 (“Later on, there was accusation of Khmer Sar, KGB, CIA and Vietnamese Network and the last group of people, that is Vietnamese network, was the most important target to be smashed.”), 57-58 (“Those people who were killed because of their relatives [living] in Vietnam, were part of the network of Ta Bun Net and also a network of Ta Youn; so they were also killed. [...] Only those linked to a particular network would be arrested and killed and later on, if other individuals were discovered that they were part of another network they would be arrested individually and killed. They were not arrested as a huge group or network but an individual arrest was made. [...] If they were suspected of having communication with Vietnam, it would result in their arrest.”); BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00274095-00274096; T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, pp. 55 (“[I]f they told us they were part of FULRO, then they would be arrested and sent to the provincial level through the village and commune level”), 58 (“[M]y commander instructed that if they said that they were part of the FULRO movement, we needed to send them up through the line, we did not need to cause any harm to them”). See below, para. 3058.

Those perceived as ideologically opposed to Angkar or its policies,<sup>10324</sup> or indeed those suspected of the slightest subversion – including breaking spoons, damaging tools or losing cattle<sup>10325</sup> – were branded as enemies and faced a similar fate.

3049. Military personnel associated with “enemies” were routinely purged down the chain of command,<sup>10326</sup> and relatives of those arrested were similarly condemned, <sup>10324</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 86 (“[T]here were conscientiousness [sic] enemy”), 87 (“[T]he ideological enemies, those who did not fall in lines with the organisation at the time, were also alleged to be the enemy of the Party”), 107 (“[I]nfiltrated enemies were the ones who did not fall in line with the instructions of the organisation, those who deviated from the instruction. So these people were no longer trusted by the organisation and they were no longer given any task to handle. In addition, in certain circumstances, they would be detained as well. So that was only the differing views from the organisation, and those people were considered infiltrated enem[ies]”); T. 12 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/152.1, pp. 17-18 (“[T]hose who did not respect orders were considered pacifists -- enemy, and those who were -- who had the background as teacher or officials of the previous regime -- those were the targets of removal.”); T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 63 (“Those who did not follow the instructions were accused of being internal enemies”), 64 (“Anyone who did not follow the instructions or follow the orders, that person was accused of being a Vietnamese spy”); T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 20 (“And for those who had good behaviour survived the regime. Those who could not bear the regime were killed.”).

<sup>10325</sup> T. 12 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/152.1, p. 16 (“[W]hen we had a slightest suspicion against another person, then that person would be considered [an] enemy”); T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 48 (“And the reports [up the line] were made about the small issues such as broken spoons and stuff”); T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, p. 73 (“If we were digging the dirt and if we damaged a tool, then we would be accused of being an enemy since we had damaged the state’s property. [...] If somebody broke a hoe, in that sense then the person would be regarded as an enemy as well.”). See also, SAN Lan Interview Record, E3/1650, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00244336 (“Ta Sophea also said ‘whoever pierces a [hole] through the dam or makes loss of many cattle is the enemy’”).

<sup>10326</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 16 (“[T]he leaders in the upper line disappeared and, later on, subordinates or people below them were also arrested”), 20 (“I was not interrogated, but they said that we were all traitors”), 82 (“[Guards] only alluded that we were traitors”); T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, p. 21 (“[A]fter Ham and Kham Phoun killed each other in Phnom Penh [...] there was this policy of arresting us”); T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 21 (“To my knowledge [...] those chiefs would be arrested and killed if their commander was arrested and killed. [...] And the arrests and killing took place only for cadres, in 1975, including those military commanders at various positions. And usually the purge was conducted through the line or chain of command.”), 64 (“And then they were reported to the upper echelon and not only these two were arrested, almost all of their soldiers under their commands were also arrested.”); T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 23 (“[U]sually in the network, if the leader was arrested, [the subordinate] could not stay, so he fled”); T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, p. 62 (“My leaders were called to attend a training session; however, people said that they were all taken to be killed under the accusation of betraying Angkar. [...] [A]ll the soldiers were told that please be cautious that you may have been linked to your commander[’]s network.”); DK Telegram, E3/877, 20 May 1977, ERN (En) 00185226 (Report to M-870 noting “arrest after arrest” of Division 920 in light of the sector’s suspicion that “henchmen of [...] contemptible Chhin [Division 920 Commander]” were to blame for Vietnamese incursions). See also, HAM Ansi Interview Record, E3/366, 26 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250750 (“One day during a sector-level meeting with Ta Sophea and Ta Laing, I learned that [...] if I did not go, I was to be killed at once, because I was the right-hand close to Ta Laing”).

arrested and detained or executed.<sup>10327</sup>

3050. The NUON Chea Defence submits that evidence relating to the purges in Sector 105 and Division 920 is “totally irrelevant to the Phnom Kraol crime site”.<sup>10328</sup> No other Party made submissions in this regard. The Chamber notes that arrests, detentions and executions took place within and beyond the Phnom Kraol Security Centre complex and recalls that it is seised only of the above crimes as relevant to K-17, K-11, Phnom Kraol Prison and Trapeang Pring. Nevertheless, the Chamber deems it necessary to examine the evidence of internal purges within the broader sector as contextual evidence relevant to facts in issue at Phnom Kraol Security Centre. Where it has relied upon such evidence, the Chamber has taken care to clearly identify the extent to which it bears upon its findings.

12.5.4.2. Backdrop of purges in Sector 105

3051. The Chamber has been able to trace the approximate genesis and chronology of purges throughout Sector 105 from about early 1977. While witness accounts were overwhelmingly consistent in substance, precise event chronologies and timeframe recollections varied. Where available, the Chamber has relied upon contemporaneous evidence to pinpoint events but notes that the following timeline is subject to a margin of appreciation and is extracted for the purpose of providing context to the events at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

3052. Precipitated by accusations that he had entertained or harboured Vietnamese soldiers, Kaoh Nheaek District Secretary TIT Hem alias Svay committed suicide in early 1977 following skirmishes with Sector 105 officials.<sup>10329</sup> Kaev Seima District

<sup>10327</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 25; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 46; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 33; T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, pp. 21, 37, 74.

<sup>10328</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 423-424.

<sup>10329</sup> T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, pp. 87-88; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 49 (testifying that Svay shot at a sector hospital officer before himself being shot and hanging himself), 83-85 (after being questioned about hiding Vietnamese, Svay shot dead two cadres, including Ou Reang district Secretary Ky and Dang, before committing suicide); T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 66; T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, pp. 15-19, 23-25, 46. See also, Organisational Chart of Khmer Rouge Leaders in Monduliri Province by CHAN Bun Leath, E3/5179, 11 June 2008, ERN (En) 00274107; SAL Ra Interview Record, E3/5222, 27 October 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00242159; SAN Lan Interview Record, E3/1650, 29 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00244337; HAM Ansi Interview Record, E3/366, 26 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250750; “Revolutionary Biography” – TIT Hem alias Svay, E3/2390, undated, ERN (En) 00343671.

Secretary Kasy, suspected of having collaborated with Svay,<sup>10330</sup> was accused of immoral relations, arrested in February 1977, detained by Sector 105 forces at K-16 and executed.<sup>10331</sup> Kasy's nephew and fellow K-16 detainee, Witness BUN Loeng Chauy, confirmed that Kasy's wife, relatives and neighbours were also arrested, detained and subsequently disappeared; "[o]nly one or two came back".<sup>10332</sup> 3053. Witness SAO Sarun testified that the entire population of the Kaev Seima district was relocated to K-16 for fear of their collusion with the Vietnamese.<sup>10333</sup> BUN Loeng Chauy – who served as the Deputy Chief of the Kaev Seima District Office between 1975 and his arrest in February 1977<sup>10334</sup> – corroborated this account in court and testified that he saw his former colleagues and soldiers imprisoned in a building near the Roya worksite (K-37),<sup>10335</sup> located approximately a kilometre from K-17.<sup>10336</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the entire population of Kaev Seima district was relocated and imprisoned at office K-16 and the Roya worksite following Kasy's denunciation.

3054. In late 1977, approximately 18 Kaev Seima district members who had been accused of forming part of Kasy's network fled from K-16, led by K-16 supervisor Nhun.<sup>10337</sup> The wives and children of these escapees were arrested the next day as a

<sup>10330</sup> T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 66.

<sup>10331</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 7 (“[Kasy] was taken away from [K-16] and he was killed” on 22 February 1977), 11 (“I was dispersed from him [at the Roya worksite] so that they could take him to be killed”). See also, PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/44, 11 March 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00295163 (Kasy “was arrested and killed because he had been accused of violating the moral codes”); HAM Ansi Interview Record, E3/366, 26 November 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00250749-00250750. See also, “Revolutionary Biography” – PHIM alias Kasy, E3/2392, undated, ERN (En) 00343664 (indicating “PHIM” as surname and “Kasy” as revolutionary name, but no first name).

<sup>10332</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 15 (referring to the arrest of Kasy's wife), 25-26 (the witness's relatives “were arrested but not killed immediately. They were placed in the [sic] detention for one week, for example, and minor prisoners or offenders were sent to Nang Khi Loek, and for the serious offenders, they were sent away and killed. Few of them survived the regime [...]. Those who were arrested together with my uncle [Kasy] never returned. [...] Only one or two came back.”).

<sup>10333</sup> T. 5 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/81.1, pp. 91-92 affirming HAM Ansi Interview Record, E3/366, 26 November 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00250749-00250750 (stating that, by mid-1978, “all the people had been withdrawn from Keo Seima by Angkar for fear they would have contacts with the Yuon”). In light of other evidence, the Chamber places this relocation in mid to late 1977.

<sup>10334</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 7-10; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, pp. 3-4; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00274009.

<sup>10335</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 34-35 (stating that they told him “that about 80 of [his] former co[-]workers were arrested” but did not know their fate).

<sup>10336</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 13-14, 28, 68; Sketch of Phnom Kraol Security Centre and surrounds by CHAN Bun Leath, E3/5179, ERN (En) 00274108 (showing the Roya worksite halfway between K-17 and Trapeang Pring on the road to Kratie).

<sup>10337</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 86-87; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 37-38. Although SAO Sarun suggested that Nhun was arrested after Kasy, no other evidence supports this claim and the Chamber rejects his assertion. See T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 23

result.<sup>10338</sup> The evidence shows that 42 Sector 105 personnel, including 18 women (eight of whom are described as wives of K-16 combatants), entered S-21 on 23 November 1977.<sup>10339</sup> BUN Loeng Chauy confirmed in court that two women executed at S-21 were in fact the wives of those who had escaped from K-16.<sup>10340</sup> Among those suspected of coordinating the flight was the son of Sector 105 Deputy Chairman KHAM Phoun, Kham, who was later arrested and allegedly executed on the orders of Sector 105 Secretary Laing.<sup>10341</sup> While the Chamber could not confirm Kham's execution,<sup>10342</sup> it accepts BUN Loeng Chauy's testimony regarding the fate of the remaining K-16 detainees. Accordingly, it is satisfied that the wives and children of K-16 escapees were arrested and executed in late 1977 as a result of their husbands' flight.

3055. Sector 105 Deputy Secretary KHAM Phoun, who was Nhun's superior at K-16 and Svay's uncle, was similarly denounced as a Vietnamese conspirator and traitor.<sup>10343</sup> Both he and Sector Secretary Laing were summoned to a study session in Phnom Penh by NUON Chea and died under suspicious circumstances after a physical altercation in ("Kasy was the first arrested. [...] So when Kasy was arrested, so was he."). For the Chamber's position on SAO Sarun's evidence, see above, para. 3039.

---

<sup>10338</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 39-40, 47.

<sup>10339</sup> DK Telegram, E3/9926, 24 November 1977, ERN (En) 01461972-01461976 (listing 42 Sector 105 personnel, including 19 women, as having entered S-21 on 23 November 1977); S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 23 November 1977, E3/1645, 24 November 1977, pp. 8-13, ERN (En) 00809634-00809639 (corroborating all names identified in telegram E3/9926 under heading "Sector 105" and listing a further female combatant: entry no. 143, Nhang of K-16 and "wife of Lang", which is a duplicate of entry no. 106); S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 23 November 1977, E3/9953, 2 December 1977, pp. 28-32, ERN (En) 01367687-01367691 (corroborating all 42 names identified in telegram E3/9926); S-21 list of prisoners on 23 November 1977, E3/10770, 24 November 1977, p. 315, ERN (En) 01460730 (showing 42 arrivals from Sector 105).

<sup>10340</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 44; S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 23 November 1977, E3/1645, 24 November 1977, ERN (En) 00809634 (entry no. 106, NHOENG Hoeun, wife of Lang, Sector 105), ERN (En) 00809638 (entry no. 142, SRUN Li, wife of Lam, K-11 combatant); S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 6 March 1978, E3/1900, 7 March 1977, ERN (En) 00193557 (entry no. 20, NHING Hoeun and entry no. 22 SRUN Ly).

<sup>10341</sup> T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 23 ("Kham Phoun smashed Ta Han because his only child was killed by Ta Ham"). See also, BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00274098 ("Ham killed KHAM Phoun's child and this made KHAM Phoun to [sic] hold a grudge."); PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/44, 11 March 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00295163; SAN Lan Interview Record, E3/1650, 29 October 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00244338 (stating that Kham was arrested because K-16 supervisor Nhun had escaped).

<sup>10342</sup> No evidence before the Chamber suggests that Kham was detained or executed at either Phnom Kraol Security Centre or S-21.

<sup>10343</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 19-20 (In about January 1977, "they said Kham Phoun [...] had betrayed the regime. [...] And it was said that they had [a] link to the Vietnamese. That was the reason of the arrests"); T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 22; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 65 ("[T]hey announced that [KHAM Phoun] was a traitor"); T. 3 August 2016 (CHIN Saroeun), E1/454.1, p. 13. See also, THIT Ya Interview Record, E3/5220, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242163.

late 1977.<sup>10344</sup> Following his death, KHAM Phoun was also denounced as a Vietnamese collaborator, and his family and known associates were arrested and later disappeared.<sup>10345</sup>

3056. A purge of the Sector 105 Committee at K-17, the Sector Military at K-11 and Phnom Kraol Prison staff ensued and continued throughout 1978. In this regard, the Chamber has before it evidence that Sector 105 Deputy Secretaries Mey and Chuon, and Sector 105 Military Commander Sophea were arrested, denounced respectively as members of the “CIA network”, KHAM Phoun’s “network” and as having connections to Vietnam, and executed at S-21. It has further evidence of the arrest and execution at S-21 of Sophea’s successor, Sector 105 Military Commander Leng, and K-17 supervisor Lay.<sup>10346</sup> S-21 logs indicate that at least 56 people from Sector 105 were

<sup>10344</sup> T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 119 (“[M]y father told me that Brother Number Two sent the telegram for him and my uncle to go to Phnom Penh for work, and I also learned that my father and my uncle prepared to go to Phnom Penh because of the telegram.”); KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/58, 21 November 2008, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00250089-00250090 (stating that he found his father dead in the same room as KHAM Phoun in Phnom Penh); T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 11-12 (witness heard from Laing and KHAM Phoun’s messengers that the two had “exchanged gunfire and died”), 14-15, 69 (“The messenger told me that the two died but he did not mention the reasons for their deaths”); CHAN Toi Interview Record, E3/7694, 23 October 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00242142-00242143 (Laing and Ta Kham Phoun shot one another to death in Phnom Penh”); T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 23 (“Kham Phoun smashed Ta Ham because his child was killed by Ham”); BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, pp. 5, 9, ERN (En) 00274098 (“Ham killed KHAM Phoun’s child and this made KHAM Phoun to hold a grudge”), 00274102 (“By knowing that he would be arrested and executed, KHAM Phoun [beat] Lang to death and took Lang’s gun to kill himself”); T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 61-63 (acknowledging having heard that KHAM Phoun murdered Ham with an iron piece, but acknowledging that this was a rumour); NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00239486; T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 94-96; SAO Sarun Interview Record, E3/10724, 2 April 2016, p. 6, ERN (En) 01235783. See also, SAO Champi Interview Record, E3/506, 18 November 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00244491. The Chamber is unable to determine the circumstances of Laing and KHAM Phoun’s deaths.

<sup>10345</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 14 (“Ta Sarun at that time arrested those who were linked to Ta Kham Phoun”), 22-25, 28, 47-48; T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 19-23, 41, 46, 63; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 52; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, pp. 22-23; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00274098; T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, p. 37. See also, THIT Ya Interview Record, E3/5220, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242163.

<sup>10346</sup> Sector 105 Deputy Secretary SAU Kim An alias Mey: T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, p. 78 (“Mey disappeared around 1977”); BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, pp. 4-5, 7, ERN (En) 00274097-00274098, 00274100 (stating that Mey was denounced in February 1977 and executed in May 1977); PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/44, 11 March 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00295162 (stating that Mei was denounced as being in the CIA network); S-21 list of prisoners smashed and photographed on 8 December 1977, E3/2285, undated, ERN (En) 01564921 (entry no. 7, SAU Kim An alias Mey, Sector 105 Deputy Secretary) [See also, S-21 Confession – SO Kim An, E3/1689, undated, ERN (En) 00284045-00284046 (summary of confessions reported on 28 March 1977 requesting that “Angkar examine the case involving Achar Mey”), 00773005-00773006 (S-21 confession cover page dated 10 October 1977); S-21 Confession – SOU Kim An alias Mey, E3/2597, 26 October 1977, ERN (En) 00820641-00820653]. Sector 105 Deputy Secretary PHAN detained and/or executed at S-21 between March 1977 and 31 December 1978.<sup>10347</sup>

While it does not have evidence that these individuals were imprisoned at Phnom Kraol

Khoun alias Chuon: T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, p. 10 (stating that Chuon died in 1977); T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 15 (referring to the disappearance of “Uncle Chuon”); T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 46-48 (confirming PHAN Khoun’s arrest as a result of his membership of “KHAM Phan’s network” and S-21 entry); S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 23 November 1977, E3/1645, 24 November 1977, p. 10, ERN (En) 00809636 (entry no. 128, PHAN Khuon alias Chuon, Sector 105 State Commerce Member); DK Telegram, E3/9926, 24 November 1977, p. 7, ERN (En) 01461972 (identifying entry no. 100, PHAN Khuon alias Chuon, Member of Sector Commerce, as having arrived at S-21 on 23 November 1977); S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 27 May 1978, E3/8463 [E3/10389], 28 May 1978, p. 56, ERN (En) 01032526 [01398238] (entry no. 377, PHAN Khoun alias Chuon, Sector 105 Committee Member of Commerce Section) [See also, S-21 Confession – PHAN Khon alias Chuon, E3/2598, 31 December 1977, pp. 1-56, ERN (En) 00701680-00701735]. Sector 105 Military Commander HUOT Ke alias Sophea: T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 25 (stating that Sophea was arrested); T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, pp. 71-72 (referring to Sophea’s disappearance after being “called to Phnom Penh”); SAO Champi Interview Record, E3/506, 18 November 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00244491 (stating that Sophea was put on a plane and flown to Phnom Penh for study); B’LOEK Lam Interview Record, E3/5221, 26 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239491 (stating that Sophea was arrested in 1978 for having a connection with Vietnam); HAM Ansi Interview Record, E3/366, 26 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250750 (states that he was told by Ta Sarun that Sophea was taken to study in Phnom Penh); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2254, undated, p. 7, ERN (En) 00789709 (entry no. 9, HUOT Ke, Member of Sector 105, entered 6 December 1978); S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 31 December 1978, E3/10455, undated, p. 6, ERN (En) 01248071 (entry no. 74, HUOT Ke alias Sophea, Sector 105 Member). Sector 105 Military Deputy Commander (and later Commander) KHVEN Ngok alias Leng: T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 33 (testifying that he was told by Ta Vieng that Leng was “called to study” and “disappeared forever”) affirming SOV Maing alias SAO Champi Interview Record, E3/506, 18 November 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00244491); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8484, undated, p. 11, ERN (En) 01321710 (entry no. 3, KHVEN Ngok alias Leng, Secretary of Battalion 502, entered 13 February 1978) [See also, S-21 Confession – KHVENG Ngok alias Leng, E3/1653, 27 February 1978, ERN (En) 00834677-00834716]. K-17 supervisor VIN Lay alias Loy: T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, p. 39 (“And Ka Loy actually replaced [Ta Tin as the head of K-17] in 1978, and not long after, he was taken away and killed as well”); T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 53 (confirming that he has not seen Loy since 1978); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1651, undated, p. 10, ERN (En) 00789506 (entry no. 1, VIN Lay, Chief of Office of Sector 105, entered 20 October 1978); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2254, undated, p. 6, ERN (En) 00789708 (VIN Lay, Chief of Office, Sector 105, entered 20 October 1978, interrogation “suspended”); S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 31 December 1978, E3/10455, undated, p. 6, ERN (En) 01248071 (entry no. 66, VIN Lay, Office Chief, Sector [illegible]).

<sup>10347</sup> In addition to the entries extracted above in fns 10339 and 10346, see S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 7 March 1978, E3/10221, 7 March 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01397708 (KEO Veng and VAN Sran, combatants of office Ba-17, Kaev Seima, Sector 105); S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 17 March 1978, E3/10231, 17 March 1978, p. 17, ERN (En) 01397814 (KHEAM Krud alias Tham [see also, E3/10335, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462189; E3/10317, undated, p. 2, ERN (En) 01462181]); S-21 list of prisoners interrogated on 6 April 1978, E3/1922, 6 April 1978, ERN (En) 01303811 (LACH Maing alias Sarim, Bandit in Svay District, Old Person); S-21 list of prisoners admitted in June 1978, E3/10161, 2 July 1978, p. 84, ERN (En) 01564040 (HONG Sokhoeun alias Van, female combatant of sector office, wife of Cham, entered 27 June 1978); S-21 list of prisoners admitted in October 1978, E3/10205, undated, p. 7, ERN (En) 01397682 (ORN On and PHOEUNG Phon, K-17 combatants, entered 20 October 1978); S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 6 April 1978, E3/10361, 6 April 1978, p. 45, ERN (En) 01368929 (entry no. 87, HING Buon alias Vuth, previously office team chief in Sector 105); S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 30 January 1978, E3/10437, 30 January 1978, p. 3, ERN (En) 01366944 (entry no. 26, SY Cheang Ngy alias Khan, chief of squad or office, Sector 105 [see also, E3/10335, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 01462189; E3/10317, undated, p. 3, ERN (En) 01462181]); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10317, undated, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 01462180-01462181 (entry no. 6, YIM Ngim alias Chhim alias Soem, combatant in Keo Seima District Unit, entered 25 February 1978; entry no. 12, SI Ngeng alias Vong, combatant of sector telegraph unit [see also, E3/10439, undated, p. 17, ERN (En) 01398410 (entry no.

Security Centre, the Chamber is satisfied on the evidence before it that they were purged from Sector 105 as a result of their perceived status as, or collaboration with, Party enemies, and subsequently detained and executed at S-21.

3057. From about April 1977, Division 920 was the target of a systematic purge by Division 801 cadres hitherto stationed in Ratanakiri.<sup>10348</sup> According to SAO Sarun, the purge was the result of the Northeast Zone Secretary NEY Sarann alias Ya's involvement in negotiations with the Vietnamese.<sup>10349</sup> Although it is unable to corroborate SAO Sarun's claim in its entirety, the Chamber notes that Ya had led border negotiations with Vietnam from March 1976 at the earliest,<sup>10350</sup> and was subsequently arrested, denounced as a Vietnamese collaborator, detained in S-21, tortured and executed.<sup>10351</sup> Division 920 Commander MEN Mang and Deputy Commander Soy were accused of betraying Angkar and collaborating with the Vietnamese, arrested, detained and executed at S-21.<sup>10352</sup> Subordinates suspected or otherwise implicated

---

1, KHVENG Ngok alias Leng, commander of Battalion, Sector 105)]; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10318, undated, ERN (En) 01462182 (entry no. 13, YUK Huor alias Teav, member of Srae Sangkum Cooperative, Sector 105, entered 15 February 1978 [see also, E3/10439, undated, p. 17, ERN (En) 01398410] (entry no. 2, [illegible] alias Keav); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10505, undated, p. 5, ERN (En) 01398545 (entry no. 1, THUY Vanthan, member of Economics Unit 101 in Sector 105; entry no. 2, KO (or PHOU) Kadam alias La, deputy chief of large Unit 103 in Sector 105 [for both, see also, E3/10302, undated, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 01528647-01528648]).

<sup>10348</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 63-64, 73, 90-91; T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, p. 47; T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, pp. 10-11. See also, Section 12.4.2.1: Au Kanseng Security Centre: Division 801.

<sup>10349</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 6 (“Division 920 initiated the negotiation [with the Vietnamese]. Ya had the first negotiation and later on, it was handled by the Division 920.”).

<sup>10350</sup> Standing Committee Minutes, E3/218, 26 March 1976 (generally discussing the military situation between DK and SRV), pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00182654-00182655 (discussing the desire for solidarity with Vietnam and the agreement “to set up the [sic] Zone/Region and Sector Liaison Committees [...] [a]t the three border Sectors”. “Comrade Sophea” and “Comrade Phon” were appointed as Division and Sector “representatives” of the Mondulkiri Liaison Committee); Standing Committee Minutes, E3/221, 14 May 1976 (generally discussing the situation concerning Vietnam), p. 1, ERN (En) 00182693 (discussing Vietnam's complaint that the DK had attacked Vietnamese forces).

<sup>10351</sup> T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 4 (“[A]fter his disappearance there was a public announcement concerning this. He was said to have betrayed us. [...] We heard that he had been affiliated with the Vietnamese.”); T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 17 (“I did not witness [what happened to Ya during the Khmer Rouge regime]. I learned from others that he was tied up and killed”), 58 (“Ya's arrest may have happened in 1977”); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10090, 22 January [1977], p. 24, ERN (En) 01399030 (entry no. 167, Ya, Secretary of the Northeast Zone). See also, Section 12.2.8.1.6: S-21 Security Centre: NEY Sarann alias MEN San alias Ya; S-21 Confession – MEN San alias Ya, E3/1868, 29-30 September 1976, ERN (En) 00769572-00769577 (inscriptions from Ya dated 29 and 30 September 1976).

<sup>10352</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 63 (“Ta Chhin, Ta Soy [...] were arrested and they disappeared. [...] They said that we betrayed Angkar and they were smashed in Phnom Penh and I heard that they were sent to Tuol Sleng Prison.”), 88-89 (confirming S-21 execution records of Ta Chhin and Ta Soy); T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, p. 88 (“Say, the commander, was arrested”); T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 31-32 (testifying that Ta Chhin and Ta Soy “were accused of betrayal [...] they were called to work and they disappeared”, clarifying that “[i]t was the upper echelon” – “the individuals from Phnom Penh” – who called them to work); S-21 list of were similarly arrested by Division 801 soldiers, detained and, in some cases, executed.<sup>10353</sup>

3058. Contemporaneous evidence further demonstrates the turmoil within the ranks of Division 920 at the time. The Chamber has before it a telegram communicated by MEN Mang's successor, new Division 920 Commander San, to SON Sen, reporting on the situation "from the division to the battalion level" in early April 1977.<sup>10354</sup> Bearing a handwritten notation to the attention of Angkar, the telegram describes the existence of "severe contradictions" between combatants and cadres as a result of authoritarian repression stemming from the divisional level, which resulted in "unmasking former leading cadres". A second handwritten notation instructs the arrest of "battalion secretaries" San and On; referring to Battalion 92 Commanders HEM San and SEK On, both of whom entered S-21 about a week after the telegram's receipt.<sup>10355</sup> Waves of Division 920 soldiers were sent to S-21 in March, April, May and June 1977.<sup>10356</sup> prisoners admitted between 17 February and 17 April 1977, E3/10506, undated, p. 54, ERN (En) 01369032 (entry no. 1, MEAS Meng alias Chin, Division Secretary, entered 16 March 1977); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10163, undated, ERN (En) 01568203 (entry no. 29, EA Cheu alias Say, Division 920, Deputy of Division, entered 17 February 1977); S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 6 July 1977, E3/2285, 7 July 1977, p. 341, ERN (En) 01565101 (entry no. 124, EA Chir alias Say, Deputy Secretary of Division). See also, S-21 Biography – MAN Menh alias Chhin, E3/10563, undated, pp. 35-36, ERN (En) 01461767-01461768 (stating that he was arrested on 16 March 1977); S-21 Confession – MEN Meng alias Chhin, E3/2594, ERN (Kh) 00230510-00230532 (indicating that he was arrested in March 1977); PHAN Sovannhan Interview Record, E3/44, 11 March 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00295163; S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 14 May 1977, E3/2286, 15 May 1977, ERN (En) 00873351 (entry no. 66, EA Siet alias Ren, Division 920 wife of EA Cheu alias Som, Deputy of Division 920, entered 22 April 1977).

---

<sup>10353</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 62, 88; T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, pp. 22, 27; T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, p. 95; DK Telegram, E3/877, 20 May 1977, ERN (En) 00185226 ("We suspect the Division, henchmen of [...] contemptible Chhin. This problem has already been reported to Comrade San. Despite arrests of unit 920, activities continue one after the other, but we are making arrest after arrest, too."). See also, HAM Ansi Interview Record, E3/366, 26 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250750.

<sup>10354</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1199, 6 April 1977, ERN (En) 00531038.

<sup>10355</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 92, 94 ("Soeun [sic] was in charge of Regiment [sic] 92"); S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 19 September 1977, E3/2285, 20 September 1977, p. 47, ERN (En) 01564807 (entry no. 35, HEM San, Division 920 Secretary of Regiment [sic] 92, entered 11 April 1977); S-21 list of Division 920 prisoners, E3/10499, undated, ERN (En) 01573830 (SEK O, entered 12 April 1977); S-21 Prisoner List, E3/10506, undated, p. 57, ERN (En) 01369036 (entry no. 30, SEK On, Battalion Secretary).

<sup>10356</sup> S-21 list of prisoners admitted in March 1977, E3/9845, undated, pp. 33-36, ERN (En) 01331996-01331999 (listing 27 Division 920 prisoners between 11 and 31 March 1977); S-21 Daily Prisoner List, E3/10770, various dates, pp. 2-31, ERN (En) 01460417-01460446 (indicating the entry of 57 Division 920 soldiers in April 1977, adding to the total of 18 Division 920 prisoners detained hitherto, totalling 75 Division 920 prisoners from the division by the end of the month); S-21 Daily Prisoner List, E3/10770, various dates, pp. 32-65, ERN (En) 01460447-01460480 (indicating the entry of 74 and removal of five Division 920 soldiers in May 1977, totalling 148 Division 920 prisoners by the end of the month); S-21 Daily Prisoner List, E3/10770, various dates, pp. 67-110, ERN (En) 01460482-01460525 (indicating the entry of 76 and removal of 81 Division 920 prisoners in June 1977, totalling 143 Division 920 prisoners by the end of the month. See also, S-21 list of prisoners admitted in May 1977, E3/8660, 1-30 May 1977, ERN (En) 01565314-01565423; S-21 list of prisoners from military divisions smashed in June 1977, Coinciding with the entry of 42 Sector 105 personnel,<sup>10357</sup> a further 99 Division 920 soldiers were detained at S-21 on 23 November 1977.<sup>10358</sup> S-21 logs indicate that over 420 Division 920 combatants, cadres, staff and relatives of Division 920 personnel were detained or executed at S-21 between February 1977 and December 1978.<sup>10359</sup> Consistent with the purges of Sector 105 personnel at the time, and the view that the Division 920 command was in collaboration with Vietnam, the Chamber is satisfied that members of Division 920 were purged as a result of their perceived enemy status.

12.5.4.3. Evidence of arrests in Sector 105

3059. Evidence before the Chamber overwhelmingly demonstrated that arrests and detentions were as a result of mere association with suspected enemies. Within the wider context of purges within Sector 105, Civil Party SUN Vuth, a former Division 920 soldier, was accused of betraying Angkar and repeatedly underscored in court that

---

E3/2131, 11 June 1977, pp. 10-16, ERN (En) 00182885-00182891 (showing the execution of 80 Division 920 soldiers, who entered S-21 between 13 March and 17 May 1977); S-21 list of Division 920 prisoners, E3/10276, undated, pp. 1-7, ERN (En) 01531418-01531424 (showing a majority of entries in May 1977).

<sup>10357</sup> See above, para. 3054.

<sup>10358</sup> S-21 Daily Prisoner List 23 November 1977, E3/10770, 24 November 1977, ERN (En) 01460730.

<sup>10359</sup> See e.g., S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 4 February 1977, E3/10266, 5 February 1977, p. 5, ERN (En) 01367702 (6 entries); S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 17 February 1977, E3/10266, [illegible] February 1977, ERN (En) 01367721 (1 entry); S-21 list of prisoners admitted between 17 February and 17 April 1977, E3/10506, 29 April 1977, pp. 54-58, 137, ERN (En) 01369032-01369036, 01369115 (36 entries); S-21 list of prisoners admitted in February 1977, E3/10439, undated, pp. 3, 8-11, ERN (En) 01398396, 01398401-01398404 (22 entries); S-21 list of prisoners admitted in May 1977, E3/2590, 3 June 1977, pp. 80-85, ERN (En) 01191335-01191340 (63 entries); S-21 list of prisoners admitted in May 1977, E3/8660, 1-30 May 1977, pp. 8, 22-26, 61-62, 69-72, ERN (En) 01565321, 01565335-01565339, 01565374-01565374, 01565382-01565385 (64 entries); DK Report: S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 6 May 1977, E3/10471, 7 May 1977, ERN (En) 01462262-01462264 (45 entries); S-21 list of Division 310 prisoners smashed on 10 June 1977, E3/2132, 11 June 1977, pp. 10-16, ERN (En) 00182885-00182891 (80 entries); S-21 list of prisoners admitted in August 1977, E3/9906, undated, p. 30, ERN (En) 01367514 (1 entry); S-21 list of prisoners smashed, E3/2286, 21 October 1977, pp. 47-48, 54, 111, 172-174, 232, 310, 341, 346-350, 394-400, 489-490, 493, 504, 532-533, ERN (En) 01564807-01564808, 01564814, 01564871, 01564932-01564934, 01564992, 01565070, 01565101, 01565106-01565110, 01565154-01565160, 01565249-01565250, 01565253, 01565264, 01565292-01565292 (184 entries); S-21 list of prisoners admitted in November 1977, E3/9953, 2 December 1977, p. 15, ERN (En) 01367674 (3 entries); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10043, 19 December 1977, pp. 3, 6-8, 11-12, 20-22, 24, 26-27, 32-35, ERN (En) 01397376, 01397379-01397381, 01397384-01397385, 01397393-01397395, 01397397, 01397399-01397400, 01397405-01397408 (27 entries); S-21 list of prisoners admitted in December 1977, E3/9950, 7 January 1978, pp. 22-23, ERN (En) 01367584-01367585 (5 entries); S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 11 March 1978, E3/10225, 11 March 1978, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01366730-01366731 (16 entries); S-21 list of prisoners admitted in June 1978, E3/10161, 2 July 1978, p. 39, ERN (En) 01563995 (3 entries); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10045, undated, ERN (En) 01397412, 01397419, 01397424 (3 entries); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10276, undated, pp. 1-7, ERN (En) 01531418-01531424 (63 entries); S-21 list of prisoners admitted in April 1978, E3/10361, undated, pp. 50-51, ERN (En) 01368934-01368935 (13 entries). The Chamber notes the duplication of certain records in the foregoing lists. See Section 12.2.3.2.1: S-21 Security Centre: OCIJ and OCP Prisoner Lists.

this accusation was false.<sup>10360</sup> Witness BUN Loeng Chauy, former Deputy Chief of the Kaev Seima District Office and nephew of Kasy, “did not make any mistakes” to the best of his knowledge. He told the Chamber that, “[t]rust was withdrawn from me because of my uncle”.<sup>10361</sup>

3060. Witnesses who were detained at the Phnom Kraol Security Centre complex provided consistent testimony in this regard. Former Kaoh Nheak district messenger CHAN Toi was arrested by the Sector Military in November 1977 along with his whole family and 80 other people from the district. Men, women and children were placed in different vehicles, driven to Phnom Kraol and detained at K-17.<sup>10362</sup> He told the Chamber that he was arrested as a result of being in KHAM Phoun’s “network”, adding that both his supervisor, District Deputy SAN Ra, and wife were related to Sector 105 Deputy Secretary KHAM Phoun and were arrested.<sup>10363</sup> He further stated that the DK regime had a “policy” to arrest people, kill former LON Nol soldiers or those accused of being spies and single out and kill “[e]very single Vietnamese”.<sup>10364</sup>

3061. Witness NETH Savat, a former member of economics office K-21 at Srae Sangkom, received a letter inviting him to a meeting at K-17, following which he, together with his wife, children, siblings and approximately 60 or 80 others were arrested and interned in K-17.<sup>10365</sup> He testified that he was arrested as part of a “policy” resulting from the demise of his superior, KHAM Phoun.<sup>10366</sup> NETH Savat received a

<sup>10360</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 62-63, 67, 88, 100; T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, pp. 27-28, 45.

<sup>10361</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 13.

<sup>10362</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 13, 15, 22-23, 25, 57, 60, 64, 81. See also, CHAN Toi Interview Record, E3/7694, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242143.

<sup>10363</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 13-15 (“I, at that time, was arrested together with others. To my recollection, [the] network of Ta Ham arrested the members or the link of Ta Kham Phoun. [...] Q. What was your relation to Kham Phoun that led to the arrest of you? A. I was the messenger of Ra. Ra was the nephew of Kham Phoun. [...] My wife was [...] a distant relative [of Kham Phoun].”), 25 (“Q. [...] many people were arrested, if I understood you correctly, because they were related in some way to Kham Phoun. Is that correct? A. Yes.”).

<sup>10364</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 52-53 (“Q. [D]uring the regime [...] were there any Vietnamese in your district? A. Based on my observation, there were none because the regime, at that time, practice[d] very strict policy. Every single Vietnamese [was] singled out and taken away to be killed. [...] Because the regime had a policy that the Lon Nol [...] soldier of the former regimes or [...] anyone who [was] accused of being [a] spy, regardless whether they are Khmer or any [...] other ethnicity, they were arrested and killed.”), 64 (“It is my understanding that it was the policies of Khmer Rouge itself to arrest people at the time”).

<sup>10365</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 25-26, 29. See also, NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00239486.

<sup>10366</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 20-21 (Referring to the “subordinates of Kham Phoun [and] those under the subordination of Ham [i.e. Laing] after their demise, “there was this policy of arresting us”).

circular shortly before his arrest outlining three types of enemies: “The first type was to be smashed. The second was to be detained. And the third group was to be sent to cooperatives”.<sup>10367</sup> 3062. Although NETH Savat stated that he was arrested in January 1977,<sup>10368</sup> the Chamber notes the witness’s assertion that his arrest occurred following the death of Sector 105 Secretary Laing and Deputy KHAM Phoun,<sup>10369</sup> which it has found occurred in late 1977.<sup>10370</sup> NETH Savat further asserted that he was arrested at the same time as the Sector Hospital’s midwifery chief and wife of Svay, BOUR Ly.<sup>10371</sup> The Chamber has before it the S-21 records of SI Korng alias BOR Li, “Deputy Chief of Midwife[ry] and wife of Svay” who, along with a number of Sector 105 personnel, entered S-21 on 23 November 1977.<sup>10372</sup> The Chamber accepts that the witness may have mistaken about the precise timing of his arrest and is satisfied that he was arrested in late 1977 or early 1978.

3063. Civil Party KUL Nem, a former Division 920 soldier under the command of Deputy Soy, saw former Division 920 soldiers and civilians detained at K-11. The Civil Party told the Chamber that he suspected he was sent there as a result of his own commander’s removal.<sup>10373</sup>

3064. Contrary to the foregoing evidence, SAO Sarun rejected in court the proposition that Angkar arrested people “arbitrarily” during his tenure as Sector Secretary, stating that arrests were subject to “clear analysis and judgment”, adding that “[p]eople could

<sup>10367</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 29-30, 65-67; NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00239487.

<sup>10368</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 19, 91.

<sup>10369</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 19-21; NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00239486.

<sup>10370</sup> See above, para. 3055.

<sup>10371</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 23-24, 42-43. See also, Prisoner Biography – TIT Hem alias Svay, E3/2390, undated, ERN (En) 00343672 (indicating “SAV Teng alias BUO Ly” as his wife).

<sup>10372</sup> S-21 list of prisoners admitted on 23 November 1977, E3/1645, 24 November 1977, p. 11, ERN (En) 00809637 (entry no. 129, SI Korng alias BOR Li, among a total of 151 prisoners).

<sup>10373</sup> T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, p. 95 (“I was sent [to K-11] only after my division commander had already been arrested. They did not tell me that, I just assumed it was like that. And [...] I thought that it was somehow a punishment.”), 98 (stating that he was a soldier), 103-104 (stating that “[t]here were some people from the division” and civilians detained at K-11). See also, AUM Mol Interview Record, E3/7700, 29 October 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00239532-00239533 (describes being detained at K-11 with approximately 20 female prisoners).

not just be arrested without reason”. He acknowledged, however, that he did not know how the review process was applied at the district and sector level.<sup>10374</sup> 3065. The evidence before the Chamber overwhelmingly demonstrates the systematic arrest and detention of persons associated with perceived enemies within Sector 105. In light of their consistent and cross-corroborated accounts, the Chamber accepts the evidence of the above witnesses and Civil Parties, and rejects SAO Sarun’s assertion that arrests were the result of a legitimate process. It also rejects the NUON Chea Defence’s submission that arrests were “preventive measures” taken “to calm the chaotic situation” in Sector 105.<sup>10375</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that arrests and detentions within Sector 105, and in particular those at Phnom Kraol Security Centre, were conducted pursuant to a systematic process targeting individuals associated with perceived enemies with the objective of preventing collaboration with the Vietnamese.

12.5.4.4. Evidence of Civil Party SUN Vuth

3066. Whether Civil Party SUN Vuth’s evidence fell within the scope of Case 002/02 was contested at trial. Both Defence teams submit that the Civil Party did not clearly identify where he was detained and that as a result, the Chamber cannot reasonably conclude that his evidence pertained to Phnom Kraol Security Centre.<sup>10376</sup> The Co-Prosecutors and Lead Co-Lawyers did not take a clear position on this.<sup>10377</sup> The NUON Chea Defence also impugns the Civil Party’s evidence on the basis that it was unsworn.<sup>10378</sup> The Chamber has already rejected the proposition that Civil Party evidence is of inherently lesser probative value.<sup>10379</sup>

3067. The Civil Party described being imprisoned in 1977 in a prison near Ou Chbar, approximately 500 metres to the south of the Division 920 office.<sup>10380</sup> Despite initially identifying Ou Lpov in his Supplementary Civil Party Application as the stream close

<sup>10374</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, pp. 27-28.

<sup>10375</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 537.

<sup>10376</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1429-1438; NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 422.

<sup>10377</sup> Lead Co-Lawyers’ Closing Brief, para. 973; Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, para. 856 (the Co-Prosecutors identify the Civil Party’s location of detention as one of the “other buildings in the surrounding area” comprising Phnom Kraol Security Centre, in addition to K-17, K-11, Phnom Kraol Prison and Trapeang Pring).

<sup>10378</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 422.

<sup>10379</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 67.

<sup>10380</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 64-65, 76, 78, 87, 99; T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, p. 42.

to which he was detained,<sup>10381</sup> SUN Vuth was twice questioned at trial about this discrepancy and clarified that he made a mistake when making the Application. He confirmed that “there is no Ou Lpov stream”, clarifying that “[t]here is only Ou Chbar stream” and reiterating that he “was detained near Ou Chbar stream”.<sup>10382</sup> SUN Vuth’s clarification accords with other evidence showing Ou Chbar as the only prominent river in the area.<sup>10383</sup> The Chamber recalls its position on the limited probative value attributable to Civil Party Applications, which are recorded outside of the judicial process and therefore of inherently low probative value.<sup>10384</sup> It accordingly makes no adverse findings on the Civil Party’s credibility as a result of this discrepancy and accepts his in-court assertion that he was detained near Ou Chbar.

3068. SUN Vuth maintained that the detention facility in which he was imprisoned was neither near Phnom Kraol nor by a reservoir,<sup>10385</sup> and instead described the location as being on the road to Kratie close to a turtle-shaped hill. Witnesses BUN Loeng Chauy and SOV Maing testified that Phnom Kraol Prison was located near the Phnom Kraol dam,<sup>10386</sup> while SOK El and UONG Dos – both of whom were detained at Phnom Kraol Prison – similarly deposed to OCIJ investigators that the prison was located near Phnom Kraol dam.<sup>10387</sup> Indeed, the OCIJ Site Identification Report of Phnom Kraol Security Centre describes the prison as being “adjacently east of a large water reservoir” and photographically shows the site next to a prominent body of water.<sup>10388</sup>

3069. Describing the detention building, SUN Vuth stated that it was a “not built properly” 10 by five metre-long construction consisting of wooden stilts and a half-

<sup>10381</sup> SUN Vuth Civil Party Application Supplementary Information Form, E3/6760a, 20 June 2010, p. 1, ERN (En) 01194793 (stating he was sent to a “special security office near the foot of a mountain near a tributary of the stream Aur Lpeou [i.e. Ou Lpov] in Koh Nhek [i.e. Kaoh Nheak] district”).

<sup>10382</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, p. 78; T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, pp. 61-62.

<sup>10383</sup> See below, para. 3071 (fn. 10396).

<sup>10384</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 69.

<sup>10385</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 98-99.

<sup>10386</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 66; T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 45.

<sup>10387</sup> SOK El Interview Record, E3/7702, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239510; UONG Dos Interview Record, E3/7703, 29 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00242172.

<sup>10388</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8057, 21 July 2009, pp. 10-11, ERN (En) 00365628-00365629 (P00364088 shows a large body of water, captioned “Eastern view of Tumnup Phnom Kraol or Phnom Kraol Dam”). See also, DC-Cam Mapping Project 1999: Mondulkiri Province, E3/2070, undated, p. 83, ERN (En) 00078120 (referring to a security office near a dam known as Ta Leng’s office).

thatch roof.<sup>10389</sup> He also described the building as both consisting of three rooms,<sup>10390</sup> and a single room partitioned by wooden planks.<sup>10391</sup> Other witnesses described Phnom Kraol Prison as consisting of wooden pillars and a thatched roof but no walls.<sup>10392</sup>

3070. The Chamber notes the partial structural and geographic similarities between descriptions of Phnom Kraol Prison and the building in which SUN Vuth was detained. It nevertheless refers to the Civil Party's statement that he was marched blindfolded at dusk approximately 500 metres to the detention centre from an unspecified location, and that he could only later "see the surrounding area" after his blindfold was removed.<sup>10393</sup> The quality of his evidence does not, for the following reasons, permit the Chamber to determine that he was in fact detained at Phnom Kraol Prison.

3071. First, considering SUN Vuth's evidence as a whole, the Chamber can at most infer from his visits to the Division 920 office that he was arrested there.<sup>10394</sup> The Chamber has already determined that this office was located several kilometres from Phnom Kraol.<sup>10395</sup> Further, the Civil Party's identification of Ou Chbar does not assist the Chamber in pinpointing his place of detention. Witnesses described the various offices in and around Kaoh Nheaek as being near this river which, as a tributary of the Sre Pok River, meanders southward through the district capital as well as the communes of Roya, Srae Huy and Srae Sangkom.<sup>10396</sup>

3072. Secondly, the prominence of a body of water directly adjacent or close to Phnom Kraol Prison, as demonstrated by witness testimony and accepted by the Chamber,<sup>10397</sup> in addition to the Civil Party's denial that he was detained near a reservoir militates against a finding that SUN Vuth was detained at or near Phnom Kraol Prison.

<sup>10389</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 64-66 (clarifying that Prochaen is the Phnong designation of the tree), 97-98 ("[I]t was not build properly. If it was built well, I could not have fled.").

<sup>10390</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, p. 65.

<sup>10391</sup> T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, p. 49.

<sup>10392</sup> See above, para. 3031.

<sup>10393</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, p. 64; T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, pp. 47-48.

<sup>10394</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/411.1, pp. 63-64; T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, pp. 44-49.

<sup>10395</sup> See above, para. 3046. See also, Section 5: Administrative Structures, para. 441.

<sup>10396</sup> Map of Cambodia: Tile 6435, E3/9190, undated, ERN 01045067 (the river name "Preaek Chbar" is visible at N13°14'60", E107°07'26"); Sketch of Phnom Kraol Security Centre and surrounds by CHAN Bun Leath, E3/5179, ERN (En) 00274108; Map of Koh Neak District, E3/9100, undated, ERN 00992852.

<sup>10397</sup> See above, para. 3068.

3073. Thirdly, the Civil Party's familiarity with Phnom Kraol and its vicinity was not explored at trial, rendering the Chamber unable to assess his firm conviction that he was not incarcerated at Phnom Kraol.

3074. Finally, the Chamber has already identified the Phnom Kraol Security Centre complex as having consisted of a number of buildings and offices. Witness testimony clearly demonstrates the presence of other buildings in the vicinity of Phnom Kraol, including wooden constructions with thatched rooves and stilts.<sup>10398</sup> The Civil Party's description of his detention building therefore does not permit the Chamber definitively to conclude the location of his detention.

3075. For the foregoing reasons, the Chamber cannot conclude beyond reasonable doubt that SUN Vuth was detained at Phnom Kraol Prison. The Chamber therefore accords no weight to his description of detention conditions.

12.5.4.5. Authority to arrest

3076. Former Sector 105 Secretary SAO Sarun asserted that the authority to arrest and detain enemies in Sector 105 did not rest with him. He testified that he did not order any arrests as Sector Secretary, clarifying that he only had the authority to release minor offenders who did not commit political offences, which he did on two occasions.<sup>10399</sup> His evidence is at best equivocal on the question of whether this was done on the supreme authority of Angkar,<sup>10400</sup> but he affirmed that "without prior summons from the Central Committee, people were not allowed to be arrested by any persons from the Division".<sup>10401</sup> The Chamber now turns to evaluate SAO Sarun's assertions in this regard.

<sup>10398</sup> See above, para. 3028. See also, T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, pp. 52-53 (referring to villagers building wooden, thatched roof houses across Mondulkiri); T. 29 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/410.1, pp. 32-33 (states he saw building houses near the Phnom Kraol Prison), 35-36 (stating that there were no concrete or big houses at the time; they were four by five-metre small houses or huts in the area surrounding K-11 with thatched rooves); T. 31 March 2016 (SUN Vuth), E1/412.1, p. 43 (stating that there were small houses built on round wooden poles in the vicinity of the Division 920 office); T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 8-9, 11 (confirms that there were "hundreds [of] houses" at K-17, some with thatched rooves).

<sup>10399</sup> T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, pp. 48-49; T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, pp. 6-8; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 99; T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, p. 48.

<sup>10400</sup> T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, pp. 7-8; T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, pp. 48-50.

<sup>10401</sup> T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, p. 31; SAO Sarun Interview Record, E3/367, 17 December 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00278697.

3077. PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan's testimony supported SAO Sarun's assertion that the sector did not have the authority to order arrests, with the former consistently underscoring that the decision to arrest and detain emanated from the Party Centre.<sup>10402</sup> PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan stated that he never saw an arrest warrant or detention order in the telegrams that he decoded for his father, Sector 105 Secretary Laing, but explained that people were instead summoned by the "upper echelon" to attend work or study sessions, after which they disappeared and were thereafter branded as enemies.<sup>10403</sup> In this regard, SAO Sarun testified that:

Everybody was scared when he was called to Phnom Penh because when the person went to Phnom Penh, the person never returned. [...] The order must come from Pol Pot. Those people were called to work, and they disappeared. [...] Mostly, the orders came through telegrams for those people to go and attend study sessions and the names were provided from Phnom Penh. [...] When they went to study, they disappeared and never returned.<sup>10404</sup>

3078. PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan conceded that people disappeared during his father's tenure but insisted that disappearances of individuals and families increased once SAO Sarun assumed the role of Sector Secretary.<sup>10405</sup> This was rejected as an exaggeration by SAO Sarun, who claimed that family members, entire families and villagers were never arrested under his watch and attributed such acts to his predecessor.<sup>10406</sup> He stated that he "was not a strong man who arrested the people", pointing to his short tenure.<sup>10407</sup> The Chamber acknowledges the difficulty in reconciling PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan and SAO Sarun's competing accounts of <sup>10402</sup> T. 12 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/152.1, pp. 13 ("[I]t was not up to the sector to decide on the arrests; the decision had to come from the Centre. [...] [E]very action was carried out on the behest of the [Party] Centre [referring to the arrest of Vietnamese]"), 18 ("The Sector did not have any discretion to decide on [the treatment of enemies] -- or such instruction. It had to come from the Centre.").

<sup>10403</sup> T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 86 ("But normally, those who attended these [self-criticism] sessions returned to that base, and then they mysteriously disappeared, and those people were thought of being the enemy"), 93, 96-97 ("Q. Would 105 cadres who had been convened to meetings in Phnom Penh often not come back to Sector 105 after? A. Yes, that was the case."); T. 12 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/152.1, p. 18; T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, pp. 9 ("At that time, people continued to disappear one after another"), 19; T. 14 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/154.1, pp. 8-9; T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, pp. 32, 39; KHAM Phan Interview Record, E3/58, 21 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00250088.

<sup>10404</sup> T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, pp. 71-72. See also, T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, p. 10 ("I did not understand the situation. People disappeared and everybody was afraid.").

<sup>10405</sup> T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, pp. 14-18, 24-26, 118.

<sup>10406</sup> T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, p. 84; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, pp. 75-76.

<sup>10407</sup> T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, pp. 78-79.

the foregoing issues, which it notes may result from PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan's motive to minimise his father's responsibility as Sector 105 Secretary, and SAO Sarun's motive to distance himself from any offending conduct during his tenure as Laing's successor. However, it considers it unnecessary to do so as the Chamber is satisfied that, considered holistically, the witnesses' testimony is sufficiently consistent in demonstrating a pattern of arrests and detentions in Sector 105 throughout the chairmanships of both Laing and SAO Sarun. The Chamber therefore accords no weight to SAO Sarun's testimony insofar as he asserts that no arrests took place under his watch. As concerns SAO Sarun's allegedly short tenure as Sector Secretary, the Chamber has already rejected as implausible his assertion that his secretaryship lasted a mere few months.<sup>10408</sup>

3079. Turning to directives furnished by the "upper echelon", SAO Sarun acknowledged that he received orders from POL Pot instructing him to "track down" embedded enemies and traitors. Without specifying the measures he took, he affirmed implementing these orders for fear of death.<sup>10409</sup> The Chamber has before it a telegram by SAO Sarun addressed to POL Pot noting that "Sot" had been "arrested and detained" for "immoral acts with a woman", seeking direction on "the level at which this must be kept or sent" and bearing the handwritten annotation "Uncle Nuon".<sup>10410</sup> SAO Sarun acknowledged in court that POL Pot had informed him that Sot, the younger brother of Sector 105 Military Commander Sophea,<sup>10411</sup> had appeared in the confession of purged Sector 105 Deputy Secretary PHAN Khoun alias Chuon.<sup>10412</sup> He nevertheless sought to downplay this incident before the Chamber, emphasising that it was not a "real arrest" and that both Sot and the woman were later released.<sup>10413</sup> Witnesses CHAN Toi

<sup>10408</sup> See above, para. 3039.

<sup>10409</sup> T. 11 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/84.1, pp. 9-10; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 63 ("Q. [C]ould you make up the policies or were you required to follow the Party's policies, policies from the Centre? A. no, I could not. The policies were set out by the Party Centre and individual persons could not make or create a policy. [...] At that time, whether a policy was good or not, whether we were satisfied or not, we had to follow it. We could not refuse to implement the policy. If we refused, we might not survive, so we had to follow it."). See also, HAM Ansi Interview Record, E3/366, 26 November 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00250751.

<sup>10410</sup> DK Telegram, E3/155 [E3/156, E3/938], 23 April 1978, ERN (En) 00296220.

<sup>10411</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 50.

<sup>10412</sup> T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, pp. 39-44; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 95.

<sup>10413</sup> T. 7 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/83.1, pp. 40, 43, 45; T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, pp. 95-96.

and BUN Loeng Chauy contradicted this claim, testifying that they did not see Sot after his arrest.<sup>10414</sup> 3080. While the Chamber rejects SAO Sarun's assertion that Sot was released after his arrest, consistent with its findings that the Sector 105 Secretary reported to the Party Centre, it accepts that SAO Sarun implemented the will of POL Pot. Cognisant of the witness's tendency to impute responsibility squarely and exclusively unto POL Pot however,<sup>10415</sup> the Chamber takes into consideration the predominant role of the Standing Committee in "smash[ing] inside and outside the ranks";<sup>10416</sup> the systematic top-down dissemination of policy through civilian and military ranks;<sup>10417</sup> the close collaboration of Sector 105 and Division 920 in the hunt for enemies;<sup>10418</sup> the General Staff's oversight of military operations within the sector;<sup>10419</sup> and the central role played by SON Sen within the Party Centre.<sup>10420</sup> On this basis, the Chamber is satisfied that orders to arrest, detain and execute Sector 105 personnel were furnished under the authority and oversight of the CPK Standing Committee and implemented by the Sector 105 Secretary with the assistance of Division 920.

12.5.5. Detention Conditions

12.5.5.1. K-17

3081. The NUON Chea Defence submits that K-17 was "not a detention facility", but rather served as a place of "legitimate short-term preventive detention" as a result of "legitimate suspicions" arising out of KHAM Phoun's demise. The Chamber has found that the purge of KHAM Phoun's family and associates was part of the systematic arrest and detention of persons associated with perceived enemies within Sector 105, and has further rejected the notion that arrests in the sector were pursuant to "preventive measures".<sup>10421</sup>

<sup>10414</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 52, 82; T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 51.

<sup>10415</sup> See above, para. 3039.

<sup>10416</sup> See above, para. 3048.

<sup>10417</sup> See above, paras 3038, 3040-3042, 3061.

<sup>10418</sup> See above, para. 3047.

<sup>10419</sup> See above, paras 3047-3048, 3058.

<sup>10420</sup> Section 5.1: Structure of the CPK.

<sup>10421</sup> See above, para. 3065.

3082. Prisoners were brought to K-17 not knowing who issued the order for their arrests and without being provided legal representation or access to a court. Former K-17 detainee CHAN Toi told the Chamber that “[i]n that time, in that regime, there was no court, no lawyers. When people were arrested, they were taken away and shot dead.”<sup>10422</sup> He elaborated on the sense of hopelessness at the time of his and his wife’s arrest, explaining that they “had no hope of surviving” and that “[d]uring the Pol Pot regime, usually when people were arrested, none survived, and that’s how we felt. We felt that, after our arrest, we would be dead.”<sup>10423</sup> SAO Sarun confirmed that he did not hear of any trials or judgments issued against suspects during the DK regime, noting that “[t]here was no such system. What I saw is that people were called for study sessions and disappeared without any reasons provided.”<sup>10424</sup> There is no evidence to suggest that DK authorities at any time officially proclaimed the existence of a “public emergency which threatens the life of the nation” before taking the above measures.<sup>10425</sup> Having considered the pattern of evidence demonstrating that prisoners were arrested and detained at K-17 as a result of their affiliation with perceived enemies,<sup>10426</sup> the Chamber is satisfied that the object of interrogations at K-17 was to uncover information about enemies and impute guilt by association, and therefore rejects the NUON Chea Defence’s submission insofar as it claims that detention at K-17 was pursuant to legitimate suspicion. The Chamber is satisfied that prisoners were detained at K-17 absent judicial or procedural safeguards and further rejects the NUON Chea Defence’s submission insofar as it claims that detention at K-17 was legitimate or preventive.

3083. Approximately 80 men, women and children were detained on the ground floor of K-17’s main office upon the commencement of purges across Sector 105 in 1977.<sup>10427</sup> For the duration of their detention, prisoners were placed in wooden wrist shackles during the day and tied with rope in a row of chairs.<sup>10428</sup> According to CHAN

<sup>10422</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 21, 23, 54.

<sup>10423</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 25.

<sup>10424</sup> T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 74.

<sup>10425</sup> For the requirements under international law, see Section 9.1.5: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Imprisonment.

<sup>10426</sup> See above, paras 3060-3061.

<sup>10427</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 17-18, 87, 91-92; CHAN Toi Interview Record, E3/7694, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242143; T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 19, 21, 31-32; NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00239486-00239487.

<sup>10428</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 18-19, 26.

Toi, detainees were not shackled by their ankles during the day so that they could stomp jute seeds for periods of one to two hours,<sup>10429</sup> whereas NETH Savat stated that they were shackled only by one ankle.<sup>10430</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that detainees were shackled during the course of their detention at K-17, but that leg shackling was relaxed during work assignments. Men and women were shackled and tied in separate rows,<sup>10431</sup> while children were not restrained.<sup>10432</sup> The NUON Chea Defence's submission is rejected insofar as it claims that K-17 was not a place of detention.

3084. NETH Savat saw approximately four to 10 young children living at K-17, estimating them to be one or two years old,<sup>10433</sup> whereas CHAN Toi recalled seeing children between six and 17 years of age playing outside the main K-17 office building while detained at the facility.<sup>10434</sup> The Chamber does not accept CHAN Toi's estimate of the children's age and further does not find credible his assertion that 17-year-old detainees were not shackled. The Chamber is nevertheless satisfied that the evidence is sufficiently consistent to allow it to conclude that a small number of children were present at K-17 who were not shackled.

3085. Guards only unshackled detainees before escorting them to bathe or use the site's only toilet.<sup>10435</sup> According to Witness CHAN Toi, "[t]here was no hygiene at all" at K-17;<sup>10436</sup> he was not once permitted to bathe during his month-long incarceration and had only one set of clothes for the duration of his incarceration.<sup>10437</sup> Witness NETH Savat stated that he was permitted to bathe once a week in dirty water at the beginning of his detention.<sup>10438</sup> According to the evidence heard in court, while detainees suffered from skin diseases for which no medication was provided,<sup>10439</sup> instances of more serious conditions including diarrhoea and dysentery or death were uncommon at K-17.<sup>10440</sup>

<sup>10429</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 21-22, 26, 60. See also, CHAN Toi Interview Record, E3/7694, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242143.

<sup>10430</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 33, 47.

<sup>10431</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 57.

<sup>10432</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 26-27, 57.

<sup>10433</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 47, 53.

<sup>10434</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 60, 91.

<sup>10435</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 31, 47.

<sup>10436</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 19.

<sup>10437</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 19, 59, 61.

<sup>10438</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, p. 47.

<sup>10439</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 19, 60. Although NETH Savat could not recall any instances of skin diseases, he acknowledged that he may have forgotten about this. See T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, p. 52.

<sup>10440</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 20, 60.

No blankets or sleeping mats were provided for detainees at K-17.<sup>10441</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that prisoners were exposed to substandard conditions of hygiene and detention while detained at K-17 but finds that these conditions did not lead to serious diseases or death.

3086. In court, NETH Savat characterised the food situation at K-17 as “very bad”.<sup>10442</sup> Although the situation did not lead to deaths from starvation,<sup>10443</sup> witnesses consistently testified to not having had enough to eat while in detention at the office. Detainees were fed one meal a day, irregularly served at midday or in the evening, consisting of a small bowl of rice and pumpkin soup.<sup>10444</sup> Meat was served in small portions or not at all, but prisoners “did not dare to say anything about the food conditions”.<sup>10445</sup> Water was distributed in a bucket by guards once a day, either in the morning or afternoon.<sup>10446</sup>

3087. A second group of prisoners was detained on the upper floor of the main K-17 office building. Approximately one month prior to his own detention at K-17, NETH Savat was shown the upper floor of the detention building by Sector Secretary Laing, where he saw a small group of Division 920 soldiers, Kaoh Nheak district officials and K-21 officers shackled, all of whom subsequently disappeared and were not seen by him again.<sup>10447</sup>

3088. Armed Division 920 soldiers guarded K-17 detainees night and day.<sup>10448</sup> Prisoners were not permitted to speak with the soldiers and feared that they would be

<sup>10441</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 60-61.

<sup>10442</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 46-47.

<sup>10443</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 19-20.

<sup>10444</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 19, 58, 60; CHAN Toi Interview Record, E3/7694, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242143; T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 46-47.

<sup>10445</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, p. 47.

<sup>10446</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 59.

<sup>10447</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 32-35 (“Q: Ta Ham had taken you to the upper floor at K-17 once, and there were prisoners from Division 920 who were detained there? [...] A: Yes. [...] I saw them shackled. [...] Sonthan, Tha, Ra, Voeun and Kem Chan [...] Kem Chan was a district committee [deputy], and Ra was also part of the district committee. And Ra was the deputy. As for Tha [...] and Sonthan were at the economic unit or commerce.”), 36 (“From what I heard, they were taken out and transported by vehicle, but I cannot recall whether they had been taken away before I was released or whether it happened after my release.” [...] Q: Did you ever see them again? A: No, I did not. And they disappeared since.”); NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00239486. See also, Organisational Chart of Khmer Rouge Leaders in Mondulkiri Province by CHAN Bun Leath, E3/5179, 11 June 2008, ERN (En) 00274107.

<sup>10448</sup> This practice continued after the removal of Division 920 cadres by Division 810, whereupon the latter assumed Division 920 designations. See above, para. 3057.

shot to death if they attempted to move around the office.<sup>10449</sup>

3089. Division soldiers conducted interrogations at K-17 and questioned detainees about their affiliations with enemies. NETH Savat was only questioned about KHAM Phoun, who had inducted him into the CPK, and “did not hear anything about torture” taking place at K-17.<sup>10450</sup> CHAN Toi testified that detainees were all accused of being traitors but told the Chamber that he “was not interrogated”, as such.<sup>10451</sup> In his statement to OCIJ investigators, which he did not recall well at trial, he deposed that “there were interrogations about Ta KHAM Phoun” during which there “was no torture [...] but there were serious threats and bullying” without elaborating on the nature of the threats.<sup>10452</sup> SAO Sarun acknowledged that prisoners were interrogated under Laing’s tenure; a time during which he claimed merely to have been assisting at K-17.<sup>10453</sup> In light of his tendency to minimise his role at Phnom Kraol, the Chamber accords no weight to SAO Sarun’s imputation of interrogations solely onto his predecessor’s tenure or description of his own role at the time. Based on the available evidence, the Chamber is satisfied that no physical mistreatment was inflicted upon detainees at K-17 during interrogations. In the absence of further evidence concerning the nature of threats used during interrogations, the Chamber is unable to assess the seriousness of psychological harm that may have resulted from this practice.

3090. Prisoners were removed from detention at K-17, put on trucks and never heard from again.<sup>10454</sup> CHAN Toi, whose family members and relatives disappeared without a trace, concluded that those who had disappeared had been killed.<sup>10455</sup> NETH Savat heard from others that people on the upper floor had been transported westward in the direction of Kratie and killed.<sup>10456</sup> SAO Sarun testified that Sector 105 and Division 920 personnel were transported to Kratie on vehicles and possibly thereafter by boat,

<sup>10449</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 30-31, 34, 46; T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 26.

<sup>10450</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 36-37.

<sup>10451</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 20.

<sup>10452</sup> CHAN Toi Interview Record, E3/7694, 23 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242143.

<sup>10453</sup> T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 102.

<sup>10454</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, pp. 27, 62; T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, p. 38.

<sup>10455</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 27; CHAN Toi Interview Record, E3/7694, 23 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00242144 (stating that he saw approximately eight siblings and nephews of KHAM Phoun disappear during his first two days in detention, concluding that they had been killed).

<sup>10456</sup> T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, p. 38.

claiming that this happened before his promotion to the position of Sector Secretary.<sup>10457</sup> Consistent with its approach to SAO Sarun's testimony, the Chamber accords no weight to his timing of this event. Regarding the ultimate fate of detainees who had disappeared and were presumed by witnesses to have been killed, the Chamber accords little weight to such speculation and hearsay. However, the consistency of evidence regarding prisoners who had disappeared permits the Chamber to find that detainees were in fact removed without explanation from K-17.

3091. SAO Sarun provided further evidence relating to K-17 that was internally inconsistent and in stark contrast to other accounts before the Chamber. He initially testified that "[t]here were not many prisoners" at K-17, stating that "[t]here were around three or four" male detainees who had been detained by Laing, and no children.<sup>10458</sup> Asked whether the office was used to detain prisoners because other offices were full, the witness resiled from his earlier assertion and stated that he "never saw people being detained at K-17".<sup>10459</sup> He repeated this during examination by defence counsel in Case 002/02, stating that the detainees were actually interned at a "security centre" approximately 200 metres from K-17 – a location corresponding to that of Phnom Kraol Prison<sup>10460</sup> – which he visited in 1977 and 1978.<sup>10461</sup> This was inconsistent with his testimony in Case 002/01, where he denied ever having visited Phnom Kraol Prison.<sup>10462</sup> He also demonstrated specific knowledge of K-11 and its operation sufficient for the Chamber to reject the notion that he was here in fact referring to that office.<sup>10463</sup> Along with K-16 having universally been referred to as the

<sup>10457</sup> T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, pp. 100-102.

<sup>10458</sup> T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 102 ("I was not yet in charge of that office. I went to assist the work there twice a week or sometimes I spent one or two days there to assist the work. There were not many prisoners. There were around three or four of them. [...] Ta Laing was the one who was in charge of arresting and tidying up the prisoners"). The Chamber has no reason to believe that the witness was here referring to any other office as the preceding line of questioning by the International Co-Prosecutor focused squarely on the sector office, i.e. K-17. See also, T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 11-13 (clarifying that he visited the sector office irregularly a few times a week).

<sup>10459</sup> T. 29 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/410.1, p. 103.

<sup>10460</sup> For the location of Phnom Kraol Prison in relation to K-17, see above, para. 3031.

<sup>10461</sup> T. 30 March 2016 (SAO Sarun), E1/411.1, pp. 42-43 ("I did not see at the time that people were arrested and detained at K-17 while I was working and invited to perform my duties, some of my duties at the location. [...] In fact, two or three prisoners were detained at a security centre, but no prisoners were detained at K-17. That was what I said yesterday. [...] It was in 1977 and '78. In fact, I was visiting that location. There were two or three, four or five inmates and they were working as usual.")

<sup>10462</sup> T. 12 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/85.1, pp. 4-5 ("Q. Were you ever aware of Phnom Kraol Security Centre? A. I am aware of the name, but I [have] never been there. [...] I have no idea about [its layout], as I have indicated, I have never been there. [...] I have never been to that location.") sector's "commerce office" rather than a place of detention, there is no evidence before the Chamber suggesting another "security centre" in the immediate vicinity of K-17.

<sup>10463</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 13-14 (referring to K-11 by name, its location, function and leadership).

3092. The Chamber attributes the inconsistencies in SAO Sarun's testimony to a consciousness of guilt, motivation to lie and minimise his own responsibility, and desire to shift overall responsibility for the conditions at K-17. Consistently with the Chamber's approach to this witness's uncorroborated evidence, and to the extent that it has not addressed his assertions in the following regard, the Chamber accords no weight to SAO Sarun's testimony regarding prisoner numbers or conditions at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

12.5.5.2. K-11 and Phnom Kraol Prison

3093. Regarding detention conditions at K-11, the Chamber heard from Civil Party KUL Nem, who was assigned to work duties at that office. While the Civil Party was predominantly questioned about the working conditions at K-11, the Chamber infers from the punitive nature of his transfer to K-11 that he was indeed detained there.<sup>10464</sup> The Chamber did not hear any additional evidence in court about the detention conditions at K-11. Further, as the Chamber was unable conclusively to identify Civil Party SUN Vuth's place of detention, it remains without judicially tested evidence of prisoner conditions inside Phnom Kraol Prison.

3094. The Chamber nevertheless has before it Written Records of Interview from former K-11 prisoner AUM Mol, former Phnom Kraol Prison detainees SOK El and UONG Dos, and former Sector 105, Regiment 1 soldier, NOU Sauy. The Chamber notes that AUM Mol and SOK El were proposed as Civil Parties by the Office of the Co-Prosecutors but passed away prior to being considered by the Chamber.<sup>10465</sup> UONG Dos was not proposed as a witness or Civil Party, and prior to the admission of his WRI, the Chamber was notified by the Assistant International Co-Prosecutor that UONG Dos was deceased.<sup>10466</sup> Noting further that the Chamber is seised of the facts as they relate to Phnom Kraol Security Centre as a whole, and consistent with its considerations on the use of witness statements following their death,<sup>10467</sup> the Chamber proceeds to analyse these witnesses' Written Records of Interview insofar as they corroborate or contradict evidence of detention conditions described at trial.

<sup>10464</sup> T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, p. 95 ("Q. Were you sent to K-11 as a punishment or was it simply a new assignment? A. That was considered as a punishment because I was sent there only after my division commander had already been arrested.").

<sup>10465</sup> Decision on Witnesses, Civil Parties and Experts Proposed to be Heard during Case 002/02, E459, 18 July 2017, paras 90, 103.

<sup>10466</sup> T. 12 August 2016 (Key Document Hearing), E1/456.1, p. 22.

3095. Civil Party KUL Nem described his constant fear and the necessity of abiding by Angkar's instructions in order to survive at K-11: "Had I dared to be courageous, I would have died".<sup>10468</sup> He told the Chamber that he was constantly afraid of being implicated in wrongdoing, stating that, "in the division, people were implicated on the accusation of being CIA agents".<sup>10469</sup> The Civil Party explained that people disappeared from K-11 and he did not know what became of them afterward.<sup>10470</sup> Former Division 920 combatant AUM Mol described being detained at K-11 with approximately 20 other prisoners following the arrest of her superiors, Division 920 Commander MEN Mang alias Chhin and Deputy Soy, in early 1977. Upon arrival at the office, she was interrogated by Sector 105 Military Commander Sophea about whether she was contacted by the Yuon or was in the Vietnamese or CIA network. She was not beaten during her questioning but was restrained during the course of her detention by wooden shackles in a row of five prisoners and only released to transplant rice or build dams.<sup>10471</sup> Men and women numbering about five in total disappeared from K-11 and AUM Mol heard that they had been arrested and sent to Kratie province.<sup>10472</sup> The witness also saw the son of a female prisoner hung upside down and beaten until he fell unconscious while his mother was forced to watch.<sup>10473</sup>

3096. Detained at Phnom Kraol Prison for seven months in early 1977, SOK EI described being interned with approximately 80 male prisoners. "Level one" and "level two" detainees were taken away on trucks and Land Rovers to Phnom Penh, while "level three" prisoners were reformed at Phnom Kraol Prison, where they were put to work within the prison compound.<sup>10474</sup> BUN Loeng Chauy heard that smaller groups of prisoners "were not sent far away for execution" and that large groups "were

<sup>10467</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, paras 71-72.

<sup>10468</sup> T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, pp. 91-93, 106.

<sup>10469</sup> T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, pp. 88-89.

<sup>10470</sup> T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, p. 92.

<sup>10471</sup> AUM Mol Interview Record, E3/7700, 29 October 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00239532-00239533.

<sup>10472</sup> AUM Mol Interview Record, E3/7700, 29 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00239534.

<sup>10473</sup> AUM Mol Interview Record, E3/7700, 29 October 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00239532-00239533.

See also, OM Mon Civil Party Application, E3/4927, undated, p. 2, ERN (En) 01060162.

<sup>10474</sup> SOK EI Interview Record, E3/7702, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239510.

transported by a vehicle [from Phnom Kraol Prison] to Kratie province to be killed”, since “large group[s] of prisoners could not be killed at a nearby location”.<sup>10475</sup>

3097. UONG Dos also deposed to the disappearance of prisoners. Detainees were told that those taken away would be returned to their villages; an assertion UONG Dos contested, stating that they were never seen to return. UONG Dos was detained at Phnom Kraol Prison without being told the reason for his arrest. He was interrogated by Sector 105 Military Commander Leng about the reasons for his arrest and was placed in leg shackles in a row of about 20 prisoners. Prisoners, whose number reached 385 according to UONG Dos, slept with their arms and legs shackled and were permitted to bathe once daily at the Phnom Kraol Dam.<sup>10476</sup> SOV Maing partly corroborated this account, testifying that he saw prisoners bathing at the prison compound while working a short distance away.<sup>10477</sup>

3098. Former Regiment 1 soldier NOU Saury deposed that all prisoners were placed in wooden leg shackles at Phnom Kraol Prison, with only light offenders released to work within the compound. Serious offenders were not permitted to work, and orders were received “to transport them away in trucks; this happened both during the day and night”. NOU Saury did not witness any prisoner beatings and noted that detainees were provided with two meals a day. He further deposed to the “three-point policy” of the Khmer Rouge in Sector 105 to defend against the lumbering and transportation of timber out of the country by the “Yuon”; to defend against “Thieu-Ky” soldiers driving people into Vietnam; and to defend against “commando units”, described as “American spies”, conducting reconnaissance on Cambodian territory.<sup>10478</sup>

3099. NOU Saury’s commander, SAN Lan, saw between 50 and 60 prisoners while driving past the compound.<sup>10479</sup> BUN Loeng Chauy observed from a distance of about 50 to 100 metres that the prison “was not better than a place to keep the cattle”.<sup>10480</sup> No changes of clothing were available at Phnom Kraol Prison and the entire facility stank

<sup>10475</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 28.

<sup>10476</sup> UONG Dos Interview Record, E3/7703, 29 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00242172. See also, UONG Dos Civil Party Application, E3/6260, 19 May 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 01210154 (stating, inconsistently with his WRI, that there were “around eighty other prisoners imprisoned with me”).

<sup>10477</sup> T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, p. 37; SOV Maing alias SAO Champi Interview Record, E3/506, 18 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00244490.

<sup>10478</sup> NOU Saury Interview Record, E3/7705, 29 October 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00239505-00239506.

<sup>10479</sup> SAN Lan Interview Record, E3/1650, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00244336.

<sup>10480</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 26.

according to UONG Dos. He described the food served to inmates as “insufficient” and consisting of gruel served twice a day. Prisoners were accused of being in the CIA network at meetings held inside the prison every day.<sup>10481</sup> 3100. UONG Dos and SOK El described the only instances of prisoner mistreatment at Phnom Kraol Prison. UONG Dos described the assault upon an ethnic detainee, Heus, who was beaten with a piece of wood and asked why he wanted “to flee to the Yuon”. According to UONG Dos, Heus was beaten to the point of unconsciousness by about five guards in his and other detainees’ presence, with blood spattering on them during the attack. Heus was thereafter “dragged away” and stabbed to death with a bayonet inside the prison.<sup>10482</sup> SOK El “personally saw” prisoner administrator Phai beat a prisoner to death because “fellow prisoners had told Phai that [the prisoner] spoke an ethnic language”. According to SOK El, the victim – the first husband of SOK El’s wife – was “tied to a cow and dragged away for burial”.<sup>10483</sup> Important aspects of the incident, including the victim’s identity, the nature of the attack against him, the manner of his death and subsequent treatment of his corpse are cross-corroborated by the Civil Party Applications of both UONG Dos and SOK El.<sup>10484</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the two in fact witnessed the same attack upon Heus and finds their accounts to be consistent and credible.

3101. Describing a separate incident, SOK El described seeing another prisoner, Touch, an “ethnic Phnornng lying dead with his head hanging down and his tongue sticking out”.<sup>10485</sup> Upon his own arrest and detention at Phnom Kraol Prison, SOK El

<sup>10481</sup> UONG Dos Interview Record, E3/7703, 29 October 2008, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00242171-00242172.

<sup>10482</sup> UONG Dos Interview Record, E3/7703, 29 October 2008, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00242171-00242172.

<sup>10483</sup> SOK El Interview Record, E3/7702, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239510.

<sup>10484</sup> UONG Dos Civil Party Application, E3/6260, 19 May 2009, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 01210154-01210155 (“One day, a prisoner named Heus (the first husband of Mrs KRES Sophen [...]) was mistreated because at that time, a prisoner [...] told the prison guard, ‘This person who is shackled next to me used to be a teacher, and he asked me to flee to Vietnam with him’. After having heard that, the prison guard took a five cm by five cm stick to beat [teacher] Haes. Soon after that, two more guards came to beat him. I and the other prisoners who were near him were stained with his blood. He was almost beaten to death, and they unshackled him and took him outside. He was stabbed with a bayonet on the neck until he died. His body was pulled away cruelly by cows.”); SOK El Civil Party Application, E3/6314, 22 January 2010, p. 3, ERN (En) 01323057 (“One day, teacher Heus (a former husband of Mrs KRES Sophen [...]) [...] was beaten because a prisoner shackled next to him told a prison officer, ‘The prisoner next to me is a former teacher and he asked me to flee to Vietnam with him’. Upon hearing this, the prison officers beat teacher Heus badly, and another prison officer also came in and beat him fiercely. Other prisoners and I were smeared with his blood. They nearly beat him to death. They unshackled him, took him outside and stabbed him in [the] neck with a bayonet. His corpse was tied up with a rope and pulled away by a cow.”).

<sup>10485</sup> SOK El Interview Record, E3/7702, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239510.

was hung upside down in leg shackles and held in solitary detention for the first day and night of his detention.<sup>10486</sup> The Chamber finds SOK El's evidence to be credible and representative of a pattern of prisoner mistreatment at Phnom Kraol Prison.

3102. The Chamber is satisfied that the evidence before it relating to prisoner conditions at K-11 and Phnom Kraol Prison is consistent with its findings with respect to K-17, and therefore representative of the conditions endured by prisoners at Phnom Kraol Security Centre as a whole. For clarity, the Chamber finds that the following factors are consistent with, and therefore corroborative of, prisoner conditions at K-17: the absence of judicial or procedural safeguards in the arrest and detention of prisoners (including a failure to provide adequate reasons for arrest); the shackling of prisoners; the exposure of detainees to substandard conditions of hygiene and detention; subjection to a mandatory work regime; the provision of insufficient food; the interrogation of detainees (including the nature and substance thereof); accusations of traitorous activity; occasional physical mistreatment outside of interrogations and the unexplained disappearance of fellow inmates.

12.5.6. Working Conditions

12.5.6.1. K-17

3103. Detainees at K-17 were given jute seeds to stomp for one to two hours per day while detained.<sup>10487</sup> Further evidence before the Chamber indicated that "correctible" or light offenders at K-17 were "released" to work at tempering or re-education worksites in Nang Khi Loek commune.<sup>10488</sup> Consistent with the above finding that it is not seized of conditions at these worksites, the Chamber refrains from entering any findings in relation to prisoner treatment at Nang Khi Loek.

---

<sup>10486</sup> SOK El Interview Record, E3/7702, 29 October 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00239509.

<sup>10487</sup> See above, para. 3083.

<sup>10488</sup> See e.g., T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 22-23; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 8, ERN (En) 00274101; CHAN Toi Interview Record, E3/7694, 23 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00242144; T. 11 March 2016 (NETH Savat), E1/400.1, pp. 19, 54-55; NETH Savat Interview Record, E3/7695, 23 October 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00239487. See also, Map of Koh Neak District, E3/9100, undated, ERN 00992852.

12.5.6.2. K-11

3104. Civil Party KUL Nem described the working conditions to which he was subjected at K-11. The Civil Party was detained at the office and assigned to rice threshing and transplantation duties at K-11 after his removal from Division 920.<sup>10489</sup> He stated that he and his wife were “forced to engage in hard labour” by harvesting rice day and night, often until 10 or 11pm, and described this as the cause of their hardship during and after their detention.<sup>10490</sup> He told the Chamber that the exhaustion, which was “the result of overwork”, remained until after the fall of the Democratic Kampuchea regime and that he suspected this was the cause of his wife’s miscarriages.<sup>10491</sup> KUL Nem repeatedly underscored the psychological pain and anger he felt during his time at K-11 and his lack of recourse at the time, describing further his fear of being killed if he did not follow Angkar’s instructions.<sup>10492</sup> Corroborating KUL Nem’s account that prisoners were compelled to work while detained at K-11, AUM Mol was only ever unshackled “when they had me go to do rice transplanting or to build dams”, but did so “tied with hammock strings” while under supervision of armed guards.<sup>10493</sup> The Chamber accepts as credible Civil Party KUL Nem’s evidence about the conditions of work at K-11 and his expression of psychological pain.

12.5.6.3. Phnom Kraol Prison

3105. SOV Maing testified that he saw from a distance prisoners being “taken” to clear grass outside the Phnom Kraol Prison compound, but did not see their characteristics.<sup>10494</sup> In his Written Record of Interview, the witness clarified that while he never entered the prison, he saw men and women at Phnom Kraol Prison engaging in physical labour such as clearing grass and sawing wood unrestrained.<sup>10495</sup> NOU Saury partially corroborated this account, deposing that only light offenders were permitted

<sup>10489</sup> T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, pp. 89, 95. The Chamber found that the Civil Party was in fact detained at K-11. See above, para. 3093.

<sup>10490</sup> T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, pp. 90-91.

<sup>10491</sup> T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, pp. 93-94, 106, 113-114.

<sup>10492</sup> T. 24 October 2016 (KUL Nem), E1/488.1, pp. 91-93, 101, 106-108.

<sup>10493</sup> AUM Mol Interview Record, E3/7700, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239533.

<sup>10494</sup> T. 27 October 2016 (SOV Maing alias SAO Champi), E1/491.1, pp. 37, 41 (“Q. How did [the prisoners] appear in terms of their health and weight when you saw them? A. I did not know whether they were light or they were heavy.”).

<sup>10495</sup> SOV Maing alias SAO Champi Interview Record, E3/506, 18 November 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00244490 (“I saw the prisoners bathing and doing labour such as clearing grass, sawing wood and they were not tied up while doing that. The prisoners wore ordinary clothes and they were men and women but there was no child prisoner.”).

to work within the confines of the prison complex under guard – sawing wood to make tables, cabinets and beds – but did not clarify whether they were restrained.<sup>10496</sup> SOK El, who deposed that he was “making a table” shortly before being released, told investigators that 80 prisoners worked in the prison while handcuffed.<sup>10497</sup> UONG Dos deposed that prisoners at Phnom Kraol Prison worked in two shifts, from 6.30am to 11am and again from midday to 4.30pm, after which they were sent back to the prison.<sup>10498</sup>

3106. The Chamber is satisfied that, despite limited variations, accounts of working conditions at Phnom Kraol Prison are sufficiently consistent with those at K-11 and K-17 to corroborate the existence of a mandatory and regimented work regime at all three offices. It accordingly finds that such a regime is representative of the conditions endured by prisoners at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

12.5.7. Deaths, Executions and Burials

3107. Evidence which was explored at trial relating to executions primarily concerned executions at S-21 of Section 105 and Division 920 personnel.<sup>10499</sup> The Chamber notes that such evidence falls beyond the immediate scope of Phnom Kraol Security Centre. The Chamber will nevertheless consider this evidence in its analysis of the wider context of CPK policy and the pattern of arrests, detentions and executions referable to Sector 105.

3108. The Sector 105 Secretary was required to implement the will of the upper authority when orders to execute embedded enemies and those accused of committing moral offences were received.<sup>10500</sup> The KHIEU Samphan and NUON Chea Defence

<sup>10496</sup> NOU Souy Interview Record, E3/7705, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239506.

<sup>10497</sup> SOK El Interview Record, E3/7702, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00239510.

<sup>10498</sup> UONG Dos Interview Record, E3/7703, 29 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00242172.

<sup>10499</sup> See above, paras 3056-3058.

<sup>10500</sup> T. 13 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/153.1, p. 19 (“[O]nly those who were alleged of being enemies, for example those people were destined to be executed, but it was also the decision of the upper authority, who passed it down to people at the lower leve[I] to carry out the activity.”); T. 7 April 2016 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/416.1, p. 39 (Regarding the removal of individuals who had committed immoral offenses or those from the previous regime: “It was the instruction issued from above and he simply followed that instruction. [...] I mean the top people in Phnom Penh.”).

teams both submit that there is insufficient evidence to prove beyond reasonable doubt that executions took place at the Security Centre.<sup>10501</sup>

3109. Eyewitness accounts of deaths, executions and burials at Phnom Kraol Security Centre were limited. None of the prisoners detained on the ground floor of K-17 alongside CHAN Toi were sent for execution during his month-long detention,<sup>10502</sup> and he did not witness any executions.<sup>10503</sup>

3110. The Chamber has accepted as credible and corroborated SOK EI and UONG Dos's accounts of the death of Phnom Kraol Prison inmate, Heus. It has further accepted SOK EI's account of the death of his fellow prisoner, Touch, who died while shackled.<sup>10504</sup>

3111. Turning to burials, CHAN Toi did not witness any gravesites during the DK period, but heard about killings and burial pits after his release,<sup>10505</sup> clarifying in his Written Record of Interview that "they probably killed [prisoners] not far behind Phnom Kraol".<sup>10506</sup> NHEANG Sokhan alias SAY Khan, whose father was detained at Phnom Kraol Prison with SOK EI, deposed to OCIJ investigators that he heard about a location along the road to Kratie called Au Krieng where people were killed.<sup>10507</sup> Former K-11 worker SAL Ra was told by a K-11 guard that his mother-in-law was taken and killed at Trapeang Pring.<sup>10508</sup>

3112. BUN Loeng Chauy learned from a sector soldier and prisoners after their release that smaller groups of detainees "were not sent far away for execution" at Trapeang Pring, where pits dug in 1977 were visible from the road to Kratie, approximately a kilometre away.<sup>10509</sup> The witness deposed to having seen a tractor at the site, which was used to bulldoze and cover pits containing about 200 male and female victims "after

<sup>10501</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1458; NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 635.

<sup>10502</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 20.

<sup>10503</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 44.

<sup>10504</sup> See above, paras 3100-3101.

<sup>10505</sup> T. 10 March 2016 (CHAN Toi alias CHAN Tauch), E1/399.1, p. 44.

<sup>10506</sup> CHAN Toi Interview Record, E3/7694, 23 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00242144.

<sup>10507</sup> NHEANG Sokhan Interview Record, E3/7701, 29 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242153.

<sup>10508</sup> SAL Ra Interview Record, E3/5222, 27 October 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00242158.

<sup>10509</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 28-31; BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, p. 10, ERN (En) 00274103.

the killing”,<sup>10510</sup> but clarified in court that he did not witness any executions.<sup>10511</sup> The Chamber notes that the witness acknowledged “living at the killing site during the period of the killings”, which suggests a motive to minimise his role or observations at the time. BUN Loeng Chauy also deposed to the discovery of human bones in the area between 1983 and 1985, stating that the discovery was done “without any effort to look for them”.<sup>10512</sup> This aspect of his deposition was not clarified at trial. The witness further stated to DC-Cam that he saw with his own eyes “a small number” of corpses of people who had been clubbed to death, either at Trapeang Pring or on the road to Kratie, and buried in pits at Trapeang Pring or left where they fell.<sup>10513</sup> At trial, however, the witness testified that he was told that Trapeang Pring “was the killing place”, but that he “did not go there into the centre” of the site.<sup>10514</sup> BUN Loeng Chauy’s equivocal evidence in many respects does not permit the Chamber to conclude that he personally witnessed the execution of prisoners or the burial of corpses at Trapeang Pring.

3113. DC-Cam’s 1999 Mondulkiri Mapping Project estimated the number of victims at Trapeang Pring to be in the “hundreds” based on their interview with SAL Ra, without providing an evidentiary or methodological basis for this quantification.<sup>10515</sup> Although SAL Ra was also interviewed by the OCIJ nine years later, he was not asked to clarify the estimate that he had provided to DC-Cam.<sup>10516</sup> The judicial investigation <sup>10510</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 28-31 (“Q. Did you ever have occasion to travel by the Trapeang Pring and did you see what was going on at that site? A. I have never been there again since then. I just walked nearby about one kilometre away and I saw the earth was shoved or bulldozed. I was told it was the killing place, but I did not go there into the centre. [...] Regarding those pits, everyone could see [them], not only me.”); BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00274096-00274097 (“A tractor was used to dig big pits and they were covered up with dirt after the killing. I saw those pits with my eyes. The killing site was buried by bulldozing by a tractor. [...] There were about 200 male and female victims buried inside the pit. They were civilians, Khmer Rouge cadres, soldiers from Ta Chhin’s and Ta Say’s Divisions [i.e. Division 920].”). See also, CHAN Bun Leath DC-Cam Interview, E3/5180, 26 December 1999, p. 8, ERN (En) 00274116 (stating that “at the spot where they clubbed people to death” there were approximately 200 bodies in the hole).

<sup>10511</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, p. 31.

<sup>10512</sup> BUN Loeng Chauy alias CHAN Bun Leath Interview Record, E3/5178, 10 June 2008, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00274096-00274097.

<sup>10513</sup> CHAN Bun Leath DC-Cam Interview, E3/5180, 26 December 1999, pp. 8, 11-12, ERN (En) 00274116, 00274119-00274120.

<sup>10514</sup> T. 28 March 2016 (BUN Loeng Chauy), E1/409.1, pp. 28-29.

<sup>10515</sup> DC-Cam Mapping Project 1999: Mondulkiri Province, E3/2070, undated, pp. 85-86, ERN (En) 00078122-00078123.

<sup>10516</sup> SAL Ra Interview Record, E3/5222, 27 October 2008, pp. 2-5, ERN (En) 00242156-00242159.

was impeded by the presence of land mines at Trapeang Pring, and no further forensic or investigative evidence is available to assist the Chamber with regard to the site.<sup>10517</sup> 3114. The Chamber heard several witnesses who concluded that their relatives, acquaintances, superiors and cadres were killed – either after their arrest or following temporary incarceration at K-17, K-11 or Phnom Kraol Prison.<sup>10518</sup> Accounts of alleged executions were replete with speculation and hearsay, and possibly marred by a degree of common narrative, the veracity of which cannot in the present circumstances be gauged. Taking into account evidence of Sector 105’s campaign of arresting, detaining and executing perceived enemies, consistent accounts of the location and purpose of Trapeang Pring, and evidence of the discovery of human remains in the area after 1979, the Chamber is satisfied that Trapeang Pring did in fact serve as a burial site during the DK period. As a result of the paucity of evidence regarding executions at Trapeang Pring, the Chamber is unable to conclude that it served as an execution site. The Chamber is further unable to find that the only reasonable inference to be drawn from the available evidence is that Trapeang Pring served to bury detainees who died as a result of poor conditions of detention at K-17, K-11 and/or Phnom Kraol Prison. In that regard, the Chamber notes the possibility that those buried at Trapeang Pring may have died as a result of causes unrelated to detention conditions, whether at Phnom Kraol Security Centre or other Sector 105 security centres or re-education offices beyond the scope of the present trial.

12.5.8. Legal Findings

12.5.8.1. Murder

3115. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of murder at Phnom Kraol Security Centre. It finds that executions at Phnom Kraol were carried out at the Trapeang Pring execution site and that deaths were occasioned at the other constituent offices more generally, including indirectly through acts of Security Centre personnel.<sup>10519</sup> The Chamber was satisfied that UONG Dos and SOK El witnessed the assault and killing of their fellow inmate, Heus, by Phnom Kraol Prison guards.<sup>10520</sup> Taking into account the brutal nature of the attack preceding the victim's death, being a physical assault with wooden implements to the point of unconsciousness, as well as the infliction of grievous bodily harm by stabbing the victim with a bayonet, the Chamber finds that the prison guards intended to kill Heus. The Chamber is satisfied that both the actus reus and mens rea of murder are established and accordingly finds that the crime against humanity of murder is established with regard to Heus's death and that this killings had no lawful basis.

<sup>10517</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8057, 21 July 2009, p. 12, ERN (En) 00365630.

<sup>10518</sup> See above, Section 12.5.4: Arrest and Detention.

<sup>10519</sup> Closing Order, paras 641-642, 1376.

3116. The Chamber further accepted SOK El's account of the death of Touch, a fellow detainee whom the witness saw "lying dead with his head hanging down and his tongue sticking out".<sup>10521</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the victim's death was the result of the conditions to which he was exposed while imprisoned at Phnom Kraol Prison, and which the Chamber has already found to have been substandard.<sup>10522</sup> The actus reus of murder is therefore established. Noting that the Closing Order envisages the death of prisoners as a result of detention conditions under the legal characterisation of murder,<sup>10523</sup> the Chamber is satisfied that the voluntary subjection of prisoners to abject conditions, or indeed the failure to remedy deleterious conditions of detention or hygiene, constitutes manifest indifference to human life by Security Centre personnel, thereby fulfilling the element of dolus eventualis.<sup>10524</sup> The mens rea of murder is therefore established with regard to Touch's death.

3117. Having satisfied the requisite elements, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of murder is established at Phnom Kraol Security Centre with respect to the above two deaths.

12.5.8.2. Extermination

3118. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of extermination at Phnom Kraol Security Centre. It charges that perpetrators' acts and omissions caused the deaths of a very large number of people at Phnom Kraol Security

---

<sup>10520</sup> See above, para. 3100.

<sup>10521</sup> See above, para. 3101.

<sup>10522</sup> See above, para. 3102.

<sup>10523</sup> Closing Order, para. 1376 (charging that "the personnel of these [security] centres, both directly and indirectly, caused the death of a large number of detainees. [...] Moreover, many prisoners died as a result of [...] ill-treatment.").

<sup>10524</sup> Section 9.1.1: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Murder, para. 650.

Centre.<sup>10525</sup> On the limited evidence before it, the Chamber was able to satisfy itself beyond reasonable doubt of only two deaths at the Security Centre.<sup>10526</sup> Further, having had no evidence before it that victims buried at Trapeang Pring died as a result of detention conditions at K-17, K-11 or Phnom Kraol Prison, the Chamber was unable to conclude that the deaths of these victims were imputable to Security Centre personnel.<sup>10527</sup> The Chamber is accordingly unable to find that “a very large number of people” died at Phnom Kraol. The crime against humanity of extermination is therefore not established at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

12.5.8.3. Enslavement

3119. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of enslavement at Phnom Kraol Security Centre. It charges that prisoners at Phnom Kraol were subjected to total physical and psychological control, such that virtually all decisions concerning their physical environment were taken by the authorities in order to achieve Party goals.<sup>10528</sup> The Chamber has already dismissed the KHIEU Samphan Defence’s submission that the Chamber is seised of enslavement as a crime against humanity at Phnom Kraol Security Centre only insofar as it relates to forced labour at K-11.<sup>10529</sup>

3120. The NUON Chea Defence submits that the only evidence regarding living and working conditions at Phnom Kraol Security Centre concerns K-17, and that these conditions of detention were consistent with prisons in DK at the time and not of the gravity required to constitute a crime against humanity.<sup>10530</sup> The Co-Prosecutors conversely submit that the evidence at K-17, K-11 and Phnom Kraol Prison demonstrates that prison officials exercised control over every facet of detainees’ lives.<sup>10531</sup> The Lead Co-Lawyers submit that the evidence demonstrates the exercise of

<sup>10525</sup> Closing Order, paras 1381-1382.

<sup>10526</sup> See above, paras 3115-3116.

<sup>10527</sup> See above, para. 3114.

<sup>10528</sup> Closing Order, paras 1391-1394.

<sup>10529</sup> Section 2.5.6.3: Limitation of the Scope of the Trial to the Facts Contained in the Introductory Submission or Supplementary Submissions.

<sup>10530</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 616.

<sup>10531</sup> Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, para. 880. The Co-Prosecutors also point to the evidence of CHAN Bun Leath, who the Chamber has found was in fact detained at K-16. The Chamber recalls its position on evidence related to K-16 and declines to take it into account in the present assessment. See above, paras 3021-3022.

powers attaching to the right of ownership to detainees at K-11.<sup>10532</sup>

3121. The Chamber has found that a mandatory and regimented work regime existed at K-17, K-11 and Phnom Kraol Prison, which was representative of the conditions at Phnom Kraol as a whole.<sup>10533</sup> Further, the Chamber has accepted evidence intimating the accrual of gain to the Security Centre through the control of prisoners' movements and physical environments. In this regard, the Chamber has found that some detainees at K-17 were compelled to stomp jute seeds for hours at a time under a relaxed shackling regime.<sup>10534</sup> Some detainees at K-11 and Phnom Kraol Prison were forced to clear grass, saw wood, work in rice fields and build dams while handcuffed or tied with rope and supervised by armed guards. Other prisoners were not shackled or restrained but were overworked and exhausted after being forced to thresh and transplant rice pursuant to a regulated work schedule.<sup>10535</sup> There was no evidence that detainees were remunerated for their toil. Detainees feared being killed if they did not follow Angkar's instructions while working at Phnom Kraol and were subjected to psychological suffering as a result of their treatment.<sup>10536</sup>

3122. The Chamber is satisfied that the evidence consistently demonstrates the imposition of a mandatory regime of labour at Phnom Kraol entailing the economic exploitation of detainees for the benefit of the Party. By determining detainees' movements inside the Security Centre, controlling their physical environment for the duration of their incarceration and keeping them under guard at all times to prevent or deter their escape, the Chamber is satisfied that Security Centre personnel exercised a substantial degree of control over detainees, who were accordingly rendered incapable of articulating a choice about whether they would work. The Chamber finds that detainees were subjected to a regime of forced labour at Phnom Kraol which entailed the exercise by Security Centre personnel of the powers attaching to the right of ownership. The actus reus of enslavement is therefore established.

3123. In addition to the means of implementation of this regime of forced labour, the Chamber finds that the continuing subjugation of prisoners' rights to those of the Party

---

<sup>10532</sup> Lead Co-Lawyers' Closing Brief, paras 988-991.

<sup>10533</sup> See above, para. 3106.

<sup>10534</sup> See above, para. 3083.

<sup>10535</sup> See above, paras 3104-3105.

<sup>10536</sup> See above, para. 3104.

is consistent with the intentional exercise of powers attaching to the right of ownership. The mens rea of enslavement is therefore established.

3124. The NUON Chea Defence makes a number of submissions regarding the alleged unlawfulness of forced labour at Phnom Kraol. It submits that “the use of ‘forced’ labour is not always unlawful” and that labour in the ordinary course of “lawful detention” does not amount to forced labour.<sup>10537</sup> No other Party made any relevant submissions in this regard.

3125. The Chamber has already determined that compulsory labour may, under certain circumstances, legally fall within the remit of work “normally required” of detained persons. The prerequisite condition for legality in such circumstances, however, is the existence of a lawful order of a competent court mandating compulsory labour.<sup>10538</sup> In the present case, the Chamber has found that judicial and procedural safeguards were absent at the time of prisoners’ initial and ongoing detention at Phnom Kraol and that the deprivation of their liberty was arbitrary and constituted a crime against humanity.<sup>10539</sup> The NUON Chea Defence further submits that service extracted in cases of emergency or calamity threatening the life or wellbeing of the community will not be considered a human rights violation. In support of its submission, it contends that “the very existence of Cambodia as a country was under threat at that time”, pointing generally to the state of armed conflict between DK and Vietnam at the time.<sup>10540</sup> While the Chamber has found that a state of armed conflict existed between the two countries, it notes that this state was ongoing for over three-and-a-half years, between May 1975 and 6 January 1979, and primarily consisted of intermittent and small-scale frontier skirmishes or incursions.<sup>10541</sup> The NUON Chea Defence fails to identify the precise “cases of emergency” or “calamity threatening the life or well-being of the community” which warranted conditions of forced labour during the Security Centre’s operation. Further, while the NUON Chea Defence seeks to rely upon Articles 49 and 51 of Geneva Convention III in support of its argument that forced labour may in some cases be permitted under international humanitarian law,<sup>10542</sup> the Chamber notes that these

<sup>10537</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 669.

<sup>10538</sup> Section 9.1.3: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Enslavement.

<sup>10539</sup> See below, Section 12.5.8.4: Legal Findings: Imprisonment.

<sup>10540</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 670.

<sup>10541</sup> Section 4.1: Factual Overview of the Temporal Scope of Case 002/02 (including the Nature of the Armed Conflict).

<sup>10542</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 669-670.

provisions unequivocally relate to prisoners of war “who have fallen into the power of the enemy”; not a state’s own citizens.<sup>10543</sup> There is no evidence before the Chamber that any of the detainees or labourers at Phnom Kraol were Vietnamese nationals or members of the Vietnamese armed forces. The NUON Chea Defence’s submissions are therefore dismissed.

3126. Having established the requisite elements, the Chamber finds that the crime enslavement as a crime against humanity is established at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

12.5.8.4. Imprisonment

3127. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of imprisonment at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.<sup>10544</sup> The Chamber recalls that the deprivation of liberty is arbitrary if imposed without due process of law.<sup>10545</sup>

3128. The Chamber has already rejected the proposition that arrests in Sector 105 were preventive or carried out pursuant to a legitimate process, and has found that they were in fact conducted pursuant to a systematic process of implication by association with perceived enemies.<sup>10546</sup> The Chamber was satisfied that the evidence of arrests and detentions at Phnom Kraol Security Centre was consistent in this respect. Witness CHAN Toi and his entire family were detained alongside approximately 80 other Kaoh Nheak district personnel at K-17 because of their association with denounced Sector 105 Secretary, KHAM Phoun. KHAM Phoun’s subordinate, Witness NETH Savat, was also imprisoned at K-17 together with his wife, children and siblings as a result of his superior’s downfall. Former Division 920 soldier KUL Nem was similarly detained at K-11 as a result of his commander’s removal.<sup>10547</sup>

3129. The Chamber has further found that judicial or procedural safeguards were absent at the time of prisoners’ arrests and throughout their subsequent detention at Phnom Kraol.<sup>10548</sup> There was no evidence before the Chamber that Phnom Kraol detainees were brought before a judicial officer vested with judicial authority, either to

<sup>10543</sup> Geneva Convention III, Art. 4. See also, Geneva Convention III Commentary, Arts 2, 4, 49, 51-53.

<sup>10544</sup> Closing Order, para. 1403.

<sup>10545</sup> Section 9.1.5: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Imprisonment.

<sup>10546</sup> See above, paras 3065, 3081-3082.

<sup>10547</sup> See above, paras 3060-3064.

<sup>10548</sup> See above, paras 3081, 3102.

review the charges upon which prisoners were detained, or to assess the lawfulness of ongoing detention. Consistently with the Chamber's finding that no judicial system was established during the DK era,<sup>10549</sup> there was no evidence before the Chamber that detainees were afforded a trial or were otherwise convicted by a court of law before having been detained at Phnom Kraol. Lastly, there was no evidence that, prior to taking the above measures, DK authorities at any time officially proclaimed the existence of a public emergency in accordance with international law.<sup>10550</sup>

3130. In view of the foregoing, the Chamber finds that the initial and subsequent detention of prisoners at Phnom Kraol was carried out with a serious disregard of fundamental procedural rights enshrined under international law, and accordingly finds that the deprivation of liberty at the Security Centre was arbitrary. The NUON Chea Defence submission is therefore rejected. The Chamber is satisfied that in addition to the systematic arrest and detention of individuals on the basis of mere affiliation with perceived Party enemies, the continuous denial of due process rights constitutes intentional deprivation of physical liberty.

3131. The Chamber is satisfied that the actus reus and mens rea of imprisonment are established, and accordingly finds that the crime against humanity of imprisonment is established at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

12.5.8.5. Torture

3132. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of torture at Phnom Kraol Security Centre. It charges that severe harm and suffering of a physical and mental nature constituting torture was deliberately inflicted by CPK cadres during interrogations at the Security Centre.<sup>10551</sup> In this regard, the Chamber notes that the Closing Order only charges torture within the context of interrogations,<sup>10552</sup> and not generally with regard to the severe mistreatment of detainees intended to punish or intimidate detainees outside of interrogations.<sup>10553</sup> The Chamber has already dismissed

<sup>10549</sup> Section 5: Administrative Structures, para. 417-418.

<sup>10550</sup> See above, para. 3082.

<sup>10551</sup> Closing Order, paras 1408-1409.

<sup>10552</sup> Closing Order, para. 1409.

<sup>10553</sup> See e.g., Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, paras 881, 883 (referring to incidents described by UONG Dos, AUM Mol and SOK El outside of interrogations). See below, para. 3154.

the KHIEU Samphan Defence's submission arguing that the Chamber is not seized of torture at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.<sup>10554</sup>

3133. In view of "serious threats and bullying" of an indeterminate nature having been made during interrogations at K-17, the Chamber was unable to assess the seriousness of psychological harm that may have resulted from this practice. It was satisfied, however, that no physical mistreatment was inflicted upon detainees during these interrogations.<sup>10555</sup> The Chamber has further found that evidence at K-11 was consistent with the conditions found at K-17 and representative of Phnom Kraol Security Centre as a whole.<sup>10556</sup> The Chamber did not hear of any specific instances of detainees being shackled during interrogations but has found that, aside from work assignments, detainees at Phnom Kraol were shackled for the duration of their detention.<sup>10557</sup>

3134. Having found that no physical mistreatment was evident at Phnom Kraol, and having not been able to determine the severity of psychological harm that may have resulted from interrogative practices, the Chamber is not satisfied that prisoner treatment during interrogations rises to the degree of severity required to constitute torture. While it recognises that prisoner shackling during interrogation processes, "serious threats" of an indeterminate nature and a climate of fear and uncertainty conducive to the implication of others in counter-revolutionary activity doubtlessly inflicted serious psychological distress upon prisoners, the Chamber finds that these acts do not individually or collectively constitute "severe mental suffering" as envisaged by international jurisprudence. The Chamber will accordingly consider the distress caused during interrogations as part of its assessment of the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts.

3135. The Chamber agrees with the NUON Chea Defence's submission that there is insufficient evidence to find that acts of torture occurred at the Security Centre.<sup>10558</sup> Having not established the actus reus of torture, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of torture has not been established at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

<sup>10554</sup> Section 2.5.6.3: Limitation of the Scope of the Trial to the Facts Contained in the Introductory Submission or Supplementary Submissions.

<sup>10555</sup> See above, para. 3089.

<sup>10556</sup> See above, paras 3095, 3102.

<sup>10557</sup> See above, paras 3083, 3102.

<sup>10558</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 592, 604.

12.5.8.6. Persecution on political grounds

3136. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds of “real or perceived enemies of the CPK” at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.<sup>10559</sup> The particular acts amounting to persecution must be expressly charged.<sup>10560</sup> According to the Closing Order, such people “were subjected to harsher treatment and living conditions” than the remainder of the population and were also “arrested en masse for re-education and elimination”.

3137. The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that the charge of persecution on political grounds is restricted to the three categories of enemy particularised in the Closing Order (namely, former Khmer Republic officials, New People and Cambodians returning from abroad).<sup>10561</sup> This submission has been addressed and rejected elsewhere in this Judgement.<sup>10562</sup>

3138. The Chamber must satisfy itself that the targeted group of “real or perceived enemies of the CPK” referred to in the Closing Order was sufficiently discernible.<sup>10563</sup> To assess the scope of the group of “real or perceived enemies of the CPK” at Phnom Kraol, it is necessary to read the Closing Order’s ultimate disposition and legal characterisation of facts referable to that crime site in conjunction with the factual findings of the Co-Investigating Judges. In this regard, the Closing Order clearly identifies a group consisting of adversaries of the CPK or its ideology who, as perceived counter-revolutionaries and external adversaries, may broadly be characterised as real or perceived threats. According to the Closing Order, this group included spies, traitors of the revolution, the Vietnamese and collaborators of the Vietnamese and CIA.<sup>10564</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that real or perceived political enemies included, but were not limited to, the three groups particularised in the Closing Order.

---

<sup>10559</sup> Closing Order, paras 1416-1418.

<sup>10560</sup> Section 9.1.7: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Persecution on Political, Racial or Religious Grounds, para. 716.

<sup>10561</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1386-1389.

<sup>10562</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 170.

<sup>10563</sup> Section 9.1.7: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Persecution on Political, Racial or Religious Grounds, para. 714.

<sup>10564</sup> Closing Order, paras 632, 634, 640.

3139. According to the Closing Order, the targeted group included perceived enemies of the CPK.<sup>10565</sup> The discernibility of the targeted group may be assessed by examining whether the victims belonged to a category of the group as identified by the Party leadership. In this regard, the Chamber takes into consideration evidence of the CPK's ideological aspirations and policies concerning socialist revolution,<sup>10566</sup> the state of armed conflict between Democratic Kampuchea and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam between May 1975 and 6 January 1979,<sup>10567</sup> the evolving CPK policy toward the Vietnamese and other enemies,<sup>10568</sup> the spate of internal purges from early 1977 in Sector 105,<sup>10569</sup> purges across DK more generally and the resultant atmosphere of paranoia inside the Party.<sup>10570</sup> It is evident that the CPK identified as enemies counter-revolutionaries, detractors and traitors of the revolution, foreign agents including the Vietnamese, as well as collaborators of the foregoing categories, among others. Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied that the target group of "real or perceived enemies of the CPK" was sufficiently discernible in order to determine whether the requisite consequences occurred for the group.

3140. The Chamber has found numerous instances in which people were subjected to harsher treatment and living conditions than the remainder of the population and were arrested for re-education. Prisoners were arrested and arbitrarily detained at Phnom Kraol without judicial or procedural safeguards.<sup>10571</sup> While detained, they were classified according to the degree of their perceived criminality,<sup>10572</sup> interrogated,<sup>10573</sup> subjected to a regime of forced labour,<sup>10574</sup> exposed to substandard living and detention conditions which resulted in serious mental and physical suffering and constituted an attack on their human dignity,<sup>10575</sup> and forced to endure the unexplained disappearances of their fellow inmates to an indeterminate location and fate.<sup>10576</sup> The Chamber has found that these acts amounted to the separate crimes against humanity of

---

<sup>10565</sup> Closing Order, para. 1417.

<sup>10566</sup> Section 16: Common Purpose.

<sup>10567</sup> Section 4: General Overview.

<sup>10568</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies.

<sup>10569</sup> See above, Section 12.5.4.1: Internal purges; Section 12.5.4.2: Backdrop of purges in Sector 105; Section 12.5.4.3: Evidence of arrests in Sector 105.

<sup>10570</sup> Section 12.1: Internal Factions.

<sup>10571</sup> See above, paras 3127-3131.

<sup>10572</sup> See above, para. 3096.

<sup>10573</sup> See above, paras 3089, 3102.

<sup>10574</sup> See above, paras 3119-3126.

<sup>10575</sup> See below, paras 3153-3156.

<sup>10576</sup> See below, para. 3153.

imprisonment,<sup>10577</sup> other inhumane acts perpetrated through attacks on human dignity,<sup>10578</sup> and other inhumane acts perpetrated through enforced disappearances.<sup>10579</sup>

3141. Turning to whether the foregoing acts were discriminatory in fact and deliberately inflicted with the intent to discriminate against the targeted group, the Chamber has already found that arrests and detentions within Sector 105, and in particular those at Phnom Kraol Security Centre, were conducted pursuant to a systematic process targeting individuals associated with perceived enemies.<sup>10580</sup>

3142. At Phnom Kraol, CHAN Toi was arrested and detained at K-17 for being in Sector 105 Deputy Secretary KHAM Phoun's "network". CHAN Toi's wife and supervisor, both of whom were related to KHAM Phoun, were also arrested and detained there.<sup>10581</sup> KHAM Phoun's subordinate, Witness NETH Savat, was arrested and detained at K-17 as part of what he called a "policy" to arrest his supervisor's subordinates.<sup>10582</sup> Detainees at K-17 were interrogated about KHAM Phoun.<sup>10583</sup> Civil Party KUL Nem was arrested and detained at K-11 as a direct result of his commander's removal.<sup>10584</sup> Witnesses at K-11 and Phnom Kraol Prison were also variously accused of being CIA agents or Vietnamese collaborators.<sup>10585</sup>

3143. The pattern of arrests, detentions and implication by association was evidenced within the wider context of the Sector 105 purges. The Chamber refers to the following instances for the purpose of corroborating the foregoing accounts and contextualising the atmosphere within which arrests and detentions at Phnom Kraol took place.

3144. The Chamber has found that KHAM Phoun's nephew, Kaoh Nheaek District Secretary Svay, committed suicide pending his arrest on the suspicion that he had harboured Vietnamese soldiers. Svay's suspected collaborator, Kaev Seima District Secretary Kasy, was subsequently denounced, arrested, detained at K-16 and

---

<sup>10577</sup> See above, Section 12.5.8.4: Legal Findings: Imprisonment.

<sup>10578</sup> See below, Section 12.5.8.7: Legal Findings: Other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity.

<sup>10579</sup> See below, Section 12.5.8.8: Legal Findings: Other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances.

<sup>10580</sup> See above, para. 3065.

<sup>10581</sup> See above, para. 3060.

<sup>10582</sup> See above, para. 3061.

<sup>10583</sup> See above, para. 3089.

<sup>10584</sup> See above, para. 3063.

<sup>10585</sup> See above, paras 3095, 3099.

executed.<sup>10586</sup> Kasy's nephew, BUN Loeng Chauy was arrested and imprisoned at K-16 as a result of his uncle's denunciation.<sup>10587</sup> The entire population of Kaev Seima district was consequently relocated and imprisoned at K-16 and the Roya worksite.<sup>10588</sup> The wives and children of approximately 18 K-16 escapees were executed as a result of their husbands' flight.<sup>10589</sup> As the superior of the escapees' suspected ringleader and uncle of Kasy, KHAM Phoun was denounced a Vietnamese conspirator and traitor, summoned to Phnom Penh and died under indeterminate circumstances alongside Sector 105 Secretary Laing. KHAM Phoun's family and known associates were arrested after his departure to Phnom Penh and were not seen again.<sup>10590</sup>

3145. Sector 105 Secretary Laing's subordinates, including deputies Mey and Chuon, and Sector Military Commander Sophea, were also arrested following Laing's disappearance. They were respectively denounced as collaborators of the CIA, KHAM Phoun and the Vietnamese, and executed in S-21. The Chamber has found that Sophea's successor Leng and K-17 supervisor Lay, both of whom worked closely with Laing,<sup>10591</sup> were also detained and executed at S-21.<sup>10592</sup> Additionally, the Chamber has found that Division 920 was purged as a result of its perceived enemy status, which was imputed due to its connection to Northeast Zone Secretary NEY Sarann alias Ya and his involvement with the Vietnamese.<sup>10593</sup>

3146. Finally, the foregoing is consistent with more general evidence heard by the Chamber that Sector 105 progressively denounced, arrested, detained and/or executed personnel suspected of collaborating, communicating or otherwise dealing with Vietnamese forces, civilians or relatives, as well as those perceived to be opposed to Angkar or those suspected of the slightest subversion.<sup>10594</sup>

3147. Having found that the victims were in fact perceived to be enemies and therefore part of the targeted group, the Chamber is satisfied that the foregoing acts were

---

<sup>10586</sup> See above, para. 3051.

<sup>10587</sup> See above, para. 3059.

<sup>10588</sup> See above, para. 3053.

<sup>10589</sup> See above, para. 3054.

<sup>10590</sup> See above, para. 3055.

<sup>10591</sup> See above, paras 3028, 3044.

<sup>10592</sup> See above, para. 3056.

<sup>10593</sup> See above, paras 3057-3058.

<sup>10594</sup> See above, para. 3048.

discriminatory in fact.

3148. The foregoing evidence vividly demonstrates that enemies were arrested, detained and subjected to harsher treatment as a result of their perceived enemy status. With regard to Phnom Kraol Security Centre, the Chamber is satisfied that the overwhelmingly systematic process by which the arrest, detention and subjection to abject conditions of detention is consistent with the deliberate and calculated arrest and detention of perceived enemies. The Chamber accordingly finds that these acts were committed with the intent to discriminate on political grounds. The mens rea of persecution is therefore established.

3149. Acts committed against this group variously infringed upon and violated fundamental rights and freedoms pertaining to movement,<sup>10595</sup> personal dignity,<sup>10596</sup> liberty and security,<sup>10597</sup> freedom from arbitrary or unlawful arrest,<sup>10598</sup> a fair and public trial and equality before the law as enshrined in customary international law.<sup>10599</sup>

3150. The acts charged as persecution include acts separately found to amount to independent crimes against humanity (including imprisonment, enslavement, and other inhumane acts perpetrated through attacks against human dignity and enforced disappearance) as well as acts which, on their own, do not necessarily amount to crimes (in particular, arrests). Considered together and within the context within which these acts were committed, the Chamber is satisfied that they cumulatively rise to the requisite level of severity such as to constitute persecution. Accordingly, the Chamber is satisfied that the instances of imprisonment, enslavement and other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity and conduct characterised as enforced disappearances committed against enemies constitute persecution on political grounds. The actus reus of persecution is therefore established.

---

<sup>10595</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 13(1); ICCPR, Art. 12(1); ECHR Protocol No. 4, Art. 2; ACHR, Art. 22(1).

<sup>10596</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Preamble, Arts. 1, 22, 23(3); ICCPR, Art. 10; ACHR, Art. 6. See also, Kordić and Čerkez Appeal Judgement, para. 106.

<sup>10597</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 3; ICCPR, Art. 9(1); ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7.

<sup>10598</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 9; ICCPR, Art. 9; ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7.

<sup>10599</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Arts 6-7, 10-11; ICCPR, Arts 9(2)-(4), 14; ECHR, Art. 6; ACHR, Arts 7(4)-(6), 8.

3151. Having established the requisite elements, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds is established at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

12.5.8.7. Other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity

3152. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity at Phnom Kraol Security Centre. In this respect, the Closing Order particularises that conditions at Phnom Kraol, including the deprivation of sufficient food, medical attention and sanitation, poor living and detention conditions, and physical and psychological mistreatment (including during interrogations), amounted to attacks against human dignity.<sup>10600</sup>

3153. Evidence about prisoner living and detention conditions was consistent across K-17, K-11 and Phnom Kraol Prison. Once detained, detainees were placed in wooden wrist or leg shackles in rows of between five and 20 prisoners,<sup>10601</sup> and exposed to substandard conditions of hygiene and detention for the duration of their incarceration.<sup>10602</sup> In particular, the abject conditions at Phnom Kraol Prison were evident from a distance, and the prison was deemed no better than a place to keep cattle.<sup>10603</sup> Similarly, there was “no hygiene at all” at K-17, which contained a single toilet for use by approximately 80 people.<sup>10604</sup> Only one set of clothes was available to Security Centre inmates, while bathing facilities were accessible either periodically, or not at all.<sup>10605</sup> Food was consistently insufficient and consisted of a small portion distributed irregularly once or twice a day.<sup>10606</sup> Prisoners were shackled during interrogations, where verbal threats were issued by interrogators, causing a climate of uncertainty, fear and psychological distress.<sup>10607</sup> Throughout the Security Centre, detainees were subjected to the removal and unexplained disappearances of their fellow inmates, causing them to endure the psychological distress of having to speculate about their ultimate fates or concluding on the basis of limited information and common

<sup>10600</sup> Closing Order, paras 1434-1435, 1438.

<sup>10601</sup> See above, paras 3083, 3087, 3095, 3097, 3100-3102, 3104.

<sup>10602</sup> See above, paras 3085, 3099, 3102.

<sup>10603</sup> See above, para. 3099.

<sup>10604</sup> See above, para. 3085.

<sup>10605</sup> See above, paras 3085, 3099.

<sup>10606</sup> See above, paras 3086, 3099.

<sup>10607</sup> See above, para. 3134.

narratives that these people had been sent to their deaths.<sup>10608</sup>

3154. The Chamber has before it limited out-of-court accounts of solitary detention, beatings, the hanging of prisoners upside down and further physical assaults inflicted upon them leading to unconsciousness and death.<sup>10609</sup> The Chamber finds these accounts to be representative of a pattern of ill-treatment meted out to prisoners across Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

3155. Detainees were despondent as a result of their detention at Phnom Kraol, expressing that they “had no hope of surviving” after their arrest and detention at K-17 or that, “after our arrest, we would be dead”.<sup>10610</sup> Detainees dared not complain about their conditions of detention and feared being killed if they spoke to guards or failed to follow Angkar’s instructions.<sup>10611</sup> They were accused of being traitors of the regime of enemy collaborators,<sup>10612</sup> and were subjected to the unexplained disappearances of their fellow inmates.<sup>10613</sup>

3156. The Chamber is satisfied that the foregoing acts cumulatively constitute the infliction of serious mental and physical suffering to detainees as well as a serious attack on their human dignity.

3157. In assessing the gravity of these acts, the Chamber takes into account their pervasiveness throughout the span of prisoners’ incarceration at Phnom Kraol and the serious nature of mental and physical suffering caused as a result. The Chamber accordingly finds that the foregoing acts cumulatively rise to the same gravity of other crimes against humanity. The actus reus of other inhumane acts is therefore satisfied.

3158. In assessing the intent of Security Centre staff to engage in the above acts, the Chamber takes into account the relentless barrage of physical and psychological attacks to which they subjected detainees throughout the span of their detention, including during detention, interrogations and work assignments, as well as the deliberate infliction of underlying acts that the Chamber has found to constitute crimes against

<sup>10608</sup> See above, paras 3090, 3095, 3097-3098, 3104.

<sup>10609</sup> See above, paras 3095, 3100-3101.

<sup>10610</sup> See above, para. 3081.

<sup>10611</sup> See above, paras 3086, 3088, 3095, 3104.

<sup>10612</sup> See above, paras 3089, 3095, 3099, 3102.

<sup>10613</sup> See above, paras 3087, 3090, 3095, 3097, 3102.

humanity. The Chamber finds that the infliction of serious mental and physical suffering to detainees, as well as the serious attack upon their human dignity, was committed intentionally. The mens rea of other inhumane acts is therefore satisfied.

3159. Having established the requisite elements, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity is established at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

12.5.8.8. Other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances

3160. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances at Phnom Kraol Security Centre. It charges that the arrest, detention or abduction of victims in conditions which placed them outside of the protection of the law, as well as the refusal to provide access to, or convey information about, the fate or whereabouts of such persons were perpetrated at Phnom Kraol. It particularises that victims endured great suffering, serious mental suffering or injury, or a serious attack on human dignity as a result.<sup>10614</sup> The Chamber has already dismissed the KHIEU Samphan Defence's submission that the Chamber is seised of enforced disappearances at Phnom Kraol Security Centre only insofar as they relate to K-17.<sup>10615</sup>

3161. The Chamber has found that detainees were removed without explanation from K-17.<sup>10616</sup> It has also found that conditions at K-11 and Phnom Kraol Prison were consistent with those found at K-17 and representative of conditions at the Security Centre as a whole.<sup>10617</sup> At the Security Centre, prisoners were subjected to the disappearance of fellow inmates without being told the reasons for their disappearances, leaving them with the belief that they had been killed.<sup>10618</sup> One account before the Chamber revealed that prisoners were told that they were being returned to their home villages, after which time they were never seen again.<sup>10619</sup> Other witnesses variously heard, either at the time or shortly after the fall of the DK regime, that prisoners had

<sup>10614</sup> Closing Order, paras 1470-1474.

<sup>10615</sup> Section 2.5.6.3: Limitation of the Scope of the Trial to the Facts Contained in the Introductory Submission or Supplementary Submissions.

<sup>10616</sup> See above, para. 3090.

<sup>10617</sup> See above, para. 3102.

<sup>10618</sup> See above, paras 3087, 3090, 3095, 3097, 3102.

<sup>10619</sup> See above, para. 3097.

been transported in the direction of Kratie,<sup>10620</sup> with some accounts specifying that prisoners were taken there to be killed.<sup>10621</sup> The Chamber has accordingly satisfied itself that prisoners were in fact transported in the direction of Kratie after being removed from Phnom Kraol without explanation.<sup>10622</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the removal of prisoners constitutes the deprivation of liberty. It is further satisfied that the foregoing circumstances demonstrate both the refusal to disclose information to fellow detainees or family members regarding the fate or whereabouts of detainees who had disappeared and, in circumstances where some indication was provided as to their ultimate fates, a complete denial of individual recourse for fellow inmates, family or friends to the applicable legal remedies and procedural guarantees enshrined under international law.

3162. Disappearances at Phnom Kraol were consistent with evidence of prisoner disappearances at other detention facilities in Sector 105.<sup>10623</sup> Former Sector 105 Secretary SAO Sarun saw people being summoned to attend “study sessions”, after which they were never again seen.<sup>10624</sup> This practice was separately corroborated by former Sector 105 Secretary Laing’s assistants and children.<sup>10625</sup> In light of Phnom Kraol’s direct subordination to Sector 105, which was itself overseen by the Party Centre, the Chamber is satisfied that disappearances at the Security Centre were carried out by DK authorities or with the authorisation, support or acquiescence of the CPK.

3163. The Chamber is satisfied that prisoners’ removals by DK authorities from detention at Phnom Kraol absent reasons, under pretence or without remedy constituted the deprivation of individual liberty. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the underlying conduct of enforced disappearances is established at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

3164. The Chamber finds that the abduction of prisoners in the above circumstances inherently constitutes a serious attack on their human dignity. As to third parties, the evidence demonstrated the long-lasting psychological effect of disappearances on other

---

<sup>10620</sup> See above, paras 3090, 3095-3096, 3114.

<sup>10621</sup> See above, paras 3090, 3096.

<sup>10622</sup> See above, para. 3114.

<sup>10623</sup> See above, paras 3053, 3055, 3077, 3078, 3081.

<sup>10624</sup> See above, paras 3040, 3077, 3082.

<sup>10625</sup> See above, paras 3036, 3055, 3077.

prisoners. Inmates were subjected not only to the unexplained disappearances of their fellow prisoners, but were subjected to an environment of uncertainty and fear of themselves being removed from the Security Centre to a destination and fate unknown. As to those family members, friends, acquaintances and fellow inmates of those who were abducted, it is clear that no closure or definitive explanation was afforded to them in the nearly 40 year years following their disappearances, leaving them to speculate about their ultimate fates or to conclude on the basis of limited information and common narratives that these people had been sent to their deaths.<sup>10626</sup> The Chamber finds that the removal of prisoners resulted in the serious mental and physical suffering or injury to third parties and constituted a serious attack on their human dignity. The Chamber accordingly finds that enforced disappearances at Phnom Kraol were of a nature and gravity similar to other enumerated crimes against humanity. The actus reus of the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts is therefore established.

3165. In assessing the intent of Security Centre staff to engage in the above acts, the Chamber takes into consideration the existence of pretence and total absence of reasons furnished in the abduction of prisoners at Phnom Kraol, the climate of uncertainty created by these disappearances, the vulnerability of other inmates who were exposed to these conditions, and the long-lasting pain and suffering inflicted upon fellow inmates, family members and friends deprived of closure. The Chamber is satisfied that this egregious disregard for individual and collective rights is consistent with a pattern of wanton and calculated conduct. The Chamber finds that the serious attacks on human dignity were committed intentionally. The mens rea of the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts is therefore established.

3166. Having found that the enforced disappearances of prisoners entailed the intentional and serious attack on human dignity of a seriousness comparable to other inhumane acts, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances is established at Phnom Kraol Security Centre.

---

<sup>10626</sup> See above, paras 3090, 3095, 3097-3098, 3104.

13. TREATMENT OF TARGETED GROUPS

3167. According to the Closing Order, one of the CPK policies was to implement and defend the socialist revolution through the targeting of specific groups, occurring throughout Cambodia from before 1975 and continuing at least until 6 January 1979.<sup>10627</sup> The Closing Order charges that an objective of this policy was to establish a homogeneous society without divisions based on class, ethnicity, nationality, religion or culture.<sup>10628</sup> It further alleges that another objective of this policy was to target and destroy specific groups.<sup>10629</sup> The targeted groups listed in the Closing Order are the following: the Buddhists, Cham, Vietnamese, and former officials of the Khmer Republic (including civil servants and former military personnel) and their families.<sup>10630</sup>

13.1. Treatment of Buddhists

13.1.1. Closing Order

3168. The Closing Order charges the Accused with crimes against humanity of murder and persecution on religious grounds with respect to Buddhist groups in Cambodia.<sup>10631</sup> According to the Closing Order, one of the five CPK policies implemented to further and defend the CPK Socialist revolution was to target Buddhist groups with the objective of establishing an atheistic and homogenous society. This policy began on or before 17 April 1975 and continued until at least 6 January 1979.<sup>10632</sup>

13.1.2. Findings

3169. Pursuant to the Case 002 Additional Severance Decision, the Chamber is limited to considering the implementation of this policy through the crimes against humanity of murder and persecution on religious grounds in relation to the Tram Kak

---

<sup>10627</sup> Closing Order, para. 205.

<sup>10628</sup> Closing Order, para. 207.

<sup>10629</sup> Closing Order, para. 207.

<sup>10630</sup> Closing Order, para. 205.

<sup>10631</sup> Closing Order, paras 1373, 1419, 1421.

<sup>10632</sup> Closing Order, paras 158, 205, 207, 210, 1419, 1421.

Cooperatives.<sup>10633</sup> As such, the Chamber's factual and legal findings regarding the treatment of Buddhist groups are discussed in that section of the Judgement.<sup>10634</sup>

13.2. Treatment of the Cham

13.2.1. Closing Order and Scope of the Charges

3170. In relation to the targeting of the Cham, the Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime of genocide by killing members of the group,<sup>10635</sup> as well as the following crimes against humanity: (i) murder;<sup>10636</sup> (ii) extermination;<sup>10637</sup> (iii) imprisonment;<sup>10638</sup> (iv) torture;<sup>10639</sup> (v) persecution on political<sup>10640</sup> and religious<sup>10641</sup> grounds; and other inhumane acts through (vi) attacks against human dignity<sup>10642</sup> and conduct characterised as (vii) forced transfer<sup>10643</sup> and (viii) enforced disappearances.<sup>10644</sup>

13.2.1.1. Party submissions relevant to the scope of the charges

3171. The Co-Prosecutors submit that, with regard to the charge of genocide by killing members of the Cham group, the scope of Case 002/02 encompasses all facts relevant to the treatment of Cham nationwide, while with regard to the charges of crimes against humanity of murder and extermination, the scope of Case 002/02 is limited to the facts which occurred at Trea Village and Wat Au Trakuon Security Centres. They do not seek convictions regarding the crime against humanity of torture against members of the Cham group as they understand this crime to fall outside the scope of Case 002/02.<sup>10645</sup>

<sup>10633</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, paras 3(x), 5(ii)(b)(1), 5(ii)(b)(8). See also, Annex I: Procedural History, paras 15-16.

<sup>10634</sup> Sections 10.1.9: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Treatment of Buddhists. See also, Section 16.4.3.3: Common Purpose: Targeting of Specific Groups: Buddhists.

<sup>10635</sup> Closing Order, paras 1336-1342.

<sup>10636</sup> Closing Order, paras 1373, 1374, 1377-1380.

<sup>10637</sup> Closing Order, paras 1381-1383, 1386-1390.

<sup>10638</sup> Closing Order, paras 1402-1403, 1406-1407.

<sup>10639</sup> Closing Order, paras 1408-1414.

<sup>10640</sup> Closing Order, paras 1415-1418.

<sup>10641</sup> Closing Order, paras 1419-1420.

<sup>10642</sup> Closing Order, paras 1434-1436, 1439-1440.

<sup>10643</sup> Closing Order, paras 1448-1452, 1454, 1456, 1460, 1462, 1463-1469.

<sup>10644</sup> Closing Order, paras 1470-1478.

<sup>10645</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, para. 1006.

3172. The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that the charges regarding crimes committed against members of the Cham group are limited to: (i) genocide by killing and (ii) extermination from 1977 in Kang Meas and Kroch Chhmar<sup>10646</sup> districts (excluding facts at Kroch Chhmar Security Centre), because the Closing Order lacks specificity and because these places are the only ones which are specifically mentioned in the Introductory and Supplementary Submissions with regard to the genocide of the Cham by killing, furthermore, that the Severance Decision excluded from Case 002/02 all charges relevant to the Kroch Chhmar Security Centre;<sup>10647</sup> (iii) murder from 1977 at Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre, also that the Severance Decision excluded from Case 002/02 all charges relevant to the Kroch Chhmar Security Centre;<sup>10648</sup> (iv) imprisonment and (v) torture at Trea Village Security Centre, because the charges relevant to the Kroch Chhmar Security Centre have been excluded from Case 002/02 by the Severance Decision and because the Co-Investigating Judges did not find that Cham were detained at Wat Au Trakuon, but rather that they were immediately killed. Further, the Closing Order clarifies that Cham suffered torture while they were questioned and detained, and therefore the geographical limitations concerning places relevant to the charges of torture similarly apply to the charges of imprisonment;<sup>10649</sup> and (vi) persecution on religious ground throughout the DK period but only with regard to the facts committed during the Movement of Population (“MOP”) Phase Two, because neither the Introductory nor the Supplementary Submissions mention the 1st January Dam Worksite as a place relevant to persecution on religious ground.<sup>10650</sup>

3173. The KHIEU Samphan Defence further submits that the Chamber is not seised of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity, forced transfer and enforced disappearance as crimes against humanity, affirming that the Severance Decision allegedly limited MOP Phase Two in Case 002/02 to facts related to persecution on religious grounds.<sup>10651</sup>

3174. The NUON Chea Defence contests the exclusion of the Kroch Chhmar Security Centre from the scope of the charges and reiterates its submission that this prevents the

<sup>10646</sup> Also Romanised as “Krauch Chhmar” and “Krouch Chhmar”.

<sup>10647</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1528-1539 (concerning the charges of genocide by killing), paras 1543-1546 (concerning the charges of extermination).

<sup>10648</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1540-1542.

<sup>10649</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1547-1552.

<sup>10650</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1560-1569.

<sup>10651</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1563-1565.

Chamber to make findings beyond reasonable doubt regarding the treatment of the Cham, “due to the exclusion of Kroch Chhmar Security Centre and the Chamber’s erroneous decisions not to hear OUK Bunchhoeun, HENG Samrin, and HUN Sen, key evidence in this regard is missing”.<sup>10652</sup>

3175. The Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers do not make specific submissions on the scope of the charges but nonetheless address the following facts: persecution through the prohibition of the practice of Cham Islam before 1975 and throughout the DK period;<sup>10653</sup> killings, arbitrary imprisonment and torture following the 1975 rebellion in Svay Kleang;<sup>10654</sup> other inhumane acts before, during and after the 1975 rebellion in Svay Kleang;<sup>10655</sup> other inhumane acts, murder and extermination during MOP Phase Two;<sup>10656</sup> genocide, imprisonment, and murder in Wat Au Trakuon and Trea Village Security Centres.<sup>10657</sup>

13.2.1.2. Discussion

3176. At the outset, the Chamber notes that the Severance Decision excluded facts at the Kroch Chhmar Security Centre<sup>10658</sup> and included facts related to MOP Phase Two limited to the treatment of the Cham, in the scope of the charges.<sup>10659</sup>

3177. Factual findings in the Closing Order on MOP Phase Two addresses specifically the Cham, stating that in 1975, after the Cham rebellions in the East Zone, Cham people were moved within Kampong Cham province, as well as from Kampong Cham province to Kratie, Kampong Thom and Battambang provinces, and that thousands of

<sup>10652</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 701-704.

<sup>10653</sup> Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers’ Closing Brief, paras 697-728.

<sup>10654</sup> Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers’ Closing Brief, paras 729-738.

<sup>10655</sup> Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers’ Closing Brief, paras 739-744.

<sup>10656</sup> Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers’ Closing Brief, paras 747-765.

<sup>10657</sup> Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers’ Closing Brief, paras 766-784.

<sup>10658</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, paras 2 (iv), 3 (xi).

<sup>10659</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, paras 2 (i), 3 (i); Case 002 Additional Severance Decision, para. 43 (“In particular, the Chamber notes that movement of the Cham minority forms the basis of religious persecution charges, as well as a means of implementing policies concerning movement of population (phase two) and treatment of targeted groups. The Chamber excluded the charges based on the policy concerning the treatment of the Cham, including charges of religious persecution, from the scope of Case 002/01. However, treatment of the Cham and charges of religious persecution, including in the course of population movement (phase two), have been included within the scope of Case 002/02. The Chamber has therefore also included within the scope of Case 002/02 the movement of population policy only insofar as the Closing Order alleges that it was implemented through movement of the Cham minority.”).

Cham people were relocated to the North and Northwest Zones.<sup>10660</sup> The Chamber is therefore seized of these specific movements with regard to the treatment of the Cham in relation to MOP Phase Two.

3178. Factual findings in the Closing Order regarding the treatment of the Cham outline the policy toward the Cham in Kampong Cham province prior to the DK period<sup>10661</sup> and provide facts about the treatment of the Cham throughout the DK period and throughout Cambodia.<sup>10662</sup>

3179. Concerning the KHIEU Samphan Defence's challenges to the Chamber's jurisdiction with respect to the charges of torture, genocide and extermination beyond Kang Meas and Kroch Chhmar districts, and to persecution on religious grounds with regard to the facts committed at the 1st January Dam Worksite, pointing to a lack of particularisation of these crimes in the Co-Prosecutors' Introductory and Supplementary Submissions, the Chamber recalls that it has already rejected this line of argument as belated.<sup>10663</sup>

3180. The Severance Decision excludes from the scope of Case 002/02 charges related to facts at the Kroch Chhmar Security Centre<sup>10664</sup> and the legal findings of the Closing Order combined with the Severance Decision further limit the treatment of the Cham as follows:

- (i) genocide by systematic killings of members of the group without temporal or geographical limitations;<sup>10665</sup>

<sup>10660</sup> Closing Order, paras 264-266.

<sup>10661</sup> Closing Order, paras 748-752 (these facts, which are relevant for context purposes, include restrictions on religious practices and Cham culture, expulsion, arrest, detention, torture and killing of religious leaders and Cham who resisted the restrictions).

<sup>10662</sup> Closing Order, paras 753-770, 776-789 (these facts, which are directly relevant to the charges, include restrictions on religious practices and Cham culture, arrest, beating, expulsion and killing of religious leaders and Cham who resisted the restrictions throughout Cambodia from 1975, which increased after the East Zone Cham rebellions, as well as waves of killings in the Central and East Zones in 1977 and 1978, specifically arrests in Kang Meas district and killings at the Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre in 1977, as well as arrests in Kroch Chhmar district and killings at the Trea Village Security Centre from mid-1978).

<sup>10663</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 165.

<sup>10664</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 3(xi).

<sup>10665</sup> Closing Order, para. 1336. See also, Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(i)(a).

- (ii) murder as a crime against humanity at Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre and through widespread killings from 1977;<sup>10666</sup>
- (iii) extermination as a crime against humanity during MOP Phase Two and, from 1977, “notably in the security centres of Trea Village and Wat Au Trakuon”;<sup>10667</sup>
- (iv) imprisonment in security centres as a crime against humanity throughout the DK period;<sup>10668</sup>
- (v) torture as a crime against humanity without temporal or geographical limitations;<sup>10669</sup>
- (vi) persecution on political grounds (limited to MOP Phase Two)<sup>10670</sup> and religious grounds (during MOP Phase Two, at 1st January Dam Worksite<sup>10671</sup> and with regard to the treatment of the Cham nationwide)<sup>10672</sup> as a crime against humanity;
- (vii) other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity as a crime against humanity (limited to MOP Phase Two);<sup>10673</sup>
- (viii) other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as forced transfer as a crime against humanity (limited to MOP Phase Two);<sup>10674</sup> and

<sup>10666</sup> Closing Order, para. 1378. See also, Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(1).

<sup>10667</sup> Closing Order, paras 1381, 1386. See also, Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(2).

<sup>10668</sup> Closing Order, paras 1402, 1404. See also, Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(5).

<sup>10669</sup> Closing Order, para. 1408. See also, Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(6).

<sup>10670</sup> Closing Order, paras 1416, 1418. See also, Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(7).

<sup>10671</sup> Section 11.2.22:1st January Dam Worksite: Treatment of Cham.

<sup>10672</sup> Closing Order, para. 1420. See also, Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(8).

<sup>10673</sup> Closing Order, paras 1434, 1436. See also, Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(11).

<sup>10674</sup> Closing Order, paras 1448, 1468. See also, Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(13).

- (ix) other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances as a crime against humanity (limited to MOP Phase Two).<sup>10675</sup>

3181. The Closing Order charges the Accused with torture with regard to the treatment of Cham without naming particular crime sites and the Chamber therefore sees no reason to limit this charge to the Kroch Chhmar District Security Centre as submitted by the Co-Prosecutors.<sup>10676</sup> The Chamber agrees however, that the Closing Order refers to torture suffered by Cham while they were detained and interrogated. The Chamber finds that the Accused were expressly charged with the crime against humanity of torture in relation to the treatment of the Cham at the Trea Village Security Centre from mid-1978, which falls within the scope of Case 002/02.<sup>10677</sup> As noted by the KHIEU Samphan Defence, the Closing Order makes no explicit allegation that Cham were tortured at Wat Au Trakuon and the Chamber therefore finds that torture as a crime against humanity is not charged with respect to that Security Centre.<sup>10678</sup> The Chamber further notes that the Closing Order specifically states that the Cham were “not detained at all”, but rather killed immediately at the Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre,<sup>10679</sup> and therefore finds that imprisonment as a crime against humanity is not charged with respect to that Security Centre either. The Chamber further recalls that facts relevant to Kroch Chhmar Security Centre have been excluded from the scope of Case 002/02 and that the Closing Order contains no specific charges concerning the torture of Cham detainees at S-21 or at Kraing Ta Chan Security Centres, nor in any other place of detention within the scope of the present trial. In light of the above, the Chamber finds that charges of torture and imprisonment as regard to the treatment of the Cham are limited to facts at the Trea Village Security Centre from mid-1978.

3182. Regarding MOP Phase Two limited to the treatment of the Cham, the Chamber notes that the Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex limits the scope of the relevant factual findings to paragraphs 266, 268, 281 of the Closing Order.<sup>10680</sup> These

<sup>10675</sup> Closing Order, para. 1470. See also, Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(14).

<sup>10676</sup> Closing Order, para. 1408; Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, para. 1006. See above, para. 3171.

<sup>10677</sup> Closing Order, paras 785-787, 1409.

<sup>10678</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1558-1559.

<sup>10679</sup> Closing Order, paras 783,1337.

<sup>10680</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 3(i).

paragraphs state that the Cham were relocated,<sup>10681</sup> organised into groups, some were separated and dispersed, some had to live in open spaces, some leaders and religious leaders were arrested and killed before the movement,<sup>10682</sup> and that the movement was designed to break them up.<sup>10683</sup> However, these paragraphs do not address living conditions during the movement of population nor killings and disappearances,<sup>10684</sup> which renders the Severance Decision self-contradictory with regard to extermination and other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity and conduct characterised as enforced disappearances. Indeed, while these crimes are specifically charged with regard to MOP Phase Two,<sup>10685</sup> their underlying factual conduct appears to be excluded from the scope of the case.

3183. The Chamber recalls that it is seised of facts which are detailed in the Closing Order, both in the section on factual findings and in the section of legal findings. The Chamber notes that the Severance Decision specifically includes paragraphs of the Closing Order addressing the legal findings of extermination,<sup>10686</sup> other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity,<sup>10687</sup> and other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances<sup>10688</sup> in relation to MOP Phase Two limited to the treatment of the Cham. The Chamber further notes that the legal findings dealing with these three crimes include details of facts described with sufficient specificity<sup>10689</sup> to satisfy the Chamber that both Defence teams were properly put on notice of the nature and the content of these three charges. The Chamber will therefore take into account such facts in analysing the evidence in relation to extermination, attacks against human dignity and conduct characterised as enforced disappearances during MOP Phase Two.

3184. The Chamber reads the Closing Order and the Severance Decision holistically, and notes that the factual findings state that widespread killings started in 1977. In light

---

<sup>10681</sup> Closing Order, para. 266.

<sup>10682</sup> Closing Order, para. 268.

<sup>10683</sup> Closing Order, para. 281.

<sup>10684</sup> For such factual allegations, see Closing Order, paras 269-274.

<sup>10685</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, paras 5(ii)(b)(2), 5(ii)(b)(11), 5(ii)(b)(14).

<sup>10686</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(2) referring to Closing Order, paras 1381-1390.

<sup>10687</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(11) referring to Closing Order, paras 1434-1441.

<sup>10688</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b)(14) referring to Closing Order, paras 1470-1478.

<sup>10689</sup> Closing Order, paras 1382-1383, 1387, 1435-1436, 1471-1474.

of the above, the Chamber finds that the scope of the charges regarding the treatment of the Cham encompasses facts related to the following:

- (i) genocide by killing members of the group from 1977, nationwide as regards the policy and limited to the Trea Village and Wat Au Trakuon Security Centres as regards the implementation of the policy;
- (ii) murder as a crime against humanity at Wat Au Trakuon and Trea Village Security Centres and through widespread killings from 1977;
- (iii) extermination as a crime against humanity, nationwide as regards the policy and limited to MOP Phase Two and the Trea Village and Wat Au Trakuon Security Centres and through widespread killings from 1977 as regards the implementation of the policy;
- (iv) imprisonment as a crime against humanity at the Trea Village Security Centre from mid-1978;
- (v) torture as a crime against humanity at the Trea Village Security Centre from mid-1978;
- (vi) persecution on political grounds during MOP Phase Two and on religious grounds as a crime against humanity during MOP Phase Two and nationwide throughout the DK period;
- (vii) other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity as a crime against humanity during MOP Phase Two;
- (viii) other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as forced transfer as a crime against humanity during MOP Phase Two; and
- (ix) other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances as a crime against humanity during MOP Phase Two.

13.2.2. *General Considerations of the Evidence*13.2.2.1. Credibility of SOH Kamrei (SOS Kamri)

3185. The Chamber notes the Defence submissions in relation to SOH Kamrei's lack of credibility; for his initial reluctance to testify and specifically for not testifying under oath (using the Koran).<sup>10690</sup> The Chamber notes that the Parties had the opportunity to cross-examine the witness on these matters and that SOH Kamrei, who is one member of Cambodia's Highest Council for Islamic Religious Affairs,<sup>10691</sup> explained that his initial reluctance to testify was for health reasons. He added that, based on his religion, he had the option to take the oath and he chose not to, as he was concerned he would not always recall everything he testified about in detail.<sup>10692</sup> The Chamber recalls that while SOH Kamrei did not take a religious oath, he did confirm he was telling the truth to the best of his recollection, which, in accordance with Rule 24.1 of the Internal Rules, is sufficient to satisfy the legal requirements for testifying before the Court.<sup>10693</sup> Furthermore, he was warned that false testimony is punishable under Cambodian Law.<sup>10694</sup> The Chamber draws no negative inference from his initial reluctance to testify or from his not taking the oath using the Koran.

3186. The Chamber also notes the Defence submissions in relation to SOH Kamrei's lack of credibility in light of the inconsistencies and contradictions between his interview record and his in-court testimony.<sup>10695</sup> The Chamber notes that eight years elapsed between SOH Kamrei's statement to the Co-Investigating Judges and his appearance in court.<sup>10696</sup> The Chamber recalls that it approaches testimonies given during various phases of the judicial process in a holistic manner.<sup>10697</sup> The Chamber finds that there are no major contradictions between SOH Kamrei's various accounts and considers that the minor inconsistencies and memory lapses noted by the Defence can be explained by the passage of time and related lapses of memory over time. It

<sup>10690</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, p. 73; NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 720-721; KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1851.

<sup>10691</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 57-58.

<sup>10692</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 13-14, 57-62.

<sup>10693</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 4, 15-16.

<sup>10694</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, p. 16.

<sup>10695</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1859-1863; NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 738.

<sup>10696</sup> SOH Kamrei Interview Record, 10 September 2008, E3/5216; T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1.

<sup>10697</sup> Section 12.2: S-21 Security Centre, paras 2086-2087.

considers his evidence as generally credible and rejects the Defence submissions in this regard.

3187. Turning to the content of SOH Kamrei's account, the Chamber notes that he stated having read part of a booklet in Ou Nong commune in late 1978<sup>10698</sup> outlining a plan to "totally smash" the Cham people.<sup>10699</sup> SOH Kamrei testified that he "only read the section about the enemy situation concerning the Cham people", not the entire booklet.<sup>10700</sup> He said the book was brought to him, along with other books, by a messenger as he and his colleagues waited in the office of the chief of Ou Nong commune.<sup>10701</sup> The messenger got the books from his superior's office and gave them to the witness to have something to read to pass the time as they waited for the commune chief.<sup>10702</sup> He stated that he read "Cham is the biggest enemy who must be totally smashed before 1980" and did not dare to read any further as he was scared.<sup>10703</sup> Both Defence teams made submissions pointing out the lack of additional documentary evidence corroborating its existence.<sup>10704</sup>

3188. While the Chamber does not doubt the accuracy of SOH Kamrei's statement as regards the existence of the booklet, it notes that SOH Kamrei's statement lacks sufficient specificity. In particular, SOH Kamrei was unable to provide details on the nature of the document, its author or the context in which the plan to "totally smash" the Cham people was written.<sup>10705</sup> The fact that SOH Kamrei remembered the title of the book, upon having his memory refreshed, as being "The Plan for Progressive

<sup>10698</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 33-34, 39-40, 69-71, 74-75, 97-98.

<sup>10699</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 28, 30, 34, 39-40 (cf. p. 70); SOH Kamrei Interview Record, 10 September 2008, E3/5216, p. 4, ERN (En) 00225497.

<sup>10700</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 70-73.

<sup>10701</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 33-34, 69-71, 98-101; SOH Kamrei Interview Record, E3/5216, ERN (En) 00225497.

<sup>10702</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 70-71, 98-99.

<sup>10703</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, p. 70; SOH Kamrei Interview Record, E3/5216, 10 September 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00225497.

<sup>10704</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1863; NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 738.

<sup>10705</sup> See also, Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime: Race, Power and Genocide in Cambodia under the Khmer Rouge, 1975-79, E3/1593, 1996, p. 280, ERN (En) 01150147 (reporting that YA Mat, a Cham from Kravar subdistrict (Central Zone), explained the scale of the killings of Cham people in his area by the fact that a 1978 "Document 163" from the Party Centre existed "about the Constitution of 1975-76" which stated that the "Cham race is not to be spared". Ben KIERNAN further notes that YA Mat's account was corroborated by OS El, another Cham displaced to Kravar subdistrict, who claimed to have seen a "Document 163" in June 1978. However, KIERNAN has not been able to obtain a copy of this document or confirm its authenticity. While this seems to indicate that the Party Centre distributed documents to the local level in order to purge the Cham, it is impossible to establish the existence or authenticity of such a document and the Chamber will not rely on this document to assess the alleged CPK policy against the Cham).

Cooperatives”,<sup>10706</sup> does not in itself provide sufficient specificity. The Chamber will therefore not rely on SOH Kamrei’s statement in assessing the alleged policy towards the Cham.

13.2.2.2. Credibility of PRAK Yut

3189. The NUON Chea Defence submits that PRAK Yut’s sixth WRI should be disregarded, notably because her viva voce testimony in Case 002/01 made no mention of the Cham and that her five previous Case 004 interview records “differed dramatically” from her sixth WRI.<sup>10707</sup> The NUON Chea Defence claims that in her sixth WRI, PRAK Yut “suddenly” said that she received clear orders to kill the Cham and that they originated from the upper echelon, higher than Sector 41 Secretary AO An.<sup>10708</sup> The Defence further alleges and that her in-court testimony in Case 002/02 was “consistent with her first five Case 004 interview records” and that she de facto recanted the evidence in her sixth WRI.<sup>10709</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that PRAK Yut’s in-court testimony was unclear and self-contradictory.<sup>10710</sup> The Co-Prosecutors have not specifically discussed her credibility but have relied heavily on her testimony. The Civil Party Co-Lawyers have not addressed this point.

3190. PRAK Yut was first a Southwest Zone cadre in Kampot district, then in Sector 35, when KANG Chap alias Sae was himself the deputy secretary of the Southwest Zone, and Secretary of Sector 35 (Kampot).<sup>10711</sup> While PRAK Yut did not provide clear details on her precise position when she was in the Southwest Zone, she testified in court that she was the head of a clothes-making unit in Sector 35.<sup>10712</sup> She was sent to the Central Zone when the purges were initiated and she was appointed Secretary of Kampong Siem district (Sector 41) in around February 1977. Her predecessors at the head of Kampong Siem district were among the first cadres of the Central Zone to be

<sup>10706</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, p. 70.

<sup>10707</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 722-729.

<sup>10708</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 724-725.

<sup>10709</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 727.

<sup>10710</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1676.

<sup>10711</sup> Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives, para. 906.

<sup>10712</sup> T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1 p. 87. PRAK Yut stated earlier that she “was in charge of Kampot district and was the chairwoman of the women’s affairs of the sector”. See PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/163, 21 July 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00364079.

purged. They entered S-21 in February 1977.<sup>10713</sup>

3191. PRAK Yut was heard by the Co-Investigating Judges six times.<sup>10714</sup> She had also previously provided a DC-Cam statement and testified in Case 002/01.<sup>10715</sup> The Chamber considers the Defence's submissions that PRAK Yut's sixth WRI is "suspicious" or "odd" to be without substance and therefore disregards them.<sup>10716</sup> The Chamber further notes that the witness has repeatedly stated in court that the orders to kill the Cham came from the upper echelon,<sup>10717</sup> thus confirming the content of her sixth WRI. The fact that her earlier statements, as reported in her previous interview records, do not contain "the whole truth" is addressed at the very beginning of her questioning by the Co-Prosecutor.<sup>10718</sup> Furthermore, insofar as PRAK Yut's sixth WRI differs from her previous statements, the Chamber notes that this is explicitly accounted for when she states she would like to "clarify" what orders she received and where they came from.<sup>10719</sup> This is not the first time this witness later gave supplemental information, as even in her fifth WRI, she explains that she withheld information in her previous interviews because she was worried about her safety.<sup>10720</sup> PRAK Yut appeared to have a general tendency to attenuate incriminating evidence with regard to CPK Policies. PRAK Yut also minimised her own conduct and in particular the role she played in relation to the orders she received about targeting the Cham. However, despite the aforementioned, the Chamber considers her testimony to have been otherwise detailed, consistent and generally credible, and notes that it is corroborated by the evidence of <sup>10713</sup> S-21 list of prisoners 'Smashed' on 8 July 1977, North Zone, E3/3861, ERN (En) 00657716 (entry no. 36, NOU Yan alias Sao, Secretary of Kampong Siem District, entry on 26 February 1977; entry no. 37, EL Tim alias Suy, Secretary of Kampong Siem District, entry on 26 February 1977). See also, Section 11.2: 1st January Dam Worksite, para. 1463 (Witness PECH Chim, Tram Kak District Secretary in the Southwest Zone, testified that he was transferred to the Central (old North) Zone in February 1977 along with KANG Chap alias CHAN Sam alias Sae, PRAK Yut, AO An alias Ta An, Phen and Sim. They were all sent to Phnom Penh by the Party to meet KE Pauk who subsequently took them to Kampong Cham in the Central (old North) Zone).

<sup>10714</sup> PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/163, 21 July 2009, ERN (En) 00364077; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/168, 29 July 2009, ERN (En) 00364074; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/164, 18 November 2009, ERN (En) 00407795; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/162, 19 November 2009, ERN (En) 00407802; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9499, 30 September 2014, ERN (En) 01063603; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9677, 21 August 2015, ERN (En) 01151266 ("PRAK Yut's sixth WRI").

<sup>10715</sup> PRAK Yut DC-Cam Interview, E3/9310, 13 August 2013, ERN (En) 01064224; T. 25 Jan 2012 (PRAK Yut), E1/33.1; T. 26 Jan 2012 (PRAK Yut), E1/34.1; T. 30 Jan 2012 (PRAK Yut), E1/35.1.

<sup>10716</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 725-729.

<sup>10717</sup> See e.g., T. 18 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/377.1, pp. 80-83; T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, pp. 9, 11, 13-15.

<sup>10718</sup> T. 18 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/377.1, pp. 79-80.

<sup>10719</sup> PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9677, 21 August 2015, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 01151270-01151271 (A8-A9). See also, T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, pp. 9-14.

<sup>10720</sup> PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9522, 28 May 2013, ERN (En) 01056219.

other witnesses such as YOU Vann.<sup>10721</sup>

13.2.2.3. Expert evidence

3192. Both the NUON Chea Defence and the KHIEU Samphan Defence submit in their respective Closing Briefs that experts YSA Osman and Alexander Laban HINTON, who testified on the treatment of targeted groups, lack credibility.<sup>10722</sup> They state that YSA Osman’s testimony is biased as he is himself a Cham and his research was “driven by a desire to confirm his preconceived belief that the Cham were victims of persecution and genocide”.<sup>10723</sup> They also submit that he has no formal training and that his evidence relies exclusively on testimonies that cannot be verified.<sup>10724</sup> The Co-Prosecutors did not expressly respond but rely heavily on YSA Osman’s evidence throughout their Closing Brief. The Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers make no relevant submissions on the issue. The Chamber recalls that, despite YSA Osman’s lack of an academic qualification, the Chamber decided to call him as an expert based on the “special knowledge” he gained through his practical experience and publications.<sup>10725</sup> The Chamber further noted the Defence’s allegations of bias and concerns with his “status as a victim and factual witness of the Khmer Rouge”, recalling that they are matters related to the evaluation of YSA Osman’s evidence. It found that the Parties would be in a position to test his impartiality and independence in court and decided to hear him as an expert, as well as on any relevant factual evidence it considered that he may be able to testify to.<sup>10726</sup>

3193. The Defence teams also submit that Alexander Laban HINTON’s evidence is biased, unreliable and unverifiable.<sup>10727</sup> They note, inter alia, that Alexander Laban HINTON’s sources are largely based on second-hand evidence since, in addition to personally interviewing people, he heavily relied on documentary evidence including other scholars’ publications, notably the work of Ben KIERNAN.<sup>10728</sup>

<sup>10721</sup> See also, MUOK Sengly Interview Record, E3/9744, 4 September 2015, ERN (En) 01152375-01152376. See below, para. 3219.

<sup>10722</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 712-719; KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 579-586, 1587-1605, 2226-2233.

<sup>10723</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 712; KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1589.

<sup>10724</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 712-714; KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1595-1600.

<sup>10725</sup> Decision of Designation of 2-TCE-95, E367, 18 September 2015, pp. 5-6, para. 10.

<sup>10726</sup> Decision of Designation of 2-TCE-95, E367, 18 September 2015, pp. 3, 6, paras 7, 11-12.

<sup>10727</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 715-719; KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 586, 2228-2231.

<sup>10728</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 716-717; KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 2225, 2230-2231.

3194. The Chamber recalls that an expert is an individual who has specialised knowledge, experience or skills and who could assist it in its understanding of specific issues in dispute requiring special knowledge in a particular field. Experts provide clarification, context or additional assistance for the purpose of a Chamber’s assessment of the evidence. They are not expected “to testify on disputed facts or about the acts, conduct, or criminal responsibility of an accused as would a fact witness”.<sup>10729</sup> The Chamber acknowledges that limited information is available concerning the expert’s sources and it concurs with the Supreme Court Chamber that “[w]here the sources are not fully accessible and verifiable, a diminished weight must be attributed to expert evidence derived from them, given the restricted possibility for the Parties and the court to test the experts’ conclusions”.<sup>10730</sup> The Chamber is not bound by the evidence or conclusions given by an expert.

3195. Regarding the expertise provided by Alexander Laban HINTON, the Chamber finds that his sources are not fully accessible and verifiable, which diminishes the weight of his conclusions. The Chamber will therefore use Alexander Laban HINTON’s evidence with due caution.<sup>10731</sup>

3196. Regarding the expertise provided by YSA Osman, the Chamber notes that his sources of information are identified. Some of the persons he interviewed for his books were also questioned by the Co-Investigating Judges and a number were heard in court, where they generally repeated their previous statements in a consistent manner. The Chamber finds that the occurrence of minor variations or lack of recollection in court can be explained by the passage of time. The Chamber therefore finds YSA Osman’s evidence to be generally reliable concerning the evidence he gathered. The Chamber will therefore approach his evidence, as contained in his conclusions, with due caution.

13.2.2.4. Demographic evidence

3197. The Chamber recalls its decision not to call Ewa Maria TABEAU to testify in Case 002/02 as “hearing her would not assist the Chamber in establishing legally relevant facts in this case”.<sup>10732</sup> However, the demographic expert report she co-authored is available on the Case File<sup>10733</sup> and is relied upon in the Closing Order primarily to prove large-scale deaths of Vietnamese and Cham.<sup>10734</sup> The Chamber recalls that when it contacted Ewa Maria TABEAU through WESU regarding this report, she responded that she required several months in order to update it.<sup>10735</sup> The Chamber further recalls its finding that the absence of relevant and reliable statistical data for the purposes of assessing a precise number of deaths attributable to the CPK leads to inherent uncertainty surrounding the use of demographic evidence.<sup>10736</sup> The Chamber has also found that determining a precise number of deaths during the DK period is not necessary for determining the alleged criminal liability of the Accused in this case.<sup>10737</sup> Noting these findings, as well as the response by Ewa Maria TABEAU (where she implied that her demographic report is outdated),<sup>10738</sup> the Chamber decides to not rely on it as evidence in Case 002/02.

<sup>10729</sup> Case 002/01 Appeal Judgement, para. 328. See also, Decision on Designation of 2-TCE-88, E388, 4 March 2016, pp. 4-5, paras 10-11.

<sup>10730</sup> Case 002/01 Appeal Judgement, para. 329.

<sup>10731</sup> Case 002/01 Appeal Judgement, para. 329. See also, Decision on Designation of 2-TCE-88, E388, 4 March 2016, pp. 6-7, para. 17.

13.2.3. Administrative Structures

3198. For the purposes of Case 002/02, three districts within Kampong Cham province are of particular importance with regard to the treatment of the Cham: Kroch Chhmar district (Sector 21, East Zone), Kampong Siem district (Sector 41, Central (old North) Zone) and Kang Meas district (Sector 41, Central (old North) Zone).<sup>10739</sup>

<sup>10732</sup> Decision on Witnesses, Civil Parties and Experts Proposed to be Heard in Case 002/02, E459, 18 July 2017, para. 191.

<sup>10733</sup> Demographic Expert Report, E3/2413, 30 September 2009, ERN (En) 00385243.

<sup>10734</sup> Closing Order, paras 747, 792-793.

<sup>10735</sup> Request for Oral Submissions on Parties’ Requests to hear testimony of Ewa Tabeau, E371/2, 29 August 2016, p. 2, ERN (En) 01324584.

<sup>10736</sup> Decision on Witnesses, Civil Parties and Experts Proposed to be Heard in Case 002/02, E459, 18 July 2017, para. 191; Decision on NUON Chea’s Request to Summons Patrick Heuveline and to Admit Two Related Documents, E444/1, 6 December 2016, para. 22.

<sup>10737</sup> Decision on Witnesses, Civil Parties and Experts Proposed to be Heard in Case 002/02, E459, 18 July 2017, para. 191; Decision on NUON Chea’s Request to Summons Patrick Heuveline and to Admit Two Related Documents, E444/1, 6 December 2016, para. 21.

<sup>10738</sup> Oral Submissions on Parties’ Requests to Hear Testimony of Ewa Tabeau, E371/2, 29 August 2016, p. 2, ERN (En) 01324584 (Dr. TABEAU stated that her report was eight years old).

<sup>10739</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, p. 2, ERN (En) 00981688; Closing Order, paras 771-789; Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, paras 26, 555; Map of Democratic Kampuchea, E3/475, 1976, ERN (En) 01577214. See also, Section 5: Administrative Structures, paras 376, 378; Section 11.2: 1st January Dam Worksite, para. 1455 (fn. 4984); KE Pauk Autobiography from 1949-1985, E3/2782, undated, ERN (En) 00089711-00089712; T. 14 December 2012 (SUON Kanil), E1/154.1, pp. 56-59 (testifying that after 17 April 1975, the old North Zone was transformed to be the Central Zone). However, in a telegram from April 1976, KE Pauk reports to POL Pot on the situation in the entire North Zone. See DK Telegram, Band 1100: Respectfully submitted to Brother Pol, E3/952, 2 April 1976, ERN (En) 00182658-00182660; Names of Prisoners Smashed on 22 July 1977 “Ministry of Public Works”,

13.2.3.1. Sector 21 (East Zone)

3199. During the period covered by the charges, Sector 21 was part of the East Zone,<sup>10740</sup> which was a battlefield.<sup>10741</sup> SAO Phim was the East Zone Secretary (as well as a member of the Standing Committee) from prior to 1970 until his death in June 1978.<sup>10742</sup> NUON Chea occasionally visited the East Zone to meet with him.<sup>10743</sup> Southwest Zone cadres took control of the East Zone between 1977 and 1978.<sup>10744</sup> SENG Hong alias Chan remained the Deputy Secretary of the East Zone until 1979.<sup>10745</sup> He also served as the Secretary of the “Twin-Sectors” 23 and 24 after Chhouk was arrested.<sup>10746</sup> In 1977, KE Pauk, the Secretary of the Central (old North) Zone, was placed in charge of the military in the East Zone along with SON Sen, who was in charge of the overall command of the soldiers.<sup>10747</sup> KE Pauk’s military position in the East Zone was added to his previous assignment. He was formally SAO Phim’s Deputy

---

E3/2285, various dates, ERN (En) 00873216, 00873255, 00873433; Section 13.3.4: Treatment of the Vietnamese: Administrative Structure. In addition, lists of prisoners sent to S-21 arriving from Sectors 41, 42, 43 and Division 117 until May 1977 are noted as arriving from the North Zone, whereas those arriving from those sectors after May 1977 are noted as arriving from the Central Zone.

<sup>10740</sup> Map of Democratic Kampuchea, E3/475, 1976, ERN (En) 01577214. See also, Book by B. Kiernan: Genocide and Democracy in Cambodia: The Khmer Rouge, the United Nations and the International Community, E3/3304, ERN (En) 00430229.

<sup>10741</sup> Section 5.1.7: Zones, Sectors, Districts and Sub-District Entities.

<sup>10742</sup> T. 7 November 2016 (LONG Sat), E1/496.1, p. 69; S-21 Notebook, E3/833, 17 December 1977, p. 35, ERN (En) 00184613; T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeun), E1/446.1, pp. 77-79; Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime: Race, Power and Genocide in Cambodia under the Khmer Rouge, 1975-79, E3/1593, p. xii, ERN (En) 01149989; Book by B. Kiernan: Genocide and Democracy in Cambodia: The Khmer Rouge, the United Nations and the International Community, E3/3304, p. 15, ERN (En) 00430242. See also, Case 002/01 Trial Judgement, para. 219, fn. 693. See also, Section 5: Administrative Structures, paras 378-379; Section 12.1: Internal Factions, paras 1994, 2053.

<sup>10743</sup> T. 18 April 2012 (SAUT Toeung), E1/63.1, pp. 68, 73-75, 73; T. 19 April 2012 (SAUT Toeung), E1/64.1, pp. 50, 53, 70-71; T. 5 December 2016 (SIN Oeng), E1/506.1, pp. 12-13, 19, 65-66.

<sup>10744</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 77; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 18-19; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, pp. 5-7. See also, Section 12.1.6.3.4: Purge of the East Zone. See below, paras 3202, 3272, 3274, 3277, 3283-3287.

<sup>10745</sup> T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeun), E1/446.1, pp. 26-28, 36-37, 55, 78, 95. See also, OUK Bunchhoeun Interview by Ben KIERNAN, E3/432, 30 September 1980, p. 14, ERN (En) 00542185; Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime: Race, Power and Genocide in Cambodia under the Khmer Rouge, 1975-79, E3/1593, p. xxii, ERN (En) 01149990; Book by B. Kiernan: Genocide and Democracy in Cambodia: The Khmer Rouge, the United Nations and the International Community, E3/3304, p. 15, ERN (En) 00430242. For more details on the structure of the East Zone, see Section 5: Administrative Structures, para. 378.

<sup>10746</sup> T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeun), E1/446.1, pp. 26-28, 36-37, 43-44, 55, 78, 95. MEAS Soeun also testified that MEAS Senghong alias Chan replaced the Sector 21 Secretary Phuong prior to passing this responsibility to TAUCH Chaem alias Soth. See T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeun), E1/446.1, pp. 36-37. See also, OUK Bunchhoeun Interview by Ben KIERNAN, E3/432, 30 September 1980, p. 14, ERN (En) 00542185; MEAS Soeun Interview Record, E3/5531, 18 December 2009, ERN (En) 00425894 (Answer 67); Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime: Race, Power and Genocide in Cambodia under the Khmer Rouge, 1975-79, E3/1593, p. xxii, ERN (En) 01149990; Book by B. Kiernan: Genocide and Democracy in Cambodia: The Khmer Rouge, the United Nations and the International Community, E3/3304, p. 15, ERN (En) 00430242 (Table 2).

<sup>10747</sup> T. 5 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/353.1, pp. 6-7, 67-72, 80-81.

in this post,<sup>10748</sup> but his involvement in the East Zone occurred concomitantly and increased with the progress of the purges of local cadres. Forces from the Central (old North) Zone were deployed along National Road 7 (at the time Kampong Cham province, including the districts on the east bank of the Mekong River above Kampong Cham, in particular Kroch Chhmar district),<sup>10749</sup> and this also coincided with the appointment of cadres from the Central (old North) Zone to replace local cadres who had been purged.<sup>10750</sup>

3200. At the sector level, Phuong was the first secretary of Sector 21 and he was later replaced by TAUCH Chaem alias Sot, who was also in charge of the army and security, until his death in 1978.<sup>10751</sup> Rin, who according to one witness was related to the Southwest Zone Secretary Ta Mok, took over as secretary of Sector 21 at the same time as SON Sen became secretary of the East Zone.<sup>10752</sup> At the district level, Pha was the secretary of Kroch Chhmar district until he was arrested on 25 May 1978.<sup>10753</sup> BAN Seak (BAN Siek) alias HANG Phos became the Kroch Chhmar District Secretary in 1978 and he reported to the Sector 21 Secretary Rin, who in turn reported to SON Sen.<sup>10754</sup> BAN Seak is related to KE Pauk's wife, SOU Soeurn.<sup>10755</sup> She was a member

<sup>10748</sup> T. 2 November 2016 (LONG Sat), E1/494.1, p. 69; OUK Bunchhoeun DC-Cam Interview, E3/387, 4 August 1990, pp. 17-18, ERN (En) 00350216-00350217 (stating that in October 1977, a battlefield was established along Route 7, under the chairmanship of SAO Phim and KE Pauk as deputy). See also, Section 5: Administrative Structures, para. 451.

<sup>10749</sup> T. 1 November 2016 (LONG Sat), E1/493.1, p. 95 (stating that KE Pauk's forces from the Centre were sent in December 1977); T. 2 November 2016 (LONG Sat), E1/494.1, p. 20 (stating that KE Pauk from the Central (old North) Zone was sent to the East Zone on 25 May 1978); POL Nhan Interview Record, E3/5554, 31 August 2009, pp. 5, 7, ERN (En) 00377401, 00377403; HENG Samrin Interview by Ben KIERNAN, E3/5593, 7 December 1992, ERN (En) 00651895 ("On H7, there was So Phim first and then they sent Pauk there"); OUK Bunchhoeun DC-Cam Interview, E3/387, 4 August 1990, pp. 17-18, ERN (En) 00350216-00350217 (stating that in October 1977, a battlefield was established along Route 7, under the chairmanship of SAO Phim and KE Pauk as deputy). See also, Section 5: Administrative Structures, para. 451.

<sup>10750</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat alias SALES Ahmat), E1/398.1, p. 29 ("After the purge, they would appoint different people to be in charge of the East Zone. They were all from the Central Zone."). BAN Seak, who is related to KE Pauk's wife SOU Soeurn, was also appointed in 1978. See below, para. 3200.

<sup>10751</sup> T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeun), E1/446.1, pp. 36-41; T. 30 June 2016 (MEAS Soeun), pp. 3-19; Book by B. Kiernan: Genocide and Democracy in Cambodia, E3/3304, ERN (En) 00430242.

<sup>10752</sup> T. 5 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/353.1, pp. 62-63. The Chamber notes that it is likely that Rin, Secretary of Sector 21, was "Ren", the son-in-law of Ta Mok and SON Sen's deputy at the General Staff as well as the Commander of a Division in the East Zone. See Section 12.1: Internal Factions, paras 2018 (fn. 6785), 2030, 2055.

<sup>10753</sup> T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeun), E1/446.1, pp. 64-65; MEAS Soeun Interview Record, E3/5531, 18 December 2009, ERN (En) 00425890 (Answer 48).

<sup>10754</sup> T. 5 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/353.1, pp. 62-63; BAN Siek Interview Record, E3/9517, 24 March 2014, ERN (En) 00984881 (Answer 58).

<sup>10755</sup> T. 5 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/353.1, pp. 9-10; T. 6 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/354.1, pp. 40-41, 55.

of the Preaek Prasab District Committee, and then moved to the Chamkar Leu district in 1975 to become the only female member of that District Committee.<sup>10756</sup>

13.2.3.2. Sector 41 (Central (old North) Zone)

3201. After April 1975, KE Pauk replaced KOY Thuon alias Thuch alias Khuon as the Secretary of the Central (old North) Zone,<sup>10757</sup> which consisted of parts of Kampong Cham, Kampong Thom and western Kratie (Sectors 41, 42 and 43).<sup>10758</sup> Sector 41 encompassed Prey Chhor, Cheung Prey, Kang Meas and Kampong Siem districts.<sup>10759</sup> The members of the Zone Committee under KE Pauk were initially CHO Chhan alias Sreng (Sector 41 Secretary and Central (old North) Zone Deputy Secretary), CHAN Mon alias Tol (Sector 42 Secretary) and KOAM Chan alias Chorn (Sector 43 Secretary),<sup>10760</sup> all of whom were later purged in around May 1977.<sup>10761</sup>

3202. Indeed, the Chamber recalls its finding that in 1977, Southwest Zone cadres

<sup>10756</sup> T. 4 June 2015 (SOU Soeurn), E1/310.1, pp. 13-15.

<sup>10757</sup> For an extensive analysis of the Central (old North) Zone administrative structure, see Section 5: Administrative Structures, paras 376-377; Section 11.2.6: Administrative Structures – Central (old North) Zone and (new) North Zone.

<sup>10758</sup> T. 14 December 2012 (SUON Kanil), E1/154.1, pp. 56-57 (following 17 April 1975, the old North Zone became the Central Zone); PRUM Sou Interview Record, E3/420, 24 November 2009, ERN (En) 00422380, 00422382 (in late 1977, NUON Chea announced the establishment of a new North Zone and appointed KANG Chap alias Sae as secretary and Ta Khim as Secretary of Sector 103); SENG Kimoeun Interview Record, E3/425, 17 December 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00421613; T. 4 June 2015 (SOU Soeurn), E1/310.1, pp. 12, 61; T. 5 June 2015 (SOU Soeurn), E1/311.1, pp. 36-37; KE Pauk Autobiography, E3/2782, undated, ERN (En) 00089709 (KE Pauk states that KOY Thuon alias Thuch was the Central (old North) Zone secretary from 1967), ERN (En) 00089711 (after the capture of Phnom Penh, the Central Committee reassigned KOY Thuon to be the Minister of Commerce and KE Pauk was made secretary of the newly designated Central Zone, with Sreng as his deputy, Tol and Chan as members); T. 19 May 2015 (OR Ho), E1/301.1, p. 10; T. 14 December 2012 (SUON Kanil), E1/154.1, pp. 56-59; T. 16 June 2015 (YEAN Lon), E1/317.1, p. 33 (KE Pauk was the head of the worksite). See also, S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10090, 22 January [year illegible], p. 55, ERN (En) 01399061.

<sup>10759</sup> KE Pauk Autobiography, E3/2782, undated, ERN (En) 00089713; T. 18 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/377.1, p. 105; T. 6 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/354.1, pp. 42-43, 46-47; SOU Soeun Interview Record, E3/5294, 5 July 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00360111. Sector 42 encompassed Tang Kok, Baray, Stung Trang, Chamkar Leu, and Prek Prasab districts, and Sector 43 encompassed Santuk, Kampong Svay and Stung districts. See Section 11.2.6: Administrative Structures – Central (old North) Zone and (new) North Zone.

<sup>10760</sup> T. 21 May 2015 (PECH Sokha), E1/303.1, pp. 5-7; PECH Sokha Interview Record, E3/403, 12 October 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00403003; KE Pauk Autobiography, E3/2782, undated, ERN (En) 00089711; KE Pich Vannak Interview Record, E3/35, 4 June 2009, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00346149-00346150 (the Central (old North) Zone Committee, composed of KE Pauk (Zone Secretary), Sreng (Sector 41), Tol (Sector 42) and Chan (Sector 43), was responsible for the dam project); T. 3 June 2015 (UTH Seng), E1/309.1, pp. 222-23 (UTH Seng testified that the 1st January Dam was under the responsibility of the zone based on the fact that there were workers from Sectors 42 and 43 present and the content of announcements on the loudspeakers); T. 30 July 2015 (OM Chy), E1/326.1, p. 70. For an extensive analysis of the evolution of the Central Zone administrative structure following the purges, see Section 11.2.7: Purges of Cadres in the Central (old North) Zone.

<sup>10761</sup> KE Pauk Autobiography, E3/2782, undated, ERN (En) 00089713; T. 19 May 2015 (OR Ho), E1/301.1, pp. 55-56 (OR Ho also testified that Sector 42 Chairman Tol (CHAN Mon alias Tol), Sector were sent to the Central (old North) Zone by the Standing Committee to conduct purges. At that time, KE Pauk remained the Zone Secretary during the purges,<sup>10762</sup> a number of his relatives kept important positions within the administrative hierarchy of the Zone or were even promoted,<sup>10763</sup> and under the his direction the Southwest Zone cadres also took over leadership positions and arrested dozens of cadres who were sent to S-21.<sup>10764</sup> AO An alias Ta An replaced CHUN Chhum alias Taing as Sector 41 Secretary.<sup>10765</sup> Sim became Prey Chhor District Secretary and was in charge of internal security in Sector 41.<sup>10766</sup> AO An reported to KE Pauk, who in turn sent reports to Angkar, copying NUON Chea at the Party Centre level.<sup>10767</sup> Within Sector 41, PRAK Yut became the Secretary of Kampong Siem district in around February 1977.<sup>10768</sup> She reported to Sector 41 Secretary AO An and Zone Secretary KE Pauk.<sup>10769</sup> PRAK Yut testified that 43 Chairman Chan (KOAM Chan alias Chorn (Sector 43 Secretary), Baray District Committee members Sim and Ka had all been put in the security office and killed); T. 16 June 2015 (YEAN Lon), E1/317.1, p. 49 (Khy, Lim, Khoeun and Mom replaced the arrested commune chiefs); T. 20 May 2015 (PECH Sokha), E1/302.1, pp. 79-80; PECH Sokha Interview Record, E3/403, 12 October 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00403006 (PECH Sokha testified that his co-technicians Long and Hao disappeared. They were summoned by handwritten letter from Angkar which they showed to PECH Sokha and said goodbye. Because PECH Sokha never heard from LONG and Hao, he presumed that both had been arrested and killed); T. 14 December 2012 (SUON Kanil), E1/154.1, pp. 80-82 (SUON Kanil, the chief telegraph operator for the Central (old North) Zone, testified that “re-education” meant to arrest and that cadres were summoned by telegram or letter).

---

<sup>10762</sup> KE Pauk Autobiography, E3/2782, undated, ERN (En) 00089714.

<sup>10763</sup> KE Pauk’s wife, SOU Soeurn, was the Chamkar Leu District secretary. In addition, KE Pauk’s brother-in-law, Oeun, became the Sector 42 Secretary following the purge of the Zone. See T. 5 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/353.1, pp. 9-10, pp. 20, 34, 58-59; T. 6 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/354.1, pp. 40-41, 55 (BAN Seak was appointed Deputy Secretary of Chamkar Leu District by Oeun, after Oeun had been appointed Sector 42 Secretary around February or March 1977. BAN Seak was became later the Kroch Chhmar District Secretary in 1978. He is related to KE Pauk’s wife).

<sup>10764</sup> Section 11.2.7: Purges of Cadres in the Central (old North) Zone.

<sup>10765</sup> KE Pauk Autobiography, E3/2782, undated, ERN (En) 00089713-00089714; KE Pich Vannak Interview Record, E3/35, 4 June 2009, ERN (En) 00346151; T. 21 May 2015 (PECH Sokha), E1/303.1, pp. 5-8; PECH Sokha Interview Record, E3/403, 12 October 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00403003; S-21 list of prisoners from the North Zone, from 1 February 1977 to 27 March 1977, E3/2956, undated, p. 3, ERN (En) 00222967 (entry no. 56 CHUN Chhum alias Taing, Secretary, Sector [sic] 31, entry on 18 February 1977); S-21 Confession – CHUN Chhum alias Taing, E3/2464, 24 February 1977, 1-18 March 1977, ERN (En) 00786988-00787018; S-21 list of prisoners ‘Smashed’ on 8-7-77, North Zone, E3/3861, p. 7, ERN (En) 00657720 (entry no. 103, CHUM Chhun alias Taing, Secretary of Sector 41). See also, Prisoner Biography – CHUN Chhum alias Taing, E3/9303, undated, ERN (En) 01215103 (arrested on 18 February 1977).

<sup>10766</sup> AOM An DC-Cam Interview, E3/8987, 1 August 2011, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 01118146-01118147. Sim was later implicated as an enemy. See S-21 list of “North Zone people who are implicated by the enemies’ confessions”, E3/8871, 15 May 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 01400080.

<sup>10767</sup> T. 14 December 2012 (SUON Kanil), E1/154.1, pp. 96-101; DK Telegram, E3/519, 29 March 1978, ERN (En) 00377841.

<sup>10768</sup> PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9522, 28 May 2013, ERN (En) 01056214 (Answer 2). See above, para. 3190.

<sup>10769</sup> T. 25 January 2012 (PRAK Yut), E1/33.1, pp. 88, 90-93; T. 26 January 2012 (PRAK Yut), E1/34.1, pp. 71-72, 107; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9496, 19 June 2013, ERN (En) 01056224 (Answer 19); PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/163, 21 July 2009, ERN (En) 00364081.

she attended meetings every one to three months at the Zone Office in Kampong Cham town where KE Pauk and committee members of the Central (old North) Zone sectors were present.<sup>10770</sup> In Kang Meas district, also within Sector 41, Kan replaced CHUON Ol alias Meas as the district secretary after the arrival of the Southwest Zone cadres.<sup>10771</sup> At around the same time, Kan's wife, Pheap, became the chief of Peam Chi Kang commune, Kang Meas district.<sup>10772</sup>

13.2.4. The Cham in Cambodia as a Distinct Group

3203. The Closing Order identifies the Cham living in Cambodia as an ethnic and religious group who self-identified and were identified as such by others outside the group.<sup>10773</sup> All of the Parties agree on qualifying the Cham group as an ethnic and religious group within Cambodia.<sup>10774</sup>

3204. The Chamber finds that Cham living in Cambodia form a distinct religious and ethnic group within Cambodia who share a common language, culture, and practice a Hinduised form of Islam.<sup>10775</sup> Their cultural and religious traditions differ from those of the Khmer majority and, for those practising Islam, include praying five times a day, gathering at mosques to pray, celebrating Ramadan, reading the Koran, wearing religious attire such as a headscarf for women who would generally let their hair grow long, and refraining from eating meat that has not been prepared according to religious custom, or pork.<sup>10776</sup>

<sup>10770</sup> T. 25 January 2012 (PRAK Yut), E1/33.1, p. 93; T. 26 January 2012 (PRAK Yut), E1/34.1, pp. 70-72; 99-100; T. 30 January 2012 (PRAK Yut), E1/35.1, pp. 60-61; T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, pp. 19-20; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/163, 21 July 2009, ERN (En) 00364081; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9496, 19 June 2013, ERN (En) 01056230 (Answers 56, 58).

<sup>10771</sup> T. 18 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/377.1, pp. 105-106; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9522, ERN (En) 01056217 (Answer 23); T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 33-34; List of prisoners 'smashed' on 8-7-77, North Zone, E3/3861, 9 July 1977, entry 35, ERN (En) 00657716.

<sup>10772</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 33-39; T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 19, 56, 111.

<sup>10773</sup> Closing Order, paras 745, 1336.

<sup>10774</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, paras 1007-1012; KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1837; NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 695. The Chamber notes that the Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers do not specifically address this issue but nonetheless refer to "the Cham", "Cham people" and "Cham victims" throughout their Closing Brief.

<sup>10775</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 71-72; T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, p. 38; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, p. 47; T. 15 March 2016 (Alexander HINTON), E1/402.1, pp. 98-99; Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, p. 254, ERN (En) 01150134; Book by Hean S.: Ethnic Groups in Cambodia, E3/3555, ERN (En) 00489300, 00489309, 00489313. See also, Section 3: Historical Background, paras 251-253.

<sup>10776</sup> T. 8 Jan 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 3-6; T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 68,

3205. In 1975, the Cham were Cambodia's largest indigenous minority and, although they were spread throughout the country, a majority of them lived in Kampong Cham province.<sup>10777</sup> The majority of the Cham lived together in predominantly Cham communities, often along the Mekong and Tonlé Sap rivers, and their primary economic activity was fishing.<sup>10778</sup> Muslims formed a near-majority in the Kroch Chhmar district, which was considered the heartland of Cambodia's Cham community.<sup>10779</sup> The Islamic community within Cambodia was led by the Mufti who appointed a Hakim in each village, responsible for maintaining religious observance, while the Tuon was responsible for Islamic teaching,<sup>10780</sup> and Imams led daily prayers.<sup>10781</sup>

13.2.5. Targeting of the Cham

3206. With respect to the targeting of Cham people living in Cambodia, the Closing Order alleges that this policy began as early as 1970 in some areas and escalated throughout the DK period until at least 6 January 1979. It clarifies that a pattern of forced displacements of Cham villagers began in approximately 1973 and escalated after 1975. It charges that throughout the DK regime, the CPK prohibited the Cham from practising their religion, imprisoned or killed Cham religious leaders and elders

---

110-111; T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, pp. 74-75; T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 57-59, 68; T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 38, 52-54; Book by Ysa O.: Oukoubah, E3/1822, ERN (En) 00078544-00078545; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion: Survivors' Stories from the Villages, E3/2653, ERN (En) 00219115.

<sup>10777</sup> T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 42-43; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, p. 47; Book by B. Kiernan: Orphans of Genocide: The Cham Muslims of Kampuchea Under Pol Pot, E3/9681, ERN (En) 01199563; Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, p. 254, ERN (En) 01150134; Book by M. Vickery: E3/1757, Cambodia 1975-1982, ERN (En) 00396927; Book by Farina S.: An Oral History of Cham Muslim Women in Cambodia under the Khmer Rouge Regime, E3/4519, ERN (En) 00554489; Book by Hean S.: Ethnic Groups in Cambodia, E3/3555, ERN (En) 00489353. See also, Section 3: Historical Background, para. 253.

<sup>10778</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, p. 10; T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeun), E1/446.1, pp. 84-85; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, pp. 49-50; MEAS Soeun Interview Record, E3/5531, 18 December 2009, ERN (En) 00425891 (Answer 53); Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, pp. 262-263, ERN (En) 01150138; Book by B. Kiernan: Orphans of Genocide, E3/9681, ERN (En) 01199567-01199568; Book by Farina S.: An Oral History of Cham Muslim Women in Cambodia under the Khmer Rouge Regime, E3/4519, ERN (En) 00554492; Book by Hean S.: Ethnic Groups in Cambodia, E3/3555, ERN (En) 00489320, 00489353.

<sup>10779</sup> T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1 pp. 43-44; Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, p. 255, ERN (En) 01150134. See also, T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 59-60.

<sup>10780</sup> T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 44-46; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, pp. 23-25; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion: Survivors' Stories from the Villages, E3/2653, ERN (En) 00219074; Book by Hean S.: Ethnic Groups in Cambodia, E3/3555, ERN (En) 00489336, 00489448; T. 6 Apr 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 43-44.

<sup>10781</sup> Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion: Survivors' Stories from the Villages, E3/2653, ERN (En) 00219074.

and Cham people who protested or continued to practice their religion, and prohibited the Cham culture, language and dress. It further alleges that from 1977 and throughout 1978, the CPK adopted a policy of destroying the Cham as a group, which manifested in mass executions.<sup>10782</sup> It charges the Accused with genocide by killing of the Cham, where a common technique was to arrest or gather all the Cham of a particular region and take them to be killed in groups at an execution site, and other non-Cham people were specifically and expressly excluded from the attacks.<sup>10783</sup>

3207. The Co-Prosecutors generally submit that, from the inception of the DK regime, the CPK policy with regard to the Cham was one to “eliminate” the group.<sup>10784</sup> The Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers submit that Civil Party evidence demonstrates the existence of a policy emanating from the “upper echelon” identifying the Cham as enemies.<sup>10785</sup> The NUON Chea Defence conversely submits that the evidence shows that the Cham “lived and worked under the same conditions as ethnic Khmers” and that no official CPK documents evince the targeting of the group.<sup>10786</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence generally points to the absence of plans specifically targeting the Cham.<sup>10787</sup>

13.2.5.1. Evidence of the CPK targeting the Cham in contemporaneous materials

3208. As explained in Section 3: Historical Background, the Cham mostly enjoyed good relations with the CPK as Khmer Rouge forces began taking control of Kampong Cham in 1970.<sup>10788</sup> This changed in 1972 and 1973,<sup>10789</sup> as prominent religious leaders were arrested and detained in Kroch Chhmar district,<sup>10790</sup> with mosques shut down,

<sup>10782</sup> Closing Order, paras 211-212, 1336-1337.

<sup>10783</sup> Closing Order, paras 1336-1338.

<sup>10784</sup> Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, para. 1005.

<sup>10785</sup> Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers’ Closing Brief, paras 725-728. With regard to the classification of “enemies”, see Section 16.3.2.1.3: Real or Perceived Enemies: Specific Categories of Enemies.

<sup>10786</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 735-736.

<sup>10787</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1682-1768, 1842-1877.

<sup>10788</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MEU Peou), E1/393.1, p. 19; T. 9 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/344.1, pp. 5-6; T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, p. 73; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 48; T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, p. 34; T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 3-4. See also, Section 3: Historical Background, paras 253, 255.

<sup>10789</sup> The Chamber recalls that, at the same period, FUNK promised to all Cambodians, among other things, the freedom of religion and belief. See FUNK Political Program, E3/1391, 3 May 1970, pp. 11-13, ERN (En) S00012638-S00012639.

<sup>10790</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 54, 74; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 82, T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 47-49; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, p. 36; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion: Survivors’ Stories from the Villages, E3/2653, p. 78, ERN (En) 00219139.

adherents pressured to stop practising Islam<sup>10791</sup> and some communities forced into cooperatives.<sup>10792</sup> The resultant tension escalated in November 1973, when Khmer Rouge cadres attempted to arrest and shoot a Cham villager in Trea village, causing the Cham community to protest and burn down a building.<sup>10793</sup> This uprising was swiftly crushed by Khmer Rouge forces and resulted in the expansion of arrests beyond religious leaders to the general Cham population in 1974.<sup>10794</sup>

3209. After the fall of Phnom Penh, CPK radio reports lauded the liberation of the country's "Moslems", among others. The reports hailed the "liberation" of "[a]ll our brothers and sisters from all circles and political tendencies, including our [...] Islamic brothers", their newfound "freedom" and commitment to harmonious cooperation in the spirit of the "revolutionary morale of the Cambodian people". Until October 1975 – which appears to be the last public mention of the Cham available on the Case File – reports asserted that the "fraternal Cambodian Moslems" of Kampong Cham continued to enjoy the improvement of living conditions, the freedom to preserve their religion and traditions, and were "guaranteed full democratic liberties".<sup>10795</sup>

<sup>10791</sup> T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 47-49; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion: Survivors' Stories from the Villages, E3/2653, p. 14, ERN (En) 00219075; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 79; T. 15 July 2013 (Stephen HEDER), E1/223.1, p. 102; Book by E. Becker: When the War was Over, E3/20, p. 252, ERN (En) 00237957; Book by P. Short: Pol Pot: The History of a Nightmare, E3/9, p. 230, ERN (En) 00396430. See also, Section 3: Historical Background, para. 255.

<sup>10792</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 79; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion: Survivors' Stories from the Villages, E3/2653, p. 8, ERN (En) 00219069 Section 3: Historical Background, para. 255.

<sup>10793</sup> T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, p. 59; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion: Survivors' Stories from the Villages, E3/2653, pp. 14-15, ERN (En) 00219075-00219076; Section 3: Historical Background, para. 255.

<sup>10794</sup> Section 3: Historical Background, paras 255-256.

<sup>10795</sup> NUFC Radio Boasts of Expanding Population in Liberated Zone (in FBIS collection), E3/488, 18 February 1975, ERN (En) 00166760 ("Many others [who were liberated] came from Phnom Penh city. They included [...] Cambodian Moslems"); Moslem Villagers Enjoy New Life After Liberation (in FBIS collection), E3/1366, 4 July 1975, ERN (En) 00167281 ("The Cambodian Moslems of Chrek Romiet village, Kompong Chhnang Province are very happy with their new life. Before liberation, they were severely oppressed and despised by the traitorous clique and lived a miserable life [...]. However, following liberation, the fraternal Cambodian Moslems of Chrak Romiet village have become the masters of water and land of their villages and communes. They enjoy the freedom to conduct business and increase[d] production for themselves [...]. They also enjoy the freedom to preserve their tradition and religion. Under the clear-sighted leadership of the revolutionary organisation of Cambodia they have strengthened their solidarity for mutual help and harmoniously live in a new society. [...] Their living conditions are improving every day. All fraternal Cambodian Moslems in Chrek Romiet village as well as other Moslems throughout the country are very happy and completely satisfied with their new life." [emphasis added]); Phnom Penh Radio Hails National Independence, Self-Sufficiency (in FBIS collection), E3/1366, 29 June 1975, ERN (En) 00167259; Radio Hails People's Efforts to Become Masters, Build Country (in FBIS collection), E3/1366, 30 June 1975, ERN (En) 00167260 ("All our people throughout the country, [...] including the Buddhists, Moslems and those of various other faiths, are cooperating harmoniously. They are helping each other in accordance with the tradition and high 3210. After the September 1975 Koh Phal and October 1975 Svay Khleang rebellions,<sup>10796</sup> in a telegram dated 30 November 1975, East Zone Secretary SAO Phim alias Chhon<sup>10797</sup> reported to POL Pot, with NUON Chea in copy, on mass transfers of people from the Chhloung, Peam Chileang and Kroch Chhmar districts, located in the East Zone, Sector 21, to the then North Zone (which would soon become the Central Zone), where they were supposed to be received in two locations: Stueng Trang and Preaek Prasab (Preah Prasab) districts before being further taken to the Northwest and Central (old North) Zone.<sup>10798</sup> People were collected and ferried to these locations but the reception sites categorically refused to take “Cambodian of Cham origin”.<sup>10799</sup> SAO Phim reports his concern on the matter and emphasises that the reason of the transfer was that the “Northwest Zone and the North Zone must receive [the Cham] in order to separate them from the banks of the Mekong River to ease tensions”.<sup>10800</sup> He later adds that the “transfer is in principle designed to disperse the Cham as per our previous discussion”.<sup>10801</sup> SAO Phim reminds POL Pot that the East Zone was supposed to transfer 50,000 people to the Central (old North) Zone, and that there was a “failure to follow Angkar’s advice”.<sup>10802</sup> He reports to POL Pot having “deported only the Cham from along the river and the border but not from Tboung Khmum district” and deciding to put the transfer on hold while awaiting “advice from you and the North Zone”.<sup>10803</sup> He adds that there were more than 100,000 Cham remaining in the East Zone and that “if the North Zone does not take the Cham, we are still willing to continue our revolutionary morale of the Cambodian people.”); Moslems Guaranteed Full Democratic Liberties (in FBIS collection), E3/272, 14 October 1975, ERN (En) 00167520 (“Along with enjoying a much more secure material life [after “liberation”], the fraternal Cambodian Moslems in Phum Antong Sar [Kampong Cham province] have received much help from the revolutionary organisation and are guaranteed full democratic liberties, including the freedom of belief and the freedom to work as they please. They are extremely proud of this and always express their deepest thanks to the Cambodian revolutionary organisation for having liberated them from all kinds of oppression and leading them toward progress and prosperity in all aspects.” [emphasis added]).

---

<sup>10796</sup> See below, paras 3251-3259.

<sup>10797</sup> Section 4.1: Factual Overview of the Temporal Scope of Case 002/02 (including the Nature of the Armed Conflict), fn. 771.

<sup>10798</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154, E3/1679], 30 November 1975, ERN (En) 00766762 (“Telegram 15”).

<sup>10799</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154, E3/1679], 30 November 1975, ERN (En) 00766762.

<sup>10800</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154, E3/1679], 30 November 1975, ERN (En) 00766762-00766763. See also, SMAN At Interview Record, E3/5204, ERN (En) 00242081; CHI Ly Interview Record, E3/5290, ERN (En) 00340170-00340171 (of the 267 families living in Koh Phal village, Krouch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province, only 96 remained after the fall of the Khmer Rouge regime. “More than half the population died or were killed during the Khmer Rouge Regime”).

<sup>10801</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154, E3/1679], 30 November 1975, ERN (En) 00766763.

<sup>10802</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154, E3/1679], 30 November 1975, ERN (En) 00766762.

<sup>10803</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154, E3/1679], 30 November 1975, ERN (En) 00766762-00766763.

endeavour to deal with them – no problem”.<sup>10804</sup> He warns however that “the population will not reach one hundred and fifty thousand (150,000) if the North Zone does not receive the Cham”.<sup>10805</sup>

3211. The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that the transfer of the population discussed in the telegram is part of the broader distribution of the population projected by the CPK and includes both Khmer and Cham people, the latter amounting to only a third of the population to be transferred.<sup>10806</sup> It adds that this transfer of populations living close to the border is related to the ongoing armed conflict with Vietnam rather than the Cham rebellions, and was not a result of any persecution on religious grounds.<sup>10807</sup> The NUON Chea Defence submits that the Cham were not the only target of this transfer, which was therefore not discriminatory,<sup>10808</sup> and that the transfer was not aimed at “punitively ‘break[ing] up’ the Cham” as no causal link between the rebellions could be established beyond reasonable doubt.<sup>10809</sup> The Co-Prosecutors rely on the telegram to establish the alleged Party Centre plan to destroy the Cham.<sup>10810</sup> The Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers do not refer to this document.

3212. In light of the above and taking into account the overall context, the Chamber finds that Telegram 15 establishes that the CPK specifically targeted the East Zone Cham population, especially the one residing along the Mekong River, after the September 1975 Koh Phal and October 1975 Svay Khleang rebellions. The Chamber concurs with the Defence that the transfer of 50,000 Cham from the East Zone to the Central (old North) Zone was part of a broader movement of populations aimed at distributing the population throughout Cambodia, but also notes that the Telegram 15 clarifies that “the transfer is in principle designed to disperse the Cham as per previous discussion” and that the “Northwest Zone and the North Zone must receive [the Cham] in order to separate them from the banks of the Mekong River to ease tensions”.<sup>10811</sup>

<sup>10804</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154, E3/1679], 30 November 1975, ERN (En) 00766762-00766763.

<sup>10805</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154, E3/1679], 30 November 1975, ERN (En) 00766763.

<sup>10806</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1617-1619.

<sup>10807</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1620-1623.

<sup>10808</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 776-777.

<sup>10809</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 780-782.

<sup>10810</sup> Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, para. 553.

<sup>10811</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154] [E3/1679], 30 November 1975, ERN (En) 00766762-00766763.

The Chamber understands the reference to this last purpose as a reference to the very recent rebellions of Koh Phal and Svay Khleang.

3213. This telegram also demonstrates the Party Centre's coordination: the policy regarding the Cham was set by the Party Centre and the Central (old North) Zone's failure to accept the Cham is described by SAO Phim as a "failure to follow Angkar's advice". In other words, the East Zone was obliged to first report from the zone level to POL Pot at the Centre level, and then wait for POL Pot's instruction.<sup>10812</sup>

3214. Additionally, the following DK documents show that during the DK period, Cham people were placed under high scrutiny in order to track down any suspicious activity and to prevent any risk of unrest. In a telegram dated 2 April 1976, the Cham in Chamkar Leu district in sector 42 Central (old North) Zone were identified as being implicated in enemy activity and were in particular considered as being associated with former LON Nol soldiers and former cooperative team chairmen.<sup>10813</sup> In September 1976, during a meeting at the General Staff of the secretaries of the Centre divisions and independent regiments, the alleged preparation of a Cham rebellion in Kampot Sector was discussed. According to the minutes of this meeting, it was reported, with regard to the Cham in Sre Cham village, Sre Cham commune, Prey Nob (Prey Nub) district, Kampot province, that "On 3 September, in Sre Cham village, a sound of gunfire was heard. And all Cham people together were sharpening their knives by stopping working in an attempt to rebel against Khmers."<sup>10814</sup> In a report dated 21 May 1977 addressed to the Northwest Zone, the Sector 5 Committee indicated that "special measures" were implemented in order to track down the head of a group of "17 April elements from Phnom Penh who were Cham nationals" and "sweep clean" the group

<sup>10812</sup> Section 6: Communication Structures, para. 483. See also, SUON Kanil Interview Record, E3/344, 18 August 2009, ERN (En) 00384435 ("Ke Pauk received the telegram about this matter from the Centre, not directly from the East Zone"). See below, para. 3262.

<sup>10813</sup> DK Telegram, E3/511 [E3/952], 2 April 1976, ERN (En) 00182658 ("The enemy situation in the entire North Zone. Fundamentally the enemy has not yet conducted any strong activity which has impacted the people or the production movement. In general the situation is stable but at the same time they have carried out some activities for example they made propaganda that the Revolution is strict, they made propaganda to resist the cooperatives and the new rice field dike system and they made propaganda about hunger. Specifically, some activity has happened in Chamkar Leu District. The enemies are former soldiers in combination with the Cham and former cooperative team chairmen. They used copies of a photo of Lon Nol and Nol's announcement of 18 March 70 to post on tree trunks near Trapeang Village in Chamkar Leu District and conducted other activities like burning forests and destroying crops like bananas papaya etc. Regarding the above enemy activity, the Zone has taken measures and instructed the Sectors to concentrate on tracking down these activities").

<sup>10814</sup> Minutes of Meeting Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions and Regiments, E3/800, 16 September 1976, ERN (En) 00184338.

which was attempting to assert their constitutional right to eat food in accordance with their religion.<sup>10815</sup>

3215. On this matter, the Chamber recalls that in January 1976, the DK Constitution was adopted, guaranteeing the right of worship of any religion to the exclusion of “[r]eactionary religions which are detrimental to Democratic Kampuchea and [the] Kampuchean people”.<sup>10816</sup> However, MATH Ly, who was a member of the People’s Representative Assembly,<sup>10817</sup> stated in his WRI that “after the liberalization in 1975, all religions were considered reactionary”.<sup>10818</sup> In accordance with the testimonial evidence provided by Expert YSA Osman,<sup>10819</sup> several witnesses and Civil Parties and discussed below,<sup>10820</sup> the Chamber finds that in practice, the CPK never implemented the right of freedom of religion, even within the limits of the purported protection provided for in the DK Constitution, and considered Islam to be “reactionary” and therefore “absolutely forbidden”.<sup>10821</sup> As noted by KAING Guek Eav alias Duch, the first sentence of Article 20 granting the right to religion “was a lie”.<sup>10822</sup>

3216. Contemporaneous CPK publications emphasise the absolute preponderance of the “Khmer race” in Cambodia during the DK period. An August 1977 DK Publication noted that the “people of Democratic Kampuchea include Khmers (99 per cent) and

<sup>10815</sup> Weekly Report of Sector 5 Committee, E3/178, 21 May 1977, p. 2, ERN (En) 00342709 (“The 17 April elements from Phnom Penh who were Cham nationals conducted a protest in the common kitchen of the cooperative concerning their belief in what they eat according to their religion by pointing at and referring to Article 10 of the Constitution; for this situation, we have taken special measures, that is, [to] look for their string, look for the head of their movement in order to sweep clean.”).

<sup>10816</sup> DK Constitution, E3/259, 5 January 1976, ERN (En) 00184838 (Article 20).

<sup>10817</sup> Document on Conference of Legislature, E3/165, 11-13 April 1976, p. 20, ERN (En) 00184067.

<sup>10818</sup> MATH Ly DC-Cam Interview, E3/7821, 27 March 2000, ERN (En) 00441581. The Chamber recalls that MATH Ly died in 2004 and therefore did not have the opportunity to testify.

<sup>10819</sup> T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, p. 97 (“[T]he DK regime defined a reactionary religion would include any religion, including Buddhism and Islamic. As a result all the monks, all the Buddhist monks, were defrocked and all the Buddhist temples were destroyed, all the mosques were destroyed and all parents and relatives were prohibited from practicing any religious belief. So among those religions, Islam was also prohibited.”).

<sup>10820</sup> See below, Section 13.2.6: Restrictions on Cham Religious and Cultural Practices.

<sup>10821</sup> See e.g., T. 6 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/371.1, pp. 95-97; T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 76-77; T. 9 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/344.1, p. 64; T. 19 June 2012 (YUN Kim), E1/88.1, p. 49; T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, p. 86; T. 27 August 2012 (EM Oeun), E1/115.1, pp. 8-9; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 48; T. 6 Dec 2012 (HUN Chhunly), E1/149.1, pp. 58-59. See also, MATH Ly DC-Cam Interview, E3/7821, 27 March 2000, ERN (En) 00441581; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, pp. 96-97; Section 10.1.9: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Treatment of Buddhists.

<sup>10822</sup> Duch Response to the Co-Investigation Judges’ Questions, E3/15, 21 October 2008, ERN (En) 00251374, fn. 1.

numerous national minorities living all together in the same and great family”.<sup>10823</sup> By 1978, Revolutionary Flag publications and state-sponsored “education programs” broadcasted on the radio were issuing intensified appeals to “defend” and “preserve” the “Kampuchean race”.<sup>10824</sup> KHIEU Samphan also stressed the importance of protecting and preserving “forever the fruits of the revolution and the Kampuchean race” during his speeches.<sup>10825</sup>

13.2.5.2. Evidence of the CPK targeting the Cham presented in court

3217. In-court evidence demonstrates that the CPK specifically targeted the Cham population living in Cambodia in a program which was expected to fully assimilate them into a single Khmer nation and identity. Civil Party PREAP Sokhoeurn, who was working in a girls’ unit in a cotton plantation, explained that “[t]he Cham people living in the union in 1975 were no longer considered Chams. They were like ordinary people. They were not allowed to practice their Cham religion.”<sup>10826</sup> HIM Man, a Cham villager from Sach Sou village, Peam Chi Kang commune, Kang Meas district, Kampong Cham province, further stated that in 1976, his village chief made announcements that the

<sup>10823</sup> DK Publication, Democratic Kampuchea is Moving Forward, E3/1388, undated, p. 6, ERN (En) S00050248.

<sup>10824</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, p. 9, ERN (En) 00519837 (“To defend Kampuchean territory means to defend the Kampuchean race”), 14, ERN (En) 00519842 (“We make our Army clean, our Party clean, our people clean, so that they can fight the enemy and defend Kampuchean territory, that is, defend the Kampuchean race.”); Past Year’s National Defence Efforts Reviewed (in FBIS collection), E3/1722, 10 May 1978, ERN (En) 00294788 (“1. Be resolutely determined to defend our territory. Defending Kampuchean territory means defending the Kampuchean race.”), ERN (En) 00294790 (“We must purify our armed forces, our party, and the people in order to continue fighting the enemy in defense of Kampuchean territory and the Kampuchean race for if we fail to do so our race will disappear.”); Strength of Popular Revolution Determines Strength of Country (in FBIS collection), E3/1363, 10 June 1978, ERN (En) 00169817 (“Making revolution means defending the country and preserving the Kampuchean race forever without becoming anyone’s slaves.”); Revolutionary Flag, E3/746, July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00428289 (“Currently, under the correct and wise leadership of our Communist Party of Kampuchea with Comrade Secretary POL POT at the head we are determined to maintain and defend our national country our people and our Kampuchean race so that it will persist and survive eternally.”); Revolutionary Army Stands Firm and Vigilant in Kratie (in FBIS collection), E3/76, 2 September 1978, ERN (En) 00170355; Armed Forces Meeting Supports Government Statement on SRC Aggression (in FBIS collection), E3/296, 3 January 1979, ERN (En) 00169311 (“We are fully aware of our duty to defend the nation our territory the Kampuchean people and the Kampuchean race entrusted to us by the party and the Government of Democratic Kampuchea.”). See also, Section 13.3: Treatment of the Vietnamese.

<sup>10825</sup> Sihanouk Attends Khieu Samphan Addresses KCP Banquet (in FBIS collection), E3/294, 30 September 1978, ERN (En) 00170170. See also, KHIEU Samphan Speech, E3/169, 17 April 1978, ERN (En) 00280398 (“We must defend tooth and nail the country the Revolution the power the people the Army the Party and the Kampuchean race.”); KHIEU Samphan Speech, E3/562, 15 April 1978, ERN (En) S00010559, S00010563-S00010564. See also, T. 3 July 2013 (EK Hen), E1/217.1, p. 47 (“He [KHIEU Samphan] said Khmer had to be united and Khmer shall be free of Vietnamese, or the ‘Yuon’, and that we had to love one another.”). See also, Section 13.3: Treatment of the Vietnamese.

<sup>10826</sup> T. 24 October 2016 (PREAP Sokhoeurn), E1/488.1, p. 5.

Khmer Rouge “wanted to make all of us into one flesh and one spirit. They wanted to convert the Cham into the Khmer. And because of such intent, they had to make sure there were no more Cham left, but only the Khmer.”<sup>10827</sup> OR Ho (AU Hau), who was the chief of Prey Srangae village, Ballangk commune, Sector 42, and later a work unit chief at the 1st January Dam Worksite, also heard from a “mid-level Angkar representative” that “in Kampuchea there would be [...] no New People, no Base People, no Javanese or no Cham, but one Khmer population”.<sup>10828</sup>

3218. The need to preserve the “Kampuchean race” was repeatedly expressed in CPK publications and the degree to which this “Kampuchean race” was inclusive of Cambodian ethnic and/or religious minorities was addressed by several witnesses, Civil Parties and experts. Witness SEN Srun, a former soldier and a palm tree climber who lived close to Wat Au Trakuon,<sup>10829</sup> testified that the “POL Pot regime” considered any race other than the Khmer people as enemies, “including the Cham people, the Vietnamese, the Chinese and even the New People”.<sup>10830</sup> Witness OR Ho also testified that the goal was to have “one single population” in Kampuchea; only ethnic Khmer.<sup>10831</sup> Several in-court accounts similarly described that, in requiring that the Cham be “the same” as the Khmer – including by wearing the same clothes as Khmer people and by only speaking Khmer<sup>10832</sup> – the Khmer Rouge effectively prevented the Cham from preserving their religious and cultural identity. Civil Party SENG Kuy, who was a Khmer rice farmer in Angkor Ban Village 2, Angkor Ban commune, Kang Meas

<sup>10827</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 76-77 referring to HIM Man Civil Party Application, E3/4706, ERN (En) 00417861; T. 20 May 2015 (OR Ho), E1/302.1, p. 60.

<sup>10828</sup> T. 20 May 2015 (OR Ho), E1/302.1, p. 60; T. 20 May 2015 (OR Ho), E1/301.1, p. 21 (“I knew that they only wanted to have only ethnic Khmer, but they failed to achieve that.”). See also, T. 10 February 2015 (Elizabeth BECKER), E1/260.1, pp. 52-53; Paper by S. Heder, Reassessing the Role of Senior Leaders and Local Officials in Democratic Kampuchea Crimes: Cambodian Accountability in Comparative Perspective, E3/4527, p. 25, ERN (En) 00661479; Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, pp. 266-269, 282-283, ERN (En) 01150140-01150141, 01150148; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion: Survivors’ Stories from the Villages, E3/9336, ERN (En) 00218503; Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, p. 282, ERN (En) 01150148 (reporting statements made by NAO Gha, a Cham peasant woman living in the Takeo region, who recalled CPK cadres stating that only Khmer language was allowed and: “There are no Vietnamese, Chinese, Javanese – only the Khmer race. Everyone is the same.” The Chamber notes the similarity with OR Ho’s testimony, whereas in a different location (Southwest Zone), which indicates common language in the CPK discourse at local levels).

<sup>10829</sup> See below, para. 3298.

<sup>10830</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, p. 98. See also, T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 49-50; SENG Srun Interview Record, E3/1692, p. 5, ERN (En) 00242088.

<sup>10831</sup> T. 19 May 2015 (OR Ho), E1/301.1, p. 21; T. 20 May 2015 (OR Ho), E1/302.1, p. 60.

<sup>10832</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, p. 20; T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, p. 11; T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, pp. 77-80; T. 25 May 2015 (MEAS Laihour), E1/304.1, pp. 109-110; MEAS Laihuo Interview Record, E3/9351, 20 November 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00244165.

district, and who directly saw arrests of Cham people in his area,<sup>10833</sup> explained this loss of identity in the following terms: “after Khmer Rouge had taken control of the area, Cham people were merged with Khmer people. Traditional clothes, religions, were abolished at the time and they were turned into Khmer people.”<sup>10834</sup> Similar evidence was provided by HIM Man, a Cham living in Sach Sou commune, who stated that “[t]hey wanted to make all of us into one flesh and one spirit. They wanted to convert the Cham into the Khmer. And because of such intent, they had to make sure there were no more Cham left, but only the Khmer.”<sup>10835</sup>

3219. PRAK Yut, the former Secretary of Kampong Siem district, Sector 41, Central (old North) Zone, testified that in 1977 she received an order from the sector level to purge the Cham and passed it on to her subordinates.<sup>10836</sup> SAY Doeun, who was a member, and at some point the chairman,<sup>10837</sup> of the Long Sword Group in Peam Chi Kang commune, Kang Meas district, Kampong Cham province similarly stated that he heard from the commune chief Pheap of a “plan that no Cham, no single Cham were to be spared”.<sup>10838</sup> In late 1978, he and his militia arrested entire Cham families, including parents and children.<sup>10839</sup> MUY Vanny, who was the “bodyguard” of the Wat Au Trakuon security chief Horn, stated that he heard of a “plan to exterminate all the Cham people”.<sup>10840</sup> SENG Kuy heard the chief of security in Angkor Ban commune, Kang Meas district, Kampong Cham province, Sector 41, Central (old North) Zone, who stated that they would kill all the Cham and not spare any of them.<sup>10841</sup> Similarly, SOS Romly, testified that in 1977, while he was a clerk in the Trea Commune Office in

<sup>10833</sup> See below, para. 3296.

<sup>10834</sup> T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, p. 73 (emphasis added).

<sup>10835</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 76-77 referring to HIM Man Civil Party Application, E3/4706, ERN (En) 00417861 (“The Khmer Rouge would broadcast announcements on a regular basis, indicating: ‘As of now, there are no longer any Cham, and no longer any Khmer. We are all part of the same nation, the Khmer nation. This is why we have to eat the same meal all together.’”). Concerning HIM Man’s experience as a survivor after he fled with his wife while the entire Cham population of his village was conducted to Wat Au Trakuon, see below, paras 3293-3295.

<sup>10836</sup> T. 18 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/377.1, pp. 79-82 (CS); T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, pp. 5-6, 9. See above, para. 3190.

<sup>10837</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 63-64.

<sup>10838</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 69-70.

<sup>10839</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 65-66, 92.

<sup>10840</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 65-66. See also, pp. 48 (“I heard people say that there was a plan to round up the Cham people”), 68 (“I heard from those people who were working in the pagoda”).

<sup>10841</sup> T. 10 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/345.1, pp. 28-32. The Chamber notes that SENG Kuy relied in part on this statement in reaching his personal conclusion that the Khmer Rouge “only wanted to have one pure race. They even killed their own Khmer people, so they would not spare any other ethnicity, including the Cham race.”. See T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, pp. 93-94.

Kroch Chhmar district, Sector 21, East Zone, he had a conversation with a regional security officer who was waiting to see the commune secretary. This regional security officer who was not aware that he was Cham, asked him questions about the fate of the people who were living there and SOS Romly explained that about only 80 to 85 per cent of Cham people were evacuated to the Central (old North) Zone and there were around 15 per cent left in the village. SOS Romly heard then the regional security officer stating that the Cham who had not been evacuated would be smashed and “none [...] would be spared”.<sup>10842</sup> The CPK targeting of the Cham was also mentioned in the written interviews of MATH Ly and CHEA Sim,<sup>10843</sup> and by experts who explained that the DK leadership advocated a notion of ethnic purity, which involved the purging and killing of minorities in the hope of achieving a pure Khmer race.<sup>10844</sup>

<sup>10842</sup> T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 16-17. See also, MUOK Sengly Interview Record, E3/9744, 4 September 2015, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 01152375-01152376 (Civil Party worked in a children’s unit in Kampong Siem district. He stated that there was a meeting presided over by PRAK Yut, the secretary of Kampong Siem district, where she explained the CPK policy towards Cham: “Q: Was there any meeting or announcement after they took the Cham away? A30: Yes, there was a big meeting attended by the children’s unit, mobile unit and the ‘base people’. Yeay Yuth, who was District Committee, said, ‘The Cham are the enemy of Angkar because they plan to rebel so Angkar has to smash them’. She said ‘If any Cham remain, this must be reported so they can be swept clean, because this is the plan of upper echelon.’ Yeay Yuth said, ‘Any base person hiding a Cham will also be considered an enemy.’”); Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, pp. 279-280, ERN (En) 01150146-01150147 (reporting statements made by YA Los, a Cham who was deported to Bak Sna subdistrict (Sector 42, Central Zone) and heard from his team chief that “The district Security chief, Von, called a meeting in 1977 [...] He said that the Cham were not to be spared [...] In three days [they] were to be rounded up and got rid of”).

<sup>10843</sup> MATH Ly DC-Cam Interview, E3/7821, 27 March 2000, ERN (En) 00441579 (stating that Cham alike Chinese and Vietnamese populations were all targeted and there was a policy against them.); CHEA Sim Interview by Ben KIERNAN, E3/1568, 3 December 1991, ERN (En) 00651868.

<sup>10844</sup> T. 10 February 2015 (Elizabeth BECKER), E1/260.1, pp. 52-53; Book by E. Becker: When the War was Over, E3/20, pp. 243, ERN (En) 00237948 (“The Khmer Rouge confused the idea of race with that of culture, creed, language, and nation, as had the Nazis. They arbitrarily decided that Cambodia’s minorities – the Chinese, the Chams, the ethnic Thais, and, on occasion, even the hill tribespeople – were a threat to the health and vitality of the Kampuchean nation. Their solution was to decree the assimilation of all people into a super-race of Kampuchean worker-peasants.”), 246, ERN (En) 00237951; T. 15 March 2016 (Alexander HINTON), E1/402.1, pp. 13-14. See also, T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, p. 18 (the Chamber notes that YSA Osman could not find any documents containing instructions by the Central Committee against the Cham but relied on several accounts, including SOH Kamrei’s, to conclude that “Cham people were gathered and brought for execution”); Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, p. 265, ERN (En) 01150139 (quoting interview of former Sector 21 Deputy Secretary OUK Bunchhoeun: “There was no policy of [allowing] minority nationalities. Everyone was mixed together. There was only one race – the Khmer”); Paper by S. Heder: Reassessing the Role of Senior Leaders and Local Officials in Democratic Kampuchea Crimes, E3/4527, p. 30, ERN (En) 00661484 (By early 1977, “the top [CPK] leadership [...] concluded that the Cham were beyond re-education, and therefore must be totally exterminated as such”).

13.2.5.3. Defence submissions regarding the targeting of the Cham: Unlawful activities and undifferentiated treatment

3220. The NUON Chea Defence submits that “security measures against certain Cham individuals were taken because of their actions, not their Cham identity” and that they were “only intended for those who were involved in wrongful activities”.<sup>10845</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that the Cham were not targeted because of their religion or ethnicity, but that they were living under the same conditions as any Khmer people under the CPK,<sup>10846</sup> and in some cases, were arrested in the aftermath of rebellions or in the context of armed conflict.<sup>10847</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence accepts that religious practices were prohibited by the CPK, but underlines that this applied to all religions and affected not only the Cham, but also the Khmer, Chinese, Buddhists and Catholics.<sup>10848</sup> The Co-Prosecutors submit that the Cham were first assimilated to the general population and therefore prevented from practicing their religion and cultural customs, those who resisted being killed, and that, from 1977, there existed a genocidal policy against them implemented through mass executions.<sup>10849</sup> The Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers submit that Cham were persecuted on the basis of their religion.<sup>10850</sup>

3221. As regards unlawful activities, the NUON Chea Defence underlines that PRAK Yut and YOU Vann testified that only the “bad” Cham were arrested or disappeared, while the “good people” among them were spared.<sup>10851</sup> Upon reviewing PRAK Yut’s

<sup>10845</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 748-752.

<sup>10846</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1645-1768, 1876.

<sup>10847</sup> See e.g., KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1681, 1706, 1709.

<sup>10848</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1657.

<sup>10849</sup> Co-Prosecutors Closing Brief, paras 1013-1028.

<sup>10850</sup> Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers’ Closing Brief, paras 697-728.

<sup>10851</sup> NUON Chea Brief, para. 751. See also, T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, pp. 11-12 (“A. As for all the Cham people in Kampong Siem district, despite the order from the upper echelon and upon my examination of the situation, I had to distinguish who were good and who were bad [sic] or who opposed and who did not. So before the arrests were carried out, I had to make sure only bad elements were arrested, and not every Cham was arrested. Some people were good while others were bad”), 13 (“When I reported, I reported that some Cham people needed to be smashed and some who were good elements needed to be kept. So since I was in my position, the killings of Cham people did take place in Kampong Siem district and there were arrests and executions but it doesn’t mean that the killing took place for all Cham. Those who were good, did not oppose or not sabotage in the district, were spared. So we purge only the bad elements that caused problem [sic].”), 14 (“I think that, regarding the Cham people -- we didn’t kill all the Cham people. In the entire district, we purged based on the order from the upper echelon.”); T. 21 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/380.1, pp. 11-12 (“Questioning by Judge FENZ: Now, when it comes to arrests, you said not all the Cham were arrested, so can you tell me which Cham were arrested? A. On the issue of the arrest of Cham people, there were category of Cham people who were arrested [sic]. So what kind of Cham people who were arrested, those who opposed the upper echelon [sic]. Cham people who live in the village and who were considered acting not normally within the testimony, the Chamber finds that PRAK Yut did, in fact, testify that she reported that some Cham were “good element[s]” who could be kept alive, and that she “had to make sure only bad elements were arrested, and not every Cham was arrested”.<sup>10852</sup> However, she also repeatedly testified that the order coming “from the upper echelon” was a general instruction “to purge specifically the Cham people”.<sup>10853</sup> Furthermore, she stated that the “upper echelon instructed [her] to identify all Cham people”.<sup>10854</sup> PRAK Yut further testified that the only exception she was aware of was her assistant and adopted daughter Pheap, whom she managed to spare in obtaining special permission from AO An not to list her along with the other Cham. She added that “no other Cham people were spared, nor did I ask to spare any other Cham to Ta An”.<sup>10855</sup> The Chamber therefore considers that PRAK Yut’s references to “bad elements” were mostly an attempt to downplay her role in the arrests of Cham people in her district. Likewise, YOU Vann’s two brief statements in relation to Cham with a “good background” being spared must be read in context. Notably, YOU Vann testified that the instructions she received were to list, inter alia, “ethnic Cham people”,<sup>10856</sup> and she repeatedly responded that she did not know whether only people who had done something wrong or who opposed the regime were placed on the lists.<sup>10857</sup> In any event, considering that to be deemed “good”, the Cham had to renounce their cultural and religious practices,<sup>10858</sup> the Chamber finds that the Defence’s submission of “bad elements” villages would be arrested. Q. Go ahead. I didn’t mean to interrupt. So let me see if I understood that correctly. There were two orders, at least. One was to make a list of all the Cham, and at a later stage, there was another order to arrest those Cham who were bad elements. Did I understand that correctly? A. Yes, that is correct”).

---

<sup>10852</sup> T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, pp. 11-12.

<sup>10853</sup> T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, pp. 9 (“I received an order either to smash or to kill the people. I, myself, did not involve in the smashing of the Cham people.”), 14; T. 18 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/377.1, pp. 81-82 (“There was an order from the sector level to us to purge the Cham. [...] I myself was also wondering why the Cham [...]. But the order came from the upper echelon, so I simply implemented it.”), 83 (“And by the time I learned that there was such great numbers of Cham people within the commune that is true that Cham people had been purged. The upper echelon instructed me to identify all Cham people within that commune.” (emphasis added)), 104 (“[R]egarding the decision of the purge toward the Cham people, I simply followed the order because [Ta An] was my superior.”). See also, PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9499, 30 September 2014, p. 8, ERN (En) 01063610; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9677, 21 August 2015, pp. 5-7, ERN (En) 01151271-01151272.

<sup>10854</sup> T. 18 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/377.1, p. 83 (emphasis added).

<sup>10855</sup> T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, pp. 14-17. See also, NHEM Kol Interview Record, E3/9548, 12 November 2013, p. 6, ERN (En) 00966999.

<sup>10856</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, p. 65.

<sup>10857</sup> T. 18 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/377.1, pp. 18-22.

<sup>10858</sup> See below, paras 3229-3250.

being those “involved in activities threatening public order or state security” bears no weight.<sup>10859</sup>

3222. As regards undifferentiated treatment, the NUON Chea Defence submits that BAN Seak, Duch and VAN Mat alias SALES Ahmat stated that there was no specific targeting of the Cham people but rather they were arrested as rebels or enemies regardless of their ethnicity or religion.<sup>10860</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence similarly refers to Duch’s and others’ testimonies, including of CPK cadres, to submit that the Cham were not specifically targeted by the CPK due to their religious beliefs or ethnicity, but rather that they were treated the same as the rest of the population under a Marxist regime.<sup>10861</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence refers to former CPK cadres TEP Poch, PECH Chim, PRAK Yut, Duch and MATH Ly as well as witnesses and experts Philip SHORT, François PONCHAUD, Stephen HEDER and Henri LOCARD who all stated that there was no policy targeting the Cham or no specific hatred toward the Cham expressed by the CPK.

3223. As discussed in detail below, the Chamber finds BAN Seak’s testimony in relation to the treatment of the Cham to lack credibility.<sup>10862</sup> The Chamber further finds that Duch’s alleged lack of knowledge on the matter is consistent with the evidence showing that he never attended the meetings of the Standing or Central Committees, and never received instructions from NUON Chea and the Standing Committee directly.<sup>10863</sup> However, the Chamber notes that he recognised that there was a “policy to evacuate all Muslim people, either the Cham or non-Cham, [...] to make sure that they abandoned their religion”.<sup>10864</sup> Finally, VAN Mat, a Cham from Chumnik village, Chumnik commune, Kroch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province, testified that commune and district chiefs in the East Zone were summoned to the Central (old North) Zone to attend a meeting in Kampong Thma, over which KE Pauk presided and during

<sup>10859</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 751.

<sup>10860</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 752.

<sup>10861</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1865-1877.

<sup>10862</sup> See below, para. 3273.

<sup>10863</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 28-29 (stating that SON Sen and Brother Nuon never instructed him about Cham people); T. 23 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/443.1, p. 105 (stating that no one was arrested because they were Cham and sent to S-21).

<sup>10864</sup> T. 3 April 2012 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/58.1, p. 22.

which they discussed “smashing” the Cham.<sup>10865</sup> He testified to overhearing that “Angkar gave the instruction to smash 100 per cent of the Cham and the targeted group that needed to be smashed needed to be the ones who betray the Angkar, regardless of their ethnicity, whether Cham or Khmer”.<sup>10866</sup> While the NUON Chea Defence focuses on the final part of the sentence stating “regardless of their ethnicity”, the Chamber notes that the instruction clearly includes killing 100 percent of the Cham. Furthermore, VAN Mat, testified that a few days after the meeting a group of between 400 to 500 people from his village and from places around were forced to board on boats at Svay Damnak village. Among this group the majority of people were Cham (“98 per cent”).<sup>10867</sup> VAN Mat clarified that he was also part of the evacuees which were brought to Stueng Trang, where they were received by people wearing Khmer Rouge military uniforms and carrying AK-47 rifles.<sup>10868</sup> He added that he jumped out of the boat, swam away and successfully fled. He further stated that those who were evacuated never returned, and that only “a small minority” of the evacuees were Khmer.<sup>10869</sup> VAN Mat also stated that when he was evacuated, the transfer of people had already started and the evacuation never stopped, with “thousands of people, including men, women and children, [being] evacuated before [him]”.<sup>10870</sup> The Chamber notes that the events described by the witness took place in Kroch Chhmar district and were contemporaneous with other arrests and killings of Cham in the same district, in particular at Trea Village Security Centre, which will be discussed below. The Chamber also notes that a number of Cham arrested at Trea village were members of mobile units and that these events occurred when the purge of East Zone cadres was ongoing and local cadres were replaced by people from the Southwest or the Central (old North) Zones who reported to KE Pauk, including BAN Seak, the then Secretary of Sector 21, who was related to him.

3224. The Chamber further notes that while VAN Mat testified that there were instructions to kill all the Cham at the meeting with KE Pauk, there is no evidence that the further implementation of such a policy was discussed at this meeting. Further, it is

<sup>10865</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 3, 9, 11, 28-33; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/9323, 2006, p. 18, ERN (En) 00218542; VAN Mat Interview Record, E3/8735, 15 July 2011, p. 3. ERN (En) 00722240.

<sup>10866</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, p. 32.

<sup>10867</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 39-40.

<sup>10868</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 42-43.

<sup>10869</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 42-45.

<sup>10870</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 39-40.

not clear from VAN Mat's other evidence whether the policy was to target the Cham specifically or was to purge all enemies.<sup>10871</sup> Notably, VAN Mat repeatedly stated that the CPK intended to purge all traitors in the Zone; not just the Cham.<sup>10872</sup> However, he testified that he not only heard that there were specific instructions from Angkar "to smash 100 per cent of the Cham", but also that KE Pauk was asking the new chiefs assigned to the East Zone if they had implemented "the policy of the Angkar regarding the smashing of the Cham".<sup>10873</sup> The witness also clarified "nothing was discussed about Cham, since Cham people were being transported out. They discussed only people or cadres from the East Zone at the time."<sup>10874</sup> When considered in its entirety, the Chamber considers that there are no substantive inconsistencies in VAN Mat's testimony and it accepts that after KE Pauk asked questions about the implementation of the policy to smash the Cham, this matter was not specifically raised again, first because the Cham issue at this time formed part of a general policy to smash all traitors and second because the implementation of the policy against the Cham which was to "smash" all of them, had already begun "since Cham people were being transported out".<sup>10875</sup>

3225. As regards TEP Poch, the Secretary of the Baray District Committee, who played an important role in monitoring Wat Baray Choan Dek Security Centre, the Chamber found that he attempted to deflect responsibility for certain events.<sup>10876</sup> Likewise, the Chamber found that PECH Chim, the former Tram Kak District Secretary who was appointed as the head of the rubber plantation at Chamkar Andoung in Sector 42, attempted to downplay his responsibility at times.<sup>10877</sup> In light of the likelihood that both of them (who came from Southwest Zone at the time of the purges in the Central Zone) attempted to minimise their roles as CPK cadres in the hunt for enemies, the <sup>10871</sup> See e.g., T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, p. 32 ("I heard from the loudspeaker that the new chiefs assigned to the East Zone needed to implement the policy of the Angkar regarding the smashing of the Cham"); Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion: Survivors' Stories from the Villages [extract], E3/9323, 2006, p. 18, ERN (En) 00218542; VAN Mat Interview Record, E3/5209, 15 August 2008, p. 3 (indicating that there was a policy to specifically target the Cham). Cf. T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 57-59, 103; VAN Mat Interview Record, E3/8735, 15 July 2011, p. 3. ERN (En) 00722240 (stating that there was no specific policy of targeting the Cham).

<sup>10872</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 32, 34, 56-59, 77-78, 86-87, 103.

<sup>10873</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, p. 32. See also, p. 58 ("The questions were asked about Cham, Khmer and the plan was to purge East Zone cadres.")

<sup>10874</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, p. 57.

<sup>10875</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, p. 57.

<sup>10876</sup> Section 11.2: 1st January Dam Worksite, paras 1570-1571.

<sup>10877</sup> Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives, para. 2702.

Chamber accords minimum weight to their statements that there existed no plan to purge the Cham. In light of the otherwise compelling evidence, the Chamber finds that their accounts do not cast substantial doubt that such a plan indeed existed.

3226. As regards the expert evidence noted by the Defence, and while negating that a genocide happened during the DK period, expert François PONCHAUD clearly stated that, at least from 1978, the Cham were targeted as such by the CPK.<sup>10878</sup> He explained that at first, Cham who “did not follow the Khmer Rouge, they would be in danger”.<sup>10879</sup> He further stated that there was a shift in 1978 whereby the Khmer Rouge “searched for the Cham [...] because of the conflict between Cambodia and Vietnam, and the ethnic Cham were suspected of supporting the Vietnamese”.<sup>10880</sup> Similarly, expert Stephen HEDER noted that Cham were targeted from the start of the DK period,<sup>10881</sup> and that a shift occurred early 1977 when “the top [CPK] leadership [...] concluded that the Cham were beyond re-education, and therefore must be totally exterminated as

---

<sup>10878</sup> T. 11 April 2013 (François PONCHAUD), EI/180.1, p. 39 (“As for the Cham, I think the same applies to them. They were not persecuted, in any case not until 1978. After that, it was different. They simply had to fall into the Khmer Rouge mould, the ‘new man’ of the Khmer Rouge and they couldn’t get out of it. And since the Cham have their own ancestral clothing and food traditions those who did not participate did not accept Angkar’s traditions were killed, “komtech”. Starting in 1978, things changed. I have new information according to which the Khmer Rouge, starting in 1978, sought out the Cham as Cham, not because the Cham were disobeying Angkar law, but because they were Cham. They went into villages, sought out the Cham. The Cham were taken away and undoubtedly killed. But that only started in 1978. It was political and religious persecution. There I would almost say “genocide”. The Cham were sought as Cham, but only in 1978. And once again, it was in a limited manner”).

<sup>10879</sup> T. 10 April 2013 (François PONCHAUD), EI/179.1, p. 73.

<sup>10880</sup> T. 10 April 2013 (François PONCHAUD), EI/179.1, p. 73.

<sup>10881</sup> T. 15 July 2013 (Stephen HEDER), EI/223.1, p. 102 (“[S]tarting as early as 1973, I would call it kind of active discouragement, maybe compulsive discouragement of the practice of religion, but not its outright prohibition. In some places at least, a scattering of Chams so they wouldn’t be concentrated in particular areas; the prohibition in some area again on Cham holding certain kinds of positions of political authority. But the picture before ‘75 and even after -- certainly through to the end of ‘75 and in some ways beyond -- is rather mixed. A lot of the early policies that could be described as anti-Cham -- or at least anti-Islamic -- were actually carried out by cadre who were themselves Cham. And that continued to be significantly the case, I would say, through the end of 1975, and to a lesser extent, as late as the middle of 1978, depending on the location and depending on the issue”). See also, Book by S. Heder: Racism Marxism Labelling and Genocide (in Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/3995, undated, pp. 15-16, ERN (En) 00773714-00773715 (“[Ben KIERNAN] correctly concludes that “Cham were persecuted and that one specific target was their cultural distinctiveness”. He is also right to argue that Cham were “not only persecuted, but also discriminated against, that is persecuted for being Cham” [...]. The treatment meted out to Cham – dispersal, prohibition of distinctive speech, dress and other customs and prohibition of religious practice and belief all backed by executions and massacres in case of dissidence and violent opposition add up to a genocidal targeting of Cham for destruction as such.”)).

such”.<sup>10882</sup> The Chamber finds that this is consistent with in-court statements recounting that orders to purge the Cham were issued from 1977.<sup>10883</sup>

13.2.5.4. Conclusion on the CPK policy targeting the Cham

3227. Having considered the Defence submissions and assessed the evidence as a whole, the Chamber finds that the public calls of friendship made immediately after the “liberation” of Phnom Penh,<sup>10884</sup> as well as the adoption of Article 20 of the Constitution<sup>10885</sup> were disingenuous means of shoring up national and/or popular support for the revolution in the same fashion as was done with the Buddhists at the time,<sup>10886</sup> and therefore do not bear any probative value.

3228. The Chamber finds that the CPK, in the effort to establish an atheistic and homogenous society without class divisions,<sup>10887</sup> targeted the Cham as an ethnic and religious distinct group throughout the DK period. This policy evolved over time and was characterised by an escalation of the means used to implement such policy. In the early years of the DK period, the CPK, in an initial attempt to assimilate them, specifically targeted the Cham by restricting their cultural and religious practices.<sup>10888</sup> When the Cham resisted abandoning their ethnic and religious identity, “rebellions” were brutally suppressed, leaders of the rebellions were executed and Cham communities dispersed.<sup>10889</sup> A final shift occurred between 1977 and 1978, when purges of all Cham were ordered.<sup>10890</sup> This coincided with the escalation of the conflict with Vietnam when the need to preserve the Khmer race and to protect Cambodian population from all enemies was considered as a top priority. The Chamber will now turn to the implementation of this policy.

<sup>10882</sup> Report by S. Heder, Reassessing the Role of Senior Leaders and Local Officials in Democratic Kampuchea Crimes, E3/4527, 1 March 2003, p. 30, ERN (En) 00661484. See also, Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, 1996, pp. 282-283, ERN (En) 01150148 (reporting statements made by NAO Gha, a Cham peasant woman living in the Takeo region, who heard the Treang Chief District Soeun (Ta Mok’s son in law) saying in several large meetings in 1977-1978 that the Cham were “hopeless”).

<sup>10883</sup> See above, para. 3219.

<sup>10884</sup> See above, para. 3209.

<sup>10885</sup> See above, para. 3215.

<sup>10886</sup> Section 16.4.3.3.2: Common Purpose: Targeting of Specific Groups: Buddhists: Criminality of Policy.

<sup>10887</sup> Section 16: Common Purpose, para. 3993.

<sup>10888</sup> See below, paras 3229-3250.

<sup>10889</sup> See below, paras 3251-3268.

<sup>10890</sup> See below, Section 13.2.9: Killing and Detention of the Cham.

13.2.6. Restrictions on Cham Religious and Cultural Practices

3229. The Closing Order alleges that throughout the DK period, the CPK prohibited the Cham culture, language and dress as well as the practice of Islam, while targeting religious leaders and scholars.<sup>10891</sup> It alleges that there was “a country-wide suppression of Cham culture, traditions and language”.<sup>10892</sup>

3230. The Khmer Rouge started taking control of parts of Kampong Cham from 1970.<sup>10893</sup> Early on, they imposed no or few restrictions on Cham religious and cultural practices.<sup>10894</sup> By 1973 however, the restrictions had become more strict.<sup>10895</sup> In 1975,

<sup>10891</sup> Closing Order, paras 211, 756, 1420.

<sup>10892</sup> Closing Order, para. 1420.

<sup>10893</sup> T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 48-49; SUF Romly Interview Record, E3/5196, 10 July 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00223086; SOH Kamri Interview Record, E3/5216, 10 September 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00225495; SOS Kamri DC-Cam Interview, E3/9750, 10 October 1999, ERN (En) 01222003; T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 3, 9. See above, para. 3208.

<sup>10894</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, p. 10 (“Before the fall of Phnom Penh, we could provide religious teaching. However, that was banned after the fall of Phnom Penh”); SOH Kamri Interview Record, E3/5216, 10 September 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00225496 (“At the beginning they [the Khmer Rouge] didn’t restrict the Islamic religion or the Cham culture. I became a religion teacher and joined the educational structure in the village until 20 September 1974. The leadership of the village was not changed but they changed the ideology [making us] to comply with that of the Khmer Rouge”); T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 69-70 (“Under their initial control, their policy or leadership was so good. They made a propaganda for us to join their action in order to liberate the country; they respected our religion, and that happened before 1975. However, everything changed after April 1975 - that is, after the liberation of Phnom Penh.”), 87-88 (“Before 1975, there were two mosques in our Svay Khleang village since there were many Cham people, so two mosques were built to accommodate the congregations [...] After the liberation the Khmer Rouge dismantled the mosques.”); T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 34-35 (stating that Cham could practice their religion “as normal” before 1975); T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 57 (“After the Khmer Rouge took control of us the Cham people in 1970s, the Cham women were forced to cut their hair short. Women were no longer allowed to keep their hair long. And we were not allowed to do our daily prayers and fasting. The restriction began in 1970.”). See above, para. 3208.

<sup>10895</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 65 (“When they arrived, there were no more prayers and fasting. And the situation was strict in 1973. Those who dared to do daily prayers were arrested and disappeared. Two or three people were not allowed to have an assembly. From then on, we were under strict surveillance.”); T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/343.1, p. 3; IT Sen Interview Record, E3/5195, 9 July 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00242094-00242095; T. 19 May 2015 (OR Ho), E1/301.1, pp. 93-94 (“Buddhism and Islamic religion, from 1973 onwards, became less practical. For Buddhism, monks carried chicken to a battlefield at that time, and Cham people were no longer together going to the mosque and doing any worship. In 1975, Buddhist monks started to leave monkhood one after another, and Cham people no longer had latitude or had time to pray [...] At the outset, there were monks and there were Islamic people, However, in 1973 and 1974, Cham people were evacuated and Cham people were not allowed to go to their mosque to pray”); T. 6 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/371.1, pp. 95-97 (“Q. After the arrival of Khmer Rouge in your village and commune in 1970, were there changes in your commune and village; particularly, were there any changes in relation to Cham communities? A. In 1974, hakims had been called to commune office. They were arrested and detained at Krouch Chhmar security office and then three other tuons, who were knowledgeable, were also called and taken away.”); MAT Ysa Interview Record, E3/5207, 14 August 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00242076-00242077 (“The Khmer Rouge came to this village in 1970. At that time they had us change our lives somewhat; initially there were not many changes. One important change was they had us participate in solidarity groups of 15 families per group, and we lived together in the same subdistrict. At that time the prohibition of our

there was a significant increase in prohibiting Cham from practicing their religion and culture, first following the fall of Phnom Penh on 17 April, and later in reaction to the Koh Phal and Svay Khleang rebellions.<sup>10896</sup> The Khmer Rouge subsequently monitored religion was not yet very strict, but during meetings they announced that Angkar wanted us to all live the same, have the same freedoms, to be in solidarity, living and eating together. [...] There were no arrests before 1973 and the first time was on 24 November when Khmer Rouge arrested me and eight other villagers. Before they arrested me they punished anyone who had done wrong by shaving their heads and having them walk along the road publicly announcing [their] confessions.”); T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 47-48, 50-51; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, pp. 31-32; T. 15 July 2013 (Stephen HEDER), E1/223.1, p. 102; Book by E. Becker: When the War was Over: Cambodia and the Khmer Rouge Revolution, E3/20, pp. 251-252, ERN (En) 00237956-00237957. See above, para. 3208.

---

<sup>10896</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 37-38 (“We were invited to attend a meeting and we were told that we, Cham ethnicity, were required to have our hair cut, not to cover our heads with krama and say daily prayers, but to eat pork at that time. Everything in relation to Islamic religion, we were prohibited from practising the religion and at the time we were told that the wheel of history was moving and if we happened to put our hands in or put our legs to in to stop the wheel [sic], we – our limbs would be cut by the speed of the wheel”); T. 28 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/350.1, pp. 12-13, 39-40; T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 69-70, 88-90, 92-94 (“[W]e, the Cham people were in the same status as those evacuees from Phnom Penh and both did not have any rights. [...] Everything to deal with the religion was forbidden. We were not even allowed to speak the Cham language.”); T. 6 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/371.1, pp. 95-97; T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 76-77; T. 6 Apr 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 10-11 (“After the fall of Phnom Penh, we were not allowed to eat at our own home. We had to eat communally at a common kitchen. And we were not allowed to continue our religious practice. Q. Were Cham -- did Cham continue to dress in the same manner, or was there any -- were there any regulations about how men and women who were Cham should dress? A. In my village, after it was under the control of the Khmer Rouge, we were not allowed to wear our customary clothing. We had to wear the same clothing provided by the Khmer Rouge”); T. 24 October 2016 (PREAP Sokhoeurn), E1/488.1, p. 5; T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 53-54, 56-57, 64-67, 77-78 (stating he was prohibited from practicing his religion and he did not dare to speak Cham language); AHMAD Sofiyah Interview Record, E3/5194, 8 July 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00274707; MAT Ysa Interview Record, E3/5207, 14 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242077; MEAS Soeurn Interview Record, E3/5531, 18 December 2009, ERN (En) 00425891; KAE Noh Interview Record, E3/5289, 20 May 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00340182 (“the Khmer Rouge abolished all religious practices. They forced me to eat pork, they held a big stick to threaten us to eat. We were not allowed to speak Cham language, they beat us if we spoke.”); SMAN At Interview Record, E3/5204, 12 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242082 (“They did not permit us to practice religion and they forced us to eat pork and dog meat. Anyone who refused was beaten. I was beaten once because I refused to eat it. My uncle and his family were killed during that era because he worshipped.”); CHI Ly Interview Record, E3/5290, 12 May 2009, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00340172-00340173 (“They did not allow religious practices both Buddhism and Islam.”); Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion: Survivors’ Stories from the Villages, E3/2653, 2006, p. 113, ERN (En) 00219174; SOEM Dullos Civil Party Application, E3/5065, 23 June 2010, ERN (En) 00891053 (“Samraong Pagoda in Tuk Meas District was destroyed to build a dining hall while Islamic mosques were turned into piggeries. Khmer Cham people were forced to eat pork. If they had rejected this they would have been killed. Moreover we were forced to raise pigs. Bibles were destroyed. Praying to God was strictly prohibited. If somebody had done it, he would have been killed.”); NEU Paunh Supplementary Information Form, E3/5074, 22 June 2010, ERN (En) 00891060; KHUTH Voeurn Supplementary Information Form, E3/5079, ERN (En) 00891063 (“Chams could not practice their religion or worship their God”); HAK Math Civil Party Application, E3/4892, 24 September 2008, p. 1, ERN (En) 00890956 (“In 1975 the Khmer Rouge banned worship of God, and women had to keep their hair short, which was contrary to the practices of the Islamic religion They prohibited us from speaking the Cham language.”); MA Ty Supplementary Information Form, E3/4800, ERN (En) 00835937 (“The Koran, which was hidden by the Khmer Islam, was burned up by them after they had discovered it”). See below, fn. 10961.

whether the Cham were “rebel[ling] against Khmers”.<sup>10897</sup>

3231. The Chamber recalls its finding that in practice, the CPK never implemented the right of freedom of religion – even within the limits of the purported protection provided in the DK Constitution – and considered Islam to be “reactionary” and therefore “absolutely forbidden”.<sup>10898</sup>

13.2.6.1. Restrictions on Cham religious and cultural practices in the East Zone

3232. Several witnesses and Civil Parties testified that, shortly after the fall of Phnom Penh, instructions prohibiting Cham religious and cultural practices in Kroch Chhmar district, Sector 21, East Zone, came from the “upper echelon” down to the villages and that anybody opposing them would be considered as an enemy of Angkar.<sup>10899</sup> The policies were often announced through open meetings, during which the Cham were advised to stop practising Islam and women were instructed to cut their hair short and stop wearing head scarves.<sup>10900</sup> The Chamber notes that while such meetings may have been open to all and the instructions banning religion and religious practices – such as long hair and head scarves – applied to both Khmer and Cham,<sup>10901</sup> the latter were <sup>10897</sup> Meeting Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions and Regiments, E3/800 [E3/810], 16 September 1976, ERN (En) 00184338 (“On 3 September, in Sre Cham village, a sound of gunfire was heard. And all Cham people together were sharpening their knives by stopping working in an attempt to rebel against Khmers.”).

<sup>10898</sup> See above, para. 3215.

<sup>10899</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 65-66; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 52-53 (“The meeting would take place once every month or even earlier than that and we were told not to speak Cham language. Our religion was abolished, we were prohibited from practising our religion and we were not allowed to do any prayers. We were not allowed to study the prayers. [...] Those who did not follow instructions would be considered enemies. We were prohibited from practising our religion or doing the worship and if we still did it, we would be considered enemies and taken away”), 80-81 (“Angkar prohibited all of us from wearing head scarf or traditional clothes and from worshipping, and we were instructed to cut our hair short, we were not allowed to practice, to use Korans; Angkar from the upper level ordered such prohibition. I did not know who Angkar was but, I only know that it was Angkar”); T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 72.

<sup>10900</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 52-53, 86-87 (stating that the statement in his interview record that there was no meeting to discuss religious practices is incorrect). See SALES Ahmat Interview Record, E3/5209, 15 August 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00242067; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 53; T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 72.

<sup>10901</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 86-87; T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeur), E1/446.1, p. 87 (stating that he never saw a principle specific to the treatment of the Cham, but that the Islamic religion, like the Buddhist religion, was forbidden and all people “were not allowed to practice their religious beliefs”).

predominantly and particularly affected by them because they had to radically change their lifestyle and religious practices to abide by them.<sup>10902</sup>

3233. Likewise, the prohibition of the Cham language, also announced during such meetings, in practice targeted Cham culture whether or not it is interpreted as merely imposing the Khmer language for all.<sup>10903</sup> For instance, if Cham people wanted to continue to practice their religion through prayer in their language, they ran the risk of being arrested or otherwise punished if they were caught.<sup>10904</sup>

3234. NO Sates lived in Village 5, Svay Kleang commune, Kroch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province.<sup>10905</sup> She stated that in 1975: “[T]here were no religions. There were no Cham tradition and religion. The practising of religion was prohibited; Cham people were not allowed to practice their religion or to pray within the mosque.”<sup>10906</sup> She gave evidence that the two mosques in the area were “broken and dismantled” in 1975,<sup>10907</sup> and stated that after the arrival of the Khmer Rouge, the Cham language and traditional clothing were prohibited, Korans were collected and burned, and Cham women could no longer have their hair long or wear head scarves.<sup>10908</sup> She said these prohibitions were ordered by Angkar and communicated to the people at

<sup>10902</sup> See e.g., T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 12-13, 17, 52-53.

<sup>10903</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 53; T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 13, 53; T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 71-72; T. 13 January 2016 (MATH Sor), E1/375.1, p. 15; T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 67-68.

<sup>10904</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 67 (“We were not allowed to speak the Cham language at all; only the Khmer language was allowed to be spoken at that time. The rule was also applied to young children. It would be your luck if they did not hear you speak Cham; but if they did, you would be taken away for refashioning immediately.”); T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, p. 53 (“We were banned from speaking the Cham language. [...] If we were to speak Cham, we would be taken away and killed, so we tried to force ourself [sic] to speak Khmer language for our communication. And some Cham people did not speak Khmer fluently.”); T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 71-72 (“The restriction was for us problematic since we were not allowed to speak the Cham language. And the restrictions applied almost to every aspects of life: on food, on clothing, and women -- Cham women were forced to cut their hair short. So the way of our living was extremely difficult.”). See also, MATH Ly Interview by Stephen HEDER, E3/390, undated, p. 12, ERN (En) 00436857 (“They stopped speaking Cham and anyone who spoke Cham was tied up for the fire ants to bite for one night”); HAK Math Civil Party Application, E3/4892, 24 September 2008, p. 1, ERN (En) 00890956 (“They prohibited us from speaking the Cham language.”); KHUTH Voern Civil Party Application, E3/5079, 20 May 2010, ERN (En) 00891063 (“we were prohibited from speaking the Cham language”).

<sup>10905</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 46.

<sup>10906</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 48.

<sup>10907</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 78-79, 82. See also, T. 6 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/371.1, pp. 95-97; T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, p. 69.

<sup>10908</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 79-81. See also, KHUTH Voern Civil Party Application, E3/5078, 18 December 2009, ERN (En) 0077961 (“In 1976, we started eating collectively. In the same year, we were forced to eat pork; we were not allowed to talk in our language; girls and women had to have short haircut.”).

meetings held by the commune chief, village chief, deputy village chief and members of village committee and anyone refusing to obey the instructions “would have been considered betraying [sic] Angkar”.<sup>10909</sup> Later, between 1975 and 1977, NO Sates lived in Khsach Prachheh Leu,<sup>10910</sup> where she attended meetings once a month during which Cham people were told not to speak their language or practice Islam, and those who did not follow the instructions would be considered enemies and taken away.<sup>10911</sup>

3235. NO Sates’s evidence is largely corroborated by SOS Min, who also stated that, by 1975, after the arrival of the Khmer Rouge in Village 5, Svay Khleang commune, Kroch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province in 1973, the CPK started imposing restrictions on the practise of Islam through restrictions on food, and clothing, notably regarding women’s traditional haircuts and clothes<sup>10912</sup> SOS Min also gave evidence that Cham people were not allowed to read their Korans,<sup>10913</sup> and that, after the liberation, the Khmer Rouge dismantled the mosques in Svay Khleang village, which had been built to accommodate the congregations of Cham people.<sup>10914</sup> He stated that these restrictions “were harmful to the Cham identities” and rendered their way of life “extremely difficult”.<sup>10915</sup> He explained that if anyone deviated from these restrictions, they would be accused of being an enemy, which would be grounds for arrest or disappearance.<sup>10916</sup> SOS Min further gave evidence that the cooperative chief or the commune chief would present these restrictions at meetings and anyone refusing to abide by them would be accused of being an enemy of Angkar.<sup>10917</sup> According to SOS Min, Hakims “were the first targets of arrest by the Khmer Rouge” as Muslim leaders and teachers of Islam were arrested in 1974.<sup>10918</sup>

3236. IT Sen gave similar evidence in relation to the treatment of the Cham in Preaek Achi, Kroch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province. He testified that during the DK

<sup>10909</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 81.

<sup>10910</sup> The Chamber notes that this location appears to be within Kroch Chhmar district in the East Zone. See T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 52.

<sup>10911</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 53.

<sup>10912</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 67, 71-72, 85. See also, T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 13, 50-53; T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, p. 65.

<sup>10913</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 104.

<sup>10914</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 87-88. See also, T. 6 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/371.1, pp. 95-97; T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, p. 69.

<sup>10915</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 71-72.

<sup>10916</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 71-73.

<sup>10917</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 72-73.

<sup>10918</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 104. See also, T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 82.

period, Cham were forced to eat pork, women had to cut their hair short and Korans were confiscated.<sup>10919</sup> He specified that orders came from the upper echelon down to the villages; the village chiefs and security guards then went around imposing “restrictions on private cooking and short haircut for the Cham women and other Islamic practices”.<sup>10920</sup>

3237. In relation to the Closing Order’s charges that religious leaders were arrested or killed,<sup>10921</sup> the Chamber notes that much of the evidence it heard on this matter refers to arrests that took place prior to 1975.<sup>10922</sup> In cases where religious leaders were arrested after the fall of Phnom Penh in the East Zone, the evidence shows that they were part of a larger group, and does not clearly demonstrate that they were targeted specifically because of their prominence. For instance, MAN Sles’s father, who was the second assistant to the Hakim of Svay Khleang, was arrested along with 50 to 60 other Cham, some as young as 15 years old.<sup>10923</sup> The Chamber is therefore not satisfied that Cham religious leaders were particularly targeted for killings or imprisonment during the indictment period. However, those who continued to practice and preach Islam were targeted for not abiding by the prohibitions.<sup>10924</sup>

3238. In light of the above, the Chamber finds that, after their arrival, in the East Zone, the Khmer Rouge forcibly imposed restrictions on Cham religious and cultural practices in Kroch Chhmar district. These restrictions included forcing the Cham to have the same appearance as Khmer people by adopting the same uniform way of <sup>10919</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 57, 65-69, 74, 76, 109-110; T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/343.1, pp. 9-10. See also, T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 3, 13 (VAN Mat lived in Chumnik village in Chumnik commune, Kroch Chhmar district: “We were prohibited from practising our religion and not allowed to use Cham language. And people were required to cut their hair short, and we were forced to eat pork”).

<sup>10920</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 66.

<sup>10921</sup> Closing Order, paras 211 (“The CPK imprisoned or killed Cham religious leaders and elders”), 756 (“Religious leaders and learned Islamic scholars were arrested and/or killed”), 1420 (“Religious leaders and learned Islamic scholars were arrested and killed.”).

<sup>10922</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 82 (“before 1975, there had been hakims”); T. 6 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/371.1, pp. 94-95, 97; T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 104; RES Tort Interview Record, E3/7766, 19 May 2009, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00340201-00340202 confirming Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion: Survivors’ Stories from the Villages, E3/2653, 2006, pp. 58-59, ERN (En) 00219119-00219120.

<sup>10923</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 54, 69-73, 82; MAN Sles Civil Party Application, E3/6714, 27 October 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 01089919.

<sup>10924</sup> See e.g., UN Sub-Commission on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities, Statement submitted by Amnesty International, E3/4198, August 1978, ERN (En) 00271509 (listing religious leaders who were executed in Kroch Chhmar District “for performing prayers instead of attending a meeting called by a local Khmer Rouge leader.”).

dressing, forbidding traditional clothing and grooming practices, and forcing them to abide by the same dietary regime as the Khmer, which included eating pork.<sup>10925</sup> The Khmer Rouge also confiscated and burned Korans<sup>10926</sup> and dismantled mosques or used them for purposes other than prayer, such as stocking cattle and tobacco.<sup>10927</sup>

13.2.6.2. Restrictions on Cham religious and cultural practices in the Central (old North) Zone

3239. Starting from the fall of Phnom Penh, instructions prohibiting Cham religious and cultural practices were also imposed in various locations in the Central (old North) Zone. HIM Man stated that, after the April 1975 evacuation of Cham in Sach Sou village, Peam Chi Kang commune, Kang Meas district, Kampong Cham province,<sup>10928</sup> only about 30 Cham families remained in the village from the 200 to 300 that used to live there.<sup>10929</sup> In around 1976,<sup>10930</sup> the village chief called the remaining Cham to attend a meeting during which they were ordered to stop daily prayers, start eating pork, women had to cut their hair and not cover their heads.<sup>10931</sup> After the meeting, the Cham were “under constant monitoring by the militia”.<sup>10932</sup> The village chief Ta Tam, who headed the meeting, was a Muslim Cham and was later taken away and killed.<sup>10933</sup> HIM Man explained that, even though he did not know who gave the order, he assumed that Ta Tam was carrying out orders “from above” since “[d]uring the Khmer Rouge regime, when a chief raised something, it was certain that he must have received an order to do so”.<sup>10934</sup> HIM Man stated that he and other Cham were forced to eat pork at gunpoint and some of them “were weeping while they were eating pork”.<sup>10935</sup> Several witnesses and Civil Parties stated that the Cham could no longer pray, they had to wear the same dress and haircuts as Khmer people, Korans were destroyed, and mosques

<sup>10925</sup> See above, paras 3232-3236.

<sup>10926</sup> See above, paras 3234-3236.

<sup>10927</sup> See above, paras 3234-3235. See below, para. 3239; T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, p. 69.

<sup>10928</sup> The Chamber recalls that this province was located partly in the Central (old North) Zone and partly in the East Zone. See Section 11.2: 1st January Dam Worksite, para. 1456.

<sup>10929</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 32, 35, 37.

<sup>10930</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, p. 42.

<sup>10931</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 37-40.

<sup>10932</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, p. 39.

<sup>10933</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 37-38.

<sup>10934</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, p. 38.

<sup>10935</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, p. 41; T. 18 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/350.1, p. 15.

were dismantled or used for storage purposes, leaving “no sacred place for [the Cham] to pray”.<sup>10936</sup>

3240. SOH Kamrei, a religious teacher from Akmok village in Chamkar Leu district, further stated that after the fall of Phnom Penh, he was permitted to continue teaching Cham children but he could no longer teach Islamic morality and religion; he could only teach Khmer literature.<sup>10937</sup>

3241. SENG Kuy who was a Khmer rice farmer in Angkor Ban village 2, Angkor Ban commune, Kang Meas district, corroborated the fact that the Cham were banned from practising their religion, were prevented from using their language and had a Khmer lifestyle imposed upon them.<sup>10938</sup>

3242. As was the case in the East Zone, the prohibitions on Cham religious and cultural practices in the Central (old North) Zone came down from the “upper level, upper echelon”.<sup>10939</sup> Meetings were held during which the Cham were told to stop practicing their religion and “to work for the regime’s interests”.<sup>10940</sup> The instructions announced during these meetings included to stop daily prayers, to start eating pork, for women to cut their hair short and to stop wearing headscarves.<sup>10941</sup> In limiting the educational topics to those taught to Khmer children,<sup>10942</sup> the Cham lost a piece of their

<sup>10936</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 34-35, 45-46; T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 73-74; T. 18 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/350.1, pp. 14, 31, 40; T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, p. 12.

<sup>10937</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 10, 12, 75-76.

<sup>10938</sup> T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, pp. 67, 79. See also, TES Raun Interview Record, E3/10740, 25 February 2016, p. 3, ERN (En) 0126000 (“Q: Did they allow you to wear Cham clothing? A12: We had been wearing black clothes for a long time before that. Women were ordered to have their hair cut. We had to eat rice together.” He further states that the Cham and Khmer looked the same and discusses Cham being evacuated and told they were to be sent to another place to work); YIM Kimsan Interview Record, E3/5528, 10 December 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00421619 (“They had those Cham eat pork just like the ethnic Khmer did.”); CHUOP Non Interview Record, E3/9349, 17 November 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00244158 (“They did not let them speak the Cham language. As for their food, it was the same as that of the ethnic Khmer. When there was pork in the soup, if they did not eat it, they had nothing to eat. As for observing their traditions, that was forbidden. In particular, the women could not cover their heads with scarves.”); BAO Troab OCP Interview, E3/7826, 5 August 2008, p. 5, ERN (En) 00210430 (stating that Cham were not allowed to practice their religion and were forced to eat pork).

<sup>10939</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/350.1, pp. 41-42; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 81; T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 37-38.

<sup>10940</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 42, 52 (Chamkar Leu district); T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 38-40 (Kang Meas district). See also, Section 11.2: 1st January Dam Worksite, para. 1656.

<sup>10941</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 37, 40-41, 73; T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 10-11; SOH Kamrei Interview Record, E3/5216, 10 September 2008, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00225498-00225499.

<sup>10942</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 10, 12, 75-76.

religious identity and the capacity to pass it on to future generations. There was an announcement that any person refusing to eat pork would be considered to be opposing Angkar.<sup>10943</sup> The Chamber finds that, even if the prohibition on religion applied to other religious groups including to Khmer Buddhists, the Cham were specifically targeted in practice. They were specifically identified as Islam believers and as having their own cultural practices, while Islam was considered to be a reactionary religion and Cham cultural practices as incompatible with the revolutionary framework.<sup>10944</sup> The Cham were closely monitored by the Khmer Rouge and if they refused to abide by the instructions restricting their religious practices, for example by refusing to eat pork, they would be considered as opposing Angkar and punished. The vast majority of Cham did not dare contravene these requirements for fear of being taken away to be killed.<sup>10945</sup>

3243. The Chamber also heard evidence of Cham being discriminated against, prevented from worshipping their religion and speaking their language, and forced to eat pork at the 1st January Dam Worksite.<sup>10946</sup>

3244. In terms of religious leaders being especially targeted in the Central (old North) Zone, the Chamber finds that there is insufficient evidence to support this allegation. SOH Kamrei, who was a religious teacher, testified that religious teachers and leaders were not distinguished from ordinary Cham in terms of being targeted and, in fact, sometimes survived longer because they could hide their Cham identities.<sup>10947</sup> SOH Kamrei managed to survive by requesting that he be permitted to live in another village where he could hide his Cham identity and in 1977 he left Spueu and moved to Cheyyou.<sup>10948</sup>

<sup>10943</sup> T. 18 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/350.1, pp. 14-15.

<sup>10944</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 19-20 (while MUY Vanny testified that religion was generally prohibited, he also testified that the Cham “did not dare speak their Cham language” and that the “Cham were targeted and taken away to be killed. And the Khmer people were not taken away.”).

<sup>10945</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 38-41 (“that was the conclusion that we made that we were under watch by the militia and if any of us was found to pray to Allah, then we would be risking our life as they would come to take us away at gun point at lunch time”); T. 18 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/350.1, pp. 14-15 (“If I refused to eat pork, I was afraid that the bullet would be shot -- I would be shot -- I would be beaten with a stick. So it applies to other people. If we refused to eat pork, we would risk our lives. We had to eat pork in tears.”); MEAS Laihuo Interview Record, E3/9351, 20 November 2008, ERN (En) 00244165 (“They did not let the Cham practice their religion; they had them do everything like the ethnic Khmer. If they saw them practicing Islam they would take them away and kill them.”); T. 25 May 2015 (MEAS Laihour), E1/304.1, p. 109 (confirming interview record).

<sup>10946</sup> Section 11.2: 1st January Dam Worksite, paras 1656, 1659.

<sup>10947</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, p. 46.

<sup>10948</sup> T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 24-25, 76-77, 92-94.

3245. In light of the above, the Chamber finds that, after their arrival in the Central (old North) Zone, the CPK forcibly imposed restrictions on Cham religious and cultural practices in various locations within the Zone. These restrictions included prohibition on daily prayers, forcing Cham to start eating pork and wear the same dress and haircuts as the Khmer people, and requiring that the Cham speak the Khmer language only, as well as Korans being destroyed and mosques dismantled or used for purposes other than prayer. Most Cham did not resist these orders for fear of being taken away to be killed.

13.2.6.3. Restrictions on Cham religious and cultural practices in other locations

3246. Instructions prohibiting Cham religious and cultural practices were also imposed in various locations throughout the country. MEU Peou gave evidence that in 1975 the Khmer Rouge made an announcement in a village in Bakan district, Pursat province, Northwest Zone, instructing the Cham to stop living in groups and that women stop wearing a headscarf and cut their hair short.<sup>10949</sup> MEU Peou said the announcement was forcing the Cham “to do whatever the Khmer people did” – including by abandoning their religion and the Cham language – and that this had a significant impact on the Cham community: “we lost our own identities, lost our religion and our body became so thin”.<sup>10950</sup>

<sup>10949</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MEU Peou), E1/393.1, pp. 8, 19-20.

<sup>10950</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MEU Peou), E1/393.1, pp. 6-9. See also, MOES Him Victim Information Form, E3/7192a, 18 January 2010, ERN (En) 00835774; MOES Him Victim Information Form, E3/7192b, ERN (En) 00619515 (MOES Him was in Steung Kambot village, Bakan cooperative, Bakan Kraom district, Pursat province. He claimed that he was forced to eat Pork and that All Cham were deprived of all their rights and were not allowed to speak the Cham language); KEV Mae Victim Information Form, E3/6978a, 23 November 2008, p. 7, ERN (En) 00828277 (KEV Mae was in Koun Taot village, Rumlech commune, Bakan district. He stated: “Once there was a special meeting for the Cham people in the cooperative. The meeting was attended and convened by the unit committee’s and commune committee Thim. The general meaning of the meeting was to prohibit all Cham people from speaking the Cham language and praying and forcing them to cut their hair and to eat pork. Many elderly Cham people suffered and died as the result of prohibition of rights to religion and forcing them to do violate Islamic disciplines [sic.”); EK Khat Supplementary Information Form, E3/4801, multiple dates, ERN (En) 01057925-01057927 (stating that in 1975 she was evacuated from Boeng Bey village to Ruessei Kaun Khla village. In 1976 she was further evacuated to Ou Khsach, in Khnar commune, Bakan district. She stated that throughout the Khmer Rouge regime, Cham were not allowed to wear traditional clothes instead they were made to wear black clothes. Women were required to keep their hair short. People were not allowed to practice any religions or to worship any gods); KROEM Samy Hors Supplementary Information Form, E3/4934, 2 June 2010, ERN (En) 00861863-00861864 (she was evacuated from Kraol Krabei village Knar commune, Bakan district to Angtae Bospork. She stated that Khmer Rouge soldiers looked down on Cham people saying: “A Cham who has no country and lives in someone country must be destroyed” and that they forced Cham people to eat pork); MAN Yousoh Supplementary Information Form, E3/4744, 26 May 2008, ERN (En) 00864492 (stating that after 1975 they evacuated him to Totim village, Voat Angkor commune, Touk Meas district, Kampot province, and

3247. MEU Peou also testified that Angkar forced the Cham, including himself, to eat pork and stated that those who refused, like his father, would eventually starve to death as they were not served any other food and that it set “an example to scare other Cham people”.<sup>10951</sup> The Chamber also heard testimonial evidence of Cham being forced to eat pork in the Southwest Zone and the Northwest Zone,<sup>10952</sup> and has before it numerous written accounts corroborating that the CPK forced the Cham to eat pork throughout the country.<sup>10953</sup> While occasionally steps were taken to spare the Cham from being forced to eat pork, these instances appear to result from the benevolence of a given person in charge, who was willing to go against the general order imposing the forced consumption of pork.<sup>10954</sup> The Chamber finds that, while individual leaders may not always have imposed the forced consumption of pork, CPK announcements made it clear that it was one of the ways in which the Cham were expected to assimilate into Khmer culture. In that respect, the evidence provided by witnesses and Civil Parties is consistent with the view of Expert YSA Osman that, while the majority of the Cham were forced to eat pork, for those who were not, it was likely on the result of local chiefs expressing sympathy and allowing them to carry on with their traditional practices.<sup>10955</sup>

3248. In relation to the targeting of religious leaders in other locations, MEU Peou testified that among the 17 family members that he lost during the DK period, some were Imams and Tuons.<sup>10956</sup> He also stated that a family who lived near his house “knew a lot about Islam religion and culture. And that’s the reason they were taken away and that he was “threatened by comrade Chhim to eat the pork” and was told: “Nowadays, you still have the belief of evil ghosts. If you do not eat pork, it means that you oppose us.” Therefore, he “ate pork as other people did”).

---

<sup>10951</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MEU Peou), E1/393.1, pp. 11, 38-39.

<sup>10952</sup> T. 3 April 2015 (LOEP Neang), E1/288.1, pp. 94 (in Tnaot Chang, Tram Kak), 96-98; T. 18 October 2016 (HUON Choeurm), E1/485.1, p. 35 (Northwest Zone); T. 6 December 2012 (HUN Chun Ly), E1/149.1, pp. 103-104 (Battambang); T. 14 November 2012 (PE CHUY Chip Se), E1/144.1, pp. 9-10.

<sup>10953</sup> HUON Choeum Interview Record, E3/9580, 22 September 2013, p. 13, ERN (En) 00978427; CHAN Lee Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7521, September 1984, ERN (En) 00667245; YATOGOPE Bin Ali Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7551, January 1985, ERN (En) 00053192; MUHAMED Ali Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7490, August 1985, ERN (En) 00667215; SAVEE Bin Kasim Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7578, ERN (En) 00053136; SAVEE Bin Kasim Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7578, September 1984, ERN (En) 00053136; “Abdulah” Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7480, 21-22 January 1985, ERN (En) 00667260; “Saleh” Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7517, September 1989, ERN (En) 00053278; IEP Toh Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7574, September 1984, ERN (En) 00053246; “Abraham” Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7539, August 1985, ERN (En) 00667266.

<sup>10954</sup> T. 18 October 2016 (HUON Choeurm), E1/485.1, pp. 35-36; T. 24 April 2015 (PECH Chim), E1/292.1, pp. 25-26. See also, T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 53-56; Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, 1996, p. 461, ERN (En) 01150237.

<sup>10955</sup> T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 55-56.

<sup>10956</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MEU Peou), E1/393.1, pp. 11, 32.

killed.”<sup>10957</sup> The Chamber considers that this is insufficient evidence to support the charge that these people were targeted not only because they were Cham but specifically because they were religious leaders. Although religious leaders were arrested and taken away, there is no sufficient evidence to indicate that they were targeted at a rate higher than regular Cham people.

3249. The Chamber further notes that Nate THAYER of the Social Science Research Council collected numerous accounts which stated that, throughout the country, the practice of Islam was prohibited, Korans were confiscated and burned, mosques were destroyed or converted to secular uses, and Cham were forced to speak Khmer.<sup>10958</sup>

<sup>10957</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MEU Peou), E1/393.1, p. 30.

<sup>10958</sup> SUFEEYAN Idres Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7534, 25 December 1984, ERN (En) 00667253-00667255; MUHAMED Ali Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7490, August 1985, ERN (En) 00667215; CHAN Lee Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7521, September 1984, ERN (En) 00667246; YATOGOPE Bin Ali Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7551, January 1985, ERN (En) 00053192; Zakreyah Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7555, 22 January 1985, ERN (En) 00855135; SAVEE Bin Kasim Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7578, September 1984, ERN (En) 00053136, 00053139; Saleh Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7517, September 1984, ERN (En) 00053277; HUL Man Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7578, September 1984, ERN (En) 00053144, 00053146; Abdulluh Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7480, 21-22 January 1985, ERN (En) 00667260-00667261; RIM Sarah Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/5676, August 1984, ERN (En) 00667228-00667229; IEP Toh Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7574, September 1984, ERN (En) 00053246-00053247; PEANG Romly Interview by Savy, E3/7502, 20 May 1985, ERN (En) 00667218-00667219. MAK Katheet Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7482, 13 September 1984, ERN (En) 00667211-00667212; SAVEE Bin Kasim Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7578, September 1984, ERN (En) 00053137, 00053139; LOAH Treh Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7481, 16 June 1984, ERN (En) 00667202-00667204, 00667207; MAK Katheet Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7482, 13 September 1984, ERN (En) 00667212; MAT Sman Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7485, 10 September 1984, ERN (En) 00053218-00053219; Abraham Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7539, August 1984, ERN (En) 00667266-00667267. See also, YOUSOH Slaiman Civil Party Application, E3/7017a, 20 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 01226561 (YOUSOH Slaiman was evacuated in 1976 from Angkor Ban commune, Kang Meas district to Battambang province, Damrei Slab village, Doun Teav district. He stated “In 1977, Khmer Rouge Angkar, via En, the cooperative chief in Damrei Slab village, forced me to eat pork because he knew I was Khmer-Islam. They totally eliminated the practice of Islam. The reason they did this was because they did not want to have any religion in the Democratic Kampuchea regime); KHUTH Voern Supplementary Information Form, E3/5079, undated, ERN (En) 00891063 (KHUTH Voern was evacuated to Srae Chan village, Tuek Phos district, Kampong Chhnang province and stated: “With regard to the religion, traditions and customs of the Chams, the Khmer Rouge absolutely prohibited our practices. Chams could not practice their religion or worship their God, we were forced to eat pork, women were forced to have their hair cut short, and we were prohibited from speaking the Cham language. They destroyed the holy boards for worshipping our God and went up into our stilt houses to search for the Koran and other books written in the Cham script; they destroyed them all. They did not allow worship and they burned and destroyed mosques and turned them into food warehouses instead”); KHUTH Voern Civil Party Application, E3/5078, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00779611 (“Since 1973, the country had been in the war. As a result, the traditional worship of our Islam was prohibited. We were not allowed to practice and follow our religion as we traditionally did in the past. This event occurred in Tuol Tbaeng near Longveaek commune. For three or four months later, the water level in the north of Longveaek went down. The Khmer Rouge therefore evacuated us to the area of Boeng Thorn locating in the present commune of Chres. We lived in the east of Chres for one month. We were then evacuated to District 14”).

3250. In light of the above, the Chamber finds that the CPK forcibly imposed restrictions on Cham religious and cultural practices in other various locations throughout Cambodia, under the threat of killing those who refused to set an example for the others. These restrictions included prohibitions on daily prayers, forcing Cham to start eating pork and wear the same dress and haircuts as Khmer people, forcing them to only speak the Khmer language, burning Korans and dismantling mosques or using them for purposes other than prayer.

13.2.7. The 1975 Rebellions in Kroch Chhmar District, Sector 21, East Zone

3251. In September-October 1975, two rebellions occurred at around the time of Ramadan in two Cham communities within Kroch Chhmar district, Sector 21, East Zone. The first was in Koh Phal village, Peus I commune, and the second in Svay Khleang village, Svay Khleang commune.<sup>10959</sup> The CPK “cracked down” on both rebellions within days.<sup>10960</sup> Several witnesses and Civil Parties gave evidence that the rebellions were a reaction to earlier restrictions imposed on Cham religious and cultural traditions, and that the situation further worsened for the Cham as a result.<sup>10961</sup>

<sup>10959</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 105-106; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 46; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 6-7; T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeur), E1/446.1, p. 58; T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 13-14, 16; T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 69-70; T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 25-26, 62-63; Article by S. Heder: “Reassessing the Role of Senior Leaders and Local Officials in Democratic Kampuchea Crimes”, E3/4527, undated, p. 26, ERN (En) 00661480; Book by Ysa. O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/7675 [E3/2653], pp. 84-85, ERN (En) 00221859, 00219114-00219172; SOS Kamry DC-Cam Statement, E3/9750, 10 October 1999, ERN (En) 01222009; T. 6 Apr 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 77-78 (SOH Kamrei, whose name is also spelled SOS Kamri, clarified in court that he was not present in Koh Phal at the time of the rebellion but that he only “heard about people who came across [him] and spoke about it.”).

<sup>10960</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, p. 56; T. 9 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/344.1, pp. 25-26; T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/343.1, p. 17; T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 64-68; T. 28 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/350.1, pp. 9-13, 38-39; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, p. 7; MATH Ly Interview by Stephen HEDER, E3/390, undated, p. 12, ERN (En) 00436857; RES Tort Interview Record, E3/7766, 19 May 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00340203; SOS Kamry DC-Cam Statement, E3/9750, 10 October 1999, ERN (En) 01222009; KAE Noh Interview Record, E3/5289, 29 May 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00340182.

<sup>10961</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 75-76; T. 28 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/350.1, pp. 12-13; T. 9 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/344.1, pp. 5-6, 41-42; T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 71-72, 85-86, 103-105; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 48, 78-82; T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 55-57, 64-65, 69-70, 76-82; T. 30 June 2016 (MEAS Soeur), E1/447.1, pp. 26-27; T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 66, 71-72; T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/343.1, pp. 14, 16-17; T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 14, 17, 76-77; T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 53-54, 76-77. See also, SOS Kamry DC-Cam Statement, E3/9750, 10 October 1999, ERN (En) 01222008-01222009; KOB Math Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7588, 5 June 1985, ERN (En) 00667271; Zakreyah Interview by Nate THAYER, E3/7555, 22 January 1984, ERN (En) 00855135; ISMAEL Maisam Interview Record, E3/5192, 7 July 2008, pp.

13.2.7.1. The September 1975 Koh Phal rebellion

3252. The CPK had increasingly imposed restrictions on Cham religious and cultural practices in Koh Phal, a Cham village on an island in the Mekong River, since it took control of the area in 1973.<sup>10962</sup> Witness IT Sen, who was then living in Ampil village in Kroch Chhmar district close to Koh Phal, explained that the Cham in Koh Phal rebelled against these restrictions, which included confiscating all the Korans and forbidding the practice of Ramadan.<sup>10963</sup> This evidence is further corroborated by statements made by SMAN At, KAE Noh, RES Tort and CHHI Ly, who directly took part in these events, and confirmed to OCIJ investigators their accounts of the rebellion as they had previously reported to YSA Osman.<sup>10964</sup>

3253. Evidence before the Chamber consistently shows that, in September 1975, five specific restrictions against the Cham were announced during a meeting called by the subdistrict chief: 1) Cham women were to cut their hair short following the revolutionary style and had to stop wearing a head scarves; 2) all Korans were to be gathered and burned; 3) all the Cham people in Koh Phal village were to raise pigs and eat pork; 4) all the Cham were to stop worshipping Allah and close all the mosques; and 5) Cham men and women were to marry other ethnic groups, and not other Cham.<sup>10965</sup>

2-3, ERN (En) 00242110-00242111; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/2653 [E3/7675], pp. 113, 151, ERN (En) 00219174, 00219212. See above, fn. 10896.

<sup>10962</sup> T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 30-32; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, p. 71; RES Tort Interview Record, E3/7766, 19 May 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00340202 (Koh Phal village is an island.”); T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 66-68; SMAN At Interview Record, E3/5204, 12 August 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00242081, Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/2653 [E3/7675], pp. 67-68, ERN (En) 00219128-00219129 (in his OCIJ interview, SMAN At affirmed the statements he made to YSA Osman in an interview dated 9 March 2001).

<sup>10963</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 66, 69-71; T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/343.1, p. 14.

<sup>10964</sup> SMAN At Interview Record, E3/5204, 12 August 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00242081-00242082; KAE Noh Interview Record, E3/5289, 20 May 2009, pp. 2-4, ERN (En) 00340180-00340182 [see also, Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/2653 [E3/7675], pp. 67-68, ERN (En) 00219128-00219129 (in his OCIJ interview KAE Noh affirmed the statements he made to YSA Osman in an interview dated 22 April 2001)]; RES Tort Interview Record, E3/7766, 19 May 2009, pp. 2-4, ERN (En) 00340201-00340203 [see also, Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/2653 [E3/7675], pp. 58-59, ERN (En) 00219119-00219120 (in his OCIJ interview RES Tort affirmed the statements he made to YSA Osman in interviews dated 13 November 1999 and 19 February 2000)]; CHHI Ly Interview Record, E3/5290, 20 May 2009, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00340170-00340171 [see also, Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/2653 [E3/7675], pp. 63-64, ERN (En) 00219124-00219125 (in his OCIJ interview CHHI Ly affirmed the statements he made to YSA Osman in an interview dated 14 March 2001, but he clarified that since he was interviewed he lost the statistical document showing that there were 267 families with the total number of 1,306 people living in Koh Phal at the time of the rebellion)].

<sup>10965</sup> T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 31-34; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, pp. 57-58; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/2653 [E3/7675], pp. 58, 65-70, ERN (En) 00219119, 00219126-00219131; RES Tort Interview Record, E3/7766, 19 May 2009, p. 3, ERN

The Cham villagers, however, refused these conditions and continued to practice their religion.<sup>10966</sup> When the security guards of Ampil village and Preaek Kroch village started confiscating all the Korans and burned them upon order from the village chiefs and the upper echelon, the uprising started.<sup>10967</sup> The CPK sent in soldiers from the sector and district levels to “crack down” on the rebellion.<sup>10968</sup> They were armed and they arrived by boats after having been on standby for two and three days.<sup>10969</sup> The villagers were armed with only machetes, swords, or knife and stones, while the cadres had machine guns and artillery.<sup>10970</sup> IT Sen learned from his brother-in-law who managed to escape the fighting that “[t]hose who resisted were smashed or shot dead and some of them had their throats cut. Most Muslim men were killed. Only Muslim women remained.”<sup>10971</sup> Some Cham tried to flee by swimming across the Mekong River but

---

(En) 00340202; KAE Noh Interview Record, E3/5289, 20 May 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00340181; SMAN At Interview Record, E3/5204, 12 August 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00242081-00242082.

<sup>10966</sup> T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 34-35; Book by Ysa O.: Oukoubah: Justice for the Cham Muslims under the Democratic Kampuchea Regime, E3/1822, p. 4, ERN (En) 00078452 (“Lep Vanmath and Soh Ponyamin, the Khmer Rouge youth leaders of Svay Khleang village, and Rest Tort, the Khmer Rouge chief of Koh Phal village, led the people to rebel when upper-echelon Angkar ordered the closure of the mosques and arrested people in their villages. The rebellion of Koh Phal and Svay Khleang villages in Krauch Chhmar district, where people rose up to preserve their Islamic and Cham identity, took place in late 1975.”).

<sup>10967</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 66.

<sup>10968</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/343.1, pp. 16-17; T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 67-68; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, p. 4; T. 23 March 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/407.1, pp. 50-51.

<sup>10969</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/343.1, p. 19.

<sup>10970</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 70; T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, p. 35; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/2653 [E3/7675], pp. 59-66, ERN (En) 00219120-00219127; RES Tort Interview Record, E3/7766, 19 May 2009, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00340202-00340203; KAE Noh Interview Record, E3/5289, 20 May 2009, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00340181-00340182; PEN Sot Interview Record, E3/7786, 25 November 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00251068; CHHI Ly Interview Record, E3/5290, 20 May 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00340172. The Chamber notes that IT Sen’s testimony is contradictory as regard the date of the rebellion, which he sometimes seems to place in 1974. See T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 70; T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/343.1, p. 7. At other times he places it in 1975. See T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/343.1, pp. 14, 16. The Chamber has before it additional evidence placing the rebellion in 1975 and is satisfied that it indeed happened at that time. See T. 30 June 2016 (MEAS Soeurn), E1/447.1, pp. 25-26, referring to MEAS Soeurn Interview Record, E3/5531, 18 December 2009, ERN (En) 00425891-00425892; T. 6 April 2016 (SOH Kamrei), E1/415.1, pp. 80-81. The Chamber notes that there is only limited evidence to determine precisely which armed forces participated in the suppression of the rebellion. See PEN Sot Interview Record, E3/7786, 25 November 2008, pp. 5-7, ERN (En) 00251067-00251069 (PEN Sot was the deputy Chairman of Kampong Krabei Security Office, which was linked to Kroch Chhmar Security Centre. He explained that he was sent under the command of Chhan to suppress a Cham rebellion in Koh Phal and clarified that the District forces were equipped with “folding stock AKs” while the Cham “used swords and one from the area had a firearm”).

<sup>10971</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 70-71.

were captured and executed.<sup>10972</sup> A number of villagers died as a result of the fighting.<sup>10973</sup>

3254. After the rebellion, no Cham remained in Koh Phal as those who survived were later evacuated.<sup>10974</sup> Koh Phal, which means island of produce, became known as “Koh Phes”, meaning island of ashes, and the destruction of the village was used to warn other Cham not to resist the regime.<sup>10975</sup>

13.2.7.2. The October 1975 Svay Khleang rebellion

3255. The Chamber heard three Cham Civil Party who were living in Svay Khleang when the rebellion occurred,<sup>10976</sup> as well as one witness who lived 10 kilometres away from Svay Khleang and gave indirect evidence of a “crackdown” in Svay Khleang in late 1975.<sup>10977</sup> The Chamber also relies on a number of interview records and Civil Party Applications in relation to the Svay Khleang rebellion.<sup>10978</sup> The Khmer Rouge had taken control of Svay Khleang in 1973 and gradually began applying restrictions

<sup>10972</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 70-71 (“my elder sister swam across the river to my village in Ampil, while my brother-in-law remained on the island engaging in the fighting. They sprayed villagers with bullets, and killed many of them. [...] Both my sister and brother-in-law swam across the river to seek refuge in Ampil village. I learnt about the fighting from my brother-in-law who had engaged in the fighting.”); T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, p. 36.

<sup>10973</sup> T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, pp. 35-36 (“So there were more victims at Kaoh Phal since they were fired upon by weapons and artillery and there were countless death of the villagers. There were 30 or 40 dead bodies in each pit and even those who carried the dead bodies were hit and died”); Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, p. 271, ERN (En) 01150142; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/2653 [E3/7675], pp. 57, 76, ERN (En) 00219118, 00219137; KAE Noh Interview Record, E3/5289, 20 May 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00340182; SMAN At Interview Record, E3/5204, 12 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242082; Report on CGP Mapping Team Visit to Kampong Cham Province, E3/2631, 17-19 October 1995, 20-23 February 1996, EN 00208308; SOS Kamry DC-Cam Statement, E3/9750, 10 October 1999, ERN (En) 01222009.

<sup>10974</sup> T. 30 June 2016 (MEAS Soeurn), E1/447.1, pp. 26-27; T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 16-17, 76-77; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/2653 [E3/7675], p. 69, ERN (En) 00219130; KAE Noh Interview Record, E3/5289, 20 May 2009, p. 2, 4, ERN (En) 00340180, 00340182.

<sup>10975</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/350.1, pp. 38-39; MAT Ly Interview by Stephen HEDER, E3/390, p. 12, ERN (En) 00436857; SOS Kamry DC-Cam Statement, E3/9750, 10 October 1999, ERN (En) 01222009.

<sup>10976</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1; T. 9 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/344.1 (SOS Min alias SOS Ponyamin organised the rebellion with six other villagers); T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1 (her father participated in the rebellion. She herself was forcibly evacuated from the village following the rebellion); T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1 (he denied being a leader in the rebellion but admitted having assisted his fellow villagers).

<sup>10977</sup> T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 66-68.

<sup>10978</sup> MAN Sen Interview Record, E3/5205, 13 August 2008; NO Sates Interview Record, E3/5193, 8 July 2008; TEH Sren Interview Record, E3/5206, 13 August 2008; MATH Ly Interview Record, E3/390, undated; HAK Math DC-Cam Statement, E3/4892, undated; SOS Min Civil Party Application, E3/4780, undated (Supplementary Information Form).

on Cham religious and cultural practices.<sup>10979</sup> Svay Khleang was considered to be a “Cham village” at the time, with thousands of Cham living there.<sup>10980</sup> The restrictions imposed included prohibitions on observing Ramadan, on speaking the Cham language, on using the mosques for prayer, and on wearing traditional clothing.<sup>10981</sup> Arrests in the village occurred from 1973 to 1975.<sup>10982</sup> In 1974, Cham religious leaders in Svay Khleang, including Hakims and Tuons, were arrested by the Khmer Rouge, and Korans were confiscated and stored at the house of the village chief.<sup>10983</sup> Before the rebellion, villagers were also arrested, including a group of 50 to 60 Cham men, women and children, aged from five and above.<sup>10984</sup> Five of the people arrested amongst that group were men with senior positions in the village, including the village chief and they were taken in the direction of the Kroch Chhmar District Hall and never returned, while the rest of the group was released.<sup>10985</sup> Resisting the Khmer Rouge became a matter of survival for the Cham villagers and their religious practices,<sup>10986</sup> and the rebellion arose from the fear that Cham would continue to be arrested, detained, or killed.<sup>10987</sup> According to Civil Party NO Sates, by 1975 all Hakims, Tuons and religious intellectuals and professors were arrested and it was for this reason that there was a rebellion in Svay Khleang.<sup>10988</sup>

<sup>10979</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 84-85; SOS Min Civil Party Application, E3/4780, undated p. 1, ERN (En) 00893529 (Supplementary Information Form); NO Sates Interview Record, E3/5193, 8 July 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00274703-00274704; MAN Sen Interview Record, E3/5205, 13 August 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00275162; TEH Sren Interview Record, E3/5206, 13 August 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00275379.

<sup>10980</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 47-48, 77-78.

<sup>10981</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 48, 79-80; T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 65, 69; T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 71-72, 76-77; MAT Ly Interview, E3/390, undated, p. 12, ERN (En) 00436857; MAN Sen Interview Record, E3/5205, 13 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00275163; SOH Punyamin DC-Cam Statement, E3/9136, 25 January 2001, p. 2, ERN (En) 01133235.

<sup>10982</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 7, 9-10, 73-75, 85; T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, p. 74.

<sup>10983</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 104-105; T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 54-55; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 82; MAN Sen Interview Record, E3/5205, 13 August 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00275162-00275163.

<sup>10984</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 70-71.

<sup>10985</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 71-74; MAN Sles Civil Party Application, E3/6714, undated, p. 4, ERN (En) 01089919.

<sup>10986</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, p. 55 (“During the time, the youth group banged the drum and the water buckets in order to call the Cham people to rise up and resist the Khmer Rouge since we came to understand that we no longer could survive and we had to resist for the survival of our religion”).

<sup>10987</sup> T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 5-6; T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 74, 76; T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 75-78.

<sup>10988</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 82.

3256. The Svay Khleang rebellion began at the end of Ramadan in October 1975, on the religious holy day called Raya, and lasted for one night and one day.<sup>10989</sup> The villagers were exceptionally allowed to celebrate Raya by slaughtering cows and holding group prayers, but were in fact being monitored in order to identify prominent Cham leaders.<sup>10990</sup> SOS Min received information that the Khmer Rouge were planning to arrest 80 Cham from his cousin SLEH Tam who worked for the village youth and learned this at a meeting.<sup>10991</sup> On 10 October 1975, SOS Min and seven friends organised themselves to collect and burn the list with the names of those 80 people, so that they would not be arrested.<sup>10992</sup> They were worried that they would be killed for having taken the list and they decided to “stage the revolt that night”.<sup>10993</sup> SOS Min encountered militiamen at night when he was getting a drum that would be used to send a signal to other villagers to start the uprising. They fought briefly and immediately after the signal was sent and the rebellion started: “After the drum was beaten, everyone from throughout the village came out to help and the revolt started that night, and it went on until the evening of the following day, before the Khmer Rouge soldiers surrounded us”.<sup>10994</sup> Eventually, other villagers came to join the rebellion and it lasted until the following day when Khmer Rouge soldiers surrounded the Cham and “[b]ullets flew everywhere in the village”.<sup>10995</sup> Various forces suppressed the rebellion in Svay Khleang.<sup>10996</sup> The Chamber notes that the evidence is insufficient to determine precisely which armed forces participated in the suppression of the rebellion, however the description of the weaponry used suggests the participation of well-equipped military forces. After one day and one night of fighting, the Cham surrendered.<sup>10997</sup> The

<sup>10989</sup> T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 6-7.

<sup>10990</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 77.

<sup>10991</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 77-78.

<sup>10992</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 77-78.

<sup>10993</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 79.

<sup>10994</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 79-80.

<sup>10995</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 80.

<sup>10996</sup> T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, p. 68 (mentions troops from the sector level); T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 10-11 (mentions district soldiers, commune soldiers and village militia “So there were armed forces at various levels within the area”). See also, T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, p. 4 (mentions forces coming from Sector 21); T. 23 March 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/407.1, pp. 50-51 (mentions troops from the Krouch Chhmar District and from Sector 21); DIN Pet DC-Cam Statement, E3/7998, 11 December 2000, pp. 19-20, ERN (En) 00726176-00726177 (mentions local soldiers and commune militiamen); SOS Min Civil Party Application, E3/4780, undated, ERN (En) 00893530 (Supplementary Information: mentioning commune militiamen).

<sup>10997</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, p. 56 (“After one day and one night of rebellion, we, Cham people, laid down the weapons”); T. 9 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/344.1, p. 25 (“As far as I know, [the rebellion] lasted one whole day and one whole night.”); T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), fighting resulted in hundreds of casualties for the Cham, and some casualties for CPK forces.<sup>10998</sup> The villagers were armed with only two rifles, one of which was captured from a Khmer Rouge soldier, knives and machetes.<sup>10999</sup> The Khmer Rouge soldiers were armed with different kinds of weapons and artillery.<sup>11000</sup>

3257. After the rebellion was over, all the surviving Cham were told to leave and were informed over loudspeaker that the Khmer Rouge wanted to search for enemies, and, if they did not leave, they would be considered enemies.<sup>11001</sup> The Khmer Rouge soldiers rounded up the people involved in the rebellion and walked them to Prek Samraong.<sup>11002</sup>

3258. The Cham were evacuated from their village, the men were separated from the women and detained in different locations.<sup>11003</sup> Women were placed in a pagoda and men were placed in tobacco-drying buildings, hospitals and schools where they were given inadequate food rations, interrogated, beaten and were threatened with bayonets and stabbed in the neck in the course of interrogations.<sup>11004</sup> SOS Min added that the soldiers, carrying hoes, took away some of the villagers “to the back where the tall Kokir trees were” a few days after the interrogation.<sup>11005</sup> Some Cham were also detained at the Kroch Chhmar district security office.<sup>11006</sup> Even after the fighting stopped, the

---

E1/350.1, p. 52 (“The rebellion started at around 7 p.m. and it continued the day after. And the day after at 7 p.m. the rebels had been defeated and we were evacuated out of Svay Khleang village”).

<sup>10998</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 56, 81; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 12-13; T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 80-81; T. 9 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/344.1, p. 24. See also, T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, pp. 63-64.

<sup>10999</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 106; T. 9 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/344.1, pp. 61-62; T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, p. 56; T. 9 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/388.1, p. 27. See also, MAN Sen Interview Record, E3/5205, 13 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00275163; HAK Math Civil Party Application, E3/4892, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00890956; SOH Punyamin DC-Cam Statement, E3/9136, 25 January 2001, p. 10, ERN (En) 01133243.

<sup>11000</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 106. See also, T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, p. 7 (“And there was no way that the rebellion would defeat the Khmer Rouge because, you can imagine, on one side, there were only knives and swords while on the Khmer Rouge side, there were guns. So it was defeated. We surrendered and submitted to them”).

<sup>11001</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 82-83; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, p. 10 (“all the Cham people in Svay Khleang village had been cleansed and purged. And if anyone was to stay behind, that person would be considered the enemy or the CIA agent”).

<sup>11002</sup> T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, p. 10.

<sup>11003</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 56, 77; T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 81; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 9-10.

<sup>11004</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 81-83.

<sup>11005</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 82.

<sup>11006</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 74-75; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 13-14. See also, LENG Sokchea Interview Record, E3/7781, 22 October 2008, pp. 2-4, ERN (En) 00235499-00235501 (LENG Sokchea was the interrogation team chief in Kroch Chhmar Security Centre. When the Cham rebelled in October 1975 he “interrogated many Cham who had been arrested and brought there”. He claimed that he did not know what happened once they were taken away from

Cham who were detained “kept disappearing every night”.<sup>11007</sup> The Chamber finds that the only inference which can reasonably be drawn is that these people were killed.

3259. In light of the above, the Chamber finds that, in September 1975 and October 1975, following increasing restrictions on Cham religious and cultural practices, two Cham rebellions were suppressed by CPK forces and, as a result, a great number of Cham were killed, and the remaining Cham population was forcibly removed from the villages of Koh Phal and Svay Kleang.

13.2.8. Movement of Population Phase Two

3260. The Closing Order charges that one of the CPK’s five policies was to implement and defend the socialist revolution through the movement of the population, and that in late 1975 Cham people were among those moved as part of Phase Two: the movement of people from the Central (old North), Southwest, West and East Zones.<sup>11008</sup> The Closing Order charges that after the Koh Phal and Svay Khleang rebellions of 1975, many Cham were moved from their villages in Kampong Cham province to other villages in the same province or other provinces.<sup>11009</sup> The movement of the Cham in connection with movement of the population (Phase Two) forms the basis of persecution on both political and religious grounds as well as extermination, and other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity and conduct characterised as forced transfer and enforced disappearances.<sup>11010</sup> the detention office but “they disappeared after that”. He clarified that the arrests were made by YIN Sophy, the Sector 21 Chief of Security with the assistance of the military).

---

<sup>11007</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, p. 57. See also, T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 74 (“Anyway, if those people had not been killed, they would have returned. I never saw them again. And if they were to survive, they would be over 100 years old by now. I have never seen them return. So it is common sense that they died.”); T. 9 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/344.1, p. 24 (“I cannot say the casualties reached 500. Perhaps it was below or a little bit above that number. I did not witness the casualty. I only noticed that people had been arrested and taken away. The arrests and acts of taking people away occurred on a regular basis.”); T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 50 (“Q. What about other villagers, who also had been evacuated [...] A. To my recollection, some of my neighbours disappeared and never returned but some other returned. My father disappeared and he has disappeared ever since.”).

<sup>11008</sup> Closing Order, paras 160-161, 266.

<sup>11009</sup> Closing Order, paras 281, 758, 1468.

<sup>11010</sup> Closing Order, paras 266, 268, 281, 901, 1381, 1416, 1420, 1434, 1436, 1448, 1470.

3261. Evacuations of Cham began before the Koh Phal and Svay Khleang rebellions took place.<sup>11011</sup> Some Cham people transferred from the East Zone to the Central (old North) Zone, were transported to Preaek Sandaek Pagoda, Baray district, which was overcrowded. There they were split up into various villages and assigned to work in various mobile units.<sup>11012</sup> According to OR Ho, who was then the village chief in Preaek Sandaek village, the “ethnic Cham were considered to be even lower than the 17 April People” and “they were not allowed to stay in their village and they were relocated or dispersed here and there in various other locations like 17 April People”.<sup>11013</sup> Once evacuated, some Cham were forced to live among the Khmer people and to follow their customs, including eating pork.<sup>11014</sup>

3262. Mass evacuations started following the Svay Khleang and Koh Phal rebellions when the CPK ordered forced transfers “designed to disperse the Cham” in order to “ease tensions”, as evidenced by Telegram 15.<sup>11015</sup> The Chamber recalls its finding that Telegram 15 establishes that the CPK, after the September 1975 Koh Phal and October 1975 Svay Khleang rebellions, adopted a policy of dispersing the East Zone Cham population into the Central (old North) and Northwest Zones in order to ease tensions, taking advantage of a broader movement of people from the East Zone to the Central (old North) Zone aimed at distributing the population throughout Cambodia”.<sup>11016</sup>

<sup>11011</sup> T. 19 June 2012 (YUN Kim), E1/88.1, pp. 13-14, 38-40; YUN Kim Interview Record, E3/368, 12 June 2009, p. 7, ERN (En) 00345195; T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, pp. 75, 94; T. 16 September 2015 (TAY Koemhun), E1/348.1, pp. 28-29.

<sup>11012</sup> T. 25 May 2015 (MEAS Layhuor), E1/304.1, p. 84; T. 2 June 2015 (SEANG Sovida), E1/308.1, p. 45 (there were Khmer Islam or Cham people who had been evacuated who worked with the Khmer people and some of them were assigned to work at the 1st January Dam Worksite).

<sup>11013</sup> T. 19 May 2015 (OR Ho), E1/301.1, pp. 7, 58-59.

<sup>11014</sup> T. 14 November 2012 (PE Chuy Chip Se), E1/144.1, pp. 9-10. See also, TUOLOAS Sma El Interview Record, E3/1678, 10 July 2009, pp. 3-5, ERN (En) 00353493-00353495 (“After 17 April 1975 my family and I were evacuated to Sector 555 in Sambaur village, Sambaur commune, Sambaur district, Kratie province. Other people from my village were evacuated but to different provinces like Kratie province, Battambang province and other provinces [...] The evacuation was done during the time when Mekong River was high [...] When we arrived we were accommodated with a family of the old people in the village. They specified that each family had to live with one old person family. We stayed under their house”).

<sup>11015</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154, E3/1679], 30 November 1975, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00766762-00766763. See also, SMAN At Interview Record, E3/5204, 12 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242082; CHHI Ly Interview Record, E3/5290, 20 May 2009, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00340172-00340173. See above, paras 3210-3212.

<sup>11016</sup> See above, para. 3212.

3263. Several Cham witnesses and Civil Parties provided direct and consistent evidence of these forced transfers.<sup>11017</sup> After the Koh Phal rebellion, the Cham from Ampil village, Peus commune in Kroch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province, located about 2 kilometres away from Koh Phal,<sup>11018</sup> were evacuated to various locations, including Preaek Achi, also within Kroch Chhmar district, Battambang, Stueng Trang and Kratie.<sup>11019</sup> The evacuation orders came from the district committee, the commune committee, the village chief and the village security guards.<sup>11020</sup> There were about 100 boats loaded with Cham people being evacuated first to Stueng Trang

<sup>11017</sup> KAE Noh Interview Record, E3/5289, 20 May 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00340182 (after the end of the rebellion in Koh Phal he was transported by boat with his family to Phum Ti Prampi village, Roka Khnaor commune, Kroch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province. One week after they sent them to Baray village Chhouk commune, Krouch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province); SMAN At Interview Record, E3/5204, 12 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242082 (“All the people who survived the attack, including men, women, and children, were transported by boat to Rokar Khnor for interrogation for two days. [...] after two days they split us up and sent us to four separate locations: Chamkar Daung, Krabei Kriek, Chravak Dek and Baray. They sent about 30 families to each of those locations. My family was sent to Baray [...] Every single day, five to ten people died from malaria because there was no medicine to treat them. In total, about 40 people died there before they sent us to Taing Krasaing, Kampong Thom Province. [...] They forced the survivors, my family and I included, to stay at Taing Krasaing until the Vietnamese came to liberate us in 1979”); CHI Ly Interview Record, E3/5290, 20 May 2009, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00340172-00340173 (after the fighting in Koh Phal, “[t]he people were herded to a place near the river bank and then were transported by boat to a number of villages. My family and I were transported to Phum Ti Prampi, Roka Khnaor, Krouch Chhmar district. At that time they had us live in the villagers’ houses. Five days later, they sent us by big boat to Krabei Kreak village with other fifty Koh Phal villagers. [...] My family and I were relocated many times. I was sent to Chong Ka village, Kakor commune, and then Pou Kel village, Suong commune, I was assigned to do fishing. Later on, I was sent to Songkum Thmei village, Sralab commune and finally to Saoy 2, Peus 1 where I am living now.”); MAT Ysa Interview Record, E3/5207, 14 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242077 (“After the rebellion, aside from making arrests, they sent a number of villagers away by boat to Koh Ta Saoy and to Kampong Thom Province. Almost all of the original villagers were evacuated away, and they told us that we had to relocate to different villages and subdistricts. A small number of the original villagers, including my family, continued living in this village, but I did not know why they kept me living there.”); CHEU Than Interview Record, E3/5253, 23 October 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00235482-00235483 (She lived in village 3, Svay Khleang subdistrict. She stated that: “there were rebellions in the villages east and west of my village. At that time the Khmer Rouge sent troops to suppress those rebels and then put them in boats and sent them to an [unknown destination]. After that they moved the Khmer people to live in those Cham villages.”); DIN Sreav Interview Record, E3/10739, 24 February 2016, p. 3, ERN (En) 01215995 (“Q: Were there any Cham people in this village during the Khmer Rouge regime? [referring to Veal Kriel village, Trean commune, Kampong Siem district] A13: Yes there were. Q: When did they live there? Where did they come from? A14: They were evacuated from the East Zone in 1976. Q: How many Cham families were there? A15: There were about 45 families. Q Did the Cham live separately or with the Khmer? A16: They lived with the Khmer people. There was one Khmer house and then one Cham house and so on”).

<sup>11018</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 69.

<sup>11019</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 72-75 (specifying on p. 74 that “there were no Khmer people. All were the Cham people who were moved. They were all Cham people, that is, when we were moved out of Krouch Chhmar”); T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/343.1, p. 16 (“[I]n 1975 the Cham people were evacuated because of the rebellion.”).

<sup>11020</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 72 (“Q. Who was it that told you that you and your family had to leave your home village? A. They were the district committee, the commune committee, village chief and the village security guards who ordered all of us to leave our village by boats in order to be transferred to Battambang at that time.”).

district, and then to Kampong Thom.<sup>11021</sup> While in Preaek Achi, the Cham were made to mingle with the local Khmer people, often placed into various houses belonging to Khmer people.<sup>11022</sup> Cham from Chumnik village, Chumnik commune, Kroch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province, and from Chhloung district were also sent to Kampong Thom in the Central (old North) Zone after the Koh Phal rebellion.<sup>11023</sup> The Chamber notes that this is consistent with Telegram 15 which mentions people, including Cham villagers, being sent from Kroch Chhmar district to Stueng Trang and from Chhloung district to Preaek Prasab.<sup>11024</sup>

3264. Likewise, the Cham from Svay Khleang were evacuated to other locations after the rebellion, including Dambae district and Stueng Trang district in Kampong Cham province, as well as Kampong Thom province.<sup>11025</sup> The Chamber notes that this is again consistent with Telegram 15 which mentions people, including Cham villagers, being sent from Kroch Chhmar district to Stueng Trang.<sup>11026</sup> Civil Party MAN Sles clarified that it was the commune chief, named Long, and the deputy chief of Svay Khleang, named PENG Heng, who were in charge of the evacuation.<sup>11027</sup> Civil Party NO Sates

<sup>11021</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 73-74.

<sup>11022</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 74-75.

<sup>11023</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 17-18, 76-77. This village was located about 10 kilometres away from Koh Phal and more than 20 kilometres away from Svay Khleang. See T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, p. 9.

<sup>11024</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154, E3/1679], 30 November 1975, p. 1, ERN (En) 00766762. See also, UM Chi Interview Record, E3/5265, 14 January 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00282345 (when he was at Monkul village, Baray district, Kampong Thom province, Central Zone, he saw Cham people who were evacuated there, and these Cham came from Kroch Chhmar).

<sup>11025</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 69, 89-90 (after Svay Khleang uprising, he and other Cham people were detained for 29 days, but “all the residents of Svay Khleang village who had been detained were not allowed to enter the village again; [they] were evacuated by boats to live elsewhere, including Stueng Trang, Baray, Dambae, and many more that [he] cannot recall”); T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 58, 67, 77-78 (10 or 15 days after the end of the fighting in Svay Khleang he was sent to live in Stueng Trang district, Soupheas village with his wife and a three months infant, while his mother and his three other siblings were sent to Roka Khnaor. They were not allowed to stay together.). See also, MAN Sles Civil Party Application, E3/6714, undated, p. 5, ERN (En) 01089920; T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeurn), E1/446.1, pp. 85-86 (After they rebelled at Kaoh Phal and Svay Khleang, Muslim people were evacuated to many areas within Sector 21, so they were relocated to different locations within the same sector); T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 46, 48-49 (“In 1975, Cham people were evacuated. My villagers and I, within the Svay Khleang village, had been evacuated. Some were sent to Dambae, Kampong Thom and Soupheas and I [...] was sent to live in Khsach Prachheh. We all left Svay Khleang village and stayed in Kroch Chhmar Leu. We were detained in a tobacco warehouse for one month and [...] later on we were further sent to Khsach Prachheh”); T. 25 May 2015 (MEAS Layhuor), E1/304.1, pp. 83-84 (Among the workers at the 1st January Dam construction site, there were Cham people. “those Cham people had been evacuated from the East Zone -- that is, from Kampong Cham. And they were assigned to work in the mobile units together, working with us. They were actually transported to Preaek Sandaek pagoda, and [...] later on, they were sent to various villages and assigned to work in the various mobile units”).

<sup>11026</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1680 [E3/154, E3/1679], 30 November 1975, p. 1, ERN (En) 00766762.

<sup>11027</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 76-78.

explained that after the fighting ceased, the villagers were informed over loudspeakers that if they did not leave they would be considered enemies.<sup>11028</sup> According to the consistent evidence provided by Civil Parties SOS Min, MAN Sles and NO Sates, the Cham in Svay Khleang commune were forcibly separated from their families, men and women separated and detained in various locations.<sup>11029</sup> They had their names and biographies registered, and were threatened, interrogated and stabbed in the neck during interrogations.<sup>11030</sup> Once the Cham arrived in their new locations, they were instructed to mix with the Khmer people, and some were evacuated again later.<sup>11031</sup>

3265. After having been detained in a school for 29 days, the remaining Cham from Svay Khleang village still detained with SOS Min were evacuated to Stueng Trang, Dambae and other locations.<sup>11032</sup> They were placed on boats they had to row themselves, and if they went off track they would be shot at from behind. In total, there were about 50 boats that could accommodate between 20 to 50 people each, and soldiers on about 10 of the boats.<sup>11033</sup> SOS Min witnessed three of the children or new-borns on

<sup>11028</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 83.

<sup>11029</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 81-82, 89 (“At a bridge so-called Preaek Cham, men and women were separated from each other. As for men, we were placed in hospitals, schools, and tobacco-drying buildings [...]. As for women, they were placed in a pagoda so-called Khchork under banyan trees”); T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 56-58, 77 (the men were held in a tobacco kiln while the women were held in Daem Chrei pagoda, about one kilometre from the tobacco warehouse); T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 49-51, 84-85 (the women and children were held in the tobacco warehouse from the Prek Cham bridge).

<sup>11030</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 57, 77; T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 81-82, 89. See above, para. 3258.

<sup>11031</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 92 (“When we arrived in Dambae, we were allowed to stay at Svay Kambet [...] village, Seda commune in Dambae district, and we were instructed to live - - to mix with the Khmer people”); SMAN At Interview Record, E3/5204, 12 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242082 (“They deposited each Cham family to live under the houses of the Cambodian villagers already living there”); CHI Ly Interview Record, E3/5290, 20 May 2009, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00340172-00340173 (“At that time they had us live in the villagers houses. [...] They placed the people to live in the villagers houses, one or two families depending on the family size”); T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 52-53. See also, SOS Min Civil Party Application, E3/4780, undated, p. 2, ERN (En) 00893530 (Supplementary Information: “After being released from the detention centre, all the villagers of Svay Khleang were sent by the Khmer Rouge leaders (names unknown) to Dambae District to be mixed with Cambodians in Stueng Trang District of Kampong Cham Province and in Kampong Thorn Province’s Baray and Santuk Districts. Most of them were made to live in villages with Khmer populations. Svay Kambet village, Seda commune and Dambae District of Kampong Cham province were in a malaria-prone mountainous area”).

<sup>11032</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 89-90.

<sup>11033</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 90-91 (“[They] were put on a boat and we had to row the boat ourselves. And for example, out of the 50 boats we had to row in a straight line. And if any boat was going left or right, that boat would be shot at from the back. [...] All people on the boats were Cham people. There were no Khmer [...] And actually, when we went ashore, we had to walk all day before we could reach the village of our destination where we were to settle in. [...] We did not travel voluntarily just by our group the Cham people, but we were forced to go on that trip. We were being watched over all along the way, and there were soldiers on about 10 boats who actually escorted us while his boat die during the journey.<sup>11034</sup> SOS Min testified that out of the 20 families that were evacuated with him to Svay Dambae, only seven survived.<sup>11035</sup> When he returned to Village 5 in Svay Khleang commune after 1979, there were only 170 to 195 Cham families living there, whereas the 1974 population census estimated that there were 1,242 Cham families in Villages 5, 6, and 7 of Svay Khleang commune (only Cham lived in Villages 5 and 6, and both Cham and Khmer lived in Village 7).<sup>11036</sup> Similarly, MAN Sles estimates that there were between 800 to 1,000 Cham families living in Svay Khleang before 1975, and that at least half of them never returned.<sup>11037</sup> NO Sates stated that a number of his relatives and fellow villagers never returned.<sup>11038</sup>

3266. SOS Romly, who lived in Trea 2 village at Trea commune, Kroch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province and who worked as a commune clerk during the DK period testified that he overheard in 1977 that about 80 to 85% of the Cham villagers had been evacuated to the Central (old North) Zone in late 1975.<sup>11039</sup> He further stated that these evacuations were forced and that approximately 60% of the Cham returned after 7 January 1979.<sup>11040</sup>

3267. The Chamber notes that forced movement of Cham people occurred in other parts of the country, and notably, Cham living in the Central (old North) zone were scattered within that zone or in the Northwest Zone. Civil Party HIM Man, a Cham villager from Sach Sou village, Peam Chi Kang commune, Kang Meas district, we were on the boat trip and we had to comply with their instructions. They escorted us all the way through until we reached the village”).

---

<sup>11034</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 90-92 (“During the boat trip, it was raining all night unfortunately. And, some young children and the new-born, several of them died on the boats. We were not allowed to rest at all during the boat trip. We were so exhausted and starving, but we had to row the boat”).

<sup>11035</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, p. 95; T. 9 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/344.1, p. 5.

<sup>11036</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/343.1, pp. 85-86; T. 9 September 2015 (SOS Min), E1/344.1, pp. 55-59.

<sup>11037</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (MAN Sles), E1/393.1, pp. 67-68. See also, T. 29 February 2016 (MEU Peou), E1/393.1, p. 38.

<sup>11038</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 67 (“My last question perhaps, in relation to villagers who had been evacuated out of your village. Did you see them during the time that you returned to your village after the end of the regime? A. My mother, my younger siblings disappeared. People who were put in the warehouse were sent to live in various places. People, those who were working and living together with me at that time, disappeared”).

<sup>11039</sup> T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 3, 16-18.

<sup>11040</sup> T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, p. 46.

Kampong Cham province, estimated that out of the 200 to 300 Cham families living in the village, only about 30 families remained after the evacuation in late 1975.<sup>11041</sup>

3268. The Chamber finds that, after the September 1975 Koh Phal and October 1975 Svay Khleang rebellions, the East Zone Cham population was forcibly dispersed into the Central (old North) Zone in order to ease tensions. Cham were removed without their consent and under threat of being considered enemies if they did not comply. Families, and especially men and women, were separated. Even though this dispersion was part of a broader movement of people from the East Zone to the Central (old North) Zone aimed at distributing the population throughout Cambodia, the Chamber finds that the Cham in the East Zone were specifically targeted as a result of the rebellions. The Chamber further finds that this is indicative of the Cham being dispersed in order for their communities to be broken up rather than to simply displace the labour force.

13.2.9. Killing and Detention of the Cham

3269. The Closing Order charges that mass executions occurred in 1977 and 1978 in the East Zone and Central (old North) Zone.<sup>11042</sup> Specifically, it charges that the killing of Cham became widespread as of 1977 and increased progressively “until it reached such a scale as to qualify as extermination”, notably as perpetrated at the Trea Village and Wat Au Trakuon Security Centres.<sup>11043</sup>

13.2.9.1. East Zone: Trea Village Security Centre

3270. Facts related to the Trea Village Security Centre are relevant to the charges of genocide and crimes against humanity of murder, extermination, imprisonment and torture.<sup>11044</sup> The Closing Order found that the Trea Village Security Centre was used to detain and torture prisoners, and there was a field used as an execution and burial site

<sup>11041</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 35-37. See also, YOUSOH Slaiman Civil Party Application, E3/7017a, 20 May 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 01226561 (he and his family were evacuated in 1976 from Angkor Ban commune, Kang Meas district to Damrei Slab village, Doun Teav district, Battambang province); Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, p. 277, ERN (En) 01150145 (reporting statements made by TES Osman, a Cham living in Chamcar Andong village in Chamcar Leu district, who stated that, in 1975, the were five hundred Cham people living there were dispersed and only 20 families survived to 1979).

<sup>11042</sup> Closing Order, para. 212.

<sup>11043</sup> Closing Order, paras 1378-1386.

<sup>11044</sup> See above, para. 3183.

to the west of the Security Centre, adjacent to the Mekong River.<sup>11045</sup> It found that in mid-1978, many Cham were taken in groups from around Kroch Chhmar and the mobile labour units to the Trea Village Security Centre, located in Trea village, Kroch Chhmar district, in Sector 21 of the East Zone.<sup>11046</sup>

3271. OCIJ investigators conducted an on-site visit and confirmed that the Trea Village Security Centre was situated in Trea village, Kroch Chhmar district, immediately adjacent to the south of the main road from Kampong Treas, and that the original construction was a wooden residential house which was converted to be used for the detention of prisoners.<sup>11047</sup> IT Sen further described being detained in a house by the river,<sup>11048</sup> and NO Sates indicates that the military security centre operated out of houses.<sup>11049</sup> SOS Romly, who lived in Trea 2 village at Trea commune, Kroch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province and who worked as a commune clerk during the DK period, stated that, in May 1978, the commune office was transformed into a district office,<sup>11050</sup> which was subsequently used as a security centre.<sup>11051</sup> He further says this centre was located near the riverbank, which is consistent with the abovementioned evidence.<sup>11052</sup>

13.2.9.1.1. Orders targeting the Cham

3272. The Chamber heard evidence that the cadres from the Southwest and Central (old North) Zones were deployed to the East Zone in 1977-1978.<sup>11053</sup> Because of the escalation of the conflict with Vietnam and as East Zone cadres were viewed with

<sup>11045</sup> Closing Order, paras 784-789.

<sup>11046</sup> Closing Order, paras 784-785.

<sup>11047</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8035, 30 June 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00364803.

<sup>11048</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/343.1, pp. 58-63.

<sup>11049</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 65.

<sup>11050</sup> T. 6 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/371.1, pp. 92, 99-100; YUSUF Romly Interview Record, E3/9324, 17 August 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00242064 (“In May 1978, they took that site for use as their District Office instead. After that they also took the two adjacent houses for the use of the District Office. At that time there were not many houses, like there are today. They designated the areas north and south of that office as the District Security site. The areas north, south and east were not surrounded by a fence. The river was located to the west. The area was guarded by Khmer Rouge soldiers, and they absolutely forbid anyone from going in or out. All the houses surrounding the District Office were used to detain prisoners and the area south of the District Office was used as a killing and burial site. In 1979 they discovered hundreds of bodies in pits there”).

<sup>11051</sup> T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 10-13.

<sup>11052</sup> T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, p. 12.

<sup>11053</sup> T. 8 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/349.1, p. 40; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 18-19; T. 10 February 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/389.1, p. 5. See above, para. 3202. See also, Section 4: General Overview; Section 5: Administrative Structures; Section 12.1: Internal Factions.

distrust, KE Pauk and SON Sen were put in charge of strengthening the military in the East Zone.<sup>11054</sup> BAN Seak, who was Kroch Chhmar district secretary at the time, testified to having witnessed decapitated corpses floating in the Mekong river while he was in Kroch Chhmar district and to having heard about an order from the upper echelon to execute people in Trea village.<sup>11055</sup> According to a number witnesses, Ho (or Hor) was Kroch Chhmar District Secretary and was in charge of the Trea Village Security Centre.<sup>11056</sup> Although BAN Seak admitted to having used the alias Hor during the DK period, he said that the use of such alias was limited to the Chamkar Leu district.<sup>11057</sup> However, having heard evidence from several witnesses indicating that the Kroch Chhmar district chief was the Hor (or Ho) in charge of Trea village, the Chamber finds that mentions of Hor (or Ho) refer to BAN Seak.<sup>11058</sup>

3273. The Chamber further notes that BAN Seak had initially denied any involvement in Kroch Chhmar district and, when questioned about this in court, he explained that he “would rather not raise the point because it could lead to more issues”, noting that his brother had been purged and that his colleagues warned him not to disclose too much.<sup>11059</sup> BAN Seak also specified that the arrests and killings did not target the Cham specifically, but rather targeted all rebels: “when they did not have a clean biography, <sup>11054</sup> T. 5 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/353.1, pp. 63, 79-81. See above, para. 3199. KE Pauk was SAO Phim’s deputy until the latter’s suicide in June 1978. See Section 5: Administrative Structures, para. 451; Section 12.1.6.3.4.4: KE Pauk and SON Sen go to the East Zone.

<sup>11055</sup> T. 5 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/353.1, pp. 78-79; T. 6 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/354.1, pp. 36, 69-70. See also, KE Pich Vannak Interview Record, E3/35, 4 June 2009, p. 11, ERN (En) 00346155 (“During that same period, there were headless copses floating in the Mekong River, and one day a few floating headless corpses were caught up at the dock in front of POL Pot’s office [...] The investigation found that the Cham people had been arrested, placed in the boats, and then were beheaded before they were dumped into the river”).

<sup>11056</sup> T. 13 January 2016 (MATH Sor), E1/375.1, p. 40; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 52-53; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 69; T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 8-9; SUF Romly Interview Record, E3/5196, 10 July 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00223088. See also, SOKH Proeung Interview Record, E3/7680, 18 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00275390; SA Nau Interview Record, E3/7679, 17 August 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00242061-00242062; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/2653 [E3/7675], p. 137, ERN (En) 00219198.

<sup>11057</sup> T. 5 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/353.1, pp. 66-69; T. 6 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/354.1, pp. 42-43.

<sup>11058</sup> T. 13 January 2016 (MATH Sor), E1/375.1, pp. 39-40; AHMAD Sofiyah Interview Record, E3/5194, 8 July 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00274708; T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 68-69; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 52-53; T. 8 January 2016 (SOS Romly), E1/372.1, pp. 7-9; T. 24 March 2016 (YSA Osman), E1/408.1, pp. 13-14.

<sup>11059</sup> T. 5 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/353.1, pp. 75-76; BAN Siek Interview Record, E3/5275, 17 February 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00284493. The Chamber also notes that BAN Seak admitted previously that “[t]o my knowledge the rebels -- regardless of whether they were Cham Chinese or Khmer -- had to be smashed”. See BAN Siek Interview Record, E3/9517, 24 March 2014, p. 12, ERN (En) 00984879.

they were smashed”.<sup>11060</sup> He further denied attending a meeting in Sandan district in Kampong Thom province, during which KE Pauk asked him to “destroy all the Cham because they were traitors”.<sup>11061</sup> The Chamber considers his testimony to be at least partly driven by an attempt to minimise his own role and consequently considers it unreliable when it comes to his own participation in the events in Trea village including the denial of the existence of a plan to purge the Cham conveyed to him by KE Pauk. Similarly, the Chamber rejects his testimony that arrests and killings did not target the Cham.<sup>11062</sup> However, the Chamber has found him to be cooperative, forthcoming and credible with more factual evidence concerning such matters as the administrative structure and command hierarchy. The Chamber therefore accepts his testimony that, as Kroch Chhmar District Secretary, he reported to the Sector 21 Secretary Rin, who in turn reported to SON Sen.<sup>11063</sup> He further testified that orders on executions came from the “upper echelon”, notably that the “orders to purge the people in Kroch Chhmar district came from Son Sen and all the rebels were killed”.<sup>11064</sup>

3274. VAN Mat was a Cham villager from Chumnik village, Chumnik commune, Kroch Chhmar district, and worked in a mobile unit.<sup>11065</sup> He consistently testified that leaders in the East Zone were summoned to the Central (old North) Zone to attend a meeting in Kampong Thma, over which KE Pauk presided and during which they discussed “smashing” enemies and traitors.<sup>11066</sup> Furthermore, VAN Mat testified that a few days after the meeting, a group of between 400 to 500 people from his village and from places nearby were forced to board on boats at Svay Damnak Pagoda, Chumnik

<sup>11060</sup> T. 6 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/354.1, p. 34. See also, UM Chi Interview Record, E3/5265, 14 January 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00282346 (indicating that UM Chi was the chairman of a mobile unit of Baray district, Central Zone, working at the 1st January Dam Worksite. He stated: “In making the plans, district level put the plans in place for the subdistricts to implement [...]. During each meeting the District [Committee] also spoke about national construction. In those meetings, he said, ‘If any of the people do not respect and follow the principles of upper-echelon, they will be considered to be enemies’. If we did not respect their orders they would smash us”). See above, paras 3218-3219, 3223.

<sup>11061</sup> T. 6 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/354.1, pp. 75-76.

<sup>11062</sup> T. 6 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/354.1, p. 34. See above, para. 3223.

<sup>11063</sup> T. 5 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/353.1, pp. 62-63; BAN Siek Interview Record, E3/9517 24 March 2014, p. 14, ERN (En) 00984881.

<sup>11064</sup> T. 5 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/353.1, pp. 69-72; T. 6 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/354.1, p. 34.

<sup>11065</sup> The Chamber notes that he also occasionally served as the driver for the chief of Chumnik Commune. See T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 18, 21, 29 (indicating that he drove motorbikes and boats).

<sup>11066</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 31-33; Book by Ysa O.: The Cham Rebellion, E3/9323, p. 3, ERN (En) 00218542; VANN Mat Interview Record, E3/8735, 15 July 2011, p. 3, ERN (En) 00722240. See above, paras 3223-3224.

commune, Kroch Chhmar district.<sup>11067</sup> Only “a small minority” of the evacuees were Khmer, the vast majority of people were Cham (“about 98 per cent”).<sup>11068</sup> VAN Mat also stated that when he was evacuated, the transfer of people had already started and the evacuation never stopped, with “thousands of people, including men, women and children, [being] evacuated before [him]”.<sup>11069</sup> He further testified that about 30 per cent of the initial population of Chumnik village remained.<sup>11070</sup> Of the 400 to 500 people being evacuated along with VAN Mat, none of them ever returned to the village and “before our group, there were thousands and thousands of people who were killed”.<sup>11071</sup> They were sent by boat to Stueng Trang with armed soldiers watching them and, at their arrival, they were tied up by Khmer Rouge cadres.<sup>11072</sup> VAN Mat realised that “the plan was not to keep those evacuees alive and that those already evacuated had all died”.<sup>11073</sup> He then jumped into the water, swam away and managed to escape,<sup>11074</sup> went back to Chumnik village to warn members of his unit and they fled into the forest, where they managed to survive for a few months until the fall of the DK.<sup>11075</sup> The Chamber notes that the events described by the witness took place in Kroch Chhmar district and were contemporaneous with other arrests and killings of Cham in the same district, in particular at Trea Village Security Centre, which is discussed below. The Chamber also notes that a number of Cham arrested at Trea village were members of mobile units and that these events occurred when the purge of East zone cadres was ongoing, and local cadres were replaced by people from the Southwest or the Central (old North) Zones who reported to KE Pauk, including BAN Seak, the then Secretary of Sector 21, who was related to him.

<sup>11067</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 34-35, 40; SALES Ahmat Interview Record, E3/5209, 15 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00242069; VANN Mat Interview Record, E3/8735, 15 July 2011, p. 3, ERN (En) 00722240.

<sup>11068</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 32-35, 39-40.

<sup>11069</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, p. 40; SALES Ahmat Interview Record, E3/5209, 15 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00242068.

<sup>11070</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 35-36.

<sup>11071</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 39, 46-47.

<sup>11072</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, p. 36 (stating that “they used a string of about 10 metres to tie the people in line.”).

<sup>11073</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 44, 46, 49.

<sup>11074</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, p. 36 (stating that “[b]ut for me, along with some of my friends, we jumped into the water when we heard that. They were shooting at us but we just dove in and swam, and we escaped”), 37 (testifying that “[the armed men on the boat] shot many bullets. I dove in the water and it was night-time, it was 9 p.m., so their bullets could not accurately target me.”).

<sup>11075</sup> T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 43-44, 49.

3275. In light of the above, the Chamber is satisfied that orders to purge the Cham in the East Zone, and specifically in Kroch Chhmar district, came from the upper echelon, including from KE Pauk, the Central (old North) Zone Secretary. This is consistent with the policy which was implemented on the other side of the Mekong by KE Pauk,<sup>11076</sup> and contemporaneous with the most serious purges conducted against the Cham in Trea village and at Wat Au Trakuon. The Chamber is likewise satisfied that a meeting was held in Kampong Thma, Central (old North) Zone with the East Zone leaders, discussing smashing enemies and that soon after Cham living along the Mekong river in Sector 21 were forcibly transferred and subsequently disappeared.

13.2.9.1.2. Detention and killing of Cham at Trea Village Security Centre

3276. Two witnesses and one Civil Party testified to having been detained in the Trea Village Security Centre. IT Sen was sent there in 1978 with his family and approximately 40 other Cham families from Ampil village and Saoy village, located about 2 kilometres from Koh Phal in Kroch Chhmar district.<sup>11077</sup> On the way, they were told by villagers that Cham people had been blindfolded and led to the river.<sup>11078</sup> Upon their arrival at Trea village, the men were separated from the women and children, and the men were ordered to go to the riverfront and stand in line, where they were tied up, beaten and asked repeatedly if they were Muslims.<sup>11079</sup> The beatings were administered by armed military men.<sup>11080</sup> IT Sen and about 40 other men were then placed in a house by the river guarded by armed Khmer Rouge soldiers and he saw more Cham being

<sup>11076</sup> The Chamber notes that at the time the East Zone was under his control. See T. 9 March 2016 (VAN Mat), E1/398.1, pp. 26-28. See also, para. 3199.

<sup>11077</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 69, 81-84, 91, 106.

<sup>11078</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 83.

<sup>11079</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 85-86 (stating that “After, I was tied up, I was beaten, kicked and they used the car-tyre sandals to hit our heads. Some of us fell down to the ground and they grabbed our hairs to sit up again in order to beat us and kick us again. They kicked us repeatedly and they asked whether we were Muslims. We thought that if we told that we were Khmer they would not beat us. No, it was not the case. They said we were lying to them, and as a result, they repeatedly kick and beat us even worse at that time. In fact, they knew that we were Chams. Out of fear and with the hope that it would get better by telling them that we were Khmer, things went the opposite. Having told them that we were Khmer, they started to mistreat us even worse. Sarcastically, we were not that badly mistreated when we told them that we were Chams.”).

<sup>11080</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 89.

detained in several nearby houses.<sup>11081</sup> He managed to escape the house<sup>11082</sup> and later witnessed, while hiding in bushes, cadres going to collect the Cham:

[P]eople with blindfold[s] were taken out of the houses, and led to the river. They then used a big rope to attach some 30 people together one after another, while the other end of the rope was attached to the back of a motor boat. And so when the boat got to the middle of the river, they released the rope with people attached to it into the river to drown those people.<sup>11083</sup>

3277. According to NO Sates, who lived in Village 5, Svay Kleang commune, Kroch Chhmar district, Kampong Cham province,<sup>11084</sup> the Southwest Zone cadres came to the East Zone “to purge Cham people, all the Cham people had to be collected” and relocated to places from where they “never returned”.<sup>11085</sup> All the Cham in Khsach Prachheh Leu, Kroch Chhmar district, were collected and sent away.<sup>11086</sup> First the male Cham were sent away and then the village chiefs invited the female Cham to a meeting where they told them that they would be relocated to other villages.<sup>11087</sup> Among the Cham evacuated were members of NO Sates’s family, who were sent to Stueng Trang

<sup>11081</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 88-90 (the Chamber notes that the witness alternatively mentions 10 and 20 houses).

<sup>11082</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 93-94, 97,100.

<sup>11083</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, pp. 94-97.

<sup>11084</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 46.

<sup>11085</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 48-49 (stating that “[i]n 1975, Cham people were evacuated. My villagers and I within the Svay Khleang village, had been evacuated. Some were sent to Dambae, Kampong Thom and Soupheas and I [...] was sent to live in Khsach Prachheh. We all left Svay Khleang village and stayed in Kroch Chhmar Leu. We were detained in a tobacco warehouse for one month and [...] later on we were further sent to Khsach Prachheh.”), 56 (“I was in Khsach Prachheh for about a fortnight then the Southwest group gathered all the Cham people and took them away. They told us that we were being relocated to the other side of the river that is to Stueng Trang as that area was abundant with food. My mother, my younger siblings and grandmother, along with other villagers who were Cham people, were gathered up and sent there. As for me I was in a women’s group, then we were sent to Trea village. We were called to a meeting in Trea village -- it was in Khsach Prachheh Kandal rather, while my mother and the rest of my families got on a ferry to Kroch Chhmar. So I was at the Khsach Prachheh Kandal and by about 1 o’clock in the afternoon after the meeting, we were sent to live in Trea village”), 87 (“Q. [...] I’m asking you about when the people from the Southwest Zone arrived in Khsach Prachheh Leu, what year was it, that they arrived, the people from the Southwest Zone? A. There were many of them. I did not know when they came. I cannot tell you the exact day, month and year. What I can recall is that upon their arrival, they had bad treatments on people, even one committed a minor mistake he or she would be taken away. They came to purge Cham people, all Cham people had to be collected and we were told that we had to relocate to live at Stueng Trang for instance, because at Stueng Trang there were sufficient food, rice to eat and there was abundant of work at Stueng Trang. People who were sent to Stueng Trang never returned.”), 89-90 (stating that “[a]ll of them were gathered up including male, female, my two younger brothers, my sister, my grandmother, my mother, all of them were gathered up in groups, together with other villagers and they were sent away. [...] They have disappeared ever since.”).

<sup>11086</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 88.

<sup>11087</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 88-90.

by boat.<sup>11088</sup> She never saw them again.<sup>11089</sup> While some Khmer were also evacuated that day, NO Sates testified that they were sent to Roka Khnaor commune, Kroch Chhmar district but “they were not executed”.<sup>11090</sup>

3278. NO Sates was sent to Trea village along with a group of approximately 40 unmarried women from Khsach Prachheh Kandal, and when she arrived was placed in a house with several hundreds of other women from the surrounding area.<sup>11091</sup> The women were tied up and questioned by the district chief Ho, identified by the Chamber as being Ban Seak.<sup>11092</sup> They were asked if they were Khmer or Cham and anybody saying they were Cham was taken out of the line-up and escorted elsewhere by a soldier and “they have disappeared since”.<sup>11093</sup> NO Sates insisted that she was Khmer and was therefore not taken away.<sup>11094</sup> Only the 30 women who said they were Khmer remained and they were told they were lucky to be Khmer otherwise they would have been taken away.<sup>11095</sup> The 30 women who remained were closely monitored and they were asked to eat pork soup under the supervision of Hor and soldiers.<sup>11096</sup> During the nine days that NO Sates was detained in Trea village, she was forced one night to eat pork in order to convince the district chief that she was Khmer.<sup>11097</sup> After her release, she was sent to work around Trea village and one day in 1978 while she was working along the river bank, she witnessed dead bodies floating in bags in the river including children and a Cham woman from Khsach Prachheh Kraom whom she recognised, named Bong Tho.<sup>11098</sup>

<sup>11088</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 56-57, 88-90.

<sup>11089</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 89-90; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, p. 24.

<sup>11090</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 90.

<sup>11091</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 39, 56-58; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 37-41. She stated the surrounding area includes: “Peus Number 1, Peus Number 2 and Khpob and Svay Khleang and Kroch Chhmar”.

<sup>11092</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, p. 58; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 38, 42-43, 46.

<sup>11093</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 58-59, 71; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, p. 43.

<sup>11094</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 59-60; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 24-25.

<sup>11095</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 59-60, 69-71, 75; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, pp. 42-44, 46-47.

<sup>11096</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 75-76.

<sup>11097</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 60-61, 75-76.

<sup>11098</sup> T. 28 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/350.1, pp. 61-64; T. 29 September 2015 (NO Sates), E1/351.1, p. 22. See also, SA Chheang Interview Record, E3/9671p. 7, 28 April 2015, ERN (En) 01111790.

3279. NO Sates's account is corroborated by the testimony of MATH Sor alias AHMAD Sofiyah, who was born in Khsach Prachheh Kandal village, Kroch Chhmar commune, Kroch Chhmar district, and was a female worker in the same mobile unit as NO Sates when they were both sent to the Trea Village Security Centre in 1978.<sup>11099</sup> She was detained with around 30 other Cham women.<sup>11100</sup> The Chamber notes that while the testimonies of the two women differ on several details such as the number of detainees, they are similar on key points in relation to the treatment of the Cham as described below. Indeed, MATH Sor similarly testified that her group of 30 Cham detainees were all tied up, guarded by armed cadres and asked if they were Khmer or Cham.<sup>11101</sup> Like NO Sates, MATH Sor pretended she was Khmer in order to survive and stated that those who admitted they were Cham were escorted outside and never returned.<sup>11102</sup> She also saw, through a hole in the wall, that the Cham taken away were brought to a pit some eight metres from the house and thrown into it.<sup>11103</sup> MATH Sor further testified that “[t]he pit was pretty large and they placed a wooden plank near the pit and the people were asked to bend their head, then they hit them and they fell into the pit”.<sup>11104</sup> She further stated that all of her family members, including six siblings and both her parents, “were taken away and killed by the Khmer Rouge”.<sup>11105</sup>

3280. The Chamber dismisses the submissions by the NUON Chea Defence and the KHIEU Samphan Defence that the testimonies of IT Sen, NO Sates and MATH Sor lack credibility.<sup>11106</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence points out that the detainees were not allowed to speak to one another in order to cast doubt on IT Sen's testimony that he knew other detainees were Cham because they told him so.<sup>11107</sup> However, the Chamber notes that it is highly unlikely that any prohibition of verbal communication between prisoners would have been followed without exception and notes furthermore that IT Sen also explained having spoken with the new Cham detainees.<sup>11108</sup> Likewise, the Chamber does not consider that darkness and heavy rain would have prevented IT Sen

<sup>11099</sup> T. 13 January 2016 (MATH Sor), E1/375.1, pp. 17, 80.

<sup>11100</sup> T. 13 January 2016 (MATH Sor), E1/375.1, pp. 25-27.

<sup>11101</sup> T. 13 January 2016 (MATH Sor), E1/375.1, pp. 28-29.

<sup>11102</sup> T. 13 January 2016 (MATH Sor), E1/375.1, pp. 30, 37.

<sup>11103</sup> T. 13 January 2016 (MATH Sor), E1/375.1, pp. 34, 37-40, 69-70.

<sup>11104</sup> T. 13 January 2016 (MATH Sor), E1/375.1, p. 51.

<sup>11105</sup> T. 13 January 2016 (MATH Sor), E1/375.1, p. 41.

<sup>11106</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 796-798; KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1739-1750.

<sup>11107</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1740-1741.

<sup>11108</sup> T. 7 September 2015 (IT Sen), E1/342.1, p. 90.

from witnessing people being drowned in the river, as suggested by the NUON Chea Defence.<sup>11109</sup> Both Defence teams point out the differences in the testimonies of NO Sates and MATH Sor,<sup>11110</sup> which the Chamber acknowledges but considers can be explained by the passage of time. The Chamber has therefore placed more weight on the evidence corroborated by both NO Sates and MATH Sor and carefully scrutinised the evidence it relied upon that came from only one of them. Finally, the Chamber finds no merit in the NUON Chea Defence's speculative submission that MATH Sor's testimony could be motivated by the same "quest for justice" that NO Sates showed in exaggerating the information she gave when interviewed by YSA Osman.<sup>11111</sup> The Chamber recalls that viva voce testimony provided the opportunity to the Defence to test the credibility of the witnesses. The Chamber finds IT Sen, NO Sates and MATH Sor to be all three credible and their evidence to be generally reliable.

3281. In light of the above, the Chamber finds that in 1978, a large number of Cham people from Kroch Chhmar district were arrested and taken to Trea Village Security Centre, where they were arbitrarily detained. Their membership to the Cham group was verified, sometimes through beatings, and those who were deemed to be Cham were executed while some others were moved to other places and spared.

13.2.9.2. Central (old North) Zone: Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre

3282. In relation to the Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre, the Closing Order states that around 1977, CPK cadres, with the assistance of the Long Sword Militia, arrested all the Cham throughout Kang Meas district and took them to Wat Au Trakuon which had been turned into a security centre and execution site.<sup>11112</sup> It lists the categories of detainees at Wat Au Trakuon as including "new people, base people and Cham", noting that "when arrested, Cham people were not detained at all, but killed immediately".<sup>11113</sup>

3283. Wat Au Trakuon was located in Sector 41, in Sambaur Meas village, Peam Chikang subdistrict, Kang Meas district, Kampong Cham province, Central (old North)

<sup>11109</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 798.

<sup>11110</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 798; KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1746-1748.

<sup>11111</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 798.

<sup>11112</sup> Closing Order, paras 779, 1378, 1386. The Chamber recalls that Kroch Chhmar Security Centre falls outside the scope of Case 002/02.

<sup>11113</sup> Closing Order, paras 779, 783.

Zone.<sup>11114</sup> As of 1976, Wat Au Trakuon was used as a security centre. The pagoda compound was approximately 170m by 200m and was bounded by a barbed wire fence.<sup>11115</sup> Horn was the Security Centre's chief of security, under the Kang Meas District Committee Secretary Kan.<sup>11116</sup> Pheap, Kan's wife, who was his Deputy Secretary was also involved with the security centre and she was head of Peam Chi Kang commune, to which the Long Sword Group reported.<sup>11117</sup> Kan and Pheap were both cadres from the Southwest Zone who replaced previous local cadres after they had been purged.<sup>11118</sup>

3284. The Long Sword Group was created to conduct large arrests and bring those arrested to the district security guards at Wat Au Trakuon.<sup>11119</sup> It was named after the "Samurai-like" swords carried by its members.<sup>11120</sup> It was a commune militia group set up by Southwest Zone cadres in 1977 after their arrival and it reported to Pheap, the Peam Chi Kang commune chief.<sup>11121</sup> The militia consisted of nine to 14 members, each equipped with a long sword, including witnesses TAY Koemhun (TAY Kimhuon) alias

<sup>11114</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8038, 30 June 2009, p. 1, ERN (En) 00364805, T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, p. 32.

<sup>11115</sup> Site Identification Report, E3/8038, 30 June 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00364806.

<sup>11116</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 16-17, 31; T. 12 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/374.1, p. 11; T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, p. 36; T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, pp. 97-98; SENG Khuy Interview Record, E3/5301, 7 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00210483; T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, p. 8; SENG Srun Interview Record, E3/8736, 25 August 2011, ERN (En) 00740715-00740716; T. 16 September 2015 (TAY Koemhun), E1/348.1, pp. 9, 80-81, 97. See also, LEAV Loas Interview Record, E3/9342, 9 April 2009, pp. 2-4, ERN (En) 00339932-00339934 (stating that he was from Angkor Ban commune and a mobile unit worker in Kang Meas district at the time); SOK Meng Ly Interview Record, E3/9654, 26 August 2014, pp. 5-7, ERN (En) 01044616-01044618 (stating that he was a member of the Long Sword Group at the relevant time); TAY Kimhuon Interview Record, E3/5257, 24 November 2008, pp. 2, 7, ERN (En) 00251013, 00251018. The Chamber further notes that the Chief of Security at Wat Au Trakuon prior to the arrival of the Southwest Zone cadres was a man named Khun, who disappeared a few months after their arrival. See T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 16-17.

<sup>11117</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, p. 40; T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, p. 111. See also, SOK Meng Ly Interview Record, E3/9654, 26 August 2014, p. 5, ERN (En) 01044616. The Chamber notes the submissions made by the NUON Chea Defence that SAY Doeun had a "sudden change in testimony" regarding the arrests of Cham, however, the Chamber finds that although the witness was hesitant in addressing the topic by initially denying knowledge or recollection, he nonetheless confirmed the information contained in his written statement when he was confronted with it. See e.g., T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 41, 44-45, 65-66.

<sup>11118</sup> See above, para. 3202.

<sup>11119</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 28, 75-76, 111; T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 46-47; T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, p. 28; T. 16 September 2015 (TAY Koemhun), E1/348.1, pp. 81-82.

<sup>11120</sup> THONG Kim Interview Record, 4 August 2014, E3/9661, pp. 4, 8, ERN (En) 01044606, 01044610; T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, p. 50; T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, p. 37; SOK Meng Ly Interview Record, 26 August 2014, E3/9654, p. 6, ERN (En) 01044617.

<sup>11121</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 37-38, 40; T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, p. 111; T. 15 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/347.1, pp. 9-10. See also, Section 5: Administrative Structures, para. 454.

Kimhuon and SAY Doeun, who testified that he was appointed for two months by Pheap.<sup>11122</sup> The Long Sword Group received arrest orders from the Peam Chi Kang commune chief, who in turn had received them from the Kang Meas District Committee Secretary Kan.<sup>11123</sup> The orders were signed by Pheap, who, according to SAY Doeun, said she had received them from “the upper echelon”.<sup>11124</sup> After the arrival of the Southwest Zone cadres in 1977, a meeting was held in Damnak Svay village, presided over by the district secretary Kan, where the people living in the cooperative were in attendance and the main topic was to respect Angkar.<sup>11125</sup> Not long after that meeting, the Long Sword Group began frequently arresting Cham people.<sup>11126</sup>

13.2.9.2.1. Orders targeting the Cham

3285. As discussed above, the Chamber heard evidence on orders targeting the Cham coming from the “upper echelon”.<sup>11127</sup> As regards Sector 41 specifically, PRAK Yut, Secretary of the Kampong Siem district testified that in 1977, “[t]here was an order from the sector level to us to purge the Cham”<sup>11128</sup> and that she had to follow the instructions of the “upper echelon” to identify all the Cham people in her commune.<sup>11129</sup> Similarly, YEAN Lon, who was part of the Kampong Thma commune militia located in Santuk district, Kampong Thom province, close to the 1st January Dam in the Central (old North) Zone, testified that the order to arrest the Cham came “down from the sector and the provincial level” and that the commune chief was implementing instructions coming from above.<sup>11130</sup> Moreover, SAY Doeun, who was a member of the Long Sword

<sup>11122</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 37-38, 56; T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 109-110; T. 15 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/347.1, pp. 3-4, 9, 15-16. The Chamber notes that TAY Koemhun’s testimony was contradictory as regards his membership and role in the Long Sword Group. See T. 16 September 2015 (TAY Koemhun), E1/348.1, pp. 37-40, 44, 54, 66-67, 84 (he first denied being ever part of the group, then stated being assigned to guard a rice barn, and finally stated that “I was not part of the Long Sword Group, however I stayed near the Long Sword Group”). The Chamber finds that this witness may have been trying to minimise his own role in the militia and finds him unreliable on this issue. The Chamber finds SEN Srun’s evidence credible and relies on it.

<sup>11123</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 40-41, 63.

<sup>11124</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 42, 66, 71.

<sup>11125</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, pp. 29-30.

<sup>11126</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, pp. 26-27, 29-30.

<sup>11127</sup> See above, para. 3221.

<sup>11128</sup> T. 18 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/377.1, p. 81.

<sup>11129</sup> T. 18 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/377.1, pp. 82-83; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9525, 27 October 2013, p. 3, ERN (En) 01056238. See also, T. 18 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/377.1, pp. 37-38 (discusses PRAK Yut receiving orders from the upper echelon in relation to separating ethnicities for marriage purposes).

<sup>11130</sup> T. 16 June 2015 (YEAN Lon), E1/317.1, pp. 57-58; YEAN Lun Interview Record, E3/7322, 23 April 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00330719. The Chamber recalls that, like members of the Long Sword Group, YEAN Lon was identified by UTH Seng as carrying knives and swords with dry blood on them, which

Group in Peam Chi Kang commune, testified that he was appointed for two months after the arrival of the Southwest Zone cadres, and that the orders to arrest the Cham came from Pheap, the commune chief, who herself received them from the “upper echelon of the Angkar” and notably from her husband Kan.<sup>11131</sup> SAY Doeun also testified to having heard of a plan “that no Cham, no single Cham shall be spared”, through Pheap.<sup>11132</sup>

3286. The Chamber also heard evidence of meetings held early 1977, at which witnesses SAMRETH Muy (SAMRIT Muy), a village militiaman who was living in Sach Sou village, Kang Meas district and SEN Srun, a former soldier and a palm tree climber living close to Wat Au Trakuon, were present. They both testified that the meetings had been called by Sector Secretary AO An.<sup>11133</sup> SEN Srun attended a meeting called by AO An at Wat Au Trakuon.<sup>11134</sup> He testified that the Cham were not discussed and that AO An “spoke at length about the arrest of the former cadres who were accused of betraying Angkar”.<sup>11135</sup> SEN Srun further testified that, although the Cham were never specifically mentioned during the meeting, they would be considered the enemies of the Pol Pot regime as would any other non-Khmer race.<sup>11136</sup> SAMRIT Muy was called, along with all the people living in the cooperative, to a meeting held in Damnak Svay village after the arrival of the Southwest Zone cadres, presided over by the Kang Meas district secretary Kan. SAMRIT Muy attended the meeting and the main topic of the speeches was to instruct the population to “respect Angkar”, adding: “we did not understand them when they were referring to the big broom. We then returned to work. After that, we dared not get close to them.”<sup>11137</sup> During the meeting, warnings against “infiltrated enemies” were made<sup>11138</sup> and not long thereafter the Cham in Peam Chi was refuted by YEAN Lon. See Section 11.2: 1st January Dam Worksite, para. 1444; T. 16 June 2015 (YEAN Lon), E1/317.1, p. 74; T. 17 June 2015 (YEAN Lon), E1/318.1, pp. 17-18.

---

<sup>11131</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 70-71, 79, 89-90. See also, SOK Meng Ly Interview Record, E3/9654, 26 August 2014, p. 6, ERN (En) 01044617; MOENG Pang Interview Record, E3/7828, 7 August 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00210472.

<sup>11132</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 69-70.

<sup>11133</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, pp. 25, 29-31, 44, 83-84; T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 23-26; SENG Srun Interview Record, 6 August 2008, E3/5302, ERN (En) 00210486-00210487; SENG Srun Interview Record, E3/5527, 9 December 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00423722 (Answers 5-6); SENG Srun Interview Record, E3/8736, 25 August 2011, ERN (En) 00740714-00740715 (Answers 11, 17). See above, para. 3218.

<sup>11134</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 23, 25-26.

<sup>11135</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 96-97.

<sup>11136</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 97-98.

<sup>11137</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, pp. 29-30. See also, T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, pp. 42-45.

<sup>11138</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, pp. 84-85.

Kang commune (headed by Kan's wife, Pheap,<sup>11139</sup> and also located in Kang Meas district) were arrested and taken to Wat Au Trakuon.<sup>11140</sup> Cham in Sach Sou village were specifically targeted and "no one was left behind".<sup>11141</sup>

3287. The Chamber additionally heard evidence of lists being compiled in Kampong Siem district to distinguish the Khmer from those "who were not Khmer" such as the Vietnamese, the Chinese and notably the Cham.<sup>11142</sup> YOU Vann moved from the Southwest Zone to Kampong Cham province in Sector 41 of the Central (old North) Zone to become a messenger for PRAK Yut, the Secretary of Kampong Siem district.<sup>11143</sup> In this role, she took part in preparing a list for the latter with the names of "the soldiers of Sihanouk regimes, the ethnic Cham people and the Vietnamese people" in Kampong Siem district, including each person's parents.<sup>11144</sup> Although YOU Vann claimed not to know what the list was used for, she noticed the "gradual disappearance" of the people whose name was listed.<sup>11145</sup> She specified: "In some cases, the whole family disappeared. Other cases, only the parents disappeared and the children survived. And those children were collected by the village chiefs to bring them up and assigned them to work in different units."<sup>11146</sup>

<sup>11139</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 33-39; T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 19, 56, 111. See above, para. 3202.

<sup>11140</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, pp. 25-27, 31-32, 47-49, 83-85, 102-103.

<sup>11141</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, pp. 27, 102.

<sup>11142</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 31-32, 50, 56-57; SENG Srun Interview Record, 11 August 2008, E3/1692, p. 5, ERN (En) 00242088. See also, MAN Heang Interview Record, E3/5529, 10 December 2009, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00421084-00421085 (in 1976 this witness was appointed as the chairman of a mobile unit of around 110 people in Kang Meas district. He explained that the commune chairman came to compile biographies and he made lists. Feudalists and capitalists were searched. "Those who hid their background were able to survive; those who told the truth were killed". People were also asked if they were ethnic Khmer or Cham).

<sup>11143</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, pp. 46-48; T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, pp. 42, 43-44, 45. The Chamber recalls that PRAK Yut arrived in the Central (North) Zone in February 1977. See Section 11.2: 1st January Dam Worksite, para. 1463.

<sup>11144</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, pp. 64-65; YOU Vann Interview Record, E3/9507, 8 January 2015, p. 14, ERN (En) 01059282 (Answer 43); T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, pp. 7-8.

<sup>11145</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, pp. 67-68; YOU Vann Interview Record, E3/9507, 8 January 2015, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 01059275-01059276 (Answer 18).

<sup>11146</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, p. 69.

3288. PRAK Yut consistently testified to having purged the Cham upon orders from the upper echelon.<sup>11147</sup> YOU Vann corroborated this assertion.<sup>11148</sup> PRAK Yut further testified that her deputy district chief, Si, was in charge of preparing the lists which were then submitted by PRAK Yut to AO An.<sup>11149</sup> Si then “went to the lower chain of command to carry out the order” and reported to PRAK Yut, who further relayed the report to the sector Secretary AO An.<sup>11150</sup> YOU Vann testified that, after submitting the list she had compiled to PRAK Yut, she was called to attend a meeting in Prey Totueng in Prey Chhor district, Sector 41, chaired by AO An where those responsible for documentation in the Sector 41 districts were present.<sup>11151</sup> AO An instructed them to go personally to villages to compile the lists. In the past, they relied on the village chiefs to prepare them and then send the lists upward to the sector level.<sup>11152</sup> During that same meeting, AO An announced that “people who were linked to different ethnicities and affiliations” had to be purged.<sup>11153</sup> YOU Vann had also been told by the military commander of the district forces, Phon, that the Cham in Kampong Siem district had been purged.<sup>11154</sup> She explained that the word “purge” at that time in Kampong Siem district referred to making a list of the people.<sup>11155</sup> However, she also testified that <sup>11147</sup> T. 18 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/377.1, pp. 80 (“I told that I was not involving myself in the killings that it came from the order from the upper echelon to me. For my side, I had deputies who I managed them to do. I did not carry out the order myself. The order came from Ta An”), 81 (“There was an order from the sector level to us to purge the Cham”), 104-105 (AO An instructed her and the other district secretaries from Sector 41 to purge the Cham during a meeting held at his place in Prey Totueng, Prey Chhor district); T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, pp. 9 (“I received an order either to smash or to kill the people. I, myself, did not involve in the smashing of the Cham people directly”), 14 (“In the entire district, we purged based on the order from the upper echelon”). See also, PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9499, 30 September 2014, p. 8, ERN (En) 01063610 (Answer 22); PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9522, 28 May 2013, ERN (En) 01056219 (Answer 45); PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9496, 19 June 2013, ERN (En) 01056228 (Answer 48).

<sup>11148</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, pp. 56-57 (discusses PRAK Yut instructing YOU Vann to prepare lists of the Cham who were consequently purged, however the Chamber notes that it is not clear from the testimony whether this instruction came before or after the meeting in Prey Totueng).

<sup>11149</sup> T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, p. 6.

<sup>11150</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, p. 51.

<sup>11151</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, pp. 71-72; YOU Vann Interview Record, E3/9507, 8 January 2015, pp. 18-19, ERN (En) 01059286-01059287 (Answer 58).

<sup>11152</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, pp. 66, 74; YOU Vann Interview Record, E3/9507, 8 January 2015, pp. 18-19, 30, ERN (En) 01059286-01059287, 01059298 (Answer 102).

<sup>11153</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, pp. 72-74. YOU Vann noted however that the lists were never compiled because of the arrival of the Vietnamese.

<sup>11154</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, pp. 63-64.

<sup>11155</sup> T. 14 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/376.1, p. 64.

PRAK Yut used the terms “purge” and “cleaning up” interchangeably, although she claimed to “not understand in more details about this”.<sup>11156</sup>

3289. The Chamber further notes that SAY Doeun also provided direct evidence of seeing a list prepared by the commune committee in Peam Chi Kang commune, Kang Meas district, Kampong Cham province, with the names of the Cham people who had to be arrested.<sup>11157</sup> His deputy An read out the list to him and then they went together with other Long Sword members to conduct the arrests.<sup>11158</sup>

3290. In light of the above, the Chamber is satisfied that orders to purge the Cham in the Central (old North) Zone, and specifically in Sector 41, came from the upper echelon, and were implemented through the district secretaries including Kan, the Kang Meas district chief, and PRAK Yut, the Kampong Siem district chief. Both reported to AO An, the Sector 41 Secretary, who, in turn, reported to KE Pauk, the Central Zone Secretary.<sup>11159</sup> The Chamber is likewise satisfied that meetings were held in 1977 in Sector 41 discussing enemies, and not long thereafter Cham started being systematically arrested in various locations of this sector based on lists that had been prepared beforehand.

13.2.9.2.2. Killing of Cham at Wat Au Trakuon

3291. The Chamber heard evidence from villagers as well as members of the security forces operating at Wat Au Trakuon on the arrests and killing of the Cham occurring on a massive scale after the arrival of Southwest Zone cadres. Three groups of people were most frequently arrested by the Long Sword Group: New People, former Lon Nol soldiers, and the Cham, with the last group forming the majority of the arrests.<sup>11160</sup> The Long Sword Group was often instructed to arrest “all Cham people” at a particular location, and they then brought them to Wat Au Trakuon.<sup>11161</sup>

<sup>11156</sup> T. 18 January 2016 (YOU Vann), E1/377.1, pp. 21, 63-64; T. 18 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/377.1, pp. 105-106; PRAK Yut Interview Record, E3/9522, 28 May 2013, ERN (En) 01056217 (Answer 23).

<sup>11157</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 42, 70-72 See also, SOK Meng Ly Interview Record, E3/9654, 26 August 2014, p. 6, ERN (En) 01044617 (Answer 12).

<sup>11158</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 71-72.

<sup>11159</sup> See above, paras 3200-3202.

<sup>11160</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 45-46, 73-74, 84-85.

<sup>11161</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 32-34; T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 66-67, 70-71, 73-74, 84-85; T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 48-49, 65-66.

3292. Within Peam Chi Kang commune, hundreds of Cham were arrested by members of the Long Sword Group in early 1977.<sup>11162</sup> According to witness SAY Doeun, the Long Sword militia group, to which he belonged, conducted several arrests.<sup>11163</sup> He was told that his group also killed some of the arrestees.<sup>11164</sup> The people who were arrested by the Long Sword Group were brought to Wat Au Trakuon.<sup>11165</sup>

3293. HIM Man, who is Cham, lived in Sach Sou village, Peam Chi Kang commune, Kang Meas district, Kampong Cham province during the DK period. It was a Cham village where no Khmer people lived, until Khmer families were sent to live in the village in 1976.<sup>11166</sup> The Long Sword Group started rounding up the Cham in the village, including HIM Man and his wife, and took them in the direction of Wat Au

<sup>11162</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 33-37 (“As I said the figure of 200 and 300 people were for those Cham people who had been arrested at the villages and if you add the number of the Cham people who were arrested at the worksite, the figure rose to about 400 to 500.”); T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 35, 44-45, 85-86 (one day the Khmer Rouge told all the Cham in Sach Sou village, Peam Chi Kang commune, Kang Meas district not to go to work in the fields and in the afternoon the Long Sword Group rounded them up and brought them to Wat Au Trakuon); T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 63-64, 69, 74, 87. See also, MAN Heang Interview Record, E3/5529, 10 December 2009, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 00421084-00421085 (“Au Trakuon District Security personnel came to round up the Cham”. He knew Horn, who was the District Security chairman. He explained that: “The unit chairmen were not told in advance about those arrests for fear they would tell the people in their units to flee. Once in early 1977, security people came down and arrest the Cham. Later the security people came to arrest other Cham, sometimes during the daytime and sometimes during the night. There were more than 20 but less than 30 Cham in my group that had come from Sach Sau Village. Not one among them is still alive.”); HOK Hoeun Interview Record, E3/5256, 23 November 2008, pp. 3-8, ERN (En) 00251303-00251308 (describing himself as “the chief of the unit which controlled and was responsible for the people in the village” in Kang Meas district. He saw the arrival of New People who were evacuees from Phnom Penh and who were first put in the pagoda. Later “[t]hey told them to go study, meaning they arrested and killed them [...] And they selected people in the village according to their biographies and took them along too”, especially “those people [who] had been captains or majors in the military or had been commandos”. Concerning the Cham, they were arrested and they were killed in front of Wat Au Trakuon. People were not permitted to come near the pagoda; they could only hear the loudspeaker noise, and the screams of the victims. Cham people were arrested by the militiamen. The loudspeakers played revolutionary songs “at night, sometimes at 11 p.m. and sometimes at midnight”. All Cham in Sach Saur village were arrested. “[Cham] were arrested one after another through the connections who implicated one another, from one to the next”. The mosque was closed and Cham were not permitted to enter. Han, the chief of Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre, was from the Southwest Zone); RIEL Neang Interview Record, E3/9652, 21 November 2014, ERN (En) 01067799-01067801 (she was the chairwoman of Commune Women of Angkor Ban commune, Kang Meas district. Cham people in her commune were moved and sent to live in another village in Cheung Prey district, north of Skun. She saw Cham people being transported in horse carts to Au Trakuon); MAT Toulouh Interview Record, E3/9360, 7 April 2010, pp. 3-6, ERN (En) 00506026-00506029 (he was a Cham who was evacuated from Phnom Penh and later on worked as a boat driver on the Mekong during the DK period. He transported large numbers of people to Wat Au Trakuon, including children).

<sup>11163</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 85-86.

<sup>11164</sup> T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 84-87.

<sup>11165</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 28, 75-76; T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 46-47; T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, p. 32; T. 16 September 2015 (TAY Koemhun), E1/348.1, pp. 81-82, 86.

<sup>11166</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, p. 43.

Trakuon.<sup>11167</sup> HIM Man and his wife managed to escape and hide in a bush which was located approximately 100 metres from the pagoda and “the pit where they were killing the Cham people”.<sup>11168</sup> Lying there, they heard people screaming and calling to Allah for help.<sup>11169</sup> Many of HIM Man’s relatives disappeared after being rounded up by the Long Sword Group.<sup>11170</sup> HIM Man and his wife then hid in various places in the village, including a pond, for three months and 29 days.<sup>11171</sup> During this period, he smelled the stench of dead bodies.<sup>11172</sup> The Chamber notes that the witness could not recall the date of these events but assumed that he was hiding in the pond in late 1978 or early 1979.<sup>11173</sup> HIM Man estimates that the Long Sword Group arrested between 20 and 30 Cham families at that time.<sup>11174</sup>

3294. HIM Man and his wife were eventually captured by members of the Long Sword Group, beaten and detained in a corn barn in Sambuor Meas, which “was actually a prison as it was being secured by members of the Long Swords Group”.<sup>11175</sup> HIM Man stated that the corn barn was supposed to be “the place where people would be kept for a while before they were subsequently taken to be killed at Au Trakuon pagoda”.<sup>11176</sup> According to HIM Man, the people working there went to discuss with Kan, the head of Kang Meas district at the time, about sparing him and his wife as they were not associated with anyone and because he had multiple skills such as swimming under water, making spoons, melting steel and knew how to retrieve tangled nets at the bottom of the river.<sup>11177</sup> Kan was the one who decided that they could be spared, since he knew that they had not done anything but had stayed in the pond.<sup>11178</sup> Kan agreed to spare

<sup>11167</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, p. 45.

<sup>11168</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 47-48; T. 28 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/350.1, p. 21.

<sup>11169</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 48, 51-52, 82 (confirming (at p. 82) that the sounds he heard were “the screaming of people in agony” and not music coming from loudspeakers around or in the pagoda).

<sup>11170</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 52, 57.

<sup>11171</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 53-57, 59.

<sup>11172</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 60-61, 78.

<sup>11173</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, p. 85. See also, T. 28 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/350.1, pp. 24-25 (“As I stated, I do not recall the date or the year. But while I was in Sach Sou village, I heard them talking about that. I cannot specify the year. And for me, I am not really sure at all about the date or the year, and let me stress that again and again.”).

<sup>11174</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, p. 80.

<sup>11175</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 61-63.

<sup>11176</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, p. 61.

<sup>11177</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 62-63.

<sup>11178</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, p. 62.

HIM Man and his wife as they were not associated with anyone, and they were given Khmer names “to show that no more Cham anymore living in the village [sic]”.<sup>11179</sup>

3295. After 1979, HIM Man saw the grave pits near Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre with many bones in them.<sup>11180</sup> HIM Man and his wife were the only two Cham to survive the DK period in Sach Sou village.<sup>11181</sup>

3296. SENG Kuy, who was a Khmer rice farmer in Angkor Ban village 2, Angkor Ban commune, Kang Meas district saw all the Cham of the village being arrested in the collective dining room where Cham and Khmer were eating one evening in 1977.<sup>11182</sup> Run, who held a position with the commune security forces, was in charge of the arrests.<sup>11183</sup> According to the witness, “the Cham people who were arrested were innocent Cham people. They did not do anything wrong, and they strived to work very hard.”<sup>11184</sup> He heard the chief of the commune security scolding Cham people, claiming that they had betrayed Angkar, and he understands that this was “why there were purges against them”.<sup>11185</sup> The witness was ordered by the deputy chief of the village to transport Cham people to Wat Au Trakuon on an ox cart along with five or six other carts.<sup>11186</sup> The Cham were received by a person identified by the witness as being “perhaps” a district security guard and none of them returned after being taken to the pagoda.<sup>11187</sup>

<sup>11179</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 61-64.

<sup>11180</sup> T. 17 September 2015 (HIM Man), E1/349.1, pp. 68-69. See also, Wat Au Trakuon Site ID Report, E3/8038, 30 June 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00364806; SOR Chheang Interview Record, E3/9671, 28 April 2015, p. 7, ERN (En) 01111790; THONG Kim Khun Interview Record, E3/9661, 4 August 2014, pp. 5-7, ERN (En) 01044607-01044609; HOK Hoeun Interview Record, E3/5256, 23 November 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00251304; LEAV Loas Interview Record, E3/9342, 9 April 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00339935; CHEA Maly OCP Interview, E3/7827, 6 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00210433.

<sup>11181</sup> CHEA Maly Interview Record, E3/8750, 14 July 2011, p. 4, ERN (En) 00722232 (“Kang Meas district. In the commune where we are now, only one [Cham] family survived for it ran away to live in the lake.”).

<sup>11182</sup> T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, pp. 81-82 (“I witnessed it with my own eyes. In around 1977, at around 8 o’clock at night, the Cham and Khmer people just returned from the rice field and we actually ate dinner together at the communal dining hall. That very night security force came to arrest the Cham people. They did not arrest only one person but they arrested all the Cham people living in Village Number Two and the arrest took place at the dining hall where they were having dinner together with the Khmer people and I was there having my dinner in that communal dining hall.”).

<sup>11183</sup> T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, pp. 83-84.

<sup>11184</sup> T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, pp. 92-93.

<sup>11185</sup> T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, p. 106.

<sup>11186</sup> T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, pp. 86-87.

<sup>11187</sup> T. 9 September 2015 (SENG Kuy), E1/344.1, pp. 88-89.

3297. As discussed below, killings at Wat Au Trakuon were further corroborated by members of the security forces operating at the pagoda at the relevant time. MUY Vanny, who was around 11 to 14 years old at the time,<sup>11188</sup> was the “bodyguard” of Wat Au Trakuon security chief Horn,<sup>11189</sup> who had an office at the pagoda.<sup>11190</sup> MUY Vanny testified that he and other security guards at the pagoda carried weapons,<sup>11191</sup> and that militiamen from the Long Sword Group were stationed inside the pagoda as well, but were headed by “someone else”.<sup>11192</sup> He saw prisoners detained at Wat Au Trakuon who were chained, shackled, not given sufficient food and generally living under miserable conditions.<sup>11193</sup> MUY Vanny did not witness any arrests,<sup>11194</sup> but saw people being transported to the pagoda by militiamen from the village, together with unit chiefs.<sup>11195</sup> The majority of the persons brought to the pagoda were Cham,<sup>11196</sup> brought there by “different people”, by ox cart or by boat.<sup>11197</sup> People arriving by boat were in groups of 50 to 100 while at other times, people were brought in smaller groups.<sup>11198</sup> Khmer people were taken to a school nearby to be interrogated, whereas the Cham were not, save for a few.<sup>11199</sup> MUY Vann personally witnessed people in the main temple being tied up, blindfolded and taken away in groups of 10.<sup>11200</sup> He also personally witnessed that the main temple was “full of people”,<sup>11201</sup> and that no one was left the next morning, and was told, upon inquiry, that “the people were all sent to be

<sup>11188</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 12-13, 35-36.

<sup>11189</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 15-16, 33, 81-83. The Chamber notes that his role was more that of a handyman than a security guard. See T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, p. 82 (“Q. Would it be fair for me to say that you weren’t really his bodyguard in the sense that you had to protect him, but that you were just a young boy who did jobs for him? A. Yes, that is correct.”).

<sup>11190</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 16-17.

<sup>11191</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 36-37.

<sup>11192</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, p. 37; T. 12 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/374.1, pp. 18-19.

<sup>11193</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 39, 48-49, 65-66; MUY Vanny Interview Record, E3/9659, 3 July 2014, pp. 5, 9, ERN (En) 01035844, 01035848. See also, T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 38-39, 82.

<sup>11194</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 43, 45.

<sup>11195</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 43-44.

<sup>11196</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 48-49, 65.

<sup>11197</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 46-47.

<sup>11198</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, p. 48.

<sup>11199</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 50-53.

<sup>11200</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 62 (“I saw people being tied up and walked away. They were blindfolded. Then they were tied up with their hands behind their back and they were put into a file and walked away.”), 64-65 (“In fact, I saw about 10 of those who were sent to be executed [...]. In fact, each time there were about 10 of them who were being tied up and led away [...] As I said, the next morning there was no one left.”), 74 (“I stated from the outset when I took the water there it was the time that the prisoners were tied up and led out.”), 75 (“Prisoners were in the main temple.”).

<sup>11201</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, p. 65.

killed”.<sup>11202</sup> He was also told that the persons were executed overnight about 100 metres away from the pagoda.<sup>11203</sup> According to MUY Vanny, all the Cham at Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre were killed within four days of their arrival.<sup>11204</sup>

3298. SEN Srun was told by his friend Moeun, a security guard at Wat Au Trakuon, that the music from loudspeakers he heard on certain nights served to mask the sounds of killing and screaming.<sup>11205</sup> SEN Srun recalled that the night he brought Cham people to Wat Au Trakuon, he heard music from the loudspeakers being played for unusually long and the next day, Moeun told him that all of the Cham had been killed, including mothers and babies, and that the smashing had lasted until midnight.<sup>11206</sup> His house was located 200 metres from the pagoda and, after 1976, he witnessed people being taken there on a daily basis but did not see them getting out.<sup>11207</sup>

3299. SAMRETH MUY was a village militiaman who lived in Sambuor Meas village “A” and Sach Sou village, both located in Peam Chi Kang commune, Kang Meas district.<sup>11208</sup> He stated that there was a majority of Cham living in Sach Sou village as they were the “original settlers”.<sup>11209</sup> He witnessed arrests of Cham families, including parents and children, in 1977, after he had been sent back to work in a cooperative in Sambuor Meas, where he was assigned to guard a cornfield.<sup>11210</sup> The witness saw people from different places being brought to the pagoda and never returning; to his knowledge, people were taken to Wat Au Trakuon to be killed.<sup>11211</sup> He never witnessed <sup>11202</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 55 (“I took a quick look and found it very cruel because hundreds of people I had seen suddenly disappeared in the next morning and I did not know how they were treated or what happened to them”), 58 (“As I mentioned earlier -- during the morning I did not see those people, I did not know what happened. I just only brought the water to those people. Then I returned. And during the morning it was quiet. I did not see any person. So, I assumed that those people were taken out to be killed, not sent to anywhere else.”), 60 (“I know based -- actually, I was wondering where the people were sent and in the morning I asked other people. Then I asked where the people were sent and then they told me that the people were all sent to be killed.”), 73 (“I only knew that people were detained there for a few days and they disappeared. And when I asked the people, I was told that they were taken away and executed.”).

<sup>11203</sup> T. 11 January 2016 (MUY Vanny), E1/373.1, pp. 53, 71-72.

<sup>11204</sup> MUY Vanny Interview Record, E3/9659, 3 July 2014, p. 12, ERN (En) 01035851.

<sup>11205</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 14-15, 29, 42-43, 61-65.

<sup>11206</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 42-44. See also, T. 12 January 2016 (SAY Doeun), E1/374.1, pp. 88-89; HOK Hoeun Interview Record, E3/5256, 23 November 2008, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00251304-00251305.

<sup>11207</sup> T. 14 September 2015 (SEN Srun), E1/346.1, pp. 12-13.

<sup>11208</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH MUY), E1/347.1, pp. 22-25, 91-92, 96-97.

<sup>11209</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH MUY), E1/347.1, pp. 26, 61.

<sup>11210</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH MUY), E1/347.1, pp. 26-28, 31, 94, 100-103 (all Cham families from Sach Sou village were arrested and no more Cham were living there afterwards).

<sup>11211</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH MUY), E1/347.1, p. 33 (“Those who were brought into that pagoda never returned. They were brought in, and disappeared. That’s all I know.”).

the executions himself but witnessed people disappearing.<sup>11212</sup> He was living 200 metres from the pagoda and heard screams for help and loud music being played from loudspeakers at night on days where people were taken to the pagoda.<sup>11213</sup> He witnessed both Cham and Khmer people being brought to the pagoda on a daily basis and disappearing.<sup>11214</sup>

3300. The Chamber finally notes that numerous WRIs corroborate the mass killing of Cham at Wat Au Trakuon.<sup>11215</sup> Notably, SOR Chheang, who was residing in Pongro village, Roka Koy commune, Kang Meas district, and was in charge of transporting food supplies for the mobile units, stated being accused of wrongdoing and being sent to Wat Au Trakuon. There he saw 20 prisoners, who were ethnic Cham, taken to be killed. He was imprisoned there for 2 months and 28 days. He saw prisoners being tied up and tortured and children being beaten to death against the temple. He observed that 50 to 100 persons (17 April People and Cham families) were brought each day to be detained at the security office. The Khmer Rouge questioned the prisoners in the mornings and they took them to be killed at night. Some prisoners died during the interrogations.<sup>11216</sup> THONG Kim Khun, who was ordered to transport Cham people to the pagoda by the deputy chairperson of the Sach Sou Village Cooperative, also stated seeing what he believed to be 500 Cham people, including men, women and children, being led from a ferry boat anchored at the Wat Au Trakuon dock.<sup>11217</sup>

<sup>11212</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, p. 83.

<sup>11213</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, pp. 33-36, 86 (“When the Cham people were arrested and placed into the pagoda, at night-time the music was played over the loudspeaker and the Cham people disappeared.”).

<sup>11214</sup> T. 15 September 2015 (SAMRETH Muy), E1/347.1, pp. 86 (“And then they brought more people in. If the old ones had not been killed, there would not have been available space as both the Khmer and the Cham people were brought in on a daily basis.”), 101 (“I mentioned that the execution began to take place continuously from 1977 to 1979. Actually, not only the Cham people were killed, but also the Khmer people. After the execution of the Cham people, all types of the Khmer people including pregnant women and small children were taken to be killed. The execution took place on a daily basis. As I have told the Chamber, I did not dare to stay close to them. I was afraid at the time, and I do not know why the innocent people were taken away and killed every day.”).

<sup>11215</sup> SOR Chheang Interview Record, E3/9671, 28 April 2015, p. 4, ERN (En) 01111787; MOENG Peng Hao OCP Interview, E3/7828, p. 4, ERN (En) 00210472; THONG Kim Interview Record, E3/9661, 4 August 2014, pp. 5-7, ERN (En) 01044607-01044609; HOK Hoeun Interview Record, E3/5256, 23 November 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00251304; LEAV Loas Interview Record, E3/9342, 9 April 2009, p. 6, ERN (En) 00339936; CHEA Maly OCP Interview, E3/7827, 6 August 2008, pp. 3-5, ERN (En) 00210433-00210435; SOK Meng Ly Interview Record, E3/9654, 26 August 2014, pp. 6-7, ERN (En) 01044617-01044618. See also, T. 15 March 2016 (Alexander HINTON), E1/402.1, pp. 21-22, 129-130.

<sup>11216</sup> SOR Chheang Interview Record, E3/9671, 28 April 2015, pp. 2-8, ERN (En) 01111785-01111791.

<sup>11217</sup> THONG Kim Khun Interview Record, E3/9661, 4 August 2014, pp. 5-7, ERN (En) 01044607-01044609.

3301. The OCIJ site visit report also establishes that physical evidence of the alleged crimes was uncovered as human remains are stored within the Wat Au Trakuon memorial stupa.<sup>11218</sup> The Chamber notes that the amount of bones in the stupa does not accurately reflect the exact number of victims executed, considering that no official exhumation was conducted in the surroundings of the pagoda since 1979, and that many people dug up the remains in search of valuables.<sup>11219</sup>

3302. While the witnesses and Civil Parties heard by the Chamber did not directly and personally witness the killings, the Chamber has before it multiple hearsay accounts of executions at the pagoda of people perceived as enemies, including Cham civilians, who were executed en masse. The Chamber has also before it direct evidence, from villagers of the Kang Meas district as well as from members of the security forces and militia operating at Wat Au Trakuon, of: (i) Cham people, being systematically rounded up in various villages of Kang Meas district and taken to Wat Au Trakuon by militiamen, including members of the Long Sword Group; (ii) Cham people being tied up and held at the pagoda before being taken away en masse; and (iii) people hearing screams coming from the pits and calls for help, and music from loudspeakers being played at night over the screams. All witnesses and Civil Parties consistently stated that the Cham taken to the pagoda never returned, and pits containing human remains were uncovered around the pagoda after January 1979.

3303. The Chamber finally notes that numerous WRIs establish mass arrests and killings of Cham in other locations of Sector 41, and especially within Kampong Siem district.<sup>11220</sup> This is consistent with the above described evidence regarding Wat Au Trakuon.

<sup>11218</sup> Wat Au Trakuon Site ID Report, E3/8038, 30 June 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00364806. See also, OCP Mission Report, E3/2654, 1 August 2008-7 August 2008, p. 13, ERN (En) 00211164.

<sup>11219</sup> Wat Au Trakuon Site ID Report, E3/8038, 30 June 2009, p. 2, ERN (En) 00364806 (“Any bones that were left on the surface were collected and placed in the memorial stupa.”).

<sup>11220</sup> NHIM Kol Interview Record, E3/9667, 11 February 2015, pp. 10-11, ERN (En) 01076946-01076947; NHEM Kol Interview Record, E3/9548, 12 November 2013, p. 6, ERN (En) 00966999; MUOK Sengly Interview Record, E3/9744, 4 September 2015, pp. 9-10, ERN (En) 01152375-01152376; IEM Channy Interview Record, E3/9657, 9 May 2014, p. 7, ERN (En) 01032982; SBONG Yann Interview Record, E3/9656, 7 May 2014, p. 4, ERN (En) 01034899; KHOEM Neary Interview Record, E3/9655, 6 May 2014, p. 7, ERN (En) 01034078; PHLONG Han Interview Record, E3/9663, 23 March 2012, p. 4, ERN (En) 00797011; DIN Sreav Interview Record, E3/10739, 24 February 2016, pp. 3-4, ERN (En) 01215995-01215996; RUIN Him Interview by Nate Thayer, E3/7513, 24 December 1984, ERN (En) 00667232.

3304. In light of the above, the Chamber is satisfied that a large number of people perceived as enemies, including Cham people from various villages of Kang Meas district, Sector 41, were systematically arrested and brought to Wat Au Trakuon in 1977 where they were executed en masse. Systematic arrests and mass executions of Cham people at Wat Au Trakuon is further consistent with evidence showing similar patterns of conduct in other places of Sector 41, in particular in Kampong Siem district.

13.2.10. Legal Findings

13.2.10.1. Murder

3305. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of murder of Cham at Wat Au Trakuon and Trea Village Security Centres and through widespread killings from 1977.<sup>11221</sup>

3306. The Chamber has found that a large number of people, including a majority of Cham from the Kang Meas district, Sector 41, were arrested and brought to Wat Au Trakuon in 1977 where they were executed.<sup>11222</sup> It has further found that, in 1978, a great number of Cham people from Kroch Chhmar district were arrested and taken to Trea Village Security Centre, where their membership of the Cham group was verified. Those who were deemed to be Cham were executed while non-Cham were spared.<sup>11223</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the actus reus of the crime against humanity of murder is established with respect to these victims.

3307. The Chamber recalls that it is satisfied that orders targeting the Cham in the Central (old North) Zone, and specifically in Sector 41, came from the upper echelon, that meetings were held in 1977 in Kang Meas district discussing enemies, that not long thereafter Cham started being arrested and that lists identifying the Cham had been prepared beforehand.<sup>11224</sup> It similarly found that orders targeting the Cham in the East Zone, and specifically in Kroch Chhmar district, came from the upper echelon and that a meeting was held in Kampong Thma, Central (old North) Zone with the East Zone

---

<sup>11221</sup> See above, para. 3184.

<sup>11222</sup> See above, para. 3302.

<sup>11223</sup> See above, para. 3281.3281

<sup>11224</sup> See above, para. 3290.

leaders, discussing smashing enemies and that not long thereafter, Cham started being evacuated and disappearing.<sup>11225</sup> 3308. In light of the systematic and organised arrests of Cham and their subsequent executions at both security centres, the Chamber is satisfied that the Cham brought to and executed at the Wat Au Trakuon and Trea Village Security Centres were intentionally killed. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of the crime against humanity of murder is also established and therefore finds that the crime against humanity of murder is established with respect to the killings of Cham at the Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre in 1977 and Trea Village Security Centre in 1978.

13.2.10.2. Extermination

3309. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of extermination, nationwide as regards the policy and limited to MOP Phase Two and, from 1977, Trea Village and Wat Au Trakuon Security Centres as regards the implementation of the policy.<sup>11226</sup>

3310. The Chamber does not have before it any relevant evidence of specific instances of deliberate killings of Cham people in the course of MOP Phase Two limited to the treatment of the Cham. It is therefore unable to find that the crime against humanity of extermination during MOP Phase Two limited to the treatment of the Cham is established.

3311. The Chamber has found above that murder as a crime against humanity was established in relation to the intentional killings of Cham at the Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre in 1977 and Trea Village Security Centre in 1978.<sup>11227</sup> While the Chamber was unable to establish a definite number of victims, it is satisfied that a great number of Cham civilians were taken to both security centres. The Chamber also recalls having found that the Cham prisoners arrested and detained at S-21 were treated as any other detainees and either died or were executed there.<sup>11228</sup>

---

<sup>11225</sup> See above, para. 3275.

<sup>11226</sup> See above, para. 3184.

<sup>11227</sup> See above, para. 3308.

<sup>11228</sup> Section 12.2: S-21 Security Centre, para. 2493.

3312. The Chamber finds that these murders satisfy the requirement of killings on a massive scale, considering the large number of people who were executed, the time, place and extent of the arrests and killings at both security centres, and the fact that Cham were specifically screened out and separated from non-Cham individuals before being killed at the Trea Village Security Centre. The Chamber is further satisfied that these killings formed part of the same murder operation. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus of the crime against humanity of extermination is established.

3313. In relation to the intent requirement, the evidence demonstrates that killings of Cham at the Wat Au Trakuon and Trea Village Security Centres were organised and deliberate, pursuant to the CPK general policy targeting the Cham,<sup>11229</sup> as well as CPK meetings and orders to identify and arrest enemies, including the Cham.<sup>11230</sup> This shows that the perpetrators acted with the intent to kill Cham on a massive scale. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of the crime against humanity of extermination is also established. The Chamber therefore finds that the crime against humanity of extermination is established in relation to killings at the Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre in 1977 and Trea Village Security Centre in 1978.

13.2.10.3. Imprisonment

3314. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of imprisonment at the Trea Village Security Centre from mid-1978.<sup>11231</sup> The Chamber has found that in 1978, Cham people from Kroch Chhmar district were arrested and taken to Trea Village Security Centre, where they were arbitrarily detained.<sup>11232</sup> NO Sates and MATH Sor specifically stated that they had been detained along with numerous other Cham women for a number of days during which their membership within the Cham group was verified and those deemed Cham were taken away and never returned.<sup>11233</sup> IT Sen and about 40 other men were also held in a house by the river guarded by armed Khmer Rouge soldiers and he saw more Cham being detained

<sup>11229</sup> See above, para. 3227.

<sup>11230</sup> See above, paras 3275, 3290.

<sup>11231</sup> See above, para. 3184.

<sup>11232</sup> See above, para. 3281.

<sup>11233</sup> See above, paras 3276, 3278-3279.

in several nearby houses.<sup>11234</sup> Nothing in the above-mentioned evidence indicates that the Cham who were arrested and detained took part in any unlawful activities.

3315. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that this amounts to arbitrary deprivation of liberty without due process of law. The evidence shows that prisoners were detained with disregard for procedural rights and that the initial deprivation of liberty was arbitrary: the Cham civilian detainees were not properly informed of the reasons for their arrest, either before or within a reasonable time of having been brought to Trea Village Security Centre and were not detained pursuant to a warrant or any document emanating from an investigative or judicial authority. Moreover, there was no evidence before the Chamber that any prisoners were brought before a judicial officer vested with the authority, either to review the charges upon which prisoners had allegedly been detained, or to assess or appeal the lawfulness of ongoing detention. Finally, and consistent with the Chamber's finding that no judicial system was established during the DK era,<sup>11235</sup> there was no evidence before the Chamber that detainees were afforded a trial or were otherwise convicted by a court of law before having been detained at Trea Village Security Centre. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus of the crime against humanity of imprisonment is established.

3316. The systematic failure to inform and sufficiently particularise the charges of which civilian detainees were suspected, and pursuant to which they were subsequently detained, demonstrates the flagrant, intentional and continuous denial of due process rights constituting arbitrary deprivation of liberty contrary to international law. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of the crime against humanity of imprisonment is also established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of imprisonment is established at Trea Village Security Centre as regards Cham civilian prisoners.

---

<sup>11234</sup> See above, para. 3276.

<sup>11235</sup> Section 5: Administrative Structures, paras 417-418. With regard to the NUON Chea Defence submissions that in times of public emergency states may derogate from certain obligations related to individuals' arrests and fair trial guarantees, the Chamber reiterates that pursuant to the ICCPR, a state is required to give notice of its intent to do so and that there is no evidence to suggest that DK authorities at any time officially proclaimed the existence of a "public emergency which threatens the life of the nation". See Section 12.5: Phnom Kraol Security Centre, paras 3081-3082.

13.2.10.4. Torture

3317. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of torture at the Trea Village Security Centre from mid-1978.<sup>11236</sup> The Chamber has found that in 1978, Cham people from Kroch Chhmar district were arrested and taken to Trea Village Security Centre, where they were arbitrarily detained.<sup>11237</sup> It has further found that on the day of IT Sen's arrest, men were separated from women and children and ordered to go to the riverfront and stand in line, where they were tied up, beaten and asked repeatedly if they were Muslims.<sup>11238</sup> The Chamber notes that NO Sates and MATH Sor did not experience such treatment.

3318. The Chamber recalls that beatings amount per se to acts of torture causing severe pain or suffering.<sup>11239</sup> The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus of torture is established. The Chamber is also satisfied that the beatings repeatedly suffered by IT Sen and his fellow Cham detainees, while being tied up, were deliberately inflicted by military men operating at the Security Centre, in order to identify whether the detainees were members of the Cham group. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of torture is established. The Chamber is satisfied that the physical and mental mistreatment deliberately inflicted during interrogations came from persons acting on behalf of the CPK, who the Chamber finds to be public officials. Further, this mistreatment was inflicted for the purposes of obtaining information.

3319. In light of the above, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of torture is established with regard to the beatings and interrogation of Cham men at the Trea Village Security Centre on the day of IT Sen's arrest in 1978.

13.2.10.5. Persecution on political grounds

3320. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds during MOP Phase Two.<sup>11240</sup> With respect to population movements, the Closing Order finds that real or perceived enemies of the

---

<sup>11236</sup> See above, para. 3184.

<sup>11237</sup> See above, para. 3281.

<sup>11238</sup> See above, para. 3276.

<sup>11239</sup> Section 9.1.6: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Torture, para. 704.

<sup>11240</sup> See above, para. 3184.

CPK were subjected to harsher treatment and living conditions than the rest of the population.<sup>11241</sup>

3321. MOP Phase Two has been addressed in Case 002/01. The Supreme Court Chamber found that the crimes against humanity of murder<sup>11242</sup> and other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity and conduct characterised as forced transfer and enforced disappearances read holistically<sup>11243</sup> were established beyond reasonable doubt against New People. It further found that the Trial Chamber erred in finding that the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds was established beyond reasonable doubt against New People.<sup>11244</sup> The Supreme Court Chamber specifically found that “it cannot be said that it has been established that the transfer of people itself was carried out in a discriminatory manner or with discriminatory intent” and that “given that the transfer of people – primarily for economic goals – appears to have been a widespread practice that affected all parts of the population, the movement of the population during MOP Phase Two was not, as such, discriminatory or an emanation of persecutory intent”.<sup>11245</sup>

3322. The Chamber has found that, after the September 1975 Koh Phal and October 1975 Svay Khleang rebellions, the East Zone Cham population was dispersed into the Central (old North) Zone in order to ease tensions. Cham were removed by CPK armed forces without their consent and under threat of being considered enemies if they did not comply.<sup>11246</sup> Even though this dispersion was part of a broader movement of people from the East Zone to the Central (old North) Zone aimed at distributing the population throughout Cambodia, the Chamber has found that the Cham in the East Zone were specifically targeted as a result of the rebellions. The Chamber has further found that this was indicative of the Cham being dispersed in order for their communities to be broken up rather than just to displace the labour force.<sup>11247</sup>

---

<sup>11241</sup> Closing Order, para. 1418.

<sup>11242</sup> Case 002/01 Appeal Judgement, paras 557-562. The Chamber recalls that the Supreme Court Chamber, upon finding that the scale element of the crime against humanity of extermination had not been reasonably established and that the perpetrators acted with dolus eventualis, recharacterised the charge of extermination as a crime against humanity into murder as a crime against humanity.

<sup>11243</sup> Case 002/01 Appeal Judgement, paras 658-660.

<sup>11244</sup> Case 002/01 Appeal Judgement, paras 698-706.

<sup>11245</sup> Case 002/01 Appeal Judgement, para. 705.

<sup>11246</sup> See above, paras 3261-3268.

<sup>11247</sup> See above, para. 3268.

3323. In light of the above, the Chamber is satisfied that the movement of Cham from the East Zone to the Central (old North) Zone was discriminatory in fact and deliberately perpetrated with the intent to discriminate against the Cham because they were perceived as enemies following the rebellions in the East Zone. The Chamber is satisfied that the Cham were sufficiently discernible as a political group to determine whether consequences occurred for this group, and that the victims of these acts were in fact Cham.

3324. Acts committed against this group variously infringed upon and violated fundamental rights and freedoms pertaining to movement,<sup>11248</sup> personal dignity,<sup>11249</sup> liberty and security,<sup>11250</sup> freedom from arbitrary or unlawful arrest,<sup>11251</sup> and equality before the law as enshrined in customary international law.<sup>11252</sup>

3325. The acts charged as persecution include acts separately found to amount to independent crimes against humanity (including other inhumane acts perpetrated through forcible transfer) as well as acts which, on their own, do not necessarily amount to crimes (in particular, arrests). Considered together and within the context these acts were committed, the Chamber is satisfied that they cumulatively rise to the requisite level of seriousness such as to constitute persecution. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus and mens rea of the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds are established.

3326. Having established the requisite elements, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds is established with regard to the forcible removal of the Cham population the East Zone to the Central (old North) Zone following the September 1975 Koh Phal and October 1975 Svay Khleang rebellions.

<sup>11248</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 13(1); ICCPR, Art. 12(1); ECHR Protocol No. 4, Art. 2; ACHR, Art. 22(5).

<sup>11249</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Preamble, Arts. 1, 22, 23(3); ICCPR, Art. 10; ACHR, Arts 5-6. See also, Kordić and Čerkez Appeal Judgement, para. 106.

<sup>11250</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 3; ICCPR, Art. 9(1); ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7.

<sup>11251</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 9; ICCPR, Art. 9(1); ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7(3).

<sup>11252</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Arts 6, 10; ICCPR, Arts. 9(2)-(4), 14; ECHR, Art. 6; ACHR, Arts 7(6), 8.

13.2.10.6. Persecution on religious grounds

3327. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of persecution on religious grounds during MOP Phase Two and nationwide throughout the DK period.<sup>11253</sup> The charged conduct with respect to the persecution on religious grounds of the Cham includes the suppression of Cham culture, traditions and language.<sup>11254</sup> It is alleged that the CPK banned the practice of Islam, forbade the Cham from praying, seized and burned Korans, closed or destroyed mosques, and forced Cham people to eat pork.<sup>11255</sup> It is further alleged that religious leaders and Islamic scholars were arrested and killed, and that Cham women were forced to cut their hair and were prohibited from covering their heads.<sup>11256</sup> Furthermore it is alleged that Cham communities were broken up and Cham people were forcibly moved throughout Cambodia and dispersed among other communities.<sup>11257</sup>

3328. The Chamber recalls its finding that Cham people suffered discrimination as they were forced to eat pork and they were prevented from worshipping and speaking their native tongue at the 1st January Dam worksite.<sup>11258</sup> The Chamber has further found that during the period relevant to the charges, the CPK implemented a policy specifically targeting the Cham as an ethnic and religious distinct group<sup>11259</sup> and imposed restrictions on Cham religious and cultural practices in Kroch Chhmar district,<sup>11260</sup> in various locations within the Central (old North) Zone,<sup>11261</sup> and in other various locations in Cambodia throughout the DK period.<sup>11262</sup> Such restrictions included prohibition on daily prayers, forcing Cham to eat pork and wear the same dress and haircuts as the Khmer people, forcing them to only speak the Khmer language, as well as burning Korans and dismantling mosques or using them for purposes other than

---

<sup>11253</sup> See above, para. 3184.

<sup>11254</sup> Closing Order, para. 1420.

<sup>11255</sup> Closing Order, para. 1420.

<sup>11256</sup> Closing Order, para. 1420.

<sup>11257</sup> Closing Order, para. 1420.

<sup>11258</sup> Section 11.2.22: 1st January Dam Worksite: Treatment of Cham.

<sup>11259</sup> See above, para. 3228.

<sup>11260</sup> See above, para. 3238.

<sup>11261</sup> See above, para. 3245.

<sup>11262</sup> See above, para. 3250.

prayer. Those who resisted were arrested and/or killed.<sup>11263</sup> The Chamber does not consider such restrictions permissible.<sup>11264</sup> 3329. In light of the above, the Chamber is satisfied that these restrictions were discriminatory in fact and deliberately perpetrated with the intent to discriminate against the Cham because of their religious and cultural practices. The Chamber is satisfied that the Cham living in Cambodia were sufficiently discernible as a religious group to determine whether consequences occurred for this group, and that the victims of these acts were in fact Cham.

3330. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that acts committed against this group variously infringed upon and violated fundamental rights and freedoms pertaining to movement,<sup>11265</sup> personal dignity,<sup>11266</sup> liberty and security,<sup>11267</sup> freedom from arbitrary or unlawful arrest,<sup>11268</sup> a fair and public trial and equality before the law as enshrined in customary international law.<sup>11269</sup>

3331. The acts charged as persecution include acts separately found to amount to independent crimes against humanity (including murder, extermination, imprisonment, persecution on political grounds during MOP Phase Two (including torture, genocide and conduct characterised as forcible transfer) as well as acts which, on their own, do not necessarily amount to crimes (in particular, arrests). Considered together and within the context these acts were committed, the Chamber is satisfied that they cumulatively rise to the requisite level of seriousness such as to constitute persecution. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus and mens rea of the crime against humanity of persecution on religious grounds are established.

<sup>11263</sup> See above, paras 3229-3250.

<sup>11264</sup> Section 9: Applicable Law, paras 719-721.

<sup>11265</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 13(1); ICCPR, Art. 12(1); ECHR Protocol No. 4, Art. 2; ACHR, Art. 22(5).

<sup>11266</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Preamble, Arts. 1, 22, 23(3); ICCPR, Art. 10; ACHR, Arts 5-6. See also, Kordić and Čerkez Appeal Judgement, para. 106.

<sup>11267</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 3; ICCPR, Art. 9(1); ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7.

<sup>11268</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 9; ICCPR, Art. 9(1); ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7(3).

<sup>11269</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Arts 6, 10; ICCPR, Arts. 9(2)-(4), 14; ECHR, Art. 6; ACHR, Arts 7(6), 8.

3332. Having established the requisite elements, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of persecution on religious grounds against the Cham nationwide throughout the DK period (including during MOP Phase Two) is established.

13.2.10.7. Other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity

3333. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity during MOP Phase Two.<sup>11270</sup> The Closing Order charges that attacks against human dignity resulted from “depriving the civilian population of adequate food, shelter, medical assistance, and minimum sanitary conditions”.<sup>11271</sup>

3334. The Chamber does not have before it any relevant evidence of specific instances of such deprivations during MOP Phase Two limited to the treatment of the Cham. It is therefore unable to find that the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through attacks against human dignity during MOP Phase Two is established.

13.2.10.8. Other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as forced transfer

3335. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as forced transfer during MOP Phase Two.<sup>11272</sup> The Closing Order alleges that victims were forced to leave places where they lawfully resided without grounds permitted by international law.<sup>11273</sup>

3336. The Chamber has found that the crime against humanity of persecution on political grounds was established with regard to the forcible removal of the Cham population from the East Zone to the Central (old North) Zone following the September 1975 Koh Phal and October 1975 Svay Khleang rebellions.<sup>11274</sup>

3337. The Chamber is satisfied that, prior to their forced displacement, Cham people were living in their respective communities, some for generations.<sup>11275</sup> There was no

<sup>11270</sup> See above, para. 3184.

<sup>11271</sup> Closing Order, 1434-1441; Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, p. 4, ERN (En) 00981690.

<sup>11272</sup> See above, para. 3184.

<sup>11273</sup> Closing Order, para. 1449.

<sup>11274</sup> See above, para. 2993.

<sup>11275</sup> Section 3.3: Cham in Cambodia before 1975.

evidence concerning the legality of their presence on Cambodian territory, and in particular no indication that their presence on Cambodian territory was unlawful.

3338. The Chamber recalls that conduct amounting to forced transfer has previously been found to be sufficiently serious as to amount to other inhumane acts by the Supreme Court Chamber in Case 002/01 as well as in the jurisprudence of the ICTY.<sup>11276</sup> In assessing the seriousness requirement, the Chamber takes into account the manner in which the individuals were removed from their residence under threat of being considered enemies if they did not comply and the fact that they were separated from their families and dispersed. Having considered the conduct holistically with the surrounding context, as well as the mental and physical suffering inflicted on the Cham, the Chamber is satisfied that the forcible transfer within Cambodia of Cham people is of a nature and gravity similar to other enumerated crimes against humanity. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus of the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as forced transfer is established.

3339. In light of the scale and the organised nature of these mass transfers, the Chamber finds that this conduct necessarily entailed the intentional infliction of serious mental and physical suffering. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as forced transfer is established.

3340. The Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as forced transfer is established in relation to the forced transfer of the Cham population during MOP Phase Two.

13.2.10.9. Other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearance

3341. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances during MOP Phase Two.<sup>11277</sup> The Closing Order charges that enforced disappearances involved the arrest, detention or abduction of victims in conditions which placed them outside the protection of the law and the refusal to provide access to, or convey information on the fate or whereabouts of such persons.<sup>11278</sup> It charges that measures were put in place to conceal the fate of individuals who had disappeared, and that in addition to withholding information, the authorities provided false reasons to justify the absence of those who disappeared.<sup>11279</sup>

<sup>11276</sup> Case 002/01 Appeal Judgement, paras 589-590, 654-660; Stakić Appeal Judgement, para. 317; Krajišnik Appeal Judgement, para. 331; Karadžić Trial Judgement, para. 495; Krstić Trial Judgement, para. 523; Kupreškić et al. Trial Judgement, para. 566.

<sup>11277</sup> See above, para. 3184.

3342. The Chamber does not have before it any relevant evidence of specific instances of such acts during MOP Phase Two limited to the treatment of the Cham. It is therefore unable to find that the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through conduct characterised as enforced disappearances during MOP Phase Two is established.

13.2.10.10. Genocide

3343. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime of genocide by killing members of the group from 1977, nationwide as regards the policy and limited to the Trea Village and Wat Au Trakuon Security Centres as regards the implementation of the policy.<sup>11280</sup>

3344. The Chamber has found that the crimes against humanity of murder and extermination of Cham were established in relation to killings at the Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre in 1977 and Trea Village Security Centre in 1978.<sup>11281</sup> The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus of the crime genocide by killing, namely the deliberate killing of members of the group, is established with regard to these two security centres.

3345. As regards the specific intent of genocide, namely killing with the intent to destroy, in whole or in part, the Cham group as such, the Chamber recalls that the CPK targeted the Cham as an ethnic and religious distinct group throughout the DK period, first by restricting their cultural and religious practices, then by brutally suppressing “rebellions” and dispersing Cham communities and, at a later stage, by ordering to purge all the Cham who had not yet been deemed as being fully assimilated to the Khmer society.<sup>11282</sup> The Chamber therefore relies on the existence of such a policy

<sup>11278</sup> Closing Order, para. 1471.

<sup>11279</sup> Closing Order, paras 1472-1474.

<sup>11280</sup> See above, para. 3184.

<sup>11281</sup> See above, para. 3308.

<sup>11282</sup> See above, para. 3228. See also, Section 16: Common Purpose, para. 3993.

specifically targeting the Cham as an ethnic and religious, and thus a protected group, and its evolution over time to assess genocidal intent.

3346. The Chamber further notes that this policy was implemented through restrictions on cultural and religious practices throughout Cambodia, mass forcible transfer following the Koh Phal and Svay Khleang rebellions, arbitrary arrest and detention, torture and mass killings of Cham civilians at the Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre in 1977 and Trea Village Security Centre in 1978. The Chamber has already found that this conduct constitutes culpable acts directed at the Cham amounting to crimes against humanity of murder, imprisonment, torture, persecution on religious and political grounds, and other inhumane acts through forced transfer. The Chamber specifically notes the massive scale and organised nature of killings at the Wat Au Trakuon Security Centre in 1977 and Trea Village Security Centre in 1978 amounting to extermination as crimes against humanity. In light of the above, the Chamber is satisfied that the Cham were systematically and repeatedly targeted on account of their membership of the Cham ethnic and religious group throughout the DK period and throughout Cambodia.

3347. The Chamber further finds that, on a national level, this specific genocidal intent had crystallised by at least 1977, when orders to kill all Cham were disseminated by CPK cadre and systematic mass arrests and killings started in Kang Meas district where Cham were taken to Wat Au Trakuon to be exterminated. Having considered all of the evidence taken together, the Chamber finds that the only reasonable conclusion available is that physical perpetrators at Wat Au Trakuon and Trea Village Security Centres demonstrated a genocidal mental state toward the Cham found to have been killed in those locations. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of the crime of genocide by killing is established.

3348. In light of the above, the Chamber finds that the crime of genocide by killing members of the Cham group as such is established.

13.3. Treatment of the Vietnamese*13.3.1. Closing Order

3349. The Closing Order finds that one of the five policies adopted by the CPK was to “implement and defend the CPK socialist revolution through the targeting of specific groups by whatever means necessary”, one objective of which was to destroy these groups in whole or in part.<sup>11283</sup> This policy targeted the Vietnamese as a group before 1975, continuing throughout the DK period until at least 6 January 1979.<sup>11284</sup> It further finds that the policy was implemented in two phases: first with the expulsion of the Vietnamese from Cambodian territory to Vietnam, by foot, train and boat, which began in 1973 and continued in 1975 and 1976, in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng provinces in the East Zone and throughout Cambodia;<sup>11285</sup> and second, from April 1977 onwards, with mass targeted killings of Vietnamese civilians in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng and throughout Cambodia.<sup>11286</sup> Crimes against the Vietnamese also charged to have occurred at security centres and crimes sites relevant to this case and are addressed in the corresponding sections.<sup>11287</sup>

3350. Under the section dealing with the treatment of targeted groups, the Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime of genocide by killing members of the group<sup>11288</sup> as well as with the crimes against humanity of murder,<sup>11289</sup> extermination,<sup>11290</sup> deportation<sup>11291</sup> and persecution on racial grounds.<sup>11292</sup>

<sup>11283</sup> Closing Order, paras 205, 207.

<sup>11284</sup> Closing Order, paras 205-207, 213, 214.

<sup>11285</sup> Closing Order, paras 213, 794-796.

<sup>11286</sup> Closing Order, paras 214, 797-804. As regards mass killings outside Prey Veng and Svay Rieng, the Closing Order refers specifically to the following locations: Wat Khsach, Yeang village, Russei-Lok subdistrict, Siem Reap province (see Closing Order, para. 802); Battambang and Pursat in the Northwest Zone; Mondulkiri in Autonomous Sector 105 in the Northeast Zone; Kampot, Takeo in the Southwest Zone; Kratie in Autonomous Sector 505; Koh Kong in the West Zone; and Kroch Chhmar and Khsach Kandal in the East Zone (see Closing Order, para. 803).

<sup>11287</sup> Section 10.1.10: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Treatment of Vietnamese; Section 12.2.17: S-21 Security Centre: Vietnamese Detainees; Section 12.4.5: Au Kanseng Security Centre: Executions.

<sup>11288</sup> Closing Order, paras 1343-1349.

<sup>11289</sup> Closing Order, paras 1373, 1374, 1378-1380.

<sup>11290</sup> Closing Order, paras 1381-1383, 1386, 1388-1390.

<sup>11291</sup> Closing Order, paras 1397-1401.

<sup>11292</sup> Closing Order, paras 1415, 1422-1423, 1425. For findings on persecution at S-21, Kraing Ta Chan and Au Kanseng Security Centres, see Sections 12.2.24.1.7, 12.3.12.7 and 12.4.7.6, respectively.

3351. The Closing Order further charges the Accused with a number of crimes against the Vietnamese at specific crime sites: the crimes against humanity of murder<sup>11293</sup> and extermination<sup>11294</sup> of six ethnic Vietnamese at Au Kanseng; grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions through wilful killing of Vietnamese detainees at S-21;<sup>11295</sup> torture of Vietnamese detainees at S-21;<sup>11296</sup> inhumane treatment of Vietnamese detainees at S-21;<sup>11297</sup> wilfully causing great suffering or serious injury to body or health of Vietnamese detainees at S-21;<sup>11298</sup> wilful deprivation of the rights of a fair and regular trial of Vietnamese detainees at S-21;<sup>11299</sup> unlawful deportation of Vietnamese civilians at S-21;<sup>11300</sup> and unlawful confinement of Vietnamese civilians at S-21.<sup>11301</sup> Findings relating to these charges have been made under the relevant sections and are cross-referenced here as necessary.<sup>11302</sup>

13.3.2. Preliminary Issues and General Considerations

13.3.2.1. Scope of the charges

3352. The Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers submit that the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through enforced disappearances is charged with respect to the treatment of Vietnamese.<sup>11303</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that the Chamber is not seised of facts concerning this crime, because the Severance Decision does not mention factual allegations of enforced disappearances with regard to the Vietnamese.<sup>11304</sup> No other Party makes relevant submissions in this regard. The Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through enforced disappearances in relation to the treatment of Vietnamese has been excluded from Case

<sup>11293</sup> Closing Order, paras 622, 1373, 1376. The Closing Order also alleges that 209 Jarai people were executed at the Au Kanseng Security Centre, however the Chamber has found that it was unable to conclude beyond reasonable doubt that the Jarai were either nationals of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam or ordinarily resident in Vietnamese territory. See Section 12.4: Au Kanseng Security Centre, para. 2947. See also, Closing Order, paras 618-621, 623.

<sup>11294</sup> Closing Order, paras 622, 1381, 1384-1385.

<sup>11295</sup> Closing Order, paras 1491-1493.

<sup>11296</sup> Closing Order, paras 1498-1500.

<sup>11297</sup> Closing Order, paras 1501-1503.

<sup>11298</sup> Closing Order, paras 1504-1506.

<sup>11299</sup> Closing Order, paras 1507-1510.

<sup>11300</sup> Closing Order, paras 1515-1517.

<sup>11301</sup> Closing Order, paras 1518-1520.

<sup>11302</sup> Section 12.2.17: S-21 Security Centre: Vietnamese Detainees; Section 12.4.5: Au Kanseng Security Centre: Executions.

<sup>11303</sup> Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers Closing Brief, fn. 1589.

<sup>11304</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1930-1931.

002/02 by the Severance Decision.<sup>11305</sup> The submission of the Lead Co-Lawyers in this regard is accordingly rejected. The Chamber notes further that this crime is charged in relation to the Movement of Population Phase Two (limited to the treatment of the Cham), Tram Kak Cooperatives, Trapeang Thma Dam, 1st January Dam, Kampong Chhnang Airport Worksites, and Kraing Ta Chan and Phnom Kraol Security Centres and it may concern Vietnamese victims among others, even if these last have not been particularised as such.<sup>11306</sup> Factual allegations concerning Vietnamese individuals with regard to these specific crime sites are addressed under the relevant sections.<sup>11307</sup>

3353. The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that the Chamber is not properly seized of facts concerning deportation of the Vietnamese, and is therefore prevented from ruling on facts concerning murders committed in the course of deportation because it considers these to constitute the same underlying facts.<sup>11308</sup> The Chamber recalls that it has rejected the submission that facts constituting deportation of Vietnamese were not included within the scope of the judicial investigation.<sup>11309</sup> It rejects the related submission accordingly. The Chamber notes, however, that deportation charges are geographically limited to the Tram Kak Cooperatives and Prey Veng and Svay Rieng provinces.<sup>11310</sup>

3354. Both Defence teams submit that the Chamber is not seized of facts pertaining to the treatment of the Khmer Krom minority group.<sup>11311</sup> The Chamber recalls its finding that it is not seized of the targeting of Khmer Krom either as a specific group or as a sub-group of the Vietnamese,<sup>11312</sup> and will therefore not address factual allegations

---

<sup>11305</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b). The Chamber finds that it is unclear whether enforced disappearances have been ever charged as part of the treatment of Vietnamese in the Closing Order. It notes that, while at paragraph 1470 the Closing Order finds that “[t]he legal elements of enforced disappearance have also been established in regard to the treatment of Vietnamese”, the section of the Closing Order dealing with the treatment of targeted groups charges the Accused only with genocide by killing members of the group as well as with the crimes against humanity of murder, extermination, deportation and persecution on racial grounds, and makes no reference to enforced disappearances.

<sup>11306</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b).

<sup>11307</sup> Section 10.1.10: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Treatment of Vietnamese; Section 12.2.17: S-21 Security Centre: Vietnamese Detainees; Section 12.4.5: Au Kanseng Security Centre: Executions.

<sup>11308</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1879-1880.

<sup>11309</sup> Section 2.5.6: Notice of Charges, Scope of the Trial and Evidence in Case 002/02.

<sup>11310</sup> Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b).

<sup>11311</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 157; NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 707-711.

<sup>11312</sup> Section 2.5.6.7.1: Facts Allegedly Outside the Scope of the Indictment: Khmer Krom.

concerning the Khmer Krom minority as part of the charges concerning crimes against Vietnamese.

3355. The KHIEU Samphan Defence submits that with respect to the crimes of murder, extermination and genocide, the Chamber is only seized of facts concerning Prey Veng and Svay Rieng provinces as of 1977.<sup>11313</sup> The Co-Prosecutors, Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers and NUON Chea Defence do not specifically respond to this submission but respectively make submissions regarding the treatment of Vietnamese outside of Prey Veng and Svay Rieng.<sup>11314</sup> As this KHIEU Samphan submission comprises multiple aspects, the Chamber addresses them in turn below.

3356. The KHIEU Samphan Defence first contends that the Co-Prosecutors' Introductory and Supplementary Submissions limited the treatment of Vietnamese to facts allegedly occurring in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng provinces, and that by addressing facts outside these provinces, the Closing Order exceeded the scope of the judicial investigation.<sup>11315</sup> The Chamber notes that this submission acknowledges that the Closing Order addresses facts outside of the two provinces, which appears to contradict the Defence's other submission that the Closing Order limits the factual allegations of joint criminal enterprise to the treatment of Vietnamese in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng.<sup>11316</sup> In substance, the submission challenges the Chamber's jurisdiction to adjudicate a number of facts because they exceeded the scope of judicial investigation. As this challenge was made outside the time limit set by Internal Rule 89,<sup>11317</sup> it is rejected as belated.

<sup>11313</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1885, 1887-1888, 1895.

<sup>11314</sup> Co-Prosecutors' Closing Brief, paras 920-969, 982-1003; Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers' Closing Brief, fn. 1589 (stating that the charges encompass "the killings of Vietnamese civilians outside of Prey Veng and Svay Rieng, specifically identifying a mass execution of Vietnamese in 1978, and throughout Cambodia, including Battambang, Pursat, Mondulkiri, Kampot, Takeo, Kratie, Koh Kong, Kroch Chhmar, and Khsach Kandal"), paras 877-882 (limiting however their submissions to deportation in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng and killings in Prey Veng, Svay Rieng and Kratie); NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 814-825, 834-845.

<sup>11315</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1882, 1884, 1887, 1895, 1932-1934.

<sup>11316</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1881.

<sup>11317</sup> Section 2.5.6.3: Limitation of the Scope of the Trial to the Facts Contained in the Introductory Submission or Supplementary Submissions. All the necessary information was available to the Defence since 15 September 2010 when the Closing Order was issued. It clearly details, in the factual findings, the targeting of Vietnamese outside of Prey Veng and Svay Rieng. See Closing Order, paras 794-796 (movement of Vietnamese civilians from Cambodia to Vietnam), 802-804 (killing of Vietnamese civilians outside of Prey Veng and Svay Rieng) which is not contested by the KHIEU Samphan Defence. See KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1933. Additionally, the legal findings of genocide as well as murder and extermination as crimes against humanity in the Closing Order contain no geographical 3357. The KHIEU Samphan Defence contends that the Chamber is not properly seized of the facts concerning the treatment of Vietnamese in DK territorial waters and that these were never part of the case.<sup>11318</sup> The NUON Chea Defence makes a similar submission.<sup>11319</sup> The Co-Prosecutors and Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers do not specifically respond to this point, but the former make submissions in relation to the treatment of Vietnamese at sea in their Closing Brief and Closing Statements.<sup>11320</sup> The Chamber recalls that it has previously addressed this point, clarifying that “[f]acts concerning the treatment of Vietnamese at sea likewise form part of the facts set forth in the Closing Order”.<sup>11321</sup> The Chamber reiterates this finding and will address below the facts as charged.

3358. Regarding the geographical scope of the charged killings, the Chamber notes that the Closing Order addresses the treatment of Vietnamese not only in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng provinces,<sup>11322</sup> but also includes factual findings throughout Cambodia,<sup>11323</sup> with a specific sub-section on events occurring outside of Prey Veng and Svay Rieng including detailed findings of mass killings at the Wat Khsach.<sup>11324</sup> The Chamber accordingly finds that it is properly seized of the treatment of Vietnamese throughout Cambodia, save for the charges for which a clear geographical limit was set, namely, deportation (limited to Tram Kak Cooperatives, Prey Veng and Svay Rieng)<sup>11325</sup> and persecution on racial grounds (limited to Prey Veng and Svay Rieng limitation and directly refer to the factual findings. See Closing Order, para. 1335, 1350, 1373, 1381. The Accused have been on notice of the scope of the charges against them, but have failed to avail themselves of the opportunity to raise the matter before the Pre-Trial Chamber or before this Chamber in a preliminary objection.

---

<sup>11318</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 1934. See also, T. 6 January 2016, E1/371.1, pp. 12-15.

<sup>11319</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 840.

<sup>11320</sup> Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, paras 949-962; T. 15 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/522.1, pp. 61, 64-65.

<sup>11321</sup> Decision on Motion to Hear Additional Witnesses on the Topic of the Treatment of the Vietnamese and to Admit Related Written Records of Interview E380, E381, E382, E380/2, 25 May 2016, para. 21 referring in footnote 37 to DK Military Report from Division 164, E3/929, 1 April 1978, ERN (En) 00143507-00143508.

<sup>11322</sup> Closing Order, para. 206. The Closing Order also addresses facts concerning treatment of Vietnamese during incursions into Vietnam, but the Chamber notes that these were subsequently excluded from the scope of Case 002/02. See Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 2(iv)(b).

<sup>11323</sup> Closing Order, paras 213-215.

<sup>11324</sup> Closing Order, paras 802-803. The sub-section is headed “Killings of Vietnamese Civilians outside of Prey Veng and Svay Rieng”.

<sup>11325</sup> Closing Order, para. 1397; Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b).

provinces, Kraing Ta Chan, Au Kanseng and S-21 Security Centres and Tram Kak Cooperatives).<sup>11326</sup>

3359. With respect to the temporal scope of the charged killings, the Chamber notes that the Closing Order finds killings of Vietnamese who resisted deportation in 1975-1976,<sup>11327</sup> and widespread killings of Vietnamese starting either beginning of 1977<sup>11328</sup> or from April 1977.<sup>11329</sup> The Closing Order otherwise specifically states that the turning point in the CPK policy targeting the Vietnamese was evidenced by the April 1977 issue of the Revolutionary Flag, which it considered to constitute a direct call to kill all Vietnamese remaining in Cambodia.<sup>11330</sup> In light of these discrepancies and reading the Closing Order as a whole, the Chamber finds that charges of murder encompass killings of Vietnamese who resisted deportation in 1975-1976 as well as the period from April 1977 to 6 January 1979, inclusive. Killings of Vietnamese charged as extermination or genocide are limited to the period starting from April 1977 to 6 January 1979, inclusive.

3360. Consequently, the scope of the charges regarding the treatment of Vietnamese, as set out in the Closing Order and delimited by the Severance Decision, encompasses facts related to the following:

- Genocide by killing (nationwide from April 1977 to 6 January 1979, inclusive);
- Murder as a crime against humanity (Vietnamese who resisted deportation in 1975-1976 and nationwide from April 1977 to 6 January 1979, inclusive);
- Extermination as a crime against humanity (nationwide from April 1977 to 6 January 1979, inclusive);
- Deportation as a crime against humanity (in Prey Veng, Svay Rieng and Tram Kak Cooperatives in 1975 and 1976); and
- Persecution on racial grounds as a crime against humanity (in Prey Veng, Svay Rieng, Tram Kak Cooperatives and S-21, Kraing Ta Chan and Au Kanseng Security Centres, throughout the DK period).

<sup>11326</sup> Closing Order, para. 1422; Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b).

<sup>11327</sup> Closing Order, para. 1378. No specific evidence was heard on this point and therefore the Chamber will not address it.

<sup>11328</sup> Closing Order, paras 214, 797, 1378.

<sup>11329</sup> Closing Order, paras 1386, 1422.

<sup>11330</sup> Closing Order, paras 214, 814.

13.3.2.2. Overview of witnesses, experts and Civil Parties

3361. The Chamber heard the evidence of 13 witnesses,<sup>11331</sup> one expert<sup>11332</sup> and seven Civil Parties, including on the harm suffered,<sup>11333</sup> on the targeting of the Vietnamese. Unless otherwise stated, the Chamber generally found them credible and relies on their evidence.

3362. Some witnesses and Civil Parties heard during other trial topics also provided information on the targeting of the Vietnamese group. They are dealt with in the relevant sections of this Judgement.<sup>11334</sup> The Chamber has also considered a number of Written Records of Interview of witnesses who did not subsequently testify in court, in particular where these provided corroboration to other evidence.<sup>11335</sup>

13.3.2.3. Expert evidence

3363. Both Defence teams submit that the expert evidence given by Alexander Laban HINTON is unreliable since it is marked by a lack of neutrality and objectivity, including his interpretation of the word “Yuon” and its use in CPK leaders’ speeches.<sup>11336</sup> Both Defence teams also claim that his evidence lacks probative value as his research never focused on the treatment of Vietnamese and was essentially limited

<sup>11331</sup> UNG Sam Ean, SIN Chhem, Y Vun, SEAN Song alias Sung, PRUM Sarun, SAO Sak, THENG Huy alias THENG Phal, UM Suonn, PAK Sok, PRUM Sarat, IN Yoeung, SANN Lorn, MEAS Voeun alias SVAY Voeun.

<sup>11332</sup> Alexander Laban HINTON.

<sup>11333</sup> LACH Kry, PRAK Doeun, CHOEUING Yaing Chaet, DOUNG Oeurn alias DAUNG Oeun, SIENG Chanthly, KHOUY Muoy alias KHAUNG Muoy and UCH Sunlay.

<sup>11334</sup> Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives; Section 12.2: S-21 Security Centre; Section 12.4: Au Kanseng Security Centre.

<sup>11335</sup> KHOEM Samon Interview Record, E3/5260, 11 December 2008, ERN (En) 00327159-00327164; KOR Len Interview Record, E3/9543, 29 April 2014, ERN (En) 01067916-01067931; CHHAO Chat Interview Record, E3/9562, 18 December 2014, ERN (En) 01059935-01059972; SAOY Yen Interview Record, E3/9801, 8 May 2015, ERN (En) 01111929-01111934; CHAN Kea DC-Cam Interview, E3/7525, 30 August 2005, ERN (En) 00884974-00885017; EM Bunnim Interview Record, E3/7760, 4 April 2009, ERN (En) 00322928-00322932; BUN Beun Interview Record, E3/7811, 15 January 2009, ERN (En) 00282552-00282554; SIN Sun Interview Record, E3/9339, 23 September 2008, ERN (En) 00234113-00234117; IENG On Interview Record, E3/9352, 16 September 2008, ERN (En) 00231658-00231661; PRUM Yan Interview Record, E3/7816, 29 January 2009, ERN (En) 00292837-00292840; LAUNH Khun Interview Record, E3/7686, 26 August 2008, ERN (En) 00275404-00275407; MAM Nai Interview Record, E3/351, 7 November 2007, ERN (En) 00162905-00162934; SUM Alat Interview Record, E3/4637, 10 June 2008, ERN (En) 00242122-00242129; VEN Van Interview Record, E3/9780, 27 February 2014, ERN (En) 00986174-00986190; TROENG Yang Yong Interview Record, E3/5588, 15 December 2009, ERN (En) 00421058-00421063; DOU Yang Aun Interview Record, E3/5587, 15 December 2009, ERN (En) 00426464-00426468; EAR Sophal Interview Record, E3/5238, 13 January 2009, ERN (En) 00270668-00270674.

<sup>11336</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 586, 2226-2229; NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 717.

to one village called “Banyan” in Kampong Siem district in Sector 41.<sup>11337</sup> They further contend that most of the sources on which the expert relies, namely conversations he had with about 150-200 people, and 10 or so interviews, including one with a Southwest Zone cadre only known under his pseudonym Teap, are inaccessible and therefore unreliable.<sup>11338</sup> The Co-Prosecutors did not expressly respond but rely heavily on the expert’s evidence.<sup>11339</sup> The Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers make no relevant submissions in this regard.

3364. The Chamber recalls that an expert is an individual that has specialised knowledge, experience or skills that could assist it in its understanding of specific issues in dispute requiring special knowledge in a particular field. Experts provide clarification, context or additional assistance for the purpose of a Chamber’s assessment of the evidence. They are not expected “to testify on disputed facts or about the acts, conduct, or criminal responsibility of an accused as would a fact witness”.<sup>11340</sup> The Chamber acknowledges that limited information is available concerning the expert’s sources and it concurs with the Supreme Court Chamber that “[w]here the sources are not fully accessible and verifiable a diminished weight must be attributed to expert evidence derived from them given the restricted possibility for the Parties and the court to test the experts’ conclusions”.<sup>11341</sup> The Chamber is not bound by the evidence or conclusions given by an expert. Regarding the expertise provided by Alexander Laban HINTON, the Chamber finds that his sources are not fully accessible and verifiable which diminishes the weight of his conclusions. The Chamber will therefore limit its use of Alexander Laban HINTON’s evidence to assessing the appropriate interpretation of established facts and placing them in context when necessary and with due caution.<sup>11342</sup>

<sup>11337</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1935, 2230; NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 715.

<sup>11338</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 586, 2230-2231; NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 716-719.

<sup>11339</sup> Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, paras 901, 904, 906, 909, 913, 1004.

<sup>11340</sup> Section 2: Preliminary Issues, paras 50, 66; Case 002/01 Appeal Judgement, para. 328. See also, Decision on Designation of 2-TCE-88, E388, 4 March 2016, paras 10-11.

<sup>11341</sup> Case 002/01 Appeal Judgement, para. 329.

<sup>11342</sup> Section 2.4.7: Experts YSA Osman and Alexander HINTON; Case 002/01 Appeal Judgement, para. 329; Decision on Designation of 2-TCE-88, E388, 4 March 2016, para. 17.

3365. The Chamber also recalls its previous decision not to rely on demographic evidence provided by Ewa Maria TABEAU.<sup>11343</sup>

13.3.3. Parties' General Submissions

3366. The Co-Prosecutors submit that the CPK targeted Vietnamese as part of its general policy to persecute enemies,<sup>11344</sup> which ultimately resulted in killings on a massive scale and gross violations of human rights of Vietnamese at various locations.<sup>11345</sup>

3367. Both Defence teams submit that there was no policy targeting Vietnamese civilians, but that the CPK was attacking the state of Vietnam as a consequence of the ongoing armed conflict between the two countries.<sup>11346</sup> The NUON Chea Defence further submits that facts related to the alleged targeting of the Vietnamese have not been proved beyond reasonable doubt due to lack of credible, specific and reliable evidence.<sup>11347</sup> The NUON Chea Defence further submits that mass killings of the Vietnamese have not been established beyond reasonable doubt due to vague, unsubstantiated and limited evidence,<sup>11348</sup> and the lack of evidence linking “a handful of people’s alleged disappearances or killings [...] and the fact that they may have belonged to the Vietnamese group”.<sup>11349</sup> Similarly, the KHIEU Samphan Defence, which limits its submissions to facts found to have occurred in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng provinces,<sup>11350</sup> contends that the evidence presented generally lacks probative value as the Chamber heard mostly hearsay and/or uncorroborated, vague, speculative and contradicting accounts, and therefore the allegations contained in the Closing Order are not proved beyond reasonable doubt.<sup>11351</sup> Furthermore, it contends that contemporaneous official speeches and documentary evidence show that the CPK

<sup>11343</sup> Decision on Witnesses, Civil Parties and Experts Proposed to be heard during Case 002/02, E459, 18 July 2017, para. 191.

<sup>11344</sup> Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, para. 295.

<sup>11345</sup> Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, para. 890.

<sup>11346</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 2207, 2234-2257; NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 179-213, 754-772.

<sup>11347</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 807-848, 860-863, 864, 867, 872, 876-877, 888-892.

<sup>11348</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 826.

<sup>11349</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 826, 829, 833, 837, 839, 845, 848.

<sup>11350</sup> See above, para. 3355.

<sup>11351</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1939-2206.

considered the enemy to be the Vietnamese State, not Vietnam's civilian population, and therefore there was no policy to specifically target Vietnamese as a group.<sup>11352</sup>

3368. The Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers detail the harm suffered by the seven Civil Parties heard on the treatment of the Vietnamese and their evidence as regards deportation, killings and specific intent.<sup>11353</sup>

13.3.4. Administrative Structure

3369. As set out above, crimes related to the treatment of the Vietnamese are charged in relation to events that occurred in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng provinces in the East Zone,<sup>11354</sup> as well as throughout Cambodia. The Chamber here sets out the administrative structure in the East Zone. The relevant administrative structures in other locations are addressed elsewhere in this Judgement.<sup>11355</sup>

3370. Prey Veng and Svay Rieng provinces encompassed part or all of the East Zone Sectors 20, 22, 23 and 24.<sup>11356</sup> During the periods covered by the charges, the East Zone was a battlefield.<sup>11357</sup> Its frontier with Vietnam and its "parrot's beak" made it a strategic location and RAK Divisions 3, 4 and 5 were stationed there.<sup>11358</sup> The war with Vietnam as well as internal purges led to very fluid, ever-changing administrative and command structures.<sup>11359</sup>

3371. SAO Phim was the East Zone Secretary and a member of the Standing Committee from prior to 1970 until his death in 1978.<sup>11360</sup> MEAS Seng Hong alias

<sup>11352</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 2207-2257.

<sup>11353</sup> Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers' Closing Brief, paras 808-930.

<sup>11354</sup> Map of Democratic Kampuchea, E3/475, 1976, ERN (En) 01577214. See also, Closing Order, paras 65, 206; DK Publication, Democratic Kampuchea is Moving Forward, E3/1388, August 1977, p. 7, ERN (En) 00050249; DK Geography Textbook, E3/1398, 1977, pp. 31-33, ERN (En) 00814530-00814532; Administrative Map of Svay Rieng province, E3/2919, ERN (En) 000401122.

<sup>11355</sup> Section 5: Administrative Structures (generally). For specific locations, see Sections 10.1.5 (Tram Kak district, Sector 13 and the Southwest Zone [see also, Section 12.3.5]); 11.1.5 (Phnom Srok district, Sector 5 and the Northwest Zone); 11.2.6 (Central (old North) and new North Zones); 12.4.2 (Northeast Zone); 12.5.3 (Sector 105).

<sup>11356</sup> Map of Democratic Kampuchea, E3/475, 1976, ERN (En) 01577214. See also, Closing Order, para. 797; Ben Kiernan, "Introduction", in Genocide and Democracy in Cambodia, E3/3304, ERN (En) 00430229.

<sup>11357</sup> Section 5.3.1.2.1.11: East Zone Field Command Posts.

<sup>11358</sup> Section 5.3.1.2.2: Regional Forces.

<sup>11359</sup> Section 5: Administrative Structures, paras 378-379; Section 12.1.6: Internal Factions: 1978 Events – East Zone and SAO Phim.

<sup>11360</sup> T. 7 November 2016 (LONG Sat), E1/496.1, p. 69; S-21 Notebook of MAM Nai, E3/833, 17 December 1977, p. 35, ERN (En) 00184613; T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeurn), E1/446.1, p. 79. See also,

Chan was the Deputy Secretary of the East Zone until 1979.<sup>11361</sup> He additionally served later on as the Secretary of the “Twin-Sectors” 23 and 24.<sup>11362</sup>

3372. Over the course of the East Zone purges, secretaries and their deputies changed frequently due to arrests and executions, many of them the result of forced confessions in which former secretaries incriminated current ones.<sup>11363</sup> Therefore, at the sector level, the Chamber has been unable to establish an exact chronology of the changes in the administrative structures, but outlines the extent of its findings in the following sections.

13.3.4.1. Sectors 20, 22, 23 and 24

3373. In Sector 20, CHEA Sin alias Sun served as Secretary until his arrest and execution at S-21 on 5 June 1978.<sup>11364</sup> MAK Mok alias Tuy served as Deputy Secretary until his arrest and detention at S-21 where he was interrogated on 6 July 1978.<sup>11365</sup>

---

Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, p. xx, ERN (En) 01149989; Ben Kiernan, “Introduction”, in Genocide and Democracy in Cambodia, E3/3304, p. 15, ERN (En) 00430242; Case 002/01 Trial Judgement, para. 219, fn. 693.

<sup>11361</sup> T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeurn), E1/446.1, pp. 26-28, 36-37, 55, 78, 95. See also, OUK Bunchhoeun Interview by Ben KIERNAN, E3/432, 30 September 1980, p. 14, ERN (En) 00542185; Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, p. xx, ERN (En) 01149989; Ben Kiernan, “Introduction”, in Genocide and Democracy in Cambodia, E3/3304, p. 15, ERN (En) 00430242. For more details on the structure of the East Zone, see Section 5: Administrative Structures, paras 378-379; Section 12.1.6: Internal Factions: 1978 Events – East Zone and SAO Phim.

<sup>11362</sup> T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeurn), E1/446.1, pp. 27, 43-44, MEAS Soeurn Interview Record, E3/5531, 18 December 2009, ERN (En) 00425894 (Answer 67). See also, OUK Bunchhoeun Interview by Ben KIERNAN, E3/432, 30 September 1980, p. 14, ERN (En) 00542185.

<sup>11363</sup> See e.g., S-21 Confession – TAUCH Chem alias Sot, E3/2803, 17 May 1978, ERN (En) 00823425-00823445 (Sot, the Secretary of Sector 21, names 380 people as having been “involved” with him. Among these are Sector Secretaries Sun (ERN (En) 00823428, entry no. 75), Chhean (ERN (En) 00823434, entry no. 210), Chhouk (ERN (En) 00823434, entry no. 212) and Sau (ERN (En) 00823434, entry no. 213) as well as Deputy Secretary Tuy (ERN (En) 00823430, entry no. 121)). See also, Section 12.1.6: Internal Factions: 1978 Events – East Zone and SAO Phim.

<sup>11364</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2229, undated, p. 3, ERN (En) 00784618 (entry no. 25, CHEA Sin alias Sun, aged 38, “Secretary of Sector”, entered 5 June 1978); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2187, undated, p. 7, ERN (En) 00837597 (entry no. 67); T. 29 June 2016 (MEAS Soeurn), E1/446.1, pp. 42-43. See also, HENG Samrin Interview by Ben KIERNAN, E3/1568, 7 December 1992, ERN (En) 00651897; NORNG Nim DC-Cam Interview, E3/10717, 9 July 2015, p. 30, ERN (En) 01355724; S-21 list of traitors in the East Zone, E3/2097, 24 June 1977, p. 4, ERN (En) 00182907 (entry no. 1, Sun, “Sector 20 Secretary”).

<sup>11365</sup> S-21 list of prisoners who entered on 3 July 1978, E3/10099, 3 July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01548701 (entry no. 1, MAK Mok alias Tuy, aged 60, “Deputy secretary of Sector 20”); S-21 list of traitors in the East Zone, E3/2097, 24 June 1977, p. 4, ERN (En) 00182907 (entry no. 2, Tuy, “Sector 20 Deputy Secretary”). See also, S-21 Confession – MAK Mok alias Tuy, E3/1858, 6 July 1978, p. 7, ERN (En) 00808508 (entry no. 11, Tuy, “Past: Deputy director during the 9-year era. Present: Under-secretary of Sector 20”).

3374. In Sector 22, SEAT Chhae alias Tum served as Secretary until his arrest in April 1977 and subsequent execution at S-21.<sup>11366</sup> TI Srin (TY Srin) alias Muth became the Secretary of Sector 22 at some point during the DK period and he was arrested and sent to S-21 on 1 June 1977.<sup>11367</sup> MEAS Chhuon alias Chhean alias Ta Chhien entered S-21 in June 1978 and was recorded as Sector 22 Secretary.<sup>11368</sup> CHEA Sim was Secretary until August or September 1978 when he fled to take refuge in Vietnam.<sup>11369</sup> He was then replaced by Rin and was accused of having betrayed the Party.<sup>11370</sup> BUN Kung alias Sambok alias Ngin served as Deputy Secretary and is recorded as having been arrested on 8 June 1977.<sup>11371</sup>

<sup>11366</sup> OUK Bunchhoeun Interview by Ben KIERNAN, E3/432, 30 September 1980, p. 5, ERN (En) 00542176 (identifying “Tum” as “Secretary R22”). See also, S-21 Confession – SEAT Chhae, E3/1893, 3 November 1977, ERN (En) 00182870; S-21 Confession – SEAT Chhae, E3/527, 24 April 2001, p. 26, ERN (En) 00069056; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10418, 23 November 1977, p. 26, ERN (En) 01398361 (entry no. 13, SEAT Chhe alias Tum, “Former secretary of Sector 22”, listed as “Documented”); S-21 list of prisoners who were brought in on October 28, 1977, E3/8919, undated, ERN (En) 01460908 (entry no. 2, SEATH Chhe alias Tum, “Former Sector 22 Secretary”, no entry date listed).

<sup>11367</sup> S-21 list of prisoners, E3/10418, 23 November 1977, ERN (En) 01398362 (entry no. 16, TI Srin alias Muth, “Secretary of Sector 22”). See also, S-21 Confession – TY Srin alias Mut, E3/1830, 13 November 1977, ERN (En) 00951132 (describing him as having been arrested on 1 June 1977); S-21 list of prisoners from Ministry of Social Affairs and Office of General Staff, E3/2009, ERN (En) 00233722 (entry no. 6, TY Srin alias Muth, describing him as having been arrested on 1 June 1977 and interrogated on 13 November 1977).

<sup>11368</sup> S-21 list of prisoners dated 12 June 1978, E3/10181, 12 June 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 01397620; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/2187, undated, p. 7, ERN (En) 00837597 (entry no. 72, MEAS Chhuon alias Chhean, “Secretary of Sector”); HENG Samrin Interview by Ben KIERNAN, E3/1568, 7 December 1992, ERN (En) 00651898-00651900 (HENG Samrin talks about a meeting that took place on 27 May 1978 in Prey Veng city, in which “Ta Chhien the secretary of Region 22” participated). See also, S-21 Confession – SAM Huov alias MEAS Tal, E3/1887, 3 June 1978, p. 15, ERN (En) 00796034 (entry no. 34, “Chhien, Secretary of Sector 22. This person was already arrested”); T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav alias Duch), E1/437.1, p. 35 (Ta Chhien was Secretary was arrested at the same time as SAO Phim’s purge).

<sup>11369</sup> T. 6 October 2015 (BAN Seak), E1/354.1, pp. 18-19 (CS) (“When I was transferred to work in Krouch Chhmar, I was told that Chea Sim had betrayed the Party and that he was the secretary of Section 22, and that he had fled to Vietnam.”); BAN Siek alias HANG Phos Interview Record, E3/9517 [E319/19.3.86], 24 March 2014, p. 11, ERN (En) 00984878 (“Perhaps in August or September 1978, Oeun appointed me Krouch Chhmar District Secretary to strengthen the district’s forces after CHEA Sim, Sector 22 Secretary had broken away to Vietnam.”).

<sup>11370</sup> BAN Siek Interview Record, E3/375, 6 July 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00360753 (“When the situation in the East Zone became chaotic [...] SON Sen sent three people to the East Zone. Those people were Rin, who [...] was nominated the Sector 22 Secretary”); BAN Siek alias HANG Phos Interview Record, E3/9517, 24 March 2014, p. 11, ERN (En) 00984878 (“Q: Who was Sector 22 Secretary [then]? A: Rin was secretary of Sector 22.”).

<sup>11371</sup> S-21 list of prisoners who were brought in on October 28, 1977, E3/8919, undated, ERN (En) 01460908 (entry no. 1, BUN Kung alias Ngin, “Peareang District Secretary and Sector 22 Deputy Secretary”, entered 8 June 1977); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1949, undated, ERN (En) 00937120 (entry no. 35, BUN Kung alias Sambok, “Deputy Secretary of Sector 22”); S-21 list of prisoners smashed on 9 December 1977, E3/2285 [E3/2286], ERN (En) 01565264/ERN (Kh) 00009298 (entry no. 200, BUN Kong alias NGIN Sombuk is listed as Deputy Secretary of Sector 22). See also, S-21 Confession – BUN Kung alias Ngin, E3/3690, 13 August 1977, p. 1, ERN (En) 00874990; S-21 Confession – BUN Kung alias Sambok, E3/3682, undated, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00224279-00224280, ERN (Kh) 00174587, 00174654.

3375. Sector 23's Secretary was Ngatt alias UK Savann alias Savann (or So or Sau) until his arrest in March 1978.<sup>11372</sup> He was replaced by MEAS Seng Hong.<sup>11373</sup>

3376. Sector 24 was headed by SUOS Neou (SUOS Nov) alias Chhouk alias Men until his arrest in mid-1976.<sup>11374</sup> He was also replaced by MEAS Seng Hong.<sup>11375</sup> Chey was Deputy Secretary on 24 June 1977, when his name appeared on a "list of traitors" compiled at S-21.<sup>11376</sup> PORT Un alias Neouchey was Deputy Secretary until 12 July 1977, when he was arrested and transferred to S-21.<sup>11377</sup>

13.3.5. Targeting of the Vietnamese

13.3.5.1. The use of the terms "Yuong" and Vietnamese "Enemy"<sup>11378</sup>

3377. According to the NUON Chea Defence, the "CPK policy was naturally directly shaped by, and often a reaction to, Vietnamese imperialist aggression".<sup>11379</sup> In submitting that there was no evidence of a policy targeting Vietnamese people, the NUON Chea Defence states that the term "Yuong" in official CPK documents referred to "Vietnam as an aggressor, as well as to individuals acting on behalf of Vietnam during the war, be they formal soldiers or civilians spying or infiltrating. It does not refer to ordinary Vietnamese civilians."<sup>11380</sup> The NUON Chea Defence provides no

<sup>11372</sup> S-21 list of prisoners from The East Zone, Sector 23, E3/10388, undated, p. 5, ERN (En) 01398102 (entry no. 31, So, "Secretary of Sector 23"). See also, Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime, E3/1593, p. 90, ERN (En) 01150042; S-21 Confession – TAUCH Chem alias Sot, E3/2803, 17 May 1978, ERN (En) 00823434 (entry no. 213, "Sau"); S-21 Confession – BUN Kung alias Ngin, E3/3690, 13 August 1977, p. 7, ERN (En) 00874996 ("Sau"); S-21 Confession – CHHAI Taing Leang alias Yon, E3/2463, 30 July 1977, p. 17, ERN (En) 00807688 (entry no. 24, Sau alias Savan, "Secretary of Sector 23").

<sup>11373</sup> T. 20 June 2006 (MEAS Soeurn), E1/446.1, pp. 42-43; MEAS Soeurn Interview Record, E3/5531, 18 December 2009, ERN (En) 00425894.

<sup>11374</sup> S-21 Confession – SUOS Neou alias Chhouk, E3/2494, 1 September 1976, p. 1, ERN (En) 00796081; T. 18 May 2009 (KAING Guek Eav), E3/345, p. 45; T. 15 June 2009 (KAING Guek Eav), E3/5799, p. 25; KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5762, 18 February 2008, p. 9, ERN (En) 00164335; T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 15-16; Statistics List for State Security Organisations S-21, E3/8972, undated, pp. 2-5, ERN (En) 01367073-01367076; T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, pp. 20-21; SIN Chhem Interview Record, E3/7794, 5 December 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00251405; S-21 list of prisoners, E3/1949, undated, ERN (En) 00937155 (entry no. 440, Chhouk, "Secretary of Sector 24"). See also, Section 12.1: Internal Factions, paras 1893, 2012-2013; Section 12.2: S-21 Security Centre: SUOS Neou alias Chhouk.

<sup>11375</sup> T. 20 June 2006 (MEAS Soeurn), E1/446.1, pp. 42-43; MEAS Soeurn Interview Record, E3/5531, 18 December 2009, ERN (En) 00425894.

<sup>11376</sup> S-21 list of traitors in the East Zone, E3/2097, 24 June 1977, p. 4, ERN (En) 00182907 (entry no. 15, Chey, "Sector 24 Deputy Secretary").

<sup>11377</sup> S-21 list of prisoners to be fattened, E3/10087, undated, ERN (En) 01245975 (entry no. 16, PORT Un alias Neouchey, "Deputy Secretary of Sector 24, East").

<sup>11378</sup> Section 16.3.2.1.3.5: Real or Perceived Enemies: CIA, KGB and "Yuong" (Vietnamese) Agents.

<sup>11379</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 179.

<sup>11380</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 760.

evidence in support of this submission. To the contrary, the KHIEU Samphan Defence notes that numerous witnesses used “Yuon” generally, be they former soldiers or civilians, and it was used on numerous occasions to refer to family members or fellow villagers.<sup>11381</sup> The Co-Prosecutors submit that the “term Yuon was ubiquitous in CPK propaganda” and point to evidence indicating that it encompassed both civilians and soldiers.<sup>11382</sup> The Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers did not specifically address this issue.

3378. The submissions of both Defence teams rely upon documentary evidence, notably POL Pot’s April 1978 “One against 30” speech, reproduced in the April 1978 special issue of the Revolutionary Flag, which they submit “clearly refers only to Vietnamese armed forces”.<sup>11383</sup> They also refer to the testimony of PRUM Sarat, Commander of Regiment 140 in Division 164, who testified that POL Pot’s speech was a comparison of military forces, adding “[i]t is clear in the document, [...]. It was meant to encourage the soldiers to find the strategies to smash enemies.”<sup>11384</sup>

3379. The Chamber finds that the evidence before it does not support the view that an inherent distinction between civilians and combatants was implied by using the term “Yuon”. As discussed below, the Chamber is satisfied that the “One against 30 policy” targeted not only Vietnamese armed forces in the context of an escalating conflict but also Vietnamese civilians.<sup>11385</sup> Further, there are multiple examples of witnesses on the stand using the term “Yuon” to refer to Vietnam or Vietnamese in general terms,<sup>11386</sup> and where the CPK’s use of the term “Yuon” cannot reasonably be understood as limited to combatants, especially when referring to “Yuon” children or babies.<sup>11387</sup> In light of the above, the Chamber concludes that any use of this term must be interpreted

<sup>11381</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 2222-2224.

<sup>11382</sup> Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, para. 913.

<sup>11383</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 757-758; KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 734-740, 2253; Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, ERN (En) 00519829-00519862.

<sup>11384</sup> T. 26 January 2016 (PRUM Sarat), E1/382.1, p. 68; NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 756. KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 735-738. The KHIEU Samphan Defence also refers to the testimony of CHUON Thy for the same purposes, citing T. 25 October 2016 (CHUON Thy), E1/489.1, p. 93.

<sup>11385</sup> See below, para. 3402.

<sup>11386</sup> See e.g., T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 12, 13, 80; T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, p. 52; T. 11 December 2015 (UNG Sam Ean), E1/366.1, p. 40; T. 2 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, p. 92.

<sup>11387</sup> See e.g., DK Telegram, E3/1094, 4 August 1978, p. 7, ERN (En) 00143624 (M-401 reporting to Angkar that “100 Vietnamese people” were smashed, including “small and big, young and old”). See also, T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, p. 49 (the CPK instructed soldiers and sailors to kill Vietnamese “even if it was a baby”); S-21 list of prisoners, E3/8463, undated, pp. 43, 52, 55, 58, 59, 61, 62, 63, 70, 72-74, 94, 314, ERN (En) 01554519-01554854 (children from 7 to 15 are referred to as “Yuon spy”).

on a case-by-case basis and by taking into account the totality of the evidence and the circumstances in which it was used.

3380. The KHIEU Samphan Defence further submits that there was not necessarily a racist connotation to the term “Yuong” and therefore its use in speeches by DK leaders did not imply violent intentions towards the Vietnamese population.<sup>11388</sup> The NUON Chea Defence also submits that “Yuong” was not a derogatory term.<sup>11389</sup> The Co-Prosecutors point to evidence indicating that the term was used with a discriminatory intent.<sup>11390</sup> The Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers did not specifically address this issue.

3381. The Chamber notes that CPK leaders repeatedly referred to the “Yuong” and Vietnam as being the “hereditary enemy” of the Cambodian people and of the Party.<sup>11391</sup> It has found elsewhere in this Judgement that contemporaneous “Yuong” (agents) were increasingly discussed throughout the DK era as the armed conflict between DK and Vietnam intensified, and were considered the most dangerous enemy.<sup>11392</sup> In light of the above, the Chamber finds that the word “Yuong” was used in a derogatory fashion in aggressive rhetoric and was associated with both combatants

<sup>11388</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 2218-2225.

<sup>11389</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 760.

<sup>11390</sup> Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, paras 570, 904, 913.

<sup>11391</sup> DK Government Statement, E3/8404, 2 January 1979, pp. 10-11, ERN (En) 00419728 (“we carry out a protracted people’s war, because the whole Kampuchea’s people [sic] are against Vietnam which is a hereditary enemy”); T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 6-7 (“We, staff at S-21, were told that Vietnamese were the hereditary enemy of the Communist Party of Kampuchea, that we intended to retake the part of the Cochinchine, that is, Kampuchea Krom. And these instructions were relayed by Son Sen and Duch to us at S-21 during a political study session.”); T. 3 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/387.1, p. 24 (“Q. Did you also hear during the DK period that the Vietnamese, whether they be from within or from outside of Cambodia, were the hereditary enemies of the Khmer? A. I heard of it. Everyone heard of it, that they were hereditary enemies.”); T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, p. 33 (“The status of the Vietnamese were [sic] greatly different from that of the Thai. The Vietnamese were considered as the hereditary enemy of Pol Pot, so regardless of whether they were military or civilians, when they had guns and shot at us, they must be shot and sunk.”); PAK Sok Interview Record, E3/9674, 18 October 2013, p. 10, ERN (En) 00977535 (“[T]he Thais had not have much conflict with Cambodians throughout history, unlike the Vietnamese, who had had much conflict with the Cambodians; that’s why the Vietnamese were considered the Hereditary Enemy and Enemy Number One.”); Revolutionary Flag, E3/746, July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00428289 (“The Yuong enemy has committed aggression against us and swallowed our territory and committed genocide against our Kampuchean race from one generation to the next. They have been our national enemy from the beginning up through the present, and will be our enemy in the protracted future as well. [...] The national duty of all of us is to struggle to fight to eliminate our aggressive, expansionist, territory-swallowing and genocidal Yuong enemy. Just like the Kampuchean of our current generation, absolutely no Kampuchean of any subsequent generation will lay down arms and stop fighting the aggressive and expansionist/territory-swallowing and genocidal Yuong enemy of the Kampuchean race.”).

<sup>11392</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, paras 3793, 3811, 3819-3820, 3824, 3828-3829, 3853. See also, DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Black Paper, E3/23 [E3/266], September 1978, p. 9, ERN (En) 00082517 (the DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs explain that the term “Yuong”, which means “savage”, is “the name given by Kampuchea’s people to the Vietnamese since the epoch of Angkor”).

and civilians. The Chamber further notes that several witnesses and Civil Parties used the term to refer to Vietnam or the Vietnamese in general terms, without explicitly ascribing a negative connotation.<sup>11393</sup> The Chamber will therefore consider any derogatory intent associated with the use of the term “Yuon” or Vietnamese “enemy” on a case-by-case basis and by taking into account the totality of the evidence and the circumstances in which the term was used.

13.3.5.2. Evidence of a policy targeting the Vietnamese

3382. The CPK rhetoric against the Vietnamese was grounded in their perception of a long-standing animosity between the Khmers and Vietnamese, which the CPK dated back to the second century.<sup>11394</sup> CPK leaders resolved that Vietnam was the long-term “acute enemy” of Kampuchea as early as September 1971 at the Third CPK Congress.<sup>11395</sup> The deterioration of the relationship between the CPK and North Vietnamese authorities (following the signing of the January 1973 Paris Peace Accords between the governments of Vietnam and the US)<sup>11396</sup> must be considered against this background of animosity, which explains in part the CPK’s identification of ethnic Vietnamese living in Cambodia as a group deserving distinct attention.<sup>11397</sup> The CPK feared that beyond ending the US’s direct involvement in the Vietnamese conflict, the Accords would compel them to initiate negotiations with the Khmer Republic at risk of potential US military intervention.<sup>11398</sup> North Vietnam’s assent to the Accords raised dissatisfaction and distrust among CPK leaders, who considered that Hanoi had

<sup>11393</sup> See above, para. 3379. See also, T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 12, 13, 80; T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, p. 52; T. 11 December 2015 (UNG Sam Ean), E1/366.1, p. 40; T. 2 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, p. 92.

<sup>11394</sup> DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Black Paper, September 1978, E3/23 [E3/266], p. 3, ERN (En) 00082514. See below, paras 3387-3389, 3394, 3412.

<sup>11395</sup> Section 3: Historical Background, para. 226.

<sup>11396</sup> Section 3: Historical Background, para. 228.

<sup>11397</sup> T. 14 December 2011 (Accused NUON Chea), E1/22.1, pp. 18-20; KHIEU Samphan Interview Record, E3/4038, undated, p. 1, ERN (En) 00790140 (POL Pot’s refusal to join a peace agreement at that time “led Vietnam to be uncomfortable, although we did nothing toward them. Mr Saloth Sar had done nothing to them. We just became independent by ourselves, that’s all, but that impacted their intentions. What could we do?”). See also, Book by E. Becker: When the War Was Over, E3/20, pp. 143, 145, 346, ERN (En) 00237848 (suggesting that the Cambodian communists had refused to take part in any discussion of a cease-fire at the time of the Paris Peace Accord, meaning that they were “left very much to their own devices”), 00237850 (describing an “abrupt break with the Vietnamese immediately following the 1973 Paris Peace Accords”), 00238059 (“North Vietnam had urged Sihanouk to negotiate and had cut back aid to the Khmer Rouge once the prince refused.”).

<sup>11398</sup> Section 3: Historical Background, para. 228.

“betrayed” them.<sup>11399</sup> Believing that they were close to victory, FUNK refused to enter negotiations with the LON Nol government, but recognised that this regional peace initiative constituted a serious threat.<sup>11400</sup> As North Vietnam ceased providing military supplies to the CPK, US bombing raids continued to intensify across Cambodian territory until August 1973 causing extensive civilian deaths, destroying crops and agricultural infrastructure, killing livestock and damaging the country’s rural economy.<sup>11401</sup> This situation accelerated the deterioration of the relationship between the two sides,<sup>11402</sup> with tensions further exacerbated by the CPK leaders’ fervent belief that Vietnam intended to impose an Indochinese Federation, which would result in Cambodia being “swallowed” by its eastern neighbour.<sup>11403</sup>

<sup>11399</sup> Book by Khieu S.: Cambodia’s Recent History and the Reasons behind the Decisions I Made, E3/18, p. 51, ERN (En) 00103748 (the Paris Peace Agreement of 1973 “further complicated matters” and CPK leaders “felt they had been abandoned and betrayed”, also citing with approval William SHAWCROSS’s conclusion that “1973 confirmed a historic conviction that survival, let alone victory, could be guaranteed only by absolute independence and an astonishing fixity of purpose.”).

<sup>11400</sup> T. 14 December 2011 (Accused NUON Chea), E1/22.1, pp. 18-20 (another factor in the deteriorating relationship was POL Pot’s rejection of Vietnamese pressure to end the war against the LON Nol regime). See also, Book by E. Becker: When the War Was Over, E3/20, pp. 143, 145, 346, ERN (En) 00237848 (suggesting that the Cambodian communists had refused to take part in any discussion of a ceasefire at the time of the Paris Peace Accord, meaning that they were “left very much to their own devices”), 00237850 (describing an “abrupt break with the Vietnamese immediately following the 1973 Paris Peace Accords”), 00238059 (“North Vietnam had urged Sihanouk to negotiate and had cut back aid to the Khmer Rouge once the prince refused.”).

<sup>11401</sup> Section 3: Historical Background, paras 228-229. See also, T. 23 June 2017 (Accused KHIEU Samphan), E1/528.1, pp. 34-35 (describing Cambodia’s countryside being “pounded by American bombs” and a feeling of being “abandoned by those who claimed to be our friends – that is, the Vietnamese communists who, in reality, simply wanted to subjugate us in an Indochinese communist federation.”); T. 17 October 2014 (Accused NUON Chea), E1/242.1, p. 69 (from the 1930s, Vietnam “had spoken of establishing and [sic] Indochinese Federation.”); Book by E. Becker: When the War Was Over, E3/20, pp. 148, 149, ERN (En) 00237853 (describing one consequence of the Accords being that, with the prohibition against American involvement in Vietnam and Laos, “Cambodia became the only arena for American bomber jets, and in February 1973, showers of explosive bombs began to fall from American B-52s and fighter jets [...] the Khmer Rouge decided the accords were one more betrayal by their communist allies”); 00237854 (“To the Khmer Rouge, the North Vietnamese by signing the accords had released American jets to bomb Cambodia.”).

<sup>11402</sup> T. 31 January 2012 (Accused NUON Chea), E1/36.1, pp. 40-41 (“The reason why the Vietnamese did not [want] Kampuchea to engage in armed struggle [was] because they were afraid that they could not transport their weapons from Kampong Thom [sic] to Vietnam.”); Book by P. Short: Pol Pot: The History of a Nightmare, E3/9, pp. 136-138, 157-159, ERN (En) 00396336-00396338 (noting that the VWP Central Committee authorised armed struggle in South Vietnam in January 1959, with armed struggle resuming in Laos in about 1960), 00396357-00396359 (no Vietnamese support was received for armed struggle in 1965); Book by D. Chandler: The Tragedy of Cambodian History: Politics, War and Revolution since 1945, E3/1683, pp. 114-115, 141, ERN (En) 00193197-00193198, 00193224 (highlighting the apparently hegemonic failure to sanction armed struggle since 1960).

<sup>11403</sup> T. 17 October 2014 (Accused NUON Chea), E1/242.1, p. 65 (criticising the Chamber for ignoring “long-term aggression towards Cambodia, by the land swallowing, annexationist neighbour, Vietnam.”); DK Letter to the UN Secretary General, E3/8399, 2 January 1979, p. 1, ERN (En) 00078239. An illustration of this belief and related propaganda in DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Black Paper, E3/266, September 1978, pp. 14, 15, 19, 21, ERN (En) 00082520, 00082522, 00082523; DK Embassy in Beijing Public Statement, E3/8393, 15 February 1978, ERN (En) 00009334-00009340; DK Press Communiqué,

3383. In line with the CPK leadership's desire to see Cambodia liberated of Vietnamese presence, the Paris Peace Accords required the complete withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces from Cambodian territory. By May 1973, the last vestiges of Vietnamese command over Cambodian communist regiments had dissipated, with some North Vietnamese soldiers remaining to guard the flow of arms down the Ho Chi Minh Trail.<sup>11404</sup> The withdrawal of Vietnamese forces was seen by some CPK cadre as a first "deportation",<sup>11405</sup> which was accompanied by fighting.<sup>11406</sup> Cambodians who had previously studied in Vietnam and returned to assist in the revolution were suspected of being enemies by the CPK, rounded up and smashed.<sup>11407</sup>

3384. The Revolutionary Flag subsequently praised the "liberation" of Banam by Khmer Rouge forces in 1973 by stating: "We took everyone in Banam Town, expelling the ethnic Vietnamese, the ethnic Chinese, the military, the police; we took everyone, taking away the people from the enemy".<sup>11408</sup>

3385. KHIEU Samphan described the Khmer Rouge's "preoccupation to have Phnom

---

E3/9378, undated, ERN (En) 00337920-00337921; Phnom Penh Rally Marks 17th April Anniversary (in SWB/FE/5791/B collection), E3/562, 16 April 1978, ERN (En) 00010558; T. 10 February 2015 (Elizabeth BECKER), E1/260.1, pp. 89-90 (describing discussions with Sihanouk when he "kept saying 'swallowing Kampuchea', and DK leaders all said 'swallowing Kampuchea.' So, yes, that was the line."); Report by Richard Dudman on his December 1978 visit to Kampuchea (Richard Dudman, New War in Southeast Asia), E3/3290, ERN (En) 004192707 (describing his visit to Democratic Kampuchea in December 1978 when officials "denounced the Vietnamese continually as did Radio Phnom Penh, as fascist, false communists, aggressors, the Cubans of Asia, country swallows and crocodiles, a most ungrateful animal, which does not recognise as master the person who feeds it."). See also, MAM Nai Interview Record, E3/351, 7 November 2007, p. 26, ERN (En) 00162930 ("The conflict with Vietnam was not after 75 but from the beginning, since the people supported the CPK, since [19]73, because they knew that Vietnam wanted to rule Cambodia, so they attacked the Yuon to drive them out of Cambodia.").

<sup>11404</sup> Section 3: Historical Background, para. 228.

<sup>11405</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 93-94 (Civil Party who joined the Khmer Rouge in 1971 and was a Commune Committee member in Kratie until 1977, stated "Relating to the sending of Vietnamese people back to their country, I learnt about this in 1973. [...] The deportation of Vietnamese to their country took place before the liberation of Phnom Penh.").

<sup>11406</sup> T. 26 January 2016 (PRUM Sarat), E1/382.1, p. 71 ("I knew that there was a deportation of the Vietnamese once in 1973 and there was also fighting in that year.").

<sup>11407</sup> T. 15 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/438.1, pp. 5-8 (explaining that very few cadre from Hanoi remained after 17 April 1975 because they were viewed as having committed offences against the CPK, and that there had been some 1,700 cadre who had been sent to Hanoi for training but when they returned they were instructed by POL Pot to abandon their "Yuon" nationality and become part of the CPK); KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/5772, 6 May 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00209170 (describing how many Cambodians had been taken to Vietnam by SON Ngoc Minh in 1954 for training, before returning to Cambodia in 1970); KAING Guek Eav Interview Record, E3/45, 15 July 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00205158 (recalling that the husbands of two of NUON Chea's nieces, taken to S-21, were "Hanoi trained cadre"); Paper by KAING G. E.: Lessons Learned from the Experiences of the Elders of Former Generations, E3/9362, 2012, pp. 26-27, ERN (En) 00792001-00792002 (further describing the "Hanoi group" being "gradually removed" until, after 6 January 1979, only one was still with the movement). See also, Section 16: Common Purpose, para. 3937.

<sup>11408</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/25, December 1976-January 1977, p. 31, ERN (En) 00491422.

Penh liberated before the liberation of Saigon, in order to prevent Vietnam from attempting to take control of Cambodia”.<sup>11409</sup> Phillip SHORT also suggested that the CPK sought to seize Phnom Penh before North Vietnam could capture Saigon.<sup>11410</sup> Elizabeth BECKER has similarly suggested that “a race had developed between the two communist armies of Vietnam and Cambodia over who would win victory first”.<sup>11411</sup> David CHANDLER however doubted these assessments, concluding that this was a subsequent characterisation of events put forward by the CPK.<sup>11412</sup> Either way, the Chamber has found that tension continued and border clashes took place between Cambodia and Vietnam after April 1975.<sup>11413</sup>

3386. Claiming that it intended to establish contacts in order to strengthen links of friendship with its neighbour,<sup>11414</sup> DK sent a delegation to Hanoi that included POL Pot and NUON Chea in June 1975 to discuss the border clashes with the SRV’s leader NGUYEN Van Linh.<sup>11415</sup> LE Duan, General Secretary of the Communist Party of Vietnam, subsequently led a delegation to visit Cambodia in early August 1975.<sup>11416</sup>

<sup>11409</sup> Book by Khieu S.: Cambodia’s Recent History and the Reasons behind the Decisions I Made, E3/18, p. 51, ERN (En) 00103748. See also, Section 3: Historical Background, para. 230.

<sup>11410</sup> T. 7 May 2015 (Philip SHORT), E1/298.1, pp. 101-102.

<sup>11411</sup> Book by E. Becker: When the War Was Over, E3/20, p. 347, ERN (En) 00238060.

<sup>11412</sup> T. 25 July 2012 (David CHANDLER), E1/96.1, p. 7 (rejecting the idea of a “race” and testifying that there is no evidence to suggest that the Vietnamese thought they had lost by occupying Saigon two weeks after the Khmer Rouge took Phnom Penh).

<sup>11413</sup> Section 4: General Overview, paras 281-293. See below, para. 3387.

<sup>11414</sup> Hong Kong Journalists Cite Field Commander on SRV Attacks: Pol Pot Interview Reported (in FBIS collection), E3/76, 25 September 1978, ERN (En) 00170433 (“After liberation [...] We have tried to establish contacts with neighbouring countries in order to strengthen the links of friendship so that we can live in peace as neighbour. For this reason, in June 1975, a high level CPK delegation paid a visit to Hanoi.”).

<sup>11415</sup> DK Statement, E3/1393, 31 December 1977, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00713105-00713106; DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Black Paper, E3/266, September 1978, pp. 74-75, ERN (En) 00082550; SRV Foreign Languages Publishing House Hanoi, The Vietnam-Kampuchea Conflict, E3/2371, 1979, pp 19-20, ERN (En) 00187338-00187339; US Committee on International Relations, Vietnam-Cambodia Conflict, E3/2370, 4 October 1978, p. 8, ERN (En) 00187387; Australia Embassy Telegram, Subject: DRV-Cambodia, E3/9723, 20 August 1975, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01186943-01186944. See also, Standing Committee Minutes, E3/217, 11 March 1976, ERN (En) 00182635-00182636 (referring in general terms to a meeting in June 1975 during which the attempt to discuss “the problem of the eastern border” was ignored by the Vietnamese).

<sup>11416</sup> US Committee on International Relations, Vietnam-Cambodia Conflict, E3/2370, 4 October 1978, p. 8, ERN (En) 00187387; Australia Embassy Telegram, Subject: DRV-Cambodia, E3/9723, 20 August 1975, p. 1, ERN (En) 01186943; Communique Issued on Le Duan Friendship Visit (in FBIS collection), E3/119, 4 August 1975, ERN (En) 00167354; T. 27 April 2016 (Accused NUON Chea), E1/423.1, p. 3. See also, Book by N. Chanda: Brother Enemy: The War after the War, E3/2376, pp. 14-15, ERN (En) 00192199-00192200; Book by P. Short: Pol Pot: The History of a Nightmare, E3/9, p. 298, ERN (En) 00396506. See also, SRV Foreign Ministry Press Conference (in SWB/FE/5785/C collection), E3/2300, ERN (En) S00010501 (mentioning that, during the visit of the Cambodian delegation in June 1975, this last suggested the conclusion of treaty of friendship between the two countries encompassing economic exchanges trade, the movement of the two populations across the border for their livelihood the question

From 30 August 1975 to 4 September 1975, KHIEU Samphan and NORODOM Sihanouk both travelled to North Vietnam to attend the 30th anniversary celebrations of the commencement of the Vietnamese independence movement.<sup>11417</sup> The Chamber has found that these visits and meetings coincided with the start of a period when Vietnamese were sent back to Vietnam and Khmer Krom persons arrived in Cambodia, with some participation from Vietnamese authorities.<sup>11418</sup> Further meetings were held between various delegations of the two countries in the first half of 1976.<sup>11419</sup>

3387. The CPK's antipathy toward foreigners, and in particular the Vietnamese,<sup>11420</sup> was further reflected during the first anniversary speech in 1976:

The second result of national revolution: Our people are called the 'Kampuchean people'. However, there were many foreigners, hundreds of thousands, and one type of foreigner [...] was very strongly poisonous and dangerous to our people. These people have what is called a poisonous composition since they came to wolf us down, came to nibble at us, came to swallow us, came to confiscate and take away everything, and came to endanger our nation and our people, and they have caused us to lose much territory in the past. [...] However, our revolution, in particular on 17 April 1975, sorted this issue out cleanly and sorted it out entirely. We assume that we sorted it out permanently. [...] The great typhoon of our democratic revolution swept hundreds of thousands of these foreigners clean and expelled them from our country, for them permanently out of our territory.<sup>11421</sup>

3388. The Chamber concurs with Expert Alexander HINTON that, within the broader of national frontiers and other matters but the Cambodian side did not request immediate negotiations on the settlement of the border question).

---

<sup>11417</sup> Editorial Hails DRV Anniversaries (in FBIS collection), E3/271, 3 September 1975, ERN (En) 00167422-001674223.

<sup>11418</sup> See below, paras 3429-3440. See also, Section 10.1: Tram Kak Cooperatives, paras 1119-1125.

<sup>11419</sup> See e.g., DK Telegram, E3/1018, 7 January 1976, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00434874-00434875 (reporting by Pet to POL Pot, NUON Chea, and IENG Sary among others on the results of the meeting between the delegations of the Military region 5 of Vietnam and the Northeast Zone Military of Cambodia. Among other things it was agreed that "[f]or the Cambodian people who crossed the border into Vietnam, the Vietnam side has agreed to report them to the Command Committee of the Military Region 5 and give the Cambodian cadres access to educate them and take those people back to Cambodia. If these people do not agree to return, they can be kept there for the time being. For the Vietnamese people in Soam village, who were evacuated by the Cambodian Defense Forces: In order to solve the border problem, the Cambodian delegation has agreed to do the same by reporting them to the committee of the Vietnamese Military Region. And when we give them back [to the Vietnamese authority], the Cambodian side will make a reasonable consideration on their property.").

<sup>11420</sup> See e.g., Section 3: Historical Background, paras 202, 204, 209, 226-229. See also, Book by P. Short: Pol Pot: The History of a Nightmare, E3/9, p. 250, ERN (En) 00396450 (noting that 1973 was a turning point for the treatment of the Vietnamese by the Khmer Rouge: "At political training seminars, cadres began for the first time to speak of 'those with Khmer bodies and Vietnamese minds'").

<sup>11421</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/759, April 1976, ERN (En) 00517853-00517854 (emphasis added).

historical context, this text refers to ethnic Vietnamese who were living in Cambodia at the time and that the message was one of “purification” of ethnic Vietnamese, which was based on a “long-standing animosity and vitriol towards ethnic Vietnamese in Cambodia that was mobilized almost from the start” and intensified with the escalation of the armed conflict with Vietnam.<sup>11422</sup> In this regard, the Chamber notes the reference to the people who “have caused us to lose much territory in the past”, which points to the loss of Kampuchea Krom, associated with phrases such as “poisonous composition” or “people [who] came to swallow us” which were commonly used in CPK rhetoric designating the Vietnamese.<sup>11423</sup> The Chamber further notes that SAO Sarun testified <sup>11422</sup> T. 15 March 2016 (Alexander HINTON), E1/402.1, pp. 13-14. See also, Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3775.

<sup>11423</sup> Concerning the association of the words “poisonous” or “swallow” with Vietnamese, see e.g., Revolutionary Youth, E3/726, January-February 1978, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00278712-00278713 (“But all of their [the Yuon] black and poisonous actions were subsequently attacked and broken, attacked and eliminated, attacked and smashed, and humiliatingly defeated and dissolved by our heroic Revolutionary Army and the people of Kampuchea under the correct and enlightened leadership of our Communist Party of Kampuchea” [emphasis added]), 26, ERN (En) 00278733 (“We, the Revolutionary Youth, determine to unite with one another in views, stances, in concrete implementation, raising our spirit higher to continue attacking and eliminating the various black poisonous manoeuvres and activities of the aggressor expansionist territory swallowing Yuon enemy and to absolutely defeat them in every circumstance.” [emphasis added]); Revolutionary Youth, E3/765, October 1978, pp. 25, ERN (En) 00540000 (“Along with the abovementioned great victories the combatants of our Revolutionary Army clearly grasp tightly in their hands the true nature, the deceitful and tricky nature and the dark poisonous maneuvers [sic] of the expansionist territory-swallowing Yuon aggressor enemy, and not the least little thing about them remains vague.” [emphasis added]), 29, ERN (En) 00540004 (“We [the combatants of the Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea] have broken the military theories of the poisonous obscene enemy the big country theory of wanting to swallow up Kampuchea and in particular the Indochina Federation.” [emphasis added]); Revolutionary Flag, E3/215, September 1978, p. 6, ERN (En) 00488619 (“Inside the country we had to fight both the American imperialists, Thieu-Ky, the contemptible Nol and the Yuon whose poisonous maneuvers [sic] intended to kill us behind our back in order to take our territory.” [emphasis added]); Revolutionary Flag, E3/774, March-April 1978, p. 7, ERN (En) 00529424 (“We see the reasoning the importance and the necessity of the Kampuchean people and the revolutionary youth continuing to wage socialist revolution strongly and profoundly, and in particular at the present time when the greedy expansionist territory swallowing Yuon enemy continues to routinely carry out activities to pound at and penetrate our borders and continues to busily make dark poisonous maneuvers [sic] both overt and covert in terms of military and politics and espionage and sabotage and so on to attempt to invade our Kampuchean territory again in order to achieve their Indochina Federation strategy to take Democratic Kampuchea and turn our Kampuchean people into their slaves forever.” [emphasis added]); DK Minutes of Negotiation between the commerce delegations of the DK and China, E3/829, 3 December 1978, E3/829, p. 1, ERN (En) 00756519 (As for the eastern border the Yuon is having the intention to swallow our territory and exterminate the Kampuchean race by attacking us continuously); DK Document, [Committee 870] Declaration of Constant and Absolute Fight against the Invading and Land Swallowing Yuon, E3/780, 1 January 1979, pp. 2, ERN (En) 00721189 (“The Communist Party of Kampuchea CPK the entire people the Kampuchean Revolutionary Army male and female combatants and cadres of all offices and ministries must: 1. Strengthen and expand the stance of constant and absolute fight against the Yuon enemy who is invading and swallowing Kampuchean land and attempting to exterminate Kampuchean race. All activities must be based on a common and absolute stance of attacking the Yuon enemy. [...] 4. Absolutely rely on the forces of the masses and people to attack the invading and land-swallowing Yuon enemy.” [emphasis added]), 3, ERN (En) 00721190 (“As our history of glorious struggle has shown, our nation and people struggled and opposed the Yuon’s strategy to invade and swallow Kampuchean land in line with its Indochina Federation plan. During the past 48 years the Yuon has employed its Kampuchean land swallowing strategy of all sorts hot, cold, secretive, in court that 10 to 12 days after 17 April 1975, he attended a meeting in Phnom Penh where both POL Pot and NUON Chea made presentations concerning the political situation after the liberation.<sup>11424</sup> SAO Sarun confirmed in court a previous statement he made before OCIJ investigators that he heard POL Pot saying, among other things, that all of the Yuon were being driven out from Cambodia.<sup>11425</sup> He further stated that, later on, he heard his lower-level cadres saying that trucks transported the Vietnamese from the provinces of Kampong Cham and Kratie back to their country.<sup>11426</sup> The Chamber recalls that it accords no weight to SAO Sarun's testimony insofar as it relates to assertions uncorroborated by other witnesses or other relevant and reliable evidence before the Chamber.<sup>11427</sup> The Chamber has accepted elsewhere in this Judgement that this meeting was held.<sup>11428</sup> In light of the overall evidence, the Chamber deems SAO Sarun's account plausible but, in the absence of relevant and reliable corroborative evidence, the Chamber cannot establish beyond reasonable doubt that the expulsion of Vietnamese was indeed discussed during this event.<sup>11429</sup>

3389. The Chamber recalls that hostilities with Vietnam commenced in, and continued after, 1975.<sup>11430</sup> Contemporaneous documents show that the CPK leadership continuously identified the Vietnamese as "enemies" – especially from May 1976<sup>11431</sup> with the arrest of CHAN Chakrei and the subsequent purges<sup>11432</sup> – a position which was open, subversive, coup d'état intimidation, persecution, endless invasion etc in its attempt to achieve its mass criminal strategy." [emphasis added]).

---

<sup>11424</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 31-35, 42-43; SAO Sarun Interview Record, E3/384, 30 June 2009, p. 5, ERN (En) 00348375; CHEA Sim Interview by Ben KIERNAN, E3/5593, 3 December 1991, ERN (En) 00651867 ("Pol Pot spoke a lot about the question of Vietnam. He stressed the importance of the issue of evacuating all of the Vietnamese people out of Cambodian territory.").

<sup>11425</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 42-43 referring to SAO Sarun Interview Record, E3/384, ERN (En) 00348375.

<sup>11426</sup> T. 6 June 2012 (SAO Sarun), E1/82.1, pp. 37-38, 42-43.

<sup>11427</sup> Section 12.5: Phnom Kraol Security Centre, para. 3039.

<sup>11428</sup> Section 16: Common Purpose, para. 3736.

<sup>11429</sup> The Chamber notes that the only corroborative evidence available is composed of inculpatory statements that the Accused could not challenge in court and therefore bears very low probative value. See Book by B. Kiernan: The Pol Pot Regime: Race Power and Genocide in Cambodia under the Khmer Rouge 1975-79, E3/1593, pp. 55-56, ERN (En) 01150024-01150025, 58, ERN (En) 01150026; HENG Samrin Interview by Ben KIERNAN, E3/1568, 2 December 1991, ERN (En) 00651884-00651885; OUK Bunchhoeun Interview by Stephen HEDER, E3/387, undated; p. 9, ERN (En) 00350208; MATH Ly DC-Cam Interview, E3/7821, 27 March 2000, ERN (En) 00441580. The Chamber further notes that two witnesses testified in court that the Vietnamese were not discussed at this event. See T. 19 January 2016 (PRAK Yut), E1/378.1, p. 75; T. 11 December 2012 (PHAN Van alias KHAM Phan), E1/151.1, pp. 94-95 confirming PHAN Van Interview Record, E3/57, 10 March 2009, p. 4, ERN (En) 00287706. See also, Section 16: Common Purpose, para. 3736.

<sup>11430</sup> Section 4: General Overview, paras 282-293.

<sup>11431</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3775.

<sup>11432</sup> Section 12.2: S-21 Security Centre, para. 2271.

fully consolidated by October 1976.<sup>11433</sup> At this time, SON Sen indicated that the “revisionist” Vietnamese had been trying to attack DK internally and externally and that, in response, the Party had “even expelled the Vietnamese from our territory”. He added that although the Party had “basically smashed the traitors”, Vietnam was persisting in leading “remnants” to continue their activities inside Cambodia.<sup>11434</sup> In December 1976, SON Sen emphasised that Vietnamese revisionists were still active but had been scattered, noting that dangerous elements required screening and particular caution of those whose family members had been purged was imperative.<sup>11435</sup>

3390. The Chamber heard testimony from a number of witnesses who indicated that, from 1976 through 1978, POL Pot, NUON Chea, KHIEU Samphan and other senior CPK leaders lectured at or attended political training sessions at which the Vietnamese or Vietnamese “agents” were labelled as enemies.<sup>11436</sup> Witness EK Hen, who was a worker in a garment unit under the authority of Office 870, testified that she attended, together with 400 to 500 participants, a training session conducted by KHIEU Samphan, where he explained that “Khmer had to be united and Khmer shall be free of

<sup>11433</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3793.

<sup>11434</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3794.

<sup>11435</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3797.

<sup>11436</sup> T. 3 May 2012 (PEAN Khean), E1/72.1, p. 25 (Pang lectured on enemies as those “who were [...] agents of the Vietnamese – the ‘Yvon’”); T. 17 May 2012 (PEAN Khean), E1/73.1, pp. 20-22, 24 (meetings at Borei Keila at which Pang instructed were attended by NUON Chea and KHIEU Samphan); T. 20 June 2012 (YUN Kim), E1/89.1, p. 78 (NUON Chea lectured in Dar commune, Kratie, about the enemy situation where participants “were told that there were American enemies and the Vietnamese and the internal enemies.”); T. 27 August 2012 (EM Oeun), E1/115.1, pp. 26-28, 44-45 (POL Pot, NUON Chea, KHIEU Samphan, HU Nim and YUN Yat attended political training sessions at Borei Keila where NUON Chea discussed spy networks including “Yvon agent[s]” or “Aggressive Yvon agent[s]”); T. 16 September 2016 (MOM Vun), E1/475.1, pp. 63, 71 (at a meeting attended by NUON Chea, KHIEU Samphan and IENG Sary at Mount Kulen in 1976, NUON Chea stated that “the enemy of the revolution were the ‘Yvon’”); T. 10 November 2016 (OU Dav), E1/498.1, pp. 93-94 (at a meeting attended by SON Sen, Ta Mok and NUON Chea at Borei Keila in 1976, NUON Chea stated that “contemptible ‘Yvon’ enemies do not abandon their ambitions to annex our Democratic Kampuchea into [the] Indochina Federation. They continuously brought a number of divisions in and they sent spy agents in order to invade our Democratic Kampuchea territory. [...] We absolutely [must] prevent the Yvon enemies to invade our country.”); T. 28 November 2016 (BEIT Boeurn alias BIT Na), E1/502.1, pp. 22-23, 25, 28 (affirming BIT Na DC-Cam Interview, E3/5647, 7 December 2002, p. 17, ERN (En) 00640152 (witness attended study sessions at which POL Pot, NUON Chea and KHIEU Samphan lectured and at which POL Pot discussed the Vietnamese, among others, as enemies and instructed cadre to “search for the enemy embedded within our revolutions”). See also, T. 3 July 2013 (EK Hen), E1/217.1, pp. 45, 47 (at a meeting in 1978 at Borei Keila, KHIEU Samphan stated that Pang had been arrested “because he was a traitor collaborating with the ‘Yvon’”); Section 7: Roles and Functions – NUON Chea, para. 542; Section 8: Roles and Functions – KHIEU Samphan, para. 607. See also, Section 12.2: S-21 Security Centre, paras 2167-2168, 2174-2175.

Vietnamese or Yuon".<sup>11437</sup>

3391. IENG Sary's diary heralded 1976 as a key year, indicating that "enemies are now weakening and are going to die. The revolution has pulled out their roots".<sup>11438</sup> Vietnamese and other enemies still abounded "among the military, the workers, in the co-operatives and even in our ranks". According to IENG Sary, implementing "Socialist Revolution deeply and strongly" meant that "these enemies must be progressively wiped out as soon as possible".<sup>11439</sup> As a result of Vietnamese and other attempts to "sabotage" the revolution, SON Sen declared that the defence of the country from such elements would be the priority from 1977.<sup>11440</sup>

3392. The April 1977 issue of the Revolutionary Flag reinforced this position to the Party faithful. Decrying "enemies that are 'CIA', 'KGB' and 'Yuon' agents", the commentary insisted that they were:

[S]neakily embedded inside our revolution and our revolutionary ranks, they are in a state of extreme loss of mastery because their major and intermediate apparatuses have fundamentally been smashed and the forces that remain have been fundamentally scattered, like rats being hit and falling from their nests into the water and being chased and struck by the people and annihilated. We must continue to strike them and trample them from our position of absolute advantage and must constantly be on the offensive against them during 1977 to smash them even more so they cannot raise their heads.<sup>11441</sup>

3393. The same month, at a mass meeting celebrating the second anniversary of the CPK's victory, KHIEU Samphan is reported as declaring that:

[W]e must carry on the task of defending our Democratic Cambodia, protecting our worker peasant administration and preserving the fruits of our Cambodian revolution by resolutely suppressing all categories

<sup>11437</sup> T. 3 July 2013 (EK Hen), E1/217.1, pp. 40, 42, 47. The Chamber notes that EK Hen testified that there were "only Cambodians and no Yuons" in the country at the time, The Chamber also recalls that this training occurred after Pang was denounced (he was arrested in or about April 1978). See also, Transcript of NEOU Sarem's Interview by VOA Khmer Service, E3/6934, pp. 7, 11, 113, ERN (En) 01003407, 01003411, 01003513 (NEOU Sarem returned from France to Cambodia at the beginning of 1976. Upon her arrival, she attended training sessions at the Khmer Soviet Institute in Phnom Penh together with other returnees. KHIEU Samphan came to teach them and told them "that all people in Kampuchea had to do farming. Those who did not know how to do farming, especially the Vietnamese would be sent back to Vietnam. So the Khmer Rouge had prepared a plan to send the Vietnamese back to Vietnam.").

<sup>11438</sup> IENG Sary's Diary, E3/925, published January 1997, ERN (En) 00003331.

<sup>11439</sup> IENG Sary's Diary, E3/925, published January 1997, ERN (En) 00003331; Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3803.

<sup>11440</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3804.

<sup>11441</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/742, April 1977, ERN (En) 00478496.

of enemies, preventing them from committing aggression, interference or subversion against us. We must wipe out the enemy in our capacity as masters of the situation, following the lines of domestic policy, foreign policy and military policy of our revolutionary organisation. Everything must be done neatly and thoroughly.<sup>11442</sup>

3394. In view of the escalating military conflict with Vietnam, the Party's intensified resolve to defend the revolution and country against perceived revisionist enemies including the Vietnamese, and the CPK's developing stance on Vietnam as "aggressors", "expansionists" and "annexationists" (which would continue throughout the DK period),<sup>11443</sup> the Chamber is satisfied that references to "all categories of enemies" in the above speech indeed included references to Vietnam as the "hereditary enemy".

3395. The August 1977 edition of the Revolutionary Flag reports on the West Zone Cadre Conference, held in Chbar Mon district in Kampong Speu on 25 July 1977. A speech attributed to the "Party Organisation Representative" instructs that "the 1977 plans" require "attacking and cleansing out the enemy".<sup>11444</sup> According to the presentation, the task of fighting the enemy was not only one for the army, but also for "the people armed with weapons [...] the poor peasant people and the lower-middle peasant people" who could "defend the rear battlefield [...] [w]ith their bare hands" or with "knives and machetes".<sup>11445</sup> The "Yuon" are identified as the "enemies that embed themselves within us, when they threaten us" immediately thereafter,<sup>11446</sup> with a warning issued to "not forget how the enemy makes propaganda. Do not forget how they mislead us."<sup>11447</sup> Witness MEAS Voeun, who was the Deputy Commander of Division 1 stationed at Koh Kong and who attended the Zone Conference, testified that the purpose of the conference was to instil consciousness of Yuon "tricks": "they wanted to search out the infiltrated enemies that were within the army or cooperatives. That <sup>11442</sup> Khieu Samphan's Speech at Anniversary Meeting (in SWB/FE/5490/C collection), E3/200, 15 April 1977, ERN (En) S00004165, S00004164 (in the same speech KHIEU Samphan stated that "In the field of defending Democratic Cambodia protecting our worker peasant administration and preserving our Cambodian revolutionary fruits, we were able to do so completely exercising mastery and without complications or worries since our army with the co-operation of our union workers co-operative peasants and various bases had allowed no enemy to infiltrate our territory or territorial waters or to sabotage our Cambodian revolution whether from outside or from within.").

<sup>11443</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, paras 3807, 3816, 3818-3819, 3821, 3823, 3833, 3853.

<sup>11444</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/193, August 1977, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00399222-00399223.

<sup>11445</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/193, August 1977, p. 22, ERN (En) 00399242.

<sup>11446</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/193, August 1977, p. 22, ERN (En) 00399242.

<sup>11447</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/193, August 1977, p. 23, ERN (En) 00399243.

was their purpose.”<sup>11448</sup>

3396. A notable change occurred in the CPK rhetoric against the Vietnamese when, in December 1977, the Vietnamese army made important incursions into Cambodian territory. So far, the existence of the international armed conflict between Democratic Kampuchea and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam was not officially recognised, but on 31 December 1977 the DK Government issued a statement condemning the Vietnamese “aggression” and severing diplomatic ties between the two States.<sup>11449</sup> The Chamber notes that, from that date, references to the “Yuon” as the enemy of DK were made very openly, in particular in statements aimed to reach a large public as detailed below.

3397. On 3 January 1978, the “Committee 870” issued instructions mandating the use of conventional and guerrilla warfare tactics against the “invading Yuon enemy and territory swallower”.<sup>11450</sup> In addition to inciting the “killing”, “wounding”, “destruction”, “crushing” and “smashing” of the enemy’s forces, the directive also underscores the necessity of ideological tactics to “constantly stir up national and class anger among the people toward the Yuon enemy invader in order to turn such anger into material anger”. After instructing the distribution of the directive to all Zone, Sector and District Party Committees, as well as to every level of the military “in each target area for them to absorb again and again”, the directive emphatically concludes with the instruction to: “Implement the Party’s military line, the line of people’s war and guerrilla war very well: the Yuon invader will definitely leave piles of their bones on our soil”.<sup>11451</sup> The Chamber notes that, read in context with the ongoing armed conflict, these instruction refer primarily to Vietnamese armed forces. A DK media report broadcast on 4 January 1978 reported that the three RAK branches and “all the

<sup>11448</sup> T. 2 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/386.1, p. 71.

<sup>11449</sup> US Congressional Report, Vietnam-Cambodia Conflict, E3/2370, 4 October 1978 p. 9, ERN (En) 00187388; Revolutionary Army Adopts Resolutions on SRV Dispute (in FBIS collection), E3/1285, 5 January 1978, ERN (En) 00169538-00169539.

<sup>11450</sup> DK Document, Instructions of Office 870, E3/741, 3 January 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00296003.

<sup>11451</sup> DK Document, Instructions of Office 870, E3/741, 3 January 1978, pp. 1-3, 5-7, ERN (En) 00296003-00296005, 00296007-00296009 (“This direction shall be distributed and studied in the Zone, Sector and District Party Committees, in the cooperative committees, in the battlefield committees, division committees, regiments, battalions, companies, platoons, squads, combatants and the command committees in each target area for them to absorb again and again to constantly draw experience, and to constantly improve implementation according to experience of right and wrong.”). See also, Extracts from a Number of Documents from Office 870 (copied by C.E. Goscha), E3/10685, undated, ERN (En) 01320890.

Cambodian people throughout the country” had held a meeting to express their “seething anger and indignation at the annexationist Vietnamese enemy”.<sup>11452</sup> As discussed earlier in this Judgement, on 6 January 1978, Vietnamese forces withdrew from the East Zone and shortly after, POL Pot visited the East Zone and held a public meeting at Wat Taung, Suong district, during which he outlined CPK policy that every Cambodian should kill at least 30 Vietnamese.<sup>11453</sup> 3398. On 24 February 1978, after the Vietnamese armed forces had withdrawn from Cambodian territory, an unidentified Phnom Penh broadcaster reported on the support Cambodia was receiving in its “SRV dispute” and called for the all the Vietnamese aggressors to be “exterminated from Cambodia”.<sup>11454</sup> On 10 April 1978, an unidentified Phnom Penh broadcaster publicly delineated the distinction between “patriots” (which included the Party, RAK, worker-peasant class, collective system of the proletariat and cooperatives) and “enemies” (including “imperialist aggressors and lackeys of all stripes”, those intending to “swallow” the country and “the expansionist, annexationist Vietnamese enemy”). The broadcast stressed that “efforts to weed out and exterminate the enemy planted within” were only possible by harbouring “seething hatred for the enemy”.<sup>11455</sup> The Chamber finds that the form and substance of the broadcast text mirrors other CPK rhetoric and concludes that it was in fact issued by the Party Centre. Read in context and considering the Vietnamese armed forces withdrawal at the time, the Chamber finds that these calls targeted both Vietnamese soldiers and Vietnamese civilians.

3399. At a mass meeting held on 15 April 1978 in Phnom Penh and celebrating the third anniversary of the CPK’s victory, on behalf of the CPK, KHIEU Samphan pledged:

(4) To expel resolutely from Cambodian territory and destroy forever all the expansionist, annexationist Vietnamese aggressors;

(5) To exterminate resolutely all agents of the expansionist, annexationist Vietnamese aggressors from our units and from Cambodian territory forever;

<sup>11452</sup> Revolutionary Army Adopts Resolutions on SRV Dispute (in FBIS collection), E3/1285, 5 January 1978, ERN (En) 00169538.

<sup>11453</sup> See above, paras 3379, 3402. See also, Section 4: General Overview, para. 290.

<sup>11454</sup> Various Marxist-Leninist Groups Offer Support in SRV Dispute: Italian, French Papers (in FBIS collection), E3/292, 24 February 1978, ERN (En) 00169281.

<sup>11455</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3281.

[...]

(9) [...] [T]o exterminate the enemies of all stripes, particularly the expansionist, annexationist Vietnamese enemy, in order to preserve the nation and the Cambodian race forever;

(10) To hold extremely high and keep extremely seething the national spirit of revolutionary vigilance in order to be ready beforehand to deal with all poisonous manoeuvres of the enemy.<sup>11456</sup>

Read in context and noting the explicit reference to the preservation of the “Cambodian race”, the Chamber finds that this speech targeted all Vietnamese people indiscriminately.

3400. KHIEU Samphan reiterated the Party line in a speech delivered a day later, on 17 April 1978:

Our people have relentlessly fought to defend the country against imperialists, expansionists, annexationists and reactionary forces of all sorts to lead the socialist revolution and boost production. In particular, the fight against Vietnam the aggressor that wants to grab and annex our territory further, raised the political awareness and patriotism of our people and again stirred up their national hatred and class hatred. Consequently, our people’s political and ideological awareness was further developed.<sup>11457</sup>

Read in context and noting the explicit reference to the “national hatred”, the Chamber finds that this speech targeted all Vietnamese people indiscriminately.

3401. In his book “War and Hope”, NORODOM Sihanouk wrote that while he was trying to understand, according to his words, the reasons “of the Khmer Rouge’s senselessly dangerous provocation of Vietnam”:

KHIEU Samphan [...] unabashedly told me that ‘to unite our compatriots through the party, to bring our workers up to their highest level of productivity, and to make the yotheas’ [Khmer Rouge soldiers] ardor and valor in combat even greater, the best thing we could do was incite them to hate the Yuons more and more every day’. [...] Our bang-phaaun (literally, older and younger brothers and sisters) are willing to make any sacrifice the minute we wave the ‘Hate Vietnam’ flag in front of them”.<sup>11458</sup>

<sup>11456</sup> Phnom Penh Rally Marks 17th April Anniversary (in SWB/FE/5791/B collection), E3/562, 16 April 1978, ERN (En) S00010563. See also, Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3823.

<sup>11457</sup> KHIEU Samphan Speech at Anniversary Meeting, E3/169, 17 April 1978, p. 8, ERN (En) 00280396 (emphasis added).

<sup>11458</sup> Book by Sihanouk NORODOM, E3/1819, War and Hope, ERN (En) 00349591. See also, Book by N. Chanda, Brother Enemy, E3/2376, p. 298, ERN (En) 00192483.

While the defence did not have the opportunity to test in court the statements made by the late King Father NORODOM Sihanouk in his book, which diminishes the weight to be accorded to them, the Chamber finds that they are consistent and corroborate other evidence of CPK leaders inciting hatred of the Vietnamese among the Cambodian population.

3402. In the “One against 30” speech which was also delivered on 17 April 1978,<sup>11459</sup> POL Pot declared Vietnam to be an existential threat to DK and reinforced the Party’s “determination to fight and smash large numbers of the enemy’s life forces and to protect our forces to the maximum”. According to POL Pot, the Party “slogan” was now to “smash many of the others”.<sup>11460</sup> The Chamber accepts that POL Pot’s April 1978 speech stating the CPK’s “One against 30” policy primarily relates to soldiers and served to “stir up the fighting spirits of cadres and combatants to be ready in battlefields”.<sup>11461</sup> However, PRUM Sarat acknowledged that this statement “was like a road map”,<sup>11462</sup> and POL Pot explicitly extended the purpose of the policy by adding that it was not limited to the army, stressing that the entire Party and “the entire people [to] absorb this line and view and stance”.<sup>11463</sup> More importantly, the “One against 30” policy expressly encompassed the total populations of both countries, with POL Pot referring throughout his statement to 50,000,000 (total population of Vietnam) against 8,000,000 (total population of Cambodia),<sup>11464</sup> thus including both combatants and civilians in such policy. POL Pot even notes that applying this line, they only needed 2,000,000 Cambodian to “fight and mash 50,000,000 Yuon”.<sup>11465</sup> The “One against 30 policy” was subsequently broadcast on 10 May 1978 and references to the entire populations of both countries were reiterated.<sup>11466</sup> Therefore, the Chamber finds that this call was directed against the ethnic Vietnamese population as a whole, not just SRV

<sup>11459</sup> The Chamber notes that this policy was voiced as early as January 1978. See Section 4: General Overview, para. 290.

<sup>11460</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3824. Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00519833-00519834.

<sup>11461</sup> T. 26 January 2016 (PRUM Sarat), E1/382.1, p. 70; Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, pp. 4-6, ERN (En) 00519832-00519834.

<sup>11462</sup> T. 26 January 2016 (PRUM Sarat), E1/382.1, p. 70.

<sup>11463</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, p. 6, ERN (En) 00519834.

<sup>11464</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, pp. 5-6, 8-9, 24, ERN (En) 00519833, 00519834, 00519836, 00519837, 00519852.

<sup>11465</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, p. 6, ERN (En) 00519834.

<sup>11466</sup> Past Year’s National Defence Efforts Reviewed (in FBIS collection), E3/1362, 10 May 1978, ERN (En) 00170014-00170016. See also, Cambodia’s Strategy of Defence against Vietnam (in SWB/FE/5813/A3 collection), 10 May 1978, ERN (En) 00003960-00003962.

military forces.

3403. The May-June 1978 issue of the Revolutionary Flag described the “Yuon [as] the most noxious and acute” of enemies, describing the “life-and-death contradiction” that existed between DK and Vietnam.<sup>11467</sup> The July 1978 edition struck a more emphatic tone, exclaiming:

The national duty of all of us is to struggle to fight to eliminate our aggressive, expansionist, territory-swallowing and genocidal Yuon enemy. Just like the Kampuchean of our current generation, absolutely no Kampuchean of any subsequent generation will lay down arms and stop fighting the aggressive and expansionist/territory-swallowing and genocidal Yuon enemy of the Kampuchean race.<sup>11468</sup>

3404. The NUON Chea Defence submits that in 1978, contrary to targeting the Vietnamese, the DK called for friendship, peace and forgiveness with Vietnamese people.<sup>11469</sup> It refers to a number of documents in support of this view: a March Telex message,<sup>11470</sup> a July press communiqué,<sup>11471</sup> and the September issue of the Revolutionary Flag,<sup>11472</sup> all claiming that a friendship between the two countries could be established when Vietnam ceases its aggression. It further refers to the June 1978 Central Committee Guidance towards “Misled Persons who have joined the CIA, served as Yuon Agents or joined the KGB and opposed the Party, Revolution, People and Democratic Kampuchea”.<sup>11473</sup> No other Party made any submission in this regard. The Chamber notes that this submission contradicts the NUON Chea Defence’s position that Vietnam posed an existential threat that justified the targeting of the

<sup>11467</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/727, May-June 1978, p. 12, ERN (En) 00185333.

<sup>11468</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/746, July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00428289.

<sup>11469</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 754, 768-769.

<sup>11470</sup> Sweden-Kampuchea Friendship Association Telex Message, E3/1149, 4 March 1978, p. 5, ERN (En) 00717588 (“In actual fact the conflict between Kampuchea and Vietnam is neither a mere border issue nor a dispute over one or two pieces of land. It is rooted in Vietnam’s ambitions to spread its wings all across Indochina and South East Asia an, ambition that it is adamantly holding on to. Since the problem is born of Vietnamese aggression it cannot be resolved until Vietnam ceases the aggression. Vietnam must actually cease the cross-border incursions, machine gun attacks, bombardments, subversion and espionage activity; it must cease amassing its troops all along the border in a bid to surround Kampuchea from all sides; it must forsake its ambitions to establish an “Indochinese Federation” and one people and one party within the Indochinese Federation If Vietnam does this the dispute between Kampuchea and Vietnam will be a thing of the past and friendship between the two countries will germinate take root and grow Kampuchea is only seeking sincerity.”).

<sup>11471</sup> DK Press Communiqué, E3/1264, 1 July 1978, ERN (En) 00078180-00078182 (referring to Vietnam in inflammatory terms such as “Vietnam aggressor, annexationist and swallower of territories.”).

<sup>11472</sup> Revolutionary Flag, September 1978, E3/215, p. 5, 13, ERN (En) 00488618.

<sup>11473</sup> Central Committee’s Guidance on Misled Persons, E3/763, 20 June 1978, ERN (En) 00265217-00265219 (referring to Vietnam as a “Yuon aggressor who swallows of [sic] the territory”).

Vietnamese.<sup>11474</sup> Concerning the June 1978 Central Committee Guidance, although persons who ceased their “traitorous activity” were nominally subject to re-education under this policy, the Chamber finds that, while it was nominally applicable to those who inter alia were “serving as Yuon (Vietnamese) agents”, it is unclear whether this category extended beyond Khmer people who colluded with Vietnam to encompass people who were ethnic Vietnamese themselves.<sup>11475</sup> However, according to an annotation in an S-21 notebook, the “foreigners, the Yuon” were excluded from the line of alleged “compassion to the people”.<sup>11476</sup> Considering the inflammatory vocabulary used to describe Vietnam, Vietnamese and/or their actions in the documents partially cited by the NUON Chea Defence and in light of the otherwise consistent evidence, the Chamber finds that these isolated documents which purportedly called for friendship with Vietnam do not raise a reasonable doubt with respect to the targeting of the Vietnamese throughout the DK period.

3405. Notes in MAM Nai’s S-21 notebook from April 1978 record that the principle designated by the Party against the Yuon is “One against 30”.<sup>11477</sup> Further entries by S-21 cadres in the Combined S-21 Notebook throughout 1978 reveal that Vietnamese prisoners who had been isolated at the Security Centre in Phnom Penh were singled out for separate treatment. One entry notes that “[o]n 17 January 1978, Brother Party Secretary [i.e. POL Pot] said that if we hit their legs the Yuon can still crawl, if we hit their arms they can still walk”.<sup>11478</sup> An entry dated 18 July 1978 records the search for hiding Vietnamese as one of the “principles set out by the Party”. It also notes that “Maximum victory = Finding the Yuon” and “Minimum victory = Finding additional

<sup>11474</sup> See above, paras 3367, 3377.

<sup>11475</sup> Central Committee’s Guidance on Mised Persons, E3/763, 20 June 1978, ERN (En) 00265217. As discussed elsewhere in this Judgement, Duch testified this was a “deceptive ploy to calm the population” and that the evidence shows that arrests and executions continued. See Section 16: Common Purpose, para. 3971. See also, Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3828.

<sup>11476</sup> Section 16.3: Real or Perceived Enemies, para. 3828 (fn. 12794) referring to Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, April 1978 to December 1978, pp. 38-40, ERN (En) 00184520-00184522 (entry dated 8 October 1978 noting that, as opposed to Khmer people who were to be interrogated without beatings, foreigners, Yuon and CIA imperialists would be interrogated following “absolute Special Branch methods, completely and totally, permanently”).

<sup>11477</sup> S-21 Notebook of MAM Nai, E3/833, June 1975 to October 1978, ERN (En) 00184600. The Notebook appears to record notes taken at POL Pot’s April anniversary speech. The Notebook also indicates that the principle in Svay Rieng is of One against 90, but in other location is 1:15-1:30 and that “in general we implement the principle of 1[:]:30”.

<sup>11478</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, April 1978-December 1978, p. 15, ERN (En) 00184497 (entry dated 3 June 1978). See also, Section 12.2: S-21 Security Centre, para. 2131.

traitor connections who are Yvon agents”.<sup>11479</sup> A further entry dated 8 October 1978 reflects on the new “objective” of S-21 “to save the maximum number of people who are misguided”.<sup>11480</sup> Pursuant to POL Pot’s directive,<sup>11481</sup> Vietnamese prisoners were explicitly exempt from this objective:

In the near term, we have plans to interrogate all of the Khmer without beatings and getting 80% confessions. No beatings and getting very detailed confessions, 70%. As for the foreigners, the Yvon, the imperialist CIA, we apply absolute Special Branch methods, completely and totally, permanently.<sup>11482</sup>

3406. Throughout 1978, the Revolutionary Flag and State-sponsored “educational” broadcasts were issuing intensified appeals to “defend” and “preserve” the “Kampuchean race” from the “Yvon”.<sup>11483</sup> Throughout 1978 and early 1979, POL Pot and KHIEU Samphan continued stressing the importance of protecting and preserving the success of the revolution and the “Kampuchean race” from Vietnamese “expansionists” and “annexationists”.<sup>11484</sup> NUON Chea echoed this line at a banquet in

<sup>11479</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, April 1978-December 1978, pp. 22-23, ERN (En) 00184504-00184505.

<sup>11480</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, April 1978-December 1978, p. 40, ERN (En) 00184522.

<sup>11481</sup> T. 14 June 2016 (KAING Guek Eav), E1/437.1, pp. 46-49 (referring to the 8 October 1978 entry: “As for the ‘Yvon’, the practice remained the same and of course, the same applied to CIA agents; the ‘Yvon’, the CIA agents had to be beaten, but per Brother Pol’s instructions, all interrogations had to be stopped.”).

<sup>11482</sup> Combined S-21 Notebook, E3/834, April 1978-December 1978, p. 40, ERN (En) 00184522.

<sup>11483</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Youth, E3/726, January-February 1978, p. 29, ERN (En) 00278736 (“Poem” pledging to defend against the “Yvon” “eradicating the race and the territory”); Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, pp. 9, ERN (En) 00519837 (“To defend Kampuchean territory means to defend the Kampuchean race.”), 14, ERN (En) 00519842 (“We make our Army clean, our Party clean, our people clean, so that they can fight the enemy and defend Kampuchean territory, that is, defend the Kampuchean race.”); Past Year’s National Defence Efforts Reviewed (in FBIS collection), E3/1722, 10 May 1978, ERN (En) 00294785 (“Educational program” entitled “Democratic Kampuchea’s national defence situation from April 1977 to April 1978”), 00294788 (“1. Be resolutely determined to defend our territory. Defending Kampuchean territory means defending the Kampuchean race.”), 00294790 (“We must purify our armed forces, our party, and the people in order to continue fighting the enemy in defence of Kampuchean territory and the Kampuchean race for if we fail to do so our race will disappear.”); Strength of Popular Revolution Determines Strength of Country (in FBIS collection), E3/1363, 10 June 1978, ERN (En) 00169816 (“Educational program” entitled “Concerning the people’s revolutionary strength and their situation” read by unattributed announcer) 00169817 (“Making revolution means defending the country and preserving the Kampuchean race forever without becoming anyone’s slaves.”); Revolutionary Flag, E3/746, July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00428289 (“Currently, under the correct and wise leadership of our Communist Party of Kampuchea with Comrade Secretary POL POT at the head, we are determined to maintain and defend our national-country our people and our Kampuchean race so that it will persist and survive eternally.”); Revolutionary Army Stands Firm and Vigilant in Kratie (in FBIS collection), E3/76, 2 September 1978, ERN (En) 00170355 (unattributed article entitled “Our Revolutionary Army units in Kratie Sector continue to raise high their sense of revolutionary vigilance, in order to defend our territory, people, Party, revolution and Kampuchean race so that they may live forever”).

<sup>11484</sup> See e.g., Pol Pot Holds Interview on Cambodia-SRV Conflict (in FBIS collection), E3/1361, 12 April 1978, ERN (En) 00168801 (referring to the “expansionist, annexationist aggressor Vietnamese who

Beijing on 3 September 1978, stating that the Cambodian people and the RAK have “crushed the Vietnamese strategy of ‘Indochina Federation’, aiming at swallowing the [sic] Kampuchea’s race”.<sup>11485</sup>

3407. Between 1977 and 1979, contemporaneous CPK publications including DK statements, media reports, Revolutionary Flag and Revolutionary Youth variously described the Vietnamese and their agents as noxious,<sup>11486</sup> greedy,<sup>11487</sup> savage;<sup>11488</sup> akin to rats,<sup>11489</sup> dogs,<sup>11490</sup> germs,<sup>11491</sup> sexually deprived,<sup>11492</sup> dishonourable,<sup>11493</sup> “cruel desire to destroy our Cambodian race”), 00168805 (Vietnam “plans to annex and swallow Cambodian territory and exterminate the Cambodian race”); KHIEU Samphan Speech, E3/169, 15 April 1978, p. 10, ERN (En) 00280398 (“We must defend tooth and nail the country, the Revolution, the power, the people, the Army, the Party and the Kampuchean race.”); Phnom Penh Rally Marks 17th April Anniversary: Excerpts from Recording of Speech at the Meeting by Khieu Samphan (in SWB/FE/5791/B collection), E3/562, 15 April 1978, ERN (En) S00010559 (expressing pride in the RAK “because it is a strong pillar of the forces defending [...] the Cambodian race”), S00010563-S00010564 (“We must [...]: (1) Successfully defend the country, revolution, State power, people, revolutionary army, Party and Cambodian race”); Sihanouk Attends, Khieu Samphan Addresses KCP Banquet (in FBIS collection), E3/294, 30 September 1978, ERN (En) 00170170 (“We must strengthen and expand solidarity and all possible strengths so as to protect and preserve forever the fruits of the revolution and the Kampuchean race.”); Armed Forces Meeting Supports Government Statement on SRV Aggression (in FBIS collection), E3/296, 3 January 1979, ERN (En) 00169311 (Speech by KHIEU Samphan in which he states that: “We are fully aware of our duty to defend the nation our territory the Kampuchean people and the Kampuchean race entrusted to us by the party and the Government of Democratic Kampuchea.”). See also, T. 3 July 2013 (EK Hen), E1/217.1, p. 47 (“He [Khieu Samphan] said Khmer had to be united and Khmer shall be free of Vietnamese, or the “Yvon”, and that we had to love one another.”).

---

<sup>11485</sup> NUON Chea Speech, E3/199, 3 September 1978, ERN (En) 00065915.

<sup>11486</sup> See above, para. 3403. See also, Revolutionary Flag, E3/746, July 1978, p. 3, ERN (En) 00428291 (“But the concealed enemies who were running-dog agents of the Yvon were the life and death foes who were noxious to the uttermost and of the uttermost danger.”).

<sup>11487</sup> See e.g., Phnom Penh Rally marks 17th April Anniversary (in SWB/FE/5791/B collection), E3/562, ERN (En) S00010558 (“As for the eastern border, the fight between the Vietnamese and us is a tense and firm one because the greedy Vietnamese have the evil intention of swallowing up our Cambodian territory in accordance with their Indochinese federation plan.”).

<sup>11488</sup> See above, para. 3381 (fn. 11392).

<sup>11489</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Flag, E3/742, April 1977, p. 5, ERN (En) 00478496 (“As for enemies that are ‘CIA’, ‘KGB’ and ‘Yvon’ agents, [...] [they] have been fundamentally scattered, like rats being hit and falling from their nests into the water”).

<sup>11490</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Flag, E3/742, April 1977, pp. 4-5, 11, ERN (En) 00478495-00478496, 00478502; Revolutionary Flag, E3/743, July 1977, p. 15, ERN (En) 00476170; Revolutionary Flag, E3/747, August 1977, pp. 7-8, ERN (En) 00499772-00499773.

<sup>11491</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, p. 14, ERN (En) 00519842 (referring to the Yvon: “Do not let those germs bore inside among our people, our Party, our Army. We make our Army clean, our Party clean, our people clean, so that they can fight the enemy and defend Kampuchean territory, that is, defend the Kampuchean race.”).

<sup>11492</sup> See e.g., DK Publication: Black Paper, E3/23, September 1978, p. 60, ERN (En) 00082543 (“They despised Kampuchea’s people. They raped young girls”).

<sup>11493</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Flag, E3/746, July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00428289 (“The Yvon stink to high heaven and are degradingly despised as nothing, because the Yvon think only of carrying around a begging bucket and walking around with a cane to beg for charity in every nook and cranny.”).

fascists”<sup>11494</sup> and “barbaric”.<sup>11495</sup> During this time, terms such as “eradicate”,<sup>11496</sup> “attack and smash”,<sup>11497</sup> “sweep away”,<sup>11498</sup> “wipe out”,<sup>11499</sup> “exterminate”,<sup>11500</sup> “liquidate”,<sup>11501</sup> and “annihilate”<sup>11502</sup> were specifically employed by the Party to describe the treatment to be meted out to the “Yuon” in order to make DK “permanently

<sup>11494</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Youth, E3/766, November 1978, p. 22, ERN (En) 00524183 (“when we grow up we can join the Army and smash the contemptible cruel fascist Yuon enemy aggressor and defeat them annihilate them forever and absolutely not let them invade Kampuchean territory” [emphasis added]); Revolutionary Youth, E3/726, January-February 1978, p. 26, ERN (En) 00278733 (“the aggressor expansionist territory swallowing Yuon enemy who wear the banners of revolution and socialism have committed degrading acts grabbing and raping us young girls in a cruel and fascist way” [emphasis added]).

<sup>11495</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Youth, E3/726, January-February 1978, p. 29, ERN (En) 00278736 (“These acts display that their politics are fascist and barbaric their heinous morals grow more barbarous” [emphasis added]).

<sup>11496</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Flag, E3/742, April 1977, p. 9, ERN (En) 00478500 (“They, the ‘CIA’ part, the ‘KGB’ part, and the ‘Yuon’ part still strive to struggle free to continue their criminal activities. This is a view that we must be constantly clear on in order to have a high-level spirit of revolutionary vigilance to resist and eradicate the enemy in advance with constant mastery.”); Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, p. 14, ERN (En) 00519842 (“They must be eradicated.”); Revolutionary Flag, E3/747, August 1978, pp. 11-12, ERN (En) 00499776-00499777 (“To every member of the Communist Party of Kampuchea: [...] eradicate the expansionist genocidal Yuon aggressor. [...] We also see clearly that the Kampuchean people under the leadership of our Communist Party of Kampuchea are fighting bravely to eradicate the Yuon enemy.”).

<sup>11497</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Flag, E3/747, August 1977, p. 23, ERN (En) 00499788 (“We build solid practical, ideological and organisational stances following the proletariat class of our [CPK] so that the Party will be strong, and to gather the forces [...] to whip up the movement to attack and smash the territory-swallowing expansionist genocidal Yuon aggressor”); Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, pp. 11-12, ERN (En) 00519839-00519840 (“We attacked until we smashed them. [...] [W]e used outstanding forces to attack and smash them, swept them to bits, shredded their flesh. That’s why they fear our Army. [...] We attack and smash them.”); Revolutionary Flag, E3/746, July 1978, p. 15, ERN (En) 00428303 (“[I]n the great mass movement to attack and smash the aggressive, expansionist, territory-swallowing, genocidal Yuon enemy” the cooperatives have played an important part).

<sup>11498</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Flag, E3/742, April 1977, p. 11, ERN (En) 00478502 (“[I]t is imperative to whip-up the people to sweep more of them [‘CIA’, ‘KGB’ and ‘Yuon’ agents] clean and make things permanently clean.”); Revolutionary Flag, E3/4604, April 1978, p. 11, ERN (En) 00519839 (“[W]e used outstanding forces to attack and smash them, swept them to bits.”); Revolutionary Flag, E3/746, July 1978, p. 11, ERN (En) 00428299 (“The concealed enemies boring from within who are Yuon-serving agents [...] are now breaking up successively. [...] Their henchmen have been cleanly swept away.”).

<sup>11499</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Army Adopts Resolutions on SRV Dispute (in FBIS collection), E3/1285, 4 January 1978, ERN (En) 00169539 (RAK resolves to “fight and exterminate the annexationist Vietnamese enemy and other enemies of all stripes so that they will be completely wiped out from our Cambodian territory and country and so that the nation’s honour will be preserved”).

<sup>11500</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Army Adopts Resolutions on SRV Dispute (in FBIS collection), E3/1285, 4 January 1978, ERN (En) 00169538-00169539 (reporting a “statement of the Government of Democratic Cambodia broadcast on 31 December 1977 and repeated on 1 and 2 January 1978 appealing to the entire Party and army as well as all the people to [...] counter and exterminate the annexationist Vietnamese enemy”).

<sup>11501</sup> See e.g., Revolutionary Youth, E3/765, October 1978, p. 23, ERN (En) 00539998 (referring to the plan to “defeat and scatter [the “Yuon enemy”] even more seriously up to the point that they are completely defeated and liquidated.”).

<sup>11502</sup> See e.g., DK Government Statement, E3/8404, 2 January 1979, p. 5, ERN (En) 00419725 (“[T]he Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea [has] been determined to annihilate a lot of them. The Vietnamese have had during these 3 months about 10,000 killed and wounded.”).

clean”.<sup>11503</sup>

3408. Contemporaneous telegrams before the Chamber show that throughout 1978, the arrest and execution of Vietnamese civilians and soldiers was either reported through the General Staff,<sup>11504</sup> or directly to senior CPK leaders including POL Pot, NUON Chea, IENG Sary and/or VORN Vet.<sup>11505</sup> Three telegrams warrant particular mention in this regard. A telegram from Division 164 Commander MEAS Muth dated 31 December 1977 and copied to POL Pot, NUON Chea, IENG Sary, VORN Vet, SON Sen and Office 870 reports that:

We have received the guiding view and the declaration of the Party about the aggression of the Yuon who have come to swallow the territory of our motherland. We who have the duty to defend the maritime spearhead would like to: 1. Be in total unity within the Party; 2. Vow determination to fashion forces who are a tool absolutely to defend the Party, [...] and to defend the socialist Kampuchean motherland by sweeping cleanly away and without half-measure the uncover [sic] elements of the enemy, whether the Yuon or other enemies.<sup>11506</sup>

3409. A telegram from Northwest Zone Secretary RUOS Nhim dated 17 May 1978 requests instructions from “Angkar 870” regarding the treatment of “elements” of

<sup>11503</sup> See above, fn. 11498.

<sup>11504</sup> See e.g., DK Telegram, E3/1079, 25 December 1976, ERN (En) 00143503 (Division 801 Commander SAO Saroeun reporting the capture of “a Yuon” to “Brother 89”, i.e. SON Sen); DK Telegram, E3/1132, undated, ERN (En) 00548773 (unknown sender reporting the capture of “a Yuon” to the General Staff); DK Telegram, E3/1061, 24 March 1977, ERN (En) 00538731 (Division 801 Commander SAO Saroeun reporting the capture of “7 Yuons” to “Uncle 89”, i.e. SON Sen); DK Telegram, E3/992, 2 March 1978, ERN (En) 00795287 (“We smashed and killed 98 Yuon enemies on the spot; the remaining six escaped to Loc Ninh; the others were completely smashed. I would like to clarify that we captured one Yuon enemy.”).

<sup>11505</sup> See e.g., DK Telegram, E3/248, 1 January 1978, ERN (En) 00324809 (Sector 105 Secretary SAO Sarun reporting to “Beloved Brothers of M-870” that “nine Yuon people fleeing the country” were caught and that “we have swept them away”); DK Telegram, E3/181, 14 February 1978, ERN (En) 00340537 (reporting to POL Pot and NUON Chea that “Comrade Tal captured 2 Yuon heads [...]. They were sent to S-21.”); DK Telegram, E3/1012, 22 March 1978, ERN (En) 00305369 (Northeast Zone Secretary Vy reporting to POL Pot, NUON Chea, IENG Sary, VORN Vet and Office [870] that “24 of the Yuon enemies were killed”); DK Telegram, E3/998, 23 March 1978, ERN (En) 00185585 (Comrade Peam reporting to POL Pot, NUON Chea, IENG Sary, VORN Vet and Office 870 the killing of 47 “enemy aggressor Yuon at Paung” village, which was “the objective specified by the Party”); DK Telegram, E3/928, 1 April 1978, ERN (En) 00183357 (Division 164 Commander MEAS Muth reporting to POL Pot, NUON Chea and IENG Sary: “[I]n sum, the number of Yuon who have been captured and shot to death from 17 March 1978 through 30 March 1978 is 120 head[s]”); DK Telegram, E3/1062, 8 April 1978, ERN (En) 00322059 (Ta Mok reporting to POL Pot that following the attack of “an enemy Yuon force [...] on 6, 7 and 8 April [1978], we smashed more than 100 of the enemy”); DK Telegram, E3/943, 25 April 1978, ERN (En) 00185204 (Northeast Zone Secretary Vy reporting to POL Pot, NUON Chea, IENG Sary, VORN Vet and Office 870 the attack of “the Contemptible Yuon [...] and the enemy left 8 of their soldiers dead on the spot.”).

<sup>11506</sup> DK Telegram, E3/915, 31 December 1977, ERN (En) 00184995.

former Khmer Republic soldiers and “Yuons with Khmer spouses and the half-breed [Khmer-Yuon]”:

Regarding this issue the meeting would like to ask Angkar 870 what to do with them? Whatever Angkar decides, please give instruction. Generally speaking, these groups are scared of the situation and worried about their fate, but there is not yet any sign of opposing activities. If any of them make some suspicious activities, we will decide to take them out. Some people suggested that we should round them up and keep them in one place. I know it is not difficult to do that. The important thing is that we must be able to grasp them continuously. If they show any suspicions, we must be able to master the situation right away.<sup>11507</sup>

3410. A further telegram from the West Zone Committee to Angkar, dated 4 August 1978, explicitly references the CPK’s procedure with regard to the Vietnamese. It reports that elements including “Yuon aliens” have been “screened out from various units and [the] military”, but that such enemy activities “do not seriously affect us” and that “we have had plans in place to apply the Party’s assignment line to routinely remove, screen and sweep clean them [sic]”. It further reports that, as part of its “screening” operations of “Vietnamese” (among others) in the preceding month, the West Zone had smashed “100 Vietnamese people –small and big young and old”.<sup>11508</sup>

3411. On 1 January 1979, an announcement of “Committee 870” directed the Party, the entire Kampuchean people, all RAK combatants and cadres to “raise the spirit of revolutionary vigilance [and] track down and search out Yuon enemy agents and do not allow them to hide anywhere at all, to eliminate them and gain timely mastery”.<sup>11509</sup> The Chamber notes that this statement was made during an important military offensive of the Vietnamese army.<sup>11510</sup> Read in context, the Chamber therefore finds that these instructions refer primarily to Vietnamese armed forces.

3412. On 2 January 1979, the DK Government issued a statement decrying the aggression of Vietnam and reaffirming the country’s objective of defending its independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity. Echoing previous declarations of enmity toward Vietnam as the “national enemy from the beginning up through the

<sup>11507</sup> DK Telegram, E3/863, 17 May 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 00321962.

<sup>11508</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1094, 4 August 1978, pp. 1, 7, ERN (En) 00143618, 00143624.

<sup>11509</sup> DK Document, Committee 870 Announcement, E3/722, 1 January 1979, ERN (En) 00183666.

<sup>11510</sup> See e.g., Government Statement Appeals for Aid to Combat SRV Aggression (in FBIS collection), E3/296, 2 January 1979, ERN (En) 00169296-00169297.

present, and [into] the protracted future”,<sup>11511</sup> the statement proclaimed that “out struggle is just, [...] because the whole Kampuchea’s people are against Vietnam which is a hereditary enemy”.<sup>11512</sup> Despite the contemporaneous military offensives, the Chamber notes the explicit reference to the “the whole Kampuchea’s people” and the “hereditary enemy”, and therefore finds that this statement targeted all Vietnamese people indiscriminately. Witnesses PAK Sok, MEAS Voeun and PRAK Khorn confirmed that the CPK and senior leaders promoted Vietnam as the “hereditary enemy” of the Cambodian people during the DK era.<sup>11513</sup> 3413. As Vietnamese forces swept through Cambodia in the final days of the DK period in early January 1979, Office 870 continued issuing directives instructing cadre to “destroy” the “Yuon enemy” militarily, politically, psychologically and economically,<sup>11514</sup> which the Chamber finds to be referring primarily to Vietnamese forces.

3414. The CPK’s twofold targeting of the Vietnamese was summarised by Civil Party HENG Lai Heang, who joined the Khmer Rouge in 1971 and who was a commune committee member in Kratie until 1977:<sup>11515</sup>

Based on what I heard, that the first principle would be that they would be sent back to their country. So at the beginning they were loaded onto trucks and transported to Vietnam. But later on when the Vietnamese intensified their attacks and then the ethnic Vietnamese in Cambodia were smashed.<sup>11516</sup>

3415. She described further that Vietnamese were “smashed” at security centres and <sup>11511</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/746, July 1978, p. 1, ERN (En) 00428289 (“[The Yuon] have been our national enemy from the beginning up through the present, and will be our enemy in the protracted future as well. [...] The national duty of all of us its [sic] to struggle to fight to eliminate our aggressive, expansionist, territory-swallowing and genocidal Yuon enemy. Just like the Kampuchean of our current generation, absolutely no Kampuchean of any subsequent generation will lay down arms and stop fighting the aggressive and expansionist/territory-swallowing and genocidal Yuon enemy of the Kampuchean race.”).

<sup>11512</sup> DK Government Statement, E3/8404, 2 January 1979, pp. 10-11, ERN (En) 00419728.

<sup>11513</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, p. 49; T. 3 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/387.1, p. 24 (“I heard it. Everyone heard of it, that [the Vietnamese] were hereditary enemies.”); T. 28 April 2016 (PRAK Khorn), E1/424.1, pp. 6-7 (“We, staff at S-21, were told that Vietnamese were the hereditary enemy of the Communist Party of Kampuchea, that we intended to retake the part of the Cochinchine, that is, Kampuchea Krom. And these instructions were relayed by Son Sen and Duch to us at S-21 during a political study session.”). See also, PAK Sok Interview Record, E3/9674, 18 October 2013, p. 10, ERN (En) 00977535.

<sup>11514</sup> DK Telegram, E3/9373, 3 January 1979, ERN (En) 00182798-00182804.

<sup>11515</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 6, 49, 76-78.

<sup>11516</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, p. 73.

within villages.<sup>11517</sup> After the main wave of expulsions in 1975, the targeting was initiated at the sector level and disseminated to the district level, which in turn disseminated the instruction to the commune and village levels.<sup>11518</sup> Cadres from the district came to educate people at the commune level about the targeting.<sup>11519</sup>

3416. The Chamber has taken into account the state of armed conflict and the contemporaneous military offensives in assessing the evidence, and specified above when the CPK rhetoric was primarily directed against Vietnamese soldiers. The Chamber notes the remarkable continuity in the thrust of the statements or speeches emanating from the CPK cadre analysed above, and specifically notes a mere variation in the tone, as it was increasingly violent with the escalation of the conflict. Finally, while some statements may have primarily targeted the Vietnamese armed forces, the reference to the “Yvon” or to the Vietnamese enemy was often made indiscriminately and was directed against all ethnic Vietnamese, being military or civilian. In light of the above, the Chamber is satisfied beyond reasonable doubt that the CPK internally as well as publicly targeted Vietnamese as a group through contemporaneous documents and speeches, identifying them as “poisonous foreigners” from the early stages of the DK regime and calling for their expulsion from Cambodia as well as, from April 1977, their destruction. The Chamber is further satisfied that such directives were widely disseminated.

3417. The Chamber is accordingly satisfied that a centrally-devised policy targeting the Vietnamese for adverse treatment existed in DK throughout the indictment period. The Chamber will examine the crimes underpinning this policy, including the extent to which they are encompassed by the common purpose, in Section 16: Common Purpose.

13.3.6. Identification of the Vietnamese and Matrilineal Ethnicity

13.3.6.1. The Vietnamese living in Cambodia as a distinct group

3418. The Closing Order identifies the Vietnamese living in Cambodia as an ethnic group that was also referred to as a national and/or racial group by the CPK.<sup>11520</sup> None of the Parties contest the existence of the Vietnamese living in Cambodia as constituting

<sup>11517</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 73-74.

<sup>11518</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 67-68, 72.

<sup>11519</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 72-73.

<sup>11520</sup> Closing Order, paras 791, 1343.

a group, as such. The Co-Prosecutors identify the Vietnamese as a distinct ethnic group within Cambodia who share a common language, culture and similar physical traits.<sup>11521</sup> The NUON Chea Defence interprets the terms “Vietnamese group” as an ethnic, national and racial group.<sup>11522</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence accepts that the Vietnamese belonged to a national or ethnic group,<sup>11523</sup> but rejects the racial qualification of the group on the basis that in-court testimony, except that of SIENG Chanthy, did not demonstrate that the Vietnamese have specific physical traits.<sup>11524</sup> The Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers do not specifically address this issue but highlight evidence pertaining to Vietnamese physical features and skin colour, familial descent, language, accent and names.<sup>11525</sup>

3419. The Chamber notes that the evidence shows the existence of Vietnamese distinct features, including the Vietnamese language, cuisine, cultural practices and traditional dresses, as well as a distinct historical heritage.<sup>11526</sup> It demonstrates that most Vietnamese living in Cambodia spoke Khmer with an accent or not fluently.<sup>11527</sup> Vietnamese living in Cambodia were identified and identified themselves as such because one or several elder relatives in their families were Vietnamese,<sup>11528</sup> and/or because of their physical traits.<sup>11529</sup> Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the

<sup>11521</sup> Co-Prosecutors’ Closing Brief, paras 894, 895.

<sup>11522</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 696.

<sup>11523</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 2201.

<sup>11524</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, para. 2201. See also, T. 1 March 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/394.1, p. 15.

<sup>11525</sup> Civil Party Lead Co-Lawyers’ Closing Brief, paras 888-902.

<sup>11526</sup> See e.g., T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, pp. 12, 15; T. 27 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/357.1, p. 10; T. 28 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/358.1, pp. 4-5; T. 29 February 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/393.1, p. 94; T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, p. 47; Book by Centre for Advanced Study: Ethnic Groups in Cambodia, E3/3555, pp. 536, 540-543, 553, ERN (En) 00489828, 00489832-00489835, 00489845; Book by H. Kamm: Cambodia: Report from a Stricken Land, E3/2119, p. 75, ERN (En) 00394394; Thesis by E. Do, Treatment of the Vietnamese Minority in Democratic Kampuchea from a Comparative Perspective, E3/4524, ERN (En) 00548858; Book by F. Ponchaud: Cambodia Year Zero, E3/9403, ERN (En) 00862093-00862094.

<sup>11527</sup> See e.g., T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, p. 79; T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, p. 47; T. 9 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/365.1, p. 55; T. 5 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/370.1, pp. 95-96; T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, p. 83; T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 68, 105; T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, pp. 49, 59; T. 1 March 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/394.1, p. 15.

<sup>11528</sup> See e.g., T. 29 February 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/393.1, p. 90. See below, paras 3424-3428.

<sup>11529</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/394.1, p. 15 (“Everyone knew because my father had a fair complexion, and he looked really like Vietnamese, so villagers were aware that my father was Vietnamese.”); T. 29 February 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/393.1, p. 94 (her father had a “fair complexion which was different from others”, and he hoped his children would survive because all of them had “black eyes, and [their] skin was like others”); T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, p. 47 (describing his wife: “Her facial figure was that of Khmer but she had lighter complexion.”); T. 25

Vietnamese living in Cambodia constituted an ethnic, national and racial group at the relevant time.

13.3.6.2. Identification of the Vietnamese

3420. Ethnic Vietnamese living in Cambodia were often identified through their accents by their neighbours who would then report the information to the upper echelons.<sup>11530</sup> Several witnesses and Civil Parties explained that the upper echelons were well aware of which families had members who were of Vietnamese origin.<sup>11531</sup> HENG Lai Heang further stated that the policy to “counter the Vietnamese” was initiated “after the event in 1975” and the instruction to identify the Vietnamese was issued by “people in high authority” at the sector level, and then passed down to the district, commune and village level, where the lists of people who had Vietnamese origins were compiled.<sup>11532</sup>

3421. DK reports from 1977-1978 indicate that statistical lists were compiled at the village and commune levels and sent to Angkar.<sup>11533</sup> This was confirmed by HENG Lai Heang, who stated that the lists were prepared at the village level and brought to the

---

January 2016 (DOUNG Oeum), E1/381.1, p. 15 (she could tell Ngang was Vietnamese “[f]rom the physical and facial features”).

<sup>11530</sup> T. 2 Feb 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/386.1, pp. 101-102 (the witness was the Deputy Commander of RAK’s Division 1 and stated that even if they spoke Khmer fluently “the local villagers would know that they were ‘Yuon’. And they told us”).

<sup>11531</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (SIENG Chanthu), E1/394.1, pp. 15, 22 (“They did not do anything to search for Vietnamese since Khmer Rouge had known in advance that which family was half-blooded. [...] Cooperative chief was well aware that -- which families had link to Vietnamese origin. They knew clearly who was who in the village. As for my family, the chief of the cooperative knew it very well that my grandparents were ethnically Vietnamese. They did not need to ask us anymore as they already knew who we were.”); T. 7 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/363.1, p. 13 (“I knew those who had Vietnamese wives or Vietnamese husbands but in Angkar in the village chief, I think they may have done some statistics about the ethnicity of the villagers, that’s why people in the higher ranking, in the Angkar, they knew something about the ethnicity of the people in the village.”); T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, p. 103 (“In fact, in villages and communes, the cadres and Khmer Rouge were aware of the activities that we were doing and who belonged to which families. They knew who was who clearly in the village. In fact, everyone knew everyone else in the village.”).

<sup>11532</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 67-68, 71-72. See also, KOR Len Interview Record, E3/9543, 29 April 2014, p. 15, ERN (En) 01067930 (“There in fact was a policy that designated a goal of killing the Vietnamese during the Khmer Rouge regime, but I learned of that policy when Ta Maong, Preah Netr District Committee, said that during a joint meeting in Wat Chob Veari Pagoda in 1976.”); EK (UL) Hoeun Interview Record, E3/9582, 19 March 2014, p. 7, ERN (En) 00983572 (“In 1976, every single Vietnamese national living in the district was swept clean. [...] Among the communes of Khpok Trabaek, Trapeang Thum Cheung, Trapeang Thum Tboung, Saraong, and Kus, Nhaeng Nhang, the commune chiefs mastered this task themselves: meaning the commune chiefs themselves arrested and took those Yuon to be killed according to district-level plans. Ta Chay carried out the order to kill the Yuon killed. Ta Chay received the orders from the Sector.”).

<sup>11533</sup> DK Report, E3/861, May 1978, ERN (En) 00184010-00184013; Tram Kak District Record, E3/2435, 26 April 1977, ERN (En) 00322141.

commune level and from there “to the higher up”.<sup>11534</sup> HENG Lai Heang specified that the screenings to identify the Vietnamese in Kratie district, Special Sector 505, at that time, were called “chumrouen” or census and required residents to write their biographies and list any people with Vietnamese origins.<sup>11535</sup> According to CHOEUING Yaing Chaet,<sup>11536</sup> the Khmer Rouge in 1975 looked at the village’s “lan tay” documents in Kampong Chhnang province, which consisted of family record books owned by Vietnamese only,<sup>11537</sup> “[s]o they knew who were Khmer and who were Vietnamese”.<sup>11538</sup>

3422. The Chamber further heard evidence of CPK cadres gathering information on the ethnicity of members of particular units. PRAK Doeun,<sup>11539</sup> who was moved to Ta Mov island in 1977, heard a member of his unit tell the CPK cadres that his wife was Vietnamese, and believes he told them this information in exchange for some food.<sup>11540</sup> CPK cadres then questioned him as to the ethnicity of his wife.<sup>11541</sup> Cadres also questioned PRAK Doeun as to whether there were any Vietnamese in his cooperative. When he replied that he was not aware of any, they stopped asking about it.<sup>11542</sup> The same information gathering took place in the military. PRUM Sarun, who was the chief of Platoon 1 (Sector 3) in Phnom Sampov commune, Banan district, Battambang province,<sup>11543</sup> was asked by the Battalion Chief whether there were any “Yuon” in his unit and told that, if there were, he needed to report them to the chief of the district so that the upper echelon could “handle” them, which meant have them killed.<sup>11544</sup> When

<sup>11534</sup> T. 19 Sept 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, p. 71.

<sup>11535</sup> T. 19 Sept 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, p. 68 (“Q. Do you know if there were orders that residents needed to write their biographies and if there were lists of people who had Vietnamese origins? A. Yes, there was. At that time they called it ‘chumrouen’ (phonetic) or census. Q. And what did this word ‘chumrouen’ (phonetic) mean? A. The word ‘chumrouen’ (phonetic) means to do the screening or gathering.”).

<sup>11536</sup> See below, para. 3469.

<sup>11537</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUING Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, p. 79.

<sup>11538</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUING Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 77-80, 82, 87-88; T. 8 December 2015 (CHOEUING Yaing Chaet), E1/364.1, pp. 26, 42.

<sup>11539</sup> See below, para. 3466.

<sup>11540</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 58, 61-62 (“They [CPK cadres] actually were aware of how many people were Vietnamese within one family. Q. Do you know how they were aware of who was Vietnamese? A. It was probably the information given from those who came from the unit and I recall there was a person called Comrade Chum (phonetic) who left the village and who said that this man married a Vietnamese wife [...] I heard him say that with my ears.”).

<sup>11541</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 59-60.

<sup>11542</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 96-97.

<sup>11543</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, p. 58.

<sup>11544</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 57, 61-62. See also, CHHAO Chat Interview Record, E3/9562, 18 December 2014, p. 29, ERN (En) 01059963 (“Q: You have said that the Vietnamese in your unit were taken to be killed. [...] A207: That happened after the Southwest group arrived. They

PRUM Sarun responded that there were only Chinese and no “Yuon” in his unit, the Battalion Chief walked away.<sup>11545</sup>

3423. The Chamber is satisfied that, from 1975, the upper echelon ordered the identification of Vietnamese, as a result of which lists and biographies were prepared by the lower echelons and then communicated back to the upper echelons for further action.

13.3.6.3. Matrilineal ethnicity

3424. Families where only one parent was Vietnamese were also targeted. Witness HENG Lai Heang testified that “after the event in 1975”, “those who were half-blood Vietnamese had to be smashed”.<sup>11546</sup> Several witnesses and Civil Parties gave evidence that the CPK considered ethnicity to be matrilineal and therefore, in mixed families, targeted children with Vietnamese mothers. Where instead the father was Vietnamese, only he would be targeted and the children would be spared.<sup>11547</sup> researched people’s biographies to find the Vietnamese, and when they discovered someone was Vietnamese, they would take them to be killed.”)

---

<sup>11545</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 62-63.

<sup>11546</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 32-33, 67-68. See also, SAOY Yen Interview Record, E3/9801, 8 May 2015, p. 5, ERN (En) 01111933 (“They [the Khmer Rouge cadres] stated repeatedly that when a tree is cut its roots must also be uprooted. [...] They stated that the Vietnamese had to be uprooted completely.”); DK Report, E3/863, 17 May 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 00321962 (RUOS Nhim requests instructions from Office 870 on how to deal with “Yuons with Khmer spouses and the half-breed [Khmer-Yuon]?” The report states that they are generally “scared of the situation and worried about their fate, but there is not yet any sign of opposing activities. If any of them make some [suspicious] activities, we will decide to take them out.”).

<sup>11547</sup> T. 19 Sept 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, p. 70 (“During that period of time, only half-blood Vietnamese people were smashed. For example, if the mother was Vietnamese the mother would be arrested and smashed and later on the half-blood children were arrested and then half-blood grandchildren were also arrested. [...] Q. So if I understand you correctly, in some families, insofar as there would be one grandparent who was of Vietnamese origin, the rest of the lineage would be eliminated. Is that what you are telling the Chamber? A. Yes. Q. In those families was the spouse who was ethnically Cambodian also a victim of measures of elimination, or was the spouse was of Khmer origin spared? A. Yes.”); T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, p. 31 (“The child was not arrested since the child was the offspring of Cambodian mother; only the father was taken. If the mother was a genuine Khmer, the child would be spared. [...] The Vietnamese would be taken away, all of them would not be spared in that regime. Since my child belonged to a Cambodian mother, only the husband was taken away.”); T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, p. 26 (“For those who had Vietnamese wives and children, their wives were taken away to be killed. I felt pity for them; at least they should have kept their children alive. It was extremely callous. [...] Their children were also taken away to be killed. It was so brutal.”); T. 2 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/395.1, p. 7 (“It was known by the Khmer Rouge. And the saying and policy of the Khmer Rouge was fully known by the grassroots that, ‘To dig up grass, one must dig up the roots.’ So when the Vietnamese mother and children were taken, their grandchildren and great grandchildren were considered Vietnamese, KGB agents, and they would be taken as well. I knew this clearly because I witnessed it and I observed it myself.”); T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, pp. 75-76. See also, T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 92-93;

3425. UCH Sunlay stated that the policy of the Khmer Rouge was to “dig up the roots” and therefore if a Vietnamese mother was taken, so were her children and grandchildren.<sup>11548</sup> As a result, UCH Sunlay’s Vietnamese wife and three children were killed during the DK period.<sup>11549</sup> Similarly, LACH Kry reported that it was “widely known to villagers” that “[i]f the husband was Khmer and the wife was Vietnamese, she together with the children were taken away. If the husband was Vietnamese and the wife was Khmer, only the husband was taken, not a single child was taken.”<sup>11550</sup> As for the fate of the children with Vietnamese mothers, SIN Chhem explained that it was announced at meetings and “people talked about” how the children of mixed-marriages who were fed by a Vietnamese mother “would not be kept alive; they must be killed; if they had two children both of them had to be taken away and killed; only the father was kept alive”.<sup>11551</sup> She also stated that: “It was so brutal. No child was spared. They said that if they kept any child alive he or she would grow up a Vietnamese descent.”<sup>11552</sup> THANG Phal testified that “the work of Angkar” was such that “it was believed that if the mother was Vietnamese then the children would also be Vietnamese” and would thereby “be taken away, as well. However, if the father was Vietnamese and the mother was Khmer then the children would not be taken away.”<sup>11553</sup>

3426. Contemporaneous documentary evidence shows that the Vietnamese and their mixed families were kept under surveillance despite them not having “yet” partaken in any “opposing activities”. They were suspected to have the potential of conducting “suspicious activities” based solely on their affiliation with the Vietnamese ethnicity. Angkar would ultimately decide their fate.<sup>11554</sup>

---

BOU Van DC-Cam interview, E3/7498, ERN (En) 00884966; CHAN Kea Interview Record, E3/7525, 30 August 2005, pp. 41-42, ERN (En) 00885014-00885015.

<sup>11548</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/395.1, pp. 7-8. See also, T. 15 March 2016 (Alexander HINTON), E1/402.1, pp. 10-11; SAOY Yen Interview Record, E3/9801, 8 May 2015, p. 5, ERN (En) 01111933 (“The Khmer Rouge cadres stated their hatred of the ethnic Vietnamese. They stated that they would do everything they could to rid of the Vietnamese. They stated repeatedly that when a tree is cut its roots must also be uprooted.”).

<sup>11549</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/395.1, pp. 6-8. For evidence of children of a Cambodian mother spared, while the Vietnamese father was killed, see T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 30-31, 37-38; T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, pp. 47-48; T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, pp. 83-84; T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, p. 76.

<sup>11550</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, p. 76.

<sup>11551</sup> T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, pp. 28-29. The witness did not attend these meetings herself. See T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, p. 28.

<sup>11552</sup> T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, p. 26.

<sup>11553</sup> T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, pp. 53, 56.

<sup>11554</sup> DK Report, E3/863, 17 May 1978, p. 2, ERN (En) 00321962.

3427. The KHIEU Samphan Defence noted three instances where children of a Vietnamese mother were not targeted,<sup>11555</sup> or where children of a Vietnamese father were targeted,<sup>11556</sup> which purportedly cast doubt on the existence of a matrilineal policy. None of the other parties addressed this issue. Considering the compelling evidence set out above, the Chamber finds that these isolated events do not call into question the existence of the CPK policy targeting mixed families based on matrilineal ethnicity.

3428. The Chamber is satisfied that, from 1975, the CPK considered the Vietnamese ethnicity to be matrilineal and, as a result, targeted in mixed families Vietnamese mothers and their children while sparing Khmer fathers, as well as targeting Vietnamese fathers while sparing Khmer mothers and children.

13.3.7. Movement of Vietnamese Civilians from Cambodia to Vietnam

3429. The Closing Order finds that the CPK policy of expelling all Vietnamese people from Cambodia and sending them to Vietnam started in 1973 and was further implemented in 1975 and 1976, in Prey Veng, Svay Rieng and throughout Cambodia.<sup>11557</sup> It charges the Accused with the deportation of a large number of Vietnamese from Prey Veng and Svay Rieng in 1975 and 1976.<sup>11558</sup> The KHIEU Samphan Defence does not address the substance of these allegations, on the basis that the Chamber was not properly seised of deportation. The NUON Chea Defence submits that any return of Vietnamese to Vietnam was voluntary; that elements of the crime have not been established, namely their lawful presence on Cambodian territory and the absence of a legitimate justification for their removal;<sup>11559</sup> and more generally that the evidence presented was vague and unsubstantiated.<sup>11560</sup>

<sup>11555</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1994, 2196, 2197.

<sup>11556</sup> KHIEU Samphan Closing Brief, paras 1997-1998.

<sup>11557</sup> Closing Order, para. 794.

<sup>11558</sup> Closing Order, paras 1397-1398.

<sup>11559</sup> T. 19 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/524.1, pp. 33-34; T. 20 June 2017 (Closing Statements), E1/525.1, pp. 42-45.

<sup>11560</sup> NUON Chea Closing Brief, paras 813-822.

13.3.7.1. Prey Veng province

3430. SAO Sak lived in Anlung Trea village, Preaek Chrey commune, Peam Ro district (Sector 24) her entire life and her mother was “half-blood Vietnamese”.<sup>11561</sup> She testified that “[f]rom 1969 to 1971, there were Vietnamese living sporadically in Lvea Aem [sic] district, however there were only a few living in Prey Veng and later on they all had been evacuated”.<sup>11562</sup> She directly witnessed the Vietnamese living in Anlung Trea village, Preaek Chrey commune, Kampong Leav district, Prey Veng province being gathered and “evacuated to the lower part”, with mixed families being gathered “continuously and they were sent by boats”.<sup>11563</sup> She did not know where they were sent to and did not know what happened to these persons outside her village, but heard from fellow villagers that those people were evacuated to Vietnam, because the Vietnamese were not allowed to live in Cambodia.<sup>11564</sup> EM Bunnim’s statement to the Co-Investigating Judges adds that the Vietnamese in Anlung Trea village were told by the civil authorities of the village and commune to go back to Vietnam, and he himself witnessed them leaving by boat from Anlung Trea village to Neak Loeung.<sup>11565</sup> BUN Reun’s statement to the Co-Investigating Judges further mentions one Vietnamese child being summoned by the village chief of Anlung Trea village and on the same day, the son of Voeun, “being arrested, put in a boat, and taken away”.<sup>11566</sup> BUN Reun indicates

<sup>11561</sup> T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, pp. 75-76, 80. See also, Combined Statistics in Country Construction in Dual Sector (23-24), E3/8390, undated, ERN (En) 00721017 (listing statistics from Peam Ro district).

<sup>11562</sup> T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, p. 78.

<sup>11563</sup> T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, pp. 89-90 (“I saw [the Vietnamese] being gathered and they were evacuated to the lower part. As for those who were from the mixed families, they actually were gathered up continuously and they were sent by boats. So for the mixed families, usually they would be sent one family at a time and they kept disappearing”).

<sup>11564</sup> T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, p. 90 (“I did not know, I only heard that they were being sent back to Vietnam. I did not know where they had been sent to.”); T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/363.1, pp. 16-18 (SAO Sak confirmed knowing that people were sent back to their home country from other villagers (“I heard from my fellow villagers that those people were evacuated to their home country, Vietnam, because the Vietnamese were not allowed to live in Cambodia that’s what I heard from fellow villagers”), 19 (She did not know what happened to Vietnamese outside her village).

<sup>11565</sup> EM Bunnim Interview Record, E3/7760, 4 April 2009, p. 3, ERN (En) 00322930 (“After the Khmer Rouge won [the war] in 1975 the Vietnamese people who had been living in Anlung Trea village (for a long time ago), were told by the civil authorities of the village and the commune to go back to Vietnam. I saw with my own eyes those Vietnamese people rode in the boats from Anlung village down to Neak Loeung”).

<sup>11566</sup> BUN Reun Interview Record, E3/7811, 15 January 2009, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00282553-00282554 (BUN Reun was the messenger for the village chief of Anlung Trea from 1975 to 1979 and explained being instructed to send the son of a Vietnamese villager to the village chief, but he did not follow this order as the boy was crying. He also witnessed the son of Voeun who was 7-8 years old being arrested, put in a boat and taken away).

that he learned of the transport of Vietnamese to Vietnam “through villagers and through [his] personal observation”.<sup>11567</sup> 3431. From 1975, DOUNG Oeurn who was living in Pou Chentam village, Svay Antor commune, Prey Veng district, Prey Veng province, heard that the Vietnamese living in her area had to return to Vietnam and that Ta Ki, Yeay Min and their children did.<sup>11568</sup> The manner in which this return occurred, however, was not further explored in court.

3432. Evidence suggests that an announcement was made in late 1975 by Ta Muon and Sin, the chiefs of Angkor Yos village, Preaek Anteah, Prey Veng district, Prey Veng province, that Angkar needed to send Vietnamese back to Vietnam and that subsequently many families, including Hong’s family left by boat under the supervision of Khmer Rouge cadres. They went to K’am Samnar on the Cambodian-Vietnamese border in Leuk Daek district of Sector 25, where “the Vietnamese side came to receive over these ethnic Vietnamese”. Hong’s family eventually had to go back as his family was declared to be Khmer.<sup>11569</sup> Even though this results from an annex to a Civil Party Application and therefore bears very limited probative value, the Chamber finds that this corroborates the existence of a pattern of displacements of Vietnamese in Prey Veng province in 1975.

3433. The Chamber is satisfied that Vietnamese living in Prey Veng province were ordered to go to Vietnam and that such events took place from 1975. The evidence regarding the displacement of entire Vietnamese families living in Prey Veng province, and their subsequent transportation by boats is consistent with the evidence put before the Chamber concerning a nationwide pattern of expulsion of all people of Vietnamese ethnicity living in Cambodia from mid-1975 to the end of 1976.

3434. Indeed, as outlined above, with the start of bilateral discussions between <sup>11567</sup> BUN Reun Interview Record, E3/7811, 15 January 2009, ERN (En) 00282554.

<sup>11568</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 5, 7, 10-11 (“During the Khmer Rouge regime starting from 1975, did you hear or receive any information that Vietnamese who were living in Cambodia or in your area had to return to Vietnam? A. Yes. And in fact, I urged my husband to go together, but he refused to go. He said to live or to die, he would remain in Cambodia”); T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, p. 11 (“Q. And did you know if there were any Vietnamese families that returned to Vietnam after the announcement was made for Vietnamese to return to Vietnam? Did you know any? A. Yes. There were Ta Ki and Yeay Min and their children. The whole family actually went to Vietnam. And the man actually returned to Cambodia and, later on, he died.”).

<sup>11569</sup> PEOU Hong Civil Party Application Annex, E3/7165a, 14 November 2007, ERN (En) 00824527.

Cambodia and Vietnam in June 1975, a policy aimed at deporting ethnic Vietnamese to Vietnam was implemented with some participation from Vietnamese authorities.<sup>11570</sup> Evidence of such implementation was given by former CPK cadre who testified in court,<sup>11571</sup> Civil Parties who lived in other parts of Cambodia at that time, especially around the Tonlé Sap lake where numerous Vietnamese families lived at the time, and who pointed out that Khmer spouse of mixed families had to stay in Cambodia,<sup>11572</sup> as

<sup>11570</sup> See above, para. 3386.

<sup>11571</sup> T. 6 July 2015 (TOIT Thoeurn), F1/3.1, pp. 7, 19, 112-113 (TOIT Thoeurn, the foster son of the Northwest Zone Secretary RUOS Nhim, testified before the Supreme Court Chamber during appeal proceedings in Case 002/01 and stated that before he was sent to study in China from January 1976, he “escorted Vietnamese people to return to Vietnam”. He clarified that people were transported by boat from Battambang through Tonlé Sap river and that, before handing over Vietnamese people to Vietnamese authorities, he stopped at Phnom Penh where he met Pang who gave him a letter); T. 26 January 2016 (PRUM Sarat), E1/382.1, pp. 52-53, 71-72 (Similarly, PRUM Sarat, Commander of Regiment 140 in Division 164, testified that “another deportation [of the Vietnamese] took place in 1975 or 1976” and that “the deportation [was] made in the name of the government of Democratic Kampuchea”). See also, SUM Alat Interview Record, E3/4637, 10 June 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00422125 (Khmer Rouge gathered the Vietnamese and transported them by boats through Tonlé Sap and had them returned home. Other Vietnamese did not go back because they had Cambodian spouses. Later in 1977 the Khmer Rouge searched for and took them away for execution).

<sup>11572</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 6, 32-33 73-74, 86, 98; VEN Van Interview record, E3/9780, 27 February 2014, pp. 2-10, ERN (En) 00986175-00986183 (In 1975 this Civil Party lived in Bakan district, Pursat province, he is Khmer and his wife was Vietnamese. They had six children. In 1975 Vietnamese people from Phnum Kravanh district up to Pursat town and Krakor district were gathered. He estimated that one hundred thousand Vietnamese people were sent back to Vietnam. His wife, his children and his family in law were asked to go to Vietnam but they decided to stay as the Khmer Rouge refused to let him go. In 1977 his wife and other Vietnamese people were sent at Phum Veal security centre and were killed at Tuol Kakaoh); TROENG Yang Interview Record, E3/5588, 15 December 2009, ERN (En) 00421059-00421063 (This Civil Party of Vietnamese ethnicity lived in Baribo district, Kampong Chhnang province. He was a fisherman and at the end of 1975 he was transferred to Kep mountain to work at a dam construction site. Later on lot of Vietnamese people were gathered at the river front. Boats were brought in and they were asked to go back to Vietnam. He heard that they were repatriated in exchange for salt); DOU Yang Aun Interview Record, E3/5587, 15 December 2009, ERN (En) 00426465-00426467 (This Civil Party of Vietnamese ethnicity lived in Kampong Leang district, Kampong Chhnang province. At a meeting the commune chief announced that Vietnamese people were taken by boat to Vietnam back to their country. People walked to the river bank and went on 7 or 8 ferries, with roughly 200 people transported in each ferry. The people who were placed in the lower floor suffocated to death along the way. On the ferries there were Khmer Rouge in black clothes with a cap who were armed. When they arrived at the border he saw a Vietnamese official named NGUYEN Gia Dang who told him that they were exchanged with salt. Khmer spouses were not accepted and Vietnamese officials were stricter than the Khmer Rouge); EAR Sophal Interview Record, E3/5238, 13 January 2009, pp. 4-5, ERN (En) 00270671-00270672 (the Civil Party states that late 1975, the Vietnamese authorities were asking their citizens to return to Vietnam and his family succeeded in leaving Democratic Kampuchea in 1976. His mother had a language test in Koh Dach); T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 34, 39, 41-42, 57-60, CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet Civil Party Supplementary Statement, E3/5631, 21 December 2010, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00678292-93 (This civil party of Vietnamese ethnicity lived in Kampong Leang district, Kampong Chhnang province, after having witnessed and survived to the killings of his family in Dar commune, Kep mountain in April or March 1975, he joined other Vietnamese and went to Vietnam by boat in June or July 1975. He saw many ferries going to Vietnam. On the way they stopped three days at Neak Loeung, where Vietnamese arrived in large boats and traded rice and salt with the Khmer rouge). See also, PHAI Srung Civil Party Supplementary Statement, E3/5634, 22 November 2010, ERN (En) 000678299-00678300 (PHAI Srung lived in Phnum Kuk, Baribour district, Kampong Chhnang province. In July 1975 all Vietnamese people in Baribour district had to be transferred down to the port at Kampong Leang district. There, many well as documentary evidence.<sup>11573</sup>

3435. The Chamber has also found that a large number of Vietnamese were expelled from Tram Kak district in 1975 and 1976 and sent to Vietnam.<sup>11574</sup>

3436. In light of the above, and considering the existing nationwide policy to expel Vietnamese from Cambodia, the Chamber is satisfied that the removal of Vietnamese had been witnessed from 1975 in Prey Veng province, that the overall environment in Prey Veng was coercive and that the Vietnamese people involved lacked any genuine choice in leaving the country. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the only reasonable inference which can be drawn from the gathering, removal and departure by Vietnamese people including from Kep Mountain (district 16) had to go by boat to the border. All the people who were ill, died along the way. They passed by Phnom Penh. There were seven or eight Khmer Rouge cadre on his boat. At the border anyone who was Khmer or Chinese had to stay, specifically Khmer men who had Vietnamese wives were stopped. Language was used to identify Vietnamese and Khmer people. There was an allegation that Vietnamese people were traded for salt); LE Yang Sour Civil Party Supplementary Statement, E3/4574, 21 December 2010, ERN (En) 00678172 (this Civil Party of Vietnamese ethnicity lived in Kampong Leang district, Kampong Chhnang province where he was a fisherman. Four months after the Khmer Rouge entered in his village all Vietnamese families were forcibly transferred to the waterfront. Vietnamese were selected on the basis of facial characteristics and language. The children from mixed families who spoke Khmer fluently remained in Cambodia, all others, including himself, were sent to Vietnam by boat); NGUYEN Thi Tyet Civil Party Application, E3/4731, 5 December 2008, pp. 3, 6-7, ERN (En) 00464744, 00464747-00464748 (Civil Party lived in Kampong Leang district, Kampong Chhnang province. In 1975, 28 people of her family were taken away to be killed by the Khmer Rouge. In August 1975, she went back to Vietnam by boat, and she heard that Vietnam brought in salt in exchange for the release of Vietnamese people); NGVIENG Yang An Civil Party Supplementary Statement, E3/5633, 22 December 2010, ERN (En) 00678296-00678298 (This Civil Party of Vietnamese ethnicity lived in Kampong Leang district, Kampong Chhnang province where he was a fisherman. In April 1975, he was first transferred with 250 families to Dar mountain. Three months later he was asked to attend a meeting at Kampong Boeung and he was then forced to join many other Vietnamese people on a ferry. When they arrived at the border he saw Vietnamese government officials exchanging people for rice, one person equalling 20 kilograms of rice); NGVIENG Yang An Civil Party Application, undated, E3/6696, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01069328-01069329; NEOU Sarem Interview by VOA, E3/6934, 30 December 2008, p. 11, ERN (En) 01003411 (The Civil Party had a training with KHIEU Samphan where he talked about the “solution toward Yuon (Vietnamese people) in Kampuchea”. The civil party adds “Khieu Samphan said that all people in Kampuchea had to do farming. Those who did not know how to do farming, especially the Vietnamese, would be sent back to Vietnam. So the Khmer Rouge had prepared a plan to send the Vietnamese back to Vietnam. They prepared food and sent them back by boats. Khieu Samphan said this problem would be solved easily”).

---

<sup>11573</sup> Revolutionary Flag, E3/759, April 1976, pp. 5-6, ERN (En) 00517853-00517854 (discussing in general terms having swept clean “hundreds of thousands” of foreigners and having “expelled” them out the country. The Chamber recalls that the only reasonable interpretation to this reference to “foreigners” referred to Vietnamese previously present in Cambodia. See above, paras 3387-3388); Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre Notebook, E3/5827, undated, pp. 6-7, ERN (En) 00866429-00866430 (the note on detainee ING Try states that “In January 1976 Angkar rounded the Yuon [Vietnamese] people and sent them back to Vietnam. [...] At that time Angkar transported him, his brother and father by truck to Phnom Den. The Yuon came to receive those Vietnamese families at Phnom Den, but they accepted only those of pure ethnic Yuon [Vietnamese]”).

<sup>11574</sup> See also, Section 10.1.10: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Treatment of the Vietnamese.

boat of Vietnamese in Prey Veng province from 1975 is that at least a significant number of them were transported to Vietnam and were forced to cross the border.

13.3.7.2. Svay Rieng province

3437. The Chamber heard evidence from Witness UNG Sam Ean indicating that, after 1975, four to five Vietnamese families living within a kilometre of Kraham Ka village, Chantrei subdistrict, Romeas Haek district, were “chased away to return to their country”.<sup>11575</sup> However, the witness could not recall the exact date and could not indicate what happened to these families,<sup>11576</sup> and later contradicted herself in stating that the arrest happened before the fall of Phnom Penh.<sup>11577</sup> Further, the Civil Party gave inconsistent answers as to the details of the arrest of the Vietnamese families, including their children, and as to whether she personally witnessed them being taken away.<sup>11578</sup> However, she consistently testified that she no longer saw any of the members of these families with Vietnamese links.<sup>11579</sup>

3438. Evidence shows that in 1975, in Leakreacha village, Chak subdistrict, Rumduol district, ethnic Vietnamese who had lived there for generations were sent back to Vietnam.<sup>11580</sup> KHOEM Samon told OCIJ investigators that she knew a girl named Kun who was sent back with her family to her country.<sup>11581</sup>

3439. In light of the above, and recalling the Chamber’s findings on the existence of a nationwide policy to expel Vietnamese and on specific instances of forced

<sup>11575</sup> T. 11 December 2015 (UNG Sam Ean), E1/366.1, pp. 38-40; UNG Ian Interview Record, E3/7796, 11 December 2008, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00268644-002686445.

<sup>11576</sup> T. 11 December 2015 (UNG Sam Ean), E1/366.1, p. 39 (“I only noticed that they disappeared from the village and I did not know where they went or whether they returned to their country”). See also, T. 11 December 2015 (UNG Sam Ean), E1/366.1, pp. 40-41 (the witness refers to the families being “arrested and taken away” and later on to children being “taken to a mobile unit”).

<sup>11577</sup> T. 11 December 2015 (UNG Sam Ean), E1/366.1, p. 50.

<sup>11578</sup> T. 11 December 2015 (UNG Sam Ean), E1/366.1, pp. 39 (“Q. Do you know whether those Vietnamese people were arrested and taken away? A. No, I don’t.”), 40 (“Q. Did you witness the arrest? A. I witnessed it, that’s why I said it; if I did not see it, I would not say it.”), 42-43 (“Q. My question is about the parents of those children who were taken away. Were they sent somewhere? A. No, they were not. They remained living in their houses.”), 43 (“Q. Does it mean you did not know about the fate of the parents of those mixed-race children? Am I correct? A. No, I did not know about their fate.”), 50 (“Q. So how do you know then that some Vietnamese had been chased out of the village and sent back to their country? How did you learn that? Is this something that people talked about in the village? A. Villagers living close to my house mentioned about that”).

<sup>11579</sup> See e.g., T. 11 December 2015 (UNG Sam Ean), E1/366.1, pp. 39-43; UNG Ian Interview Record, E3/7796, 11 December 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00268645.

<sup>11580</sup> KHOEM Samon Interview Record, E3/5260, 11 December 2008, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 00327159-00327160.

<sup>11581</sup> KHOEM Samon Interview Record, E3/5260, 11 December 2008, p. 2, ERN (En) 00327160.

displacements in the neighbouring province of Prey Veng, the Chamber finds that it is very likely that some Vietnamese people were deported from Svay Rieng to Vietnam. However, considering the inconsistencies in UNG Sam Ean's account and the fact that KHOEM Samon's evidence on this matter was limited to only one case, which could not be fully explored as the Parties did not have the opportunity to question this witness in court, the Chamber finds that the removal of Vietnamese had been witnessed in 1975 in Svay Rieng province. The available evidence, however, does not meet the required standard to establish specific instances of forcible displacements of Vietnamese across the border to Vietnam beyond reasonable doubt in Svay Rieng province from 1975.

13.3.7.3. Tram Kak district

3440. The charge of deportation of Vietnamese in Tram Kak district is dealt with under the relevant section of this Judgement.<sup>11582</sup>

13.3.8. Killing of Vietnamese Civilians in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng Provinces

3441. The Closing Order finds that waves of killings of Vietnamese civilians occurred in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng provinces in the East Zone from April 1977.<sup>11583</sup> It further finds that the killing of Vietnamese civilians was "organised as a national policy", and occurred "throughout Cambodia", including a mass execution at Wat Khsach in mid-to-late 1978.<sup>11584</sup>

13.3.8.1. Prey Veng province

3442. In 1978 or 1979, SAO Sak's mother, who was then in charge of taking care of babies and children at the cooperative, was called into a meeting at Krasar Pha'eul village in the southeast of Anlong Trea village where she went with SAO Sak's daughter.<sup>11585</sup> A militiaman named Khon informed SAO Sak that her mother was detained and she learned that "[a]nyone who was related to Vietnamese origin would be taken away and killed".<sup>11586</sup> The source of this information has not been identified.

<sup>11582</sup> Section 10.1.10: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Treatment of the Vietnamese.

<sup>11583</sup> Closing Order, paras 214, 797, 1378.

<sup>11584</sup> Closing Order, paras 802-803.

<sup>11585</sup> T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, pp. 81-82, 85.

<sup>11586</sup> T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, pp. 82-83.

She heard from other villagers that “the Vietnamese were not allowed to live in Cambodia”.<sup>11587</sup> She went to visit her mother in Krasar Pha’eul village to get her daughter back.<sup>11588</sup> In doing so, her mother told her not to think of her since she was getting old, and SAO Sak realised then that she would be taken away and killed.<sup>11589</sup> That is the last time SAO Sak saw her mother; she never heard anything about her again, even after the war ended.<sup>11590</sup> She said others in her village with Vietnamese links also disappeared and never returned but she did not know where they were taken.<sup>11591</sup> She believed that the village chief made statistics or reports about the ethnicity of the villagers and that is how the higher ranks in the Angkar knew who was ethnic Khmer. However, she did not know of statistics about ethnic Vietnamese.<sup>11592</sup>

3443. The Chamber notes that SAO Sak also affirmed in her previous statement made before the Co-Investigating Judges, as well as testified in court that after the arrest of her mother, she was herself called to attend a meeting at Wat Anlong Trea and then she was sent to Ang (or Angkor Ang) village, near Chheu Kach mountain in Ba Phnom district, where she was detained for 10 or 12 days with her three children. There she was asked the ethnicity and the previous occupation of her father and she answered that he was Khmer and a villager. She further stated that she “recognised that if the father or the mother was Vietnamese the children were taken away and killed” and she added that she “don’t know why [she] got to return home”.<sup>11593</sup>

3444. Noting that SAO Sak’s mother was of Vietnamese ethnicity and that SAO Sak and her children were nonetheless spared and allowed to return to their home, the Chamber finds that they benefited from an exception to the nationwide policy to kill Vietnamese living in Cambodia at the time. Though the final fate of the mother remains unknown, it cannot be ruled out that while she was arrested and disappeared, she eventually also benefited from a similar exception. Therefore, a finding about her death as a consequence of this policy cannot be made to the requisite standard.

<sup>11587</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/363.1, p. 17.

<sup>11588</sup> T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, p. 83.

<sup>11589</sup> T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, p. 83.

<sup>11590</sup> T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, p. 85.

<sup>11591</sup> T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, p. 89. See also, T. 7 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/363.1, pp. 4-9.

<sup>11592</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/363.1, pp. 13-14.

<sup>11593</sup> T. 3 December 2015 (SAO Sak), E1/362.1, pp. 86-88; SAO Sak Interview Record, E3/7780, 14 October 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00235512.

3445. In Pou Chentam village, Svay Antor commune, Prey Veng district (Sector 20), there were three families with Vietnamese members living there in 1975.<sup>11594</sup> All three families were from mixed marriages, with one spouse being Khmer and the other being Vietnamese. The three Vietnamese spouses were named Van Ngang, Chuy, and San (the wife of LACH Ny).<sup>11595</sup> LACH Ny's brother, LACH Kry, and Chuy's wife, DOUNG Oeurn, gave evidence in Case 002/02.<sup>11596</sup> DOUNG Oeurn stated that her husband Chuy was taken away to cut rumpeak vine and he "simply disappeared".<sup>11597</sup> Although DOUNG Oeurn did not witness her husband being walked away, she said her mother was present and told her he was taken from his house by one person saying he would be back soon, but he "never returned".<sup>11598</sup> According to THANG Phal, who was also from Pou Chentam village, people were saying that "the Vietnamese including Chuy and LACH Ny's wife had been taken away for a study session".<sup>11599</sup>

3446. LACH Kry stated that San, his sister-in-law, and her four children were arrested in November 1977, placed on a horse cart and taken away.<sup>11600</sup> LACH Kry was harvesting rice nearby with 20 others including his brother LACH Ny when they saw three militiamen, including Ngoy, the chief of security in Svay Antor, call out for San to take her to a study session.<sup>11601</sup> LACH Ny fainted upon witnessing his wife and children getting arrested.<sup>11602</sup> Their eldest daughter was working about two kilometres away and "the militiaman went to fetch her after them".<sup>11603</sup> LACH Kry said he later spoke to the driver of the horse cart and he told him that San and her children were taken to Trapeang Pring forest where two security guards received them.<sup>11604</sup> LACH

<sup>11594</sup> T. 5 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/370.1, pp. 80, 89, 94; T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, pp. 54, 61.

<sup>11595</sup> T. 5 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/370.1, pp. 92, 94-96; T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, pp. 59-61 ("What was her (LACH Ny's wife) name? A. Sam San (phonetic) was her name. [...] Q. Can you provide more detail to the Court regarding these three Vietnamese families and who was of Vietnamese origin within these families? A. One was Wan (phonetic) Ngang, the father and mother were Vietnamese; and the second family was Chuy, who had a wife who was Khmer; and third was the wife of my brother, Lach Ny.").

<sup>11596</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, pp. 57-60; T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 8-10.

<sup>11597</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 11-12, 28-29, 59-60.

<sup>11598</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 12-13.

<sup>11599</sup> T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, p. 62.

<sup>11600</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, pp. 64-65.

<sup>11601</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, pp. 64-66.

<sup>11602</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, p. 66.

<sup>11603</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, p. 65.

<sup>11604</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, p. 69.

Kry and his brother never saw them again.<sup>11605</sup> DOUNG Oeurn also gave evidence that she never saw them since that day.<sup>11606</sup> THANG Phal also testified that LACH Ny's wife and children "disappeared ever since after it was said that they had been taken away for a study session".<sup>11607</sup> He heard from villagers that LACH Ny's wife and Chuy "had been transferred by a horse cart toward the east direction to be killed" and that "Vietnamese had been gathered, taken away and executed".<sup>11608</sup>

3447. Upon hearing this, THANG Phal realised that Ngang could have been killed as well since he had also "just disappeared".<sup>11609</sup> Indeed, THANG Phal testified to having worked in a unit with Ngang cutting rumpeak vine but when the Deputy Village Chief called the unit back to the village around late 1976, Ngang was ordered to stay behind.<sup>11610</sup> This is corroborated by DOUNG Oeurn's evidence that Ngang was taken to cut rumpeak vine and that he "disappeared from that time onwards. He never returned."<sup>11611</sup> Likewise, LACH Kry gave evidence that he no longer saw Ngang in the village after he "disappeared".<sup>11612</sup> Ngang's wife was Khmer and they had two children, all of whom are still alive today.<sup>11613</sup>

3448. THANG Phal testified that "the work of Angkar" was such that "it was believed that if the mother was Vietnamese then the children would also be Vietnamese" and would thereby "be taken away, as well. However, if the father was Vietnamese and the mother was Khmer then the children would not be taken away."<sup>11614</sup> According to

<sup>11605</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, pp. 69, 89.

<sup>11606</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 38-39.

<sup>11607</sup> T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, p. 56.

<sup>11608</sup> T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, pp. 44-45. See also, SIN Sun Interview Record, E3/9339, 23 September 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00234115; IENG On Interview Record, E3/9352, 16 September 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00231660.

<sup>11609</sup> T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, p. 44.

<sup>11610</sup> T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, pp. 41-44. LACH Kry testified that Ngang's arrest happened first, in late 1975, perhaps December or November. See T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, pp. 93, 100. See also, T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 14, 16 (DOUNG Oeurn could not recall the date but remembered that "Ngang had been taken away first to cut 'rumpeak vine'. Ngang disappeared from that time onwards. He never returned" and "Ngang was the first one who was taken away, and then LACH Ny. And my husband was the last one who was taken away.").

<sup>11611</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, p. 14.

<sup>11612</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, p. 73.

<sup>11613</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 37-38 ("Ngang's wife was not taken away. She is living. As of now, I do not know her place of residence. She's living in a different location now"); T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, pp. 47-48 ("At the time when their father was taken away and killed, they were not harmed and are still staying in the same house"); T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, p. 84 (Ngang's wife went to live in Siem Reap and LACH Kry does "not know about their condition now").

<sup>11614</sup> T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, pp. 53, 56.

LACH Kry, this was “widely known” by villagers.<sup>11615</sup> Similarly, when DOUNG Oeurn was asked why San’s children were also taken away she responded: “the children were taken away because the mother was ethnically Vietnamese and they would not spare even a single child”.<sup>11616</sup> Although DOUNG Oeurn is Khmer, she feared that her daughter, who was named KIM Va, a Vietnamese surname, might be taken away as was her Vietnamese father, so she renamed her “Kamean”.<sup>11617</sup> Kamean was not taken away.<sup>11618</sup>

3449. There was no specific discrimination against Vietnamese families in Pou Chentam before they were taken away.<sup>11619</sup> no specific meetings dealing with people of Vietnamese ethnicity were held ahead of the transfers or arrests,<sup>11620</sup> and the witnesses did not know the reason why these families had been taken away.<sup>11621</sup>

3450. The Chamber notes that the LACH Kry, THANG Pal, and DOUNG Oeurn do not fully corroborate each other’s testimony on the dates and the sequence of these events. LACH Kry testified that Chuy’s arrest happened late 1976, almost one year after Ngang’s arrest, thus placing Ngang’s arrest late 1975.<sup>11622</sup> THANG Phal places Chuy and LACH Ny’s wife and children being taken to a study session on the same day of Ngang’s disappearance, late 1976 or early 1977.<sup>11623</sup> After having her memory refreshed, DOUNG Oeurn stated that her husband Chuy was taken away to cut rumpeak vine in 1977.<sup>11624</sup> Considering the passage of time and the fact that the three witnesses’

<sup>11615</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, p. 76 (“If the husband was Khmer and the wife was Vietnamese, she together with the children were taken away. If the husband was Vietnamese and the wife was Khmer, only the husband was taken, not a single child was taken”).

<sup>11616</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 38-39.

<sup>11617</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 8, 10, 20-21.

<sup>11618</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, p. 10; T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, p. 84.

<sup>11619</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 19, 37 (“No, no derogatory and insulting words were used. Before me, no one used this kind of words”); T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, pp. 63-64 (“They were living like other ordinary villagers”) (“For San, the Vietnamese, nothing happened to her until 1977 when the situation changed [...] She was living like the rest of the villagers”); T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, pp. 63-64 (“Concerning the gathering of ‘Yuon’, I never heard of it. Only after I had heard of Ngang’s arrest was I aware of such an event. However, before that, I never heard that Vietnamese were being arrested, taken away and killed. The Angkar could have kept it confidential.”).

<sup>11620</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, p. 40; T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, pp. 66-68; T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, pp. 56-57, 64.

<sup>11621</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, p. 75; T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, pp. 50, 52-53.

<sup>11622</sup> T. 20 January 2016 (LACH Kry), E1/379.1, p. 93.

<sup>11623</sup> T. 6 January 2016 (THANG Phal), E1/371.1, pp. 44, 68-69.

<sup>11624</sup> T. 25 January 2016 (DOUNG Oeurn), E1/381.1, pp. 11-12, 28-29, 59-60.

accounts corroborate one another in large parts, the Chamber finds that discrepancies regarding the dates and the sequence of events do not affect the overall credibility of their live testimonies. The Chamber recalls, however, that it is seised of killings of Vietnamese starting in April 1977. In light of the above, the Chamber is unable to establish with certainty whether the events described by LACH Kry, THANG Pal, and DOUNG Oeurn occurred within the temporal scope of the charges. The Chamber will therefore not take into account, in its legal findings, the killings of Van Ngang, Chuy, and San.

3451. The overall evidence presented with regard to killings of Vietnamese in Prey Veng province consists of direct and indirect evidence of transfers or arrests of Vietnamese individuals who were then taken away and never returned. The witnesses later found out through hearsay that these individuals were in fact killed. Taking into account the nationwide targeting of the Vietnamese, as evidenced before the Chamber,<sup>11625</sup> it is probable that killings of Vietnamese occurred in Prey Veng province. However, considering the circumstantial and inconclusive evidence presented, the Chamber cannot conclude to the relevant standard that killings occurred. Additionally, recalling that the Chamber will not consider the killings of VAN Ngang, Chuy, and San, and because of the uncertainty surrounding the date where the killings described by LACH Kry, THANG Pal, and DOUNG Oeurn occurred, the Chamber is unable to reasonably establish that waves of killings of Vietnamese civilians occurred in Prey Veng province from April 1977.

13.3.8.2. Svay Rieng province

3452. SIENG Chanthy, who worked in a cooperative in Svay Chrum district, gave evidence that the cooperative chief was well aware of which families were of Vietnamese origin: “They knew clearly who was who in the village. As for my family, the chief of the cooperative knew it very well that my grandparents were ethnically Vietnamese.”<sup>11626</sup> Her father was ethnically Vietnamese and her mother was Khmer.<sup>11627</sup> After 17 April 1975, she was “evacuated” with her family to Chhuk Sa village, Chheu Teal commune, Svay Rieng province and shortly after left for Ruessei Prey village, Chamlang commune, Svay Chrum district in Svay Rieng province because they were accused of “being feudal capitalist and of being Vietnamese half-blooded”.<sup>11628</sup> She said that villagers knew her father was Vietnamese, and that there were three mixed Vietnamese families in her village.<sup>11629</sup> During the harvest season, meaning toward the later part of the year of 1977, SIENG Chanthy heard from villagers<sup>11630</sup> that her brother Chanthan and ten members of two of the Vietnamese families were taken away and killed at Tuol Sngnuon, to the east of Chey Pagoda.<sup>11631</sup> SIENG Chanthy’s father told her he witnessed two of the daughters from one of the Vietnamese families being raped and that he wanted to commit suicide to protect his family.<sup>11632</sup> She explained that “at the time, when the cooperative chiefs saw my father, they always said that my father, Ta Thoeung (phonetic) was a pure Vietnamese, and he was a Vietnamese puppet. He had a fair complexion which was different from others.”<sup>11633</sup> When her father hung himself, her mother said that he had never opposed the revolution but that “[h]e was terrified because his son had been taken away and killed and two Vietnamese families were also killed. He did not want to die the way his son was [sic], and that’s why he committed suicide because he wanted his six other children to survive.”<sup>11634</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that SIENG Chanthy’s father committed suicide in 1977 out of fear of being killed due to his Vietnamese ethnicity and wanting to protect his family.

<sup>11625</sup> See above, Sections 13.3.5-13.3.6.

<sup>11626</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/394.1, p. 22; T. 29 February 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/393.1, p. 90.

<sup>11627</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/393.1, p. 90; T. 1 March 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/394.1, p. 14.

3453. Witness SIN Chhem, who lived in Svay Yea village, Svay Chrum district, Svay Rieng province,<sup>11635</sup> testified that the four Vietnamese families who were living one kilometre away from her house were taken away at night by the commune chief in 1978 and disappeared.<sup>11636</sup> She stated that they were killed by someone named Savin along

<sup>11628</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/393.1, pp. 88, 90-91.

<sup>11629</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/394.1, p. 15.

<sup>11630</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/394.1, pp. 10, 21, 27.

<sup>11631</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/393.1, p. 93; T. 1 March 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/394.1, pp. 20-22, 26-27, 33-35.

<sup>11632</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/393.1, p. 93; T. 1 March 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/394.1, pp. 5, 35.

<sup>11633</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/393.1, p. 94.

<sup>11634</sup> T. 29 February 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/393.1, p. 95; T. 1 March 2016 (SIENG Chanthy), E1/394.1, p. 19.

<sup>11635</sup> T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, p. 4.

<sup>11636</sup> T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, pp. 26-27, 71 (it is unclear whether SIN Chhem witnessed this herself or if it was reported to her by her husband: “Q. And how did you know about the Vietnamese families who were taken away and killed, how did you know about that? A. Because they lived near my house, it was just one kilometre away and how come I didn’t know. And my husband was with others from the new commune committee and security guards, but the source of her knowledge is unclear.<sup>11637</sup> The witness never saw any killing but she saw scattered remains of dead bodies south of her house of unidentified “persons” whom she heard had been killed the night before.<sup>11638</sup> The witness also heard from close neighbours of Vietnamese people being taken away and killed in three other villages (Tuol Vihear, Sikar and Kien Ta Siv villages).<sup>11639</sup> The Chamber recalls its finding that the CPK internally as well as publicly targeted Vietnamese as a group through contemporaneous documents and speeches, and widely called, from April 1977, for their destruction.<sup>11640</sup> In light of the above, and considering the existing nationwide policy to kill Vietnamese living in Cambodia at the time, the Chamber is satisfied that the only reasonable conclusion which can be drawn from the arrest in 1978 by the commune chief followed by the disappearance of the four Vietnamese families living one kilometre away from SIN Chhem’s house and the presence of dead bodies close to this house, is that these arrests and disappearances were the result of the systematic implementation in this area of the said policy and that those who disappeared were killed.

3454. During her testimony in court, IN Yoeung was questioned on a DC-Cam statement given by her late husband in which another person identified as a “neighbour” also gave statements on the Vietnamese families in her area who were sent to Prey Chak village, Chrey commune, Svay Rieng province and then disappeared.<sup>11641</sup> However, her in-court testimony was unclear on whether she is the person identified as the “neighbour” or whether she was also interviewed at the time. The Chamber instructed the Parties not rely on that DC-Cam statement when putting questions to her.<sup>11642</sup> The Chamber further notes that IN Yoeung repeatedly answered that she could not recall a policeman in the commune. They were also the member of the commune committee” [...] “My husband said those people were fine and hard-working. And later on, those people were taken away to be killed and I had very much pity on them. Even their breast-fed baby was not spared”); SIN Chhem Interview Record, E3/7794, 5 December 2008, pp. 3, ERN (En) 00251406 (“During the 1978 rice transplanting season, people were evacuated in [...] After four or five days, they were taken further on”), 4, ERN (En) 00251407 (“At about the same time that the ethnic Khmer people were being selected for evacuation [...] [T]he ethnic Vietnamese were being arrested and killed”).

---

<sup>11637</sup> T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, pp. 27-30 (SIN Chhem heard of the killings through Savin/Savorn who “spread words”). See T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, p. 30.

<sup>11638</sup> T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, p. 79.

<sup>11639</sup> T. 14 December 2015 (SIN Chhem), E1/367.1, pp. 30-31.

<sup>11640</sup> See above, para. 3416.

<sup>11641</sup> T. 3 February 2016 (IN Yoeung), E1/387.1, pp. 66-79; CHAN Kea Interview Record, E3/7525, p. 40, ERN (En) 00885013.

<sup>11642</sup> T. 3 February 2016 (IN Yoeung), E1/387.1, pp. 66-79, 82.

anything in relation to information contained in that DC-Cam statement.<sup>11643</sup> The witness was also questioned on PRUM Yan's statement concerning the arrest of Tep's wife, a mixed-race Vietnamese women, in Khla Lout, Kampong Trach commune, Romeas Haek district, Svay Rieng province, described in the statement.<sup>11644</sup> PRUM Yan lived in IN Yoeung's village in Chheu Phleung and IN Yoeung knows him well to date.<sup>11645</sup> IN Yoeung testified that she had heard about this incident and that the woman arrested was killed. She recalled her being half-blooded Chinese, not Vietnamese, and her knowledge was based on what PRUM Yan had told her.<sup>11646</sup> The Chamber therefore finds that IN Yoeung's testimony is not helpful or reliable in providing evidence in relation to the treatment of Vietnamese and will not rely on it.

3455. In sum, the Chamber is satisfied that SIENG Chanthy's father committed suicide in 1977 out of fear of being killed due to his Vietnamese ethnicity and wanting to protect his family and that the four Vietnamese families living one kilometre away from SIN Chhem's house were killed in 1978. The remaining evidence provided by IN Yoeung and PRUM Yan with regard to killings of Vietnamese in Svay Rieng province is inconclusive and the Chamber cannot rely on them to conclude to the relevant standard that other specific instances of killings of Vietnamese civilians occurred in Svay Rieng province from April 1977.

13.3.9. Killing of Vietnamese Civilians Outside Prey Veng and Svay Rieng Provinces

13.3.9.1. Capture of Vietnamese boats

3456. MEAS Voeun, who was Deputy Commander of Division 1, testified that his division and the navy (Division 164) cooperated and shared information on operations to capture Thai and Vietnamese boats, including in order to "seize" any "Thai or 'Yvon' boat [that] encroached on our waters".<sup>11647</sup> He testified that between 1975 and 1979, when a boat with Vietnamese refugees approached the waters where Division 1 was

<sup>11643</sup> T. 3 February 2016 (IN Yoeung), E1/387.1, pp. 61-67, 74-79.

<sup>11644</sup> T. 3 February 2016 (IN Yoeung), E1/387.1, pp. 83-87; PRUM Yan Interview Record, E3/7816, 29 January 2009, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00292838-00292839.

<sup>11645</sup> T. 3 February 2016 (IN Yoeung), E1/387.1, p. 83.

<sup>11646</sup> T. 3 February 2016 (IN Yoeung), E1/387.1, p. 85.

<sup>11647</sup> T. 2 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/386.1, pp. 60-61.

situated at the coast of Koh Kong province,<sup>11648</sup> his division would capture it and send the captured Vietnamese to “the upper echelon”; the Division 164 headquarters in Kampong Som.<sup>11649</sup> The order to do so was issued by Ta Soeung, the commander of West Zone Division 1, who would then forward the report up the line of command.<sup>11650</sup> MEAS Voeun claimed not to know what happened to Vietnamese refugees once they were sent to the upper level: “when they were captured by my unit I would send them to my upper leadership level and whatever decision they made that was theirs”.<sup>11651</sup>

3457. PAK Sok, who was a member of Division 164, testified that between 1975 and 1979, thousands of Thai and Vietnamese fishermen and refugees were arrested and killed.<sup>11652</sup> He confirmed that if “Yuon” were arrested, whether soldiers or refugees, they would be killed.<sup>11653</sup> PAK Sok explained that “if there were many of the Vietnamese, they would be sent ashore. But if there were only a few Vietnamese, they would be killed right on the island”,<sup>11654</sup> referring to Poulo Wai Island.<sup>11655</sup> If those captured were Vietnamese soldiers, they would be sent ashore; some of them to S-21 Security Centre in Phnom Penh. Those sent to S-21 are discussed further in that section of this Judgement.<sup>11656</sup> A number of those who were detained at S-21 had their confessions broadcasted via the national radio before being killed.<sup>11657</sup> The orders

<sup>11648</sup> T. 2 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/386.1, p. 57.

<sup>11649</sup> T. 2 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/386.1, pp. 62-64; T. 3 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/387.1, pp. 10-11, 46-49.

<sup>11650</sup> T. 3 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/387.1, pp. 10, 14, 48-49, 52.

<sup>11651</sup> T. 2 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/386.1, pp. pp. 63-64 (“For me, for my unit, when they were captured then I would send them through to the upper level and I did not know the process that the upper level used in dealing with foreign matters. So I would send them through to the division.”), 65; T. 3 February 2016 (MEAS Voeun), E1/387.1, pp. 47-48 (“Regarding the refugees I had sent to the headquarter in Kampong Som, I did send them to the headquarter but, afterward, I did not know what happened to those people and what steps were taken”).

<sup>11652</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, pp. 15, 27-28. The Chamber notes that PAK Sok first testified having seen once or twice Vietnamese being brought to the Ou Chheu Teal port in 1977 and not knowing where they were taken “because [his] responsibility was assigned to base at the port”. See T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, p. 26. See also, MOUL Chhin Interview Record, pp. 12-13 (Answers 71, 74-76), ERN (En) 01056666-01056667.

<sup>11653</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, pp. 34-36.

<sup>11654</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, pp. 35-36.

<sup>11655</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, p. 36.

<sup>11656</sup> Section 12.2.17: S-21 Security Centre: Vietnamese Detainees.

<sup>11657</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, p. 22. The Chamber notes that PAK Sok first testified that if there were orders to send Vietnamese individuals to shore after capture, the soldiers would do so, but he had no knowledge of what happened after that. When confronted with his previous statement E3/9674, he then confirmed that “The orders were clear on whether they were to be killed on the spot or sent ashore. If those persons captured were Vietnamese soldiers, we had to send them to the shore, then they would broadcast their confessions via the national radio before they killed them”. See T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, pp. 21-22; Section 12.2.17: S-21 Security Centre: Vietnamese Detainees.

concerning the arrests and the fates of those who were arrested were relayed down the hierarchy, “from top to the bottom, division to regiment, and regiment to battalion, and then it was the soldiers who implemented [them]”.<sup>11658</sup> PAK Sok explained that the reports equally followed the chain of command, therefore any arrest was “reported to the battalion and the battalion reported to the regiment, and the regiment reported further to the division”.<sup>11659</sup>

3458. PAK Sok also testified about a number of killing incidents. Prior to 1977, when PAK Sok was with Regiment 622 at Koh Poulo, he witnessed the arrest of a Vietnamese family of “ordinary citizens” at sea, consisting of a husband, wife and a one-year-old child.<sup>11660</sup> They were sent to Poulo Wai Island where soldiers from a special unit of Regiment 622 tied them under a coconut tree and killed them using “the hoes and the bamboo clubs”. After the husband and wife died, “when it saw the mother was bleeding, the baby crawled to the mother and at that time the soldier picked up the baby and smashed against the trunk of the coconut tree”.<sup>11661</sup> The Chamber considers that while relevant to understand the pattern of conduct with regard to Vietnamese at sea, this incident falls outside the temporal scope of the charged killings of the Vietnamese, which start from April 1977, and accordingly will not consider this event in its legal findings.

3459. PAK Sok left Poulo Wai Island around April or May 1977<sup>11662</sup> and was then stationed at Ou Chheu Teal port until 1978.<sup>11663</sup> On one occasion, PAK Sok was involved in transporting 12 to 13 captured Vietnamese to the port by truck. He testified that they were beaten before being transported and that one of them had an amputated hand.<sup>11664</sup> According to the detainees, the amputee was a soldier while the rest of them were unarmed “ordinary people” heading to Thailand.<sup>11665</sup> PAK Sok recalled that there

<sup>11658</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, pp. 21-22, 34-35.

<sup>11659</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, p. 21.

<sup>11660</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, pp. 36-37.

<sup>11661</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, p. 36.

<sup>11662</sup> T. 5 January 2016 (PAK Sok), E1/370.1, p. 43.

<sup>11663</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, pp. 26-27, 36.

<sup>11664</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, p. 25. The Chamber notes that before being confronted with his prior statement, PAK Sok denied having ever arrested people from captured boats. See T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, pp. 23-24 (“Q. First of all sir, did you yourself ever capture any boats, people in boats? A. At that time, I myself did not make the arrest. Q. Sir, weren’t you involved in the capture of Vietnamese refugees? A. No, I was not involved in it”). He then reiterated having witnessed arrest and transportation of Vietnamese when he was stationed at Ou Chheu Teal port during cross-examination. See T. 5 January 2016 (PAK Sok), E1/370.1, p. 55.

<sup>11665</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, pp. 25-26.

was also a baby among the group who cried loudly once they arrived at Ou Chheu Teal port because the mother was tied up, as a result of which “the soldiers threw the baby into the sea”.<sup>11666</sup> PAK Sok tended to downplay his own responsibility during his testimony in court. However, when reminded of previous statements, he confirmed them.<sup>11667</sup> In light of this eventual confirmation of his previous testimony and taking into consideration the corroborating contemporaneous high-level evidence of a nationwide targeting of the Vietnamese,<sup>11668</sup> the Chamber finds his evidence generally credible and reliable.

3460. In a Division 164 report to Brother 89 dated 20 March 1978, MEAS Muth informs SON Sen of two incidents involving Vietnamese boats. In the first incident on 19 March 1978, Division 164 fired at a Vietnamese motorboat one kilometre south of Koh Khyang, causing it to sink, with “no damages” suffered by the Cambodia side.<sup>11669</sup> The second incident occurred at Koh Tang island on the same date as the report, and involved the capture of two Vietnamese motorboats. The report states that “76 Vietnamese people – both young and old, male and female” were tied up and brought to the main land, and that they lost two persons who fell into the water due to the fact that “the smaller motor-boat was shaky and plunged”.<sup>11670</sup>

3461. Considering the above, the Chamber is satisfied that Vietnamese boats entering DK territorial waters were systematically seized or otherwise targeted during the DK period, and that a number of Vietnamese fishermen and refugees were killed as a result, either on the spot or short after they were ashore, and accepts Pak Sok’s testimony that, while stationed at Ou Chheu Teal port after April or May 1977, he witnessed a baby being thrown into the sea by soldiers while he was transporting Vietnamese refugees as well as the two specific instances of killings mentioned in the 20 March 1978 Report.

13.3.9.2. Prey Nob district

3462. Civil Party KHOUY Muoy was separated from her parents in 1976 and sent to work in a mobile unit in Prey Nob district, Kampot province, while her parents

<sup>11666</sup> T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, p. 26.

<sup>11667</sup> See e.g., T. 16 December 2015 (PAK Sok), E1/369.1, pp. 22-27; T. 5 January 2016 (PAK Sok), E1/370.1, pp. 11-16.

<sup>11668</sup> See below, paras 3384-3416.

<sup>11669</sup> DK Report, E3/997, 20 March 1978, ERN (En) 00233649.

<sup>11670</sup> DK Report, E3/997, 20 March 1978, ERN (En) 00233649.

remained in their village of Srae Cham, Ou Chrov commune, Prey Nob district, Kampot province.<sup>11671</sup> One day in late 1978,<sup>11672</sup> she came back to visit her family and found an empty house.<sup>11673</sup> She was told by villagers that her parents “had been told to pack up so they would be sent back to Vietnam”.<sup>11674</sup> She also learned from Chrunh<sup>11675</sup> or villagers that a number of her family members and relatives were taken away on the same day and brought to a prison about three kilometres away.<sup>11676</sup> Chrunh told her that her parents had been taken away and killed because they were accused of being Chinese and Vietnamese,<sup>11677</sup> and her aunt and uncle later told her that her parents had been killed because they were accused of having Chinese and Vietnamese blood and speaking Khmer with an accent.<sup>11678</sup>

3463. The Civil Party also stated that the mother and children of a Vietnamese family of her mobile unit were taken away and killed.<sup>11679</sup> It is unclear if she witnessed these killings herself or not. She also found out later from a “youth” that her younger brother who was working in another mobile unit was taken away and killed.<sup>11680</sup> The Civil Party lost most of her relatives.<sup>11681</sup>

3464. In light of the existence of a nationwide policy to destroy Vietnamese living in Cambodia from April 1977, it is possible that killings of Vietnamese occurred in Prey Nob district during this period. However, it is not the only reasonable conclusion from the evidence above. The Chamber finds that the uncorroborated hearsay evidence, where the sources of the hearsay remain unidentified,<sup>11682</sup> and the fact that the date of the Civil Party’s relatives’ disappearance remains unclear, is not sufficient to prove

<sup>11671</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, pp. 44, 46, 57, 59.

<sup>11672</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, p. 64.

<sup>11673</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, p. 46.

<sup>11674</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, pp. 49-51, 56.

<sup>11675</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, pp. 46-48 (this person is referred to as “an elder person”, “the man”, “an old man”).

<sup>11676</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, pp. 46 (stating that her parents and eight relatives were taken away and killed), 49-51 (stating that 13 members of her family being taken away and killed).

<sup>11677</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, pp. 46, 48.

<sup>11678</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, pp. 49, 51, 59.

<sup>11679</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, pp. 47, 79-80.

<sup>11680</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, pp. 47, 51, 53.

<sup>11681</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (KHOUY Muoy), E1/394.1, pp. 46-47, 49-50, 63-64, 87.

<sup>11682</sup> It is unknown how Chrun or the Civil Party’s aunt and uncle knew about the killings and their reasons; “the villagers” and the “youth” are not further identified and it is unknown if they have witnessed the event themselves; it is also unknown how the Civil Party learned about the fate of the other Vietnamese family in her mobile unit.

beyond reasonable doubt that the alleged killings of Vietnamese occurred in Prey Nob district from April 1977.

13.3.9.3. Tram Kak district

3465. Alleged killings of Vietnamese in Tram Kak district are dealt with under that section of this Judgement.<sup>11683</sup>

13.3.9.4. West Zone

3466. PRAK Doeun gave evidence of Vietnamese being killed on the inland island of Ta Mov, Kampong Chhnang province. Angkar had moved him there in 1975, and near the end of 1976, Angkar accepted his request that his family join him on the island.<sup>11684</sup> PRAK Doeun's wife was part Vietnamese and part Chinese, and together they had six children.<sup>11685</sup> He recalled hearing a radio announcement while he was working in his cooperative which sought out "the Vietnamese who infiltrated inside".<sup>11686</sup> His wife and others heard the same announcement and spoke about how the Vietnamese accused of infiltrating inside the rank had all been gathered and they were not sure if "they had been sent back to their homeland or taken away to be killed".<sup>11687</sup> There were seven mixed families – where one spouse was Khmer and the other Vietnamese – in PRAK Doeun's unit.<sup>11688</sup> The CPK cadres "were aware of how many people were Vietnamese within one family".<sup>11689</sup> PRAK Doeun noted that the cadres inquired about how many Vietnamese people there were in his cooperative and about the ethnicity of his wife.<sup>11690</sup> One evening in late 1977,<sup>11691</sup> Khmer Rouge cadres gathered all of the seven mixed <sup>11683</sup> Section 10.1.10: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Treatment of Vietnamese.

<sup>11684</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 56-58.

<sup>11685</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 45-50.

<sup>11686</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, p. 66.

<sup>11687</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, p. 66.

<sup>11688</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 60-61.

<sup>11689</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, p. 61.

<sup>11690</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 59-62, 96-97; T. 3 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/362.1, pp. 49-50.

<sup>11691</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, p. 73 ("I recall that it was during the time that the water in the river receded. I cannot tell you the exact date"). The Chamber notes that this expression indicates the end of the year. See e.g., Revolutionary Flag, October-November 1975, E3/748, ERN (En) 00495807 (a caption to a photograph notes that "while the water level is about to go down [...] our cooperative peasants are building the new rice paddy dikes that are high and wide across the break water to store the water for the irrigation of dry season rice"); T. 3 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/362.1, p. 72 (the Civil Party accepts the supplementary statement put to him and stating that "[b]efore they killed my wife and children [before 1978] I was not aware of any other killing of Vietnamese people that is apart from the other five or six families that were killed on the basis of being Vietnamese in 1978").

families to “send those people back”, including the Khmer spouses.<sup>11692</sup> The families, including PRAK Doeun, his wife, his mother-in-law, and one of his children, were ordered to walk several kilometres towards Tuol Ka Munlong and when they reached Wat Melum they were split into two groups dividing the ethnically Khmer from the ethnically Vietnamese.<sup>11693</sup> PRAK Doeun was thereby separated from his family, including his youngest child, who was sent with his mother in the Vietnamese group.<sup>11694</sup> PRAK Doeun noted that “[i]f the mother was Khmer, then the child would be allowed to be with the mother in the group of Khmer”.<sup>11695</sup>

3467. The Khmer group was taken to Wat Along, where the unit chief, Comrade Hoem, told PRAK Doeun that his wife and child and the other Vietnamese people were “smashed immediately” after being separated and that they were all “killed at the pit”.<sup>11696</sup> Comrade Hoem blamed him for marrying a Vietnamese woman and suggested that he ask Angkar to remarry a Khmer woman.<sup>11697</sup> PRAK Doeun heard the unit chief and others speaking about how the Vietnamese mothers were killed first and then the children “were thrown into the air and pierced with a bayonet”.<sup>11698</sup> After those Vietnamese from the mixed families were taken away and killed, there were no more Vietnamese on Ta Mov island.<sup>11699</sup> The rest of PRAK Doeun’s children were sent to different places and he was told that three of his daughters died in the cooperative and mobile units, while his two daughters who “looked purely Khmer” managed to survive because he would sometimes secretly send them food.<sup>11700</sup>

3468. CHOEUING Yaing Chaet,<sup>11701</sup> whose parents were both Vietnamese, gave evidence that his family fled Srae Ta Kouy village in Kampong Leaeng district (District

---

See PRAK Doeun Civil Party Supplementary Statement, E3/5632, p. 2, ERN (En) 00678295; T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, p. 89 (The Civil Party Lawyer suggested that the events happened “at the end of 1977” and the witness did not contest this). See also, PRAK Doeun Civil Party Application, E3/4989, ERN (En) 00891032-00891034 (placing the events late 1977 or early 1978).

<sup>11692</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 72, 74.

<sup>11693</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 72-73.

<sup>11694</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 73, 75-76.

<sup>11695</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, p. 76.

<sup>11696</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 86-88; T. 3 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/362.1, p. 36.

<sup>11697</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, p. 87; T. 3 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/362.1, p. 36.

<sup>11698</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 72-73, 77, 85, 88.

<sup>11699</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 88, 90.

<sup>11700</sup> T. 2 December 2015 (PRAK Doeun), E1/361.1, pp. 89-90.

<sup>11701</sup> The NUON Chea Defence mentioned that his statement was unsworn, without drawing any conclusion from this fact. See NUON Chea Closing Brief, para. 845. The Chamber recalls that it rejected

18), Kampong Chhnang province, in 1975 because Ta Peang's group in charge of the area told the Vietnamese that if they remained there they would be killed.<sup>11702</sup> Ta Peang “was the Khmer Rouge chief in that area”.<sup>11703</sup> They fled to Kandal village in Kampong Chhnang with the other 30 Vietnamese families of his village where they stayed over a month,<sup>11704</sup> before being forcibly relocated along with some 1,000 Khmer and Vietnamese families to Phum Dar village at Kangkaeb mountain (District 18).<sup>11705</sup>

3469. One morning in 1975, about a month after their arrival in Phum Dar village, when CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet was 13 or 14 years old, eight armed men wearing scarves and black uniforms from Paeng’s group came to his house and arrested him and his family.<sup>11706</sup> They were tied up along with another ethnically Vietnamese family, walked through the forest for about one kilometre, stopped 100 metres from a pit where they were taken one by one to be killed, untied and pushed into the pit.<sup>11707</sup> When CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet’s turn came, the cadres ordered him to kneel, hit the nape of his neck three times with an axe and left him for dead.<sup>11708</sup> Before losing consciousness, CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet saw the dead bodies of his parents and siblings.<sup>11709</sup> At approximately 4 p.m. the same day, he regained consciousness with severe pain and a swollen neck and walked day and night until he reached Krous village where he met Ta Ly who later helped him flee to Vietnam at the time where lot of Vietnamese people were sent back to Vietnam by boat.<sup>11710</sup>

3470. Killings of Vietnamese in the West Zone are further evidenced by a telegram dated 4 August 1978 consisting of a July 1978 monthly report from Office 401 to Angkar. It states, under the heading “Region 37” and sub-heading “Screening out persons with elements as Vietnamese, CIA agents, and those with no good elements” the NUON Chea general submission that Civil Party evidence is of inherently lesser probative value. See Section 2: Preliminary Issues, para. 67. The Chamber finds the Civil Party to have been generally consistent and credible and therefore accepts his evidence.

---

<sup>11702</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 38-39. See also, T. 8 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/364.1, pp. 20-21.

<sup>11703</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 74-75. See also, T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, p. 39 (“Ta Peang was in charge of Kampong Leang district”); p. 41 (“He was the chief of the Pol Pot group”), 95 (“He was the Khmer Rouge supervisor of Kampong Leang district”).

<sup>11704</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 38-39, 75-76.

<sup>11705</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 39-40.

<sup>11706</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 42-44, 48.

<sup>11707</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 44-46.

<sup>11708</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 46-48.

<sup>11709</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 44, 47, 85.

<sup>11710</sup> T. 7 December 2015 (CHOEUNG Yaing Chaet), E1/363.1, pp. 47-48.

point number 1, that “100 Vietnamese people – small and big, young and old – have been smashed”.<sup>11711</sup> The Chamber notes that point number 4 further mentions “Measures must be taken on three Vietnamese combatants”, which indicates, conversely, that the 100 Vietnamese “smashed” were civilians.

3471. In light of the above, the Chamber is satisfied beyond reasonable doubt that Vietnamese families were targeted and killed in the West Zone due to their perceived ethnicity. The Chamber specifically finds that PRAK Doeun’s wife, children and mother-in-law as well as Vietnamese members of 6 other families were deliberately executed on Ta Mov island, Kampong Chhnang province, in late 1977, and that CHOEUING Yaing Chaet’s family members, along with another ethnically Vietnamese family, were deliberately executed in Phnum Dar village in 1975.<sup>11712</sup> However, the Chamber recalls that it is seised of killings of Vietnamese starting in April 1977, and will therefore not take into account in its legal findings the killing of CHOEUING Yaing Chaet’s family members. The Chamber is also convinced that, following a screening process aimed at implementing a nationwide policy to exterminate the Vietnamese, further killings of Vietnamese occurred in the West Zone, Sector 37, in July 1978 as evidenced by the telegram dated 4 August 1978. However, considering that this telegram does not provide any precise information on the exact circumstances of the killings, is unclear as to the sources concerning the number of deaths reported and is not corroborated by other evidence, the Chamber finds that this telegram alone is insufficient to prove to the requisite standard a distinct incident or incidents of killings beyond reasonable doubt.

<sup>11711</sup> DK Telegram, E3/1094, 4 August 1978, p. 7, ERN (En) 00143624.

<sup>11712</sup> The Chamber notes that, when they were heard by OCII investigators or in their Civil Party Application, many Civil Parties of Vietnamese ethnicity stated that members of their families or of their community were killed in Kompong Leang district in the aftermath of 17 April 1975. See DOU Yang Aun Interview Record, E3/5587, 15 December 2009, ERN (En) 00426465-00426467 (after 17th April 1975, his parents and his elder siblings disappeared and he was told that they were executed at Da village Kompong Leang district); LE Yang Sour Civil Party Supplementary Statement, E3/4574, 21 December 2010, ERN (En) 00678172 (he lived in Kampong Leang district, Kampong Chhnang province, where he was a fisherman. He stated that short after the Khmer Rouge took the power, his family was forced to move to Pou where his aunt, his uncle, two siblings and his grand-parents were taken away to be killed); NGUYEN Thi Tyet Civil Party Application, E3/4731, 5 December 2008, p. 6, ERN (En) 00464747 (she lived in Kampong Leang district, Kampong Chhnang province and stated that in 1975, 28 people of her family were taken away to be killed by the Khmer Rouge); NGVIENG Yang An Civil Party Supplementary Statement, E3/5633, 22 December 2010, ERN (En) 00678296-00678298 (he lived in Kampong Leang district, Kampong Chhnang province where he was a fisherman and stated that 250 Vietnamese families were forcibly moved to Dar mountain and that he heard that many of them were arrested and killed in 1975. He further clarified that when he was assigned to work in a fishermen unit at Pralay Meas village, 14 people of the families of two of his aunts whose husbands were Viet Cong soldiers were killed.); NGVIENG Yang Than Civil Party Application, E3/6696, 15 October 2009, pp. 1-2, ERN (En) 01069328-01069329. While all this evidence corroborates CHOEUING Yaing Chaet’s statements none of these facts fall within the temporal scope of Case 002/02.

13.3.9.5. Northwest Zone: Tuol Ta Trang

3472. PRUM Sarun, who was the chief of Platoon 1 (Sector 3) in Phnom Sampov commune, Banan district, Battambang province,<sup>11713</sup> testified that while there were no Vietnamese in his battalion, there were about four Vietnamese families in Battalion 2.<sup>11714</sup> Both battalions were located in Krapeu Cheung village.<sup>11715</sup> It was in that village that PRUM Sarun witnessed four young cadres, armed with rifles, arrest members of the Vietnamese families in Battalion 2 and take them westward towards Tuol Ta Trang, near Koy Mountain.<sup>11716</sup> The young cadres used scarves to tie up the person arrested.<sup>11717</sup> He then saw those young cadres return without the Vietnamese they had arrested.<sup>11718</sup> Approximately two days later, he saw four adult corpses at Tuol Ta Trang that were swollen and decomposed.<sup>11719</sup> He also saw skulls, bones and bloodstains on the ground.<sup>11720</sup> He did not witness the killings,<sup>11721</sup> and did not know the persons arrested.<sup>11722</sup> He described Tuol Ta Trang as “the execution site where skulls were piled up as high as a hill” as well as “the location of the upper echelon”.<sup>11723</sup> After witnessing the arrest and the dead bodies, PRUM Sarun stated that no Vietnamese remained in Battalion 2.<sup>11724</sup> The Chamber notes that, in his previous statement before the Co-Investigating Judges, PRUM Sarun stated that, in 1976, the “Yuon” in Battalion 2 were arrested, tied up, and walked away to be killed at Tuol Ta Trang and that “[a]fter that string of Yuon was killed, [he] never saw any more Yuon remaining”.<sup>11725</sup>

3473. PRUM Sarun’s testimony was at times unclear and contradictory on key points such as the number of persons arrested (he variously answered two, three, four or he

<sup>11713</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 57-58.

<sup>11714</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 68-69.

<sup>11715</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, p. 63.

<sup>11716</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 65-66, 69, 72.

<sup>11717</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, p. 66.

<sup>11718</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 68-69.

<sup>11719</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 69-72, 78.

<sup>11720</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 71-72, 77-79.

<sup>11721</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 71-72.

<sup>11722</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, p. 68 (“Q. Did you know anyone amongst those who were arrested and walked away? A. No, I didn’t, because they belonged to a different battalion”).

<sup>11723</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 66-67.

<sup>11724</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, p. 74.

<sup>11725</sup> PRUM Sarun Interview Record, E3/5187, 18 June 2008, pp. 2-3, ERN (En) 00274177-00274178.

did not remember), their ethnicity (Vietnamese or he did not know), age (adults or children), his knowledge as to where they were taken, or even if he actually witnessed the arrest.<sup>11726</sup> No specific date was given for these events. The Chamber therefore approaches his evidence with caution. It notes that the witness consistently stated that a number of persons were arrested and taken away towards Tuol Ta Trang, and that he later saw bodies and human remains there. Without further elements, it is not possible to conclude that the bodies and the remains belonged to the same individuals who were arrested and taken away two days before. While it is possible that the individuals PRUM Sarun witnessed being taken away were killed, it is not the only reasonable conclusion.

3474. The Chamber further notes that IM An, the Krapeu Cheung village chief from 17 April 1975, stated to the Co-Investigating Judges that “[t]here were 30 Vietnamese families, including children, living in Krapeu Tbaung village, Sampeou subdistrict who were killed by Khmer Rouge soldiers in 1976 at Au Tauch, south of Phnom Koy, seven kilometres south of Krapeu Tbaung village; villagers have spoken about this”.<sup>11727</sup> This hearsay evidence, untested in court, is insufficient to establish specific instances of killings, but however corroborates that Vietnamese families living in Krapeu Cheung village were targeted during the DK period.

3475. In light of the above and considering the circumstantial nature of the evidence presented, the Chamber considers that, despite the fact that disappearance and killings

---

<sup>11726</sup> T. 8 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/364.1, pp. 64 (Q. “You stated that the arrests happened within Battalion Number 2. How many people were arrested from that Battalion Number 2?” A. “Two of them. Two people were arrested and sent away. I did not know to where they were taken”), 65 (upon being confronted with his Interview Record (E3/5187, ERN (En) 00274177), whereby he stated that there were 20 arrested and killed, he replied that he forgot as it happened a long time ago) 72 (“I only saw the arrest of the four people.”), 104 (“I said between three and four Vietnamese individuals. They were taken away to be killed at Tuol Ta Trang”); T. 9 December 2015 (PRUM Sarun), E1/365.1, pp. 4 (“Q. Do you remember what you said, Witness, yesterday regarding the site of Tuol Ta Trang? Did you see bodies there? And if you did, who were the people who died at Tuol Ta Trang? A. I saw the dead bodies of children when I was looking for the water buffaloes. And after that, I walked past the area. Q. And were these children Cambodian or Vietnamese? Who were they? A. I could not say because I could not recognize them. The bodies were being swollen. I could not say whether they were Khmer or Vietnamese. [...] Q. You said yesterday that you -- did you witness arrests of Vietnamese people? And if so, do you know where these people were taken to? A. I never saw the arrest. I did not know as to where they were taken. I did not dare to ask them about any arrest as I was only mindful of my own life”), 21-22 (“Can you explain to me again how it was that you knew or concluded that they -- that those two people that you saw were in fact Vietnamese? A. I only saw them being tied up and walked away. I did not know about their ethnicity. I saw them from a distance. And I was afraid to ask people about the incident. Q. Just to be sure, did you even know them, those two people that you saw being taken away? A. I did not know them because people of mixed identities were just arriving in my village. People were constantly sent to my village. I did not know who they actually were.”).

<sup>11727</sup> IM Man Interview Record, E3/7737, 17 June 2008, p. 4, ERN (En) 00274160.

of Vietnamese were reported, it is unable to establish to the relevant standard that the alleged killings of Vietnamese occurred in Sampov commune, Banan district, Battambang province from April 1977.

13.3.9.6. North Zone: Wat Khsach

3476. The Closing Order finds that a mass execution of Vietnamese people occurred at Wat Khsach in Yeang village, Chi Kraeng district (Sector 106), Siem Reap province in mid-to-late 1978.<sup>11728</sup>

3477. Three witnesses testified to seeing this mass execution take place in late 1978: SEAN Song alias Sung, UM Suonn and Y Vun.<sup>11729</sup> Although their testimonies differ on certain points such as the number of Vietnamese present at the pagoda and the length of the executions, there is significant commonality in their evidence as to the Vietnamese being targeted and the general sequence of events. In light of this and considering the passage of time and the traumatic nature of this event, the Chamber finds their evidence generally credible and reliable. The Chamber however notes that UM Suonn demonstrated inconsistencies as to which executions he personally witnessed and for how long he observed the events.<sup>11730</sup> The Chamber accordingly will not rely on UM Suonn's evidence unless it is sufficiently corroborated.

3478. SEAN Song and UM Suonn testified that they went together to Wat Khsach in the evening the killings took place because they heard screaming, and they hid and watched the executions from about 30 metres in distance.<sup>11731</sup> Y Vun lived in Yeang village, some 300 metres from the Wat Khsach, and the night of the execution he heard the screams coming from the pagoda that lasted for about two hours.<sup>11732</sup>

<sup>11728</sup> Closing Order, para. 802.

<sup>11729</sup> T. 11 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/366.1, pp. 4-5; T. 27 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/357.1, pp. 79-81; T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, pp. 20-22, 28.

<sup>11730</sup> See e.g., T. 11 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/366.1, pp. 10-17, 29-32.

<sup>11731</sup> T. 9 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/365.1, pp. 60-69; T. 27 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/357.1, pp. 84-86.

<sup>11732</sup> T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, pp. 9, 30-32.

3479. People were brought to Wat Khsach from various locations.<sup>11733</sup> They included NEARY Chantha, whose Vietnamese grandparents were also later executed,<sup>11734</sup> and a family with Vietnamese/Chinese origins referred to as the Chum family.<sup>11735</sup> NEARY Chantha was called for a study session<sup>11736</sup> and thereafter taken to and killed at Wat Khsach.<sup>11737</sup> SEAN Song witnessed this killing, describing that the executioners “bent her head down under her legs, and then they removed her gall bladder, placed it in a container of wine and drank it”.<sup>11738</sup> UM Suonn testified to seeing “gall bladders attached to one another by a piece of barbed wire hanging on the wall” the following day when he returned to the execution site.<sup>11739</sup> The Vietnamese members of the Chum family, including Hong, her husband, their three children, her brother and her mother in law were also killed.<sup>11740</sup>

3480. SEAN Song explained that he thought the executioners were soldiers because they were all armed with AK-47s and in the regime only soldiers could carry a gun.<sup>11741</sup> He also testified that he heard directly from the village chief, Soy, that the order to kill the Vietnamese came from “the superior”.<sup>11742</sup> Although this is hearsay evidence, the Chamber accepts it as it found SEAN Song’s evidence to be generally credible and reliable and it is corroborated by further hearsay evidence provided by Y Vun, who testified that other villagers told her that Soy received his orders from the upper echelon.

<sup>11733</sup> T. 28 Oct 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/358.1, pp. 10, 69; T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, p. 25.

<sup>11734</sup> T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, pp. 10-11, 20-21. See also, T. 27 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/357.1, pp. 81-84; T. 9 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/365.1, pp. 43-44; T. 11 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/366.1, pp. 29-32.

<sup>11735</sup> T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, pp. 13-15.

<sup>11736</sup> T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, p. 60; T. 9 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/365.1, p. 59; T. 27 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/357.1, p. 82; T. 28 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/358.1, p. 49.

<sup>11737</sup> T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, pp. 43-44, 54-55, 59-60; T. 9 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/365.1, pp. 43-44, 46, 54-55, 58-59, 74, 81; T. 11 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/366.1, pp. 11-13, 19-20; T. 27 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/357.1, pp. 77-78, 82; T. 28 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/358.1, pp. 3-5.

<sup>11738</sup> T. 28 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/358.1, p. 3. See also, pp. T. 28 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/358.1, 30-31.

<sup>11739</sup> T. 9 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/365.1, pp. 44, 74-76, 82.

<sup>11740</sup> T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, pp. 13-15, 20, 24-25, 32; T. 9 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/365.1, pp. 57-58. See also, LAUNH Khun Interview Record, E3/7686, 26 August 2008, p. 3, ERN (En) 00275406 (“I remember that my husband’s younger brother Kea, his younger sister Hong and Hong’s husband Chai along with three of Hong’s children and my mother in law Nheav were killed. All three of Hong’s children: one was three years old; one was just learning to walk; and another had been born the week before”).

<sup>11741</sup> T. 28 Oct 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/358.1, p. 43.

<sup>11742</sup> T. 28 Oct 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/358.1, pp. 23-25.

3481. While the witnesses gave different estimates as to the number of people detained at Wat Khsach – ranging from over 10 people or 20 people,<sup>11743</sup> to 25,<sup>11744</sup> to between 300 and 400<sup>11745</sup> – they all agreed that only Vietnamese individuals were targeted. SEAN Song testified that he heard soldiers asking detainees whether they were Vietnamese or Chinese, and those who said they were Vietnamese “were killed at the pit”, including children, whereas those who said they were Chinese were spared.<sup>11746</sup> This is corroborated by Y Vun’s testimony that he knew of a woman and her son who survived the executions at Wat Khsach, and he recalled that “she was asked about her origin and she said she was Chinese”.<sup>11747</sup> While UM Suonn did not hear anything about Chinese people while he was observing the execution site, he did hear the executioners refer to the detainees as “Yuon” before killing them one at a time.<sup>11748</sup> After the Wat Khsach executions, there were no more Vietnamese in the village.<sup>11749</sup>

3482. The Chamber finds on the basis of the above that in late 1978, all Vietnamese living in and around Yeang village, Chi Kraeng district (Sector 106), Siem Reap province were brought to and killed en masse at Wat Ksach due to their perceived ethnicity and upon orders from the upper echelon.<sup>11750</sup> This is consistent with the Chamber’s finding that the CPK internally as well as publicly targeted Vietnamese as a group through contemporaneous documents and speeches, and widely called, from April 1977, for their destruction.<sup>11751</sup> While the evidence presented does not allow the Chamber to establish the exact number of victims, it is satisfied beyond reasonable doubt that at least 10-20 Vietnamese civilians were killed.

<sup>11743</sup> T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, pp. 29-30 (stating that he cannot give an exact figure as he was observing the events from a distance).

<sup>11744</sup> T. 9 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/365.1, pp. 79-80.

<sup>11745</sup> T. 28 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/358.1, pp. 7, 9, 10-11 (SEAN Song witnessed 50 to 80 persons being killed during his one hour observation).

<sup>11746</sup> T. 27 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/357.1, pp. 87-89, 95-96; T. 28 October 2015 (SEAN Song), E1/358.1, pp. 40-41.

<sup>11747</sup> T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, pp. 25-27.

<sup>11748</sup> T. 9 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/365.1, pp. 69-70, 72.

<sup>11749</sup> T. 15 December 2015 (Y Vun), E1/368.1, pp. 34-35 (“All of them including the children were killed.”); T. 9 December 2015 (UM Suonn), E1/365.1, p. 72 (“They disappeared and never returned. They were all executed. No one was spared. And the names of those whom I knew in the village who had been taken for execution never returned as well. They were all killed in that pit.”).

<sup>11750</sup> See below, para. 3500.

<sup>11751</sup> See above, para. 3416.

13.3.9.7. Sector 505 (Kratie)

3483. UCH Sunlay, who was from Phum Voat village, Kratie commune, Kratie province, testified that he lost several family members during the DK period.<sup>11752</sup> In September 1978, 13 of his relatives including his three children, his half-Vietnamese wife, and her parents and sister were killed in separate incidents.<sup>11753</sup> His wife and children were sent to the island of Kbal Kaoh Trong where militiamen from the cooperative took them to the edge of the island and killed them.<sup>11754</sup> UCH Sunlay did not see this personally, as he had been sent away to collect bamboo. UCH Sunlay explained that “[t]hey used this ugly trick to separate the men from their wives and children before taking them away”.<sup>11755</sup> The cooperative chief, Moeun, assigned those who had Vietnamese wives to go and collect bamboo at a place that took two nights by boat to get to.<sup>11756</sup> UCH Sunlay was told what had happened by villagers, especially by Thol, one of the villagers who transported the Vietnamese by oxcart to the site and then witnessed the killings himself.<sup>11757</sup> UCH Sunlay learned that the children – aged one, three, and eight years old<sup>11758</sup> – were swung against a tree next to the pit and died instantly, following which the bodies were all thrown into the pit.<sup>11759</sup> The perpetrators were militiamen, including the chief UK Tang Hin, whom UCH Sunlay knew because they lived in his village.<sup>11760</sup> UCH Sunlay said that they were just sons of poor farmers from the low class who were assigned those tasks, and that “[t]here was a secret order from the upper echelon, and that secret order went down the line”.<sup>11761</sup>

3484. UCH Sunlay testified that the “Khmer Rouge knew very well” that his wife and her sister “were the children of Vietnamese” and that because of that his own children were linked to “being the grandchildren of Vietnamese grandparents”.<sup>11762</sup> The clothes of his dead wife and children were distributed to people in the cooperatives and two

---

<sup>11752</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 90-92.

<sup>11753</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 92, 105.

<sup>11754</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 93-94, 101-102, 105-106.

<sup>11755</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 103-104.

<sup>11756</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, p. 94.

<sup>11757</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 94, 105-106; T. 2 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/395.1, p. 4.

<sup>11758</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/395.1, p. 4.

<sup>11759</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 93-94.

<sup>11760</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/395.1, p. 8.

<sup>11761</sup> T. 2 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/395.1, p. 9.

<sup>11762</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 102-103; T. 2 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/395.1, pp. 7, 9-10.

women recognised them and knew that they had been killed. He explained that “the Khmer Rouge distributed the clothes from those people they killed to people in the cooperatives, and told them that they were trophies”.<sup>11763</sup>

3485. The Vietnamese wives and children of three or four other men were also sent away on that occasion, while the men were assigned to collect bamboo for making ladders.<sup>11764</sup> UCH Sunlay testified that when they returned, the chief of the cooperative summoned him along with those men to tell them that they had fulfilled a great task for the Angkar by cleansing themselves of their origin, and that their wives and children had been collected and taken away.<sup>11765</sup> UCH Sunlay and the other men were then made to stand up and repeat the following: “We would like to solemnly declare our commitment, and sacrifice to have this piece rotten flesh cut off, in order to build the labour class of the Communist Party of Kampuchea”.<sup>11766</sup>

3486. UCH Sunlay also provided hearsay testimony of another incident where Vietnamese people were invited to gather at Krakor Pagoda in Krakor commune, Kratie district, Kratie province, where they were loaded onto trucks heading towards Vietnam.<sup>11767</sup> He learned later on from a driver named Ang that his mother-in-law was among the group sent there and that these persons were in fact executed.<sup>11768</sup> This hearsay account remains confusing as regards locations and, owing to the lack of corroborative evidence, the Chamber will not rely on it.<sup>11769</sup>

3487. Another Civil Party, HENG Lai Heang, stated that the targeting of Vietnamese included killing the half-blood Vietnamese in order to prevent them from “collud[ing] with the Vietnamese side”.<sup>11770</sup> By 1977, HENG Lai Heang lost 37 family members and relatives during the DK period, including grandchildren, who were half-blood

<sup>11763</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, p. 95.

<sup>11764</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 94, 103-104.

<sup>11765</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, p. 94.

<sup>11766</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 94-95.

<sup>11767</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 99-100; T. 2 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/395.1, pp. 10-12, 24.

<sup>11768</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 99-100; T. 2 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/395.1, pp. 10-12, 24.

<sup>11769</sup> T. 1 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/394.1, pp. 99, 100 (the trucks headed Vietnam passing by Prich (phonetic) mountain); T. 2 March 2016 (UCH Sunlay), E1/395.1, pp. 11 (people were boarded in trucks to be executed at Phnum Prech located along the way from Kratie to Lok Nin, Vietnam), 12 (people were taken on the way to Mountain 5000 located in Snuol district (phonetic), Kratie province).

<sup>11770</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, p. 68.

Vietnamese and only one survived.<sup>11771</sup> Her uncle was married to a woman who was ethnically Vietnamese and she was taken to Kaoh Sroka Security Centre, Kantuot commune in Kratie district.<sup>11772</sup> Although her uncle was Khmer and his children could not speak Vietnamese, she said they were not spared because there was a policy that people with a Vietnamese network or relationship would also be “collected and taken away”.<sup>11773</sup> The Vietnamese in Kratie district were screened and identified through the biographies residents had to provide and through the lists prepared at the village level and passed to the upper echelon.<sup>11774</sup> While it is likely that the disappearance at around the same period of time of such a large number of HENG Lai Heang’s relatives who were all half-blood Vietnamese corresponds to the implementation of a nationwide policy to destroy Vietnamese living in Cambodia, the Chamber notes that HENG Lai Heang never witnessed the executions of her relatives herself,<sup>11775</sup> and it is unclear how she was informed of their fate, which she describes in very general terms. Without further information, such as the circumstances of her relatives’ deaths or the date of these events (which seem to have taken place before 1977), the Chamber is unable to establish that HENG Lai Heang’s relatives were killed from April 1977 because of their Vietnamese ethnicity.

3488. In light of the above, the Chamber is satisfied that Vietnamese were targeted due to their perceived ethnicity and killed in 1978 in Kratie province. The Chamber specifically finds that 13 of UCH Sunlay’s Vietnamese relatives, including his three children, his half-Vietnamese wife, and her parents and sister, as well as the wives and children of three or four other Khmer men in Kratie were deliberately executed in September 1978 in Kratie province.

13.3.9.8. Au Kanseng Security Centre and S-21 Security Centre

3489. The Closing Order alleges that Vietnamese people were detained and killed at Au Kanseng Security Centre and at S-21 Security Centre. The factual findings with <sup>11771</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 32-33 (“all of my relatives disappeared by 1977 since these relatives, who were half-blood with the Vietnamese even grandchildren, had been arrested or they had gone and from that family side, only one survived”), 73-74, 101-102.

<sup>11772</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 73-74; HENG Lai Heang Interview Record, E3/436, 23 November 2009, p. 10, ERN (En) 00414570.

<sup>11773</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 32-33, 70.

<sup>11774</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, pp. 68, 71-72.

<sup>11775</sup> T. 19 September 2016 (HENG Lai Heang), E1/476.1, p. 74.

respect these two security centres are addressed in the relevant sections of this Judgement.<sup>11776</sup>

13.3.10. Legal Findings

13.3.10.1. Murder

3490. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of murder of Vietnamese in 1975-1976 in relation to those Vietnamese who resisted deportation, as well as nationwide from April 1977.<sup>11777</sup> Based on the available evidence the Chamber has found no instances of killings of Vietnamese who resisted deportation in 1975-1976. The Chamber has found that specific instances of killings of Vietnamese were established in Svay Rieng in 1978,<sup>11778</sup> on DK waters after April or May 1977 and on 19 March 1978,<sup>11779</sup> in Kampong Chhnang province in 1977;<sup>11780</sup> at Wat Khsach in late 1978;<sup>11781</sup> and in Kratie in September 1978.<sup>11782</sup>

3491. Regarding Svay Rieng, the Chamber is satisfied beyond reasonable doubt that the killing of four Vietnamese families living one kilometre away from SIN Chhem's house were deliberate, especially considering that these Vietnamese were arrested by local authorities before disappearing. The actus reus and mens rea of murder are therefore established with respect to these killings.

3492. The Chamber has already clarified that it will address whether the suicide of a person could amount to murder as this arises on the facts of the case and to the extent that incidents of suicide are alleged to amount to murder in the Closing Order. As regards Svay Rieng province, the Chamber notes that the suicide of SIENG Chanthy's father was not addressed in the Closing Order, therefore it considers that this suicide is not part of the charges of murder and will not make any legal finding of murder as a crime against humanity with regard to this event.<sup>11783</sup>

<sup>11776</sup> Section 12.2: S-21 Security Centre; Section 12.4: Au Kanseng Security Centre.

<sup>11777</sup> Closing Order, para. 1378.

<sup>11778</sup> See above, paras 3453, 3455. The Chamber has found that the four Vietnamese families living one kilometre away from SIN Chhem's house were killed in 1978.

<sup>11779</sup> See above, para. 3461.

<sup>11780</sup> See above, para. 3471.

<sup>11781</sup> See above, para. 3482.

<sup>11782</sup> See above, para. 3488.

<sup>11783</sup> Section 9.1.1: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Murder.

3493. Turning to killings of Vietnamese fishermen and refugees on DK waters, the Chamber is satisfied that CPK armed forces were ordered to systematically target Vietnamese boats encroaching on DK waters, without discriminating military from civilian targets, and that a number of Vietnamese fishermen and refugees were intentionally killed by CPK forces as a result, specifically after April or May 1977 at Ou Chheu Teal port as evidenced by PAK Sok, and on 19 March 1978 as reported by Division 164.<sup>11784</sup> The actus reus and mens rea of murder are therefore established with respect to these killings.

3494. As regards Kampong Chhnang province, the Chamber is satisfied that PRAK Doeun's wife, children and mother-in-law as well as Vietnamese members of six other families were deliberately executed on Ta Mov island in 1977. The organised nature of the gathering and the systematic screening and separation of Khmer individuals from the Vietnamese individuals who were later executed shows a clear intent to cause death. The actus reus and mens rea of murder are therefore established with respect to these killings.

3495. The Chamber is similarly satisfied that Vietnamese civilians were brought to and killed en masse in late 1978 at Wat Khsach due to their perceived ethnicity and upon orders from the upper echelon. The order, the organised nature of the gathering of Vietnamese, their screening, as well as their systematic execution show a clear intent to cause death. The actus reus and mens rea of murder are therefore established with respect to these killings.

3496. Finally, the Chamber is satisfied that the September 1978 killings of the 13 Vietnamese relatives of UCH Sunlay, including his three children, his half-Vietnamese wife and her parents and sister, as well as the wives and children of three or four other Khmer men in Kratie were deliberate. In sending the husbands away while arresting and executing their Vietnamese relatives, the perpetrators showed a clear intent to cause death. The actus reus and mens rea of murder are therefore established with respect to these killings.

3497. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of murder is established with respect to the killings of Vietnamese civilians in Svay Rieng in 1978; in DK waters after April or May 1977 at Ou Chheu Teal port as evidenced by PAK Sok; in DK waters on 19 March 1978 as reported by Division 164; in Kampong Chhnang province in 1977 (limited to the killing of PRAK Doeun's wife, children and mother-in-law as well as Vietnamese members of six other families); at Wat Khsach late 1978; and in Kratie in September 1978 (including killings of the 13 Vietnamese relatives of UCH Sunlay, including his three children, his half-Vietnamese wife and her parents and sister, as well as the wives and children of three or four other Khmer men).

---

<sup>11784</sup> See above, paras 3456-3461.

13.3.10.2. Extermination

3498. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of extermination of Vietnamese nationwide and, beginning in April 1977, finding that the execution of members of this group “increased progressively until it reached such a scale as to qualify as extermination”.<sup>11785</sup>

3499. The Chamber has found above that murder as a crime against humanity was established in relation to the intentional killings of Vietnamese civilians in Svay Rieng in 1978, Vietnamese fishermen and refugees in DK waters after April or May 1977 at Ou Chheu Teal port as evidenced by PAK Sok and on 19 March 1978 as reported by Division 164, of PRAK Doeun's relatives and Vietnamese members of six other families in Kampong Chhnang province in 1977, UCH Sunlay's relatives and family members of three or four other Khmer men in Kratie in September 1978, and the mass killing of Vietnamese civilians at Wat Khsach in late 1978.<sup>11786</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that these specific instances of killings established beyond reasonable doubt total approximately 60 deaths;<sup>11787</sup> a number which, in light of the overall evidence, is almost certainly an underestimation of the actual situation. The Chamber also recalls having found specific instances of killings of Vietnamese at S-21 and Au Kanseng.<sup>11788</sup>

<sup>11785</sup> Closing Order, para. 1386.

<sup>11786</sup> See above, para. 3497.

<sup>11787</sup> The Chamber considers it reasonable to estimate a minimal average number of two people per family when the evidence was not specific and a minimal average number of five people per boat as regards killings on DK waters, which amounts to the following estimates: eight in Svay Rieng, eight in DK waters, 14 in Kampong Chhnang, 19 in Kratie and 10 at the Wat Khsach Pagoda.

<sup>11788</sup> Section 12.4: Au Kanseng Security Centre, paras 2926, 2959 (murder of a group of six Vietnamese, which is also part of the basis for extermination finding at Au Kanseng); Section 12.2: S-21 Security Centre, paras 2571 (the extermination finding at S-21 encompass killings of the Vietnamese), 2621 (hundreds of Vietnamese soldiers and civilians were killed at S-21).

3500. The Chamber recalls that there is no minimum number of victims required to establish extermination,<sup>11789</sup> and finds that these murders satisfy the requirement of killings on a massive scale. Further, there is overwhelming evidence that these killings were all part of the same murder operation. In this regard, the Chamber takes into account the general evidence of the CPK targeting Vietnamese and specifically the CPK calls to kill Vietnamese,<sup>11790</sup> the established facts that, in each case, the Vietnamese were targeted as being members of a collective group rather than victims in their individual capacity; the fact that they were specifically screened out and separated from non-Vietnamese individuals before being killed in Kampong Chhnang, Wat Khsach and Kratie; the manner in which the killings were carried out;<sup>11791</sup> and the fact that witnesses and Civil Parties in Kampong Chhnang<sup>11792</sup> and Wat Khsach<sup>11793</sup> consistently testified that all Vietnamese families were killed at the time and no Vietnamese individual remained in the area afterwards.<sup>11794</sup> The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus of the crime against humanity of extermination is established.

3501. In relation to the intent requirement, the evidence demonstrates that all of these killings were organised and deliberate, pursuant to CPK calls to identify, expel and/or kill the Vietnamese. This shows that the perpetrators acted with the intent to kill Vietnamese on a massive scale. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of the crime against humanity of extermination is established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of extermination is established in relation to the above outlined killings in Svay Rieng in 1978, at Kampong Chhnang in 1977, at Wat Khsach in late 1978, in Kratie in September 1978, as well as on DK waters after April or May 1977 at Ou Chheu Teal port and on 19 March 1978.

<sup>11789</sup> Section 9.1.2: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Extermination.

<sup>11790</sup> See above, Section 13.3.5: Targeting of the Vietnamese.

<sup>11791</sup> Evidence of particularly brutal executions was shown in each individual location, such as the removing of the gallbladders of victims in Wat Khsach (see above, para. 3482); children being thrown into the air and pierced with a bayonet in Kampong Chhnang (see above, para. 3467); and the smashing of babies against tree trunks in Kratie (see above, para. 3488). Evidence of an attempt to conceal the executions was also shown: pretending to be sending victims to a study session in Wat Khsach (see above, para. 3479); sending Khmer husbands away while gathering up, taking away and killing their Vietnamese relatives in Kratie (see above, para. 3488).

<sup>11792</sup> See above, paras 3466-3467 (all the seven mixed families of PRAK Doeun's unit were gathered, the Vietnamese were separated, taken away and killed).

<sup>11793</sup> See above, para. 3481 ("After the Wat Khsach execution there were no more Vietnamese in the village").

<sup>11794</sup> See Lukić and Lukić Appeal Judgement, para. 543 ("The Appeals Chamber notes that almost the entire Muslim population of Koritnik perished in the Pionirska Street Incident.").

13.3.10.3. Deportation

3502. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of deportation of a large number of Vietnamese from Prey Veng, Svay Rieng and Tram Kak district in 1975 and 1976.<sup>11795</sup>

3503. The Chamber has found that from 1975 until the end of 1976, there was a nationwide policy to expel people of Vietnamese ethnicity living in Cambodia. This policy was implemented following agreements with Vietnamese authorities. Khmer Rouge cadres organised and monitored the transportation of Vietnamese people including by boats and by trucks. Khmer spouses of mixed families had to stay in Cambodia.<sup>11796</sup> The Chamber has also found that the CPK upper echelon ordered the identification of Vietnamese, as a result of which, from April 1975, lists and biographies were prepared by the lower echelons and then communicated back to the upper echelons for further action.<sup>11797</sup> It has further established that, from 1975, the CPK considered the Vietnamese ethnicity to be matrilineal and, as a result, targeted in mixed families Vietnamese mothers and their children while sparing Khmer fathers, as well as targeting Vietnamese fathers while sparing Khmer mothers and children.<sup>11798</sup> The Chamber has found that the removal of Vietnamese was witnessed in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng in 1975 and 1976.<sup>11799</sup> The Chamber is satisfied that the CPK policy publicly targeting the Vietnamese, the preparation of lists and the implementation of a matrilineal policy created a coercive environment. The Chamber therefore finds that Vietnamese leaving Prey Veng and Svay Rieng in 1975 and 1976 were forced into doing so by this threatening environment, thereby lacking any genuine choice.

3504. The Chamber is satisfied that, prior to their forced displacement from Cambodia to Vietnam, these Vietnamese individuals were living in their respective communities, some for generations. The Chamber recalls that evidence regarding the legal status of deportation victims need not be presented.<sup>11800</sup>

<sup>11795</sup> Closing Order, para. 1398. Regarding the deportation of the Vietnamese from the Tram Kak district, see Section 10.1.13.3: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Legal Findings: Deportation.

<sup>11796</sup> See above, paras 3382-3386, 3389, 3414, 3434.

<sup>11797</sup> See above, paras 3420-3423.

<sup>11798</sup> See above, paras 3424-3428.

<sup>11799</sup> See above, paras 3436, 3439.

<sup>11800</sup> Section 9.1.4: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Deportation, para. 677.

3505. The witnesses and Civil Parties gave accounts of having seen, or heard of, a number of Vietnamese being gathered and evacuated and never returning to their villages throughout Prey Veng province. Specific instances of families being gathered, removed and seen leaving by boats were found in Anlung Trea village, Preaek Chrey commune, Kampong Leav district, Pou Chentam village, Svay Antor commune, Prey Veng district and Angkor Yos village, Preaek Anteah, Prey Veng district.<sup>11801</sup> The Chamber also found that it was very likely that some Vietnamese people were deported from Svay Rieng to Vietnam but that the available evidence did not meet the requisite standard to establish specific instances of forcible displacements of Vietnamese beyond reasonable doubt in Svay Rieng province from 1975. The Chamber is satisfied that the actus reus of the crime against humanity of deportation is established.

3506. Although the Chamber has found that a state of armed conflict existed between Cambodia and Vietnam from at least April 1975, this does not provide a lawful basis on which to coercively transfer civilians across the border.

3507. Recalling that there existed a policy from 1975 until the end of 1976 to expel people of Vietnamese ethnicity living in Cambodia,<sup>11802</sup> the Chamber is satisfied that the displacements of the Vietnamese across the Cambodian border outlined above were intentional. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of the crime against humanity of deportation is established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against humanity of deportation is established in relation to the large number of Vietnamese expelled from Prey Veng province in 1975 and 1976.

13.3.10.4. Persecution on racial grounds

3508. The Closing Order charges the Accused with the crime against humanity of persecution on racial grounds of Vietnamese in Prey Veng, Svay Rieng, Tram Kak Cooperatives, S-21, Kraing Ta Chan and Au Kanseng,<sup>11803</sup> throughout the DK period and on the basis that Vietnamese people were “deliberately and systematically identified and targeted due to their perceived race” as they were perceived by the CPK to be “racially distinct from Cambodian people, based on biological and particularly

<sup>11801</sup> See above, paras 3430-3436.

<sup>11802</sup> See above, para. 3503.

<sup>11803</sup> For the discussion of persecution on racial grounds in Tram Kak Cooperatives, S-21, Kraing Ta Chan and Au Kanseng, see Sections 10.1.13.8, 12.2.24.1.7, 12.3.12.7 and 12.4.7.6, respectively.

matrilineal descent”.<sup>11804</sup> The particular acts amounting to persecution must be expressly charged.<sup>11805</sup> On the basis of the Closing Order and the Severance Decision, the acts charged with regard to the treatment of the Vietnamese are limited to expulsions from Cambodian territory to Vietnam, arrest, detention and killings of Vietnamese and, from April 1977, mass gathering and killings in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng.<sup>11806</sup> 3509. The Chamber has already found that the crime against humanity of persecution on racial grounds was established in the Tram Kak Cooperatives in 1975 until mid-1976, based on acts of deportation of Vietnamese to Vietnam;<sup>11807</sup> at S-21 Security Centre based on acts of arrests, detention and killings of Vietnamese;<sup>11808</sup> and at Au Kanseng based on acts of arrest and execution of Vietnamese.<sup>11809</sup> It was not satisfied that persecution on racial grounds was established at Kraing Ta Chan.<sup>11810</sup> It here considers the conduct charged as persecution on racial grounds of Vietnamese in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng.

3510. The Chamber has found that, from April 1975, the Vietnamese were identified by the CPK through the creation of lists,<sup>11811</sup> and that mixed families were targeted on the basis of matrilineal ethnicity.<sup>11812</sup> The Chamber has also found that the crime against humanity of deportation of a large number of Vietnamese from Prey Veng to Vietnam in 1975 and 1976 was proved beyond reasonable doubt and further established that displacements of Vietnamese, some of which were preceded by arrests, took place in Prey Veng between 1977 and 1979, and that the Vietnamese who were taken away never returned.<sup>11813</sup> The Chamber has also found that Vietnamese civilians were killed in Svay Rieng in 1978.<sup>11814</sup>

3511. The Chamber is satisfied that the Vietnamese living in Cambodia were sufficiently discernible as a racial group to determine whether consequences occurred

---

<sup>11804</sup> Closing Order, para. 1422.

<sup>11805</sup> Section 9.1.7: Applicable Law: Crimes Against Humanity: Persecution on Political, Racial or Religious Grounds.

<sup>11806</sup> Closing Order, para. 1422; Case 002 Additional Severance Decision Annex, para. 5(ii)(b).

<sup>11807</sup> Section 10.1.13.8: Tram Kak Cooperatives: Legal Findings: Persecution on Racial Grounds.

<sup>11808</sup> Section 12.2.24.1.7: S-21 Security Centre: Legal Findings: Persecution on Racial Grounds.

<sup>11809</sup> Section 12.4.7.6: Au Kanseng Security Centre; Legal Findings: Persecution on Racial Grounds.

<sup>11810</sup> Section 12.3: Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre; Legal Findings: Persecution on Racial Grounds.

<sup>11811</sup> See above, para. 3423.

<sup>11812</sup> See above, para. 3428.

<sup>11813</sup> See above, para. 3451.

<sup>11814</sup> See above, paras 3452-3455.

for this group, and that the victims of these acts were in fact Vietnamese.<sup>11815</sup> The acts were accordingly discriminatory in fact. Acts committed against this group variously infringed upon and violated fundamental rights and freedoms pertaining to movement,<sup>11816</sup> personal dignity,<sup>11817</sup> liberty and security,<sup>11818</sup> freedom from arbitrary or unlawful arrest,<sup>11819</sup> a fair and public trial and equality before the law as enshrined in customary international law.<sup>11820</sup>

3512. In determining whether these acts reach the level of seriousness required for the crime of persecution, the Chamber considers the deportation of a large number of Vietnamese from Prey Veng to Vietnam in 1975 and 1976 and the arrests of Vietnamese families in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng between 1977 and 1979, in the context that they were displaced from their homes and never returned, cumulatively with the killings of Vietnamese civilians in Svay Rieng in 1978, as well as all of the other acts of persecution already established at other crime sites. Together, these acts cumulatively rise to the requisite level of seriousness such as to constitute persecution. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the actus reus of the crime against humanity of persecution on racial grounds is established.

3513. With respect to the mens rea, the Chamber notes the systematic targeting of Vietnamese individuals due to their perceived race, as evidenced by the preparation of lists, the matrilineal policy applied to mixed families, and contemporaneous publications in the Revolutionary Flag and speeches of leading CPK figures targeting the Vietnamese. The Chamber is satisfied on this basis that Vietnamese were intentionally targeted in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng on the basis of their race and finds that the specific intent to discriminate on racial grounds is established. The Chamber is therefore satisfied that the mens rea of the crime against humanity of persecution on racial grounds is established. Accordingly, the Chamber finds that the crime against <sup>11815</sup> Section 16.3.2.1.3.5: CIA, KGB and “Yuon” (Vietnamese) Agents.

<sup>11816</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 13(1); ICCPR, Art. 12(1); ECHR Protocol No. 4, Art. 2; ACHR, Art. 22(5).

<sup>11817</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Preamble, Arts. 1, 22, 23(3); ICCPR, Art. 10; ACHR, Arts 5-6. See also, Kordić and Čerkez Appeal Judgement, para. 106.

<sup>11818</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 3; ICCPR, Arts 6, 9(1); ECHR, Arts 2, 5; ACHR, Arts 4, 7.

<sup>11819</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Art. 9; ICCPR, Art. 9(1); ECHR, Art. 5; ACHR, Art. 7(3).

<sup>11820</sup> As evidence of the state of customary international law, see UDHR, Arts 6, 10; ICCPR, Arts. 9(2)-(4), 14; ECHR, Art. 6; ACHR, Arts 7(6), 8.

humanity of persecution on racial grounds is established in relation to Vietnamese in Prey Veng and Svay Rieng.

13.3.10.5. Genocide

