51. On May 26, 2000, the Commission granted precautionary measures on behalf of Michael Domingues (case 12.285), sentenced to death in the State of Nevada. The Inter-American Commission requested that the State take the necessary measures to preserve the life and physical integrity of Mr. Domingues, so it can investigate the allegations made in the petition, on the grounds that executing Mr. Domingues before the Commission could examine the case would cause irreparable harm. The State did not reply to the Commission's request.
