72. On July 29, 2002 the Commission asked the Paraguayan State to take the necessary steps to protect the person of Mrs. María Noguera and her family from the threats they have received. Mrs. Noguera is a human rights defender, and her main activity is to visit military barracks to see if there are child soldiers, in connection with an inter-institutional commission created for that purpose. She told the Commission that, as a result of her activities, both she and her family had been the victims of threats and intimidation. The State replied on August 29, 2002 and the Commission continues to receive information from both parties on implementation of the measures.
