I. INTRODUCTION

1.1 On 28 February and on 22 July 2011, China requested consultations with the United States concerning an alleged "zeroing" practice by the United States Department of Commerce (USDOC) in its anti-dumping measures on two products from China: (i) certain frozen warmwater shrimp (hereafter "Shrimp"), and (ii) diamond sawblades and parts thereof (hereafter "Diamond Sawblades")¹.

1.2 On 13 October 2011, China requested the establishment of a panel pursuant to Article XXIII of the GATT 1994, Articles 4 and 6 of the DSU and Article 17.4 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement².

1.3 At its 25 October 2011 meeting, the Dispute Settlement Body (DSB) established this Panel pursuant to the request of China in document WT/DS422/3, in accordance with Article 6 of the DSU.

1.4 The Panel's terms of reference are the following:

To examine, in the light of the relevant provisions of the covered agreements cited by the parties to the dispute, the matter referred to the DSB by China in document WT/DS422/3 and to make such findings as will assist the DSB in making the recommendations or in giving the rulings provided for in those agreements.

1.5 Following the agreement of the parties, the Panel was composed on 21 December 2011 as follows:

Chairman: Mr Alberto Juan Dumont

Members: Mr Ernesto Fernández
Ms Stephanie Sin Far Lee

1.6 The European Union, Honduras, Japan, Korea, Thailand and Viet Nam reserved their rights to participate in the Panel proceedings as third parties.

1.7 After consulting with the parties and seeking the views of the third parties, and in view of a joint "Agreement on Procedures" submitted by the parties³, the Panel decided not to hold any substantive meetings with the parties and/or third parties.

³ Agreement on Procedures between China and the United States, WT/DS422/4, Exhibit CHN-1. The Agreement is attached to this Report as Annex D-1. The Agreement provides, inter alia, that the parties would, in the event China requests the establishment of a panel, work to reach agreement on working procedures aimed to expedite the panel proceedings. In this context, the parties would agree to request that they file only one written submission each, and that the Panel forego meetings with the parties, or, at most, have only one such meeting. The Agreement further provides that the United States would not contest China's claims that the measures identified in China's panel request are inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement on the grounds stated in US – Softwood Lumber V. The Agreement further indicates that the scope of China's panel request does not include any claim regarding the margin of dumping calculated for Zhanjiang Guolian in the Shrimp investigation or "the margin of dumping determined solely on the basis of adverse facts available" in either the Shrimp or Diamond Sawblades investigation. Finally, the Agreement provides that China should not ask that the Panel suggest ways in which the United States could implement the Panel's recommendations pursuant to the second sentence of Article 19.1 of the DSU, and that the United States should implement the Panel's recommendations by recalculating relevant margins of dumping and issuing a new determination in order to render the measures at issue consistent with the DSB's recommendations and rulings

1.8 The Panel submitted its Interim Report to the parties on 5 April 2012 and submitted its Final Report to the parties on 3 May 2012.

II. FACTUAL ASPECTS

A. USDOC DETERMINATIONS IN THE SHRIMP AND DIAMOND SAWBLADES INVESTIGATIONS

2.1 This dispute concerns the alleged use by the USDOC of zeroing in the calculation of margins of dumping in its original investigations in the Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades anti-dumping proceedings.

2.2 The United States initiated the Shrimp investigation on 27 January 2004⁴. The USDOC issued its final determination in this investigation on 8 December 2004⁵. The final determination indicates that the USDOC calculated the following margins of dumping for the four exporters/producers selected for individual examination: Allied, 84.93 per cent; Yelin, 82.27 per cent; Red Garden, 27.89 per cent; Zhanjiang Guolian, 0.07 per cent (i.e. de minimis). In addition, the USDOC applied a "separate rate" of 55.23 per cent, corresponding to the weighted-average of the margins of dumping calculated for Allied, Yelin, and Red Garden, to 35 exporters/producers who were not selected for individual examination but had established their independence from the government⁶. Finally, the USDOC applied a "PRC-wide rate" of 112.81 per cent to exporters/producers not selected for individual examination who did not establish their independence from the government or who failed to respond to the USDOC's questionnaires. On 1 February 2005, the USDOC issued an amended final determination and an anti-dumping duty order.

and the Anti-Dumping Agreement. At the organizational meeting, the parties confirmed their request that the Panel not hold any meeting with the parties and third parties.

⁵ Notice of Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 69 Fed. Reg. 70997 (8 December 2004), Exhibit CHN-3.

In the amended final determination, the USDOC recalculated the margin of dumping for Allied at 80.19 per cent to correct a ministerial error. As a consequence of this change, the USDOC also recalculated the separate rate, to 53.68 per cent, corresponding to the weighted-average of the dumping margin for Allied, as revised, and of the dumping margins for Yelin and of Red Garden, as calculated in the final determination⁷. On 17 August 2006, the USDOC issued a second amended final determination, in which it applied the separate rate to an additional 11 Chinese exporters/producers who had previously been subject to the PRC-wide rate⁸.

2.3 The USDOC subsequently issued a remand determination on 2 September 2010, which revised the scope of the investigation to include dusted shrimp pursuant to a decision of the United States Court of International Trade (CIT)⁹. This was followed by an amendment of the anti-dumping duty order on 26 April 2011¹⁰. On 29 April 2011, following positive sunset review determinations by the USDOC and the United States International Trade Commission (USITC), the USDOC published a notice of continuation of the anti-dumping order¹¹. Finally, the USDOC further issued a second remand determination on 24 May 2011 in which, following another decision of the CIT, it recalculated the margins of dumping for Allied (to 5.07 per cent) and Yelin (to 8.45 per cent)¹².

2.4 The USDOC initiated an anti-dumping investigation on Diamond Sawblades from, inter alia, China on 21 June 2005¹³. The USDOC's final determination was issued on 22 May 2006. In this final determination, the USDOC calculated the following margins of dumping: (i) individual margins of 2.50 per cent for AT&M, 34.19 per cent for Bosun and 48.50 per cent for Hebei Jikai; (ii) a separate rate of 20.72 per cent; (iii) a PRC-wide rate of 164.09 per cent¹⁴. On 22 June 2006, the USDOC issued an amended final determination to correct ministerial errors in the final determination, and revising AT&M's dumping margins to 2.82 per cent, Bosun's dumping margin to 35.51 per cent, and

Reg. 5149 (1 February 2005), Exhibit CHN-5. The amended final determination and order also excluded canned shrimp from the scope of the investigation.

¹¹ Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Continuation of Antidumping Duty Orders, 76 Fed. Reg. 23972 (29 April 2011), Exhibit CHN-11.

¹³ Initiation of Antidumping Duty Investigations: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China and the Republic of Korea, 70 Fed. Reg. 35625 (21 June 2005), Exhibit CHN-12.

the separate rate to 21.43 per cent¹⁵. The USDOC issued the anti-dumping order on 4 November 2009¹⁶.

B. MEASURES AT ISSUE

2.5 With respect to the Shrimp investigation, China challenges the anti-dumping order, as amended and extended, and the USDOC's final determinations, as amended, leading to this order¹⁷. The specific aspects of these measures challenged by China are: (i) the use by the USDOC of the zeroing methodology in determining Allied, Yelin and Red Garden's dumping margins; and (ii) the USDOC's reliance on individual dumping margins calculated with zeroing in calculating the separate rate, as amended¹⁸.

2.6 With respect to the Diamond Sawblades investigation, China challenges the final determination, amended final determination and anti-dumping order¹⁹. The specific aspect of these measures challenged by China is the use by the USDOC of the zeroing methodology in determining AT&M's dumping margin, as amended²⁰.

III. PARTIES' REQUESTS FOR FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

3.1 China requests that the Panel find that²¹:

- (a) in the calculation of the dumping margins for Allied, Yelin and Red Garden in the Shrimp investigation, by the use of the zeroing methodology, the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement;
- (b) in the calculation of the separate rate in the Shrimp investigation, by relying on company-specific dumping margins that were calculated with the use of the zeroing methodology, the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement; and,
- (c) in the calculation of the dumping margin for AT&M in the Diamond Sawblades investigation, by the use of the zeroing methodology, the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.

3.2 The United States does not oppose China's requests for the above findings²².

¹⁵ Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Fed. Reg. 35864 (22 June 2006), Exhibit CHN-14.

¹⁷ China indicates that this includes the determinations, orders, and continuation of the order discussed above. (China's first written submission, para. 19 and footnote 29).

²⁰ China's first written submission, para. 22.

²¹ China's first written submission, para. 68.

²² United States' first written submission, para. 8.

IV. ARGUMENTS OF THE PARTIES

4.1 The arguments of the parties are set out in their written submissions to the Panel and their answers to the Panel's questions. The parties' submissions (or executive summaries thereof) are attached to this Report as Annexes A-1 and A-2 (see List of Annexes, page ii).

V. ARGUMENTS OF THE THIRD PARTIES

5.1 The arguments of the European Union, Japan and Thailand are set out in their respective third-party submissions to the Panel and are attached to this Report as Annexes B-1 to B-3 (see List of Annexes, page ii). While Honduras, Korea and Viet Nam also reserved their right to participate in the Panel proceedings as third parties, they did not submit a third-party submission.

VI. INTERIM REVIEW

A. INTRODUCTION

6.1 On 5 April 2012, the Panel submitted its Interim Report to the parties. On 16 April 2012, the parties submitted written requests for review of precise aspects of the Interim Report. On 20 April 2012, the parties submitted written comments on each other's requests for interim review.

6.2 As explained below, the Panel has made a number of minor adjustments to the Report in light of the parties' comments. The numbering of paragraphs and footnotes in the Final Report remains unchanged from the Interim Report.

B. CHINA'S REQUESTS FOR REVIEW OF PRECISE ASPECTS OF THE INTERIM REPORT

6.3 China requests that we make a number of changes to correct inaccuracies in the Panel's citations to certain USDOC determinations submitted by China as exhibits in footnotes 16 and 24. The United States agrees with the changes proposed by China. China further requests that we correct a typographical error in paragraph 7.2, and that we modify the paragraphs of China's first written submission which are referenced in footnote 43. The United States did not comment on these requests. We have made the changes requested by China.

6.4 China requests that we amend paragraph 7.4 and footnote 27 to clarify that only the third sentence of Article 12.7 of the DSU, and not the entirety of this provision, applies where a mutually agreed solution is reached. We have amended paragraph 7.4 and footnote 27 as suggested by China.

C. UNITED STATES' REQUESTS FOR REVIEW OF PRECISE ASPECTS OF THE INTERIM REPORT

6.5 The United States requests that we make certain changes to footnote 6 to make it clear that the separate rate assigned to an individual respondent who qualifies for such a rate is not based on an individual investigation of that respondent. We have made certain changes to footnote 6 in order to address the United States' concerns. We have, however, not implemented the United States' suggestion to use the term "separate rate average". Rather, consistent with the terminology used in the remainder of the Report and the terminology used by the parties in their submissions to the Panel, we consider it appropriate to refer to the rate at issue as the "separate rate", but explain that it corresponds to the weighted-average of the individual rates determined for individually-examined respondents.

6.6 The United States requests that we replace the term "extended" with "revised" in the first sentence of paragraph 2.3. The United States considers that the latter more accurately reflects the nature of the change to the scope of the Shrimp investigation to include dusted shrimp in the 2 September 2010 remand determination. We have made the change suggested by the United States. For the same reason, the United States requests that we delete the term "extended" in paragraph 2.5. China objects to this second request, and we decline to make the modification suggested by the United States. The term "extended" in paragraph 2.5 refers to the continuation of the anti-dumping order following the USDOC and USITC's sunset review determinations, and not to the modification of the product scope of the Shrimp investigation. Moreover, paragraph 2.5 describes the measures challenged by China, and our use of the term "extended" in this paragraph mirrors China's use of the same term in its first written submission.

6.7 The United States considers that the quotations to two Appellate Body Reports contained in paragraph 7.29 do not adequately reflect the role that each panel plays in the dispute settlement process. The United States submits that the rights and obligations of WTO Members flow, not from panel or Appellate Body reports, but from the text of the covered agreements. The United States adds that while prior reports have an important place in the dispute settlement process, Article 11 of the DSU defines a panel's responsibility to carry out its own objective examination of the matter before it, including the "applicability of and conformity with the covered agreements". Further, Article 3.2 of the DSU directs a panel to make that examination through an interpretation of the relevant treaty provisions in accordance with the customary rules of interpretation of public international law. The United States considers that a concern over consistency with a prior report adopted by the DSB should not and cannot override these provisions, which do not direct a panel to apply or defer to previously adopted reports. The United States adds that paragraph 7.29 is, in any event, not essential to the Panel's analysis. The United States therefore requests that we delete paragraph 7.29. China does not comment on this request for review. The United States has not convinced us that the reference to the two Appellate Body statements at issue in paragraph 7.29 is inappropriate or that the Appellate Body has erred in making these statements. In consequence, we decline the United States' request and have not deleted paragraph 7.29.

VII. FINDINGS

A. INTRODUCTION AND ROLE OF A PANEL EXAMINING CLAIMS THAT ARE UNOPPOSED BY THE RESPONDING PARTY

7.1 China claims that the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement by using zeroing to calculate margins of dumping in its final determinations and orders, as amended and extended, in the Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades original investigations, and in relying on margins of dumping calculated with zeroing in establishing the separate rate applied in the Shrimp investigation. China contends that the USDOC's use of zeroing affected the determination of the dumping margins and has led the USDOC to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found, or has led the USDOC to calculate inflated dumping margins²³.

7.2 China submits that in the two investigations at issue, the USDOC used a five-step approach (which China terms the "Five Components") in calculating the dumping margins for the exporters/producers which the USDOC selected for individual examination²⁴. According to China, the USDOC:

²³ China's first written submission, para. 59.

²⁴ China notes that, on 27 December 2006 the USDOC modified its dumping margin procedure in original investigations to eliminate zeroing where the average-to-average comparison methodology was used, but that this modification was only applied in pending and future investigations as of the effective date of the USDOC's notice of modification (22 February 2007). Since the Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades investigations were finished in 2005 and 2006 respectively, this modification was not applied in any of the determinations at

- i. identified different "models" (i.e., types) of products using "control numbers" (CONNUM) that specify the most relevant product characteristics;
- ii. calculated weighted-average US prices and weighted-average normal values on a model-specific basis for the entire period of investigation;
- iii. compared the weighted-average normal value of each model to the weighted-average US price for that same model;
- iv. in order to calculate the dumping margin for an exporter, summed the amount of "dumping" for each model and then divided it by the aggregate US price for all models; and
- v. before summing the total amount of dumping for all models, effectively set all negative margins on individual models to zero²⁵.

7.3 China submits that the zeroing methodology applied by the USDOC in the investigations at issue is the same as the one which the Appellate Body found to be inconsistent with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement in *US – Softwood Lumber V*²⁶.

7.4 The United States does not contest China's claims. The parties have not, however, characterized their shared view of the substantive aspects of the dispute as a "mutually agreed solution", and thus the third sentence of Article 12.7 of the DSU does not apply²⁷. We therefore start by considering whether the lack of substantive disagreement between the parties affects our responsibilities as a panel.

7.5 We note that the panels in US – Shrimp (Ecuador) and, subsequently, US – Shrimp (Thailand), US – Anti-Dumping Measures on PET Bags, and US – Zeroing (Korea) were presented with a similar situation. Indeed each of these panels examined claims, unopposed by the United States, that were virtually identical to China's legal claims in the dispute before us.

7.6 Each of these panels considered that notwithstanding the fact that the claims before them were unopposed, they were still bound by Article 11 of the DSU²⁸ to make an "objective assessment issue in this dispute. (China's first written submission, footnote 31, referring to Antidumping Proceedings: Calculation of the Weighted-Average Dumping Margin During an Antidumping Investigation; Final Modification, 71 Fed. Reg. 77722 (27 December, 2006), Exhibit CHN-16; and Antidumping Proceedings: Calculation of the Weighted-Average Dumping Margins in Antidumping Investigations; Change in Effective Date of Final Modification, 72 Fed. Reg. 3783 (26 January 2007), Exhibit CHN-17).

²⁵ China's first written submission, paras. 23-24.

²⁶ China's first written submission, paras. 63-64.

²⁷ When a mutually agreed solution is reached, the third sentence of Article 12.7 of the DSU provides that a panel's Report shall be "confined to a brief description of the case and to reporting that a solution has been reached".

²⁸ Article 11 reads, in relevant part:

The function of panels is to assist the DSB in discharging its responsibilities under this Understanding and the covered agreements. Accordingly, a panel should make an objective assessment of the matter before it, including an objective assessment of the facts of the case and the applicability of and conformity with the relevant covered agreements, and make such other findings as will assist the DSB in making the recommendations or in giving the rulings provided for in the covered agreements.

Further, we note that Article 17.6 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement is also relevant to a panel's factual and legal assessment of an anti-dumping determination by an investigating authority. However, the United States does not contest China's claims, and we need not consider the application of this provision in detail.

of the facts of the case and the applicability of and conformity with the relevant covered agreements, and make such other findings as will assist the DSB in making the recommendations or in giving the rulings provided for in the covered agreements"²⁹. We agree with this approach and apply it in our consideration of China's claims.

B. BURDEN OF PROOF AND ORDER OF THE PANEL'S ANALYSIS

7.7 The general principles regarding the allocation of the burden of proof in WTO dispute settlement require that a party claiming a violation of a provision of a WTO agreement by another Member assert and prove its claim. Generally, therefore, China, as the complaining party, has to make a prima facie case of violation of the relevant provisions of the WTO agreements it invokes, before the burden shifts to the responding party, the United States, to rebut China's arguments.

7.8 The US – Shrimp (Ecuador) panel recalled that the Appellate Body has held that a "panel errs when it rules on a claim for which the complaining party has failed to make a prima facie case"³⁰. On this basis, the panel considered that the fact that a claim is uncontested is not a sufficient basis to conclude in favour of the complainant. Rather, the panel concluded, the complaining party must make a prima facie case of violation of a WTO agreement before any burden shifts to the respondent:

[N]otwithstanding the fact that the United States is not seeking to refute Ecuador's claims, we must satisfy ourselves that Ecuador has established a prima facie case of violation, and notably that it has presented "evidence and argument ... sufficient to identify the challenged measure and its basic import, identify the relevant WTO provision and obligation contained therein, and explain the basis for the claimed inconsistency of the measure with that provision"³¹.

7.9 This approach was later followed by the panels in US – Shrimp (Thailand), US – Anti-Dumping Measures on PET Bags, and *US – Zeroing (Korea)*³². We agree with the reasoning of these panels and adopt a similar approach to the issue of the burden of proof in our assessment of China's claims. Accordingly, notwithstanding the fact that the United States does not contest China's claims, we can only find in favour of China if we are satisfied that China has at least established a prima facie case of violation under the provision it invokes.

7.10 Our evaluation of China's claims follows the order of analysis adopted by these prior panels. We examine, in turn, whether China has established that: (i) the USDOC applied zeroing in the determinations at issue; (ii) the methodology used by USDOC in the measures at issue is similar to the one reviewed by the Appellate Body in US – Softwood Lumber V; and (iii) the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, on the basis of the reasoning of the Appellate Body in US – Softwood Lumber V.

7.11 We examine China's claim with respect to the separate rate applied by the USDOC in the Shrimp investigation in a distinct section at the end of our findings.

C. WHETHER CHINA HAS ESTABLISHED THAT THE USDOC APPLIED ZEROING IN THE DETERMINATIONS AT ISSUE

7.12 In support of its factual assertion that the USDOC applied zeroing in its dumping margin calculations in the Shrimp and the Diamond Sawblades investigations, China submits as evidence the Issues and Decision Memoranda accompanying the USDOC's final determination in each investigation, as well as an expert statement from Ms Valerie Owenby (hereafter "VO Statement"). The VO Statement reviews the methodology employed by the USDOC in the calculation of the dumping margins and attaches a number of exhibits, including computer programming logs and outputs as well as analysis memoranda generated by the USDOC during the investigations and provided to Ms Owenby by the exporter/producer concerned³³.

7.13 We note the following in respect of this evidence submitted by China.

7.14 First, the computer programming logs emanating from the USDOC submitted by China and attached to the VO Statement each contain a line with the following instruction "WHERE EMARGIN GT 0". This programming line, which we hereafter refer to as the "zeroing line", instructs the programme to include only those comparison results that are positive (i.e. greater than zero) in the calculation of the total amount of dumping and therefore causes the programme to ignore negative results³⁴. China submits such computer programming logs, containing the zeroing line, for each exporter/producer (Allied, Yelin and Red Garden in the Shrimp investigation and AT&M in the Diamond Sawblades investigation) and in each case, for at least the most recent dumping margin calculation for each exporter/producer³⁵.

7.15 Second, the Issues and Decision Memorandum accompanying the final determination in the Shrimp investigation contains a statement in which the USDOC acknowledges that it used model zeroing in calculating margins of dumping in that determination. The USDOC states that it:

... made model-specific comparisons of weighted-average export prices with weighted-average normal values of comparable merchandise [and] then combined the dumping margins found based upon these comparisons, without permitting non-

³⁴ China's first written submission, para. 57 and VO Statement, Exhibit CHN-18, para. 38.

dumped comparisons to reduce the dumping margins found on distinct models of subject merchandise, in order to calculate the weighted-average dumping margin³⁶. (emphasis added)

7.16 Likewise, the Issues and Decision Memorandum accompanying the final determination in Diamond Sawblades states that:

The Department interprets [the statutory definition of dumping] to mean that a dumping margin exists only when normal value is greater than export or constructed export price. As no dumping margins exist with respect to sales where normal value is equal to or less than export or constructed export price, the Department will not permit these non-dumped sales to offset the amount of dumping found with respect to other sales"³⁷. (emphasis added)

7.17 This language effectively acknowledges the USDOC's use of zeroing to calculate margins of dumping in its final determination in each of the two investigations.

7.18 Third, the VO Statement generally establishes that the USDOC applied zeroing in calculating the dumping margin in each of the successive determinations in each investigation, with respect to each individually-examined exporter/producer. The VO Statement applies a four-step analysis in examining each calculation³⁸, by which it: (i) duplicates the USDOC's dumping margin calculations; (ii) identifies where each of the "Five Components" occurs in each calculation, and cross-references the duplicate results with other record evidence to confirm the USDOC's application of zeroing; (iii) modifies the duplicate calculations to eliminate zeroing by turning off the zeroing line (to demonstrate the impact of zeroing); and (iv) compares the results of each set of calculations to quantify the impact of zeroing³⁹.

7.19 Fourth, the United States acknowledges the accuracy of China's description of the USDOC's use of zeroing in its calculation of the dumping margins challenged by China⁴⁰.

7.20 On the basis of this evidence, we are satisfied that China has established that the USDOC applied zeroing when calculating the dumping margins for Yelin, Allied and Red Garden in its final determinations and orders, as amended and extended, in the Shrimp investigation, and in calculating the dumping margin for AT&M in its final and amended final determinations and order in the Diamond Sawblades investigation.

³⁷ Issues and Decision Memorandum for the Final Determination in the Antidumping Duty Investigation of Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China (15 May 2006), Exhibit CHN-22, p. 25.

D. WHETHER CHINA HAS ESTABLISHED THAT THE METHODOLOGY USED BY THE USDOC IS THE SAME AS THE METHODOLOGY REVIEWED BY THE APPELLATE BODY IN US – Softwood Lumber V

7.21 The Appellate Body described zeroing as applied by the USDOC in the Softwood Lumber investigation as follows:

First, USDOC divided the product under investigation (that is, softwood lumber from Canada) into sub-groups of identical, or broadly similar, product types. Within each sub-group, USDOC made certain adjustments to ensure price comparability of the transactions and, thereafter, calculated a weighted average normal value and a weighted average export price per unit of the product type. When the weighted average normal value per unit exceeded the weighted average export price per unit for a sub-group, the difference was regarded as the "dumping margin" for that comparison. When the weighted average normal value per unit was equal to or less than the weighted average export price per unit for a sub-group, USDOC took the view that there was no "dumping margin" for that comparison. USDOC aggregated the results of those sub-group comparisons in which the weighted average normal value exceeded the weighted average export price – those where the USDOC considered there was a "dumping margin" – after multiplying the difference per unit by the volume of export transactions in that sub-group. The results for the sub-groups in which the weighted average normal value was equal to or less than the weighted average export price were treated as zero for purposes of this aggregation, because there was, according to USDOC, no "dumping margin" for those sub-groups. Finally, USDOC divided the result of this aggregation by the value of all export transactions of the product under investigation (including the value of export transactions in the sub-groups that were not included in the aggregation). In this way, USDOC obtained an "overall margin of dumping", for each exporter or producer, for the product under investigation (that is, softwood lumber from Canada). ... Thus, as we understand it, by zeroing, the investigating authority treats as zero the difference between the weighted average normal value and the weighted average export price in the case of those sub-groups where the weighted average normal value is less than the weighted average export price. Zeroing occurs only at the stage of aggregation of the results of the sub-groups in order to establish an overall margin of dumping for the product under investigation as a whole⁴¹. (emphasis original, footnote omitted).

7.22 China contends that the "Five Components" methodology applied by the USDOC in the Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades investigations matches this description of the methodology employed by the USDOC in the investigation at issue in US – Softwood Lumber V. China explains that they are "substantially identical in all legally relevant respects"⁴².

7.23 The evidence provided by China, which we have reviewed in the previous section of our findings, including the extensive discussion and identification of each of the "Five Components" in the VO Statement, satisfies us that in the determinations at issue the USDOC did, in fact, follow the methodology described by China⁴³. Thus, China has established that in the original investigations at issue, the USDOC: (i) identified different models or types of products; (ii) calculated weighted-average US prices and weighted-average normal values on a model-specific basis for the entire period of investigation; (iii) compared the weighted-average normal value of each model to the weighted-average US price for that same model⁴⁴; (iv) calculated the dumping margin for an exporter by summing up the results of those model-specific comparisons, and then dividing the resulting amount by the aggregate US price for all models; and; (v), as we have already found, when summing the total amount of dumping for all models, ignored the results of model-specific comparisons for which the weighted-average US price exceeded the weighted-average normal value. We agree with China that this methodology is identical to the one described by the Appellate Body in US – Softwood Lumber V.

⁴¹ Appellate Body Report, US – Softwood Lumber V, paras. 64-65.

⁴² China's first written submission, para. 64.

7.24 Moreover, not only does the United States acknowledge that China's description of the methodology used by the USDOC in the determinations at issue is accurate⁴⁵, the United States also acknowledges that the reasoning of the Appellate Body in US – Softwood Lumber V is applicable with respect to China's claims in the present dispute⁴⁶.

7.25 In light of these considerations, we are satisfied that China has demonstrated that the methodology applied by the USDOC to calculate dumping margins in the investigations at issue is identical to the one that the USDOC used in US – Softwood Lumber V, which the Appellate Body found to be inconsistent with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement in that dispute.

E. WHETHER CHINA HAS ESTABLISHED THAT THE METHODOLOGY APPLIED BY THE USDOC IS INCONSISTENT WITH ARTICLE 2.4.2 OF THE ANTI-DUMPING AGREEMENT

7.26 We now turn to the legal analysis of China's claims, i.e., whether the measures challenged by China are inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement. This sentence reads as follows:

Subject to the provisions governing fair comparison in paragraph 4, the existence of margins of dumping during the investigation phase shall normally be established on the basis of a comparison of a weighted average normal value with a weighted average of prices of all comparable export transactions or by a comparison of normal value and export prices on a transaction-to-transaction basis.

7.27 We recall that China relies on the Appellate Body Report in US – Softwood Lumber V to argue that the United States acted inconsistently with this provision⁴⁷. The panel in US – Shrimp (Ecuador) explained its understanding of the Appellate Body's reasoning in US – Softwood Lumber V as follows:

Circumstances and Postponement of Final Determination: Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 69 Fed. Reg. (16 July 2004), Exhibit CHN-4, pp. 42654 and 42663; and Preliminary Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value, Postponement of Final Determination, and Preliminary Partial Determination of Critical Circumstances: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 70 Fed. Reg. (29 December 2005), Exhibit CHN-21, pp. 77122 and 722130).

⁴⁴ The European Union correctly notes that China uses the terms "dumping" and "margins" when discussing the results of export price-normal value comparisons at the model level (European Union's third-party submission, para. 7). As the European Union observes, the Appellate Body has indicated that "dumping" can only exist for the product under investigation as a whole, and that consequently, intermediate comparisons between the normal value and the export price at the product level should not be referred to as "dumping margins".

⁴⁵ United States' first written submission, para. 2.

⁴⁶ United States' first written submission, para. 8.

⁴⁷ China's first written submission, para. 61 (citing Appellate Body Report, US – Softwood Lumber V, paras. 86-103 and 98).

The Appellate Body began its analysis with the text of Article 2.4.2 and noted that the question before it was the proper interpretation of the terms "all comparable export transactions" and "margins of dumping" in Article 2.4.2. In examining the arguments of the parties with respect to these phrases, the Appellate Body concluded that the parties' disagreement centered on whether a Member could take into account "all" comparable export transactions only at the sub-group level, or whether such transactions also had to be taken into account when the results of the sub-group comparisons are aggregated. To examine that issue, the Appellate Body noted the definition of dumping in Article 2.1 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement. The Appellate Body found that "it [was] clear from the texts of [Article VI:1 of the GATT 1994 and Article 2.1 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement] that dumping is defined in relation to a product as a whole as defined by the investigating authority". The Appellate Body further considered that the definition of "dumping" contained in Article 2.1 applies to the entire Agreement, including Article 2.4.2, and that "[d]umping', within the meaning of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, can therefore be found to exist only for the product under investigation as a whole, and cannot be found to exist only for a type, model, or category of that product." Next, the Appellate Body relied on its Report in EC – Bed Linen, in which it stated that "[w]hatever the method used to calculate the margins of dumping ... these margins must be, and can only be, established for the product under investigation as a whole." Thus, the Appellate Body noted that "[a]s with dumping, 'margins of dumping' can be found only for the product under investigation as a whole, and cannot be found to exist for a product type, model, or category of that product." The Appellate Body therefore rejected the United States' arguments in that case that Article 2.4.2 does not apply to the aggregation of the results of multiple comparisons at the sub-group level; for the Appellate Body, while an investigating authority may undertake multiple averaging to establish margins of dumping for a product under investigation, the results of the multiple comparisons at the sub-group levels are not margins of dumping within the meaning of Article 2.4.2; they merely reflect intermediate calculations made by an investigating authority in the context of establishing margins of dumping for the product under investigation. It is only on the basis of aggregating all such intermediate values that an investigating authority can establish margins of dumping for the product under investigation as a whole. On this basis, the Appellate Body held that zeroing, as applied by the USDOC in US – Softwood Lumber V:

mean[t], in effect, that at least in the case of some export transactions, the export prices are treated as if they were less than what they actually are. Zeroing, therefore, does not take into account the entirety of the prices of some export transactions, namely, the prices of export transactions in those sub-groups in which the weighted average normal value is less than the weighted average export price. Zeroing thus inflates the margin of dumping for the product as a whole.

The Appellate Body on this basis concluded that the treatment of comparisons for which the weighted average normal value is less than the weighted average export price as "non-dumped" comparisons was not in accordance with the requirements of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement. As a result, the Appellate Body upheld the Panel's finding that the United States had acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement in determining the existence of margins of dumping on the basis of a methodology incorporating the practice of zeroing⁴⁸. (footnotes omitted)

7.28 We find this reasoning of the Appellate Body to be persuasive.

7.29 Moreover, while prior panel or Appellate Body reports are not, strictly speaking, binding upon panels, the Appellate Body has indicated that "[f]ollowing the Appellate Body's conclusions in earlier disputes is not only appropriate, it is what would be expected from panels, especially where the issues are the same" and that "[t]his is also in line with a key objective of the dispute settlement system to provide security and predictability to the multilateral trading system"⁴⁹. In addition, the Appellate Body has in the past cautioned that the failure by a panel to follow previously adopted Appellate Body reports addressing the same issues undermined the development of a coherent and predictable body of jurisprudence clarifying Members' rights and obligations under the covered agreements as contemplated under the DSU⁵⁰.

7.30 In the words of the US – Shrimp (Ecuador) panel, "there is now a consistent line of Appellate Body Reports ... that holds that 'zeroing' in the context of the weighted average-to-weighted average methodology in original investigations ... is inconsistent with Article 2.4.2"⁵¹. We recall that the United States has advanced no argument to contradict the reasoning of the Appellate Body in US – Softwood Lumber V and in subsequent decisions that have found the use of zeroing in the context of the weighted average-to-weighted average methodology in original investigations inconsistent with Article 2.4.2. Moreover, the issues raised by China's claims are identical in all material respects to those addressed by the Appellate Body in US – Softwood Lumber V and the United States acknowledges that the reasoning of the Appellate Body in that dispute is equally applicable with respect to the dumping margins challenged by China in the present dispute⁵².

7.31 We conclude, on this basis, that China has discharged its burden of establishing a prima facie case that the United States has acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, by virtue of the USDOC's use of zeroing in the determinations at issue because the USDOC did not calculate the dumping margins challenged by China on the basis of the product as a whole and taking into account all comparable export transactions.

7.32 Given that the United States presents no argument to rebut the arguments and evidence submitted by China, we find that the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement due to the USDOC's use of zeroing in the calculation of the dumping margins for Allied, Yelin and Red Garden in the Shrimp investigation, and of the dumping margin for AT&M in the Diamond Sawblades investigation.

F. APPLICATION OF A SEPARATE RATE ESTABLISHED ON THE BASIS OF MARGINS OF DUMPING CALCULATED WITH THE USE OF ZEROING

7.33 China challenges not only the consistency with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement of the USDOC's use of zeroing to calculate individual dumping margins, but also the consistency with the same provision of the USDOC's reliance on dumping margins calculated with zeroing for the purposes of establishing the separate rate applied in the Shrimp investigation.

⁴⁸ Panel Report, US – Shrimp (Ecuador), paras. 7.38-7.39.

⁴⁹ Appellate Body Report, US – Continued Zeroing, para. 362.

⁵⁰ Appellate Body Report, US – Stainless Steel (Mexico), para. 161.

⁵¹ Panel Report, US – Shrimp (Ecuador), para. 7.40.

⁵² United States' first written submission, para. 8.

7.34 China argues that since the calculation of the separate rate in the Shrimp investigation was based on a weighted-average of the dumping margins of mandatory respondents, the calculation of the separate rate in the Shrimp investigation "necessarily incorporates" the inconsistent zeroing methodology, and thus violates Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement⁵³.

7.35 The evidence submitted by China indicates that the USDOC did, indeed, rely on margins of dumping calculated with zeroing to derive the separate rate, as amended, applied in the Shrimp investigation. In both the final determination and the amended final determination, the USDOC applied as separate rate the weighted-average of the margins calculated for the three individual respondents that had margins above zero or *de minimis*⁵⁴. As we have found above, these margins had, in turn, been calculated with the use of zeroing⁵⁵.

7.36 We note that Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement imposes disciplines on the determination of dumping margins, and more specifically, on the manner in which the export price should be compared to the normal value in establishing these margins. On its face, Article 2.4.2 does not appear to address the question of the application of anti-dumping duties, including the duties which may be applied on imports from exporters/producers not selected for individual examination. China has not, in our view, satisfactorily explained how Article 2.4.2 could provide the legal basis for a finding of inconsistency with respect to the separate rate⁵⁶. The fact that margins of dumping are

⁵⁴ As indicated above in footnote 12, the USDOC did not revise the separate rate in subsequent determinations.

⁵⁵ Notice of Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 69 Fed. Reg. 70997 (8 December 2004), Exhibit CHN-3, Exhibit CHN-3, p. 71003; Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Antidumping Duty Order: Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 70 Fed. Reg. 5149 (1 February 2005), Exhibit CHN-5, p. 5150; and Antidumping Duty Investigation of Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp from the People's Republic of China – Calculation of the Weighted Average Section A rate (26 January 2005), Exhibit CHN-20, discussed in China's first written submission, paras. 47-49. In addition, China has established that at least two of these three margins were impacted by the use of zeroing. However, the evidence submitted by China indicates that the margin of dumping for Yelin in the final determination, which is the one that was used in the calculation of the separate rate in both the final and the amended final determinations, does not change when zeroing is eliminated. (China's response to Panel question No. 4 and VO Statement, Exhibit CHN-18, paras. 59-61).

⁵⁶ We asked the following question to China:

... Please explain how and why, in your view, Article 2.4.2 provides a legal basis for a finding of violation with respect to the separate rate applied in the Shrimp investigation (as opposed to the margins calculated for exporters/producers selected for individual examination). In so doing, please refer to the text and context of Article 2.4.2 and to any prior panel or Appellate Body decision which you consider to support an interpretation of Article 2.4.2 as imposing disciplines with respect to a "separate rate" or, more generally, to a rate applied to exporters/producers not selected for individual investigation.

China answered as follows:

...Where, as here, the "margins of dumping" for individually investigated exporters are calculated inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, the Separate Rate calculated on that basis must necessarily violate Article 2.4.2. In other words, the source of the WTO-inconsistency of the Separate Rate is the application of "zeroing" in the calculation of "margins of dumping" for individually investigated exporters in violation of Article 2.4.2 and the reliance thereof.

Support may be found in US – Shrimp (Ecuador). The panel in that dispute correctly found that, in an identical situation, the calculation of the separate rate based on individual margins calculated with the use of zeroing "necessarily incorporates this inconsistent methodology [of zeroing]". Also noted by the US – Shrimp (Ecuador) panel, the United States agreed to this view (China's response to Panel question No. 1) (footnotes omitted) inconsistent with Article 2.4.2 does not necessarily mean that a separate rate calculated on the basis of such margins is also, itself, inconsistent with that same provision⁵⁷.

7.37 Furthermore, like the panel in US – Shrimp (Ecuador), we note that neither the Panel nor the Appellate Body Report in US – Softwood Lumber V addressed explicitly the issue of the inconsistency of the "all others" rate as calculated by the USDOC in the Softwood Lumber investigation⁵⁸.

7.38 That said, we recall that in addressing Ecuador's claim with respect to the "all others" rate in that dispute, the US – Shrimp (Ecuador) panel observed as follows:

[W]e consider that our finding that Ecuador has established that the calculation of the margins of dumping for [some of the individually-investigated exporters] was inconsistent with Article 2.4.2 means that the calculation of the "all others" rate as the weighted average of the individual rates necessarily incorporates this inconsistent methodology⁵⁹. (emphasis added, footnote omitted)

7.39 We agree with this observation of the US – Shrimp (Ecuador) panel. We have found that the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement by using zeroing in the calculation of the margins of dumping for individually-examined exporters/producers. Following the reasoning of the US – Shrimp (Ecuador) panel, this means that the calculation of the separate rate on the basis of these margins necessarily incorporates the WTO-inconsistent zeroing methodology⁶⁰.

VIII. CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATION

8.1 In light of the above findings, we conclude that the USDOC acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement by using zeroing in the calculation of dumping margins for Allied, Yelin and Red Garden in its final determination in the Shrimp investigation, as amended, and in the calculation of AT&M's dumping margin in its final determination in the Diamond Sawblades investigation, as amended, as well as in the corresponding anti-dumping duty orders, as amended and extended.

8.2 Under Article 3.8 of the DSU, in cases where there is infringement of the obligations assumed under a covered agreement, the action is considered prima facie to constitute a case of nullification or impairment of benefits under that agreement. Accordingly, we conclude that the United States has nullified or impaired benefits accruing to China under the Anti-Dumping Agreement. Pursuant to Article 19.1 of the DSU, having found that the United States has acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement as set out above, we recommend that the United States bring its measures into conformity with its obligations under this Agreement.

⁵⁷ We note that in US – Shrimp (Viet Nam), the panel found that the investigating authority's reliance on margins of dumping calculated with zeroing to establish the separate rate was inconsistent with Article 9.4 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement. The panel did not, however, pronounce itself on the question of the consistency of the separate rate applied in that case with other provisions, including Articles 2.4 and 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement. (Panel Report, US – Shrimp (Viet Nam), paras. 7.212-227, 7.229).

⁵⁸ Panel Report, US – Shrimp (Ecuador), para. 7.42.

⁵⁹ Panel Report, US – Shrimp (Ecuador), para. 7.42.

ANNEX A-1

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY OF THE FIRST WRITTEN SUBMISSION OF CHINA

I. Introduction

1. In this dispute, the People's Republic of China ("China") contends that the anti-dumping duty orders imposed by the United States of America ("United States") on Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades from China, as amended, and the final determinations made by the United States Department of China ("USDOC"), as amended, leading to these orders, with the application of the "zeroing" methodology, are inconsistent with the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("Anti-Dumping Agreement").

2. On 28 February 2011 and 22 July 2011, China requested consultations with the United States. Consultations were held on 11 May 2011 and 8 September 2011. While these consultations failed to resolve the dispute, they assisted in clarifying the issues before the parties, and enabled the parties to reach a Procedures Agreement on 13 October 2011. According to the agreement, China has agreed that it would provide the necessary evidence and arguments to support its allegations, while the United States has agreed not to contest China's claim that the measures at issue are inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, on the grounds stated in the Appellate Body report in US – Softwood Lumber V.

II. Procedural History of the Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades Investigations

A. The Shrimp Investigation

3. On 27 January 2004, the USDOC initiated an anti-dumping investigation on certain frozen and canned warmwater shrimp from China (Investigation No. A-570-893). On 8 December 2004, the USDOC published the Shrimp Final Determination, in which the USDOC calculated dumping margins for four mandatory respondents respectively: (i) Allied Pacific Group ("Allied"): 84.93%; (ii) Yelin Enterprise Co., Hong Kong ("Yelin"): 82.27%; (iii) Shantou Red Garden Foodstuff Co., Ltd. ("Red Garden"): 27.89%; and (iv) Zhanjiang Guolian Aquatic Products Co., Ltd. ("Zhanjiang Guolian"): 0.07%. For 35 cooperating non-mandatory respondents that passed the USDOC's separate-rate test, the USDOC established a Separate Rate of 55.23%, which was a single weighted-average margin based on the dumping margins calculated for the mandatory respondents, excluding any margins that are zero, de minimis, or based entirely on adverse facts available.

4. Following a final determination of injury by the United States International Trade Commission ("USITC"), on 1 February 2005, the USDOC issued the Shrimp Amended Final Determination to correct the ministerial errors made in the Shrimp Final Determination and an anti-dumping duty order on Shrimp. In the Shrimp Amended Final Determination, the dumping margin of Allied was amended to 80.19%, while the margins of other mandatory respondents remained unchanged. As a consequence of the change in Allied's dumping margin, the Separate Rate was also recalculated to 53.68%.

5. On 17 August 2006, the USDOC issued the Shrimp Second Amended Final Determination, which granted the Separate Rate to an additional 11 Chinese exporters who were subject to PRC-wide rate previously.

6. On 2 September 2010, the USDOC issued an amended final determination pursuant to a decision made by the United States Court of International Trade (“USCIT”). On 26 April 2011, the USDOC issued an amended anti-dumping duty order that included dusted shrimp within the scope of the orders. This amended determination did not involve any changes to the dumping margins of Allied, Yelin, Red Garden, or the Separate Rate.

7. On 24 May 2011, as a result of a remand order by the USCIT, the USDOC issued the Shrimp Remand Determination, through which it revised the surrogate values for inputs and hours of labour used in margin calculations, and determined the margins of Allied and Yelin to be 5.07% and 8.45% respectively. However, the Separate Rate was not revised in the Shrimp Remand Determination.

8. On April 29, 2011, as a result of the affirmative dumping and injury-likelihood determinations by the USDOC and the USITC, the USDOC published a notice of the continuation of the anti-dumping duty orders on Shrimp. Consequently, the above-mentioned duty orders have been extended and remained in effect as of the date of China’s First Written Submission.

9. A table of the dumping margins of the three mandatory respondents and the Separate Rate calculated in each determination at issue is provided as follows:

	Shrimp Final Determination	Shrimp Amended Final Determination	Shrimp Remand Determination
Allied	84.93%	80.19%	5.07%
Yelin	82.27%	82.27%	8.45%
Red Garden	27.89%	27.89%	N/A
Separate Rate	55.23%	53.68%	N/A

B. The Diamond Sawblades Investigation

10. On 21 June 2005, the USDOC initiated an anti-dumping investigation on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China (Investigation No. A-570-900). On 22 May 2006, the USDOC published the Diamond Sawblades Final Determination, in which it calculated a dumping margin of 2.50% for AT&M.

11. On 22 June 2006, the USDOC published an amendment to the Diamond Sawblades Final Determination, and revised the dumping margin of AT&M to be 2.82%. On 4 November 2009, the USDOC published an anti-dumping duty order on imports of Diamond Sawblades from China, applying a rate of 2.82% to AT&M.

III. The Measures at Issue

12. The specific measures adopted by the United States that are subject to China’s challenge in this dispute are as follow:

A. The Shrimp Investigation

- Notice of Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 69 Federal Register 70997 (8 December 2004);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Antidumping Duty Order: Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 70 Federal Register 5149 (1 February 2005);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp from the People's Republic of China: Notice of Second Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value, 71 Federal Register 47484 (17 August 2006);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Notice of Amended Final Determinations of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 75 Federal Register 53947 (2 September 2010);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Amended Antidumping Duty Orders in Accordance with Final Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 23277 (26 April 2011);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China: Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 30100 (24 May 2011).

13. For the purpose of this dispute, China's challenge relates to the following specific aspects of the final determination and the anti-dumping duty order, as amended and extended, by the USDOC, in connection with the Shrimp investigation: (i) the use by the USDOC of the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margins, as amended, for Allied, Yelin and Red Garden; (ii) the reliance upon the individual dumping margins calculated with the application of "zeroing" in calculating the Separate Rate as amended, applicable to the cooperating non-mandatory respondents that passed the separate-rate test in the investigation.

B. The Diamond Sawblades Investigation

- Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Final Partial Affirmative Determination of Critical Circumstances: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 29303 (22 May 2006);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 35864 (22 June 2006);
- Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China and the Republic of Korea: Antidumping Duty Orders, 74 Federal Register 57145 (4 November 2009).

14. For the purpose of this dispute, China's challenge relates to the following specific aspect of the final determination and the anti-dumping duty order, as amended, by the USDOC, in connection with the Diamond Sawblades investigation - the use by the USDOC of the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margin, as amended, for AT&M.

IV. The Use of “Zeroing” by the USDOC in the Measures at Issue

A. Overview

15. Throughout the two original investigations at issue, the USDOC has consistently applied the “zeroing” methodology in calculating dumping margins for individually investigated exporters. In applying this methodology, the USDOC: (1) identified different “models” (i.e. types) of products using “control numbers” (i.e. CONNUM) that specify the most relevant product characteristics; (2) calculated weighted average prices in the United States and weighted average normal values on a model-specific basis for the entire period of investigation; (3) compared the weighted average normal value of each model to the weighted average U.S. price for that same model; (4) in order to calculate the dumping margin for an exporter, summed the amount of dumping for each model and then divided it by the aggregate U.S. price for all models; and (5) before summing the total amount of dumping for all models, effectively set all negative margins on individual models to zero (“Five Components”).

16. Passages from the relevant published determinations and unpublished decision memoranda of the USDOC show that it has applied the Five Components to calculate dumping margins for the relevant exporters, and that the Separate Rate in the Shrimp investigation was calculated on the basis of the individual dumping margins calculated with the application of “zeroing”. China also submits an expert statement from Ms. Valerie Owenby to further substantiate the existence of the Five Components in the logs and outputs generated by the USDOC in each of the two investigations with respect to Allied, Yelin, Red Garden and AT&M, and to quantify the exact impact of “zeroing”.

17. As elaborated in the VO Statement, Ms. Owenby carried out a four-step analysis to confirm the existence of the Five Components and to quantify the impact of “zeroing”:

- Step 1: Using the programs and the same databases as the USDOC did in the investigations at issue, Ms. Owenby duplicated the USDOC calculations in each case by running the USDOC’s computer programs (“SAS programs”). Upon executing the SAS programs, Ms. Owenby generated logs and outputs duplicating the logs and outputs that were generated by the USDOC. The “duplicate” calculations can serve as an accurate and proper basis to confirm each of the Five Components and to quantify the impact “zeroing” has on the overall weighted-average margins.
- Step 2: Ms. Owenby then identified exactly where each of the Five Components was executed in the USDOC’s margin calculations by reference to the logs generated by the USDOC and the logs generated by the duplicate results.
- Step 3: Ms. Owenby turned off “zeroing” from the duplicate versions of the USDOC calculations by removing the specific programming line that executes “zeroing” in the overall margin calculations.
- Step 4: Ms. Owenby compared the overall weighted-average margin generated when zeroing is removed to the USDOC’s overall weighted-average margin for each respondent to quantify the exact impact of “zeroing”.

18. In short, China proves in its First Written Submission that the USDOC has, as a matter of fact, “zeroed” in calculating dumping margins for Allied, Yelin and Red Garden in the Shrimp investigation and for AT&M in the Diamond Sawblades investigation, and that the use of “zeroing” has led the USDOC to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found or to calculate dumping margins that are inflated.

B. The Shrimp Investigation

1. Mandatory Respondents

19. The USDOC's Shrimp Preliminary Determination included a specific section entitled "CONNUM Comments", under which it stated, inter alia, that,

[o]n January 28, 2004, the Department requested comments from interested parties regarding the appropriate product characteristic criteria for the investigation matching hierarchy for comparing the export price to normal value.

20. Furthermore, the USDOC explained in the Shrimp Preliminary Determination how it made comparison between U.S. price and normal value:

[t]o determine whether sales of certain frozen and canned warmwater shrimp to the United States of the four mandatory respondents were made at less than fair value, we compared export price ("EP") or constructed export price ("CEP") to NV, as described in the "U.S. Price" and "Normal Value" sections of this notice.

21. In its Issues and Decision Memorandum accompanying the publication of the Shrimp Final Determination, the USDOC stated in explicit terms that it had:

[...] made model-specific comparisons of weighted-average export prices with weighted-average normal values of comparable merchandise...[It] then combined the dumping margins found based upon these comparisons, without permitting non-dumped comparisons to reduce the dumping margins found on distinct models of subject merchandise, in order to calculate the weighted-average dumping margin. (emphasis added)

22. The above statements of the USDOC unequivocally demonstrate that it had applied the Five Components in its calculation of dumping margins for mandatory respondents in the Shrimp investigation.

23. In addition, the Five Components in the USDOC's dumping margin calculation are identified in the chart in Exhibit VO-2 to the VO Statement (Exhibit CHN-18), where Ms. Owenby detailed the specific lines and page numbers for each component in the logs generated by the USDOC. In particular, the computer program used by the USDOC to calculate dumping margins contained the following instructions:

PROC MEANS NOPRINT DATA = MARGIN;
  WHERE EMARGIN GT 0;
  VAR EMARGIN QTY11U VALUE;
OUTPUT OUT = ALLPUDD SUM = TOTPUDD MARGQTY MARGVAL;

24. The language "WHERE EMARGIN GT 0" causes the program to include only those sales where the dumping margin (or "EMARGIN") was greater than zero (or "GT 0") in the calculation of the total amount of dumping ("TOTPUDD"). Consequently, the calculation of the total amount of dumping ignores all sales with negative dumping margin. It is thus evident that, the USDOC had applied "zeroing" in calculating dumping margins which led the USDOC to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found or to inflate the dumping margins.

25. As demonstrated by the VO Statement, in contrast to the dumping margins of the relevant exporters calculated by the USDOC with the application of "zeroing" in the Shrimp investigation, the dumping margins calculated with the same data but without the application of “zeroing” would have been negative or lower. Therefore, the USDOC has applied “zeroing” in calculating the dumping margins of the relevant exporters in the Shrimp investigation which led it to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found, or inflate the dumping margin.

2. Separate Rate

26. As demonstrated in the Separate Rate Memorandum by the USDOC, the Separate Rate in the Shrimp Amended Final Determination was a weighted-average margin based on the rate calculated for Allied in Shrimp Amended Final Determination (80.19%), and the rates calculated for Yelin (82.27%) and Red Garden (27.89%) in the Shrimp Final Determination.

27. As discussed above, since the dumping margins for relevant mandatory respondents were calculated with and impacted by the application of “zeroing”, the Separate Rate calculated on that basis was also affected by the application of “zeroing”. Had the USDOC not applied “zeroing” in calculating margins of these two mandatory respondents, the Separate Rate in the Shrimp Amended Final Determination would have dropped from 53.68% to 46.40%.

28. Therefore, it is indisputable that the USDOC has, in the Shrimp investigation, applied the “zeroing” methodology in calculating the dumping margins for certain mandatory respondents, which, as a factual matter, affected the results of the dumping margin calculations for Red Garden in the Shrimp Final Determination and for Allied in the Shrimp Amended Final Determination. Due to the reliance on these individually calculated dumping margins, the Separate Rate calculated in the Shrimp investigation is therefore affected by the application of “zeroing” as well.

C. The Diamond Sawblades Investigation

29. The USDOC stated in the Diamond Sawblades Preliminary Determination that,

[o]n July 14, 2005, the Department requested comments from all interested parties on proposed product characteristics and model match criteria to be used in the designation of control numbers (“CONNUMs”) to be assigned to the subject merchandise. ... On August 5, 2005, the Department released the product characteristics and model match criteria to be used in the designation of CONNUMs to be assigned the subject merchandise.

30. It then declared that,

[t]o determine whether sales of diamond sawblades to the United States ... were made at less than fair value, we compared export price (“EP”) or constructed export price (“CEP”) to normal value (“NV”), as described in the “U.S. Price”, and “Normal Value” sections of this notice. We compared NV to weighted-average EPs and CEPs in accordance with section 777A(d)(1) of the Act.

31. The USDOC, in its Issues and Decision Memorandum accompanying the publication of the Diamond Sawblades Final Determination, stated in explicit terms that it:

...interprets this statutory definition to mean that a dumping margin exists only when normal value is greater than export or constructed export price. As no dumping margins exist with respect to sales where normal value is equal to or less than export or constructed export price, the Department will not permit these non-dumped sales to offset the amount of dumping found with respect to other sales.

32. In addition, the Five Components in the USDOC's dumping margin calculation are identified in the chart in Exhibit VO-2 to the VO Statement (CHN-18), where Ms. Owenby detailed the specific lines and page numbers for each component in the logs generated by the USDOC. Particularly, the computer program used by the USDOC to calculate AT&M's dumping margin contained the following instructions:

PROC MEANS NOPRINT DATA = MARGIN;
WHERE EMARGIN GT 0;
VAR EMARGIN QTYU VALUE;
OUTPUT OUT = ALLPUDD (DROP = _FREQ_ _TYPE_)
SUM = TOTPUDD MARGQTY MARGVAL;

33. Again, the language "WHERE EMARGIN GT 0" causes the program to include only those sales where the dumping margin (or "EMARGIN") was greater than zero (or "GT 0") in the calculation of the total amount of dumping ("TOTPUDD"). Thus, the calculation of the total amount of dumping ignores all sales with negative dumping margin.

34. As demonstrated by the VO Statement, in contrast to the 2.82% calculated by the USDOC with the application of "zeroing" in the Diamond Sawblades Amended Final Determination, the dumping margin for AT&M with the same data but without the application of "zeroing" would have been negative, i.e. no dumping would have been found for AT&M. Therefore, the USDOC has applied "zeroing" in calculating the dumping margin for AT&M which led it to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found.

D. Summary

35. The impact of the USDOC's use of "zeroing" is summarized in the table below.

	Final Determination		Amended Final Determination		Remand Determination
	Zeroing	No Zeroing	Zeroing	No Zeroing	Zeroing	No Zeroing
Allied	84.93%	N/A	80.19%	79.70%	5.07%	Negative
Yelin	82.27%	82.27%	N/A	N/A	8.45%	Negative
Red Garden	27.89%	14.01%	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A
Separate Rate	N/A	N/A	53.68%	46.40%	17.32%	14.01%
AT&M	N/A	N/A	2.82%	Negative	N/A	N/A

V. Legal Argument: Violation of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement

36. In US – Softwood Lumber V, the Appellate Body interpreted the terms "margins of dumping" and "all comparable export transactions" in Article 2.4.2 in an "integrated manner", leading to its conclusion that, where "an investigating authority has chosen to undertake multiple comparisons, the investigating authority necessarily has to take into account the results of all those comparisons in order to establish margins of dumping for the product as a whole under Article 2.4.2."

37. As China demonstrates in its First Written Submission, the Five Components that have been established to exist in the "zeroing" methodology used by the USDOC in the Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades investigations at issue are identical to the "zeroing" methodology described at paragraph 64 of the Appellate Body report in US – Softwood Lumber V in all legally relevant respects.

38. Furthermore, the parties have reached the Procedures Agreement applicable to the resolution of this dispute, providing that the United States will not contest that the measures identified in the panel request are inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence of the Anti-Dumping Agreement on the grounds stated in US-Softwood Lumber V.

39. For the same reasons as articulated by the Appellate Body in US – Softwood Lumber V and by the panels in US – Shrimp (Ecuador), US – Shrimp (Thailand), and US – Retail Carrier Bags (Thailand), the use of the zeroing methodology by the USDOC in calculating the dumping margins of certain exporters in the Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades investigations at issue was inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement. While the Panel is not bound to follow the Appellate Body’s reasoning in previous cases, it has been acknowledged that adopted Appellate Body Reports “create legitimate expectations among WTO Members”, and that “following the Appellate Body’s conclusions in earlier disputes is not only appropriate, but is what would be expected from panels, especially where the issues are the same.”

40. With regard to the issue of Separate Rate in the Shrimp investigation, as a factual matter, China establishes in its First Written Submission that in the Shrimp Amended Final Determination, the calculation of the Separate Rate was based on a weighted average of three company-specific rates, two of which were calculated by the USDOC with the use of “zeroing” (the rate for Red Garden in the Shrimp Final Determination, and the rate for Allied in the Shrimp Amended Final Determination). As a legal matter, China also establishes that the use of “zeroing” in calculating these two company-specific rates is inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement. Accordingly, the calculation of the Separate Rate in the Shrimp investigation “necessarily incorporates this inconsistent methodology [of zeroing]”, and thus violates Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.

VI. Request for Finding and Recommendations

41. For the reasons set forth in China’s First Written Submission, China respectfully requests that the Panel find that:

- (i) in the calculation of the dumping margins for Allied, Yelin and Red Garden in the Shrimp investigation, by the use of “zeroing” methodology, the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement;
- (ii) in the calculation of the Separate Rate in the Shrimp investigation, by relying on company-specific dumping margins that were calculated by the use of “zeroing” methodology, the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement; and,
- (iii) in the calculation of the dumping margin for AT&M in the Diamond Sawblades investigation, by the use of “zeroing” methodology, the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.

42. China respectfully requests that the Panel recommend that the United States bring the challenged measures into conformity with its obligations under the Anti-Dumping Agreement.

ANNEX A-2

FIRST WRITTEN SUBMISSION OF THE UNITED STATES

1. The United States notes that the parties to this dispute have reached an Agreement on Procedures to permit expeditious resolution of this dispute.¹ In its request for a panel, China claims that the United States has breached its obligations under Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the GATT 1994. The basis of China's claim is the U.S. Department of Commerce's (Commerce) use of "zeroing" when calculating the dumping margins for certain exporters in the investigation of Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China and the investigation of Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China.²

2. China describes, both in its request for a panel, and in its first written submission, Commerce's use of "zeroing" in the calculation of the dumping margin for certain exporters as follows: Commerce (1) identified different "models," i.e., types, of products based on the most relevant product characteristics; (2) calculated weighted average prices in the U.S. and weighted average normal values in the comparison market on a model-specific basis, for the entire period of investigation; (3) compared the weighted average normal value of each model to the weighted average U.S. price for that same model; (4) calculated the dumping margin for an exporter by summing the amount of dumping for each model and then dividing it by the aggregated U.S. price for all models; and (5) set to zero all negative margins on individual models before summing the total amount of dumping for all models.³ The United States acknowledges the accuracy of China's description of Commerce's use of "zeroing" in calculating the dumping margins specifically challenged by China in this dispute.

3. China further states that the rate assigned to the cooperating non-mandatory respondents (the Separate Rate) was calculated as a weighted-average margin based on the dumping margins calculated for mandatory respondents, excluding any rates that are zero, de minimis or based entirely on adverse facts available.⁴ The United States acknowledges the accuracy of China's description of the Separate Rate calculation in the investigation on warmwater shrimp.

4. To substantiate its factual claims, China has provided evidence consisting of Commerce's published determinations, issues and decision memoranda, and computer programs used to calculate the margins of dumping related to the final determinations in the original investigations at issue. The United States reviewed the factual evidence submitted by China and does not contest that certain of the submitted documentation, including the computer programs used to calculate the dumping margins,⁵ were generated by Commerce during its conduct of the investigations at issue.

⁴ China First Written Submission, para. 47.

⁵ The United States confirms that the program output logs, contained in the following exhibits, were generated by Commerce in its calculation of the margins at issue: CHN-18:VO-8, Final Remand Results Analysis Memo_Yelin (2); CHN-18: VO-17, Final Remand Results Analysis memo_Allied; CHN-18: VO-20, Final Results SAS LOG & OUTPUT Red Garden; CHN-18: VO-21, USDOC's Analysis for the Final Remand Redetermination of Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp from the People's Republic of China: Shantou Red Garden Foodstuff Co., Ltd. ("Red Garden"); CHN-18: VO-24, USDOC's Calculation of the Weighted Average Section A Rate; and CHN-18: VO-26, USDOC's ministerial error memorandum ATM

5. For the investigation of Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, China clarifies that it is not challenging Commerce's calculation of the dumping margin for Zhanjiang Guolian Aquatic Products Co., Ltd. or the "PRC-wide rate."⁶ China states that it challenges the use of "zeroing" to calculate dumping margins for the following entities: Allied Pacific Group, Yelin Enterprise Co., Hong Kong, Shantou Red Garden Foodstuff Co., Ltd., and the reliance on margins that contain "zeroing" when calculating the Separate Rate.⁷

6. Regarding the investigation of Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, China states that it is challenging the use of "zeroing" to calculate the dumping margin for Advanced Technology & Materials Co., Ltd. (which includes Beijing Gang Yan Diamond Products Company and Yichang HXF Circular Saw Industrial Co., Ltd.).⁸ China further explains that its challenge "does not extend to the dumping margins calculated for other individually investigated respondents, the Separate Rate, or the PRC-wide rate."⁹

7. China states that the "zeroing" methodology applied in Commerce's calculation of the dumping margins in the investigation of Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China and the investigation of Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, is the same as the methodology found by the Appellate Body to be inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, in US – Softwood Lumber Dumping.¹⁰ China further states that it considers Commerce's use of the "zeroing" methodology in calculating the dumping margins of certain exporters of shrimp and sawblades from China to be inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, on the grounds set forth in the US – Softwood Lumber Dumping Appellate Body report.¹¹

8. The United States recognizes that in US – Softwood Lumber Dumping the Appellate Body found that the use of "zeroing" with respect to the average-to-average comparison methodology in investigations was inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, by interpreting the terms "margins of dumping" and "all comparable export transactions" as used in the first sentence of Article 2.4.2, in an integrated manner.¹² The United States acknowledges that this reasoning is equally applicable with respect to China's claims regarding the dumping margins specifically challenged in this dispute.

amended final results. The United States confirms that the following documentation submitted by China were also generated by Commerce during its conduct of the investigation of Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China: CHN-12 through CHN-15; CHN-21; CHN-22. The United States further confirms that the following documentation submitted by China were generated by Commerce during its conduct of the investigation of Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China: CHN-2 through CHN-11; CHN-19; CHN-20.

⁶ China First Written Submission, para. 7. In the two anti-dumping investigations at issue, Commerce considered China to be a non-market economy ("NME") country, and applied a rebuttable presumption that all companies within China are operating units of a single government-wide entity and, thus, should receive a single anti-dumping duty rate (known as the "PRC-wide rate"). Exporters wishing to rebut that presumption must file an application and demonstrate the absence of government control, both de jure and de facto, over their export activities. Respondents who satisfied these criteria either received an individually calculated dumping margin, if selected as mandatory respondents, or a "Separate Rate", if not selected as mandatory respondents.

THIRD-PARTY SUBMISSION OF THE EUROPEAN UNION

1. The European Union makes this third party written submission because of its systemic interest in the correct and consistent interpretation and application of the covered agreements and other relevant documents, in particular the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("GATT 1994"), the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 (the "Anti-Dumping Agreement"), and the Dispute Settlement Understanding ("DSU").

2. At the outset, the European Union observes that there are many similarities between the present dispute and the issue confronted by the panels in US – Shrimp (Ecuador), US – Shrimp (Thailand) and US – Retail Carrier Bags (Thailand). In those disputes, the complaining party challenged the conformity of an anti-dumping order adopted by the United States on the basis that the methodology used to calculate the dumping margins of the exporters concerned ("model zeroing") infringed Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement for the reasons contained in the report of the Appellate Body in US – Softwood Lumber V. In those disputes, the United States refrained from contesting that legal claim and even agreed with the complaining party on the means and timing of the implementation of the adopted DSB report.

3. In the present dispute, the Agreement on Procedures between China and the United States ("Agreement on Procedures")¹ contains paragraphs by which the Parties agree on the procedures that are to govern certain aspects of the Panel proceedings. It also contains paragraphs by which the Parties agree: that the United States will not contest the claim; that China will not request the Panel to suggest, pursuant to Article 19.1 of the DSU, ways in which the United States could implement the Panel's recommendations; and the manner and timing of implementation.² Thus, in the EU view, the Agreement on Procedures not only resolves certain procedural issues, it also represents, at least in part, a resolution or solution of the dispute between the Parties. However, neither Party refers in its First Written Submission to Articles 3.6 or 12.7 of the DSU.

4. In the particular factual circumstances of the present case, the European Union welcomes the prompt resolution of the dispute and does not object to the manner of proceeding chosen by the Parties. However, the European Union considers that the ability of parties to a dispute to agree on certain matters and to then have such agreement translated into findings and recommendations of a panel which are eventually adopted by the DSB is not unlimited. The manner of proceeding chosen by the Parties cannot affect the rights of WTO Members which are not parties to the Agreement on

² The Parties have agreed that any change in the cash deposit rate or revocation of the anti-dumping order as a result of the recalculation of dumping margins pursuant to a Section 129 determination will take effect no sooner than the date on which implementation of the recalculated rate is directed (Agreement on Procedures, para. 6). In this respect, the European Union observes that the US obligations resulting from the Agreement on Procedures would appear to be far more limited than the US obligations resulting from identical violations found in other disputes. Indeed, the Appellate Body has twice rejected the relevance of the "date of entry" for the purpose of assessing compliance with adopted DSB reports (Appellate Body Report, US – Zeroing (Article 21.5 – EC) para. 309, and Appellate Body Report, US – Zeroing (Article 21.5 – Japan), para. 169). Thus, in the EU view, as all mutually agreed solutions shall be consistent with the covered agreements and shall not nullify or impair benefits accruing to any Member under those agreements (Article 3.5 of the DSU), any agreement between the Parties on implementation cannot alter the consequences of a recommendation pursuant to Article 19.1 of the DSU, i.e., to bring the measure into full conformity with the covered agreements.

Procedures;³ nor can the approach chosen by the Parties seek to obtain findings having equal weight in practice vis-à-vis other WTO Members as a "conventional" panel report.

5. Under these circumstances, Article 11 of the DSU gains special relevance. Notwithstanding the absence of disagreement between the parties, a panel has a basic obligation under Article 11 of the DSU to make an objective assessment of the matter before it, including an objective assessment of the facts of the case.⁴ Such assessment should include the facts, evidence and legal argument. A panel should therefore exercise particular care in this respect, particularly where, as in this case, the dispute touches on matters that the complaining party does not pursue. The Panel should particularly distinguish between finding that the Parties agree with respect to a particular fact, evidentiary matter or legal issue; and the Panel itself making such finding.

6. Taking into account the above considerations, the European Union would like to make two remarks on the submissions of the Parties.

7. First, the European Union observes that the description made by China⁵ of the methodology applied by the United States in the present case contains terminology which is incorrect in view of the interpretation followed by the Appellate Body. In particular, China states that the dumping margin for an exporter was calculated "by summing up the amount of dumping for each model" and that the USDOC "set to zero all negative margins on individual models" (emphasis added). However, the Appellate Body has already clarified that dumping can be found to exist only "for the product under investigation as a whole, and cannot be found to exist for a product type, model, or category of that product" and that "the results of model-specific comparisons are not margins of dumping within the meaning of Article 2.4.2, but rather constitute intermediate calculations that need to be taken into consideration in the calculation of the margin of dumping for the product under consideration as a whole" (emphasis added).⁶ Consequently, the European Union suggests that the Panel use the proper terminology as indicated by the Appellate Body.⁷

8. Second, the European Union observes that panels and the Appellate Body have found the use of zeroing in original investigations to be inconsistent with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement in many disputes so far.⁸ The European Union notes that the Appellate Body Report in US-Stainless Steel (Mexico) addresses in general terms the relevance of previous panel and Appellate Body reports.⁹ In this respect, the final sentence of paragraph 160 refers to "an adjudicatory body" (in the singular), which seems to indicate that the phrase refers to the situation in which it is the same body in both the previous case and the case to be decided. That is, it refers to the situation in which a panel might be called upon to resolve the same legal issue that it has previously resolved; or the situation in which the Appellate Body might be called upon to resolve the same legal issue that it has already resolved. We note that the phrase refers to "cogent reasons" as the basis for a change in view. By contrast, the European Union notes that paragraph 161 of the Appellate Body Report in US – Stainless Steel (Mexico) addresses the hierarchical relationship between panels and the Appellate Body. It concludes that the relevance of clarification provided by the Appellate Body on issues of legal interpretation is not limited to the application of a particular provision in a specific case. There is no express reference to "cogent reasons". Finally, in paragraph 162 of the Appellate Body Report in US – Stainless Steel (Mexico) the Appellate Body states that it was deeply concerned about the panel's decision to depart from well-established Appellate Body jurisprudence clarifying the interpretation of the same legal issues.

⁷ See, e.g., Appellate Body Report, US – Zeroing (Japan), footnote 13.

9. In view of this, the European Union requests the Panel to carry out an objective assessment of the matter before it, taking into account the well-established Appellate Body jurisprudence clarifying the interpretation of the same legal issues.

10. Finally, the European Union notes that the Panel's letter dated 27 January 2012 invites the third parties to inform the Panel of their position with respect to the need for an oral hearing in this case, whilst the timetable does not foresee any oral hearing (although it also provides that one could be organised should that prove necessary). The European Union notes that Article 10(2) of the DSU affords third parties the right to make written submissions to a panel and the opportunity to be heard by a panel. Whilst, pursuant to Article 12(1) of the DSU, panels have the authority to vary the working procedures set out in Appendix 3 of the DSU, they must do so within the limits set by the DSU. In this particular case, the European Union confirms that it waives its right to be heard by the panel, on condition that there is also to be no hearing with the parties, in person or by remote communication.

1. This dispute is one of the numerous disputes brought to the WTO dispute settlement procedure concerning “zeroing” used in the United States’ anti-dumping procedures. Japan, as shown by its own recourse to the WTO dispute settlement procedure, has an interest in the issue of the WTO-consistency and implementation by the United States regarding “zeroing”.

2. The basis of claim by the People’s Republic of China (“China”) is that the United States Department of Commerce’s use of “zeroing” when calculating the dumping margins for certain investigated exporters in the investigation of Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades from China is inconsistent with the United States’ obligations under the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Agreement of Implementation of Article VI of the GATT 1994 (Anti-Dumping Agreement). Japan totally supports the China’s claim. Japan shares the same recognition with China that in US – Softwood Lumber Dumping the Appellate Body found that the use of “zeroing” in calculating margins of dumping on the basis of a comparison of a weighted average normal value with a weighted average of prices of all comparable export transactions (the “weighted-average-to-weighted-average methodology”) in investigations was inconsistent with the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.¹

3. Japan notes that the United States also does not contest that the measures identified in the panel request are inconsistent with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement on the grounds stated in US – Softwood Lumber Dumping.²

4. In this regard, Japan recalls that the reasoning shown in US – Softwood Lumber Dumping was equally applicable to US – Shrimp (Ecuador), US – AD Measures on PET Bags and US – Zeroing (Korea). In these cases, the panels correctly concluded the use of “zeroing” in calculating margins of dumping in the investigations on the basis of the “weighted-average-to-weighted-average methodology” was inconsistent with the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.³

³ Panel Report, US – Shrimp (Ecuador), para.8.1, Panel Report, US – AD Measures on PET Bags, para.8.1, US – Zeroing (Korea), para. 8.1

5. In light of the foregoing, Japan agrees with the request of China that the Panel should find that the United States acted inconsistently with the requirement of the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement. Japan expects that the United States would take appropriate actions with respect to measures at issue so that “prompt settlement of situations”, as stated in Article 3.3 of the Understanding on Rules and Procedures Governing the Settlement of Disputes, will be achieved.

ANNEX B-3

THIRD-PARTY SUBMISSION OF THAILAND

1. Thailand appreciates the opportunity to present to the Panel its views on China's complaint against the United States' use of the practice known as "zeroing" on certain frozen and canned warmwater shrimp and diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China. Thailand notes that the parties have reached a procedural agreement to permit expeditious resolution of this dispute.¹ These procedures appear to be similar to those used by Thailand and the United States in US – Anti-Dumping Measures on PET Bags. Thailand welcomes the use of these procedures to facilitate the speedy resolution of this dispute.

2. In Thailand's view, the Appellate Body's rulings to date on the issue of zeroing have coherently and consistently addressed the numerous different arguments put before it in each dispute. Put simply, the Appellate Body has held that whenever an investigating authority uses intermediate comparisons between subgroups of export prices and normal values – whether on a model-by-model, transaction-by-transaction or any other basis – as a step to arrive at the overall dumping margin for that product, the investigating authority may not, in aggregating those intermediate comparisons, “zero” the results of some of those comparisons. Regardless of whether each successive Appellate Body report states this principle in identical terms, addresses all of the different methodologies in which zeroing can be used, or repeats all of the reasoning of previous reports, Thailand considers this principle to have been fully and correctly reasoned by the Appellate Body and to apply equally and fully to the issues that are before the Panel in this case.

3. Given the clarity and consistency of the Appellate Body's rulings on zeroing, as expanded to address the varied arguments presented in each successive case, Thailand need not comment in detail on the legal issue presented in this case. In Thailand's view, the legal issue has been addressed, directly or indirectly, in the Appellate Body's rulings, including in US – Softwood Lumber V,² and by the panels in the disputes US – Shrimp (Ecuador),³ US – Shrimp (Thailand),⁴ and US – Anti-Dumping Measures on PET Bags,⁵ where the use of the zeroing methodology by the United States' Department of Commerce (“USDOC”) in calculating the dumping margins of relevant exported products were found inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 (the “Anti-Dumping Agreement”).

4. Thailand notes that the United States, in its First Written Submission, acknowledges the accuracy of China's description of the USDOC's use of “zeroing” in calculating the dumping margins specifically challenged by China in this dispute and of China's description of the Separate Rate calculation in the investigation on warmwater shrimp. Further, the United States does not contest that certain of the submitted documentation from China, including the computer programs used to calculate the dumping margins were generated by the USDOC during its conduct of the investigation at issue.

5. The United States, in its First Written Submission, also recognizes that in US – Softwood Lumber V, the Appellate Body found that the use of “zeroing” with respect to the average-to-average comparison methodology in investigations was inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, by interpreting the terms “margins of dumping” and “all comparable export transactions” as used in the first sentence of Article 2.4.2, in an integrated manner.⁶ The United States finally acknowledges that this reasoning is equally applicable with respect to China's claims regarding the dumping margins specifically challenged in this dispute.

6. Thailand respectfully requests the Panel to reach the conclusions in this dispute consistently with the jurisprudence on this issue.

UNITED STATES – ANTI-DUMPING MEASURES ON CERTAIN
SHRIMP AND DIAMOND SAWBLADES FROM CHINA

Request for the Establishment of a Panel by China

The following communication, dated 13 October 2011, from the delegation of China to the Chairperson of the Dispute Settlement Body, is circulated pursuant to Article 6.2 of the DSU.

On February 28, 2011 and July 22, 2011, the People's Republic of China ("China") requested consultations with the United States of America pursuant to Article 4 of the Understanding on Rules and Procedures Governing the Settlement of Disputes ("DSU"), Article XXII:1 of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("GATT 1994") and Article 17 of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("Anti-Dumping Agreement") with regard to the "zeroing" practice by the United States Department of Commerce ("USDOC") in its anti-dumping measures on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China¹ and diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China² respectively.

Consultations were held on May 11, 2011 and September 8, 2011. While these consultations assisted in clarifying the issues before the parties, they failed to resolve the dispute.

Therefore, China respectfully requests, pursuant to Article XXIII of the GATT 1994, Articles 4 and 6 of the DSU, and Article 17.4 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, that the Dispute Settlement Body ("DSB") establish a panel to examine this matter.

Specific Measures at Issue

- (1) Frozen Warmwater Shrimp

² See G/ADP/D87/1/Add.1, G/L/953/Add.1, WT/DS422/1/Add.1.

The United States initiated an anti-dumping investigation of certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China on January 27, 2004 (Investigation No. A-570-893). The specific measures at issue in this dispute are the anti-dumping order imposed by the United States on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China, as amended, and the final determination by the USDOC, as amended, leading to that order. To be specific, these measures include:

- Notice of Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 69 Federal Register 70997 (December 8, 2004);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Antidumping Duty Order: Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 70 Federal Register 5149 (February 1, 2005);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp from the People's Republic of China: Notice of Second Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value, 71 Federal Register 47484 (August 17, 2006);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Notice of Amended Final Determinations of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 75 Federal Register 53947 (September 2, 2010);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Amended Antidumping Duty Orders in Accordance with Final Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 23277 (April 26, 2011);³
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China: Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 30100 (May 24, 2011);
- as well as any amendments to the measures identified above.

In the final determination, as amended, the USDOC used the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margins for three individually investigated Chinese exporters⁴, for which margins above the 2 per cent de minimis level were calculated.

(2) Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof

The United States initiated an anti-dumping investigation of diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China on June 21, 2005 (Investigation No. A-570-900). The specific measures at issue in this dispute are the anti-dumping order imposed by the United States on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China, as amended, and the final determination by the USDOC, as amended, leading to that order. To be specific, these measures include:

³ On April 29, 2011, as a result of the determinations by the USDOC and the International Trade Commission ("ITC") that revocation of the antidumping duty orders on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from Brazil, India, China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam ("Vietnam") would be likely to lead to continuation or recurrence of dumping and of material injury to an industry in the United States within a reasonably foreseeable time, the USDOC published a notice of the continuation of these antidumping duty orders. See Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Continuation of Antidumping Duty Orders, 76 Federal Register 23972 (April 29, 2011).

- Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Final Partial Affirmative Determination of Critical Circumstances: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 29303 (22 May 2006);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 35864 (22 June 2006);
- Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China and the Republic of Korea: Antidumping Duty Orders, 74 Federal Register 57145 (4 November 2009);
- as well as any amendments to the measures identified above.

In the final determination, as amended, the USDOC used the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margins for three individually investigated Chinese exporters⁵, for which margins above the 2 per cent de minimis level were calculated.

In respect of the two investigations identified above, the USDOC's methodology of "zeroing" negative dumping margins may be described more specifically in the following:

- a) different "models", i.e., types, of products are identified based on the most relevant product characteristics;
- b) weighted average prices in the United States and weighted average normal values in the comparison market are calculated on a model-specific basis for the entire period of investigation;
- c) the weighted average normal value of each model is compared to the weighted average United States price for that same model;
- d) to calculate the dumping margin for an exporter, the amount of dumping for each model is summed and then divided by the aggregated United States price for all models; and
- e) before summing the total amount of dumping for all models, all negative margins on individual models (i.e., where the weighted average normal value is less than the weighted average export price) are set to zero.

Through this method, the USDOC calculates margins of dumping and collects cash deposits in amounts that exceed the actual extent of dumping, if any, by the said individually investigated exporters.

In addition, in respect of the anti-dumping investigation of certain frozen warmwater shrimp, on the basis of the individual dumping margins calculated with the application of zeroing, the

USDOC further calculated a weighted-average margin (known as the "separate rate") that applies to the cooperating non-mandatory respondents⁶.

The USDOC's unpublished Issues and Decision Memorandums as well as other documents contained in the administrative record of the investigations, including the computer programs, describe in more detail the USDOC's use of zeroing in the anti-dumping investigations of frozen warmwater shrimp and diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China.

China considers that these measures are inconsistent with the obligations of the United States under the provisions of the GATT 1994 and the Anti-Dumping Agreement described below.

The Legal Basis of the Complaint

Through the use of "zeroing," the United States treats transactions with negative dumping margins as having margins equal to zero in determining weighted average dumping margins in an anti-dumping investigation.

The use of "zeroing" led the United States to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found or to calculate dumping margins that are inflated. China considers that, in the specific measures at issue as identified above, the USDOC's use of "zeroing" in calculating the margins of dumping for the individually investigated exporters and the "separate rate" for the cooperating non-mandatory respondents is inconsistent with the obligations of the United States under the Anti-Dumping Agreement. Specifically, China considers that the measures are inconsistent with the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.

The "zeroing" methodology that the USDOC used in its anti-dumping investigations of shrimp and diamond sawblades from China is virtually identical to the methodology that was held to be inconsistent with the obligations of the United States under the Anti-Dumping Agreement in the following disputes: *United States - Final Dumping Determination on Softwood Lumber from Canada*⁷; *United States - Anti-Dumping Measures On Shrimp from Ecuador*⁸; *United States - Anti-Dumping Measures on Polyethylene Retail Carrier Bags from Thailand*⁹; and *United States - Measures Relating to Shrimp from Thailand*¹⁰.

The forgoing paragraphs are provided without prejudice to any arguments that China may develop and present to the panel regarding the WTO-inconsistency of the measures at issue.

Request for the Establishment of a Panel

Accordingly, China requests pursuant to Article XXIII of the GATT 1994, Articles 4 and 6 of the DSU, and Article 17.4 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, that the DSB establish a panel with the standard terms of reference as set out in Article 7.1 of the DSU. China asks that this request be placed on the agenda of the meeting of the DSB scheduled for October 25, 2011.

⁶ Such non-mandatory respondents were also required to pass the "separate-rate test" in order to receive the separate rate.

UNITED STATES – ANTI-DUMPING MEASURES ON CERTAIN
SHRIMP AND DIAMOND SAWBLADES FROM CHINA

Agreement on Procedures between China and the United States

The following communication, dated 13 October 2011, from the delegation of China and the delegation of the United States to the Chairperson of the Dispute Settlement Body, is circulated at the request of those delegations.

The People's Republic of China ("China") and the United States of America would like to inform the Dispute Settlement Body of the attached Agreement on Procedures between China and the United States with respect to the dispute United States – Anti-Dumping Measures on Certain Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades from China (DS422).

We request that you please circulate the attached agreement to the Members of the Dispute Settlement Body in the WT/DS422 document series.

United States - Anti-Dumping Measures on Certain Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades from China
(WT/DS422)

Agreement on Procedures between China and the United States

On February 28, 2011, the Government of China ("China") requested consultations with the United States under Article 4 of the Understanding on Rules and Procedures Governing the Settlement of Disputes ("DSU"), Article XXII:1 of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("GATT 1994"), and Article 17 of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("Anti-Dumping Agreement"), with respect to anti-dumping measures on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China. (WT/DS422/1). On July 22, 2011, China requested additional consultations with respect to anti-dumping measures on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China. (WT/DS422/1/Add.1). On May 11, 2011 and September 8, 2011, consultations were held by China and the United States (hereinafter the "parties"); together these consultations covered all the measures referenced in the Panel Request pursuant to Article 6.2 of the DSU. These consultations have enabled the parties to agree on the following procedures for purposes of this dispute:

1. Should China request the establishment of a panel in this dispute, China's panel request will be the one attached to this agreement (the "Panel Request"). The United States will not oppose the establishment of a panel at the first Dispute Settlement Body ("DSB") meeting following the filing of the Panel Request by China. The parties agree to make every effort to ensure that they compose the panel without recourse to the Director-General under Article 8.7 of the DSU.
2. The parties will cooperate to enable the panel to circulate its report as quickly as possible in light of the requirements of the DSU. To that end, the parties will work to reach agreement on working procedures that aim to expedite the panel proceedings. The parties will jointly ask the panel to adopt these procedures, which will enable it to complete its work within three months after the composition of the panel. The parties also agree to request the panel to ask that the parties file only one written submission each, and that the panel forego meetings with the parties, or, at most, have only one substantive meeting with the parties. The parties also agree to share drafts of their respective written submissions prior to submitting them to the panel and to take all reasonably available steps to accelerate the proceeding.
3. China will provide the necessary evidence and arguments to support its allegations, including the computer programs and output logs generated by the United States Department of Commerce that were used to calculate the challenged dumping margins. The United States will not contest China's claim that the measures identified in the Panel Request are inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, on the grounds stated in United States - Final Dumping Determination on Softwood Lumber from Canada, WT/DS264/AB/R, Report of the Appellate Body adopted 31 August 2004.
4. China will not request that the panel suggest, pursuant to Article 19.1, second sentence, of the DSU, ways in which the United States could implement the panel's recommendations.
5. Provided that the panel's finding is limited to a finding that one or more of the challenged measures, as identified in the Panel Request, is inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, the parties agree that, pursuant to Article 21.3(b) of the DSU, the reasonable period of time for bringing each such measure into conformity with the Anti-Dumping Agreement will be eight months, beginning on the date on which the DSB adopts the panel report.

6. Subject to the consultation requirements of section 129(b) of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act ("URAA"), 19 U.S.C. §3538(b), the United States will use section 129(b) to recalculate margins of dumping (subject to the exclusion of Zhanjiang Guolian Aquatic Products Co., Ltd, in paragraph 7, below) and to issue a new determination in order to render the anti-dumping measures on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China and the anti-dumping measures on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China consistent with the recommendations and rulings of the DSB and the Anti-Dumping Agreement. In particular, the United States will implement such recommendations and rulings in respect of the Final Determination, as amended by any and all amended final determinations which are effective at the time of implementation. If any such recalculation that is performed under section 129(b) results in a change in a cash deposit rate or revocation, in part or in whole, for the anti-dumping measures on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China or the anti-dumping measures on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China, the new cash deposit rate or revocation will have prospective effect only, taking effect no sooner than the date on which the United States Trade Representative directs the United States Secretary of Commerce to implement its recalculation of the margins and new determination, as set forth in section 129(c)(1) of the URAA, 19 U.S.C. § 3538(c)(1).

7. The parties also mutually understand that the scope of China's Panel Request does not include any claim regarding the margin of dumping calculated for Zhanjiang Guolian Aquatic Products Co., Ltd. in the anti-dumping duty investigation on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China or the margin of dumping determined solely on the basis of adverse facts available in either anti-dumping duty investigation. The parties agree that they will inform the panel in their written submissions, whether made jointly or separately, that they are seeking findings consistent with this understanding. Accordingly, to the extent that the findings are consistent with this understanding, implementation would not involve a recalculation of such margins of dumping.

United States – Anti-Dumping Measures on Certain Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades from China (WT/DS422)

Request for the Establishment of a Panel by China

On February 28, 2011 and July 22, 2011, the People's Republic of China ("China") requested consultations with the United States of America pursuant to Article 4 of the Understanding on Rules and Procedures Governing the Settlement of Disputes ("DSU"), Article XXII:1 of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("GATT 1994") and Article 17 of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("Anti-Dumping Agreement") with regard to the "zeroing" practice by the United States Department of Commerce ("USDOC") in its anti-dumping measures on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China¹ and diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China² respectively.

Consultations were held on May 11, 2011 and September 8, 2011. While these consultations assisted in clarifying the issues before the parties, they failed to resolve the dispute.

Therefore, China respectfully requests, pursuant to Article XXIII of the GATT 1994, Articles 4 and 6 of the DSU, and Article 17.4 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, that the Dispute Settlement Body ("DSB") establish a panel to examine this matter.

Specific Measures at Issue

(1) Frozen Warmwater Shrimp

The United States initiated an anti-dumping investigation of certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China on January 27, 2004 (Investigation No. A-570-893). The specific measures at issue in this dispute are the anti-dumping order imposed by the United States on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China, as amended, and the final determination by the USDOC, as amended, leading to that order. To be specific, these measures include:

- Notice of Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 69 Federal Register 70997 (December 8, 2004);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Antidumping Duty Order: Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 70 Federal Register 5149 (February 1, 2005);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp from the People's Republic of China: Notice of Second Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value, 71 Federal Register 47484 (August 17, 2006);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Notice of Amended Final Determinations of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 75 Federal Register 53947 (September 2, 2010);

- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Amended Antidumping Duty Orders in Accordance with Final Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 23277 (April 26, 2011);³
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China: Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 30100 (May 24, 2011);
- as well as any amendments to the measures identified above.

In the final determination, as amended, the USDOC used the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margins for three individually investigated Chinese exporters⁴, for which margins above the 2 per cent de minimis level were calculated.

(2) Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof

The United States initiated an anti-dumping investigation of diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China on June 21, 2005 (Investigation No. A-570-900). The specific measures at issue in this dispute are the anti-dumping order imposed by the United States on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China, as amended, and the final determination by the USDOC, as amended, leading to that order. To be specific, these measures include:

- Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Final Partial Affirmative Determination of Critical Circumstances: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 29303 (22 May 2006);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 35864 (22 June 2006);
- Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China and the Republic of Korea: Antidumping Duty Orders, 74 Federal Register 57145 (4 November 2009);
- as well as any amendments to the measures identified above.

In the final determination, as amended, the USDOC used the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margins for three individually investigated Chinese exporters⁵, for which margins above the 2 per cent de minimis level were calculated.

⁵ The three exporters are Advanced Technology & Materials Co., Ltd. (including Beijing Gang Yan Diamond Products Company and Yichang HXF Circular Saw Industrial Co., Ltd.) ("AT&M"), Bosun Tools Group Co., Ltd. ("Bosun") and Hebei Jikai Industrial Group Co., Ltd. ("Hebei Jikai").

In respect of the two investigations identified above, the USDOC's methodology of "zeroing" negative dumping margins may be described more specifically in the following:

- a) different "models", i.e., types, of products are identified based on the most relevant product characteristics;
- b) weighted average prices in the United States and weighted average normal values in the comparison market are calculated on a model-specific basis for the entire period of investigation;
- c) the weighted average normal value of each model is compared to the weighted average United States price for that same model;
- d) to calculate the dumping margin for an exporter, the amount of dumping for each model is summed and then divided by the aggregated United States price for all models; and
- e) before summing the total amount of dumping for all models, all negative margins on individual models (i.e., where the weighted average normal value is less than the weighted average export price) are set to zero.

Through this method, the USDOC calculates margins of dumping and collects cash deposits in amounts that exceed the actual extent of dumping, if any, by the said individually investigated exporters.

In addition, in respect of the anti-dumping investigation of certain frozen warmwater shrimp, on the basis of the individual dumping margins calculated with the application of zeroing, the USDOC further calculated a weighted-average margin (known as the "separate rate") that applies to the cooperating non-mandatory respondents⁶.

The USDOC's unpublished Issues and Decision Memorandums as well as other documents contained in the administrative record of the investigations, including the computer programs, describe in more detail the USDOC's use of zeroing in the anti-dumping investigations of frozen warmwater shrimp and diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China.

China considers that these measures are inconsistent with the obligations of the United States under the provisions of the GATT 1994 and the Anti-Dumping Agreement described below.

The Legal Basis of the Complaint

Through the use of "zeroing," the United States treats transactions with negative dumping margins as having margins equal to zero in determining weighted average dumping margins in an anti-dumping investigation.

The use of "zeroing" led the United States to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found or to calculate dumping margins that are inflated. China considers that, in the specific measures at issue as identified above, the USDOC's use of "zeroing" in calculating the margins of dumping for the individually investigated exporters and the "separate rate" for the cooperating non-mandatory respondents is inconsistent with the obligations of the United States under the Anti-

Dumping Agreement. Specifically, China considers that the measures are inconsistent with the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.

The "zeroing" methodology that the USDOC used in its anti-dumping investigations of shrimp and diamond sawblades from China is virtually identical to the methodology that was held to be inconsistent with the obligations of the United States under the Anti-Dumping Agreement in the following disputes: *United States - Final Dumping Determination on Softwood Lumber from Canada*⁷; *United States - Anti-Dumping Measures On Shrimp from Ecuador*⁸; *United States - Anti-Dumping Measures on Polyethylene Retail Carrier Bags from Thailand*⁹; and *United States - Measures Relating to Shrimp from Thailand*¹⁰.

The forgoing paragraphs are provided without prejudice to any arguments that China may develop and present to the panel regarding the WTO-inconsistency of the measures at issue.

Request for the Establishment of a Panel

Accordingly, China requests pursuant to Article XXIII of the GATT 1994, Articles 4 and 6 of the DSU, and Article 17.4 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, that the DSB establish a panel with the standard terms of reference as set out in Article 7.1 of the DSU. China asks that this request be placed on the agenda of the meeting of the DSB scheduled for October 25, 2011.

ANNEX A-1

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY OF THE FIRST WRITTEN SUBMISSION OF CHINA

I. Introduction

1. In this dispute, the People's Republic of China ("China") contends that the anti-dumping duty orders imposed by the United States of America ("United States") on Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades from China, as amended, and the final determinations made by the United States Department of China ("USDOC"), as amended, leading to these orders, with the application of the "zeroing" methodology, are inconsistent with the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("Anti-Dumping Agreement").

2. On 28 February 2011 and 22 July 2011, China requested consultations with the United States. Consultations were held on 11 May 2011 and 8 September 2011. While these consultations failed to resolve the dispute, they assisted in clarifying the issues before the parties, and enabled the parties to reach a Procedures Agreement on 13 October 2011. According to the agreement, China has agreed that it would provide the necessary evidence and arguments to support its allegations, while the United States has agreed not to contest China's claim that the measures at issue are inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, on the grounds stated in the Appellate Body report in US – Softwood Lumber V.

II. Procedural History of the Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades Investigations

A. The Shrimp Investigation

3. On 27 January 2004, the USDOC initiated an anti-dumping investigation on certain frozen and canned warmwater shrimp from China (Investigation No. A-570-893). On 8 December 2004, the USDOC published the Shrimp Final Determination, in which the USDOC calculated dumping margins for four mandatory respondents respectively: (i) Allied Pacific Group ("Allied"): 84.93%; (ii) Yelin Enterprise Co., Hong Kong ("Yelin"): 82.27%; (iii) Shantou Red Garden Foodstuff Co., Ltd. ("Red Garden"): 27.89%; and (iv) Zhanjiang Guolian Aquatic Products Co., Ltd. ("Zhanjiang Guolian"): 0.07%. For 35 cooperating non-mandatory respondents that passed the USDOC's separate-rate test, the USDOC established a Separate Rate of 55.23%, which was a single weighted-average margin based on the dumping margins calculated for the mandatory respondents, excluding any margins that are zero, de minimis, or based entirely on adverse facts available.

4. Following a final determination of injury by the United States International Trade Commission ("USITC"), on 1 February 2005, the USDOC issued the Shrimp Amended Final Determination to correct the ministerial errors made in the Shrimp Final Determination and an anti-dumping duty order on Shrimp. In the Shrimp Amended Final Determination, the dumping margin of Allied was amended to 80.19%, while the margins of other mandatory respondents remained unchanged. As a consequence of the change in Allied's dumping margin, the Separate Rate was also recalculated to 53.68%.

5. On 17 August 2006, the USDOC issued the Shrimp Second Amended Final Determination, which granted the Separate Rate to an additional 11 Chinese exporters who were subject to PRC-wide rate previously.

6. On 2 September 2010, the USDOC issued an amended final determination pursuant to a decision made by the United States Court of International Trade (“USCIT”). On 26 April 2011, the USDOC issued an amended anti-dumping duty order that included dusted shrimp within the scope of the orders. This amended determination did not involve any changes to the dumping margins of Allied, Yelin, Red Garden, or the Separate Rate.

7. On 24 May 2011, as a result of a remand order by the USCIT, the USDOC issued the Shrimp Remand Determination, through which it revised the surrogate values for inputs and hours of labour used in margin calculations, and determined the margins of Allied and Yelin to be 5.07% and 8.45% respectively. However, the Separate Rate was not revised in the Shrimp Remand Determination.

8. On April 29, 2011, as a result of the affirmative dumping and injury-likelihood determinations by the USDOC and the USITC, the USDOC published a notice of the continuation of the anti-dumping duty orders on Shrimp. Consequently, the above-mentioned duty orders have been extended and remained in effect as of the date of China’s First Written Submission.

9. A table of the dumping margins of the three mandatory respondents and the Separate Rate calculated in each determination at issue is provided as follows:

	Shrimp Final Determination	Shrimp Amended Final Determination	Shrimp Remand Determination
Allied	84.93%	80.19%	5.07%
Yelin	82.27%	82.27%	8.45%
Red Garden	27.89%	27.89%	N/A
Separate Rate	55.23%	53.68%	N/A

B. The Diamond Sawblades Investigation

10. On 21 June 2005, the USDOC initiated an anti-dumping investigation on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China (Investigation No. A-570-900). On 22 May 2006, the USDOC published the Diamond Sawblades Final Determination, in which it calculated a dumping margin of 2.50% for AT&M.

11. On 22 June 2006, the USDOC published an amendment to the Diamond Sawblades Final Determination, and revised the dumping margin of AT&M to be 2.82%. On 4 November 2009, the USDOC published an anti-dumping duty order on imports of Diamond Sawblades from China, applying a rate of 2.82% to AT&M.

III. The Measures at Issue

12. The specific measures adopted by the United States that are subject to China’s challenge in this dispute are as follow:

A. The Shrimp Investigation

- Notice of Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 69 Federal Register 70997 (8 December 2004);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Antidumping Duty Order: Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 70 Federal Register 5149 (1 February 2005);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp from the People's Republic of China: Notice of Second Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value, 71 Federal Register 47484 (17 August 2006);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Notice of Amended Final Determinations of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 75 Federal Register 53947 (2 September 2010);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Amended Antidumping Duty Orders in Accordance with Final Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 23277 (26 April 2011);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China: Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 30100 (24 May 2011).

13. For the purpose of this dispute, China's challenge relates to the following specific aspects of the final determination and the anti-dumping duty order, as amended and extended, by the USDOC, in connection with the Shrimp investigation: (i) the use by the USDOC of the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margins, as amended, for Allied, Yelin and Red Garden; (ii) the reliance upon the individual dumping margins calculated with the application of "zeroing" in calculating the Separate Rate as amended, applicable to the cooperating non-mandatory respondents that passed the separate-rate test in the investigation.

B. The Diamond Sawblades Investigation

- Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Final Partial Affirmative Determination of Critical Circumstances: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 29303 (22 May 2006);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 35864 (22 June 2006);
- Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China and the Republic of Korea: Antidumping Duty Orders, 74 Federal Register 57145 (4 November 2009).

14. For the purpose of this dispute, China's challenge relates to the following specific aspect of the final determination and the anti-dumping duty order, as amended, by the USDOC, in connection with the Diamond Sawblades investigation - the use by the USDOC of the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margin, as amended, for AT&M.

IV. The Use of “Zeroing” by the USDOC in the Measures at Issue

A. Overview

15. Throughout the two original investigations at issue, the USDOC has consistently applied the “zeroing” methodology in calculating dumping margins for individually investigated exporters. In applying this methodology, the USDOC: (1) identified different “models” (i.e. types) of products using “control numbers” (i.e. CONNUM) that specify the most relevant product characteristics; (2) calculated weighted average prices in the United States and weighted average normal values on a model-specific basis for the entire period of investigation; (3) compared the weighted average normal value of each model to the weighted average U.S. price for that same model; (4) in order to calculate the dumping margin for an exporter, summed the amount of dumping for each model and then divided it by the aggregate U.S. price for all models; and (5) before summing the total amount of dumping for all models, effectively set all negative margins on individual models to zero (“Five Components”).

16. Passages from the relevant published determinations and unpublished decision memoranda of the USDOC show that it has applied the Five Components to calculate dumping margins for the relevant exporters, and that the Separate Rate in the Shrimp investigation was calculated on the basis of the individual dumping margins calculated with the application of “zeroing”. China also submits an expert statement from Ms. Valerie Owenby to further substantiate the existence of the Five Components in the logs and outputs generated by the USDOC in each of the two investigations with respect to Allied, Yelin, Red Garden and AT&M, and to quantify the exact impact of “zeroing”.

17. As elaborated in the VO Statement, Ms. Owenby carried out a four-step analysis to confirm the existence of the Five Components and to quantify the impact of “zeroing”:

- Step 1: Using the programs and the same databases as the USDOC did in the investigations at issue, Ms. Owenby duplicated the USDOC calculations in each case by running the USDOC’s computer programs (“SAS programs”). Upon executing the SAS programs, Ms. Owenby generated logs and outputs duplicating the logs and outputs that were generated by the USDOC. The “duplicate” calculations can serve as an accurate and proper basis to confirm each of the Five Components and to quantify the impact “zeroing” has on the overall weighted-average margins.
- Step 2: Ms. Owenby then identified exactly where each of the Five Components was executed in the USDOC’s margin calculations by reference to the logs generated by the USDOC and the logs generated by the duplicate results.
- Step 3: Ms. Owenby turned off “zeroing” from the duplicate versions of the USDOC calculations by removing the specific programming line that executes “zeroing” in the overall margin calculations.
- Step 4: Ms. Owenby compared the overall weighted-average margin generated when zeroing is removed to the USDOC’s overall weighted-average margin for each respondent to quantify the exact impact of “zeroing”.

18. In short, China proves in its First Written Submission that the USDOC has, as a matter of fact, “zeroed” in calculating dumping margins for Allied, Yelin and Red Garden in the Shrimp investigation and for AT&M in the Diamond Sawblades investigation, and that the use of “zeroing” has led the USDOC to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found or to calculate dumping margins that are inflated.

B. The Shrimp Investigation

1. Mandatory Respondents

19. The USDOC's Shrimp Preliminary Determination included a specific section entitled "CONNUM Comments", under which it stated, inter alia, that,

[o]n January 28, 2004, the Department requested comments from interested parties regarding the appropriate product characteristic criteria for the investigation matching hierarchy for comparing the export price to normal value.

20. Furthermore, the USDOC explained in the Shrimp Preliminary Determination how it made comparison between U.S. price and normal value:

[t]o determine whether sales of certain frozen and canned warmwater shrimp to the United States of the four mandatory respondents were made at less than fair value, we compared export price ("EP") or constructed export price ("CEP") to NV, as described in the "U.S. Price" and "Normal Value" sections of this notice.

21. In its Issues and Decision Memorandum accompanying the publication of the Shrimp Final Determination, the USDOC stated in explicit terms that it had:

[...] made model-specific comparisons of weighted-average export prices with weighted-average normal values of comparable merchandise...[It] then combined the dumping margins found based upon these comparisons, without permitting non-dumped comparisons to reduce the dumping margins found on distinct models of subject merchandise, in order to calculate the weighted-average dumping margin. (emphasis added)

22. The above statements of the USDOC unequivocally demonstrate that it had applied the Five Components in its calculation of dumping margins for mandatory respondents in the Shrimp investigation.

23. In addition, the Five Components in the USDOC's dumping margin calculation are identified in the chart in Exhibit VO-2 to the VO Statement (Exhibit CHN-18), where Ms. Owenby detailed the specific lines and page numbers for each component in the logs generated by the USDOC. In particular, the computer program used by the USDOC to calculate dumping margins contained the following instructions:

PROC MEANS NOPRINT DATA = MARGIN;
  WHERE EMARGIN GT 0;
  VAR EMARGIN QTY11U VALUE;
OUTPUT OUT = ALLPUDD SUM = TOTPUDD MARGQTY MARGVAL;

24. The language "WHERE EMARGIN GT 0" causes the program to include only those sales where the dumping margin (or "EMARGIN") was greater than zero (or "GT 0") in the calculation of the total amount of dumping ("TOTPUDD"). Consequently, the calculation of the total amount of dumping ignores all sales with negative dumping margin. It is thus evident that, the USDOC had applied "zeroing" in calculating dumping margins which led the USDOC to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found or to inflate the dumping margins.

25. As demonstrated by the VO Statement, in contrast to the dumping margins of the relevant exporters calculated by the USDOC with the application of "zeroing" in the Shrimp investigation, the dumping margins calculated with the same data but without the application of “zeroing” would have been negative or lower. Therefore, the USDOC has applied “zeroing” in calculating the dumping margins of the relevant exporters in the Shrimp investigation which led it to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found, or inflate the dumping margin.

2. Separate Rate

26. As demonstrated in the Separate Rate Memorandum by the USDOC, the Separate Rate in the Shrimp Amended Final Determination was a weighted-average margin based on the rate calculated for Allied in Shrimp Amended Final Determination (80.19%), and the rates calculated for Yelin (82.27%) and Red Garden (27.89%) in the Shrimp Final Determination.

27. As discussed above, since the dumping margins for relevant mandatory respondents were calculated with and impacted by the application of “zeroing”, the Separate Rate calculated on that basis was also affected by the application of “zeroing”. Had the USDOC not applied “zeroing” in calculating margins of these two mandatory respondents, the Separate Rate in the Shrimp Amended Final Determination would have dropped from 53.68% to 46.40%.

28. Therefore, it is indisputable that the USDOC has, in the Shrimp investigation, applied the “zeroing” methodology in calculating the dumping margins for certain mandatory respondents, which, as a factual matter, affected the results of the dumping margin calculations for Red Garden in the Shrimp Final Determination and for Allied in the Shrimp Amended Final Determination. Due to the reliance on these individually calculated dumping margins, the Separate Rate calculated in the Shrimp investigation is therefore affected by the application of “zeroing” as well.

C. The Diamond Sawblades Investigation

29. The USDOC stated in the Diamond Sawblades Preliminary Determination that,

[o]n July 14, 2005, the Department requested comments from all interested parties on proposed product characteristics and model match criteria to be used in the designation of control numbers (“CONNUMs”) to be assigned to the subject merchandise. ... On August 5, 2005, the Department released the product characteristics and model match criteria to be used in the designation of CONNUMs to be assigned the subject merchandise.

30. It then declared that,

[t]o determine whether sales of diamond sawblades to the United States ... were made at less than fair value, we compared export price (“EP”) or constructed export price (“CEP”) to normal value (“NV”), as described in the “U.S. Price”, and “Normal Value” sections of this notice. We compared NV to weighted-average EPs and CEPs in accordance with section 777A(d)(1) of the Act.

31. The USDOC, in its Issues and Decision Memorandum accompanying the publication of the Diamond Sawblades Final Determination, stated in explicit terms that it:

...interprets this statutory definition to mean that a dumping margin exists only when normal value is greater than export or constructed export price. As no dumping margins exist with respect to sales where normal value is equal to or less than export or constructed export price, the Department will not permit these non-dumped sales to offset the amount of dumping found with respect to other sales.

32. In addition, the Five Components in the USDOC's dumping margin calculation are identified in the chart in Exhibit VO-2 to the VO Statement (CHN-18), where Ms. Owenby detailed the specific lines and page numbers for each component in the logs generated by the USDOC. Particularly, the computer program used by the USDOC to calculate AT&M's dumping margin contained the following instructions:

PROC MEANS NOPRINT DATA = MARGIN;
WHERE EMARGIN GT 0;
VAR EMARGIN QTYU VALUE;
OUTPUT OUT = ALLPUDD (DROP = _FREQ_ _TYPE_)
SUM = TOTPUDD MARGQTY MARGVAL;

33. Again, the language "WHERE EMARGIN GT 0" causes the program to include only those sales where the dumping margin (or "EMARGIN") was greater than zero (or "GT 0") in the calculation of the total amount of dumping ("TOTPUDD"). Thus, the calculation of the total amount of dumping ignores all sales with negative dumping margin.

34. As demonstrated by the VO Statement, in contrast to the 2.82% calculated by the USDOC with the application of "zeroing" in the Diamond Sawblades Amended Final Determination, the dumping margin for AT&M with the same data but without the application of "zeroing" would have been negative, i.e. no dumping would have been found for AT&M. Therefore, the USDOC has applied "zeroing" in calculating the dumping margin for AT&M which led it to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found.

D. Summary

35. The impact of the USDOC's use of "zeroing" is summarized in the table below.

	Final Determination		Amended Final Determination		Remand Determination
	Zeroing	No Zeroing	Zeroing	No Zeroing	Zeroing	No Zeroing
Allied	84.93%	N/A	80.19%	79.70%	5.07%	Negative
Yelin	82.27%	82.27%	N/A	N/A	8.45%	Negative
Red Garden	27.89%	14.01%	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A
Separate Rate	N/A	N/A	53.68%	46.40%	17.32%	14.01%
AT&M	N/A	N/A	2.82%	Negative	N/A	N/A

V. Legal Argument: Violation of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement

36. In US – Softwood Lumber V, the Appellate Body interpreted the terms "margins of dumping" and "all comparable export transactions" in Article 2.4.2 in an "integrated manner", leading to its conclusion that, where "an investigating authority has chosen to undertake multiple comparisons, the investigating authority necessarily has to take into account the results of all those comparisons in order to establish margins of dumping for the product as a whole under Article 2.4.2."

37. As China demonstrates in its First Written Submission, the Five Components that have been established to exist in the "zeroing" methodology used by the USDOC in the Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades investigations at issue are identical to the "zeroing" methodology described at paragraph 64 of the Appellate Body report in US – Softwood Lumber V in all legally relevant respects.

38. Furthermore, the parties have reached the Procedures Agreement applicable to the resolution of this dispute, providing that the United States will not contest that the measures identified in the panel request are inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence of the Anti-Dumping Agreement on the grounds stated in US-Softwood Lumber V.

39. For the same reasons as articulated by the Appellate Body in US – Softwood Lumber V and by the panels in US – Shrimp (Ecuador), US – Shrimp (Thailand), and US – Retail Carrier Bags (Thailand), the use of the zeroing methodology by the USDOC in calculating the dumping margins of certain exporters in the Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades investigations at issue was inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement. While the Panel is not bound to follow the Appellate Body’s reasoning in previous cases, it has been acknowledged that adopted Appellate Body Reports “create legitimate expectations among WTO Members”, and that “following the Appellate Body’s conclusions in earlier disputes is not only appropriate, but is what would be expected from panels, especially where the issues are the same.”

40. With regard to the issue of Separate Rate in the Shrimp investigation, as a factual matter, China establishes in its First Written Submission that in the Shrimp Amended Final Determination, the calculation of the Separate Rate was based on a weighted average of three company-specific rates, two of which were calculated by the USDOC with the use of “zeroing” (the rate for Red Garden in the Shrimp Final Determination, and the rate for Allied in the Shrimp Amended Final Determination). As a legal matter, China also establishes that the use of “zeroing” in calculating these two company-specific rates is inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement. Accordingly, the calculation of the Separate Rate in the Shrimp investigation “necessarily incorporates this inconsistent methodology [of zeroing]”, and thus violates Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.

VI. Request for Finding and Recommendations

41. For the reasons set forth in China’s First Written Submission, China respectfully requests that the Panel find that:

- (i) in the calculation of the dumping margins for Allied, Yelin and Red Garden in the Shrimp investigation, by the use of “zeroing” methodology, the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement;
- (ii) in the calculation of the Separate Rate in the Shrimp investigation, by relying on company-specific dumping margins that were calculated by the use of “zeroing” methodology, the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement; and,
- (iii) in the calculation of the dumping margin for AT&M in the Diamond Sawblades investigation, by the use of “zeroing” methodology, the United States acted inconsistently with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.

42. China respectfully requests that the Panel recommend that the United States bring the challenged measures into conformity with its obligations under the Anti-Dumping Agreement.

ANNEX A-2

FIRST WRITTEN SUBMISSION OF THE UNITED STATES

1. The United States notes that the parties to this dispute have reached an Agreement on Procedures to permit expeditious resolution of this dispute.¹ In its request for a panel, China claims that the United States has breached its obligations under Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the GATT 1994. The basis of China's claim is the U.S. Department of Commerce's (Commerce) use of "zeroing" when calculating the dumping margins for certain exporters in the investigation of Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China and the investigation of Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China.²

2. China describes, both in its request for a panel, and in its first written submission, Commerce's use of "zeroing" in the calculation of the dumping margin for certain exporters as follows: Commerce (1) identified different "models," i.e., types, of products based on the most relevant product characteristics; (2) calculated weighted average prices in the U.S. and weighted average normal values in the comparison market on a model-specific basis, for the entire period of investigation; (3) compared the weighted average normal value of each model to the weighted average U.S. price for that same model; (4) calculated the dumping margin for an exporter by summing the amount of dumping for each model and then dividing it by the aggregated U.S. price for all models; and (5) set to zero all negative margins on individual models before summing the total amount of dumping for all models.³ The United States acknowledges the accuracy of China's description of Commerce's use of "zeroing" in calculating the dumping margins specifically challenged by China in this dispute.

3. China further states that the rate assigned to the cooperating non-mandatory respondents (the Separate Rate) was calculated as a weighted-average margin based on the dumping margins calculated for mandatory respondents, excluding any rates that are zero, de minimis or based entirely on adverse facts available.⁴ The United States acknowledges the accuracy of China's description of the Separate Rate calculation in the investigation on warmwater shrimp.

4. To substantiate its factual claims, China has provided evidence consisting of Commerce's published determinations, issues and decision memoranda, and computer programs used to calculate the margins of dumping related to the final determinations in the original investigations at issue. The United States reviewed the factual evidence submitted by China and does not contest that certain of the submitted documentation, including the computer programs used to calculate the dumping margins,⁵ were generated by Commerce during its conduct of the investigations at issue.

³ See WT/DS422/3, p. 3; First Written Submission of China, 30 January 2012, para. 24 (hereinafter "China First Written Submission.")

⁴ China First Written Submission, para. 47.

⁵ The United States confirms that the program output logs, contained in the following exhibits, were generated by Commerce in its calculation of the margins at issue: CHN-18:VO-8, Final Remand Results Analysis Memo_Yelin (2); CHN-18: VO-17, Final Remand Results Analysis memo_Allied; CHN-18: VO-20, Final Results SAS LOG & OUTPUT Red Garden; CHN-18: VO-21, USDOC's Analysis for the Final Remand Redetermination of Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp from the People's Republic of China: Shantou Red Garden Foodstuff Co., Ltd. ("Red Garden"); CHN-18: VO-24, USDOC's Calculation of the Weighted Average Section A Rate; and CHN-18: VO-26, USDOC's ministerial error memorandum ATM

5. For the investigation of Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, China clarifies that it is not challenging Commerce's calculation of the dumping margin for Zhanjiang Guolian Aquatic Products Co., Ltd. or the "PRC-wide rate."⁶ China states that it challenges the use of "zeroing" to calculate dumping margins for the following entities: Allied Pacific Group, Yelin Enterprise Co., Hong Kong, Shantou Red Garden Foodstuff Co., Ltd., and the reliance on margins that contain "zeroing" when calculating the Separate Rate.⁷

6. Regarding the investigation of Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, China states that it is challenging the use of "zeroing" to calculate the dumping margin for Advanced Technology & Materials Co., Ltd. (which includes Beijing Gang Yan Diamond Products Company and Yichang HXF Circular Saw Industrial Co., Ltd.).⁸ China further explains that its challenge "does not extend to the dumping margins calculated for other individually investigated respondents, the Separate Rate, or the PRC-wide rate."⁹

7. China states that the "zeroing" methodology applied in Commerce's calculation of the dumping margins in the investigation of Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China and the investigation of Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, is the same as the methodology found by the Appellate Body to be inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, in US – Softwood Lumber Dumping.¹⁰ China further states that it considers Commerce's use of the "zeroing" methodology in calculating the dumping margins of certain exporters of shrimp and sawblades from China to be inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, on the grounds set forth in the US – Softwood Lumber Dumping Appellate Body report.¹¹

8. The United States recognizes that in US – Softwood Lumber Dumping the Appellate Body found that the use of "zeroing" with respect to the average-to-average comparison methodology in investigations was inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, by interpreting the terms "margins of dumping" and "all comparable export transactions" as used in the first sentence of Article 2.4.2, in an integrated manner.¹² The United States acknowledges that this reasoning is equally applicable with respect to China's claims regarding the dumping margins specifically challenged in this dispute.

amended final results. The United States confirms that the following documentation submitted by China were also generated by Commerce during its conduct of the investigation of Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China: CHN-12 through CHN-15; CHN-21; CHN-22. The United States further confirms that the following documentation submitted by China were generated by Commerce during its conduct of the investigation of Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China: CHN-2 through CHN-11; CHN-19; CHN-20.

⁶ China First Written Submission, para. 7. In the two anti-dumping investigations at issue, Commerce considered China to be a non-market economy ("NME") country, and applied a rebuttable presumption that all companies within China are operating units of a single government-wide entity and, thus, should receive a single anti-dumping duty rate (known as the "PRC-wide rate"). Exporters wishing to rebut that presumption must file an application and demonstrate the absence of government control, both de jure and de facto, over their export activities. Respondents who satisfied these criteria either received an individually calculated dumping margin, if selected as mandatory respondents, or a "Separate Rate", if not selected as mandatory respondents.

WRITTEN SUBMISSIONS OF THE THIRD PARTIES

Annex B-3	Third-party submission of Thailand	B-7

ANNEX B-1

THIRD-PARTY SUBMISSION OF THE EUROPEAN UNION

1. The European Union makes this third party written submission because of its systemic interest in the correct and consistent interpretation and application of the covered agreements and other relevant documents, in particular the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("GATT 1994"), the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 (the "Anti-Dumping Agreement"), and the Dispute Settlement Understanding ("DSU").

2. At the outset, the European Union observes that there are many similarities between the present dispute and the issue confronted by the panels in US – Shrimp (Ecuador), US – Shrimp (Thailand) and US – Retail Carrier Bags (Thailand). In those disputes, the complaining party challenged the conformity of an anti-dumping order adopted by the United States on the basis that the methodology used to calculate the dumping margins of the exporters concerned ("model zeroing") infringed Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement for the reasons contained in the report of the Appellate Body in US – Softwood Lumber V. In those disputes, the United States refrained from contesting that legal claim and even agreed with the complaining party on the means and timing of the implementation of the adopted DSB report.

3. In the present dispute, the Agreement on Procedures between China and the United States ("Agreement on Procedures")¹ contains paragraphs by which the Parties agree on the procedures that are to govern certain aspects of the Panel proceedings. It also contains paragraphs by which the Parties agree: that the United States will not contest the claim; that China will not request the Panel to suggest, pursuant to Article 19.1 of the DSU, ways in which the United States could implement the Panel's recommendations; and the manner and timing of implementation.² Thus, in the EU view, the Agreement on Procedures not only resolves certain procedural issues, it also represents, at least in part, a resolution or solution of the dispute between the Parties. However, neither Party refers in its First Written Submission to Articles 3.6 or 12.7 of the DSU.

4. In the particular factual circumstances of the present case, the European Union welcomes the prompt resolution of the dispute and does not object to the manner of proceeding chosen by the Parties. However, the European Union considers that the ability of parties to a dispute to agree on certain matters and to then have such agreement translated into findings and recommendations of a panel which are eventually adopted by the DSB is not unlimited. The manner of proceeding chosen by the Parties cannot affect the rights of WTO Members which are not parties to the Agreement on

² The Parties have agreed that any change in the cash deposit rate or revocation of the anti-dumping order as a result of the recalculation of dumping margins pursuant to a Section 129 determination will take effect no sooner than the date on which implementation of the recalculated rate is directed (Agreement on Procedures, para. 6). In this respect, the European Union observes that the US obligations resulting from the Agreement on Procedures would appear to be far more limited than the US obligations resulting from identical violations found in other disputes. Indeed, the Appellate Body has twice rejected the relevance of the "date of entry" for the purpose of assessing compliance with adopted DSB reports (Appellate Body Report, US – Zeroing (Article 21.5 – EC) para. 309, and Appellate Body Report, US – Zeroing (Article 21.5 – Japan), para. 169). Thus, in the EU view, as all mutually agreed solutions shall be consistent with the covered agreements and shall not nullify or impair benefits accruing to any Member under those agreements (Article 3.5 of the DSU), any agreement between the Parties on implementation cannot alter the consequences of a recommendation pursuant to Article 19.1 of the DSU, i.e., to bring the measure into full conformity with the covered agreements.

Procedures;³ nor can the approach chosen by the Parties seek to obtain findings having equal weight in practice vis-à-vis other WTO Members as a "conventional" panel report.

5. Under these circumstances, Article 11 of the DSU gains special relevance. Notwithstanding the absence of disagreement between the parties, a panel has a basic obligation under Article 11 of the DSU to make an objective assessment of the matter before it, including an objective assessment of the facts of the case.⁴ Such assessment should include the facts, evidence and legal argument. A panel should therefore exercise particular care in this respect, particularly where, as in this case, the dispute touches on matters that the complaining party does not pursue. The Panel should particularly distinguish between finding that the Parties agree with respect to a particular fact, evidentiary matter or legal issue; and the Panel itself making such finding.

6. Taking into account the above considerations, the European Union would like to make two remarks on the submissions of the Parties.

7. First, the European Union observes that the description made by China⁵ of the methodology applied by the United States in the present case contains terminology which is incorrect in view of the interpretation followed by the Appellate Body. In particular, China states that the dumping margin for an exporter was calculated "by summing up the amount of dumping for each model" and that the USDOC "set to zero all negative margins on individual models" (emphasis added). However, the Appellate Body has already clarified that dumping can be found to exist only "for the product under investigation as a whole, and cannot be found to exist for a product type, model, or category of that product" and that "the results of model-specific comparisons are not margins of dumping within the meaning of Article 2.4.2, but rather constitute intermediate calculations that need to be taken into consideration in the calculation of the margin of dumping for the product under consideration as a whole" (emphasis added).⁶ Consequently, the European Union suggests that the Panel use the proper terminology as indicated by the Appellate Body.⁷

8. Second, the European Union observes that panels and the Appellate Body have found the use of zeroing in original investigations to be inconsistent with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement in many disputes so far.⁸ The European Union notes that the Appellate Body Report in US-Stainless Steel (Mexico) addresses in general terms the relevance of previous panel and Appellate Body reports.⁹ In this respect, the final sentence of paragraph 160 refers to "an adjudicatory body" (in the singular), which seems to indicate that the phrase refers to the situation in which it is the same body in both the previous case and the case to be decided. That is, it refers to the situation in which a panel might be called upon to resolve the same legal issue that it has previously resolved; or the situation in which the Appellate Body might be called upon to resolve the same legal issue that it has already resolved. We note that the phrase refers to "cogent reasons" as the basis for a change in view. By contrast, the European Union notes that paragraph 161 of the Appellate Body Report in US – Stainless Steel (Mexico) addresses the hierarchical relationship between panels and the Appellate Body. It concludes that the relevance of clarification provided by the Appellate Body on issues of legal interpretation is not limited to the application of a particular provision in a specific case. There is no express reference to "cogent reasons". Finally, in paragraph 162 of the Appellate Body Report in US – Stainless Steel (Mexico) the Appellate Body states that it was deeply concerned about the panel's decision to depart from well-established Appellate Body jurisprudence clarifying the interpretation of the same legal issues.

⁷ See, e.g., Appellate Body Report, US – Zeroing (Japan), footnote 13.

⁹ Appellate Body Report, US – Stainless Steel (Mexico), paras 157 – 162.

9. In view of this, the European Union requests the Panel to carry out an objective assessment of the matter before it, taking into account the well-established Appellate Body jurisprudence clarifying the interpretation of the same legal issues.

10. Finally, the European Union notes that the Panel's letter dated 27 January 2012 invites the third parties to inform the Panel of their position with respect to the need for an oral hearing in this case, whilst the timetable does not foresee any oral hearing (although it also provides that one could be organised should that prove necessary). The European Union notes that Article 10(2) of the DSU affords third parties the right to make written submissions to a panel and the opportunity to be heard by a panel. Whilst, pursuant to Article 12(1) of the DSU, panels have the authority to vary the working procedures set out in Appendix 3 of the DSU, they must do so within the limits set by the DSU. In this particular case, the European Union confirms that it waives its right to be heard by the panel, on condition that there is also to be no hearing with the parties, in person or by remote communication.

US – Zeroing (Korea)	Panel Report, United States – Use of Zeroing in Anti-Dumping Measures Involving Products from Korea , WT/DS402/R, adopted 24 February 2011

1. This dispute is one of the numerous disputes brought to the WTO dispute settlement procedure concerning “zeroing” used in the United States’ anti-dumping procedures. Japan, as shown by its own recourse to the WTO dispute settlement procedure, has an interest in the issue of the WTO-consistency and implementation by the United States regarding “zeroing”.

2. The basis of claim by the People’s Republic of China (“China”) is that the United States Department of Commerce’s use of “zeroing” when calculating the dumping margins for certain investigated exporters in the investigation of Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades from China is inconsistent with the United States’ obligations under the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Agreement of Implementation of Article VI of the GATT 1994 (Anti-Dumping Agreement). Japan totally supports the China’s claim. Japan shares the same recognition with China that in US – Softwood Lumber Dumping the Appellate Body found that the use of “zeroing” in calculating margins of dumping on the basis of a comparison of a weighted average normal value with a weighted average of prices of all comparable export transactions (the “weighted-average-to-weighted-average methodology”) in investigations was inconsistent with the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.¹

3. Japan notes that the United States also does not contest that the measures identified in the panel request are inconsistent with Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement on the grounds stated in US – Softwood Lumber Dumping.²

4. In this regard, Japan recalls that the reasoning shown in US – Softwood Lumber Dumping was equally applicable to US – Shrimp (Ecuador), US – AD Measures on PET Bags and US – Zeroing (Korea). In these cases, the panels correctly concluded the use of “zeroing” in calculating margins of dumping in the investigations on the basis of the “weighted-average-to-weighted-average methodology” was inconsistent with the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.³

³ Panel Report, US – Shrimp (Ecuador), para.8.1, Panel Report, US – AD Measures on PET Bags, para.8.1, US – Zeroing (Korea), para. 8.1

5. In light of the foregoing, Japan agrees with the request of China that the Panel should find that the United States acted inconsistently with the requirement of the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement. Japan expects that the United States would take appropriate actions with respect to measures at issue so that “prompt settlement of situations”, as stated in Article 3.3 of the Understanding on Rules and Procedures Governing the Settlement of Disputes, will be achieved.

ANNEX B-3

THIRD-PARTY SUBMISSION OF THAILAND

1. Thailand appreciates the opportunity to present to the Panel its views on China's complaint against the United States' use of the practice known as "zeroing" on certain frozen and canned warmwater shrimp and diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China. Thailand notes that the parties have reached a procedural agreement to permit expeditious resolution of this dispute.¹ These procedures appear to be similar to those used by Thailand and the United States in US – Anti-Dumping Measures on PET Bags. Thailand welcomes the use of these procedures to facilitate the speedy resolution of this dispute.

2. In Thailand's view, the Appellate Body's rulings to date on the issue of zeroing have coherently and consistently addressed the numerous different arguments put before it in each dispute. Put simply, the Appellate Body has held that whenever an investigating authority uses intermediate comparisons between subgroups of export prices and normal values – whether on a model-by-model, transaction-by-transaction or any other basis – as a step to arrive at the overall dumping margin for that product, the investigating authority may not, in aggregating those intermediate comparisons, “zero” the results of some of those comparisons. Regardless of whether each successive Appellate Body report states this principle in identical terms, addresses all of the different methodologies in which zeroing can be used, or repeats all of the reasoning of previous reports, Thailand considers this principle to have been fully and correctly reasoned by the Appellate Body and to apply equally and fully to the issues that are before the Panel in this case.

3. Given the clarity and consistency of the Appellate Body's rulings on zeroing, as expanded to address the varied arguments presented in each successive case, Thailand need not comment in detail on the legal issue presented in this case. In Thailand's view, the legal issue has been addressed, directly or indirectly, in the Appellate Body's rulings, including in US – Softwood Lumber V,² and by the panels in the disputes US – Shrimp (Ecuador),³ US – Shrimp (Thailand),⁴ and US – Anti-Dumping Measures on PET Bags,⁵ where the use of the zeroing methodology by the United States' Department of Commerce (“USDOC”) in calculating the dumping margins of relevant exported products were found inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 (the “Anti-Dumping Agreement”).

4. Thailand notes that the United States, in its First Written Submission, acknowledges the accuracy of China's description of the USDOC's use of “zeroing” in calculating the dumping margins specifically challenged by China in this dispute and of China's description of the Separate Rate calculation in the investigation on warmwater shrimp. Further, the United States does not contest that certain of the submitted documentation from China, including the computer programs used to calculate the dumping margins were generated by the USDOC during its conduct of the investigation at issue.

5. The United States, in its First Written Submission, also recognizes that in US – Softwood Lumber V, the Appellate Body found that the use of “zeroing” with respect to the average-to-average comparison methodology in investigations was inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, by interpreting the terms “margins of dumping” and “all comparable export transactions” as used in the first sentence of

Article 2.4.2, in an integrated manner.⁶ The United States finally acknowledges that this reasoning is equally applicable with respect to China's claims regarding the dumping margins specifically challenged in this dispute.

6. Thailand respectfully requests the Panel to reach the conclusions in this dispute consistently with the jurisprudence on this issue.

UNITED STATES – ANTI-DUMPING MEASURES ON CERTAIN
SHRIMP AND DIAMOND SAWBLADES FROM CHINA

Request for the Establishment of a Panel by China

The following communication, dated 13 October 2011, from the delegation of China to the Chairperson of the Dispute Settlement Body, is circulated pursuant to Article 6.2 of the DSU.

On February 28, 2011 and July 22, 2011, the People's Republic of China ("China") requested consultations with the United States of America pursuant to Article 4 of the Understanding on Rules and Procedures Governing the Settlement of Disputes ("DSU"), Article XXII:1 of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("GATT 1994") and Article 17 of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("Anti-Dumping Agreement") with regard to the "zeroing" practice by the United States Department of Commerce ("USDOC") in its anti-dumping measures on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China¹ and diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China² respectively.

Consultations were held on May 11, 2011 and September 8, 2011. While these consultations assisted in clarifying the issues before the parties, they failed to resolve the dispute.

Therefore, China respectfully requests, pursuant to Article XXIII of the GATT 1994, Articles 4 and 6 of the DSU, and Article 17.4 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, that the Dispute Settlement Body ("DSB") establish a panel to examine this matter.

Specific Measures at Issue

- (1) Frozen Warmwater Shrimp

² See G/ADP/D87/1/Add.1, G/L/953/Add.1, WT/DS422/1/Add.1.

The United States initiated an anti-dumping investigation of certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China on January 27, 2004 (Investigation No. A-570-893). The specific measures at issue in this dispute are the anti-dumping order imposed by the United States on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China, as amended, and the final determination by the USDOC, as amended, leading to that order. To be specific, these measures include:

- Notice of Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 69 Federal Register 70997 (December 8, 2004);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Antidumping Duty Order: Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 70 Federal Register 5149 (February 1, 2005);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp from the People's Republic of China: Notice of Second Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value, 71 Federal Register 47484 (August 17, 2006);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Notice of Amended Final Determinations of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 75 Federal Register 53947 (September 2, 2010);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Amended Antidumping Duty Orders in Accordance with Final Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 23277 (April 26, 2011);³
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China: Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 30100 (May 24, 2011);
- as well as any amendments to the measures identified above.

In the final determination, as amended, the USDOC used the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margins for three individually investigated Chinese exporters⁴, for which margins above the 2 per cent de minimis level were calculated.

(2) Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof

The United States initiated an anti-dumping investigation of diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China on June 21, 2005 (Investigation No. A-570-900). The specific measures at issue in this dispute are the anti-dumping order imposed by the United States on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China, as amended, and the final determination by the USDOC, as amended, leading to that order. To be specific, these measures include:

³ On April 29, 2011, as a result of the determinations by the USDOC and the International Trade Commission ("ITC") that revocation of the antidumping duty orders on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from Brazil, India, China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam ("Vietnam") would be likely to lead to continuation or recurrence of dumping and of material injury to an industry in the United States within a reasonably foreseeable time, the USDOC published a notice of the continuation of these antidumping duty orders. See Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Continuation of Antidumping Duty Orders, 76 Federal Register 23972 (April 29, 2011).

- Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Final Partial Affirmative Determination of Critical Circumstances: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 29303 (22 May 2006);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 35864 (22 June 2006);
- Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China and the Republic of Korea: Antidumping Duty Orders, 74 Federal Register 57145 (4 November 2009);
- as well as any amendments to the measures identified above.

In the final determination, as amended, the USDOC used the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margins for three individually investigated Chinese exporters⁵, for which margins above the 2 per cent de minimis level were calculated.

In respect of the two investigations identified above, the USDOC's methodology of "zeroing" negative dumping margins may be described more specifically in the following:

- a) different "models", i.e., types, of products are identified based on the most relevant product characteristics;
- b) weighted average prices in the United States and weighted average normal values in the comparison market are calculated on a model-specific basis for the entire period of investigation;
- c) the weighted average normal value of each model is compared to the weighted average United States price for that same model;
- d) to calculate the dumping margin for an exporter, the amount of dumping for each model is summed and then divided by the aggregated United States price for all models; and
- e) before summing the total amount of dumping for all models, all negative margins on individual models (i.e., where the weighted average normal value is less than the weighted average export price) are set to zero.

Through this method, the USDOC calculates margins of dumping and collects cash deposits in amounts that exceed the actual extent of dumping, if any, by the said individually investigated exporters.

In addition, in respect of the anti-dumping investigation of certain frozen warmwater shrimp, on the basis of the individual dumping margins calculated with the application of zeroing, the

⁵ The three exporters are Advanced Technology & Materials Co., Ltd. (including Beijing Gang Yan Diamond Products Company and Yichang HXF Circular Saw Industrial Co., Ltd.) ("AT&M"), Bosun Tools Group Co., Ltd. ("Bosun") and Hebei Jikai Industrial Group Co., Ltd. ("Hebei Jikai").

USDOC further calculated a weighted-average margin (known as the "separate rate") that applies to the cooperating non-mandatory respondents⁶.

The USDOC's unpublished Issues and Decision Memorandums as well as other documents contained in the administrative record of the investigations, including the computer programs, describe in more detail the USDOC's use of zeroing in the anti-dumping investigations of frozen warmwater shrimp and diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China.

China considers that these measures are inconsistent with the obligations of the United States under the provisions of the GATT 1994 and the Anti-Dumping Agreement described below.

The Legal Basis of the Complaint

Through the use of "zeroing," the United States treats transactions with negative dumping margins as having margins equal to zero in determining weighted average dumping margins in an anti-dumping investigation.

The use of "zeroing" led the United States to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found or to calculate dumping margins that are inflated. China considers that, in the specific measures at issue as identified above, the USDOC's use of "zeroing" in calculating the margins of dumping for the individually investigated exporters and the "separate rate" for the cooperating non-mandatory respondents is inconsistent with the obligations of the United States under the Anti-Dumping Agreement. Specifically, China considers that the measures are inconsistent with the first sentence of Article 2.4.2 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement.

The "zeroing" methodology that the USDOC used in its anti-dumping investigations of shrimp and diamond sawblades from China is virtually identical to the methodology that was held to be inconsistent with the obligations of the United States under the Anti-Dumping Agreement in the following disputes: *United States - Final Dumping Determination on Softwood Lumber from Canada*⁷; *United States - Anti-Dumping Measures On Shrimp from Ecuador*⁸; *United States - Anti-Dumping Measures on Polyethylene Retail Carrier Bags from Thailand*⁹; and *United States - Measures Relating to Shrimp from Thailand*¹⁰.

The forgoing paragraphs are provided without prejudice to any arguments that China may develop and present to the panel regarding the WTO-inconsistency of the measures at issue.

Request for the Establishment of a Panel

Accordingly, China requests pursuant to Article XXIII of the GATT 1994, Articles 4 and 6 of the DSU, and Article 17.4 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, that the DSB establish a panel with the standard terms of reference as set out in Article 7.1 of the DSU. China asks that this request be placed on the agenda of the meeting of the DSB scheduled for October 25, 2011.

⁶ Such non-mandatory respondents were also required to pass the "separate-rate test" in order to receive the separate rate.

UNITED STATES – ANTI-DUMPING MEASURES ON CERTAIN
SHRIMP AND DIAMOND SAWBLADES FROM CHINA

Agreement on Procedures between China and the United States

The following communication, dated 13 October 2011, from the delegation of China and the delegation of the United States to the Chairperson of the Dispute Settlement Body, is circulated at the request of those delegations.

The People's Republic of China ("China") and the United States of America would like to inform the Dispute Settlement Body of the attached Agreement on Procedures between China and the United States with respect to the dispute United States – Anti-Dumping Measures on Certain Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades from China (DS422).

We request that you please circulate the attached agreement to the Members of the Dispute Settlement Body in the WT/DS422 document series.

United States - Anti-Dumping Measures on Certain Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades from China
(WT/DS422)

Agreement on Procedures between China and the United States

On February 28, 2011, the Government of China ("China") requested consultations with the United States under Article 4 of the Understanding on Rules and Procedures Governing the Settlement of Disputes ("DSU"), Article XXII:1 of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("GATT 1994"), and Article 17 of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("Anti-Dumping Agreement"), with respect to anti-dumping measures on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China. (WT/DS422/1). On July 22, 2011, China requested additional consultations with respect to anti-dumping measures on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China. (WT/DS422/1/Add.1). On May 11, 2011 and September 8, 2011, consultations were held by China and the United States (hereinafter the "parties"); together these consultations covered all the measures referenced in the Panel Request pursuant to Article 6.2 of the DSU. These consultations have enabled the parties to agree on the following procedures for purposes of this dispute:

1. Should China request the establishment of a panel in this dispute, China's panel request will be the one attached to this agreement (the "Panel Request"). The United States will not oppose the establishment of a panel at the first Dispute Settlement Body ("DSB") meeting following the filing of the Panel Request by China. The parties agree to make every effort to ensure that they compose the panel without recourse to the Director-General under Article 8.7 of the DSU.
2. The parties will cooperate to enable the panel to circulate its report as quickly as possible in light of the requirements of the DSU. To that end, the parties will work to reach agreement on working procedures that aim to expedite the panel proceedings. The parties will jointly ask the panel to adopt these procedures, which will enable it to complete its work within three months after the composition of the panel. The parties also agree to request the panel to ask that the parties file only one written submission each, and that the panel forego meetings with the parties, or, at most, have only one substantive meeting with the parties. The parties also agree to share drafts of their respective written submissions prior to submitting them to the panel and to take all reasonably available steps to accelerate the proceeding.
3. China will provide the necessary evidence and arguments to support its allegations, including the computer programs and output logs generated by the United States Department of Commerce that were used to calculate the challenged dumping margins. The United States will not contest China's claim that the measures identified in the Panel Request are inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, on the grounds stated in United States - Final Dumping Determination on Softwood Lumber from Canada, WT/DS264/AB/R, Report of the Appellate Body adopted 31 August 2004.
4. China will not request that the panel suggest, pursuant to Article 19.1, second sentence, of the DSU, ways in which the United States could implement the panel's recommendations.
5. Provided that the panel's finding is limited to a finding that one or more of the challenged measures, as identified in the Panel Request, is inconsistent with Article 2.4.2, first sentence, of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, the parties agree that, pursuant to Article 21.3(b) of the DSU, the reasonable period of time for bringing each such measure into conformity with the Anti-Dumping Agreement will be eight months, beginning on the date on which the DSB adopts the panel report.

6. Subject to the consultation requirements of section 129(b) of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act ("URAA"), 19 U.S.C. §3538(b), the United States will use section 129(b) to recalculate margins of dumping (subject to the exclusion of Zhanjiang Guolian Aquatic Products Co., Ltd, in paragraph 7, below) and to issue a new determination in order to render the anti-dumping measures on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China and the anti-dumping measures on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China consistent with the recommendations and rulings of the DSB and the Anti-Dumping Agreement. In particular, the United States will implement such recommendations and rulings in respect of the Final Determination, as amended by any and all amended final determinations which are effective at the time of implementation. If any such recalculation that is performed under section 129(b) results in a change in a cash deposit rate or revocation, in part or in whole, for the anti-dumping measures on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China or the anti-dumping measures on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China, the new cash deposit rate or revocation will have prospective effect only, taking effect no sooner than the date on which the United States Trade Representative directs the United States Secretary of Commerce to implement its recalculation of the margins and new determination, as set forth in section 129(c)(1) of the URAA, 19 U.S.C. § 3538(c)(1).

7. The parties also mutually understand that the scope of China's Panel Request does not include any claim regarding the margin of dumping calculated for Zhanjiang Guolian Aquatic Products Co., Ltd. in the anti-dumping duty investigation on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China or the margin of dumping determined solely on the basis of adverse facts available in either anti-dumping duty investigation. The parties agree that they will inform the panel in their written submissions, whether made jointly or separately, that they are seeking findings consistent with this understanding. Accordingly, to the extent that the findings are consistent with this understanding, implementation would not involve a recalculation of such margins of dumping.

United States – Anti-Dumping Measures on Certain Shrimp and Diamond Sawblades from China (WT/DS422)

Request for the Establishment of a Panel by China

On February 28, 2011 and July 22, 2011, the People's Republic of China ("China") requested consultations with the United States of America pursuant to Article 4 of the Understanding on Rules and Procedures Governing the Settlement of Disputes ("DSU"), Article XXII:1 of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("GATT 1994") and Article 17 of the Agreement on Implementation of Article VI of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade 1994 ("Anti-Dumping Agreement") with regard to the "zeroing" practice by the United States Department of Commerce ("USDOC") in its anti-dumping measures on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China¹ and diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China² respectively.

Consultations were held on May 11, 2011 and September 8, 2011. While these consultations assisted in clarifying the issues before the parties, they failed to resolve the dispute.

Therefore, China respectfully requests, pursuant to Article XXIII of the GATT 1994, Articles 4 and 6 of the DSU, and Article 17.4 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, that the Dispute Settlement Body ("DSB") establish a panel to examine this matter.

Specific Measures at Issue

(1) Frozen Warmwater Shrimp

The United States initiated an anti-dumping investigation of certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China on January 27, 2004 (Investigation No. A-570-893). The specific measures at issue in this dispute are the anti-dumping order imposed by the United States on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from China, as amended, and the final determination by the USDOC, as amended, leading to that order. To be specific, these measures include:

- Notice of Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Certain Frozen and Canned Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 69 Federal Register 70997 (December 8, 2004);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Antidumping Duty Order: Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China, 70 Federal Register 5149 (February 1, 2005);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp from the People's Republic of China: Notice of Second Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value, 71 Federal Register 47484 (August 17, 2006);
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Notice of Amended Final Determinations of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 75 Federal Register 53947 (September 2, 2010);

- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Amended Antidumping Duty Orders in Accordance with Final Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 23277 (April 26, 2011);³
- Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From the People's Republic of China: Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value Pursuant to Court Decision, 76 Federal Register 30100 (May 24, 2011);
- as well as any amendments to the measures identified above.

In the final determination, as amended, the USDOC used the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margins for three individually investigated Chinese exporters⁴, for which margins above the 2 per cent de minimis level were calculated.

(2) Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof

The United States initiated an anti-dumping investigation of diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China on June 21, 2005 (Investigation No. A-570-900). The specific measures at issue in this dispute are the anti-dumping order imposed by the United States on diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China, as amended, and the final determination by the USDOC, as amended, leading to that order. To be specific, these measures include:

- Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Final Partial Affirmative Determination of Critical Circumstances: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 29303 (22 May 2006);
- Notice of Amended Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value: Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China, 71 Federal Register 35864 (22 June 2006);
- Diamond Sawblades and Parts Thereof from the People's Republic of China and the Republic of Korea: Antidumping Duty Orders, 74 Federal Register 57145 (4 November 2009);
- as well as any amendments to the measures identified above.

In the final determination, as amended, the USDOC used the "zeroing" methodology in determining the final dumping margins for three individually investigated Chinese exporters⁵, for which margins above the 2 per cent de minimis level were calculated.

³ On April 29, 2011, as a result of the determinations by the USDOC and the International Trade Commission ("ITC") that revocation of the antidumping duty orders on certain frozen warmwater shrimp from Brazil, India, China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam ("Vietnam") would be likely to lead to continuation or recurrence of dumping and of material injury to an industry in the United States within a reasonably foreseeable time, the USDOC published a notice of the continuation of these antidumping duty orders. See Certain Frozen Warmwater Shrimp From Brazil, India, the People's Republic of China, Thailand, and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam: Continuation of Antidumping Duty Orders, 76 Federal Register 23972 (April 29, 2011).

⁵ The three exporters are Advanced Technology & Materials Co., Ltd. (including Beijing Gang Yan Diamond Products Company and Yichang HXF Circular Saw Industrial Co., Ltd.) ("AT&M"), Bosun Tools Group Co., Ltd. ("Bosun") and Hebei Jikai Industrial Group Co., Ltd. ("Hebei Jikai").

In respect of the two investigations identified above, the USDOC's methodology of "zeroing" negative dumping margins may be described more specifically in the following:

- a) different "models", i.e., types, of products are identified based on the most relevant product characteristics;
- b) weighted average prices in the United States and weighted average normal values in the comparison market are calculated on a model-specific basis for the entire period of investigation;
- c) the weighted average normal value of each model is compared to the weighted average United States price for that same model;
- d) to calculate the dumping margin for an exporter, the amount of dumping for each model is summed and then divided by the aggregated United States price for all models; and
- e) before summing the total amount of dumping for all models, all negative margins on individual models (i.e., where the weighted average normal value is less than the weighted average export price) are set to zero.

Through this method, the USDOC calculates margins of dumping and collects cash deposits in amounts that exceed the actual extent of dumping, if any, by the said individually investigated exporters.

In addition, in respect of the anti-dumping investigation of certain frozen warmwater shrimp, on the basis of the individual dumping margins calculated with the application of zeroing, the USDOC further calculated a weighted-average margin (known as the "separate rate") that applies to the cooperating non-mandatory respondents⁶.

The USDOC's unpublished Issues and Decision Memorandums as well as other documents contained in the administrative record of the investigations, including the computer programs, describe in more detail the USDOC's use of zeroing in the anti-dumping investigations of frozen warmwater shrimp and diamond sawblades and parts thereof from China.

China considers that these measures are inconsistent with the obligations of the United States under the provisions of the GATT 1994 and the Anti-Dumping Agreement described below.

The Legal Basis of the Complaint

Through the use of "zeroing," the United States treats transactions with negative dumping margins as having margins equal to zero in determining weighted average dumping margins in an anti-dumping investigation.

The use of "zeroing" led the United States to find dumping where none would have otherwise been found or to calculate dumping margins that are inflated. The "zeroing" methodology that the USDOC used in its anti-dumping investigations of shrimp and diamond sawblades from China is virtually identical to the methodology that was held to be inconsistent with the obligations of the United States under the Anti-Dumping Agreement in the following disputes: *United States - Final Dumping Determination on Softwood Lumber from Canada*⁷; *United States - Anti-Dumping Measures On Shrimp from Ecuador*⁸; *United States - Anti-Dumping Measures on Polyethylene Retail Carrier Bags from Thailand*⁹; and *United States - Measures Relating to Shrimp from Thailand*¹⁰.

Request for the Establishment of a Panel

Accordingly, China requests pursuant to Article XXIII of the GATT 1994, Articles 4 and 6 of the DSU, and Article 17.4 of the Anti-Dumping Agreement, that the DSB establish a panel with the standard terms of reference as set out in Article 7.1 of the DSU.
