RELEASE OF THE ACCUSED BAJRUSH MORINA

Mr. Jens Dieckman for Bajrush Morina

1. Trial Chamber I (“Trial Chamber”) of the International Tribunal for the Prosecution of Persons Responsible for Serious Violations of International Humanitarian Law Committed in the Territory of Former Yugoslavia since 1991 (“Tribunal”) is seized of an oral application for provisional release submitted by the Defence for Bajrush Morina on 8 September 2008 (“Application”)<sup>1</sup> and hereby renders its Decision.

I. SUBMISSIONS

2. In support of its Application, the Defence endorses the arguments submitted in its previous motion for provisional release,<sup>2</sup> i.e.:

- a) Being aware of the investigation against him since late 2007, Bajrush Morina (“the Accused”) never escaped or tried to escape, but has given an interview to the Office of the Prosecutor;
- b) The Accused has contacted the UNMIK authorities and voluntarily handed over his passport;
- c) There are a number of humanitarian reasons militating in favour of granting the provisional release, namely that:
  - a. the Accused has never been convicted.
  - b. the Accused is working and his income guarantees the survival of 9 other family members living in his house. This fact is a sufficient ground for anticipation that the Accused will not escape after provisional release is granted.<sup>3</sup>

3. Moreover, the Defence notes that the Accused fulfilled all the conditions of the previous provisional release. It also argues that the mere nature of the sentence proposed by the Prosecution is not an argument that would militate against the provisional release.<sup>4</sup>

4. On 8 September 2008, the Prosecution orally submitted its objection to the Motion, arguing that the fact that it has asked the Trial Chamber to sentence the Accused to one year of imprisonment militates against granting the provisional release.<sup>5</sup>

II. APPLICABLE LAW

5. Rule 65 of the Rules governs provisional release. It provides, in relevant part:

(A) Once detained, an accused may not be released except upon an order of a Chamber.

(B) Release may be ordered by a Trial Chamber only after giving the host country and the State to which the accused seeks to be released the opportunity to be heard and only if it is satisfied that the accused will appear for trial and, if released, will not pose a danger to any victim, witness or other person.

(C) The Trial Chamber may impose such conditions upon the release of the accused as it may determine appropriate, including the execution of a bail bond and the observance of such conditions as are necessary to ensure the presence of the accused for trial and the protection of others.

6. The Defence bears the burden of proof, on a balance of probabilities, that the accused will appear for trial and, if released, will not pose a danger to any victim, witness or other person.<sup>6</sup>

7. In deciding whether the requirements of Rule 65(B) of the Rules have been met, a Trial Chamber must consider all of those relevant factors which a reasonable Trial Chamber would have been expected to take into account before coming to a decision. It must then provide a reasoned opinion indicating its view on those relevant factors.<sup>7</sup> What these relevant factors are, as well as the weight to be accorded to them, depends upon the particular circumstances of each case.<sup>8</sup>

III. DISCUSSION

8. The Trial Chamber takes into consideration the seriousness of the allegations against the Accused. However, the Trial Chamber also considers that the Accused has not attempted to evade justice in any way and that the parties are in agreement that the Accused voluntarily surrendered to the Tribunal as soon as he was made aware of the indictment against him<sup>9</sup> The Trial Chamber further notes that the Accused acted in accordance with all the conditions of his pre-trial provisional release.<sup>10</sup> Therefore, the Trial Chamber is of the view that in the present circumstances, the Accused's awareness of the sentencing recommendation by the Prosecution as such does not create a flight risk.

<sup>8</sup> Prosecutor v. Stanišić, Case No. IT-04-79-AR65.1, Decision on Prosecution's Interlocutory Appeal of Mićo Stanišić's Provisional Release, 17 October 2005 ("Stanišić Decision"), para. 8.

<sup>9</sup> The indictment against Astrit Haraqija was made public on 25 April 2008 and he was transferred to the Tribunal on 28 April 2008. See Response to Applications for Provisional Release, 9 May 2008, para. 32.

<sup>10</sup> See Decision on Defence Motion for Provisional Release of the Accused Bajrush Morina, 13 May 2008.

9. The Trial Chamber also recalls that the Accused is the breadwinner of his family. Although the Trial Chamber took this factor into account, it does not carry significant weight.

10. The Host Country has not raised any objections regarding the provisional release of the Accused.<sup>11</sup>

11. The Trial Chamber notes that the UNMIK extended its guarantees given on 7 May 2008 to be applicable to the present provisional release. The Trial Chamber took them into consideration, and gave them appropriate weight.<sup>12</sup>

12. For these reasons, the Trial Chamber is satisfied that the Accused, if released, will return from provisional release and will not pose a danger to any victim, witness or other person.
