Trial Chamber VI ('Chamber') of the International Criminal Court ('Court'), in the case of The Prosecutor v. Bosco Ntaganda, having regard to Article 68(1) and (3) of the Rome Statute and Rules 85-86 of the Rules of Procedure and Evidence, and incorporating by reference the applicable law as set out in the 'Decision on victims' participation in trial proceedings'¹ and the 'Fourth decision on victims' participation in trial proceedings',² issues the 'Seventh decision on victims' participation in trial proceedings'.

1. On 1 September 2015, the Chamber adopted a procedure for family members or individuals closely connected with deceased victims who wish to resume the action initiated by their deceased relatives before the Court.³
2. In accordance with that procedure, on 6 June 2016, the Registry transmitted to the Chamber seven application forms for resumption of action initiated by deceased victims ('Resumption of Action Forms').⁴ The Registry indicated that it had assessed all seven Resumption of Action Forms and considered that each has met the requirements set out by the Chamber.⁵
3. The Chamber has not identified any error in the Registry's assessment of the Resumption of Action Forms. Accordingly, and in line with the applicable law set out in its previous decisions, the Chamber deems it appropriate to authorise the individuals who submitted the Resumption of Action Forms to continue the action initiated by their deceased relatives before the Court. In this regard, the Chamber recalls that family members are only authorised to continue acting on
