Trial Chamber III (“Chamber”) of the International Criminal Court in the case of The Prosecutor v. Jean-Pierre Bemba Gombo issues the following Order on the reclassification of documents.

1. At an ex parte status conference, held on 10 May 2012 at the request of the defence,<sup>1</sup> the Chamber was informed of a series of issues faced by the defence in its preparation for its presentation of evidence. Consequently, the Chamber requested that the defence provide it with detailed information on the witnesses it intended to call to testify at trial.<sup>2</sup>

2. Following this request, the following submissions and decisions were filed:
  - (i) The defence filed a confidential and ex parte submission on its presentation of evidence (“First Submission”), together with a confidential and ex parte annex.<sup>3</sup>

  - (ii) The Chamber then issued a public decision on the defence’s First Submission (“First Decision”), together with a confidential and ex parte annex, in which it instructed the defence to provide further information on its anticipated witnesses.<sup>4</sup>

  - (iii) In compliance with the Chamber’s First Decision, the defence filed a further confidential and ex parte submission (“Second Submission”), together with a confidential and ex parte Annex A.<sup>5</sup>

- (iv) The Chamber then issued a public decision on the defence's Second Submission ("Second Decision"), together with a confidential and ex parte annex, in which it, inter alia, instructed the defence to review its list of witnesses, alter their order of appearance and, together with the Victims and Witnesses Unit, assess the feasibility of various alternatives to live testimony in The Hague.<sup>6</sup>

In its Second Decision the Chamber also ordered the defence to file public redacted versions of its First and Second Submissions.<sup>7</sup> However, the Chamber held that the annexes to those submissions should remain confidential and ex parte.<sup>8</sup> The defence duly filed public redacted versions of its First and Second Submissions.<sup>9</sup>

- (v) In compliance with the Chamber's Second Decision the defence then filed another confidential and ex parte submission on its presentation of evidence ("Third Submission"), together with two confidential and ex parte annexes.<sup>10</sup>
- (vi) On the same day, the Registry filed a confidential and ex parte report relating to issues surrounding the defence presentation of evidence ("Registry Report").<sup>11</sup> its Evidence” (“Third Decision”),<sup>12</sup> together with a confidential and ex parte Annex A, in which the Chamber ruled upon various issues surrounding the defence presentation of evidence.

3. In order for the Chamber to issue a public redacted version of its Third Decision in due course, the Chamber finds necessary that the defence and the Registry review the level of confidentiality of their own documents.

4. The Chamber notes that while certain documents abovementioned in paragraph 2 are still confidential, information contained in these filings have now been made public. Therefore, in the Chamber’s view, certain information contained in the defence’s Third Submission and the Registry Report does not warrant confidential or ex parte treatment. However, the annexes to the defence’s Third Submission should remain confidential and ex parte. In addition, the Chamber considers that Annex A to the defence’s Second Submission no longer warrants ex parte treatment. Thus, consistent with the principle of public proceedings enshrined in Articles 64(7) and 67(1) of the Rome Statute (“Statute”) and pursuant to Article 64(6)(f) of the Statute and Regulation 23 bis (3) of the Regulations of the Court, the Chamber ORDERS:

- (i) That the defence file a public redacted version of its Third Submission,<sup>13</sup> no later than 31 August 2012. The annexes to that submission should remain confidential and ex parte.

- (ii) That the defence file a confidential (not ex parte) version of Annex A to its Second Submission.<sup>14</sup>
